NOTES AND STUDIES

THE OLD LATIN TEXTS OF THE MINOR PROPHETS.

PREFATORY NOTE.

THE following texts have been compiled from almost all the Old Latin sources at present available. There are some omissions which will be briefly referred to below. Care has been taken to use the best editions of those writings from which the compilation has been made, though some of the older ones have also been used for the purposes of comparison; these will be enumerated below.

From the nature of the case a text of the kind here presented is of varying authority; as a rule, the value of a passage, for present purposes, can be approximately determined by knowing its source; for example, Cyprian may be regarded as offering a text as near as possible to the earliest form of the Old Latin; the authority of Tyconius, too, is very high. On the other hand, Tertullian is an extremely unreliable authority, and must be used with great care; a very cursory examination of his quotations will make this apparent at once; indeed, in a few cases it has been found advisable to omit quotations from him, on account of their being rather of the nature of paraphrase; but this is not always the case; at any rate, he could not well be neglected, owing to his early date. It happens not infrequently that the value of a particular quotation cannot be settled off-hand; in the case of the Speculum as well as Spec. (Aug.), for instance, there are early elements as well as late; while Lucifer Calaritanus sometimes quotes from Cyprian's Testimonia, at other times from a late text. Therefore it has been found necessary to indicate clearly the source of every verse or part of a verse by inserting the name of the authority in the margin.

It is hoped, therefore, that the compilation may be found useful as giving a text founded on varying authorities; it will not for a moment be supposed that the intention is to offer the genuine text of the Old Latin Version.

The following are the authorities cited in the text, together with the editions that have been used:—

Cod. Weingartensis	E. Ranke Fragmenta . . . 1856, 1858, 1868, 1888.
Cod. Wirceburgensis	E. Ranke Par palimps. Wirceb. , 1871.
Cyprian (including: Auct. De Pascha Computus, De Duobus Montibus, Adv. Novatianum in the Appendix to Cyprian )	W. v. Hartel in CSEL , vol. iii 1866 (for quotations from the treatises and epistles, Hartel's text; for those from the Testimonia the MS called L by Hartel <sup>1</sup> ).
Tyconius	F. C. Burkitt Rules of Tyconius , 1894, in Texts and Studies , vol. iii.
Speculum	F. Weihrich in CSEL , vol. xii 1886.
Lucifer Calarit.	Mai Nov. Patr. Bibl. , 1852.
Tertullian	W. v. Hartel in CSEL , vol. xiv 1886.
Collatio Carthaginensis (Habetdeus) [Donatist quotations]	F. Oehler Tert. Omnia Opera , 1854. P. Sabatier Bibl. Sacr. Lat. Vers. ... 1743. Dupin Optatus (App.) , 1700.
Contra Fulgentium Donat. [Donatist quotations]	C. Ziwsa in CSEL , vol. xxvi. P. Sabatier op. cit. Migne PL , xlivi ( App. ).

Quotations from S. Augustine have been omitted<sup>2</sup>, as they are probably not of much help in determining the text of the Old Latin; it is true (as I am informed by Mr. Burkitt, in a private communication) that all readings which he stigmatises as 'African,' or as found 'in some codices,' have a good chance of being genuine Old Latin; but, as a rule, he uses a revised text, and at the end of his life, he sometimes uses the Vulgate itself. Lactantius, Firmicus Maternus, and Commodian (here I am again indebted to Mr. Burkitt) always quote from the Testimonia, and thus give no independent evidence; their quotations have therefore also been omitted.

Wherever the Codd. Weing. and Wirceb. are available they form the text, and whenever a verse is found in any other authority it is noted in the Apparatus Criticus, unless the quotation is word for word the same as the Vulgate, in which case it is omitted. Where the Codices fail, the text is compiled, as far as possible, from the various quotations, in the order: Cyprian, Tyconius, Speculum, Lucifer, Coll. Carth., Fulgentius, Tertullian. The sources from which the text is drawn are indicated, as already pointed out, in the margin; references to the patristic quotations employed for text or App. Crit. will be found below the text.

THE APPARATUS CRITICUS. Besides giving the variations among the Latin authors, the App. Crit. also gives the readings of the Alexandrian Greek Version (G), together with those of the Lucianic and Hesychian recensions. These recensions are indicated respectively by L and H, which stand for two groups of MSS; but it frequently happens that a group is not united, and that therefore the MSS have to be indicated separately. Generally speaking, and when not otherwise signified, L or H denote the whole, or the decided majority, of the MSS of their group; where one or two of the MSS differ from the rest of the group, the witness of the latter is not regarded as having been impaired.

