STATIONS, MISSIONARIES, AND OTHER LABOURERS, APRIL 30, 1867.

 By MISSIONARY, is to be understood one in Holy Orders; and by CATECHIST, one who engages in such religious care and instruction of the people as may be consistent with his character as a Layman. The letter (m) means Married.—Wives of Missionaries, &c., though not named, except when engaged in some specific employment, are always expected by the Society to lay themselves out to do good, in every practicable way, among Native Females; such as, cultivating familiar intercourse with them, educating children, and instructing Female Adults.

A STATION, is the place at which a Missionary or European Catechist is stationed, or at which Native Christians are located under Native pastoral superintendence in connexion with the Society.

The figures after the Names of the European Labourers sent from Europe show the date of their first leaving Europe.

The asterisk (*) denotes that the Missionary is on his way out. The mark (†) that he is on his way home.

OF THE

CHURCH MISSIONARY SOCIETY FOR AFRICA AND THE EAST.

I. THIS Institution shall be designated "The Church Missionary Society for Africa and the East;" and shall be conducted by a Patron or Patrons, a Vice-Patron, a President, Vice-Presidents, a Committee, and such Officers as may be deemed necessary, all being Members of the Established Church.

II. The office of PATRON of the Society shall be reserved for such Members of the Royal Family as may honour it with their protection; and that of VICE-PATRON for His Grace the Primate of all England, if, being a Member of the Society, he shall accept the office. The PRESIDENT shall be such Temporal Peer or Commoner as may be appointed to that office; and VICE-PRESIDENTS shall consist of all Archbishops and Bishops of the United Church of England and Ireland, who, being Members of the Society, shall accept the office; and of such Temporal Peers and Commoners as, being also Members, shall be appointed thereto.

OF MEMBERS AND GOVERNORS.

III. Annual Subscribers of One Guinea and upward, and if Clergyman, Half-a-Guinea, with Collectors of Fifty-two Shillings and upward per annum, shall be Members of the Society during the continuance of such Subscriptions or Collections. Benefactors of Ten Guineas or upward, Clergymen making Congregational Collections to the amount of Twenty Guineas, and Executors paying to the amount of Fifty Pounds, shall be Members for Life.

IV. Annual Subscribers of Five Guineas shall be Governors during the continuance of such Subscription; and Benefactors of Fifty Pounds and upward shall be Governors for Life.

V. Members and Governors of Associations who contribute the above sums shall be considered as Members and Governors of the Parent Society.

VI. The Committee shall have the power of appointing such persons as have rendered essential services to the Society, either Members for Life, or Governors for Life.

OF GENERAL MEETINGS.

VII. An Annual Meeting of the Members of the Society shall be held in London, on the First Tuesday in May; unless that day shall fall on the 7th of May, in which case the Annual Meeting shall be held, for that year, on Tuesday the 30th of April; when the Proceedings of the foregoing year shall be reported, the Accounts presented, and a Treasurer and Committee chosen.

VIII. A Special General Meeting of the Members of the Society, at which not less than Thirty shall constitute a Quorum, shall be called at any time, at the requisition of the General Committee; or by any Thirteen Members, on addressing a Letter to the Secretary, specifying the object of the Meeting. Ten days' notice shall be given in Three public Newspapers, of any such intended Meeting, and of the purpose for which it is called; which shall be deemed sufficient publicity

IX. None of the Rules of the Society shall be repealed or altered, nor any new ones established, but at the Annual Meeting, or at a Special Meeting called for that purpose.

X. An Anniversary Sermon shall be preached at some Church in London, by a Clergyman appointed by the General Committee. An Annual Report of the Society shall be printed, for the use of its Members.

OF THE COMMITTEE.

XI. The Committee shall consist of Twenty-four Lay Members of the Established Church; and of all such Clergymen as are Members of the Society. Eighteen Members shall be annually appointed from the Old Committee, and Six from the General Body.

XII. The COMMITTEE shall elect, at their First Meeting in every year, either from among themselves, or from the other Members of the Society (being Members of the Established Church), a Committee of Patronage, a Committee of Funds, a Committee of Correspondence, and a Committee of Accounts. Each of the said Committees shall keep Minutes of its Proceedings, and shall report the same to the General Committee.

XIII. The office of the Committee of Patronage is, to procure patronage and support to the Society; and to nominate, to the General Committee, proper persons as Patrons and Vice-Presidents of the Society.

XIV. The office of the Committee of Funds is, to circulate information respecting the Society; to adopt proper means of augmenting the Subscriptions and Benefactions; to obtain Collections in Churches and Chapels; and to nominate, from time to time, to the General Committee, suitable persons to act as Agents for the Society in the principal Towns throughout the Empire.

XV. The office of the Committee of Correspondence is, to seek for proper Missionaries to superintend their instruction, and to correspond with them when sent out.

XVI. The office of the Committee of Accounts is, to see that the Subscriptions are duly received, regulate the accounts, and undertake the charge of fitting out and conveying the Missionaries to their places of destination.

XVII. The General Committee shall receive the Reports of the other Committees, shall appoint the places where Missions shall be attempted, shall direct the scale upon which they shall be conducted, and shall superintend the affairs of the Society in general.

XVIII. The General Committee shall meet on the Second Monday in every Month, and oftener if needful; the other Committees as often, and at such places, as shall be by them agreed on: their Meetings to be always opened with reading a Form of Prayer composed for that purpose, or one or more suitable Prayers selected from the Liturgy. Five Members shall be necessary to compose a General Committee; and Three, each of the others. In cases of equality of votes, the Chairman shall be entitled to a second or casting vote.

XIX. The Patrons, Vice-Patron, and President, Vice-Presidents, Treasurer, and Secretaries, shall be considered, ex-officio, Members of all Committees.

XX. Governors, being Members of the Established Church, shall be entitled to attend and vote at all Meetings of the General Committee.

XXI. All payments on account of the Society shall be signed by Three of the General Committee, in Committee, and the Lay Secretary.

XXII. The Committee shall have power to appoint such Officers and Assistants as they shall deem necessary for the well-conducting of the affairs of the Society, subject to the approbation of the next Annual Meeting.

XXIII. Five Auditors shall be appointed by the Committee, annually, for the purpose of auditing the Accounts of the Society, of whom, Three shall be chosen from the General Body. Three shall be a Quorum.

XXIV. The Life Subscriptions, or a sufficient part thereof to be equal to the Subscriptions of the existing Members for Life, shall be placed in the Public Funds, in the names of Four of the General Committee; who, on their acceptance of the trust, shall sign a declaration of the nature of it, and that they will relinquish the same whenever called upon for that purpose by the General Committee.

OF MISSIONARIES.

XXV. In the appointment of Candidates for the Missionary Office, the following course shall be pursued: The Committee of Correspondence having found a person supposed to be suitable, shall determine by ballot to nominate him to the General Committee. Previous to the day of nomination, each Member of the General Committee shall receive notice of such nomination. On the day of nomination, a report shall be made, by some Member of the Committee of Correspondence, of his qualifications; and the General Committee shall then proceed to ballot for him, unless any Member shall declare that he wishes for further information; in which case the ballot shall be deferred till the next Meeting of the General Committee. In the ballot of either Committee, the agreement of at least Three-fourths of the Members present shall be necessary to his election.

XXVI. A Candidate thus chosen shall receive instruction in such parts of knowledge, and be prepared in such a manner for his future employment, as the Committee of Correspondence shall judge expedient.

XXVII. If, during such preparation, any Two Members of the General Committee should see cause to disapprove of his principles or conduct, they may submit the subject to a Special Meeting of the Committee; and, if deemed proper, the Committee may appoint another ballot, to determine whether he shall be continued as a Candidate; of which special notice shall be given to each Member.

XXVIII. Each Candidate shall consider himself as engaged to go to any part of the world, and at any time, which the Committee shall choose: respect, however, being had to his personal circumstances, or to any previous stipulation made by him with the Society. As soon as he quits England, he shall keep a regular Journal of his studies and proceedings; a copy of which he shall send, as often as opportunity shall serve, to the Secretaries.

XXIX. Each candidate, after due preparation, shall, if not admitted to Holy Orders, be appointed by the Committee to act as a Catechist. If admitted to Holy Orders, he shall be appointed a Missionary.*

XXX. The Missionaries who go out under the direction of this Society shall be allowed to visit home, permission having been previously obtained from the General Committee: and after having laboured in the cause of the Society, to the satisfaction of the Committee, at the Stations committed to their care, until age or infirmity prevent further exertion, suitable provision shall be made to render their remaining days comfortable. The General Committee shall have the power to assist also, in particular cases, the dependent Relatives of those Missionaries, who, by devoting themselves to the service of the Society, are prevented from contributing to their support.

XXXI. A friendly intercourse shall be maintained with other Protestant Societies engaged in the same benevolent design of propagating the Gospel of Jesus Christ.

XXXII. That all questions relating to matters of Ecclesiastical Order and Discipline, respecting which a difference shall arise between any Colonial Bishop and any Committee of the Society, shall be referred to the Archbishops and Bishops of the United Church of England and Ireland, whose decision thereupon shall be final.

XXXIII. That the object of the preceding Law being only to provide a mode of settling questions relating to Ecclesiastical Order and Discipline, as to which no provision has yet been made by the Society, it is not to be so construed, as, in any other respect, to alter the principles and practice of the Society, as they are contained in its Laws and Regulations, and explained in Appendix II. to the Thirty-ninth Report.

The proposed reference shall be made, through His Grace the Primate, by the Committee, accompanied by such explanations and statements as the Committee may deem advisable, and the Committee will be bound so to refer all questions, falling within the scope of the Rule so understood as aforesaid, which the Colonial Bishop shall require them to refer.

While all decisions of the Bench of Bishops on questions so referred will be considered by the Committee as binding on them and their agents or representatives, the Colonial Bishops or other Ecclesiastical Authorities, unless concurring in the reference, cannot properly be considered as so bound.

XXXIV. It is recommended to every Member of the Society to pray to Almighty God for a blessing upon its designs; under the full conviction, that, unless He "prevent us, in all our doings, with His most gracious favour, and further us with His continual help," we cannot reasonably hope to meet with persons of a proper spirit and qualifications to be Missionaries, or expect their endeavours to be crowned with success.

* The following passage, from Appendix II. to the Thirty-ninth Annual Report illustrates the practice of the Society in reference to this Rule:—

"The Bishops of the Church, under the authority of the law of the land, ordain and send forth [ecclesiastically speaking] our Missionaries: these Missionaries are licensed and superintended abroad, in every case where it is practicable, by Colonial Bishops of the Church of England; as are the other Clergymen of the Church officiating in the same Colony. The Services which the Missionaries perform are in strict conformity with the Ritual and Discipline of the Church."

APPENDIX II. TO THE THIRTY-NINTH REPORT.

REFERRED TO IN THE NOTE TO LAW XXIX.

REMARKS ON THE CONSTITUTION AND PRACTICE OF THE CHURCH MISSIONARY SOCIETY, WITH REFERENCE TO ITS ECCLESIASTICAL RELATIONS.

It is the object of the following Remarks to show, that the constitution and practice of the Church Missionary Society are in strict conformity with Ecclesiastical principles, as they are recognised in the constitution and practice of the Church of England.

Throughout the system of the Church of England there is a recognised co-operation of temporal and spiritual functions in MATTERS ECCLESIASTICAL; that is, the Laity and Clergy have not only their separate and distinct provinces, but, in many important respects, they unite their agency for the accomplishing of Ecclesiastical acts.

For instance, in supplying a vacant Church, a Lay-Patron selects and presents "his Clerk"—as the Clergyman is technically called—to the Bishop; who thereupon invests him with authority to minister in that Church. So, also, there are certain Lay-officers appointed to every Church—the Church-wardens or Sidesmen—whose duty it is, not only to guard, in conjunction with the Minister, the temporalities of the Church, but also to watch over the due performance of Divine Service, the morals of the parishioners, and the conduct of the Minister; and to report, from time to time, on each of these matters, to the Ecclesiastical Authorities. The duty of these officers is implied in the old appellation, "Sidesmen," or "Synodsmen"—men summoned to attend and give information at Synods and Visitations.

The distinction and co-operation of lay and spiritual functions in the Church of England might be further illustrated in the case of Ecclesiastical Courts, and various relations which arise out of the principle, that the Sovereign is the Supreme Ruler of the Church.

Keeping the foregoing distinction in view, the Church Missionary Society may be regarded as an Institution for discharging the temporal and lay offices necessary for the preaching of the Gospel among the Heathen. It is strictly a Lay Institution: it exercises, as a Society, no spiritual functions whatsoever.

Such being the constitution of the Society in theory—are its proceedings conducted in conformity with this theory, and with the Ecclesiastical principles of the Church of England?

In order to review these proceedings, they may be conveniently arranged under the FOUR following Heads:

I. THE COLLECTION OF THE HOME REVENUE, and THE DISBURSEMENT OF IT ABROAD.

These acts are altogether within the province of Laymen.

II. THE SELECTING AND EDUCATING CANDIDATES FOR MISSIONARY EMPLOYMENT.

In this department there is no necessary encroachments upon spiritual functions. The Colleges in our Universities are Lay-Corporations, and may, in many cases, be administered and presided over by Laymen.

Yet it may be urged, that in this department there is an approach to the peculiar province of Clergymen; because spiritual persons seem the more proper judges of a Candidate's fitness for Missionary employment: and it is generally admitted, that a Bishop may exercise a control over the education and training of Candidates to be advanced by himself to Holy Orders. Now, in both these particulars the Church Missionary Society has carefully guarded its proceedings. The examination of Missionary Candidates is referred to a Clerical Sub-Committee; and the General Committee consult and act upon the report of this Clerical trial and judgment. In respect of the other point, the education and training of Candidates for Holy Orders, the Church Missionary College at Islington has the sanction and approbation of the Bishop of London; who, in this country, admits to Holy Orders all the Society's Candidate: and his Lordship has repeatedly expressed his satisfaction at the results of the system of instruction, as they have been manifested in his examinations for Holy Orders.

III. The Third general head of the Society's proceedings is, THE SENDING FORTH, TO PARTICULAR STATIONS, THE MISSIONARIES THUS ORDAINED, OR OTHER CLERGYMEN WHO HAVE BEEN PREVIOUSLY ORDAINED

Now, here an objection against the Society has been founded on the use of the term "sending forth:"—it sounds like an exercise of Ecclesiastical power. But, Ecclesiastically speaking, the Bishop of London "sends forth" every Missionary ordained by him. The Law of the land has sanctioned the Two Archbishops, and the Bishop of London, in ordaining persons to officiate abroad. The Secretary of the Church Missionary Society requests, by Letter, the Bishop of London to ordain, in conformity with the provisions of the Act of Parliament, such and such persons, whom the Society is willing to support in some Foreign Station. The Bishop, by the imposition of hands, gives them authority to preach the Gospel, with a view to their Foreign location.—In the case of persons already in Holy Orders, who may join the Society, they may be said to go forth by their own voluntary act; but their Letters of Orders, given by a Bishop of our Church, are their mission and commission, Ecclesiastically speaking.

Hence, to call the acts of the Church Missionary Society—in selecting the station, paying the passage-money, and agreeing to provide the Missionary's salary—to call these acts a SENDING FORTH of Preachers, in an Ecclesiastical sense, is to confound names with things, and to lose sight of all true Church principles.

IV. The Fourth general head under which the proceedings of the Church Missionary Society may be arranged, is, THE SUPERINTENDENCE OF MISSIONARIES IN THEIR LABOURS AMONG THE HEATHEN.

Here a distinction must be made between the case of those Foreign Stations which lie within the Jurisdiction of a Colonial Bishop, and other stations, which are not so situated, and may therefore be termed Extra-diocesan.

In the first case, the Church Missionary Society has expressly determined, that all its ordained Missionaries shall be submitted for licence to the Bishop of the diocese in which they may be stationed; and that no Missionary shall exercise his spiritual functions in such diocese without a licence. The Society has further recognised the uncontrolled discretion of the Bishop to grant or withhold his licence, and the propriety of specifying in such licence a particular district as the field of labour; so that a Missionary cannot be removed from one district to another without the sanction of the Bishop.

These principles were stated in a Letter from the Society to the Bishop of Calcutta, signed by the Right Honourable the President—December 17, 1835—in a manner so satisfactory to the Bishop, that he embodied them in the four following Rules, expressed for the most part in the words of the Society's Letter: which were, at the Bishop's request, entered upon the minutes of the Calcutta Corresponding Committee, as the recognised Rules of their practice:—

"1. The Bishop expresses—by granting or withholding his licence, in which the sphere of the Missionary's labour is mentioned—his approbation, or otherwise, of that location.

"2. The Bishop superintends the Missionaries afterward, as the other Clergy, in the discharge of their Ecclesiastical duties.

"3. The Bishop receives from those—the Committee and Secretary—who still stand in the relation of Lay-Patrons to the Missionary, such communications respecting his Ecclesiastical duties as may enable the Bishop to discharge that paternal superintendence to the best advantage.—The Archdeacon of Calcutta or Bombay acting under the Bishop's immediate directions when he happens to be absent.

"4. If the Bishop* or Archdeacon fills, at the request of the Society, the offices of Patron, President, Vice-President, Treasurer, Secretary, &c., he receives, further, all such confidential information, on all topics, as the Bishops officially neither could wish nor properly ask [to receive]."

The Bishop also wrote to the Parent Society in the following terms:—"You seem to me to lay down the principle most correctly. ..... This is to me perfectly satisfactory; as I shall instantly inform the Archbishop of Canterbury, to whom I report all the proceedings of the diocese."—9th June 1836.

It will be perceived, that the Missionaries, thus licensed, stand toward the Bishop in the relation rather of Stipendiary Curates, than of Beneficed Clergymen. For a Bishop in England cannot refuse a license or institution to a benefice, without assigning a reason which will bear investigation refore a Court of Common Law; nor can he deprive a Clergyman of his benefice without a judicial process. But no law has provided any such check in the case of Missionaries: the Bishop has the power of withholding a licence, or of withdrawing it, at his sole discretion, without assigning any cause, as in the case of Stipendiary Curates in this country.

If it be asked, What are the checks and safeguards against the undue exercise of this discretionary power of the Bishop?—it may be replied, in the words of the Bishop of Calcutta, in a Letter to the Parent Society, April 12, 1837:—

"We are not to take for granted, that discretionary power will be abused; but, on the contrary, to provide, by a cheerful and friendly spirit and conduct, against the likelihood of such an occurrence. If the event of arbitrary conduct should arise, or be supposed to arise, the remedies are—public opinion—an appeal to the Archbishop—and the Society's refusing to make other appointments and locations than those unreasonably objected to. Nothing is the least likely—and probability is the guide of life—to arise to impede or cramp the Committee; since they unquestionably and avowedly possess, The choice of men—The appointment of spheres of labour—The temporal power, including pecuniary support."

But though the Bishop's licence is at once the pledge and proof that the Society's Missionaries are under Episcopal superintendence and jurisdiction, and that the spiritual oversight rests altogether with the Bishop; yet the Society may seem, to some persons, to keep up a kind of spiritual jurisdiction and oversight, by requiring accounts from the Missionaries of all their proceedings, and by giving them directions, from time to time, which may bear upon their spiritual duties. But it must be remembered, that the Society stands toward its Missionaries in the relation of Trustees of the fund out of which their salaries are paid. In the case of a Beneficed Clergyman in this country, the Minister is the guardian and possessor of the temporalities of the benefice, because the benefice is an endowment; and the Patron has no further connexion with the Minister whom he has once presented to the Bishop. In our case, the office of Patron is, in a sense, perpetuated by the payment of the salary, and the possession of all the temporalities of the Mission.

This matter has been well explained by the Bishop of Calcutta, in a Letter to the Calcutta Corresponding Committee, May 26, 1837:—"The Missionary Committees," says his Lordship, "have a far greater latitude in India than any Lay-Patrons at home. Upon presenting his Clerk to the Bishop, the Patron at home is functus officio. The Clergyman is removed, on being once instituted and licensed, totally and for ever from the Patron, and is transferred to the superintendency of the Bishop. The Patron has nothing whatever more to do with him. But in India, the Committee is (1) the continued paymaster of the Missionary after he is duly licensed;—for institution and induction there are none. (2) They correspond with him. (3) They supply him with Catechists. (4) They report his chief proceedings home. (5) They propose removals and changes of Station to the Bishop. (6) They exercise, unavoidably, an influence which does not belong to the mere Lay-Patron; and are aiding, in a variety of ways, to the comfortable and honourable discharge of the Missionary's most exalted and most spiritual duties."

It remains to consider the case of those Stations which are Extra-diocesan; i.e. where there is no Colonial Bishop of the Church of England having jurisdiction over them.

In these cases, the Society has endeavoured to procure for such Stations the benefits of the Episcopal office from the nearest Bishop of the Church of England. Application was made by the Committee both to the late and to the present Bishop of Madras to extend, as far as circumstances would admit these benefits to the Mission of Travancore; which as an independent state, not forming part of the British Dominions, was not included in the diocese of Madras. A similar application was made on behalf of the New-Zealand Mission, to the Bishop of Australia; who at once acceded to the request, and kindly promised to visit New Zealand as soon as his other duties would permit; stating, in a Letter to the Society's representatives at Sydney, "It is highly satisfactory to me, that our friends at home are taking a view of these things which proves them to belong, not only to a MISSIONARY, but also to a CHURCH Society." (See Annual Report, 1838.)

Such is a General View of the Constitution and Proceedings of the Church Missionary Society.

It is not intended to assert, that errors are not sometimes committed in the application of these principles to matters of detail. It must be remembered that Missionary operations are, alas! new and anomalous in the system of the Church of England; and that it is not always easy to draw a definite line between the two provinces which belong respectively to the Bishop and the Committee. It has been observed by the Bishop of Calcutta—Letter, May 26, 1837: "The boundaries of the power of Committees, as they approach to those of the Bishop, can be ascertained, in many points, only by time and observation." Perplexities have consequently occurred; and, unhappily, misunderstandings have sometimes arisen between the Representatives of the Society abroad and Ecclesiastical Authorities. But these are the principles by which the Home Committee have endeavoured to guide the proceedings of the Society: and they confidently respond to a sentiment expressed by the Bishop of Calcutta—"The principles of our new relations are now fully recognised: the details will soon find their level."—Letter, 9th June 1836.

* The Three Bishops of India, and the Bishop of Australia, are the Presidents of the Corresponding Committees in their respective dioceses.

In reviewing the Ecclesiastical relations of the Church Missionary Society, there are two or three points which it seems very important to notice.

1. Missionary operations, as they are conducted by the Church Missionary Society, though apparently anomalous in the system of the Church of England, are yet in strict conformity with its constitution and principles: they are analogous to many other instances of voluntary exertion for the extension of true religion within the Church, in which Ecclesiastical authority and Lay co-operation unite for the accomplishment of the same end: so that these operations may be regarded as the acts of the Church of England, putting forth its energy for the Conversion of the Heathen World. For it has been shown, that the Bishops of the Church, under the authority of the law of the land, ordain and send forth our Missionaries—that these Missionaries are licensed and superintended abroad, in every case where it is practicable, by Colonial Bishops of the Church of England; as are the other Clergymen of the Church officiating in the same colony. The Services which the Missionaries perform are in strict conformity with the Ritual and Discipline of the Church. Even in the few cases in which Lutheran Clergymen are employed, this rule is observed; and all the congregations which are gathered into the fold of Christ are trained up as Members of the Church established in this land.

And here it may be observed, that nothing less than the sanction of a duly-assembled Convocation can more fully identify the acts of any Missionary Society, within the Church of England, with the Church* Without such sanction, all associations of Churchmen must stand in the same position. Still further, not to notice the present abeyance of Convocations, it may be asserted, that even if the Church were to assemble in her provincial Convocations, and to decree and to regulate Missionary operations, such proceedings could not essentially add to, or alter, those important particulars which, under present circumstances, entitle the operations of the Church Missionary Society to be regarded as Missionary operations of the United Church of England and Ireland.

2. It must be ever borne in mind, that Missionary operations are, in their very nature, temporary and preparative:—that they are to be gradually but eventually superseded by a different order of things, when the Heathen Nations shall have become Christianized. In some cases, as in the West Indies, this change is further advanced than in others. Now, it must be expected, that in proportion as this change advances, difficulties and perplexities will arise in our Ecclesiastical relations, peculiar to this TRANSITION STATE—from Missionary operations, to that happy consummation when there shall be an endowed and established system of Christian Instruction, and a territorial division of Ministerial labour. This consummation the Church Missionary Society has ever kept in view, and devoutly desired; and, as far as possible, has prepared for its approach. In an interview with the Bishop of Barbadoes—April 1835—this point was expressly alluded to; and it was stated by the Committee to his Lordship, "that whenever a district should be brought into the state of an organised Christian community, it should assume entirely the Parochial form, and cease to be occupied as a Missionary Station.—The Bishop entirely acquiesced in this view; and only expressed his anxiety that it should not be so acted upon as prematurely to deprive a district of the Missionary's services."—(Extracts from Committee's Minutes.)

3. Lastly, it must be evident, from a review of the whole subject, that our Ecclesiastical relations depend, in many important respects, upon a mutual confidence and good understanding between the Committee and its representatives, and the Ecclesiastical Authorities both at home and abroad. This must be the case, to argue upon no higher grounds, while those relations are governed by Ecclesiastical laws and canons made without reference to Missionary operations, for an Established Church in a Christian country; and where so much is also necessarily left to the discretion of both parties. If we look to our Home operations, the Committee places confidence in the Bishop of London, that he will continue to ordain the Missionary Candidates introduced to his Lordship by the Society, according to the provisions of the Act: and the Lord Bishop of London relies upon the Committee's using every means to select, train, and duly qualify proper Candidates to be thus introduced to him.

So, also, in its Foreign operations, the Society places confidence in the Colonial Bishops—as it has been already shown, in a quotation from the Letter of Bishop Wilson—that they will not exercise an unreasonable or arbitrary discretion, in withholding or withdrawing licences from our Missionaries, or in refusing ordination to our Candidates. And the Bishops, by granting licences and ordination to the Missionaries of a voluntary Society, whose income is liable to fluctuations, and whose agents are constantly changing, manifestly place confidence in the Committees, that they will use every endeavour to keep up the Missions once established; and that they will not, on their part, act in an unreasonable or arbitrary manner, or withdraw the salary from a licensed Missionary, without reason sufficient to prove to the licensing Bishop the necessity of the proceedings.

