Erskine, Bibliography, IBS 13, January 1991

J O H N M. B A R K L E Y
a bibliography, 1946-1990

compiled by
John G. W. Erskine

The bibliography presented here seeks to list the principal writings of John M. Barkley over the past 45 years. It is not, nor is it intended to be, an exhaustive listing of all that he has written over that period: the sheer volume of material alone would have made such an attempt both unrealistic and unwieldy. Consequently certain categories of material - book reviews, short notes, editorials in PACE, reports and semi-published items - have been excluded. With the exception of three items - his theses - the material listed here is in published form. Some shorter items, which would otherwise have been excluded on grounds of length, have been included where the topic appeared to justify it. Even so, there will be omissions from this list: a Hungarian translation of one item, for example, remains irritatingly elusive. Furthermore, we cannot make an end here, for Dr Barkley is still writing ...

Although each item is allocated to a specific year, not every date of publication can be stated with certainty: where there is doubt, this is indicated in the citation in the usual way. Where articles have appeared in a series, some elements of punctuation and order have been recast to produce a consistent citation; volume parts have been retained in the citations in order to facilitate access to unbound journals; and the abbreviation P.C.I. has been adopted for the Presbyterian Church in Ireland.

In conclusion, I should like to thank many friends and colleagues for their assistance in the preparation of this bibliography. Greatest thanks of all, of course, must go to Dr. Barkley himself. This bibliography is offered as a tribute to him and to his work.