A word must be said regarding these two groups of MSS<sup>1</sup>. The Lucianic (L) includes the MSS numbered (Holmes and Parsons) 22, 36, [48], 51, 62, 95, 147, 153, 185, 233; of these 22, 36, 51, 153, [233] agree very closely; 48, 233 are to some extent Hesychian, and 153 shows a good number of individual readings in some books, but this applies also, to some extent, to 22, which is universally recognized as genuinely Lucianic. When a reading is supported by this sub-group, or by a distinct majority, it is set down as the witness of the Lucianic recension. This witness is frequently supplemented by that of the second sub-group 62, 147<sup>2</sup>; the individual character of these two, but especially of 62, is strongly marked, but both very often support the first sub-group. A third Lucianic sub-group consists of the MSS 95, 185; these two also show a certain amount of independence, though this is not nearly so strongly marked as in the sub-group 62, 147.

The Hesychian recension (H) includes the following MSS:—Q 26, 49, 68, 87, 91, 106. Here there is greater unanimity among the MSS, though sub-groups may be distinguished. Q 26 usually agree; 68, 87, 91 form a distinct sub-group; 106 shows the greatest individuality of the group, while 49 also stands a little apart; this latter is in close agreement with a MS regarded by some as Hesychian (viz. 238 [= 97]), but which, for reasons given elsewhere<sup>3</sup>, is not included among the genuine Hesychian MSS; it is only with hesitation that 49 has been included in the following App. Crit., its support in the group B is often wanting.

It will be seen from the above that the signs L and H, when occurring in App. Crit., do not necessarily include all the MSS of the recension, though this is of course generally the case. To give the individual evidence of each member of the groups would very much increase the bulk of the App. Crit.; and for the present purpose it does not seem necessary to do so, because what is here aimed at is to give the general evidence of each recension for or against the Old Latin texts.

Finally, readings of some other MSS have been added when they have supported the text; instances of this may be seen in e.g. Mic. iii 7, 10, Zeph. i 11, 13, Hag. ii 21, &c.; other authorities quoted under similar circumstances are the Armenian and Slavonic Versions (H. and P.), and the Complutensian and Aldine texts.

A RE-COLLATION OF CODEX k OF THE OLD LATIN GOSPELS (TURIN G VII 15).

THE following notes are the fruit of some days' study which I devoted in the spring of 1902 to the tiny volume which alone preserves to us the primitive form of any considerable portion of the original Latin version of the Gospels. It is this unique importance which must be my justification for going back upon work which has already been thoroughly, if not quite exhaustively, done by Tischendorf and Bishop Wordsworth: the edition with which I worked, and to which these notes refer, is, of course, that in Old Latin Biblical Texts ii (Oxford 1886), pp. 3-53. The list which now follows represents, with one considerable exception, the whole of the notes which I made: but I have not thought it necessary to swell this list with details about the abbreviations of the 'nomina sacra' (which would not always be quite easy to represent in type), seeing that they will be sufficiently discussed in Dr. Traube's forthcoming treatise on that subject.

Since these notes were first put into type, I have had the opportunity of seeing the notes which my friend Mr. F. C. Burkitt has made of the same MS: and in order to save the space of the JOURNAL, the agreement of Mr. Burkitt and myself in making the same correction is signified in the following notes by the initial B. In all such cases the result of our independent labour may I hope be taken as definitive.

Fol. 1 a: the heading is CATA MATTH [not CATA MARC, as Wordsworth, pp. vii, xi].

l. 7 the space appears to require farisaei, which is the regular spelling of the scribe elsewhere, Marc. viii 15, xii 13, Matt. v 20, vii 29, ix 11, 14, xii 2, 14, 24, 38, [not, as Tischendorf, farisei]. B.

fol. 2 a l. 7 bestaida m. 1, bedsaida m. 2 [not m. 3]: cf. on fol. 79 a l. 10 bessalda. It is extraordinary to notice how often the first hand miswrites a familiar proper name of the Gospel story: cf. e. g. in these notes foll. 18 a l. 6 scribae (feribat), 37 b l. 8 caluariae (galliariae), 44 a l. 7 mariam (maxriam?), 48 b l. 2 sadduceis, 73 a l. 1 lebbaeus (iebbacus), 74 a l. 6 sodome (sodocie?), 77 b l. 10 iohane: the most natural explanation would almost seem to be that the scribe was a pagan<sup>1</sup>. His worst errors are as a rule corrected by the contemporary m. 2, who acts throughout as a diorthota.

fol. 2 b l. 2 iterum: the -um is in ligature, though not at the end of the line. B.

l. 12 aute . . . erunt illi . . . es, is all that is absolutely clear in this line. Fleck's autem responderunt is too long for the first lacuna; Wordsworth's illi omnes is too short for the second. The indications had already led me to suspect the true reading to be autem dixerunt illi dicentes when I noticed that the Greek too has οι δὲ εἶπαν αὐτῷ λέγοντες. B.