It seems impossible to supersede this conventional understanding—as it may be termed—till Missions are supported by endowments, or till a code of Missionary canons be established by competent authority.

This mutual confidence and good understanding now exists, it may be thankfully asserted, between the Committee of the Society and the Ecclesiastical Authorities of every Colonial Diocese in which Missionaries are labouring. And may He, who is the God, not of confusion, but of peace, and "the great Shepherd and Bishop of Souls," unite together the hearts and hands of those who are labouring in this Holy Cause—"that all and every of these may, IN THEIR SEVERAL CALLINGS, serve truly and painfully, to the glory of His name!"

February, 1839.

* The American Episcopal Church has, in Convention, thus identified itself with a Missionary Society.

At the Annual Meeting of the Church Missionary Society for Africa and the East, held in Exeter Hall, Strand, on Tuesday, April 30, 1867, being the Sixty-eighth Anniversary—

The Right Hon. the EARL OF CHICHESTER, President, in the Chair.

THE REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE HAVING BEEN READ BY THE REV. JOHN MEE, M.A., ONE OF THE SECRETARIES,

On the Motion of the LORD BISHOP OF NORWICH, V.P., seconded by the Very REV. THE DEAN OF CARLISLE, V.P., it was

RESOLVED UNANIMOUSLY,

That the Report, of which an Abstract has now been read, be received, and printed under the direction of the Committee; that the thanks of the Meeting be given to the Rev. John Venn, M.A., for his Sermon before the Society last evening; to His Grace the Vice-Patron; to the Right Hon. the President and the Vice-Presidents; and to all those friends who, during the past year, have exerted themselves in its behalf; and that the following Gentlemen be appointed the Committee for the ensuing year, with power to fill up vacancies —[See List, p. iv]

On the Motion of the LORD BISHOP OF CORK, seconded by the REV. H. B. TRISTRAM, M.A., Master of Greatham Hospital, it was

RESOLVED UNANIMOUSLY,

That the political and social state of the world, no less than the aspect of the visible Church of Christ, should stir up the servants of the Lord to enlarged zeal in witnessing for the truth of the Gospel, and in promoting the expansion of the kingdom of grace among all nations.

On the Motion of the LORD BISHOP OF VICTORIA, V.P., seconded by the REV. RICHARD P. GREAVES, M.A., Missionary from Calcutta, it was

RESOLVED UNANIMOUSLY,

That the success graciously granted to present efforts should stimulate to earnest prayer for duly qualified men, and sufficiently enlarged means, to enable the Society to make a decided onward movement in the whole Mission field.

At a Second Meeting, held in Exeter Hall, on the Evening of the same Day—

The Rev. J. C. MILLER, D.D., Vicar of Greenwich, in the Chair.

Addresses were delivered by the Rev. John Horden, Missionary from Rupert's Land; John Macgregor, Esq., M.A., of the Middle Temple; and the Rev. Samuel Hasell, Missionary from North India.

Suggested Order of Proceedings at a Meeting preparatory to the Formation of an Association in aid of the Church Missionary Society.

1.—Mr. will move, and Mr. will second, a Resolution, "That be requested to take the Chair."

2.—The Chairman will briefly state the object for which the Meeting is assembled, and then call on the Rev. to offer up the usual Prayer to Almighty God, for a blessing on the proceedings of the day.

3.—After Prayer, the Chairman will make such further observations as he may deem necessary, and then call on Mr. to move the First Resolution.

FIRST RESOLUTION.—Moved by

Seconded by

That this Meeting fully recognises the duty incumbent on Christians to employ all suitable means for the propagation of the Gospel throughout the world; and hails, with thankfulness to the Great Head of the Church, the labours of the CHURCH MISSIONARY SOCIETY in its various Stations in Heathen Lands, and among decayed Christian Churches.

SECOND RESOLUTION.—Moved by

Seconded by

That an Association be now formed, and entitled, "The Church Missionary Association;" and that the following be its Officers and Rules

PRESIDENT. VICE-PRESIDENTS.

TREASURER. SECRETARY.

COMMITTEE:

RULES.

I. Annual Members of this Association shall be all persons subscribing annually One Guinea or upward; or if Clergymen, Half a Guinea; and also such persons as shall collect in its behalf One shilling or upward per week.

II. Life Members shall be Benefactors of Ten Guineas or upward; or if Clergymen, such as shall contribute Congregational Collections to the amount of Twenty Guineas; and Executors paying bequests of Fifty Pounds.

III. Annual Governors shall be Subscribers of Five Guineas per annum.

IV. Life Governors shall be Benefactors of Fifty Pounds.

V. Members will be entitled to receive the Annual Reports of the Parent Society, and to vote at its General Meetings. Subscribers of Ten Shillings per annum will receive a copy of the Annual Sermon and Abstract of Report. Collectors of Sixpence and upward per week will receive a copy of each Monthly Number of the "Church Missionary Record"; and Collectors of Two Shillings and upward per week will receive a copy of the Annual Report, in addition to the "Record." Governors will be entitled to receive the Reports; and, if Members of the Established Church, to vote at Committee and General Meetings of both the Association and the Parent Society—Clergymen will have the same privilege as Governors. Contributors of 1*d.* a-week and upward will be entitled to receive the Parent Society's "Quarterly Paper."

VI. The objects of this Association shall be, to call forth the zeal of well-disposed persons, and particularly those of the Established Church, in support of the Church Missionary Society—to recommend proper persons who may offer themselves as Missionaries to the Parent Society—to disperse as widely as possible Missionary information—to promote the formation of Branch Associations—and to procure Collections and other Contributions.

VII. The whole of the funds so obtained, after deducting incidental expenses only, shall be remitted to the Church Missionary Society, in aid of its designs.

VIII. A General Meeting shall be held annually, on such day as shall be fixed by the Committee; when a Report of the Proceedings of the Association shall be read, and an account of its receipts and disbursements presented, duly audited.

THIRD RESOLUTION.—Moved by

Seconded by

That the success which, under the Divine Blessing, has attended the Church Missionary Society in its efforts to make known the Gospel of Christ among the Heathen, is a loud and providential call for increased exertions, for devout thanksgiving to Almighty God, and for continual prayer for a more abundant out-pouring of the Holy Spirit to render the means employed successful.

FOURTH RESOLUTION.—Moved by

Seconded by

That the new and enlarged openings for Missionary exertion, in different quarters, demand our best energies to make known the blessed Gospel of Christ to Heathen and Mohammedan Nations.

SERMON,

PREACHED AT

ST. BRIDE'S CHURCH,

FLEET STREET,

ON MONDAY EVENING, APRIL 29, 1867,

BEFORE THE

Church Missionary Society,

REV. JOHN VENN, M.A.,

PREBENDARY OF HEREFORD, AND VICAR OF ST. PETER'S HEREFORD.

SERMON,

"UNTO ME, WHO AM LESS THAN THE LEAST OF ALL SAINTS, IS THIS GRACE GIVEN, THAT I SHOULD PREACH AMONG THE GENTILES THE UNSEARCHABLE RICHES OF CHRIST."

In these emphatic words St. Paul expresses his astonishment that the Lord should have conferred upon him the privilege of being a Missionary to the heathen! So distinguishing, so glorious a privilege, it might have been supposed would have been conferred—if conferred upon human beings at all—upon such only as were the very chiefest saints; upon such as had been filled with the Holy Ghost from their mother's womb; or, at least, upon such as had laboured long and suffered much in His cause, or done some special service. But he was less than the least—"by far the least," as one commentator would translate it; or "incomparably the least," as another would render it—of all saints. And yet, so sovereign is the grace of God! he was appointed to be a Missionary to the heathen!

When St. Paul described himself as "by far the least of all saints," we are not to suppose that at the time when he wrote those words he considered himself in any respect less qualified than any other saint for the work of a Missionary; but he was referring to the time of his appointment to the office: for, according to the more strictly literal translation of his words, he does not say, "Unto me, who am by far the least of all saints"; but "Unto me, by far the least of all saints:" and he does not say, "is this grace given," but "was this grace given, to preach among the Gentiles the unsearchable riches of Christ."

It was as he was going to Damascus that St. Paul was struck to the earth, by that light from heaven above the brightness of the sun, and converted to the faith of Jesus. And it was while yet lying on the ground that the Lord Jesus gave him his commission as a Missionary, saying to him, "Rise and stand upon thy feet; for I have appeared unto thee for this purpose, to make thee a minister and a witness, both of these things which thou hast seen and of those things in the which I will appear unto thee; delivering thee from the people and from the Gentiles, unto whom I now send thee, to open their eyes, and to turn them from darkness to light, and from the power of Satan unto God." So that the moment after his conversion—before he had been filled with the Holy Ghost; before he had done any service to his Lord and Master; before his religious character had been developed and matured; before he had manifested his gratitude and zeal; when he was the very youngest and most untried and inexperienced of all the saints—this glorious privilege was conferred upon him.

There can be no doubt, moreover, but that when he called himself "by far the least of all saints," he also took into account his conduct and character before his conversion. He had been a bitter persecutor of the Church of Christ. "Many of the saints did he shut up in prison; and when they were put to death, he gave his voice against them. And he punished them oft in every synagogue, and compelled them to blaspheme; and being exceedingly mad against them, he persecuted them even unto strange cities." (Acts xxvi. 10, 11.) It was on this very account that he esteemed himself as "the least of all the Apostles," as "not worthy to be called an Apostle," even while he acknowledged that he was "not a whit behind the very chiefest Apostles," and that he "laboured more abundantly than they all." Never could the Apostle forget what he once was,—that he was indeed "the chief of sinners;" and therefore, whatever he had become by the grace of God, he could not but place himself—when he took into account the whole of his past life—at the very bottom of the list of saints.—Let the most zealous and successful Missionaries learn from St. Paul's example to take always into account what they once were, and to speak and think of themselves accordingly!

The riches of Christ, i.e. the riches which God bestows upon us in and through Christ, and which the Missionary goes forth to preach, are indeed, as St. Paul calls them, "unsearchable." No tongue can tell, no heart can conceive, either their value or their inexhaustible amount. All who are once enriched by them shall be enriched supremely, and for ever. They shall be the theme of redeemed saints and angels through eternity; and yet neither saints nor angels shall through all eternity be able to search out all their fulness and all their preciousness.

And it is because these riches are so unsearchable that the Apostle esteemed it such an unspeakable privilege to "preach" —or rather, as the word in the original generally, if not exclusively, signifies—"to make known the glad tidings of them among the Gentiles." St. Paul went forth furnished with miraculous power, and with all the authority of an Apostle; but it was not upon the exercise of his miraculous powers, or of his Apostolic authority, that he laid the stress. It was the simple preaching of the Gospel, the "making known the glad tidings of the unsearchable riches of Christ among the Gentiles," that he regarded as such a privilege. The discharge of his duties as a Missionary, involved him, moreover, in labours and sufferings and persecutions almost beyond conception. He himself says, "I think that God hath set forth us the Apostles last, as it were appointed to death; for we are made a spectacle unto the world, and to angels and to men. Even unto this present hour"—i.e. after twenty years of labour—"we both hunger and thirst, and are naked and are buffeted, and have no certain dwelling-place, and labour working with our own hands: we are made as the filth of the world, and are the offscouring of all things unto this day."

In a word, he was "always bearing about in his body the dying of the Lord Jesus!" But all was as nothing compared with the privilege of "making known the glad tidings of the unsearchable riches of Christ among the Gentiles."

And now, my brethren,—looking up to God for the teaching of His Holy Spirit,—let us contemplate these riches; and the more we contemplate them, under the quickening and enlightening influence of the Holy Spirit, the more we shall wonder at, and prize, them; and the more highly shall we esteem the privilege of helping in any way, and in any measure, to promote the cause of Missions among the heathen.

These riches may be considered as consisting of the riches of mercy, the riches of grace, and the riches of glory,—all alike unsearchable. Let us consider them separately. And,

I. The riches of mercy, in and through Christ, are unsearchable.

The evil of sin is unsearchable. Sin is committed against a God whose glory and majesty, whose wisdom and goodness, whose holiness and justice, are all alike infinite; against a God who is the author and preserver of our lives and of all our blessings, and whom we are bound by every consideration of duty and of gratitude and of interest to obey. Sin is the transgression of a law which is holy, just, and good; framed, in love, by Him who knows perfectly what we are, and what the consequences will be through eternity of all our words and thoughts and deeds. Such is the evil that God sees in sin—in all sin, and in every single sin—that He has said, "Cursed is every one that continueth not in all things that are written in the book of the law to do them," and has declared that "without shedding of blood there is no remission." And as the evil of sin is unsearchable, so also is the number of sins which each individual commits. No one can reckon up his transgressions by thought, word, and deed. They are more in number than the very hairs upon his head.

But Christ became man, and was made a curse, and died for sinners; and, in and through Christ, there are unsearchable riches of mercy for them. Christ is "the brightness of the Father's glory, and the express image of His person." "By Him were all things created that are in heaven, and that are in earth, visible and invisible, whether they be thrones, or dominions, or principalities, or powers: all things were created by Him, and for Him; and He is before all things, and by Him all things consist." (Col. i. 16, 17). When, therefore, Christ, for us men and our salvation, laid aside His glory which He had had with the Father before the world was, and became man, and took our nature upon Him with all its infirmities, sin only excepted; when Christ, who was so infinitely rich, became so unspeakably poor; and, after a life of unutterable shame and sorrow, died upon the cross,—He then made a full, perfect, and sufficient sacrifice, oblation and satisfaction for the sins of the whole world; a sacrifice which has shed, and will eternally shed, unspeakable glory upon all the divine attributes; a sacrifice, the preciousness and efficacy of which are unsearchable; a sacrifice, therefore, through which God can be just and yet the justifier of him that believeth, and can show mercy to all without exception who will seek it. No sinner, then, upon the face of the earth, however innumerable his sins, and however aggravated his guilt, need fear lest he should be beyond the reach of God's mercy in Christ. All Scripture testifies to the most blessed and encouraging truth that there is absolutely no limit to the Divine mercy when the sinner truly seeks it. "Let the wicked," cried the Prophet Isaiah, "forsake his way, and the unrighteous man his thoughts, and let him return unto the Lord, and He will have mercy upon him; and to our God, for He will abundantly pardon. For my thoughts are not your thoughts, neither are your ways my ways, saith the Lord; for as the heavens are higher than the earth, so are my ways higher than your ways, and my thoughts than your thoughts." And what did our blessed Lord Himself say? "God so loved the world that He gave His only-begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in Him should not perish, but have eternal life;" and again, "Come unto me, all ye that labour and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest;" and again, "Him that cometh unto me, I will in no wise cast out." And what was the testimony of the Apostles of our Lord? When St. Peter, on the day of Pentecost, had charged a vast assemblage of the Jews with having taken, and by wicked hands crucified and slain the Lord Jesus; and when they, being pricked in their heart, said unto Peter and to the rest of the Apostles, "Men and brethren, what shall we do?" what was his answer? Without a moment's hesitation he replied, "Repent, and be baptized every one of you in the name of Jesus Christ for the remission of sins, and ye shall receive the gift of the Holy Ghost." And when Paul and Silas were in the prison at Philippi, and the trembling jailor put to them the anxious question, "Sirs, what must I do to be saved?" without any attempt to ascertain the amount of his guilt, they replied at once, "Believe on the Lord Jesus Christ, and thou shalt be saved."

It is an appalling picture of hardened ungodliness and depravity which St. Paul draws in the first chapter of his Epistle to the Romans: "As they did not like," he says, "to retain God in their knowledge, God gave them over to a reprobate mind to do those things which are not convenient: being filled with all unrighteousness, fornication, wickedness, covetousness, maliciousness; full of envy, murder, debate, deceit, malignity; whisperers, backbiters, haters of God, despiteful, proud, boasters, inventors of evil things, disobedient to parents, without understanding, covenant breakers, without natural affection, implacable, unmerciful: who, knowing the judgment of God, that they which commit such things are worthy of death, not only do the same, but have pleasure in them that do them." Is not this, we might almost ask, a description of those who were beyond the reach of mercy; who had sinned, and hardened themselves in sin, past forgiveness; of those to whom the Gospel was not to be preached? By no means. For "the righteousness of God," St. Paul soon after says, "is unto all and upon all them that believe: for there is no difference: for all have sinned and come short of the glory of God, being justified freely by His grace, through the redemption that is in Christ Jesus."—These riches of mercy have now been flowing in an uninterrupted, and ever-widening stream for nearly 6000 years; and they will continue to flow as long as there are any sinners upon the earth to be pardoned and saved.

And is it not a privilege, my brethren, to make known among the heathen the glad tidings of such unsearchable riches of mercy? When we speak of the heathen—including the Mohammedans under that term—let us remember that we are speaking of perhaps eight hundred millions of our fellow-creatures. Eight hundred millions of heathen! Why the population of the whole Roman empire—supposed by the Romans to be nearly co-extensive with that of the world—is calculated by Gibbon to have been only about one hundred and twenty millions, including the Jews.* So that the number of unevangelized Gentiles in the present day is nearly seven times as great as the whole Gentile population which St. Paul contemplated! And what can these heathen know from the light of nature of God's pardoning mercy? How can they look up to Him with confidence as a God of love? How can they obtain peace to their consciences, when their consciences accuse them? And shall we, my brethren in Christ, who know by blessed experience what it is to have peace with God through the blood of Jesus, and to be able to look up to Him as our reconciled Father, keep these glad tidings to ourselves? Shall we suffer the heathen to pass through this world of sin and sorrow without telling them of such a wonderful and glorious Saviour? Our Missionaries may go throughout the

* "We are informed that when the Emperor Claudius exercised the office of Censor, he took an account of six millions nine hundred and forty-five thousand Roman citizens, who, with the proportion of women and children, must have amounted to about twenty millions of souls. The multitude of subjects of an inferior rank was uncertain and fluctuating. But after weighing with attention every circumstance which could influence the balance, it seems probable that there existed in the time of Claudius about twice as many provincials as there were citizens of either sex and of every age, (i.e. forty millions), and that the slaves were at least equal in number to the free inhabitants of the Roman world (i.e. sixty millions). The total number of this imperfect calculation would rise to about one hundred and twenty millions of persons." (Gibbon. Vol. I. p. 179. Ed. 1854.)

length and breadth of the heathen world; they may go to the most vile and degraded, to the most wretched and oppressed, to the most savage and bloodthirsty people that are to be found amongst these eight hundred millions of heathen, and without any hesitation or limitation they may tell all of them of God's love in Christ, and of the riches of mercy through the blood of Jesus, and invite them all to come, without money and without price, and accept His salvation, and put on the robe of righteousness, and rejoice in His pardoning love.—May we not congratulate the Missionary who has such a Gospel to preach? —the glad tidings of such unsearchable riches of mercy to make known?

II. Then, secondly, the riches of grace, in and through Christ, are unsearchable.

Pardoning mercy, however free and however abundant, will never of itself meet the case of fallen man. In his natural state man is unconcerned about his salvation. He is the slave of sin and vanity. He is blinded and led captive by the devil. He is proud, hard-hearted, carnal, worldly, and has no ear to listen to the glad tidings of the unsearchable riches of mercy in Christ. He will hear the message with cold indifference, and let the messenger plead in vain, even if he does not ridicule and scoff at the one, and persecute the other. But, blessed be God, in and through Christ there is grace as well as mercy. Christ, having died for our sins and risen again for our justification, has "received gifts for men; yea, even for the rebellious." In Him is all fulness of grace. And what cannot grace do? Grace can humble the proudest; it can awaken the most careless; it can open the eyes of those that are the most hopelessly blind; it can break the bonds of those that have been bound by sin and Satan for the longest time, and with the strongest chains. Grace can bring the sinner in penitence and faith to the foot of the cross; it can enable him to lay hold of Christ; and to keep clinging to Him in spite of all the efforts of the world the flesh and the devil to make him let go his hold. It can strengthen him in his weakness, and cause him to triumph over the principalities and powers of hell. It can make him fruitful in all good works, and a valiant soldier of the Lord Jesus Christ. It can animate him in all his conflicts. It can nerve him to live a life of patient self-denial, or to lay down his life for Christ. It can make him forget self, and live to Him that has loved him and given Himself for him. It can make him a blessing in his day and generation; and the happy instrument of turning many from darkness to light, and from the power of Satan unto God. It can raise him up when he falls; it can restore him when he wanders; it can cheer and revive him when he faints; it can comfort him, and even cause him to rejoice, in tribulation. It can teach him to "have death in derision;" yea, to reckon it up amongst his treasures. It can fill his soul with a pure and heavenly joy, and raise him above the world, and cause him to sit down with Christ Jesus in heavenly places. In every case, and under all possible circumstances, it can, and it will, finish the work it has begun; and it will bring the believer safely into the presence of his God and Father, as surely as the Father loves the Son, and has given all power in heaven and on earth into his hands. Through the riches of divine grace countless myriads of sinners have already been converted, and have kept the faith, and finished their course with joy; while countless thousands are now in the road to glory; and yet, so unsearchable are these riches of grace, that one day every "wilderness and solitary place shall be glad for them;" and every desert throughout this dark and fallen world "shall rejoice and blossom as the rose; it shall blossom abundantly, and rejoice even with joy and singing."

And if there are such unsearchable riches of grace, in and through Christ, shall we not long to make the glad tidings of them known among the eight hundred millions of heathen, who for the most part have as little idea of God's grace, as they have of His mercy in Christ? Certainly the most wonderful and stupendous truth which the Missionary can ever tell the heathen, is that there is mercy for the pardon of all sin through the precious blood of God's own incarnate Son. But it is also a blessed privilege to be able to tell them—and it is an unspeakable comfort to the Missionary himself to know—that there is grace to quicken and sanctify and keep, as well as mercy to pardon; that grace has often softened hearts as hard, and conquered prejudices as strong, and enlightened minds as dark as theirs; and that there is grace in Christ sufficient for all His people; and that if they will believe in him and seek his grace, whatever their peculiar temptations may be as converts from heathenism and living in the midst of it, and whatever persecutions they may be exposed to from their countrymen, they shall be able to stand fast in the Lord, and finally attain everlasting life.—Few, perhaps, can have any idea of what it costs a heathen to take the decisive step and to avow himself a believer in Jesus; to break all family ties, and to face the storm of persecution; and of all the efforts that will be made by men and by devils to draw him back from Christ. Every convert would, sooner or later, give way, and the Missionary would give up his work in despair, if it were not for those unsearchable riches of grace. But with the riches of grace to depend upon, both the Missionary and his converts may triumph and defy all their foes.

May we not then, I ask you, congratulate the Missionary who has such glad tidings of such unsearchable riches of grace to make known among the heathen?

III. And then, thirdly, the riches of glory, in and through Christ, are unsearchable.

The love which sent Christ into the world to live such a life of sorrow and to die such a death of shame and anguish, will not consider any glory too resplendent to bestow upon those whom mercy pardons and grace sanctifies. "He that spared not his own Son, but delivered him up for us all, how shall He not with Him also freely give us all things?" (Rom. viii. 32). And therefore, though the multitude of the redeemed will be so inconceivably vast, yet they shall all one day be glorified with an exceeding and eternal weight of glory. Every individual in that host of countless millions shall have a glorious soul, and a glorious intellect, and a glorious body, and a glorious inheritance.

He shall have a glorious soul. His sanctification here is always, alas! most imperfect. His frequent cry is, "O wretched man that I am! who shall deliver me from this body of death?" But let his soul be once set free from this mortal clay, and taken out of this world of darkness and temptation into the presence of Christ; let it awake up in all the light and love and purity of heaven; and at the same time let the power of the Holy Ghost be applied to it in all his might; and then its holiness will be so far perfect, that it shall be perfectly purified from every thing that is sinful, or depraved, or selfish, and be filled with all holy and noble affections, up to the full measure of its capacity—a capacity, it may be, that will go on increasing through all eternity.

He shall have a glorious intellect. He shall no longer "see through a glass darkly;" but he shall see "face to face, and know even as he is known." What a glorious enlargement and strengthening of all the powers of his understanding is implied in this blessed assurance! Yea, what new powers—such as now we can have no conception of—may, or rather must, be bestowed upon him, before he can "see face to face, and know even as he is known!" And why should we imagine that these mighty intellectual powers should ever reach their limit? May they not go on increasing to all eternity?

Then, too, he shall have a glorious body—a body of such glory as shall correspond with the glory of his soul and his intellect. For "we look for the Saviour from heaven who shall change our vile body, that it may be fashioned like unto His glorious body." He shall have a body full of strength and beauty; a body without any wants to be supplied, or any appetites to be restrained; a body that can never know through eternity either fatigue or pain or decay; a body with senses and faculties and powers all calculated to aid the intellect in acquiring and communicating knowledge, and the soul in expressing and calling forth its affections, and to aid both the intellect and the soul in deriving enjoyment from all the objects that surround them.

And finally, he shall have a glorious inheritance—"an inheritance incorruptible and undefiled, and that fadeth not away;" an inheritance in heaven; an inheritance worthy of the rank and dignity of the sons and daughters of the Lord God Almighty; an inheritance suited to their glorious souls, and glorious intellects, and glorious bodies; an inheritance of which the heavenly Jerusalem is the centre, and of which God Himself is the light and glory.

What a company, my brethren, of all nations, and kindreds, and people and tongues, will one day assemble around the throne of God and the Lamb! As numerous "as the stars of heaven," and "as the dust of the earth, and as the sand upon the sea-shore," and each one a king and a priest! each one clothed with a glory as bright as the sun itself! each one possessing eternal life! All forming one family; all loving each other with a love far beyond the fondest and the sweetest ever known on earth! all able to say with perfect certainty, "Here I shall be, and here all these glorious and beloved companions shall be with me through eternity!"—Can any thing give us a higher idea of their happiness? Yes, Christ shall look upon that countless and glorious multitude, and see of the travail of his soul; and He—infinite as is His love for His people, and infinite as was the price he paid for them—even He "shall be satisfied."*

"Take an ounce of the blackest slime of a beaten foot-path on a rainy day, near a manufacturing town. That slime we shall find in most cases composed of clay (or brickdust, which is burnt clay), mixed with soot, a little sand, and water. . . . . Let us suppose that this ounce of mud is left in perfect rest, and that its elements gather together, like to like, so that their atoms may get into the closest relations possible. Let the clay begin. Ridding itself of all foreign substance, it gradually becomes a white earth, already very beautiful, and fit, with the help of congealing fire, to be made into finest porcelain, and to be kept in kings' palaces. But such artificial consistence is not its best. Leave it still quiet, to follow its own instinct of unity, and it becomes not only white, but clear; not only clear, but hard; not only clear and hard, but so set that it can deal with light in a wonderful way, and gather out of it the loveliest blue rays only; refusing the rest. We call it then a sapphire.