l. 14 quida . . . elian alii vere, is all I could make out in this line: but the space seemed quite sufficient for quidam autem helian, and our scribe writes helias elsewhere, Marc. ix 4, 5, 11, 12, 13; xv 35, 36; Matt. xi 14. [Wordsworth quidam autem eliam alii uere.] It is true that scribes are not always consistent with themselves in such matters: e. g. the fifth-century fragment of Cyprian de opere et elemosynis, Turin G v 37, uses both helias and elias.

fol. 3 a l. 5 eis dicere m. 1, eos docere m. 2. The correction may possibly be prima manu: it is not always easy to

- distinguish m. 1 and m. 2 (but see below on fol. 45a l. 7): m. 3, on the other hand, is as a rule very different. B.
- fol. 3b l. 14 dabid (i. e. dabit) m. 3 [not dauid, as Wordsworth].
- fol. 4a l. 3 after natione m. 3 adds esta or iesta—the esta is quite clear, but the i may be only a mark, not a letter. [Wordsworth ista or iesta.] This third hand is almost as much of a puzzle as the original scribe: his penmanship and orthography are, if not illiterate, at least abnormal, but his date may well be as early as St. Columban.
- l. 8 quidam [not quidem, as Wordsworth].
- fol. 4b l. 1 I see no sign of abbreviation over the second letter of altum (alcum m. 1), and such a sign would be quite unprecedented at this date in the middle of a word and a line.
- fol. 5b l. 9 The last two letters of the line are in ligature of un [not in, as Wordsworth]: B.
unquirentes may possibly point to an original conquirentes, Gr. συνχροῦντας: so in the next verse but one k has conquiritis = συνχρέεται.
- fol. 6a l. 14 terram is m. 2: m. 1 wrote turbam. B.
- fol. 6b l. 4 et is the corrected reading, but there seems more erased than s: perhaps the original writing was si et.
- l. 9 creder (after potes), rather than credere, m. 3.
credentii apparently, not credenti: cf. saluarii, Marc. x 26. B.
- fol. 7b l. 8 timebant [not temebant, as Wordsworth].
- fol. 8a l. 1 conseldit et [so Wordsworth] is not the original reading, but a correction (by m. 1 or m. 2) of consedisset: B. This is itself possibly a corruption of an ancestral cum sedisset, Gr. καθίους.
- fol. 9b l. 1 fuer in quod m. 1: fuerint quod m. 2: fuerint in quod m. 3.
- l. 2 habets m. 1 [not habetis, as Wordsworth], habete m. 3.
- l. 3 in illa uicem: probably a corruption of in inuicem: cf. fol. 14a l. 6 where m. 1 has ille dignare for indignare, and fol. 19b l. 8 where in factums est doubtless represents ille factus est.
- l. 9 docuit m. 1, misreading im into ocu: to correct his mistake he then dotted the letters ocu and t, leaving only d and i, and went on to write mittere making dimittere: m. 3 wrote de sup lin, making demittere.
- l. 11 respondi* et m. 1: respondēs m. 2 [not m. 3]. B.
- fol. 10a l. 7 et inprobitas mulierem: I have no doubt that this is a corruption of et introibit ad mulierem rather than et haerebit ad, as given by Dr. Sanday on pp. cxxix, cxlii : the true text (NB syr-sin) omits the words altogether, and the addition in k appears to be independent of the addition in the majority of our witnesses.

fol. 10<sup>b</sup> l. 1 doxerit (i.e. duxerit) is m. 3 : B. The spelling would be enough to show this.

l. 4 m. 1 certainly super illos. B.

l. 9 poeros m. 1, pueros m. 3, I think.

fol. 11<sup>a</sup> l. 5 optume ut uid. m. 1 ; opteme [not optome] m. 3. B.

l. 9 dom<sup>s</sup> m. 1 : des [not deus] m. 3.

ani m. 1, corrected to eni in scribendo.

fol. 13<sup>a</sup> l. 8 the line is very difficult to decipher, but instead of quae uen|tura I read quae illi fu|tura : there are sufficient indications of illi (cf. Gr. αὐτῷ), and what may be the tail of f is visible, while uen|tura would (after illi) take up too much room, and there are no traces of any super-scribed line for uē|tura.

fol. 13<sup>b</sup> l. 7 apparently et annus a sinistra [not et unus a sinistra] : B. Cf. fol. 22<sup>a</sup> l. 12 quiannus est dom, for quia unus est.

ll. 13, 14 illis is supplied by m. 3 at the end of l. 13 solely, I believe, because the illis of l. 14 was already too much rubbed to be legible.

fol. 14<sup>a</sup> l. 6 illi dignare (for indignare) m. 1 : B. See above on fol. 9<sup>b</sup> l. 3.

fol. 15<sup>a</sup> l. 2 animo**sta : there is room for either one or two letters.

l. 6 ante me dixit m. 1 : m. 2 wrote u over n, but omitted to erase the second e.

fol. 15<sup>b</sup> l. 2 apparently pullon [not pullum].

l. 14 aui autem ut uid. [not alii autem] m. 1 : B. Perhaps he meant a uia. Alii m. 3.

fol. 16<sup>a</sup> l. 14 m. 1 had written neither f (in fici) nor b (in arborem), but apparently sicarhorem. Burkitt reads it scaphorem or scafhorem ; this suggests συκοφόρον, but the resemblance is I suppose a mere accident.

fol. 16<sup>b</sup> l. 11 m. 1 cum menses (sc cum mensis). B.

fol. 18<sup>a</sup> l. 6 scribae is not the original writing, but apparently feribat. [Burkitt's ferebat is I expect right.]

fol. 19<sup>b</sup> l. 8 in factums : probably a corruption of ille factus, see above on fol. 9<sup>b</sup> l. 3.

fol. 20<sup>a</sup> l. 9 in ueritatem is not m. 1 but m. 2 : m. 1 wrote honestatem (without in). B.

- l. 14 the superposed mark is not over a, but over s, and is no doubt meant as a mark of erasure. B.
- fol. 21<sup>b</sup> l. 2 resurrexerint is not the original writing, which was apparently recsrexerint : Burkitt makes it re[.]spexerint a mortem.
- l. 13 eum [not cum] m. 1 : cum m. 3. B.
- fol. 22<sup>a</sup> ll. 9, 10 maius his alius [not a|alias, as Wordsworth].
- l. 14 omnib m. 2, not m. 1 : m. 1 does not (I think) use the abbreviation b=bus, except at the end of a line, and apparently wrote either omnib or omnil [Burkitt reads it omnis, which is probably right].
- fol. 22<sup>b</sup> l. 10 ad dextera mea<sup>1</sup> [not a dextera mea]. B.
- l. 14 et unde est [not et unde et].
- fol. 23<sup>a</sup> l. 5 et sessionem [not ei sessionem].
- l. 11 quomodo [not quomoda].
- fol. 23<sup>b</sup> l. 13 non may be erased (so Wordsworth) or may be only rubbed : in this MS it is often very difficult to distinguish accidental rubbing from intentional erasure.
- fol. 24<sup>a</sup> l. 3 et post triduum alium ut (sc aliut) excitabitur sine manibus : this reading solves a difficulty in Cyprian Test. i 15 (Hartel 49. 17)—the quotation there should run on with the preceding line, and the whole of lines 15–17 should be referred to Marc. xiii 2, and not, as by Hartel, to Matt. xxiv 2 and Marc. xiv 58 respectively.
- l. 5 im montem [not in montem], cf. Marc. ix 31 im manos, ix 36 im medio. xiv 9 im memoriam Matt. xiii 47 im mare (Sanday, p. cxliii).
- fol. 24<sup>b</sup> l. 2 bella m. 2 : signa ut uid. m. 1 : Burkitt however thought m. 1 wrote hora.
- ll. 9, 10 uos ipsos m. 2 : ua (or uas) . . . sos : the erasure consists of about eight letters, of which the third or fourth is apparently s and the last a : Burkitt detected that ipsos tra was originally written twice over.
- fol. 25<sup>a</sup> l. 8 frater is in rasura of a rather longer word, which apparently ended in -or : traditor would suit all the indications (and no word would be more likely to be familiar to African scribes) except that I could see no trace of the top of the d : Burkitt now solves the problem with p(rae)tor.
- fol. 25<sup>b</sup> l. 11 uiuente— (sc uiuentem) m. 1 [not uiuente]. iactant [not lactant]. B.
- l. 12 adorate is rather m. 3 than m. 2. B.
- fol. 26<sup>a</sup> l. 14 dieb. is outside the line, and perhaps added by m. 2.

<sup>1</sup> This should be added to the instances I collected in J. T. S. July 1901, pp. 607–10.