And shall we, my brethren in Christ, who know what the destiny of God's people is, and who can support and cheer ourselves whilst passing through this world of sin, and sorrow, and death, by anticipating these unsearchable riches of glory; shall we—may I not rather say, can we?—withhold the glad tidings of them from the heathen? Can we conceive a nobler office, or a higher privilege, than to be employed, directly or indirectly, in making the glad tidings known to them?

Think of the uncertainty, and gloom and darkness which brood over the minds of the heathen when they contemplate death and futurity! The belief of the Buddhists, who are computed at three hundred and fifty millions, is that the soul migrates out of one body into another—either of a man or an animal—through successive generations, till it ends in annihilation! Most affecting is the statement made by one of our Missionaries in China, viz. that when a man dies there is frequently a writing put up over the door of his house, in which he is made to say, "I have earnestly looked into the distance; my heart is

"Such being the consummation of the clay, we give similar permission of quiet to the sand. It also becomes, first a white earth, then proceeds to grow clear and hard, and at last arranges itself into mysterious, infinitely fine parallel lines, which have the power of reflecting, not merely the blue rays, but the blue, green, purple and red rays, in the greatest beauty in which they can be seen through any hard material whatever. We call it an opal.

"In next order the soot sets to work. It cannot make itself white at first, but instead of being discouraged, it tries harder and harder, and comes out clear at last, and the hardest thing in the world; and, for the blackness that it had, obtains in exchange the power of reflecting all the rays of the sun at once, in the vividest blaze that any solid thing can shoot. We call it then a diamond.

"Last of all, the water purifies or unites itself, contented enough if it only reach the form of a dewdrop; but, if we insist on its proceeding to a more perfect consistence, it crystallizes into the shape of a star.

"And for the ounce of slime which we had . . . . we have a sapphire, an opal, and a diamond, set in the midst of a star of snow."

If such beautiful and glorious transformations can take place in mere matter, through the ordinary operation of the laws which God has appointed, what will the transformation be in man, who has a soul and an intellect as well as a body, and on whose behalf God has interposed, and will yet interpose, in so mighty and marvellous a manner!

filled with sorrow; I have suddenly fallen; there is not a shadow of hope." And even still more affecting is the account which was given of their state by some Hill Arrians, who were pleading with one of our Missionaries to come without delay and teach them. "Five times," said they, "have we been to call you. You must know we know nothing right. We die like beasts, and are buried like dogs. Ought you to neglect us?" "Cholera and fever," said another, "carried off such and such members of my family: where are they now?" "They offered," adds the Missionary, "to make over their lands, as a proof of sincerity; and waited about, determined to have me in their hills."* Contrast with this an account of the death of a Red Indian convert in British Columbia, which is given by our Missionary, Mr. Duncan: "He died," says Mr. Duncan, "in a most distressing condition, so far as the body is concerned. Away from every one whom he loved, in

* The views and feelings of the most enlightened of the philosophers of ancient Greece and Rome, as respects a future state of existence, were equally gloomy: all was darkness, and uncertainty, and dread.

Thus Euripides, one of the most philosophic of the Greeks, says—putting the sentiment, indeed, into another's mouth, but evidently expressing what was his own—"The whole life of man is painful. There is no rest to him from labour. If it be really the case that there is any thing sweeter than this life, clouds and darkness enwrap and hide it from us. Hence, only, our insane clinging to this present life; seeing that, as to any other, we are tossed to and fro with senseless fables."

Thus also Pliny, the famous naturalist, and one of the most philosophic of the Romans, says: "The vanity of man, and his insatiable longing after existence, have led him to dream of a life after death. But to God Himself it is impossible to give to mortal man immortal life. The only thing certain is, that there is nothing certain. Man is the most miserable of animals. Their freedom from the agitating cares of ambition or money-getting, and, above all, from the fear of death, more than counterbalances whatever superiority man may otherwise have over them. What seems most desirable is, never to have been born; or, if born into the world, to die very speedily. Considering the so many and great evils with which human life is beset, the best gift God has bestowed on man is the power to take away his own life."—(See "Confirmation Lectures," by the Rev. E. B. Elliott, p. 39.)

a little bark hut, on a rocky beach, which no one of his relatives or friends dared to approach, except the one who nursed him—in this damp, lonely, distressing state, suffering from the malignant disease of small-pox, how cheering to receive from him (i.e. after his death, through the Christian Native that attended him) such words as the following: 'I am quite happy. I find my Saviour very near to me. Give my thanks to Mr. Duncan: he told me of Jesus. I have hold of the ladder that reaches to heaven. All that Mr. Duncan taught me I now feel to be true.' He then sent the following message to his relatives: 'Do not weep for me. You are poor, being left. I am not poor: I am going to heaven. My Saviour is very near to me. Do all of you follow me to heaven. Let not one of you be wanting.'"—Oh, how rich had that once poor savage become! and how did he triumph over death through those glad tidings of the unsearchable riches of glory which he had heard from the lips of our Missionary!

Such, my brethren, are the riches of Christ; and such is the privilege of making known the glad tidings of those riches among the heathen! And this evening I plead for the Church Missionary Society—a Society which sends forth Missionaries to all parts of the heathen world; a Society which honours God, and God's truth, and has, for more than sixty years, acted consistently upon the great Protestant Evangelical principle of exalting Christ, and setting forth His unsearchable riches; a Society which God has honoured, and made the instrument of bringing multitudes to Christ, a large proportion of whom are now with Christ in glory; and a Society in connexion with a National Church that has millions of members, hundreds of thousands of whom are men of influence, and education, and wealth. Such is the Society for which I plead; and yet, sad and astonishing to say, the Society is in the most urgent need of men, both to keep up, as well as to extend, the work! And, what is still more sad and astonishing, it is even in urgent want of funds!

We are in the most urgent need of men. We want Missionaries to send to Japan. Here is a totally new and unevangelized region. Here is a population of forty millions of an intelligent and vigorous race, amongst whom the Gospel has never been made known. For generations, no Christian might land upon their coast; but now the door is so far open that Missionaries may reside there, and learn the language, and translate the Bible into it, and teach the natives the English language, which many are anxious to learn, and may even instruct them, in some cases, in Christianity itself. Some Missionaries, thank God, have already embraced the opportunity, but there is no one there in connexion with our own Society. A few months ago a Christian friend gave a donation of 4000*l.* to our Society for the establishment of a Mission in Japan; but we yet wait for the men, even for one single man, to send there. What a glorious privilege to help to introduce the blessed life-giving Gospel into Japan! One would have thought that candidates for the honour would have come forward from all parts of the country, and from men of the highest rank and of the noblest intellect. A few days ago the sad news came to us that that noble traveller, Dr. Livingstone, had been murdered in the heart of the vast continent of Africa; but, in the faint hope that he might yet be alive, it was proposed to send a party to ascertain his fate. The moment the project was made known, we are told that twenty volunteered to carry it out. We honour those brave and generous men that so nobly offered themselves for the perilous undertaking. May God watch over them and prosper them! But, alas for the honour of the Gospel! No one can be found, even at the invitation of Christ, and with the assurance of His presence and blessing, to go forth to Japan, and to make known amongst its forty millions—perishing for lack of knowledge—the glad tidings of the unsearchable riches of Christ!

We want more Missionaries for China. In a letter just received from one of our Missionaries at Fuh-Chau, he makes an appeal for more men in a way that ought to stir every Christian heart. He estimates the population contained within the amphitheatre of Fuh-Chau at no less than two millions,—the city and suburbs containing more than one million, and very nearly another million being scattered over the sides of the hills which surround the city. "All this population," he adds, "I can see from my door and windows." In this vast population a little band of Protestant Missionaries are labouring in full harmony, and vying with one another in their blessed and noble work. Two, and only two, of that little band belong to our Society. There is, indeed, a bitter and organized opposition to their efforts; but yet the great masses of the population are more or less favourable to them. "It is the unanimous opinion," says the Missionary, "of all who are labouring for Christ here, that there never was a time when the prospects of a large in-gathering of souls were as hopeful as they are now." Amongst other causes of encouragement, he mentions the remarkable and interesting fact, that in a course of public lectures on morality, delivered by order of the Viceroy, the lecturer is reported to have spoken in very high terms of commendation of the religion of Jesus. And another, and a still more important fact, which he mentions, is that the Viceroy has established a college for instructing the Chinese youth in the English and French languages, with the view of initiating them into the science of navigation and shipbuilding; and so eager are the young men of Fuh-Chau to enter this college, that though the candidates were required to pass a very rigid examination in Chinese learning before they could be admitted, and though it was known that only sixty would be selected, yet no fewer than four hundred candidates presented themselves for examination. But the striking fact is this: that the school is at present taught by a Singapore Chinaman, who is a devout and earnest Christian!

Our Missionary represents the whole province as being full of large towns and villages, and says—"I have travelled through many of these places myself, and can bear testimony to the willingness of the people to learn, and to the immense number of human beings in these places to be taught. But who is to teach them? Is there no use in telling the Church at home of these things,—of the great and crying necessity for more men? Will none of the Christian young men of England or Ireland listen to our cry for aid? It appears not. But we cry to the Lord of the harvest, and none has ever cried to Him in vain. Will He not send forth labourers into his harvest? He knows our wants, and He can supply. He knows our weakness, and He can strengthen. We leave ourselves in his hands. This, however, will not excuse Christians at home from engaging in this work. If they knew, however, the pleasure which may be derived from engaging in this work, I believe many of God's children would rush to it. Alas that we should require such self-interested motives for working for One who gave Himself to death for our sakes!"

And whilst our brethren in China, with its four hundred millions, are pleading for more men, appeals equally earnest and affecting are coming at the same time from India and Africa, and many other parts of the vast Mission field.

It is true, thank God, that the number of our Native Clergymen is steadily increasing; but throughout the whole Mission field it only amounts to eighty-seven!—so that it is by Europeans that new Missions must be planted, and it is by Europeans that a more adequate supply of Native agents must be educated and trained in our older Mission fields. The importance of raising up a Native Pastorate, and organizing Native Churches that shall be self-supporting, and at the same time be imbued also with a Missionary and aggressive spirit, is thoroughly appreciated by our Society; and it is for this purpose, more especially, that it needs such an increase in the number of its European agents.

We are in urgent need of funds also, as well as of men. The Society is crippled in all its operations from the insufficiency of its income. Even this year's income, large as it is, is exceeded by the expenditure of the year to the amount of between 5000*l.* and 6000*l.*!

When I think, my brethren, of the congregation which it is my privilege to address;—of the zealous and tried friends of our Society, of whom it is composed; of the rank and position of some that are here; of the clergy that are here from so many parts of the kingdom, as well as from this vast city, and of the power their position gives them; of the merchants and bankers, and professional men, and manufacturers and tradesmen that are here, and of the mighty influence their wealth, and their talents, and their character give them, not only over the numbers employed by, and dependent upon them, but also upon the large circles of friends and acquaintances with which they are connected; of the number of serious young men, of every rank, that are present; and also of the many Christian sisters that are here, who so love and so labour for the Society; I feel that I am addressing a body which might at once give such an impulse to the cause of Missions as would reach almost every part of the kingdom; and go far to wipe away from us the reproach of a want of men, and a deficiency of funds.

My brethren, may I be permitted to urge it upon you with all respect, but with all earnestness, to let the cause of Missions be more than ever near and dear to your hearts? May I venture to urge it upon you to realize more solemnly than ever the responsibility which rests upon each one of you individually? "Do I know," let each one ask himself, "to my joy, the unsearchable riches of Christ, which he obtained for me by His own deep poverty? And is the command of my Lord to make known His Gospel everywhere binding upon all, and binding upon me individually? Then what am I doing to make the glad tidings of these riches known amongst the eight hundred millions of heathen? What time do I devote to it? What money do I give for it? What sacrifices do I make for it? What efforts to awaken amongst others an interest in this great cause? What prayers do I offer up to the Lord of the harvest to send forth labourers into His harvest, and to give a large blessing to the work?"

When I think, my brethren, what one single individual sometimes does, and that, too, under such unfavourable circumstances; and then think of what could be done if every one here within these walls fully realized his own personal privilege and personal responsibility, I am emboldened to be very earnest with you; and if I am too bold, forgive me the wrong, for the sake of the cause I plead.

About thirty years ago a young person in my own parish, met with an accident by which her spine was injured; and from that time till her death, five months ago, she never left her bed. She often suffered much pain, and could only lie on one side. For thirty years I never remember seeing her except lying in one position and on one spot. But soon after her accident she became acquainted with Christ and His unsearchable riches; and could bless God for her afflictions. About seventeen years ago one of the Native Pastors of Sierra Leone was visiting me; and I took him to see her. She became deeply interested in the cause of Missions; and from that time till her death she kept up a correspondence with him; and almost every year sent him for his people a box with books and articles of clothing, &c., often to the value of more than twenty pounds. She had not money to buy these things herself; but she could work with her needle, though sometimes not without pain; and she had many friends who visited or corresponded with her, with whom she pleaded the cause of Africa. Many were the tears which were shed by this Pastor and his people when it was known that their benefactress was dead; for there was not a house in his parish, as he once said, where her name was not known and blessed.

I once met with a poor old cripple in the Forest of Dean, who broke stones upon the road, and for years that man gave upon an average five or six pounds to various Religious Societies. He gave up a comfortable cottage, inherited from his father, and took up his abode in a wretched hovel in which he was allowed to live for nothing (he was unmarried), in order that he might let his cottage, and give the rent of it to the cause of Christ. In that wretched hovel his long winter evenings were cheered by his Bible, and by the Annual Reports of the Societies to which he subscribed.

The late Dr. Marshman, that most laborious Missionary, "died," we are told by his son, "in graceful poverty, after having devoted a sum little short of 40,000*l.* to the Mission, and that not in one ostentatious sum, but through a life of privations. In a private letter, written a few years before his death, he said, 'God has made my wife and me (he was referring to their boarding schools) the humble instruments in His hands of contributing 30,000*l.* to His cause; and how much happier I feel than I should if I had this sum in the funds or in landed property I cannot tell. I have never had a misgiving thought for having done it, though I have two sons unprovided for.'"

There are about twelve thousand Christian Natives in Sierra Leone in connexion with our Church, and they are almost all of them poor. Last year they celebrated the Jubilee of the Sierra Leone Mission, and they raised a thank-offering for our Society of 830*l.* This was in addition to a sum of similar amount which they raised the same year for the Native Pastorate; and to a third sum of equal amount which they raised for the erection of three new churches in a heathen district beyond the colony; and to other sums raised for their sick and their schools, &c. Do we ask how it was that a population, so poor and so small, could raise in the year more than 3000*l.*? It may be replied, that each one felt his own individual responsibility.

What could not be done, I again ask, if the members of such a congregation as this were to realize their privilege and their responsibility?

My brethren, never let us forget that we not only have the plain command of Christ to make known His Gospel throughout the world; but that, in giving us this command, He bestows upon us a "grace,"—a glorious privilege. He might have commissioned His holy angels to make known the glad tidings; or He might have conferred the office upon certain favoured and pre-eminent saints, and made them independent of all aid from others. But He has not done so. This grace, this glorious privilege He puts within the reach of all without exception—high and low, rich and poor, young and old, babes and fathers in Christ. All may share in the honour; all may help in the great work. Let each one of us, then, take up the cause of Missions to the heathen with all his heart, and devote himself to it under a deep sense of the individual privilege and the individual responsibility!

REPORT,

THE Committee are thankful to announce that, in a year marked by commercial difficulties and public calamities, the Income of the Society has been well maintained. Last year the Committee announced an advance of 10,000*l.* in the Associations. This decided advance has been more than continued during the year just closed. The Associations have exceeded the increased returns of last year, the amount raised—115,871*l.* 19*s.* 4*d.*—being larger than that obtained from Associations in any previous year. As compared with last year the Legacies are less by 1065*l.* 18*s.* 6*d.* and the Benefactions by 223*l.* 13*s.* 11*d.* An anonymous donation of 4000*l.*, for a Mission to Japan, raises the total receipts for the year to 150,356*l.* 5*s.* 10*d.* The ordinary expenditure has exceeded the ordinary income by 5477*l.* 18*s.* 4*d.*; but a surplus of income last year, amounting to 1649*l.* 4*s.* 5*d.*, reduces the deficiency to 3828*l.* 13*s.* 11*d.*

The increased returns from the Associations are most satisfactory to the Committee, because they give evidence that the Society has lengthened the cords and strengthened the stakes of its organization throughout the country. To those cordial and active friends, whether Clerical or Lay, who, in the management of local Associations, have exerted themselves to extend the Society's operations the hearty thanks of the Committee are due. The returns from Associations are the pecuniary strength of the Society, and the Committee venture to urge upon their friends the importance of diligently canvassing every Association, whether new or old, for contributions. The results of a careful canvass will well repay the time and energy expended upon it.

Ordinary Income of the year . .	£145,386	5	10
Ordinary Expenditure of the year .	150,864	4	2

PATRONAGE.

By the death of Dr. Cotton, Bishop of Calcutta, the Society has lost an earnest and influential supporter of its Missions. The Committee adopted the subjoined Minute on learning the sad intelligence of Dr. Cotton's sudden removal from his wide sphere of spiritual usefulness:—

"That this Committee cannot receive the announcement of the death of the Bishop of Calcutta, one of its Vice-Presidents, without recording its deep sense of the loss which the Church of Christ has sustained by his removal; and especially that branch of it in North India over which he had presided during eight years with eminent wisdom and zeal. The Missions of this Society ever received his warmest sympathy, support and encouragement; and the Committee reposed the utmost confidence in the largeness and soundness of his views of Protestant Missionary principles, especially with reference to the organization of the Native-Christian Church. And they earnestly pray that the Lord may raise up a successor capable of carrying forward the work so happily advanced under Bishop Cotton and his predecessors."

The Bishop of Calcutta, the Bishop of Nelson, and the Bishop of Victoria have accepted the office of Vice-President.

The Rev. Dr. Corrie, Master of Jesus College, the Rev. Dr. Phillips, Master of Queen's College, in the University of Cambridge, and the Right Hon. Russell Gurney, M.P., Recorder of London, have been appointed Vice-Presidents.

The following Clergymen have been appointed Honorary Governors for life—Rev. John Venn, Prebendary of Hereford, and Vicar of St. Peter's, Hereford; Rev. Henry Linton, Rector of St. Peter le Bailey, Oxford; Rev. A. M. W. Christopher, Rector of St. Aldate's, Oxford; Rev. T. T. Perowne, Fellow of Corpus Christi College, Cambridge; Rev. John Lawson, Perpetual Curate of Seaton Carew; Rev. G. L. Yate, Vicar of Wrockwardine, Shropshire; and Rev. Dr. Smythe, late Chaplain in Bengal.

CHURCH MISSIONARY INSTITUTION.

The number of students in the Institution has diminished.

The Principal reviews the work of the year, and at the same time urges upon the Society's friends the necessity for serious and prayerful attention to the present need of duly qualified Missionaries:—

Various departments of active Home Missionary labour continue to be carried on by the students, so far as the attention necessarily devoted to more immediate duties affords opportunity. Much valuable experience is thus gained; Christian character and graces are exercised and developed; and an antidote provided against the somewhat deadening tendency of uninterrupted intellectual pursuits; a tendency felt, more or less, by all Christian students, but specially experienced by those who are entering for the first time upon a course of stated and continuous mental application.

The number of students who have completed their course during the past year, and left the College for various spheres of Missionary service, is much larger than usual, amounting altogether to nineteen. Amongst these are the five African brethren referred to in the Report of last year. Dandeson Coates, the son of Bishop Crowther, and his companion, Willoughby, son of our late catechist of that name, have returned to the Yoruba Mission, and have already commenced active work there. Williams and Cates are again in Sierra Leone; the former assisting in the Fourah-Bay College, the latter in the Grammar School; both enjoying abundant opportunities in those interesting and important Institutions of turning to good account any advantages derived from their residence in Islington. The fifth, Johnson, bearing the honoured name of the apostle of Regent's Town, and himself the member of a truly Missionary family—being the son of the late valuable catechist of Ibadan, and brother of two of the Society's native labourers in Yoruba—was ordained at Christmas last, and has not yet returned to Africa. He remains in this country a few months longer, to avail himself of the aid of the Society's old Missionary, Mr. Schön, in acquiring such a knowledge of the dialects of Central Africa as may render him more efficient in translational and other work on his return to his own country. Theophilus Vera Swami, the Hindu whose remarkable conversion to Christianity whilst passing through a course of study at the London University is familiar to the friends of the Society, having satisfactorily completed his preparation in the Institution, was, together with eleven fellow-students, set apart to the work of the ministry, at a special Ordination held in July last, in Holy Trinity Church, Mary-le-bone. He has since returned to India, and will, it is hoped, with the Divine blessing, prove an instrument of great good amongst the Natives of Madras generally, and more especially amongst the more educated classes of his fellow-countrymen.

The other students have been distributed amongst the various Missions in the three Presidencies of India, Ceylon, China, and North-west America; barely supplying vacancies occasioned by the death or removal of others, and in no instance able to commence new work, or putting it into the power of the Committee, even if funds were sufficient, to respond to the many urgent appeals continually made on behalf of still unevangelized nations of the earth.

The only cause of special anxiety which needs to be noticed is the greatly diminished number of candidates for Mission work, and the consequent diminution of students. Whilst, during the past year, twenty-one have left the Institution, eleven only have been admitted. This number, of course, bears only a small proportion to the actual offers of service; but the Committee cannot feel justified, even by the paucity of candidates, in lowering that standard of qualification which they feel essential, under God, to the maintenance of the character of their work. Vital and experimental godliness; a clear view and firm grasp of the distinctive doctrines of the Gospel; earnestness and zeal; a fair average measure of natural ability: in a word, the apostolic requisites of the spirit of power, love, and of a sound mind, cannot be dispensed with; and never more than at the present time did the circumstances of the Mission field demand a large measure of these qualifications.

Reverting to the question of numbers, the average as reported last year was 48; this year it only reaches 36; and the actual number in residence at the close of the year does not exceed 33. During the first three decades of the Institution's existence, the average was 21. For several years past there has been a gradual uninterrupted increase, making the average for the last decade nearly, if not quite, double that of the former three; but there is now a sudden and very considerable retrogression. There is also every probability of a further diminution of the 33 students now in the College: not fewer than thirteen will probably, during the ensuing summer and autumn, leave for the several stations to which they may be appointed. One of these, Mr. Roper, will return to the scene of his many trials and mercies in the Yoruba Mission. Another, the son of the lamented Mrs. Beale (recently, after twenty-six years devoted service in Sierra Leone called to her rest and reward), was ordained in March last by the Archbishop of Canterbury, and has already been designated by the Committee to the same field of labour in which his parents so faithfully worked and finished their course. The remaining eleven will be presented to the Bishop of London for his Trinity-Sunday Ordination. The urgent requirements of several Missions will necessitate their speedy departure to their several localities. Thus, of the present inmates of the College, only twenty will be left.

The Principal begs to urge this important matter on the serious attention of the members of Committee, and, through them, on the friends of the Society throughout the country.

It is not now a question whether the Society is to break up new ground, or to attempt the occupation of untried fields of Missionary enterprise, but whether existing stations may have to be abandoned before Native agency has been sufficiently trained and matured to bear the stress and burden prematurely placed upon it.

Surely this is a position in which the members and friends of the Church Missionary Society will not willingly acquiesce. As disciples of that Saviour to whom the Father has given the heathen for His inheritance and the uttermost parts of the earth for His possession, they cannot feel satisfied with merely occupying ground already gained and leaving the god of this world in undisputed possession of the rest. In the more than ten thousand parishes of our land there must be many, who, if only the Lord's appeal, "Whom shall I send, and who will go for us?" were pressed upon their serious and prayerful attention, would be ready, with the Prophet, to exclaim, "Here am I, send me." "The harvest truly is plenteous, but the labourers are few: pray ye therefore, the Lord of the harvest that He will send forth labourers into His harvest."

MISSIONARIES' CHILDREN'S HOME.

The Rev. J. Rooker having been recently appointed to the Incumbency of Holy Trinity Church, Islington, the Society has been deprived of the valuable services rendered by Mr. and Mrs. Rooker. The Committee regret that the affectionate solicitude they exercised cannot be continued by them; but trust that the important duties of the Home will be efficiently discharged by their successors, Mr. and Mrs. Hall. In addition to many other qualifications, Mr. Hall possesses an experience, derived from official position both in England and in the Colonies, which will be advantageous in the management of the Home.

CHANGES IN THE SECRETARYSHIP.

Colonel Dawes having been compelled by impaired health to retire from the office of Lay Secretary, the Society has been deprived of the valuable service rendered by him during his tenure of office. On receiving the resignation of Colonel Dawes, the Committee adopted the following Resolution:—

> That the Committee receive with deep regret the announcement that the health of Colonel Dawes has compelled him to resign the office of Lay Secretary; and they thankfully record at the same time their sense of the very valuable services which he has rendered, by the Christian spirit in which he has discharged the numerous and onerous duties of the office, and by his unremitting attention to the financial affairs of the Society.

Mr. Edward Hutchinson has been selected by the Committee as possessing in a high degree the requisite qualifications to fill the office of Lay Secretary, the appointment being subject to the confirmation of the Anniversary Meeting.

ORDINATION OF MISSIONARIES.

Nineteen of the Society's Candidates have been admitted to holy orders during the year; one by the Archbishop of Canterbury; twelve by Bishop Smith, and two by Bishop Anderson, acting under the Commission of the Bishop of London; one European, and one Native, by the Bishop of Sierra Leone; one European by the Bishop of Madras; and one Native by the Bishop of Waiapu.

DEPARTURE OF MISSIONARIES TO THEIR STATIONS.

West-Africa Mission—The Rev. Henry James Alcock, B.A. of Trinity College, Dublin, embarked at Liverpool, on the 24th of October 1866, for Sierra Leone, and arrived there on the 8th of November. The Rev. D. G. Williams and Mr. William Cates, Africans, from the Islington Institution, embarked at Liverpool, on the 24th of July 1866, for Sierra Leone, and arrived there on the 11th of September.

Yoruba Mission—The Rev. J. A. Lamb and Mrs. Lamb, accompanied by Messrs. Dandeson Coates Crowther and Mark F. Willoughby, Africans, from the Islington Institution, embarked, on their return to the Mission, at Liverpool, on the 24th of July 1866; and arrived there on the 20th of August. The Rev. D. Hinderer and Mrs. Hinderer, the Rev. J. B. Wood, and Mr. V. and Mrs. Faulkner, returning to the Mission, embarked at Liverpool, on the 24th of October 1866, for Lagos, and arrived there on the 19th of November.

East-Africa Mission—The Rev. E. Parnell, from the Islington Institution, and Mrs. Parnell, embarked at Southampton on the 27th of September 1866, for Bombay, on their way to Mombas; but, on account of failure of health, were obliged to return home, and arrived at Southampton on the 10th of December.

Western-India Mission—The Rev. Edwin Sampson and the Rev. George Shirt, from the Islington Institution, embarked at Gravesend on the 20th of August 1866, for Bombay. The vessel, however, foundered, through bad weather, on the 15th of November, in lat. 18° S., long. 73° E.; but they were providentially discovered, on the 17th by the "Bramston," while on her way to Kurachi, and by her were safely landed at their destination on the 21st of December. The Rev. A. H. Frost, returning to the Mission, left London on the 7th of November, for Bombay, viâ Marseilles.

North-India Mission—The Rev. William Ridley, from the Islington Institution, and Mrs. Ridley, embarked at Gravesend on the 2nd of August 1866, for Calcutta; and the Rev. Samuel Carter and the Rev. David Brodie, from the Islington Institution, embarked at the same place, on the 24th of August, for Calcutta: they arrived there on the 20th of December. The Rev. W. T. Storrs and Mrs. Storrs, on their return to their labours, accompanied by the Rev. Charles E. Storrs, Curate to the Rev. B. Crosthwaite, Leeds, and Mrs. Storrs, embarked at Southampton on the 4th of October 1866, for Calcutta.

South-India Mission—The Rev. H. Andrews and Mrs. Andrews, on their return to the Mission; the Rev. William Hope, the Rev. William Johnson, and the Rev. Theophilus Vera Swami, native of India, from the Islington Institution, embarked at Gravesend on the 18th of September 1866, for Madras; and, with the exception of Mr. Andrews, who died on the voyage (October the 19th), arrived there on the 12th of January 1867. Mr. A. H. Lash and Mrs. Lash embarked at the same place on the 6th of October 1866, for Madras, and arrived there on the 24th of January 1867. The Rev. George Maxwell Gordon, B.A. of Trinity College, Cambridge, late Curate of St. Thomas', Marylebone, left London on the 25th of October 1866, for Madras, and arrived there on the 9th of of January 1867.

Ceylon Mission—The Rev. Thomas Good, from the Islington Institution, embarked at Gravesend on the 18th of September 1866, for Ceylon. The Rev. J. I. Jones, B.A., and Mrs. Jones, returning to the Mission, accompanied by the Rev. Richard T. Dowbiggin, embarked at Southampton on the 4th of March 1867, for Ceylon.

China Mission—The Rev. John Piper, the Rev. Henry Gretton, and the Rev. James Bates, from the Islington Institution, embarked at Gravesend, on the 17th of August 1866, for Shanghae, and arrived there on the 18th of January 1867.

Mauritius Mission—The Rev. H. D. Buswell and Mrs. Buswell—their services having been transferred from the Ceylon Mission to the Mauritius on account of health—embarked at Plymouth on the 11th of September, for Port Louis.

New Zealand Mission—The Rev. George Maunsell, from the Islington Institution, and Mrs. Maunsell, embarked at Southampton, on the 2nd of June 1866, for Auckland, vid Panama.

North-Pacific Mission—The Rev. Robert Tomlinson, B.A. Trinity College, Dublin, left Liverpool, on the 16th of January last, for New York, en route to British Columbia.

DECEASE OF MISSIONARIES.

The following Labourers have been removed by death during the past year—

West-Africa Mission—Mrs. Beale, widow of the late Rev. J. Beale, died at Charlotte on the 12th of December 1866, having laboured in the Mission for nearly twenty-six years.

Yoruba Mission—Mrs. Lieb, wife of the Rev. C. F. Lieb, died at Igbein, on the 6th of June 1866.

East-Africa Mission—Mrs. Rebmann, wife of the Rev. J. Rebmann, died at Kisulidini, on the 8th of November 1866, after a short illness.

North-India Mission—Mrs. Long, wife of the Rev. J. Long, died at sea, off the Cape, on her voyage home, on the 2nd of February 1867.

South-India Mission—The Rev. Henry Baker, senior, died at Cottayam on the 22nd of July 1866, having laboured nearly fifty years in the Mission. The Rev. John Thomas Tucker died suddenly at Rempstone, Leicestershire, on the 24th of September 1866, having laboured in Tinnevelly for twenty-four years. The Rev. Henry Andrews died at sea, of cholera, on the 19th of October 1866, three weeks after leaving England to resume his labours in India.

Ceylon Mission—The Rev. George Parsons died at Colombo, on the 19th of April 1866, having laboured in the Mission nearly sixteen years. Mrs. Pickford, wife of the Rev. J. Pickford, died at Colombo, on the 6th of May 1866. Mrs. Oakley, wife of the Rev. W. Oakley, died at Kandy on the 14th o July 1866.

Jubilee of the West-African Church.

Celebration o Jubilee.

PROMINENT among the events of the year stands the Jubilee of the West-African Church. The first note was sounded by the Bishop of Sierra Leone preaching from the closing words of St. Matthew's Gospel, in which the Saviour tells the little apostolic company that all power is given to Him in heaven and on earth, bids them go and teach all nations, and promises to be with them always, even to the end of the world. The Governor-in-Chief presided over the Jubilee Meeting, and expressed his conviction, obtained from observation and experience, that "the conversion and civilization of the inhabitants of the colony were due to the Church Missionary Society." A Native Minister, in the capacity of Secretary, not only reviewed the last fifty years of Missionary labour in Sierra Leone, but also reminded his countrymen of the days in which Africa gave "Martyrs to the flame and Bishops to the Church." The rise and progress of the Moslem power was graphically sketched, when Cathedrals became Mosques, the Bible was replaced by the Koran, the Cross set and the Crescent rose. The audience were reminded of the constituent elements of their community by a record of the fact that, in 1808, the present Colony became a receptacle for liberated slaves speaking more than one hundred languages. Among this community, in 1816, the Church Missionary Society commenced its labours, and African Christianity, on its Jubilee day, bore testimony to the faith, love and zeal, which, in connexion with the Society, sent forth, in the first ten years, twenty-eight Missionaries, of whom one-half died within that period. The lips of an African Minister declared also to his countrymen, that of all the European labourers who arrived during the twenty years between 1816 and 1836 one alone, Townsend, of Abeokuta, now remained in the Mission-field. But a band of thirty-one Native Clergy had arisen to occupy the places vacated by Europeans. Of these, four had been called to their eternal reward, one is now a Chaplain of the Imperial Government at the Gambia, and the remaining twenty-six are ministers of the West-African Native Church or Missionaries of the Society. The contrast between the position of Christianity at the present time and in the year 1816 speaks profitably and powerfully as to future Missionary work. The sincere but faint-hearted friend, and the sceptical but fierce foe, may alike learn from the announcement made at the Jubilee Meeting in Sierra Leone, that while in 1816 the communicants of Western Africa had then only advanced to six, they are now advancing towards 6000. Such is the blessed spiritual change effected within fifty years. The land of which it has been said that the slave-trade "has dyed its sands with blood, and charged every wind that floated over her plains with the sighs and groans of wretched murdered man," has so celebrated its Missionary Jubilee as to draw from our hearts the Psalmist's exclamation, "Happy are the people that are in such a case; yea, blessed are the people who have the Lord for their God!"

Death of Mrs. Beale.

The Jubilee proceedings were pervaded by a deep and solemn feeling, in consequence of the death, on the 12th of December, of Mrs. Beale, who had been devotedly occupied in the Mission for twenty-six years, of which sixteen were passed as the energetic helper of her husband, the Rev. James Beale, who died in 1856, and ten as a widow, who was felt to be a mother in Israel, the true friend of widows, orphans and the poor. European and Native Ministers united in expressing their sense of the loss which not only the Pademba Road congregation and district, but also the colony, had sustained. The lamentations arose alike from the elderly women of the congregation and the young pupils of the school, who had long marked her determination to live and die among her husband's beloved flock, and to identify herself with Africa. During the last year of her life she had found much spiritual enjoyment. Easter-day is described in an unfinished journal as a "joyful day," and the spirit of prayer and supplication seems to have been largely experienced. The last sentence in her never-completed letter was in reference to the Jubilee at Sierra Leone, and contains these remarkable words—"What will be done the next fifty years our God only knows, as we shall have finished our course here."

Special Contributions to Jubilee Fund.

Among the contributions to the Jubilee Fund two may be especially noticed. The Grammar School, of which a Native Minister is the Head Master, raised 28*l.*; and the village of Charlotte, containing a population of 500, of whom ninety are liberated African children, transmitted a Jubilee offering of 84*l.* The Jubilee Report concludes with these earnest words:—"If, in the contemplation of the past, we learn to give up ourselves with more earnestness and purer motives to the work, are more ready to spend and be spent for the temporal and religious elevation of our country, how soon, in answer to our petitions, will be ushered in that blessed and glorious day when 'Ethiopia shall stretch out her hands unto God?'—when the standard of the Cross will be borne by devoted men from Sierra Leone on the west and Zanzibar on the easternmost verge of Africa—when not only the superstitiously-demoralized tribes of the west, but also debased Egypt, the ancient cradle of learning, on the north, and untutored Caffraria on the south, and all the widely-scattered populations of the central regions shall become the freedmen of the Lord! Then also shall be realized the true import of those sublime prophecies of Isaiah:—'Violence shall no more be heard in thy land, wasting nor destruction within thy borders, but thou shalt call thy walls Salvation, and thy gates Praise.'"

Earnest indeed are the words of African Christians, but not less excellent are their works, for they have raised a Jubilee Fund of 830*l.*

Recognition of the Native Church by Government, and Visitation of the Bishop.

In addition to the special Jubilee effort, a sum of 900*l.* has been expended in the erection, during the year, of three permanent Churches in the heathen districts of Bullom and Sherbro, while the Colonial Government has marked its appreciation of the value of the Native Church by an annual grant of 500*l.* to the Native Pastorate Fund.

Annual Contribution of Government to Native Church.

The Bishop of Sierra Leone, after visiting several Stations for the purpose of holding Confirmations, bears the following testimony to the warmth and earnestness of African Christianity:—

Accompanied by Mr. Caiger I have been to the Bullom, Kent, Bananas and York, and at each place held a Confirmation. We were everywhere very kindly and warmly received. At Bananas it was a delightful sight: the Church was quite full, and several were unable to obtain seats; others were outside. After the service the candidates accompanied us to the shore singing several hymns, as did the schoolchildren at York. At Bananas they had intended to meet us at the landing, but while they were anxiously looking for us in the direction of the town, we arrived from the other direction, having passed over from Kent, where we had arrived the previous evening. They were sadly disappointed, as they were all assembled in the school ready to receive us. At York I had addressed the candidates for about forty minutes, as I had also done at the other places; but feeling quite exhausted, I was obliged to conclude the address, not having said all that I had intended. I therefore requested Mr. Caiger to speak to them after the service on some important points which we thought ought to be brought before the members generally, and the candidates in particular. I trust our visits may be blessed to the glory of our God, for Christ's sake.

Kissey Road.

In surveying the work at Kissey Road during the year, the Rev. James Hamilton finds cause for regret in the somewhat diminished attendance at the classes for communicants and candidates. The schools, however, have progressed satisfactorily, and the attendance at the Sunday services has averaged in the morning 500, and in the evening 350. The contributions of the congregation for the year include the following items:—Church Fund, 62*l.* 7*s.* 6½*d.*; School Fund, 57*l.* 18*s.* 2*d.*; Church Missionary Society, 37*l.* 13*s.* 1*d.*; Native Pastorate, 78*l.* 19*s.* 7*d.*; British and Foreign Bible Society, 26*l.* 12*s.* 1½*d.*

Liberality of African Christians.

The Bananas.

That Christianity has taken a firm hold in the Bananas is the statement of the Native Pastor in charge, the Rev. S. Mousa. It has been necessary to suspend some from Church ordinances, but the general behaviour of the communicants has been consistent with their Christian profession. The congregation usually numbers 130 persons, and the schools contain 106 children.

The regular attendance at church of an old man, and the happy death of a young man, are mentioned in Mr. Mousa's Report:—

> The good attendance and the fixed attention to be observed during preaching-time are very encouraging. On one occasion, when conversing with one of the oldest members, John Coker by name, who is suffering from asthma, I said to him, "Well, old man, why didn't I see you in church on Sunday? was it on account of the weather?" He quickly replied, "No, the weather should not prevent us from going to church: the rain would not prevent me from dying, should death come; and whenever you do not see me in church, know that I am very sick."
> John Taylor died a very peaceful death. I visited him many times during his illness, and always found him calm and peaceful; and though his body was suffering from pain, yet no complaint or murmuring ever escaped his lips, and his countenance was always mild and placid. A few days before his death he said to me, "I want to go home: I am a stranger here: I am ready to go home." I asked him, "What is your hope?" He quickly replied, "Jesus."

Education.

The Fourah-Bay Institution has been placed under the charge of the Rev. H. J. Alcock, B.A., who has recently proceeded to Sierra Leone on his appointment as Principal. The arrangements of the Institution are so far modified as to admit a number of secular students of the higher classes who may be able to defray the expenses of the education afforded.

The Rev. D. G. Williams, a Native Minister, has, after a course of study in the Church Missionary Institution, returned to Sierra Leone, and assists Mr. Alcock in the Fourah-Bay Institution.

Efficiency of Grammar School.

The Grammar School continues under the care of a Native Clergyman, the Rev. J. Quaker. The number of scholars, including boarders, is 102. The surplus fund of the school has been increased by 90*l.* during the year, and the intellectual, moral and spiritual influence, not only in the Colony, but also in other parts of Western Africa, are evident from Mr. Quaker's Report for the year ending September 1866 :—

Amongst those who have left the school during the year were the two sons of King Pepple of Bonny, whom I obtained the sanction of the Visiting Committee in the month of June last to send out in the capacity of assistant schoolmasters, having been on the Society's foundation here above nine years. By the decision of the Committee they were to be thus employed till they were recalled home by their father, who had been repeatedly requested in vain to send for them. Although they spent nearly ten years in the school, the elder of them was scarcely eighteen years of age when they left, having been sent here very young. The progress made in their studies has been good, especially that of the younger brother, who had studied mathematics, Latin and Greek. Judging from the great satisfaction with which they are now spoken of by the two Superintendents in whose districts they are labouring in the Colony, I have every reason to believe that, under the Divine guidance, they will eventually prove a blessing to their country.

Amongst those recently received into the school are two lads from Dutch Accra; one from Cape Coast; one, a mulatto, from the Gambia; making four pupils in all at present from that settlement, and two others from Lagos and Abeokuta, but natives of this Colony. A chief at the Bonny, and a Native merchant at Lagos, have both written to me, promising to send up their sons before long, to be placed under my tuition.

One of our daily pupils, son of the late Rev. T. King, of Abeokuta, resides in the Colonial Hospital, and receives medical education from the surgeon in charge. Another spends three hours daily in the Government printing-office, in learning the art of printing; and a third, who has now altogether ceased from attending school, is learning carpentry, &c., at the Colonial Surveyor's department. These three lads, with two others that may be appointed—one of whom is to study law, if promising—are to be sent to England, after a few years' training in the Colony, under the patronage of the Governor-in-Chief, and with the consent of the Parent Committee, in order to complete their trade and professional studies respectively.

The conduct of the pupils, on the whole, has afforded us much satisfaction, and the moral tone of the school has been comparatively of a more healthy character than we have witnessed for a long time.

Our Class Meetings of inquirers from among the pupils and our Juvenile Missionary Meetings have both been well kept up. On the whole, I can truly say that, notwithstanding all the trials which we continually meet with, we have had abundant encouragement to go on in our work.

The Female Institution.

This Institution has fully occupied Miss Sass and Miss Caspari. The efficiency of the Institution has been maintained; but the Annual Letter from Miss Sass not having arrived, no details can be furnished. Miss Adcock has been compelled, on account of failing health, to return to Europe.

BULLOM MISSION.

Under the charge of the Native Minister, the Rev. H. Boston, the work is steadily advancing. At the different places visited in the course of itinerating preaching, the interest manifested caused encouragement. Thirty-seven persons were confirmed here by the Bishop of Sierra Leone in February last.

Local war has not hindered Mission work.

In the Yoruba country a more tranquil state of public affairs has relieved the Society from special anxiety, and restored spiritual activity to the Mission. Local wars have distracted some towns and districts, but the disturbance of peace has not been general. Messages threatening the expulsion of the white man were at times received by the Missionaries from some of the evil elements of the community. The attack made upon a Missionary, and the attempt to destroy a church by fire, seemed to corroborate the impression as to the hostility of the Yoruba people to the European; but the general conduct of the population, and the statistics of evangelistic work, prove that the attack on an individual and the attempt to burn a church were altogether repugnant to public feeling. Larger attendance and greater attention are recorded in connexion with public preaching. Schools have more than maintained their former position. Candidates for baptism and communicants have increased.

LAGOS.

The Rev. J. A. Lamb has returned to Lagos. The Christians of Lagos received Mr. and Mrs. Lamb with every demonstration of affection and joy.

From the contributions of friends in England, and a small grant from the Society, Mr. Lamb has been enabled to commence the erection of a new church at Lagos. Mr. Nicholson has been compelled to return to England for restoration of health. A small church has also been commenced by the Rev. A. Mann.

A Native congregation, consisting of ninety persons, fifty-two of whom are communicants, is under the charge of the Native Pastor, the Rev. W. Morgan, who has visited the people from house to house, and exhorted them concerning the kingdom of God. Mr. Morgan records his thankfulness for the evidences of interest in his work.

The Grammar School, under the charge of the Rev. T. B. Macaulay, has made satisfactory progress. The Governor of Lagos presided at the last examination, when the pupils showed such proficiency in Scripture, Church history, the Catechism, Greek derivations, English history, and Euclid, as to elicit approving remarks from His Excellency.

The changed aspect of this place within the last few years is briefly depicted by the Rev. J. C. Taylor, of Onitsha:—

Changed aspect of Lagos.

As we entered the lagoon, I was engaged in feasting my eyes on the material change it has undergone since I had the privilege of seeing it in 1857, and particularly in 1860, when I landed there. The contrast is very great indeed. Neat and well-ventilated houses have sprung up on the water-side, fine streets have been laid out, and wells made nearly in every street. To see this place, which was once the depôt of a slave mart, now becoming a flourishing English settlement, led me to exclaim, "What has God wrought for Africa!" The spiritual state of it is no less important. Due observance of the Lord's-day is practised by all the English residents and the converts; whilst it is deplorable, on the other hand, to see that the heathen are heedless of its great claims. May the sympathy of the Church be drawn towards this interesting settlement, until the Spirit of the Lord be poured upon it from on high!

Badagry.

Mr. Pearse, the Native Catechist, has continued to labour at Badagry. An incident of pastoral visitation is noticed by him in his journal:—

It has been my plan to visit the members of our congregation at their houses, individually, once a week. I went thus round to-day. I was much gratified to meet Abraham Edon, with his spectacles on, and his Yoruba Testament in his hand, still laid up, reading to an old woman, who was preparing her agidi leaves in his piazza. He is generally fond of reading, and, on my visits, he often related to me what he has read, either in the Gospels or in the Epistles.

Many trials and discouragements are stated by Mr. Pearse to have occurred. The place appears to be declining in importance from the decrease of trade. The Yoruba services have, however, been well attended: two conversions are announced, and the number of children in the day school has risen from twenty-one to thirty-nine.

Mr. Pearse has laboured with satisfactory success. A congregation of fifty or sixty contains thirty-five regular inquirers after religious instruction, and eighteen communicants. There are nearly forty children in the day school.

Otta.

A slight diminution in the number of Native Christians, in consequence of the removal of several Christian families, is mentioned by the Rev. James White, the Native Pastor. A religious awakening among the young has occurred during the year. The beneficial spiritual influence of a visit from Bishop Crowther and the Rev. J. C. Taylor, of the Niger Mission, is a prominent subject in Mr. White's annual letter:—

I am happy to state that our beloved Bishop, who has hitherto communicated with us by letter, was at length able to visit us in person in the month of October last year, accompanied by the Rev. J. C. Taylor of Onitsha. I went to Lagos and escorted them to this place through Igbesa and Itele, where we are commencing new stations. Visit of Bishop Crowther.

On the 28th of October, which was the Lord's-day, we had baptism and confirmation here. The Bishop baptized the adults, who were five in number—one man and four women. After the baptismal service, twelve adults, including the newly-baptized, were confirmed by the Bishop, who afterwards preached a very touching and encouraging sermon from the words, "Fear not, little flock, for it is your Father's good pleasure to give you the kingdom." Luke xii. 32. After the morning service, the Rev. J. C. Taylor and myself assisted the Bishop in administering the Lord's Supper to thirty-four communicants. Brother Taylor preached in the afternoon from the words, "Christ in you the hope of glory." (Col i. 27.) Brother Taylor and myself were born in the village of Charlotte, Sierra Leone, and were brought up together in the same school, that of the Church Missionary Society, and we have both been chosen vessels of the Lord; he, to labour in his fatherland in the Niger, and I, in my fatherland in Yoruba. Interesting services.

During our voyage from Lagos to Igbesa, and during our journey from Igbesa to Otta, the Bishop's ears were filled with the relation of the tales of each one's experiences, trials, difficulties, and discouragements, and how full of comfort, encouragement, and godly counsels were the answers of this kind father. Those were indeed happy hours that passed among us. It reminds me of the sweet and agreeable conversation between our Lord and His disciples on their journey to Emmaus. Open, kind and condescending, we could approach him with all the freedom and tenderness of children and unbosom our minds to him, never forgetting at the same time the deference due to him as our superior.

The following account of the welcome given to Bishop Crowther and the Rev. J. C. Taylor, when visiting Otta, is from the pen of the latter:—

As we approached Otta the converts met us by the way, men and women saluted the Bishop so heartily, and no less so, their faithful pastor, the Rev. J. White. I have witnessed how much he is beloved by his simple-hearted converts. I was next introduced to them, and we greeted each other warmly. The converts escorted us to their town singing beautiful hymns with native tunes. Surely if the early Missionaries in Sierra Leone could report to the Christian world that the hills and dales resounded with the echo of the praises of God from the lips of their converts passing through Leicester Mountain and Regent-town, so we have abundant cause to be thankful to Almighty God, the God of Missions, who has so signally granted us the like privilege from the lips of our own converts and countrymen.

ABEOKUTA.

Rebuilding of the Ake church.

The church at Ake has, during the year, been destroyed by fire, and the Natives, aided liberally by friends in England who have watched with deep interest the spiritual progress of Abeokuta, have been enabled to rebuild it, without expense to the Society. The Rev. H. Townsend has now completed thirty, and Mrs. Townsend twenty-six years Missionary service in West Africa. They are grateful for the health and strength which God has given. As many as 215 communicants received the sacrament of the Lord's Supper from Mr. Townsend at a recent and ordinary administration of that Sacrament.

Large attendance at the Lord's Supper.

The state and prospects of the Ake Christian community are thus sketched by the Rev. H. Townsend:—

Collections and contributions for our church matters here will be considerable. I cannot say how much, for I have received only a part, promised, however, from people living in Abeokuta belonging to the Ake congregation. I believe over 60*l.* were promised, of which I have received about the half. Our fixed weekly payments fall short, but the people have contributed much in personal labour.

The attendance on the Lord's Supper on the last two occasions has been very promising: the last time the largest number were present that I remember to have seen here: there were 215: the time before they numbered 197.

Zeal of a communicant.

One of our communicants has built, at his own cost, a place of worship in his farm village, and will conduct a Sunday school there himself: he obtained a few alphabet sheets from me to commence with. One of my Scripture Readers has built a small place of worship close to his own house. I offered him money towards the expense of it, but he did it with the help of the Christians in his class. This same individual contributed 2*l.* towards the restoration of the church.

Church extension.

I intend, and Mr. Wood fully agrees with me in it, and will carry on what I shall not be able to complete, to erect small places of worship as Chapels-of-Ease. I took advantage of the elevation of a Sierra-Leone man to a position of high rank in this neighbourhood, to get a piece of land for a Chapel near his house, for his family all attend church, and they and others form the nucleus of a new congregation. We believe the Ake congregation is as large as can be well managed, and that our Lord's work will be better advanced by seeking to increase the number of congregations rather than the number of attendants at Ake.

We think that a Native should be ordained deacon, to act as Curate in charge of this station, and we are fully prepared to recommend my catechist and schoolmaster for that office.

Three-fourths of a congregation communicants

After having spent three months at Igbein, the Rev. J. A. Maser took charge of the Ikija Church, Abeokuta. Towards the close of the year an unknown hand set fire to this church, but the progress of the Mission work, as in the case of the destruction of the Ake Church earlier in the year, has been little impeded. The schools have been well attended. The number of adult Christians is 120, of whom 90 are communicants. Several have, in the past year, died, trusting in simple faith to the Redeemer.

The position and progress of the work at Igbein are indicated by 241 communicants and 62 candidates for baptism. In the Training Institution there are 16 students. The Rev. W. Allen, Native Pastor of the congregation, admitted to baptism, on the 30th December last, 13 adults, who had long been under Christian instruction, and 14 children, who were brought from farms occupied by converts from heathenism.

The small congregation at Owu has been under the charge of the Native Catechist, Mr. J. King. There are 62 baptized adults, of whom 46 are communicants, and the day school contains 37 children. The repair of the church being necessary, the little Christian community contributed liberally to that object.

Out-Station of Oshielle.

The conversions from heathenism have not been numerous, but an increased spirituality has been shown in the Christian congregation, the members of which have spontaneously undertaken the repair of their church. The Native Minister, the Rev. W. Moore, alludes to these features of the work:—

Progress in things spiritual and temporal.