- fol. 26b l. 9 m. 3 adds in margin sues (sc electos suos): avrov is read within brackets in Westcott-Hort. B.
- l. 14 soli adgnosci (ut uid.) m. 1. B.
- fol. 27b ll. 2, 3 cuiusque o|pus suum [not o|opus]. B.
- l. 6 uerum: doubtless a corruption of an ancestral utrum.
- fol. 28a l. 1 cum is unquestionably the reading of m. 1. B.
- l. 4 bethaniam [not belhaniam]: Burkitt adds that m. 2 deletes the final m.
- fol. 28b l. 2 taedium m. 3 [not m. 2].
- fol. 29b ll. 5, 6 m. 1 wrote firstly subpedaneum (sc a stool), then corrected this to subterranaeum: the marks round ‘pedaneum’ are meant to bracket the word (compare below on fol. 86b l. 4), and the s of Wordsworth’s sterranaeum is not a fully-formed letter, but a similar mark dividing the cancelled pedaneum from its substitute terraneum. The true word I imagine to have been superaneum (perhaps miswritten subperaneum in the exemplar), which accounts for both subpedaneum and subterraneum. I have not been able to find that this word occurs elsewhere: but the word dv̄yayov here and in Luc. xxii 12 proved a great stumbling-block to the old Latin translators, and it is not I think over rash to conjecture that the ancestor of k represented it by some such bold expedient as superaneum.
- fol. 30a l. 7 ili est (sc ille est) m. 3 I think [not ipsest].
- fol. 30b l. 6 ilis is the reading of m. 3 I imagine [not illis]; there are only four letters.
- l. 10 cū [not cu].
- l. 11 the last two letters under the erasure were apparently -ae: possibly the word was regulae.
- l. 12 hominum m. 1 [not heminum].
- fol. 31a l. 3 posttea [not postea].
- l. 7 standaliziati m. 1.
- l. 10 tertio was perhaps the reading of m. 1 under ter me.
- l. 14 dixēr. [not dixēr.]: correct therefore Dr. Sanday’s reference to this passage on p. clviii.
- fol. 31b l. 1 cui [not qui].
- fol. 32a l. 4 autem m. 1, possibly corrected manu prima into quidem.
- fol. 33b l. 14 I cannot see in the MS the dots which Wordsworth prints over the u of surgentes. B.
- fol. 34b l. 10 ex familiis [not ex famulis]. B.
- fol. 35a l. 5 et gallus is a correction: the original reading was set gallus. B.

- l. 13 the i of iurare is in rasura: the original reading was apparently furare. B.
- fol. 37b l. 6 of the letters printed by Wordsworth in small type as due to the corrector, ce and ul seem to be only a retracing of the same letters: ul was apparently preceded by b: the lost word was something like ceauibulare: Burkitt's cruce ambulare is doubtless right.
- l. 8 gallariae [not galuariae]: Burkitt gives galliarie.
- l. 9 bibere uinum [as Fleck: not uinum bibere, as Wordsworth]. B.
- fol. 38a l. 3 unum [not unun]: the -um is in ligature at the end of the line. B.
- fol. 38b ll. 2, 3 tene|bre [not tenebrae].
- l. 3 tota . . . usque: the m of totam is part of the correction: the letters erased were either three or four: Burkitt suggests ora.
- l. 9 locus appears to be the lost word: the -us at least is certain. B.
- l. 10 the t of et is not in rasura, but m. 1. B.
- fol. 39a l. 7 de [not ds].
- fol. 40b l. 1 the reading of the MS is perhaps a corruption of surgente in claritate filio dei.
- ll. 12, 13 ihn illum crucifixum illum nazoraeum was the reading of m. 1, corresponding to the Greek Ἰησοῦν τὸν Ναζαρηνὸν τὸν ἐσταυρωμένον. B. The representation of the Greek article by ille in the primitive Latin version was often a stumbling-block to later scribes: I hope in a future number of the JOURNAL to collect some instances from St. Cyprian's Testimonia in illustration of this point: meanwhile I may refer to Isa. i 4 = Test. i 3 (Hartel 41. 2); Mic. v 1 = Test. ii 12 (77. 4); Gen. xxii 1 = Test. iii 15 (127. 20); 2 Tim. iv 8 = Test. iii 16 (131. 20).
- l. 14 after surrexit follows, as marked by Wordsworth, an erasure of five or six letters: the first was e, the second l or t, the third e, the fourth c: e lecto occurred to me, but I could not easily make the last erased letter into an o: Tischendorf and Burkitt agree on et ecce, and this is very likely right.
- fol. 42b l. 14 iec**oniam : there is more room than for h alone—perhaps ih or hi: Burkitt reads iecmoniam.
- fol. 44a l. 5 somnis m. 2 : fornis m. 1. B.
- l. 7 maxriam : I am not sure that the third letter is more than a second 'a' begun and then starred for omission.