Although I have no large conversions from among the heathen idolaters to report, yet I am thankful to say that I have nothing to mention with regret in regard to the Lord's work in this station. Every thing inspires encouragement for the future. Our converts are gaining inward and spiritual life. Their regular attendance on the means of grace, and the devotional spirit which they manifested during the hours of Divine service throughout the year, are sure signs of it; and they have given proofs of their entire reliance on Him who is both the Maker and the Saviour of the world, by repairing to Him always in prayer, both public and private, in every difficult matter, and by calling upon Him in every time of trouble as the only refuge and friend. And they are feeling more and more that man ought to seek for every thing from the all-sufficient God by faith and prayer, as an indigent, dependent, and unworthy creature. They also give proof that they are alive to their duty as Christians to do what they can in their Master's name. I must mention the following. During the past rainy season, our devotion was always interrupted whenever there happened to be showers during the hours of Divine service, because of the leaking of the house. Without a word from me, when a fit season came round the people of themselves turned their attention to it, and last week they set to work at it gratuitously, and, after seven days' hard work, the old thatch disappeared, and the church found itself under a new thatch. The pecuniary requirement for the work was supplied out of the fund raised by their weekly subscriptions for religious purposes. Some years back, when a similar work was needed to be done, it cost me a good deal of talk before they conceived it to be their bounden duty to give their own place of worship a new thatch; but on this occasion it caused me, as I said before, not a single word. Knowing it now to be their duty, they waited not to be told; for which I was thankful and took courage, feeling sure that, by the influence of the third person in the ever-blessed Triune God, they will thus abound more and more in the works of the Lord, till they shall be able to stand alone and act for themselves, and leave their foreign Christian friends free to carry the glorious and everlasting Gospel to regions beyond.

It is a matter of thankfulness to the God of Missions that we are not remaining stationary, but progressing, though but slowly, as the Lord willeth, to deal with His work during the year. There are two individuals who have renounced the devil's worship for the worship of the Redeemer of our fallen race, and six young men from among our congregation have offered themselves, during the year, as candidates for baptism. I could have baptized about one dozen individuals during the year, if to have a large number of baptized persons was our only motive; but to save souls being the main object in view, I chose rather to make them wait until they had been thoroughly instructed in the faith.

Six young men offer themselves for baptism.

IBADAN.

During the Rev. D. Hinderer's temporary stay in England the Rev. J. Smith has been in charge of this station. He speaks favourably of the present condition of the Mission, notwithstanding the disturbing influences of local wars. An advance has even been made, as is indicated by an extract from Mr. Smith's annual letter :—

The duties of the three stations have been regularly kept on by two schoolmasters, a Christian visitor and myself in Ikudeti; by Mr. Allen alone at Oke Ogunpa; and by a schoolmaster and Christian visitor in Aremo. At the last of these mentioned, which is the first in point of numbers, we have a congregation of 135. Of these, 80 are baptized and 40 are communicants. Within the period under review, there have been 22 accessions from the heathen. At Ikudeti there are 120—baptized 91, and 36 communicants. During the year, 21 have been induced to renounce heathenism and embrace Christianity. In Ogunpa there has been no little pains-taking, and much diligent labour has been bestowed; but we are not yet permitted, for some wise purpose, to see that amount of visible result as at the other two stations.

Steady extension of the Mission.

Accessions from heathenism.

The Out-stations.

At the out-stations the work has been more directly affected by the disturbed state of the country. Concerning Ilesha, Mr. Smith writes :—

Mr. Vincent, the Society's agent in Ilesha, has been placed under trying circumstances during the year, but has kept at his post, doing his work in the face of difficulties. From February to October we heard nothing of him, all the roads being closed against us by war, and all communications cut off. On the 27th of October Mrs. Vincent came in, with two of their youngest children, having come by a long circuitous route to avoid falling into the hands of the war parties. The report Mr. Vincent sent in shows a gradual decrease in his congregation from the beginning of the war. First the attendance began to be unsteady, and then a falling away. The number had come down from seventy to about a dozen. Twenty-three pounds have been sent to me to erect a church there, contributed by Ilesha people in Badagry and Lagos.

The method adopted for making known the Gospel to the heathen is also noticed by Mr. Smith:—

Systematic itinerating preaching.

Our work amongst the heathen has been systematically carried on, by means of street preaching and house to house visitation. Efforts have also been made by itinerating journeys to the farm hamlets without the city, to bring the claims of the Gospel before the masses of the people, and to induce them to embrace the offers of mercy and salvation which it makes. In the present state of the Mission I look upon this as a most important part of our work, and much of our attention and energies have been directed to it. We rejoice that, at all the stations, some amount of success has been vouchsafed to our labours, and that a considerable number of inquirers have been gathered in, who we trust are an earnest of an abundant harvest of souls to be reaped in due season.

In the essential branch of open-air preaching I have been ably assisted by four Native helpers. I have gone with one and another of them into the different districts, three, four or five times in the week, as circumstances would allow, to proclaim to the multitudes the everlasting Gospel. We have frequently met with large and attentive congregations, and sometimes with scornful opposition, but for the most part objections and inquiries have been made with respectful civility.

NIGER MISSION.

Onitsha, 1857; Gbebe, 1857; Akassa, 1861; Idda, 1865; Lokoja, 1865; Bonny, 1866.

Conducted by Native Teachers, under the superintendence of the Right Rev. Bishop Crowther.

General view of the Mission.

THE events in the Niger Mission remind us of the time when Missionary Bishops visited and exhorted heathen Monarchs. At Bonny a heathen King has recently died, after a remarkable career. He visited London in 1856, and his visit produced a desire for Missionaries to Bonny. He expressed this desire by letter to the Bishop of London in 1863. The letter was placed in the hands of Bishop Crowther, who repaired to Bonny in the following year, and laid the foundation of a Mission, the late King giving both pecuniary aid and favouring influence.

A Heathen King's desire for Missionaries.

In July the Bishop ascended the Niger. Arrived at Onitsha, he was joined by one of his Clergy, the Rev. J. C. Taylor, on whose ministry Kings and Chiefs attend. Nearly 800 tons of oil were there ready for transmission, and this legitimate trade is abolishing the horrible slave traffic. Hither two messengers of a heathen King recently came in search of a human victim to be sacrificed at the obsequies of a dead chief. They expressed to the Missionary their regret at not finding a victim. "Do you not find one in Onitsha?" was the question of the Missionary. "No." "Why so?" "Because Onitsha fears God too much, and no one is willing to sell a man or woman to be slain for the dead."

Effect of navigation of the Niger on the slave trade.

At Lokoja, the junction of the Niger and Tshadda, the Clergy, Catechists, and Congregation were assembled to hear Bishop Crowther's Charge. The difficulties and disappointments of the past were reviewed, the obstacles to Missionary work, whether arising from the absence of a written language, from the existence of a debasing polygamy, from the ignorance of cruel heathenism, or from the fanaticism of deluded Mohammedanism, were clearly and forcibly described, and the Bishop exhorted them, amid all these potent and adverse influences, to preach Christ crucified as the power of God unto salvation.

Bishop Crowther's Charge.

Thus changed in things spiritual were the banks of the Niger. Nor less the change in things temporal. The African Minister of Onitsha exclaimed, when viewing Lokoja, "Three years ago it was overgrown with high grass; there was no sign of life, nothing but uncultivated land lying waste. Now all is life, the Native merchants and brokers going from street to street, trading in articles of British manufacture."

Change at Lokoja in a few years.

Visit to the camp of a heathen King.

At Idda the Bishop found a request from the King, then fifty miles in the interior, that he would visit his camp. The journey was undertaken. The Bishop was received with all the display of Kings barbaric. The King expressed his desire for Missionaries. Preparations for Divine Service were made in the camp. After performing some idolatrous ceremonies the King listened while the Bishop, in this heathen camp, preached Christ, and proclaimed that "there is none other name given under heaven whereby we must be saved."

Bishop Crowther's Annual Letter to the Archbishop of Canterbury.

A succinct account of the different branches of the Niger Mission, of the events of the year, and of episcopal visits to Mission stations or Native Kings, is furnished by Bishop Crowther in his Annual Letter to the Archbishop of Canterbury, and is given without abridgement:—

I have postponed my annual letter to this time, that I may be able to report the state of each station under my visitation, from personal knowledge and in due order.

From the relative situation of the stations to each other, it takes several months to get to them all before a condensed report can be made of them in one letter.

The stations may be classed into three divisions:—

(1) The Bonny Mission.
(2) The Upper Stations on the Niger.
(3) The Otta district of the Yoruba Mission.

1. The Bonny Mission being the first visited about the commencement of the year, I shall report of it first in the order of time.

When I visited this Mission in 1865, I could only get up a temporary schoolroom, wherein the children received their lessons daily, and the Native teachers held Divine Service every Lord's-day. Thus the poor superstitious inhabitants have been gradually brought acquainted with the principles of Christianity, which they only had knowledge of, through mere professors of Christianity, as the religion of the white men only, with which they had nothing to do. During my visit this year, which occupied three months, I was enabled to get up a more substantial mud-wall chapel in the place of the temporary school-room, and also a dwelling house; and in opening the school chapel for public service and school, on the 29th April, King Pepple and several of his chiefs were present, with their attendants, together with the schoolchildren, as well as a few educated young men, traders from Sierra Leone and Fernando Po, and some Europeans, supercargoes and captains, who seemed to take a lively interest in our proceedings, which were pregnant with promise of future good results. A beginning being thus made, we must patiently wait for the blessed influences from above as to the benefits which are to follow. The day school now has fifty-three children, boys and girls.

I must here acknowledge with thankfulness the encouraging aid I have received from the venerable Christian Knowledge Society, of a grant of 200*l.*, which enabled me so very readily to meet the promised half share, on my part, of the expenses of getting up the Mission in so short a time.

2. The Upper Stations on the Niger.—Having returned from Bonny in May, I held myself in readiness, and embraced the opportunity of the "Thomas Bazley's" ascent up the Niger, in July, to visit the stations. We have had the misfortune to suffer the loss of one of our oldest stations, Gbebe, through political contentions. Two rival brothers, fighting for the kingship of the place, destroyed it, in which our Mission premises shared the calamity with the inhabitants. Most providentially, two new stations had been taken up last year, namely, Lokoja, at the Confluence, and Idda, the capital of Igara, the seat of government, forty miles below Lokoja. Each of these places is superintended by a Native Missionary. These two places have become retreats for our Native Teachers and Christian converts from Gbebe.

Notwithstanding these disasters to one of our stations, which cannot but in a great measure disturb the steadiness of the progress of our Missionary work, yet I am thankful to say that we have received every encouragement from the Native authorities to prosecute our work among them without apprehension; and to confirm this, the Atta (King) of Igara, who was absent from Idda on my arrival there, he being in the hilly interior parts of his dominions to quiet disturbances, sent a messenger, expressing his earnest wish to see me. Being accompanied by my fellow Missionary labourer, the Rev. J. C. Taylor, of Onitsha, we went to answer his call, fifty-two miles inland eastward of Idda, when, before his courtiers, the Atta publicly encouraged us not to be disturbed by the present unsettled state of the country, but to go on with our Missionary work, which he firmly believed would do good to his people and country. Obi Akazna, King of Onitsha, gave the like encouragement, as well as other inferior chiefs. At both Idda and Lokoja temporary school chapels have been put up, where congregations are being collected and day schools introduced for the education of the young. Two out-stations have been taken up in the outskirts of the old station at Onitsha, to facilitate easier access to the scattered population in those parts of the town.

Encouragement given by Heathen Kings to Missionaries.

Mohammedans and Heathen listen to the Gospel.

Our services are attended at Onitsha and Idda by both chiefs and their heathen subjects, and at Lokoja both by heathen and Mohammedans, all of whom sit in common in these places of worship, to hear the Gospel of Christ which bringeth salvation to all men.

This being my third episcopal visitation to the Mission, I have thought it time to get up a meeting of the members of the Mission, consisting of those Native Clergymen and as many of the lay agents as could be conveniently brought together, that I might give them an address in the form of a Charge, which was done on the 30th July last at Lokoja station, at the confluence of the Kwara' and Tshadda Rivers, a copy of which I have sent to the Committee of the Church Missionary Society, Salisbury Square, for their information.* By thus digesting such parts of the Holy Scriptures bearing on the subject of the working of Christian Missionaries among the heathen, we may be better guided and more encouraged in our efforts to introduce Christianity among them.

Visit to Otta.

3. Returning from the upper stations about the end of September, on the 25th October I visited the Otta district of the Yoruba Mission. Here the Rev. J. White has been labouring for the last twelve years. Otta has been a hard soil for many years, but lately the fallow-ground has been broken up and softened by the gentle showers of God's Holy Spirit, and the seed appears to be sinking beneath the hitherto hard and crusty clods. On my visit to this place, five adults and an infant were baptized on Sunday, the 28th October. I confirmed eleven persons, and I am thankful to add that thirty-two persons met to commemorate the dying love of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ, who has done so much for us. The converts, though few in number, yet are alive to a sense of their duty as Christians, by endeavouring to induce their fellow-countrymen to give themselves to Christ as their only hope of salvation. They are also making efforts to improve their place of worship by more substantial and durable materials. The work here is now encouraging.

Igbessa, a town about fifteen miles south of Otta, has only been recently taken up. The first thing was to gain the confidence of the chiefs and people that we are not connected with the Lagos Government, nor have we any remote intention of betraying their town into its power. Such suspicion is a very great drawback to Missionaries being admitted into the towns and tribes in the neighbourhood of Lagos. However, we have been favourably received, and are permitted to put up a small building of our own on a small piece of land given us to begin with, after which they hope we shall be able to obtain a larger ground for a permanent station.

Onitsha.

This Mission Station has been occupied by the Rev. J. C. Taylor, until his temporary removal towards the close of last year to Sierra Leone, for restoration of health. The spiritual and temporal welfare of the African race has been advanced by the labours of the Missionary. The power of superstition has been decreased by the knowledge of the Gospel. From Mr. Taylor's journal some proofs of the altered condition of the people are to be gathered:—

Welcome news! Christianity is riding in her triumphal chair. The two men from Assaba, who were here on the 3rd inst., came to the compound on their way homeward. I asked them to return my compliments to King Igweri, and tell him that I deeply sympathize with him in the loss of one of his chiefs. They told me that they were at church on Sunday, and were fully satisfied with what they have heard. After a long pause, one of them gave the following statements—"We are sorry to go away without a human being to bury the dead chief at Assaba." "Don't you find one at at Onitsha?" "No." "Why so?" "Onitsha fears God too much, and no man is willing to sell a man or woman to be slain for the dead." He prolonged the sentence with much emphasis, and, smiting his breast, broke forth with this expression, "Onitsha, Onitsha, Onitsha is changed: formerly here we had access to any number of victims; now, none, none." If there be any fact worthy of notice in the annals of a Mission like this, where gross darkness covers the people, this is one, and ought to be written in letters of gold.

I can safely calculate, without exaggeration, that there are 700 to 800 tons of oil now at Onitsha. The oil-trading has fairly started here: it will serve as an impetus in time to come for the good of the country in general, and will, I hope, give a death-blow to slavery and its abominable rites.

The translation of the New Testament into the Ibo language has been completed by the Rev. J. C. Taylor, who anticipates great assistance in his Missionary labours from its circulation. The edition will, after revision, be printed in England by the British and Foreign Bible Society.

Lokoja.

Having joined Bishop Crowther at Onitsha, the Rev. J. C. Taylor proceeded with him to Lokoja. He thus sketches the service in the sanctuary and the state of the country:—

Divine Service Lokoja.

The chapel was tastefully arranged with seats, crimson velvet covering a table. Mr. Edwards, agent of the West-African Company, exerted himself very satisfactorily in the eyes of the heathen and Mohammedans, taking the lead in the singing by playing his harmonium. W. M. Fell, Esq., the acting Consul, was present, and there was a perfect cessation from work in landing cargoes, and the sanctity of the Sabbath was duly observed. The Bishop had made the following arrangements:—I read the prayers, the Rev. A. G. Coomber the first lesson, and the Rev. T. C. John the second lesson, in Haussa, and the Bishop preached from Luke iv. 18, 19, to an attentive congregation, through an interpreter, Mr. Jacob Newland, the Scripture-reader. If I were to stop thus far, without saying any thing more, it would be unpardonable in me. Three years ago I visited Lokoja, and my attention was particularly drawn to Mount Sterling. It was then overgrown with high grass: there was no sign of life, nothing but dull-looking, uncultivated land lying waste. Since then we have taken it up as a station: we have an humble dwelling-house and a chapel. Mr. Fell has laid out good streets, to his credit. All is life now, the native merchants and brokers going from street to street, trading in articles of British manufacture.

The main features of Missionary work at Lokoja are thus presented by the Rev. T. C. John, the Missionary, who was formerly a student in the Fourah-Bay Institution, and who, being of the Haussa tribe, removed to Lokoja with his aged mother, a convert from Mohammedanism to Christianity:—

Former student of Fourah Bay, of the Haussa tribe, becomes the Missionary at Lokoja.

I write from Lokoja, a station newly taken up by Bishop Crowther, at the confluence of the rivers Niger and Tshadda. It was at the recommendation of the Rev. J. F. Schön, Chaplain of Melville Hospital, Chatham, who has for many years been labouring for the benefit of the Haussa people (to which tribe of people my parents belong), that I was by Bishop Crowther sent up to this station in August last year. I had, previously to this, had one or two communications with the Chaplain while I had been a Catechist of the Society in Sierra Leone, under the superintendence of the late Rev. E. Jones, expressing my congratulation and gratitude for his incessant labours for the conversion of a people reputed as being incapable of being converted to the Christian religion, only because they are either Mohammedans themselves, or under the influence of Mohammed. But, after much prayer, and nothing moved by this sweeping assertion, I was happy to give up myself as a Missionary to my own countrymen, bringing my mother with me in her old age, who has been for many years converted from Mohammedanism to Christianity. I came here in faith, knowing that the Word of God shall not return unto Him void; but it shall accomplish that which He pleases, and it shall prosper in the thing whereunto He doth send it.

I met in this place last year a mixed people, consisting of Mohammedans, Pagans, and a few Christian emigrants from Sierra Leone and Lagos, who, during the lifetime of the late Dr. Baikie,

Her Britannic Majesty's Consul, and founder of the village, used to assemble themselves together for prayer and the reading of the Word of God at the Consulate on Sundays, as well as every morning and evening of the other days in the week. This practice had been, to their credit, kept up by his successors, as I was told on my arrival: hence the Christians were enabled to keep up the light of Christian knowledge imparted to them while at Sierra Leone or Lagos. And this contributed much to the facility with which I had been able to enter upon my ministerial duties on my arrival. I commenced a day and Sabbath school, in September last year, with fifteen scholars in both at first; but, since the destruction of Gbebe by war in February this year, and the consequent removal of the Agents, schoolchildren, and some of the Native converts to this place, the number of scholars has been increased, and the congregation at church is also proportionately increased.

Mixed community at Lokoja.

The Haussa and Nupe languages are the prevailing mediums of communication, and both are employed in imparting instruction both at school and at church; but the Haussa is the easier and more practical language of the two. The heathen population make use of the Igbira language or dialect; but in my daily intercourse with the people of that dialect, I have been able to converse freely with them in Haussa, which fact should seem to give the preference to the Haussa in this as well as almost every other locality in Central Africa. The Rev. J. F. Schön has, by his continual labours in the translation of the Scriptures and other books in his language, rendered great service. I have found his translations very useful, and easily understood by the Natives. Not only they, but even Europeans in their yearly visits to the station, are very fond of the Haussa, and speak highly of it.

Languages spoken at Lokoja.

The study of the Arabic is most necessary to the teacher among Mohammedan nations, as most Haussa words are borrowed from the Arabic; and this I have long since discovered while studying the Arabic at the Fourah-Bay College, Sierra Leone: and from the little knowledge of the Haussa that I then had, I could, on several occasions, leave off turning over the Arabic Lexicon for the meaning of some words when I knew that they were the same in Haussa.

I take this opportunity of requesting the Committee to grant a copy of the Korán and Arabic Lexicon, and a translation of the Korán, to aid me in conversing with the Mohammedans, not in any controversial manner, but by way of assuring them that we are not ignorant of their system of religion.

Gbebe.

Fears were entertained last year as to the safety of this station. Fierce war between Akaiya and his brother Abaje has reduced the place to a ruin. Bishop Crowther, when at the Confluence in the summer, obtained an interview with Akaiya, of which an account is appended:—

We again left Lokoja for Gbebe to have an interview with Akaiya, if haply we might induce him to make peace with his brother, and restore to the scattered inhabitants an opportunity of returning to their deserted houses which had been destroyed. Akaiya is of a more sedate appearance than his brother Abaje. He spoke most feelingly, and deeply regretted that things had turned out so by his brother. He had no wish to destroy any place, nor did he aspire to the regency of Gbebe. The king had conferred this honour upon him, and he had undergone the process of boring his ears, and accepted the nomination of the regency of Gbebe, and he could not on any account give it up. Moreover, he had sent round to recall the dispersed inhabitants to return. The Bishop then brought in the sad state of things which the Society was called to suffer innocently. He threw the whole blame upon his opponents, and mentioned the irreparable losses he himself had sustained. As regards the Mission House and premises, he promised to rebuild them at his expense, so soon as the country is at peace.

Bonny.

Efforts made to sustain the falling cause of heathenism.

Referring to his previous account of the Mission here, Bishop Crowther describes the efforts made to sustain the falling cause of heathenism. The cruel rites of the heathen temple stand strikingly in contrast with the services connected with the school chapel. In this building sixty-one children were examined on the occasion of Bishop Crowther's visit. Hither three heathen chiefs regularly repair for instruction by the Schoolmaster in reading and writing. For the purposes of the Mission, a bell has, at considerable expense, been erected by a heathen chief, which bears date 1824, and was in that year cast in England for the King of Bonny. At the Nun Station, under a Native Agent, there is a congregation of twenty persons, and a small school attended by several sons of chiefs. The efforts to maintain the position of heathenism are stated by Bishop Crowther:—

In my last year's report I mentioned the dilapidated state of the Juju, that is, sacred temple of skulls, here; that the platform holding the bones of devoured human victims of war had fallen down, and the bones scattered, and no apparent care for their repair was manifested, which called out the general remark from the public, "New things were taking place: it was never so before." So it was. Dagon appeared to have been falling down before the ark of the Lord, but "they took Dagon and set him in his place again." They have not only set Dagon in its place again, but strengthened it, that it be not so soon brought again into an humble position. Efforts have been made by the votaries of the gods, and it seems to bid defiance to Christianity, as if they would say, Our religion is the master of the soil: it can plead its antiquity from ancient kings its patrons, and old mysterious priests its worshippers and supporters: now we have put the intruder, the new religion, in the shade. It would certainly have been very faithless and cowardly on their part, without a struggle so at once to give way submissively to the newly imported religion from a strange country. But to proceed. The Juju house of skulls has been strongly rebuilt, and the skulls are being replaced: the roof now rests upon iron staunchions, or pillars, instead of wood, which soon decays; the roof is covered with galvanized corrugated iron sheets; and the body of the temple is covered with plain sheets of the same material, instead of bamboo. Now, as to durability, it looks down with contempt on our temporary schoolroom close by. The fallen platform, the receptacle of the bones and limbs of human victims has been newly erected, and the scattered bones picked up and replaced on it; and to show that they were not beaten, an additional platform was erected, on both which are to be seen fresh bones of three human victims newly taken as prisoners of war, killed and devoured. These victims were, a man, a woman and her child, relatives of their opponents, caught from the opposite side of the river. Having been thus caught, killed, and eaten, their bones and skulls were added to the trophies in the temple. Our Native agents were eye-witnesses of these atrocities only a few months ago. The people made no disguise of the acts: they rather gloried in the deeds. A priestess was seen bearing one of the gory skulls in her hands to be prepared and deposited in its place, while the body was being prepared as an animal sacrifice among the members. That our agents were not only shocked, but frightened at the sight, may easily be concluded, but they could not interfere, for one may sooner disturb a lion at its prey. Several times I passed by the temple, and these fresh limbs caught my eyes. My heart was stirred to appeal to Him who has the power to turn the lion to a lamb, and the vulture to a dove. In the words of the Psalmist, "Have respect unto the covenant, for the dark places of the earth are full of the habitations of cruelty." Surely God will hear our prayer.

MEDITERRANEAN MISSION.

(Commenced at Malta in 1815.)

I. Turkish Mission.—II. Greece.—III. Asia Minor.—IV. Palestine.

CONSTANTINOPLE.

First occupied, 1819; relinquished, 1821; re-occupied, 1858.

European Mission Establishment:

Rev. Sigismund Wilhelm Koelle, Ph. D. (m), to West Africa, 1847; to Palestine, 1856; to Constantinople, 1862.
Rev. Robert H. Weakley (m), 1860.

ANOTHER year has passed, and the Mission at Constantinople is still without those evident signs of spiritual success which cheer the Missionary amid his labours. Mohammedans appear to shrink from intercourse with Christian Missionaries, in consequence of the persecution in 1864; and although there is reason to believe that many are dissatisfied with Islamism, yet the fear of temporal loss prevents them from manifesting any inclination towards Christianity. Literary treatises, directly or indirectly hostile to the Gospel, are in course of publication by Mohammedans; but in these literary productions, the Turkish mind seems to drift away from Islamism, while professing to uphold the national faith as bound up with the national honour. The Rev. R. H. Weakley furnishes in his correspondence some incidents and characteristics of the Missionary work during the year:—

Hostility of Turkish authorities.

With all the discouragement experienced hitherto, there is still large ground for hope. The circulation of the Scriptures among the Turks still continues, in diminished numbers, indeed, since our troubles, but amounting to between 500 and 600 copies in the year. And there can be no doubt that the many copies of Mizan-ul-Haqq which have gone forth have produced a spirit of inquiry which will not soon die out. A remark made by one of the Ulema, a young man of great reputation for Mohammedan learning, is worth recording here. Our Agent was in a Persian tea-shop, in the old city, where a number of Ulema were sitting, when some of those present began to speak against the Protestants. The young man in question replied, "Whatever you may say, these men have a great deal of truth on their side. Two or three years ago I wrote a book in refutation of the Mizan-ul-Haqq: at that time there were some difficulties in the way of its publication. I have since withdrawn it altogether, for there is much in the Mizan against which my conscience will allow me to say nothing."

My time during the year now passed has, with the exception of that occupied by the spring journey, been fully employed in literary work. The translation of the Mizan-ul-Haqq has been completed, a large portion of the Prayer-book has been re-translated, and the Morning Service revised for the first time. Some little assistance has been given to my colleague in the Turkish dress of his "Life of Christ," which will, we hope, be soon ready for the printer; and our joint attention has been given to the new version of the Psalms, which is in progress, in the way of examination and suggestion.