- l. 9 autē [not aute]. B.
- l. 13 inple|retur [not imple|retur]. B.
- fol. 44b l. 12 magis, I think, rather than magii. B.
- fol. 45a l. 1 m. 1 wrote, I think, stellam cum audis|set autem. B.
- l. 7 iudeae is all by m. 1, I think: e is the letter in which the writing of m. 1 and m. 2 is most easily distinguishable—the latter tends more to make the top part of the e in a separate stroke, and also slopes the letter more—and here it seems to be the e of m. 1.
- fol. 46a l. 12 ei iure et gadiume m. 1: ei surge et ad*ume m. 2: ei surge et adsume m. 3. B.
- l. 13 in is not m. 2 but m. 1.
- l. 14 esto illic m. 2: ethillio ut uid m. 1: Burkitt reads it ephillis.
- fol. 46b l. 8 a domino profetam: the last five letters of domino are in rasura, though the correction is apparently made by m. 1 himself: probably he first wrote adimpler for a dom per of his exemplar, and when he corrected it forgot to write in the per.
- fol. 47b l. 7 secesit [not secessit]: B. The whole word is perhaps in rasura.
- fol. 48a l. 9 fuit lucus is all by m. 2, but -us projects beyond the space occupied by the erased letters.
- l. 10 siluestre m. 2: perhaps silue fere m. 1: Burkitt suggests dilu*ter**, but somewhat doubtfully.
- l. 14 ab eo [not et eo].
- fol. 48b l. 3 sad|duceis: the last six letters are in rasura of something rather longer: it is another instance of a proper name misread by the original scribe.
- fol. 50a ll. 7, 10 nepthalim in each case [not nephthalim].
- fol. 51a l. 11 inbecillita|tem [not imbecillita|tem]. B.
- fol. 51b l. 11 m. 1 bae*ati (the lost letter apparently e or c), corrected to beati. B.
- l. 14 bae*ti.
- fol. 52b l. 1 m. 1 apparently wrote plangē|tis.
- l. 13 b<sup>a</sup>eati ut uid.
- fol. 53a l. 12 etterra is no doubt only by error printed as one word in Wordsworth: the MS of course does not separate words at all in the ordinary way.
- ll. 13, 14 trans|sibit: the s at the end of l. 13 is, I think, intended to be deleted, no doubt in order that the division of the word may comply with the rule that the new line should if possible begin with a consonant.

- fol. 53<sup>b</sup> l. 9 uesra [not uestra] m. 3.
- fol. 54<sup>a</sup> l. 2 reus : -us is in ligature and over an erasure (apparently of -a).
eri [not eri, as Wordsworth] : the t has simply disappeared by the trimming of the page. B.
- l. 4 raca : the space sub rasura seems to be too much for p, and would suit r better : with diffidence I suggest that m. 1 wrote raca after all, for the curious hieroglyphic of m. 3 seems to me more like s than r.
- l. 12 tu [not tu, as Wordsworth] : again, as in l. 2 of this page, the final letter is simply cut away with the margin. B.
- fol. 54<sup>b</sup> l. 10 did not m. 1 write cau|sam rather than ean|sam? The third letter is certainly u, not n. B.
- fol. 55<sup>a</sup> l. 7 totum (rather totuum) is, I think, in imitative uncial of m. 3, not m. 2: m. 1 had meum. B.
- l. 13 uxo|rem [not uxor|rem].
- l. 14 audis : the rest of the word is cut off with the trimming of the margin. B.
- fol. 55<sup>b</sup> l. 2 iurabis Wordsworth : but the first letter is hardly like an i. reddes m. 2 [not m. 3].
- l. 8 eius m. 2 : est apparently m. 1.
- l. 10 quia [not quoniam as Wordsworth].
- fol. 56<sup>b</sup> l. 6 m. 1 had begun loqu-, but changed l to b and dotted qu, so as to make bonos.
- l. 7 superius eos, rather than super iuseos as Wordsworth.
- fol. 57<sup>a</sup> l. 6 in uicis et in synagogis [not in uicis et synagogis].
- l. 11 the supplement at the foot of the page I take to be m. 2, not m. 1.
- fol. 59<sup>a</sup> l. 13 fures : the last two letters are in rasura, apparently of furti. B.
- fol. 59<sup>b</sup> l. 12 sust : the letters erased are apparently fuit, which was the scribe's first reading of his exemplar, corrected by himself to sustinebit.
- fol. 60<sup>a</sup> l. 3 induatis m. 2, but indicatis, I think [not indnatis], m. 1.
l. 6 seminant is all a correction after the first letter : -ant is not in rasura because it is outside the line : the original hand therefore wrote s . . . | . . , of which the letter after s looks like i, and the last two like et. Could he have read it simon et?
- fol. 60<sup>b</sup> l. 4 Wordsworth's note is somewhat misleading : quomodo is the correction of m. 2 for quomo.
- fol. 62<sup>a</sup> l. 13 There should be no space between O and quia. Quia data probably derives ultimately from quid lata, the true reading in St. Cyprian (Test. iii 6, Hartel 119. 18), so that the reading might almost be transferred from the column for disagreements between k and Cyprian to that for agreements in Dr. Sanday's list, p. lix.

fol. 62<sup>b</sup> l. 11 facet: m. 2 may have meant and probably did mean to correct facet to facit rather than, as Wordsworth, faciet.

l. 13 m. 1 wrote potest arbor malos fructus face|re.

fol. 63<sup>a</sup> l. 8 quo m. 1, qui m. 2: Wordsworth's note might mislead.