The Sunday service has been continued regularly throughout the year. The attendance has been irregular, and the numbers very few.

Towards the close of the year a few more visitors than usual came to the rooms, with whom we have had interesting discussions. Two of these seem to be inquirers. Their position is, "We are dissatisfied with Islam, both as to its history and as to its effect. We see more with you that commends itself to our consciences than with any others, but we have difficulties which we ask you to solve." At the present moment they are studying some books with which we have provided them.

We are living in critical times, when to make any stir would be far from wise; but the crisis cannot last long, and it is with the hope and belief that soon a wide door and effectual will be opened for the Gospel in this long locked-up country that I look upon the prospect before us. In any case I hope in the spring to join Mr. Wolters in one more endeavour to scatter the written Word in those parts of Asia Minor where the Missionary has never been, so that if darkness and tribulation come still more heavily upon the people, that Word may be present to point them to Him who bids the weary and heavy-laden to come to Him, that He may give them rest.

The opposition of the Turkish Government to Missionary work has induced the Missionaries to confine themselves for the most part to the study of the language and the circulation of such publications in favour of the Gospel as the authorities would permit. Treatises on the comparative claims of Christianity and Islamism have been issued in the English and French languages. The circulation of the Holy Scriptures has not been equal to that which existed previous to the recent persecutions, and the attendance at the Sunday services, notwithstanding the efforts of the Turkish Catechist to bring his countrymen under the instruction of the Missionaries, has been small. Dr. Koelle gives in detail a somewhat remarkable incident in connexion with one of the treatises to which reference has been made:—

Assistance from an unexpected quarter.

We lately made the acquaintance of a young Turkish gentleman, who speaks French quite fluently. Mr. Weakley then suggested that it would be desirable to make use of him to translate a pamphlet from French into Turkish, not for immediate publication in that language, but simply to have it in readiness when, at any future time, such a publication should become practicable and seasonable. The young man was willing to undertake the work; but before we accepted his offer, we first wished him to translate a few sections by way of specimens. He took the French pamphlet with him, promising to bring the specimens in a few days. On the evening of the same day he went to the residence of a high Government official, with whom he is acquainted, to be his guest for a day or two. When we met him again, he narrated to us the following:—"By some oversight I had kept the pamphlet under my arm when in his presence, and he soon asked, 'What book have you there? come, let me see.' It being handed over to him, he read in it for some time, smiling as he went on, and then asked, 'How did this book come into Stamboul? where did you get it?' Answer: 'I received it from a Turk.' 'And where did he get it from?' 'From London.' And taking up the specimen of translation—'Here, I see you are going to translate it: what do you translate it for?' 'I translate it as an exercise, so as to understand it better.' He then suggested some improvements in the translation, and returned the book to me without any further observation."

This was assistance from a most unexpected quarter, and we advised the young gentleman by all means to adopt the proposed improvements.

The hostility manifested towards converts to Christianity may be seen from another extract from Dr. Koelle's annual letter:—

Individual opposition to Missionary work.

Last summer our Catechist, a converted Turk, met with such intolerance from a fellow Turk, as well shows that they who are "born after the flesh" are still prone to persecute them that are "born after the Spirit." The Catechist rented a house in a Christian quarter from a respectable Turk, who at first regarded him merely as a Christian, without being aware of his having formerly been a Mohammedan. They had at that time several religious conversations, in which the landlord was so pleased with his new tenant that he asked him to visit him in his house, and expressed the hope that they would always remain good friends. But soon it came to the landlord's ear that his tenant had quitted Islamism in favour of Christianity, which change the tenant, on being interrogated, frankly avowed; and from that moment the kindly feelings gave way to very opposite ones. This case is noteworthy, as proving that a Mohammedan may be liberal enough to enter upon friendly relations with Christians, and yet at the same time so illiberal as violently to oppose Missionary work, and to persecute converts.

The character of Mission work in the villages near Constantinople is also shown:—

I have visited the Mohammedan villages in the neighbourhood of Constantinople, accompanied by our Catechist; and we found the people sufficiently disposed to enter into conversation with us, to make us wish to resume these visits as soon as circumstances permit. These villages are mostly very small—mere hamlets, distant and far between—and their inhabitants in a rustic and most primitive state. They seem to be very sociable, and we have hardly come to a hamlet without finding a number of them whiling away their time over coffee and tobacco in front of the coffee-shop. The latter is the general meeting-place and place of discussion, and is mostly in close proximity to the mosque. There we halt, and are almost sure to find the Imam among the members. It has always been our plan to turn the conversation, as soon as possible, upon the Gospel; and as their reply to our question whether they had ever read or seen it is generally, "No," we take out a copy of the New Testament, and invite them to examine it. Then it becomes at once manifest that very few, and sometimes even not one in the whole village except the Imam, have any pretence to scholastic accomplishments. In most cases, the Imam himself, after having taken the book, reads out aloud longer or shorter portions, even attempting to expound to his hearers as he proceeds. Then questions are asked about the meaning, or objections raised, and a general discussion ensues. The divinity of Christ and the Trinity always prove the great stumbling-block to them, because they are taught from childhood to regard these doctrines with abhorrence. But I must say that we met with far more civility from these rustic Moslems than I had expected.

Mission work in villages around Constantinople.

Greece.

SYRA.

(Commenced in 1830, while Greece was a part of the Turkish Empire.)

The Rev. F. A. Hildner, after nearly forty years' labour as a Missionary, has been enabled to continue without interruption the work of the girls' school, which contains 220 scholars. While the war in Candia has been injurious to other schools, Mr. Hildner has not been impeded in his good work of imparting the truths of the Gospel to those under his charge.

SMYRNA.

European Mission Establishment:

Rev. J. T. Wolters (m), to Persia, 1832; to Syra, 1837; to Smyrna, 1842.
Rev. T. F. Wolters, 1860.

Thirty-five years' labour at this place has now been completed by the Rev. J. T. Wolters, assisted during the last seven years by his son, the Rev. T. F. Wolters. The arbitrary proceedings of the Turkish Government three years ago restricts the Missionaries from public preaching to the Mohammedans, and the way of salvation can only be made known to individuals. The work among the Turks is not, therefore, encouraging. The Greek Service in the Mission Chapel has been maintained, but the attendants are few. The difficulties of the position, and the necessity for a continual remembrance of the spiritual character of the work, are thus described by Mr. Wolters, senior:—

The arbitrary proceedings of the Government in 1864 are still in remembrance. It requires a degree of sincere and deep conviction of the truth, and a measure of faith to confess it, which generally is not found, nor can it be expected in inquirers. Under Mohammedan rule, therefore, it appears to me, after an experience of more than thirty years, to be the Missionary's lot to go after individuals and to bring them into the fold of Christ. Often when I think on this subject, I am reminded of the beautiful words in the "form of ordering of priests," that as "messengers, watchmen, and stewards of the Lord" we are "to seek for Christ's sheep that are dispersed abroad, and for His children who are in the midst of this naughty world, that they may be saved through Christ for ever." These words have comforted me many years ago, and do still comfort me. And however I may have come short in the fulfilment of the duties which so "high a dignity," and so "weighty an office and charge" have devolved upon me, yet I am persuaded that my work of patience during so many years has not been, and will not be in vain in the Lord. It is this conviction which has cheered me in many an hour of toil and labour and despondency, and which even now cheers me, after a Missionary life of thirty-five years, and makes me willing to hold out to the end; trying though it be to labour so long without much apparent fruit. To produce such fruit, and to ripen it for the harvest, is the Holy Spirit's work. Our work is to till the ground and to sow the precious seed, remembering the comfortable words of our blessed Saviour, John iv. 35—38. And the ground has been tilled and prepared and many a seed been sown, both here at Smyrna, and in the interior, by the living voice, and by the circulation of God's Holy Word, and religious books and tracts.

But although it is still the "day of small things," the circulation of the Scriptures and the removal of prejudices give promise of more extended operations:—

If the question be now asked, "What is at present the general aspect of the Asia Minor Mission?" my answer is, "It is still a day of small things." Our position is still that of the watchman who is asked, "Watchman, what of the night?" and the night is so long, the darkness so great. But we lift up our eyes to the hills from whence cometh our help, even unto the Lord, whose watchmen and stewards we are; and He does not leave us comfortless. From year to year there is more encouragement. Light is gradually breaking in upon these dark regions of the Seven Churches. Let me instance one or two encouragements in our work. (1.) There is an increasing desire for the Word of God among the Christians of Anatolia, and not only for the Scriptures, but also for books and tracts illustrative of the same. The number of Holy Scriptures, either whole or in part, circulated in our Mission during the past year, is 625 copies, and of religious books and tracts 1115 copies, in Turkish, Hebrew, Greek, Armenian, Greco and Armeno-Turkish, Bulgarian, English, French, Italian and German. (2) In former years Protestantism used to be considered something which is little, if at all, better than infidelity itself. This impression is being diminished from year to year, and the contrary impression is gaining ground, that it is the scriptural form of Christianity, having only the Word of God as its rule of faith and practice.

Signs of encouragement.

Cassaba.

At this out-station Mr. Montesanto has continued his labours with much diligence and zeal. The "truth as it is in Jesus" is constantly brought before those among whom he dwells, whether they be Turks, Christians or Jews.

In November last the Rev. T. F. Wolters again undertook a Missionary tour to Kulah and other places in the interior. Persons who had previously manifested a spirit of inquiry were visited, and small congregations of attentive hearers were in some places assembled; but ignorance and indifference characterized the mass of the people. The chief encouragement of the Missionary consisted in the readiness with which copies of Scripture were purchased.

JERUSALEM.

The present condition of Palestine induces the Rev. F. A. Klein to believe that Islamism is rapidly decaying, and that the great revolution, expected alike by divines and politicians, will facilitate the advance of true Christianity.

Protestantism appears especially to provoke the pride and fanaticism of the Turkish Government. Civil rights secured to Protestants by the Hatti Humayoun are refused, and hostility is generally manifested towards them. The Missionary work is, however, maintained. The chapel in Jerusalem is well attended. The pastoral visitation is effective, and the publication of Dr. Pfander's Mizan-ul-Haqq in Arabic will soon enable the Missionary to reach the minds of those who do not come within the circle of his personal influence.

Services and pastoral work at Jerusalem.

In order the more effectually to provide for the pastoral work in the city, and for the visitation of surrounding villages containing small communities of Christians, a Native Catechist has been appointed to assist the Rev. F. A. Klein. He has visited Ram-Allah, where are 18 Christian families, and a boys' school; Jifna, where are only 6 families, and a school maintained by the Bishop of Jerusalem; and Bir-Zet, where are 16 families and a school supported by the Arab community of Jerusalem. Great ignorance of Christianity exists, even among the nominally Protestant communities, but there is a readiness to listen to the declaration of the truths of the Gospel.

Visit to the camp of a Sheikh in the south of Palestine.

In consequence of the large number of patients in the hospital, Dr. Sandreczki's spiritual labours have been chiefly confined to Jerusalem. In the month of November, however, a visit was made to the tents of a powerful wandering tribe of Arabs in the south of Palestine, who are almost independent of the Turkish Government. During his nine days' absence from Jerusalem, Dr. Sandreczki became acquainted with their mode of life, and embraced such opportunities of preaching the Gospel as were afforded to him. The country visited, and the arrival at the Sheikh's camp, are described by Dr. Sandreczki :—

Here and there we met a shepherd with his long heavy gun, and only wondered on what his poor sheep and goats could possibly feed. They must now browse or crop the ligneous, seedy plants of the wilderness. We saw many caves, and our guides told us that hyenas, jackals, gazelles, wolves, eagles, kites and partridges were not unfrequent.

This, then, was the country where David, too, tended his father's flocks, where he encountered and slew the lion and the bear (no longer haunting these regions), and where solemn solitude taught him to lift up his heart to God, whose works are wonderful even here. Certainly, there is greatness in a wilderness or desert, and a pious heart is here no less drawn heavenwards, than where nature displays her most attractive charms.

We arrived at the foot of a high promontory-like mountain, and having crossed an intervening, saddle-backed ridge, we soon came to the summer-camp of Sheikh Ismâm Hamdân, some forty or fifty low black tents of goats' hair cloth, pitched along the sides of an oblong, on the opposite slope, or head of the Wady 'Aliyeh. When the Sheikh heard of our coming, he came to meet us outside the camp, mounted on a beautiful white mare, and when we were near each other, both he and we all alighted and exchanged salutations. The Sheikh is a young man still, perhaps thirty years old, not tall, but a chieftain in aspect from head to foot, with stern and intelligent features. He immediately assigned us a good place for our tent near the camp, and soon after left us to make our arrangements. As soon as all our tent-life chattels were put in order, we went to the camp to pay our visit to the Sheikh, who received us with all the politeness of an independent Arab, and conducted us to the seat of honour.

A summary of the message delivered to these wandering Arabs is given :—

I told them that, being sinners, as they all admitted, we must expect to be punished by and separated from a holy and just God, unless we find a Saviour; that this Saviour must be one of our race, and yet without sin; that He must, at the same time, be able to impart unto us a new spiritual nature. Hence that Saviour must also be more than a man, yea, he must be God. My companion, Mr. Müller, thought my touching upon the doctrine of the Trinity might prove repulsive, but experience has taught me better. Mohammedans, who believe in Christ as a prophet, and admit the truth of all His miracles, &c., must hear of Him as the true and only Saviour of mankind, through his human and divine nature. Hence the doctrine of the Trinity must form the essential part of our preaching.

The Gospel preached in the camp.

Copies of the whole Bible, or portions of Scripture, are distributed from time to time among those who are able and willing to read them. A diligent student of the Korán accepts with readiness a copy of St. Matthew's Gospel:—

The Gospel of St. Matthew is gladly received by a diligent student of the Korán.

The number of the curious soon increased. Among them was 'Aid-es-Sâlim, the Khaṭîb of the camp, a lame man with very pleasing features, who showed me his Korán, from which I read the Fatiha (the 1st Sura), and then opened my New Testament at the parable of the Sower, which he read pretty correctly (print is more difficult for them to read). After this I gave him the beginning of the 5th chapter of Matthew to read. He and all present listened to the explanation with apparently much interest; and the poor lame man, who, notwithstanding his lameness, must tend his flock himself, was very happy when I presented him with a vowelled copy of the Gospel according to St. Matthew, and urgently entreated me to send him from our camp a copy of the Old and New Testaments, which he promised to read diligently. Here I saw one of the few specimens of camp industry, viz. the weaving of goats' hair cloth by one of the women, in the middle of the area enclosed by the tents, without any loom, but a few sticks, and with beam and shuttle of the most primitive description.

NAZARETH.

Nazareth, as the market-place of the Bedouins, who possess the most fertile lands of Palestine, affords opportunities for bringing the truths of the Gospel into contact with the minds of these wild and roving tribes.

The establishment of a Hospital, under the control of the resident Missionary, has given access to some whose minds might not otherwise be reached by the messenger of Christ. A school at Shefamer must also be regarded as a movement in advance. The difficulties of the Missionary arise as well from the moribund Christianity of the Greek and Latin Churches as from the animated fanaticism of Islamism. The peculiar character of his sphere is thus illustrated by Mr. Zeller:—

Delay and difficulty consequent on building a spiritual church where systems of errors have existed.

The leaven of the truth is active, but it requires work to mix it among the whole mass, and it requires time till the fermentation takes place. This process is gradual, at times imperceptible, at times producing excitement, opposition, and confusion, like the rising dust if a long-neglected room is swept, and like the confusion and disorder caused by the pulling down of an old edifice, if on its site a better and more convenient structure is to be erected. When the Protestant church in Jerusalem was built, rubbish to the depth of forty to fifty feet had first to be removed before a safe foundation for the building could be laid. This was discouraging, not only to the builder, but also to the friends who contributed for the church. But this is unavoidable, if ancient sites are chosen for new structures. The same is the case with Missionary work in Palestine, a land full of so many clashing and opposing influences. Here we have it to do, not only with easily removable rubbish, but with the time-honoured structures of antiquity and the fortifications of Satan. The present generation of natives, Christians and Moslems, is but a poor and degraded remnant of those who, in former ages, went forth conquering over the world; yet they are firmly entrenched in the ruins of their ancient fortresses. The Jews have been humbled to the dust, yet with what tenacity are they clinging to their ancient rites! They cannot forget that they once were the chosen people.

In reference to the scriptural education of the young there is ground for encouragement:—

I have, however, the satisfaction to observe that, with the improvements in our arrangements and teaching, the esteem for the Protestant schools has grown, and the desire for knowledge has very remarkably risen. A proof of it is, that the Greek Sheikh sends his sons and girl, not to the Greek, but to the Protestant schools, and that a Bedouin chief (sixteen years old) left his black tents and attended the Protestant school for six months, when he was obliged to leave because his stay in Nazareth was no longer safe for him. Especially encouraging is the success of the school which the Bishop of Jerusalem opened at Shefamer with a former pupil of the Diocesan school, and superintended by Michael Kawar. In spite of all the opposition of the priests and nuns, and the establishment of a Latin school in an opposite house, there are forty-five boys attending, and among them twelve Moslems and some Druses. The zeal of the children for learning has communicated itself to the adults, so that several of them come to the school to read, or listen to the reading and to the explanation of the Word of God. Our schools in Reneh and Yafa continue to be a blessing to the inhabitants, especially as, regularly every Sunday, our catechists have services there, and explain the Word of God. A great deal more ought to be done for education, for without schools we cannot expect to prepare the Arabs for the reception of the Gospel. And should not the youth of Nazareth, where our Lord grew up in holiness, "increasing in wisdom and stature, and in favour with God and man," have a peculiar claim on the sympathy of our Christian friends?

Education in Mission schools sought by the people.

The number of scholars amounted at Nazareth to 48, at Reneh to 20, at Yafa to 18, at Shefamer to 45: together to 131 boys.

In the course of a journey to Cæsarea and Carmel, the Rev. J. Zeller found the people suffering intensely from the judgments of God upon the land. Three-fourths of the cattle had been destroyed by the plague, and the locusts had effected a similar destruction upon the vegetation. These visitations were recognised as Divine judgments, but the Protestant Missionary, by reason of the people's ignorance of the Word of God, could discern little true repentance among them. Murders were frequent, and Mohammedanism was fanatical. Cæsarea is thus depicted:—

> Cæsarea presents in Palestine an unequalled picture of desolation and solitude. The aspect of the ruins is the very reverse of the grand and picturesque, for the once splendid colonnade lies prostrate in the sea, and a number of fine marble and granite columns are half buried in the sand, or built up as the more modern substructures of the castle, which latter looks as if it had not been destroyed by war, but by an earthquake. The walls of the city and the buttresses of an ancient church are built of small stones, and have a modern look: all other remains of this famous city of Herod are buried in the sand, and overgrown with grass, thorns and thistles: even the Bedouins avoid coming into the ruins. Such is now the scene of St. Paul's protracted imprisonment.

The slopes of Carmel are ascended, and discussions on religious questions arise between Christian guests and their Moslem hosts:—

Visit to the slopes of Carmel and discussions on religious questions.

> We turned up the slopes of Carmel to the Moslem village of Aîn Haud. In an olive-grove at the foot of the village, with a fine view over the sea, we pitched our tent. The Sheikh of the place, an old acquaintance of mine, and other Moslems, came to greet us, but soon disappeared, with some mysterious hints to the servants that they were coming again. Not long afterwards we perceived a procession coming down the village, each man carrying a little Arabic straw mat (tabaka), with a number of flat loaves and a dish in the middle in his hands, and the Sheikhs, following in the rear, laid the banquet for us on the ground, formed of these different contributions, with a supply of bread which might have satisfied an army. After dinner our kind hosts remained with us till after midnight, and were delighted to communicate to us the whole store of their knowledge, from Adam down to Christ, and to the present time, with many citations from the Korán, and good naturedly accepting from us the necessary supplements and frequent corrections of their notions and views. Next morning, when we were about to start, a similar procession made their way to our olive-grove with the breakfast, to which half the village had contributed. Afterwards a long discussion took place between the Sheikhs and us about the signs of the second coming of Christ, for it is a general belief with Moslems, that after the appearance of the Mehdi and the Antichrist, Jesus will descend from heaven to the great mosque at Damascus, destroy the hosts of Antichrist near Tiberias, and then reign 1000 years over the whole world.

Returning to Nazareth, the Missionary surveys the field in which he is called to labour:—

When I stand on the hills of Nazareth looking around on those goodly mountains, the Lebanon, Tabor, the little Hermon, Gilboa, and Carmel, with the splendid plain to the south, and the beautiful sea to the west; when I think of the utter darkness covering this country, and of the deeds of iniquity and cruelty daily committed here; when I see the sign of the false prophet Mohammed reigning here in the land of patriarchs and prophets, in the land where Jesus lived and shed his blood; then my spirit groaneth within me: O Lord, how long wilt thou be angry; how long shall thy inheritance be trodden down? and I wonder that not more hands are lifted up to the Lord for the conversion of Israel and the restoration of Jerusalem.

The heart stirred by the thought of spiritual darkness.

BOMBAY.

THE mission to the Mohammedans in this city was again undertaken by the Rev. J. G. Deimler in June last, after a year's Missionary service at Junir. It has been Mr. Deimler's daily practice since his return to Bombay to preach in the streets. At one time the audience has been found quiet, at another noisy. At one time discussion has been practicable and instructive, at another impossible and useless.

The visitation of the Mohammedans in their own houses has also occupied the attention of Mr. Deimler, and, as far as it was possible to gain access, of Mrs. Deimler. The Missionary thus glances at the state and prospects of his work:—

The good cause of Christianity is progressing in Bombay slowly but surely amongst Mussulmans and other classes of the Native community. Secular education, as carried on by Government, though perhaps unduly proud of its sovereignty and its independence of any religion, and therefore producing self-conceit and self-exultation in its students, and leading them to barefaced infidelity or sterile deism, must nevertheless rouse the mind, unsettle established creeds, supply the faculty and the taste for inquiry, aud thus finally help on the introduction of Christianity into this land. The advance of learning in the large towns must not be lost sight of by the Missionary: it advises him to adapt his mode of Gospel ministry to its requirements; but the nature of the Gospel message remains the same: it can neither be divested of its simplicity nor of its miracles, as some would have the Christian Missionary do. (1 Cor. i. 23, and 2 Cor. i. 12, &c.) The truth of Christianity must be attested in the conscience of sinful men. (2 Cor. iv. 2.) If the success of Missions in India has not been in any special degree extraordinary (that Missions are a failure common observation can never allow), remembering the enormous hindrances at work, it has been at least considerable: if the success has not been amongst the higher classes of the population, it is but according to the experience of the most revered and successful of Missionaries. "Not many wise men after the flesh, not many mighty, not many noble." (1 Cor i. 26, &c.) The Church of Christ has to follow her heavenly Master through humiliation and self-abasement, through sufferings and death, to victory and glorification. (John xii. 24.) But thanks be to God the first-fruits of almost every section of the people have been gathered into the Church, all representatives of their respective races, and tokens for good. The leaven has been applied in the mass, and performs its work. Should it please God to raise a few influential men amongst the Natives, and endow them with His Spirit, much of a full harvest could be hoped for. Our plain duty at this present time appears to me assiduously and zealously to bring the Gospel of Jesus Christ to bear in different ways, without being wearied, upon the minds of the people. With this resolve, I wish to enter, for my own person and work, upon another year of the grace of our Lord Jesus Christ. In the course of time I expect and pray for a manifestation of the grace of God, for an effectual call to repentance, for times of refreshing from the presence of the Lord for heathen Hinduism, and the glory and honour shall be to the Lord.

Six Marathi schools, containing 224 children, of whom 163 are girls, have been conducted by Miss White, who is able to speak satisfactorily of the conduct and progress of the children. The Scriptures are especially made the subject of instruction. In addition to her school duties, Miss White has carried on many interesting conversations with Mohammedan females at her residence.

The Rev. Appaji Bappaji has ministered to the Native congregation, which numbers twenty-five communicants, and has superintended six vernacular schools, which contain 310 children. He records facts which prove that Christianity whether taught in the Mission school, or exemplified by Christian consistency in the family, exercises a powerful influence in individual instances. Mr. Appaji's narrative is as follows :—

Happy death of converted youth.

In April last I became acquainted with a young Madrasi. He was educated in one of our Missionary English schools, and before his illness he was employed in the electric telegraph office, as a clerk. He was at first a very bigoted Hindu ; but being of an inquiring mind, whatever instruction he received from Bible lessons in school he used to ponder well in his mind. By this means the truth found its way to his heart, and, instead of being prejudiced against it, his heart was softened, and he began to reflect upon sin and its consequences ; and being fully convinced of its heinousness, for some time he seemed hopeless of salvation. He thought God would not receive a Hindu born and brought up in sin. One day he was reading John iii. 17 : he was assured of the love of God in sending His Son, not to condemn, but to save. He began to pray that God would open his way to make an open confession of Jesus Christ. But when he made up his mind to come out, his heathen parents prevented him, and put every possible stumbling-block in his way. At length, in April last, he became ill, and the illness having increased, he begged hard of his parents to send for a Christian minister. The parents granted his request, and I was sent for. I ascertained the state of his mind by going often to see him, and by reading and praying with him; and when I was fully convinced that he was really wishing to confess the Saviour who died for him, I received him into the Church by baptism. The illness increased to such an extent that there was no hope of his recovery. I spoke to him one day, and said, "Charles, I hear the doctor has given you up: where is your hope now?" With a smile on his face, he replied, "I believe on the Lord Jesus Christ, and He will not forsake me. I hope to go to Him soon." Before and after this I always found him with his Bible. At times he used to read to his heathen mother. When he knew his end was near he called his parents to him, and in a most affectionate manner begged them to consider their helpless state by sin, and told them that there was no salvation but by Jesus Christ. On the day of his death, when my assistant was near him, he asked him to read John iii, and, after reading, asked him to pray, and in the midst of the prayer his soul left the body and went to the Saviour. The parents and the catechist were perfectly astonished at this. From that day the parents began to think seriously about Christianity, and, after due preparation and examination, were received into the Church in May last. From that time they have given great satisfaction to us all.

Another fact of similar import is given:—

Activity of an aged convert.