fol. 63<sup>b</sup> l. 2 m. 1 speramini|quitatem: m. 2 peramini inin|quitatem.

l. 4 uerba mea: the original reading was apparently uerbum ea.

fol. 63<sup>b</sup> ll. 4, 5 fa|cit [not fe|cit, as Wordsworth].

fol. 64<sup>a</sup> l. 6 con|summasset [not con|sumasset].

fol. 65<sup>b</sup> l. 2 in regno caelorum [not in regnum caelorum].

l. 5 m. 1 was perhaps writing stridentium for stridor dentium: if so, he made the correction himself.

fol. 66<sup>a</sup> l. 1 optulerunt [not opluterunt].

daemonicacos [not demoniacos].

ll. 8, 9 turbae multae is a correction, apparently from turbas multas.

ll. 13, 14 hab|bent: the first b is dotted for erasure by m. 1, since hab|ent would divide the word wrongly.

fol. 66<sup>b</sup> l. 13 the letters under erasure were something like cacis.

fol. 67<sup>a</sup> l. 3 estis [not haestis].

ll. 12, 13 exeū|tes [not exeū|tes].

fol. 67<sup>b</sup> l. 2 fili di ends the line: the ii which Wordsworth prints is only a take-off from ti of fol. 68<sup>a</sup> l. 2. B.

l. 3 the final writing—perhaps m. 2, perhaps a correction by m. 1—is hoc [not huc]: m. 1 may have written first i . . ic (?istic or illic).

l. 13 aquis is m. 2: m. 1 wrote aques or aquos.

fol. 68<sup>a</sup> l. 7 cum [not eum].

ll. 9, 10 op|tulerint m. 1.

l. 13 bono animo [not bone animo].

fol. 69<sup>b</sup> l. 1 audisset [not audissit].

l. 14 uenient in this line is not erased as Wordsworth's note seems to imply: but on fol. 70<sup>a</sup> l. 1 m. 1 wrote autem uenient dies, and it is this second uenient which is erased.

fol. 70<sup>b</sup> l. 1 m. 1 wrote uenit, but himself corrected to ueniens.

l. 12 m. 1 wrote apparently saluabitur.

l. 14 fides m. 2: m. 1 apparently wrote ex hoc.

fol. 72<sup>a</sup> l. 7 inbecillitatē [not imbecillitatē].

- ll. 10, 11 m. 1 wrote apparently abie|ei : m. 2 abiecti (all in l. 10) and erased ei.
- fol. 73a l. 1 iebbacus apparently m. 1.
 l. 5 ieritis item aut factio|nes [not ieritis ite magis actio|nes, as Wordsworth's notes] m. 1 : the words item . . . are of course a corruption of ite magis ad oues, the s of magis becoming the f of factiones, according to the most common of all the confusions to which our scribe is liable.
- fol. 74a l. 6 sodocie? m. 1.
- fol. 76a l. 4 in ipso m. 1 : the in is deleted. In line 2, in me, the in is so rubbed that it is impossible to say whether it is deleted or no.
- coram fratre meo m. 1.
- fol. 76b l. 6 sequitur : loquitur m. 1.
- fol. 77a l. 1 profete [not profetae].
 l. 11 autē is in the margin, and must have been added secundis curis.
- fol. 77b l. 5 surdei [not surdi].
 l. 10 iohane: the letters o and h are in rasura. Again a curious instance of bungling over the Gospel proper names.
 qui dixistis [not quid existis].
- fol. 79a l. 10 chorozan, as Fleck [not chorazan].
 bessalda is certain and should be in the text.
 l. 13 not syryan, but perhaps syryam, m. 1.
- fol. 79b l. 3 the q in quomodo is m. 1 : perhaps he wrote q- = quae (or neq- = neque).
- fol. 80a l. 5 under the erasure is nisi filius et : it was just an omission by homoeoteleuton after agnoscit.
- fol. 80b l. 11 m. 1 wrote first panem, dotted the m and added s to make it into panes, just as on fol. 83a l. 4 he changed aduersum into aduersus.
 l. 14 facere is again obviously the original scribe's first reading of sacer-, which he himself made good.
- fol. 83a l. 3 duisum m. 2 in Wordsworth's note is a misprint for diuisum.
 l. 5 the writing under ciuitas was perhaps causas.
- fol. 84a ll. 10, 11 potes|tis [not potes|tes].
- fol. 85a l. 2 non signum of m. 1 is possibly a corruption grown entirely out of nisi (ni = non, si = signum), since Cyprian reads nisi Ionae, and omits signum altogether (Test. ii 25, Hartel 92. 12; omit signum A*LB).
- fol. 86a l. 4 at eos of Wordsworth's text should have been in small type: it (or rather at eus = ad eos) is a correction by m. 3. I make the reading of m. 1 to be at tr(ip)la— whatever it was it was presumably a corruption of at turba(s), Gr. τοῖς ὥχλοις.

l. 8 est: the s is by m. 2 in rasura: m. 1 apparently eit.

l. 12 Wordsworth's note might mislead: m. 1 wrote fratris for patris of verse 50 (l. 12), not for the fratres of verse 49 (l. 11).

fol. 86b l. 4 what Wordsworth represents here by square brackets are the same signs that on fol. 29b l. 5 (Marc. xiv 15) he had represented by quotation marks: they are not unlike our round brackets, and are obviously intended to cancel the words enclosed. Erasure in the strict sense is hardly, if at all, employed by m. 1.

fol. 87a l. 5 The mark in the text calling attention to the supplement at the foot of the page is here hd [not ha].

ad calc. pag. spineae: the last letter but one hardly resembles a at all. I should not like to say what letter it is meant for: yet all the other letters in the supplement are formed quite regularly and normally.

fol. 88b l. 13 seminatur hoc est: m. 1 wrote femina turba est: add. this instance of b = h to Dr. Sanday's list of confusions on p. cxxxvii, and cf. fol. 86a l. 2, Sanday, p. cccxxxviii.

fol. 89a l. 2 there is no line over lx.

fol. 90a l. 2 i of dicens is in rasura, presumably of docens.

fol. 90b ll. 7, 8 me|um m. 2 : me|uiam perhaps [me|usm, as Wordsworth, is not long enough] m. 1.

fol. 91a l. 13 eius m. 2 : illis ut uid. m. 1.

l. 14 faciunt in m. 2 : factae sunt m. 1.

fol. 91b l. 7 absconsum <sup>in</sup>sacro [not absconsum <sup>ha</sup>sacro, as Wordsworth]: i. e. m. 2 wrote in over s, to make it read absconsum in acro.

l. 8 quod : d is by m. 2 in rasura.

l. 9 m. 3 prefixes pero [not pro] to gaudio.

fol. 92a l. 14 ignis is by m. 2 in rasura [not, I think, simply retraced, as Wordsworth].

fol. 92b l. 4 caeloī· [not caelōr·].

ll. 6, 7 de thensauros suos: m. 2 apparently marks the final s in each case for cancel.

l. 9 m. 3 superscribes -ess- over the latter part of transtulit, perhaps meaning transessit = transisset.

fol. 93b l. 8 eum is m. 3 : m. 1 wrote cum.

fol. 94a l. 1 sub . . . ta: four letters apparently have disappeared.

- l. 9 dedit m. 3 : m. 1 had written a longer word beginning with p (?portauit or porrexit or pertulit).
 fol. 94<sup>b</sup> ll. 10, 11 demit[te [not demit]et, as Wordsworth].
 fol. 95<sup>a</sup> l. 5 finenis, I think [not fimenis], m. 3.
 l. 8 dauit [not dauid]. B.
 fol. 96<sup>a</sup> l. 11 clodis [not clodos]. B.
 fol. 96<sup>b</sup> l. 9 illi m. 1 : illis m. 3.

C. H. TURNER.

FURTHER NOTES ON CODEX k.

WHEN passing through Turin in April of this year I was able to spend a couple of days in examining Codex Bobiensis (k) with the aid of the Oxford edition, and though the total result was not very large, yet the great importance of k for textual criticism seemed to justify the publication of my notes. After I had written what I had to say, I found that my friend Mr. C. H. Turner had also re-collated k about a year before my passing visit. Our results, I am glad to say, very greatly coincide. It would be absurd to print the same collation twice over. Mr. Turner has therefore marked the readings of his collation which were also in mine with the letter B, and so I only give here the readings which it was not in his plan to notice, together with the very few places where we are at variance.

1. Punctuation. There are two systems of punctuation in k, neither of which is consistently represented in the printed edition. The scribe divided sentences by blank spaces and also by a point opposite the middle of the letters. Sometimes we have the space without the point, sometimes the point without the space, sometimes both together. The photographed page (fol. 41<sup>a</sup>), which contains Mark xvi 6-end will illustrate each of these methods. After dixi and exposuerunt there are spaces left blank without a dot; after fugerunt is a small space with a dot; after discipulis, uidebitis, cum (1<sup>o</sup>), tremor, pauor, adparuit, usque (1<sup>o</sup>), illos, sanctam, incorruptam, and before hi<sup>s</sup>, there are dots without spaces. I leave it to the reader whether there be a space left between orientem- and misit. Of these two systems, the space and the point, the space is by far the more important, because it represents the intention of the scribe. Points may have been added later; in the case of the MS before us they may have been added inadvertently. It appeared to me that the scribe of k after writing a word often allowed his pen to rest on the vellum while his eye was reading (or trying to read) the next word in his exemplar. The result is a number of fine dots at the ends of words which never