Another case of interest is the conversion of an aged man, also through means of his son. His name is Mowla Pirona. He was much against Christianty when his son, Boloo, joined the Church by baptism some time ago. The father and son lived together, so the latter had an opportunity of proving Christianity to his own father by his Christian conduct. A year before the old man was convinced of Christianity, Boloo rented part of his house to four Christian families. In consequence of this, the old man daily came in contact, not only with his son but other Christians, and he was able to see the difference between Christian and heathen families; besides the daily family worship and the quiet conversations the brethren had with him proved the means of his coming to the Saviour. He was received, together with his grandson, a lad of twelve years, into the Church by baptism in July last. Mowla does not know how to read or write, but he is an ornament to our little band here. Whenever he finds anybody sick or in difficulty, he is the first to help. He is regularly at our prayer-meeting, and never idle. Though a man of property and infirm in body, he is always going about doing something.

The Mission in the city of Bombay has been recently strengthened by the assignment of a young Missionary, the Rev. E. Sampson, to this station.

Education—Robert-Money School.

The position of the school, both as regards numbers and efficiency, has been maintained. The Rev. T. Carss has continued in charge of the Institution, but will now have the advantage of the advice and experience of the Rev. A. Frost, who resumes, at the request of the Committee, the office of Principal, though a portion of his time and energies is to be devoted to itinerating Missionary work.* Mr. Carss has found discouragement and difficulty, not only from the inefficiency of many of the Native Assistants, but also from the brief period during which the boys remain at the school. There are, however, 330 scholars, of whom 199 are Hindus and the remainder Protestants, Romanists, Jews and Mussulmans. While the standard of secular education is not high, the amount and character of the religious instruction is much higher than is usually found in such institutions.

Every boy is daily taught for half an hour in Scripture, either by Mr. Carss or by one of the Christian masters. The Native Pastor, the Rev. Appaji Bappaji, addresses the whole school every week in Marathi, and daily gives an hour's instruction in the Bible and Paley's Evidences. The moral and spiritual influence of the school is thus briefly stated by Mr. Carss:—

> I feel sure that it is morally impossible for anybody to stay in this school for three months without obtaining a tolerably correct idea of what a Christian believes and what he ought to do. The effect of the Christian teaching is most manifest in the conduct of most of our boys, and especially is this the case in the higher classes.
> A young Mohammedan, who had previously been in our school at Kurachi, is also amongst the number of those who are, I believe, hopeful inquirers. I have been very much pleased to find that many of the lads who have left the school still visit me occasionally. They seem to have a grateful remembrance of my past kindness to them. I hope soon to organize a weekly or monthly meeting for old pupils.

Knowledge of Christianity obtained in the School.

NASIK.

In consequence of the effective assistance rendered by Ruttonji, the Native Catechist, the Rev. W. S. Price has been enabled to undertake evangelistic work in the district, both at the commencement and close of the year. The Catechist has strenuously exerted himself for the spiritual welfare of the Native Christians. He has visited them in their houses, has instructed them in practical Christian duties, has manifested a friendly interest in their affairs, and has daily given instruction for several hours to the upper class in the school. Mr. Price has thus been left free for the extension of Mission work, and the experience of the year seems to have impressed upon him the conviction that Native agency alone can bring the Gospel to the masses, and that such agency has hitherto been too much neglected. He is therefore engaged in the organization of a plan by which the Gospel may soon be preached in every village of his district, and which he thus describes:—

Freedom of Missionary for more extended operations.

'With regard to direct preaching to the heathen, the experience of the past year has forcibly impressed my mind with two facts. The first, that we can never bring the Gospel to bear upon the masses, especially the lower classes, without the extensive employment of Native agency; and that the Missionary who spends his time and strength in selecting, guiding, instructing, and superintending the labours of a class of Native agents is doing his Master's work in the most effectual way; and the second, that hitherto we have not made use of this powerful arm in the Nasik Mission to any thing like the extent it deserves; the consequence of which is, that there are hundreds of villages where the Gospel has been preached only once or twice, at long intervals, by a European Missionary, and thousands of poor souls who have not so much as heard of the Saviour. I am now organizing a plan for the systematic preaching of the Gospel throughout the whole of our district by Native Evangelists, under the direction of the Missionaries; and, looking for God's blessing on our efforts, I trust, in another year, or at most two, we shall be able to say that every village and hamlet in the five Talookas of Nasik has been regularly visited, and that Native tongues are proclaiming to Native ears the message of reconciliation from one end of the district to the other.

Necessity of employing natives in itinerating work.

The state of the Native congregation, and their liberality in reference to temporal distress arising from the famine, are noticed by Mr. Price as justifying the hope that they will gladly contribute to the support of a Native Pastor whenever one may be appointed:—

Satisfactory state of native congregations.

The conduct of our poor Native Christians has, on the whole, been such as to encourage the hope that the regular preaching of the Word and other ordinances have not been unblest. We have not yet done any thing towards the creation of a Pastorate Fund, nor at present can we hope to do much in that way, as our people for the most part are in receipt of only small pay, and the times are hard. I have no dubt, however, they will gladly contribute to such a fund as soon as they see the probability of a Native Pastor being appointed. Meanwhile they have not been backward in giving for Missionary and other charitable purposes. Out of the money collected at the monthly Missionary Meetings, two agents, a schoolmaster and an evangelist, have been wholly maintained; whilst the contribution of the Native Church to the Famine Relief Fund amounted to 206 rupees, the congregation, almost to a man, having given the sum of three days' pay.

Education.

The satisfactory condition of the Educational Institutions is stated:—

The condition of the Christian Vernacular School, with its 150 pupils, and of the Teachers' Training Class, both under the management of Mr. Carapit Johannes, continues to afford us much satisfaction. The results of the annual examination, at which the Assistant-Collector presided, and which was attended by all the principal residents at Nasik, European and Native, and subsequently of that by the Government Inspector, were such as to encourage the Master in his patient and zealous labours. We desire to thank God for the improvement in Mr. Carapit's health, which, during last hot season, was so impaired as to give us much cause for anxiety on his account; and we humbly trust it may please God to preserve his valuable life, and to permit him to see many tokens of the Divine blessing on that useful work to which he has so faithfully devoted himself.

MALLIGAUM.

There is little of a special character to record in connexion with this station. The work has been systematically continued by the Rev. C. C. Mengé, who has now obtained the assistance of a young Missionary, the Rev. C. S. Cooke. On the examination of the Marathi School by the Government Inspector, seventy-five pupils reached the assigned standard. The girls' day school, under the care of Mrs. Mengé, contains thirty children. The state of the little Christian congregation has, on the whole, been satisfactory; and, in connexion with preaching to the heathen, two Gurus, or spiritual guides, are mentioned by Mr. Mengé as desirous of becoming Christians. The extent to which the preaching has been carried is stated in the following terms:—

For nearly six months two Catechists and one Scripture Reader have been constantly itinerating in the villages lying in the west, north, and east of Kandeish. On these tours they have either sold or gratuitously distributed about 700 tracts and portions of Scripture to thousands of heathen. To give you an idea of the diligence and value of our Native helpers, I may mention that, in the month of October, Krishnagi and another Native had preached the Gospel in Dhoolia, and seven surrounding villages, to about 3446 souls, which gives an average of 20,000 souls to whom the Gospel has been preached in six months by our Native assistants.

AURUNGABAD.

Vigorously and earnestly has the Mission work been carried forward by the Rev. J. Wilson, who, at the close of last year, was appointed to this station. There are 144 Native Christians, who dwell in 18 villages. The Native Church has been increased by the baptism of thirty-four persons during the year. Aurungabad and Budnapur are the principal centres of evangelistic effort. The spirituality of the Christians is promoted by administrations of the Lord's Supper, Prayer-Meetings, and Missionary Meetings held every month. The preparatory class contains four students, and the general education of the Christians is already augmenting their influence in their respective villages. At Saigaum, eight miles from Budnapur, the small Christian community, consisting of twenty-three baptized persons, has been newly organized, and the baptism of a convert at that place, has caused much sensation and opposition. He was of the Oilman caste, and well acquainted with Marathi. He spent much time in studying the Christian Scriptures, and in associating with the Native Christians of Saigaum, but could not obtain peace of conscience till he had made an open profession of his faith in Christ; and being a man of some influence, this profession involved great sacrifices. The detailed account of the agitation caused by his baptism is given by Mr. Wilson, and resembles in many respects the scenes described by inspired writers in the early days of the Gospel:—

Sensation caused by the baptism of a convert.

> The excitement regarding the conversion of one of their villagers, a man of superior caste and intelligence, was very remarkable. No sooner had this man and his Christian companions returned to their village, than a violent persecution broke out against them. The first victim was this convert; for since his return to his village he had been amongst the few who had dared openly to lift up their voices for God and His cause beneath the frowning despotism of a Brahmin official. This poor neophyte was seized, imprisoned, his books and other things confiscated. Notwithstanding this ill-treatment, his faith never wavered, but only shone forth the more brightly. He bore all with the meek and holy fortitude of the Christian martyr. Though threatened with the ill-will of the government and of the villagers, he trusted unwaveringly in God, and exhibited a noble pattern of the Christian character. After a few days he was released, but forbidden to enter the village, or have any intercourse with his only brother.

Petitions for the removal of the Missionary on the ground of "exceedingly troubling" the place.

This was not all. Petitions were prepared, both by the tradespeople and the inhabitants of Saigaum, and forwarded to Government, to the effect that the Missionary from Aurungabad and his agents have, for the last six months, exceedingly troubled our village, and teach customs which are not lawful for us to receive, neither to observe, being Hindus. The cry of the heathen Philippians of old. The petitions ended with the threat that, if Government did not take steps to expel these converts from Saigaum all the villagers would desert the place. Hereupon I despatched my Catechist, Bhowanee, to Saigaum, myself remaining behind to arrange matters with the Subha of Aurungabad, who is the representative of the Nizam in these parts. A few days after my Catechist had left, it was with deep sorrow I learnt that he and two others had been sent to Jaulnah as prisoners. At Saigaum all labour was for a time suspended. What shall we do? Come to our help, was the cry of the newly-baptized converts. God and His cause were menaced. It was the week of prayer throughout the world. We were conscious that God's people were praying for us and for Christ's cause in this benighted heathen land. We took courage, and at the suggestion of a few friends here I prepared a letter to the Subha, and took it to him myself.

Proceedings continue.

He received me very cordially, gave a favourable hearing to all I had to say to him, and acceded to my request, that a Mohammedan official should accompany me to Saigaum and inquire into the whole matter in person. He further gave me to understand that I was at perfect liberty to baptize anybody who chose to come to me, provided I did not compel them against their wishes to embrace Christianity. This gave us greater confidence in the promise, "Lo, I am with you alway, even unto the end of the world." One week more elapsed before the Subha's Naib left for Saigaum. On Sunday the 13th inst. (January), we reached our destination. On our arrival, persecution of the converts was at an end, and during our stay at this village we experienced civility and respect from all the villagers. The change in the conduct of the very men who had persecuted the converts, and had threatened our own persons if we only dared to approach their village, was something unaccountable. Awe and embarrassment seemed to have overcome these people. The scene to which we were now introduced really surpassed our expectation. Every thing appeared to favour our cause.

The Missionary pleads the cause of the persecuted.

We rested on the Sabbath, had service with our people, and waited patiently for the return of the brethren from Jaulnah. Many a little group during the day drew near to the spot where we had encamped, and had conversation with us. The great village idol was near us in all its glory, but its glory is nothing compared with the glorious scene of the happy converts, who formerly stood in dread of this very monster, but now, having put on Christ, cease to join in the worship of it.

The Sabbath was over, and the sun had dawned upon another week. Assembling the Native Christians together, we commended ourselves and our cause to God. At half-past ten o'clock it was announced that the Naib was ready to proceed with the inquiry, and that the petitioners, with their witnesses, were also present. We proceeded to the spot. A large concourse of people who had assembled presented an imposing spectacle. The principal complainants and their witnesses were sworn, and their depositions taken. As the result of the whole proceeding, almost all the parties examined bore unequivocal testimony to the quiet and exemplary conduct of the Native Christians. The most remarkable fact was, that the villagers believed that the baptized persons never gave them any cause for dissatisfaction, but they charged some of them with having ridiculed their stone gods, and, upon every occasion when they came into contact with them, spoke in favour of Christianity, and recommended it as the only religion having the means of salvation. "This," said they, "made us apprehensive of the permanency of our religion." To this the Naib replied, that it was their business if their caste fellows adopted the Christian faith, provided the Missionary and his agents did not interfere with their caste prejudices. To this the Patels and others replied they did not. "Why, then," rejoined the Naib, "have you threatened to desert your village, if the Native Christians do not trouble you?" Their reply to this was as follows:—"So long as the converts were confined to the Mang people, we did not care; but now, since this new faith is making inroads among the better informed and the higher classes among us, we are in dread of others following this example." This the Naib at once saw was a very weak argument, and not to the point.

In the afternoon the prisoners from Jaulnah made their appearance. Their having come in the custody of a peon created great sensation among some of the villagers, who had given us to understand that these men, especially my catechist, had not been sent as prisoners. This, however, appeared to be false, and we gained advantage over them, and might have brought them into difficulties. Bapoo, the convert, was also among them. The Mohammedan official, upon seeing him, put to him a few questions regarding his faith in Christ, and the reasons which prompted him to embrace Christianity, in the presence of his caste fellows. He made an open and a good confession of his faith before all those who were present. He was asked whether he had any inducements offered to him to become a Christian. He said, "No, but, on the contrary, I have lost all my property, and have sacrificed all my caste and village privileges; but in Christ, my Saviour, I have gained more than all that I have lost, viz. the salvation of my soul." Such was the beautiful consistency of this poor man. May the Lord keep him stedfast to the end, and make use of him to promote his glory!

Though the persecution of the converts at Sáigaum intimidated some, yet we had the privilege of admitting two adults into the fold of Christ's Church before we quitted the village. We have every reason to believe that God will bring good out of this apparent evil. The Lord has many in and about this neighbourhood, who belong to Him, and for whom Christ died. These He will gather out in His own good time.

A general impression of Mr. Wilson's work in and around Aurungabad is furnished in his annual letter:—

The past year has been one for sowing the seed, and acquainting ourselves with the country around us. Extensive tours have been made during the year, and more might have been done in this department had we more men under us. Upwards of a hundred villages have been visited, and the Gospel preached in them. The seed is taking root. The knowledge of Christianity is spreading. In several villages the people admit the truth of what we preach, though they do not believe it from the heart. I have had, during the year, the assistance of one Catechist, one Scripture Reader, and three subordinate agents in this work, who have either accompanied me or gone by themselves into villages, preaching the Gospel. Extent of the work in and around Aurungabad.

Within the year, more genuine enthusiasm has been infused into the minds of my Native agents, and some of the members of the different churches under me, have made considerable advances in the Divine life, and have shown an increasing desire to live for the glory of God and the good of souls. Increased zeal of native agents.

The Bishop of Madras, on the occasion of a recent visit to this place, thus expresses himself in reference to the school:—

Mr. Wilson teaches in a very attractive manner, and introduces religious lessons by the way very happily. Four or five of his pupils are Sepoys of the regiment stationed at Aurungabad. I cannot but anticipate that youths so taught will in due time, through God's blessing and grace, not only abandon heathen practices, but also openly embrace the faith of Christ, as has been the case in Mr. Noble's school at Masulipatam, and other Mission schools.

Besides the fifty pupils learning English, thirty other Native boys were present from his vernacular school in the bazaar.

BOOLDANA.

The vacancy at this place, caused by the retirement of the Rev. A. Davidson, has been provisionally supplied by the Rev. C. F. Schwarz, who, on his return from Europe, took charge of Booldana instead of resuming his work at Junir.

The agricultural plans into which Mr. Davidson entered have not been continued by Mr Schwarz, who has devoted all his attention to the spiritual welfare of the natives. The congregation is small. It is poor in matters temporal, and feeble in things spiritual. The knowledge of Christianity is very limited, and to give "line upon line, and precept upon precept," has been the Missionary's duty. A low tone of morality exists, but the constant visitation of all villages within five or six miles of Booldana, by Mr. Schwarz and an effective Native Catechist, has not been without promise of more satisfactory spiritual and moral results than are at present visible.

JUNIR.

During the absence of the Rev. C. F. Schwarz in Europe, for restoration of health, this station was occupied by the Rev. J. G. Deimler, of Bombay. With the assistance of a Catechist the itinerating work round Junir was continued. About 100 scholars were taught in the Junir schools, of whom two-thirds belonged to the Marathi and the remaining third to the Hindustani. On Mr. Schwarz' return to India he occupied the Booldana station, instead of resuming his work at Junir, where the Mission is for the present necessarily suspended by reason of the paucity of labourers. It is satisfactory to find that the people of Junir expressed almost universal regret on account of the suspension of the Mission.

SINDH MISSION.

KURACHI.

The progress of Missionary work, both in preaching to adults and in teaching in schools, has been marked by encouraging signs of spiritual influence. Some disappointment has been experienced because several members of the Native congregation have renounced Christianity; but inasmuch as the Native Christians are, for the most part, emigrants from other Missions, as is often the case in large sea-port towns, these defections can scarcely be connected locally with Kurachi.

The Rev. James Sheldon having returned to England in order to recruit his health, the Rev. J. W. Bardsley, who received Priests' Orders in February 1866, has been in charge of the station, assisted by Mr. Croley. A Mohammedan Munshi is mentioned by Mr. Bardsley as a useful assistant in the school, and as likely to exercise a beneficial spiritual influence over adults:—

Seed sown in the Mission school, in due time bears fruit.

The case of a Mohammedan Munshi is one of interest, as he has been a somewhat notorious character on account of the prodigal manner in which he wasted his inheritance. He, like the Prodigal of the parable, wasted his substance in riotous living, but I really believe he has now "come to himself." During the few months of his probation he showed, at various times, great truthfulness under peculiarly trying circumstances. His readiness to do any kind of work to earn a livelihood has been very gratifying. He is now acting as a teacher of the lowest class in the school, and if, by God's grace, he lives as consistent a life for the future as he has done since he came here, we may trust that his conversion may be a powerful proof to others of the constraining influence of the Gospel. It is interesting to remark that though he had entirely forgotten the Gospel story which he had heard at Mission schools, both here and at Bombay, yet he remembered that it offered salvation for sinners such as he was.

The Gospel has been preached daily in the streets. There have been many quiet listeners, and comparatively few cavillers. The hostility, however, is decided wherever it is supposed that Christianity is likely to take possession of the heart. An illustration may be given from Mr. Bardsley's annual letter:—

Decided conduct of two inquiring Mussulman youths.

Two Mussulman youths came to me a few months ago, wishing to be baptized, and saying that formerly they had received instruction from Mr. Sheldon. I gave them Bibles, which they had also asked for, telling them, that though they were of age to take such a step, yet their appearance was not old enough to prevent the Judge from being deceived by their friends in a Court of Justice. An acquaintance, who heard of their visit to me, told their parents. The consequence was, that they were confined to their homes for six weeks, not being allowed to see one another. Finding that this stringent measure had not the desired effect, they took counsel from the principal Moulvie in the place, who had the character of being a liberal man. His advice was, that the boys should be left to themselves, saying that the only difference between Christianity and Islamism is, that in one religion swine's flesh is allowed, and in the other it is not. I am afraid that the liberal policy will be more likely to succeed than the other, as it is evidently the aim of this Mussulman Gallio to make the boys believe that the difference is merely nominal, and that therefore Christianity is not worth the trouble of confessing. One of the youths has got an appointment up the Persian Gulf. I was pleased to hear that he had left all his Mussulman books behind, and had only taken his few Christian ones, and that he daily reads his Bible with the doctor of the station where he is located. The other, with his brother, goes every day to the house of the late senior monitor to converse and read about Christianity.

Education.

The schools afford much satisfaction. There has been an average attendance of 130 boys. A girls' school has been opened during the year, in which the attendance has varied from ten to twenty-five. Incidents frequently occur which prove that the constant scriptural instruction given to the young exercises great influence on their morality and probity, although no confession of Christ is made. On this subject the testimony of the Chaplain may be adduced. In reference to an examination he had conducted, he said—"I was much struck with the manner in which the monitors and elder pupils answered. They evidently think much and deeply about the great truths in which they are instructed."

HYDRABAD.

At this station the Rev. C. W. H. Isenberg has laboured during the year with some encouragement. The Anglo-Vernacular School has been efficiently conducted. The Rev. George Shirt, having had experience in school work, has been appointed by the Committee to the charge of this school.

General view.

Death of Dr. Cotton, Metropolitan of India.

As we approach Calcutta, the noble example of the late Metropolitan of India rises like a beacon on the beach. The waters which engulphed him in a moment have kept the dread secret as to his mortal resting-place, but his light has so shone before men that they glorify his Father in heaven. To stablish, strengthen, settle the Native Church, called into existence by the Missionary labours of the last half century, involved questions not less delicate than difficult, to the solution of which he brought a comprehensive perception, combined with a conscientious determination. To great Missionary principles he applied his powerful mind in correspondence with Parent Societies in London, and on minor Missionary details he expended both time and thought in communication with Corresponding Committees in Calcutta.

Disintegration of Native creeds and consolidation of Native Churches.

The mental, moral and religious aspect of India was peculiarly attractive to Dr. Cotton, who had the mind of an eminent educationist, and the heart of an earnest Missionary. His quick intellectual eye perceived at once the potent influence of Western literature in the invigorated and inquiring state of the Eastern mind, and the blessed effect of Missionary labour in the permanent and promising condition of the Native Church. These are the prominent features of the Indian field. A process of disintegration as regards Native customs and creeds is simultaneous with a process of consolidation as regards Native Christian communities and Churches. Nor are the causes of these processes unknown. Much has been done by European energy, and perhaps more by educational effort. The force of English character has given some strength to the feebleness of Indian conduct. The daring spirit of the West has to some extent aroused the dreamy spirit of the East. The race which has, by its enterprise and energy, made the world its home, has planted itself in the midst of the races which for centuries have clung to India as if no other home could be found in the world.

Causes of these processes.

But whatever the effects of European energy and educational effort, the Missionary labours of the last half century have shaken the foundations of religious systems in India. The Evangelist has laid the axe to the root of the tree. The walls of the ancient edifices of Mohammedan and heathen error are slowly decaying, while those of the temple of Christian truth are steadily rising. Many men of intelligence in India forsake the dilapidated sanctuary in which their fathers worshipped, not, however, to enter at once the newly-erected Christian Church, but to stand midway, like Israel of old, perplexed and halting between two opinions. For nearly forty years a system which rejects idolatry and adopts monotheism, has received the adhesion of many of the educated Natives. Its organization is expanding, and its admiration of Christianity is increasing. The doctrine of the cross may not be apprehended, but the mission of Christianity is appreciated. An eminent representative of this system lately gave a public lecture in English to Hindu gentlemen and students. The rise and progress of Christianity were sketched, and this is his language in reference to the Missionary results of the European Reformation of the sixteenth century:—"Since the Reformation almost new life has been infused into Christianity, and several circumstances conspired to facilitate its dissemination. Its more ardent followers, inflamed with holy zeal, have gone about in all directions to preach the religion of the cross to their benighted brothers and sisters in remote countries. They have braved all hazards—crossed oceans and deserts, surmounted insuperable difficulties, and, with patience, perseverance, and self-denial, have planted the cross in many a land." Nor have the statistics of Protestant Missions in India escaped his observation. After noticing early Missionary labours, he, speaking in the city of Calcutta to Natives of India, bears definite and distinct testimony to the extent and effect of those labours which we in this kingdom seek to promote. "Christian Missionaries," he says, "have gradually multiplied, and Christian Churches have been founded in all parts of the country. The total number of Native converts to Christianity has been estimated at 154,000. There are 32 Missionary Societies engaged in Indian evangelization, of which 12 are British, 4 Continental, 9 American, and 7 devoted to educational purposes. The number of foreign Missionaries in India is 519; and the sum annually spent on Missions is 250,000*l.*"

Direct influence of the Mission work.

Testimony of an unconverted native to the energy of Christianity since the Reformation.

Enumeration of spiritual agencies and of Christian converts.

One more brief extract from this remarkable speech may be given. The language seems almost that of a Christian advocate:—"The many noble deeds of philanthropy and self-denying benevolence which Christian Missionaries have performed in India, and the various intellectual, social, and moral improvements which they have effected, need no flattering comment: they are treasured in the gratitude of the nation, and can never be forgotten nor denied. That India is largely indebted to those disinterested and large-hearted followers of Christ for her present prosperity I have no doubt the entire nation will gratefully acknowledge. Fortunately for India, she was not forgotten by the Christian Missionaries when they went forth to preach the Gospel."

Acknowledgment of the services rendered to India by the Missionary.

Such sentiments, uttered with much earnestness, and received with much enthusiasm, seem to convey, as in a vision, to the Missionary in Calcutta, as to the Apostle in Corinth, the encouraging words of his Lord—"I have much people in this city."

Consequent encouragement.

On the other hand, the agitation and hostility caused by the conversion to Christianity of a Native are sometimes such as to bring to remembrance the scenes through which the first preachers of the Gospel passed, when addressing themselves to the citizens of Jerusalem, Ephesus, Philippi, and Corinth. These demonstrations of hostility are only caused, however, by the obstacles lying in the shallows of ignorant superstition. In the deeper stream of educated thought the current flows silently, but not less surely. A Missionary in Calcutta is now engaged in placing a Bengali New Testament in the hands of each of the 500 Native Authors, Editors and Translators of Bengal. The British and Foreign Bible Society has granted these copies of Scripture, and desires to bestow similar gifts on the same classes throughout India.

Hostility still often manifested

Circulation of the Scriptures among native authors.

The spiritual results of such a course are, in the present state of India, full of promise. Some Mohammedans have practically discarded Islamism, and even express entire disbelief in Mohammed, yet have not joined the Christian Church. Others are more bold. At Umritsur, a learned Mohammedan in Government service, for twenty years an inquirer after peace, has recently found Christ his Saviour. Another, a young man, also in Government service, has been baptized in the presence of hundreds of his countrymen. Of a third, who in life hesitated to confess Christ, this testimony is given concerning his death—"One of the chief teachers of the Koran in this part of the Punjab died lately, after charging his son to read the Bible, and to be more bold than he had been in confessing what he knew to be the truth. After his death, the Church Prayer-book in Hindustani was found beneath his pillow. Others make no secret that they are studying carefully the Word of God in their own houses."

Three of the Moulvies engaged in the controversy of 1857 are now Christians.

Such is the work of disintegration. Its illustration lies within the compass of a single fact. Three of the Moulvies who opposed Dr. Pfander and Mr. French in the Agra controversy of 1857 are now Christians. Of these, two are acknowledged to have been very zealous and learned Mohammedans, and are now very earnest and influential Christians.

Liberality of Native Church in a year of famine and scarcity.

These instances of individual conversion naturally draw our attention to the Native Church. In a year of famine in some, and of scarcity in almost all, parts of India, that Native Church has more than maintained its contributions for spiritual objects. Even in districts severely visited by scarcity and disease, increased collections have been made. Tinnevelly could almost support the sixteen Native Clergy already labouring there, if the contributions for various religious purposes were accumulated in one Pastorate Fund. The Native congregation at Agra has, during the year, raised 40*l.* for its Native Pastor. At Meerut the diligent and self-denying efforts made by the Native Christians for the maintenance of their Pastor, are as interesting in detail as they are satisfactory in principle. The Mutiny ten years ago deprived the Missionary stem at Meerut of its branches, but nine have since put forth and grown on the parent stock. During the decade, 410 adults have been baptized. The Native Church contains nearly 800 members, of whom more than 300 are communicants. But the amount of contributions and the number of members do not alone give evidence of the vitality and strength of the Native Church. The testimony of the European Missionary to the spiritual efficiency of the Native Pastor is clear and emphatic. The conviction of the Missionary is becoming deeper and stronger, that the preaching of the Native is to be the great instrument in the conversion of India. Such preaching at Kunnamkullam, on the occasion of the Travancore Jubilee, added to the Native Church seventy-four converts.

Dying testimony of Native Christians.

In death, as in life, the members of the Native Church are able to realize, in common with ourselves, the presence of the Saviour, and the comfort of His promises. Tucker, the Tinnevelly Missionary, has, within the year, departed in peace in an English village. Four of his South-Indian converts have since died. A young woman expires with the words "happy, and going to Jesus," upon her lips. A young man obtains "a triumph over the last great foe." One old man declared that "he had no fear, his hope was in Jesus;" and another, having raised his bare, withered arms, clasped them as a symbolical expression of his feelings, and exclaimed, "I have taken my hold of Jesus, and will never relax it!" At Palamcottah a dying convert thus calmly expressed himself—"If I die, I go to Christ; but if I live, Christ comes to me, to be still with me and to guide me."

Awakening of the female mind.

Nor must Native female influence be omitted in estimating the spiritual power of the Native Church. Educational and evangelistic efforts are in a measure made. The minds of females in India are, to some extent, aroused to independent inquiry. The hearts of some are, like that of Lydia, opened by the Lord. A Christian woman, the wife of a Catechist, has recently received a responsible appointment as Deputy Inspector of Girls' Schools in an important district of the Punjab. A Hindu woman at Múltan had, by some unknown process, learned to read. She sees a large placard containing the Ten Commandments and some Scripture texts. Inquiry commences, and ends in Christian baptism, a step which her heathen husband did not oppose, and she is now the efficient Mistress of a Mission school.

School labours of Native Christian women.

"A noble specimen of a Native Christian woman."

At Sivagasi, in South India, the Missionary describes what he terms "a noble specimen of a Native Christian woman." "She has been (he says) a widow for twenty-five years, and has learned to read. She possesses unusual energy and practical good sense. She is the friend of all the women in their trials and sorrows, and a thorough Evangelist, both to heathen and Christian women. No greater proof of the power of the Gospel could be brought forward than the life and conduct of this one woman."

The Company gained India for the Crown.

The Society seeks to gain it for Christ.

Such is the India of our day. The foundations of Mohammedanism and Hinduism are crumbling, and that foundation, other than which no man can rightly lay, Christ Jesus, is being slowly but surely laid. India, politically subject, is to be spiritually won for Christ. In the eighteenth century a Mercantile Company gradually established British power. The two main causes of the transfer of power from the Princes of India to the Crown of England were the inherent weakness of the political systems of the East, which stood like magnificent edifices without solid foundations, and the readiness of the different races of India to employ their strength in advancing the supremacy of Britain. In the nineteenth century we no longer behold in India a Mercantile Company acquiring political power, but a Missionary Society dispensing spiritual blessing; and in conducting this stupendous and glorious work, the most promising elements of success are found in the shaken foundations of false systems, and the aggressive action of the Native Church. The Company has gained India for the Crown, the Society seeks to gain it for Christ. With such expanded prospects in India, and such limited resources in England, the Committee may well echo the lament of the Bishop of Madras—"When will England give her money and her sons so freely to the Lord, that every place whence the cry proceeds, 'Come over, and help us,' shall be supplied with a messenger of the Gospel of Peace?"

Similarity of principal encouragements.

CALCUTTA.

The following Minute, on the occasion of the death of Bishop Cotton, was adopted by the Society's Corresponding Committee at Calcutta:—

Minute of Calcutta Corresponding Committee on the death of Bishop Cotton.

With feelings of deepest sorrow the Committee record the sad event of last Saturday (Oct. 6th), which has deprived the Indian Church of its chief pastor. The blow was too sudden, and the grief is too recent, to admit of any calm review of the life and labours of the departed Bishop, even were this the time or place for such a retrospect. But while leaving it to others to record the Christian simplicity of the Bishop's character, his conspicuous abilities, and eminent services to the Church at home and in India, this Committee have to testify to the peculiar value of his work in the furtherance of the cause of Missions. A firm supporter of the Church Missionary Society, as the President of this Committee, he brought to their Meetings a ripe judgment, habits of painstaking discrimination, and accurate and extensive knowledge of his diocese, and of the special requirements of India from a Missionary point of view. He ever thoroughly identified himself with Missionary work, and moved as a father amongst the Native Clergy and converts. His sympathy with the people of India, comprehension of their character, and appreciation of all that is noble and interesting in the past and present of this country, were a bond between him and the Natives which never failed to attract them to him as a Christian prelate. This impression, most favourable to the Missionary cause, will long remain.

Under the afflictive dispensation which has removed from a widening sphere of usefulness so wise and good a man, the Committee can only bow in submission to that mysterious but all-wise Providence, which rules and governs all things, and pray that a worthy successor may be raised up to carry to maturity the many well-devised plans which their late Bishop had initiated for building up the Church of Christ in India, and extending her borders to embrace all its people.

The inquiring state of the Native mind in India is a subject to which the Report of the Calcutta Church Missionary Association adverts in these terms:—

Every year sees the hoary superstitions of centuries less and less cared for. Every year sees the bonds of caste more and more loosened. Every year reveals increased mental activity and a greater disposition to think and speak on the subject of religion. The sanction accorded to the marriage of widows, and the remarkable advance of female education, even among those who are still reputed as orthodox Hindoos, are sure indications of a shaking, shifting, onward movement amongst the people generally.

Inquiring state of the native mind in Calcutta.

But the peculiar phase of mind which attracts most attention is that which marks a large proportion of educated young men in this city. It is an error to suppose that liberal sentiments, and inquiry into religious topics, are confined to the bodies calling themselves "Brahmos" and "Brahmic Reformers." Hundreds of young men who shrink from allying themselves to any sect, or calling themselves by any distinctive name, are decidedly drifting away from the ancient moorings. They are not Hindoos, though they are still called such. They do not scruple, for peace' sake, to join in the family *púja*s; but they believe the whole thing to be a farce. The great majority, it is to be feared, are without any definite notion of the truth. They are willing to hear about it, and to talk about it, but are not very anxious to find it. They believe in one God, but do not care to draw nigh to Him.

Others, again, are more in earnest. They profess, in some way of their own, to worship the one true and living God. They will read religious books. Some read the Bible secretly, and will not hesitate to avow a leaning to Christianity.

Respect for the character of Christ is a leading feature of the classes just spoken of. If admiration of the morality of the Gospel, and regard for its Author as the holiest and best of men, constituted men Christians, then might the Church number its adherents in this city by thousands instead of hundreds. But, alas! it is but too apparent, here as elsewhere, that the bitterest animosity against the doctrines of the Cross may dwell in the heart, whilst the lips are loud in praise of Him who hung thereon.

Vernacular literature and schools.

After twenty-five years spent in the Missionary field, the Rev. J. Long has devoted himself to various important plans which had long occupied his mind, and for the prosecution of which his experience especially qualifies him. Vernacular literature, concerning which a visit was paid in October to the North-west Provinces; social scien-e, more particularly as it effects freedom of intercourse between Europeans and Natives; colportage, for the circulation of a healthy vernacular literature; and itinerating preaching, have much occupied Mr. Long who furnishes a table, showing the occupation and social position of the parents of the children in his Schools:—

Contributions of the native congregation.

The Native Christian congregation under the pastoral care of the Rev. J. Vaughan steadily progresses. During the year thirteen adults were baptized, and Rs. 512 raised by the congregation for the Native Pastorate Endowment Fund, besides Rs. 120 contributed for other religious purposes.

Within two years and a half this congregation has raised Rs. 2335 for the Pastorate Fund, and to this amount Rs. 1000 have been added. The people are poor, and the management is under a Committee of Natives, the Missionary being President. Mr. Vaughan and his Native assistants have carried on street preaching, of which the local Association Report thus speaks:—

"If attention to the message, and apparent interest in it—if an increasing acquaintance with the facts and doctrines of the Gospel amongst thousands of the artisans and servants of Calcutta—be matters to rejoice over, then we may rejoice over these tokens of the value of street preaching.

A chapel has also been built, and is often filled with large congregations :—

A chapel has been built at the corner of the Mission Compound in Amherst Street. Here there have frequently been large congregations several evenings of the week, many of the hearers being respectable and educated Natives. Several of the converts take part in the preaching, as unpaid volunteers.

Some conception of the views and feelings of the inhabitants of Bengal, in reference to religious subjects, may be obtained from the following remarks of the Rev. J. Vaughan, who expresses at the same time his confidence as to the influence of divine truth :—

God is with us. Calcutta is a delightful sphere of labour. I rejoice that our Society is now doing something like its duty to this great city. The college is a great acquisition. My work is simply and entirely vernacular. All my services are in the vernacular, and so are the street preachings; but I feel, and feel increasingly, that, under God, educational efforts are, in India, of prodigious importance. English education will go ahead: it does not ask our permission. The only question with us is, Shall we give it a sanctified tendency, or shall we leave it to run wild, whilst intellectual pride and rationalistic atheism, like a deluge, overwhelm the land? It may be said, that, after all, the proportion of Missionary influence brought to bear on this mighty movement is very small, and that if purely Native schools go on multiplying as they do—besides the Government colleges—the effect of Missionary teaching will be utterly insignificant. I do not believe it. A little divine truth goes a long way, and diffuses its unction in modes and directions, and with such subtlety of operation, that men—even the best and wisest—cannot trace out its course. It is like the branch of the tree which Moses, by Divine direction, cut off and cast into the waters of Marah. No doubt, to a Rationalist, that act would have seemed strange and insignificant; but it was done in obedience to a Divine command, and it had a Divine effect: the whole body of water became pure and sweet.

Views and feelings of inhabitants of Bengal on religious subjects.

I am almost daily holding intercourse with the educated natives. I meet with young men who never crossed the threshold of a Mission school; who never before spoke to a Missionary; who have been apparently all their lives shut out from Christian influences; yet somehow or other they have been reached, their ideas have been affected by Christian truth, and altogether such a theological and moral tone has come over them as can only be accounted for by the quiet, unobserved, permeating influence of Christian teaching. Only yesterday, for instance, I had a long discussion with a number of respectable natives. One of them was resolutely opposed to the idea of Christ's vicarious sacrifice: he declared it was preposterous and absurd; but two or three others had, in some way, learnt more than he on this grand topic: they assured him there was nothing absurd in the idea of Christ's being man's substitute.

Agurpara.

At this out-station the work has been continued by Mr. Sandys and Mr. De Rozario. The Anglo-Vernacular School has been stimulated by the Government Grant-in-aid. Mr. Sandys has been able to visit many places from Agurpara as a centre, the Gospel being preached from house to house, and in bazaars. A general sketch is furnished by the Calcutta Corresponding Committee:—

The Boys' and Girls' Orphanages are the principal feature of this out-station of Calcutta. They now form a central Orphan Institution for Bengal, to which destitute children, cast on the Missionaries' care, can be sent. On the score of economy, as well as for the sake of education, it is found convenient to have one central Institution. The boys are taught in the large Anglo-Vernacular School, which has for so many years been faithfully superintended by Mr. De Rozario. Under the stimulus of a Grant-in-aid, this school has greatly revived in vigour and efficiency. As many as 341 names have been on the school register, and the amount received in fees during the year has been no less than Rs. 1810, more than half the total expenditure, which amounted to Rs. 3310. The school sent up four candidates to the Entrance Examination last December, all of whom passed. One of the number was a Christian from the Orphanage. He obtained one of the ten scholarships in the Cathedral Mission College, which were offered to competitors from any of the Society's Anglo-Vernacular schools in Bengal. The Native Christians are stimulated by the emulation of a mixed school, and it is gratifying to find that they hold a creditable place amongst their fellow-countrymen.

A large circle of out-stations in connexion with Agurpara is superintended by Mr. Sandys, at all of which the pastoral care of the small Christian community, the management of schools for children of both sexes, and the preaching of the Gospel from house to house and in the bazaars, are perseveringly maintained. At Chattrah, a suburb of Serampore, an Anglo-Vernacular school, founded by Bishop Wilson, has for some years been efficiently conducted by an excellent and earnest Christian, Daniel Ramjoy Dass. He now rests from his labours, having peacefully departed this life, in the faith and hope of the Gospel, early in the present year. His last words were a testimony to his assured conviction and experience, that the words of Christ were "no cunningly-devised fable." The exemplary life of this good man affords an encouraging instance of the blessing which attends early Christian instruction. He was one of the orphans rescued in the former great Orissa famine, thirty-five years ago.

Cathedral Mission College.

The experience of another year seems to justify the measures adopted, in connexion with the Cathedral Mission College, for bringing the educated youth of India into direct contact with scripture truth. The Report of the Calcutta Corresponding Committee mentions the present promising state of the College:—

The second year of the existence of the College has fully justified the expectations formed. There has been no lack of students in the two College classes, and the candidates at the University examination met with fair success. The average number of matriculated students on the roll was sixty-eight. Nine candidates passed the first examination in arts. Of the course of study pursued the Principal has remarked in his Annual Report—"It need hardly be said that the one great object ever kept in view in this College is not merely to pass students for an examination, but to train them for the great realities of life. It is for this end that the Holy Scriptures are made an essential part of the daily routine of studies, as furnishing, at once, the true incentive to exertion and a worthy aim to which the pursuit of all knowledge should be directed." In pursuance of the object of the College a course of lectures was given on Sunday afternoons, open to the students and their friends. A fair attendance was obtained at these addresses, which were of a directly religious and hortatory character.

Progress of the Cathedral Mission College.

The Committee are happy to state that, with the view of relieving the Missionary staff of some of the secular teaching, Mr. W. G. Willson, late senior scholar and gold medalist of Trinity College, Dublin, has been appointed by the Committee of the Society to the post of the Mathematical Professor. He arrived at the end of the year.

Besides the lectures above referred to, a monthly publication, The Enquirer, has been conducted by one of the College staff. It is designed for circulation amongst the class of English-reading Natives. The late Bishop of Calcutta took a warm interest in the paper, and contributed to its pages. It was hoped that friends in England might avail themselves of this means of communicating with the more enlightened Natives of India, but this hope has been only very partially fulfilled.

The progress made at Kidderpore, and more especially in connexion with a munificent donation, is noticed:—

The Rev. Modhu Sudun Seal has been stationed at this populous suburb during the past year.

Native Church at Kidderpore.

William Dent, Esq., of the City of London, made a munificent donation of 4000*l.* for the building and endowment of a Native church. The Bishop of Calcutta is the trustee, and the late Bishop fixed on Kidderpore as a suitable locality. A site for the church, with a house for the Native Pastor, has now been obtained. The Society has engaged to pay the salary of the Native Missionary for three years, after which the Pastor will depend for his support on the endowment and his congregation.

The Anglo-Vernacular School at Garden Reach has had a maximum number of 232 on the roll. It sent up three scholars to the University entrance examination, and all three passed.

BURDWAN.

Attention to Mission schools, visitation of Natives belonging to the higher classes, and preaching tours, are the chief features of the Rev. A. P. Neele's work. The number of Native Christians has not materially changed. Audiences listen readily, but do not appear influenced by the doctrines preached. The importance of Christian education is mentioned by Mr. Neele:—

> Education is, I think, forced upon us, if we would be observers of the signs of the times. Education has been, humanly speaking, the great means by which the remarkable change in religious opinions still going on in the Native community has been brought about. To leave this mighty power under the sole influence of anti-Christian or of neutral agencies, would be culpable in the extreme. In Burdwan we have one school under Hindoo management; we have another directly connected with the Brahmo Somaj. I believe we are bound to bring a counter influence to bear; and our successors will, with God's blessing, arise to reap the result of our labours in more congenial and more directly evangelical engagements.

An example of the social and religious changes impending among educated natives is given:—

Prospect of social and religious changes among educated natives.

> At B—— I was again received in a most friendly manner by the Zemindar, who is, perhaps, the only landholder in Bengal who openly renounced idolatry and adopted Brahmism instead. But I was surprised to find how little Brahmism, although countenanced by such an influential landholder, had effected. He himself holds devotional meetings every Sunday evening at his English schoolroom. I went in towards the end of the service, and found only three people present. However, on seeing me, a host of people rushed in after me. When the devotional exercises were over, the Babas gave me permission to address the audience. I first expressed my satisfaction to find here some men who had become convinced of the falsehood of Hinduism, and who were assembled to worship the only true God. At the same time I expressed my regret, that in such a populous place, and notwithstanding the example set to them by their Zemindar, so few had met to worship God. Then I continued, that, as Brahmos, they ought to take special interest in one nation, which, like themselves, was worshipping one God, and had been doing so thousands of years ago, when all the other nations were given to idol worship. I related to them how, through God's revelation on Mount Sinai, the true religion was established among this nation; and as remarkable evidences of the truth, I pointed out some prophecies, especially Isaiah liii., which were unmistakeably written centuries before the advent of Christ, and were fulfilled in Him, the true Messenger of God and Saviour of mankind. The Jews indeed, as a nation, rejected Him, the same as Brahmos and sceptics do to this day; but I also showed to them that we had sufficient testimony that the prophecies with regard to Christ's kingdom would yet be fulfilled, that His dominion would be established throughout the world. I advised them to learn, by practical experience, that faith in Jesus was "the power of God unto salvation."

After I had finished, the Babas of course raised some objections, and the controversy was continued for some time.

Some anxiety has been felt concerning the Native congregation at this station, which, with the exception of Calcutta, is the oldest station of the Society in Bengal. From the subjoined account of Mr. Stern, the Missionary in charge, it may be inferred that the present aspect of the work is more promising:—

More promising aspect of Burdwan.

Some unsatisfactory characters excepted, our Christians have gone on steadily. Their attendance at the Church services and the sacrament has been good. Previous to the celebration of the Lord's Supper I hold a prayer meeting, and such a time is always a special blessing to our community. On the whole, I think our people learn to esteem more their Christian privileges, and I feel more that they are a flock called by the Great Shepherd from the desert of heathenism to be prepared for His heavenly fold. I have introduced a monthly collection for the Native Pastorate Fund. The sum collected is not great, but our people are not able to give much. They all have a very humble income, and just those who were in better circumstances have found employment in Calcutta and elsewhere, and have left our Mission. I have baptized four adults during the past year. One man and his family were brought here by the Colporteurs from Bancoorah.

KISHNAGURH.

After thirty-five years' labour in India, the Rev. J. G. Lincké has been compelled to relinquish his work and return to Europe, his strength being much exhausted. Mr. Lincké, in the hope of remaining in India the remainder of his life, endeavoured to obtain the restoration of his health by a visit to Madras. Unsuccessful in this effort, he returns to Europe.

Famine, with its usual attendant, pestilence, is recorded by the Rev. C. H. Blumhardt as an appalling difficulty of the year. But the position of distributors of the meat that perisheth, to which the Missionary and his spiritual assistants were called, afforded them the opportunity of speaking to famishing multitudes of the bread that came down from heaven. No fewer than eight hundred half-starved people were employed in excavating tanks, and cutting down jungles, at Mr. Blumhardt's station.

Missionary agents assisting in time of famine.

Though many, after a few weeks instruction, simply disappeared from the circle of Missionary influence, yet a high-caste Brahmin, of good education, has, during the year, received Christian baptism, and the state of the Native congregation may, on the subjoined testimony of Mr. Blumhardt, be regarded as satisfactory:—

> My Native congregations, also, have on the whole given me great satisfaction, both here, at the station, and in the villages. The attendance at Church, too, may be considered regular. There are two services every Sunday, one at 8 A.M., and one at 3 P.M. The former is conducted by my Catechist, Rash Beharee Roy, and the latter by me. The attendance in the morning is generally not half as good as that in the afternoon, which is always well attended, and the number present is, on an average, 150. A collection for the Pastoral-Aid Fund is made every Sunday, besides monthly subscriptions. The number of baptisms I had this year are two men, one woman, and twelve children. One of the men, with his wife and three children, came to the knowledge of the truth while the man, as head mason, was engaged on my compound, building the Training Institution school, during which time he had the truth of the Gospel preached to him. I was very careful, and did not receive him into the Church of Christ till I was fully convinced of the sincerity of his intention; and I must say that he has not disappointed my expectation. He, together with his wife, is most regular in attending church, and they are altogether an example to the people around them, and teach them what change Christianity can produce in the hearts and lives of men. The man has never received any assistance from me, and has never even asked for any, as has been so much the custom.

Satisfactory state of native congregation.

The Training School under Mr. F. Gmelin, and the circle of schools connected with it, have made satisfactory progress. The knowledge of Scripture was found, on a recent examination by two of the Society's Missionaries, the Rev. A. Stern of Burdwan, and the Rev. F. Schurr of Kapasdanga, to be extensive and accurate. In reference to the Training School, the general conclusion at which the examiners arrived was that it was in a highly efficient state.

Although little spiritual success seems to attend the efforts made at Santipore, yet during the year a Brahmin family has been received into the Christian Church. The important step appears to have been under consideration for some time by the head of the family, who is now a diligent teacher in the Anglo-vernacular school, and a zealous preacher of the Gospel when the duties of the school have been discharged. Mr. F. Gmelin writes:—

Baptism of a Brahmin family, the head of which has become a diligent schoolmaster and an earnest preacher.

The family of Babu Rammay Bhattacharjea has been received into the Church by baptism as the first-fruits of this Mission. He was a Brahmin. His father held the first place among the Pundits of Santipore, a town somewhat renowned for its Hindu learning as well as bigotry. As a boy Rammay Babu was a pupil of the Santipore Anglo-vernacular school, which was under Mr. Hasell's charge. He passed the entrance examination, and completed his education at the Hooghly Government Normal College. About two years ago I engaged him as head master of one of our vernacular boys' schools at Santipore, a post he was compelled to give up on account of ill-health.

His connexion with our schools there, however, appears to have been beneficial to him: his mind was not at rest, though he wandered from place to place in search of peace. At length he became convinced of the truth of Christianity, and sought the instruction and counsel of our teachers, particularly of Tushta Babu, to whom he expressed a wish publicly to profess Christianity. No sooner was his intention known than his Hindu and Brahmo friends did their utmost to prevent him from carrying it out, and a rich Zemindar offered him a lucrative situation upon the condition that he would give up Christianity. However, he remained stedfast. In common with many Hindus who wish to become Christians, he preferred being baptized in Calcutta; and on going down he applied to Mr. Bomwetsch, whom he knew. Mr. Bomwetsch, however, referred him to Mr. Dyson, by whom he, with his wife, was baptized a few weeks ago. I have engaged him as a teacher in the Anglo-vernacular school here. He is not satisfied with diligently attending to his duties in this capacity: after his school duties are over, he accompanies the Catechist to the bazaar to preach the Gospel. May the Lord grant that he may continue to run well in his Christian course, and that he may be the means of salvation to many of his countrymen.

KAPASDANGA.

While the Missionary, the Rev. F. Schurr, is constrained to lament the existence of a low spiritual tone among the majority of the converts, there are others who, by their zeal and energy, cause encouragement and hope.

Efforts are made, by the Native Christians, to relieve the poorer members of the Church. Fresh evangelistic exertions are put forth by a few earnest Christians, and a Bible woman labours with some success. There is preaching at out-stations, where formerly the Gospel was never heard. Persons of influence and respectability give hospitality to the preachers, whose wives are permitted to teach the truths of the Gospel to the female members of the household. The work is sketched in Mr. Schurr's correspondence:—

Readiness to give hospitality to those who go forth to preach.

Our Christians are, on the whole, poor, and unable to give much for any cause. Their great poverty, however, consists more in spiritual than in temporal treasures. If they had the life and love of Christ in them, they would contrive, somehow or other, to maintain their own religious institutions; but without a special shower of grace, we have no prospect of a speedy realization of our hopes and wishes as to self-support. A small beginning is made: some contributions are given for special objects, and especially for the poor, the care of whom I am now throwing more and more upon the Christians themselves: their monthly or weekly gifts go for this object.

Spiritual work can only be done by spiritually-minded persons, and of such we have few. Yet is it matter of joy and gratitude that we have a few who are born again, and try to bring others to Christ. Of such are a few women, some of whom have begun a new work.

Female agency.

A lady in Scotland offered to pay a Bible woman, and we appointed one in February, who is often accompanied by two or three women of Kapasdanga, visiting the ignorant women of the neighbouring places. At first they had their trials, but now they are usually welcomed and listened to with attention; even men sit down and listen to their instruction and the reading of the Word of God.

SANTHAL MISSION.

The return to Europe of the Rev. E. L. Puxley, after six years' labour in this Mission, left Mr. Lehmann alone in the work. Before retiring from the Santhal field, which is now occupied by the Rev. W. Townsend Storrs and his brother, Mr. Puxley completed the translation of St. Matthew's Gospel into the Santhali. The number of schools, in all of which the Gospel of St. Luke and the Acts of the Apostles are regularly read, has been slightly increased; but the pressure of the scarcity and famine has interfered with the attendance of the scholars. Much time and thought have been given to the distribution of relief to the more impoverished of the people. From the following remarks of Mr. Lehmann, the circumstances under which preaching to the heathen has been conducted will be understood:—

Preaching to the heathen amid want and scarcity.

I was out in the district, preaching amongst the heathen, from the beginning of November until the end of January. During the latter month was the Normal School vacation, and my scholars joined me in camp, helping to preach. The sickness of my three children, and several heavy storms, drove us home. From March till the rains set in I was out several times, for days in succession, but chiefly three days in a week, from morning till night-fall. During the rains my nearer neighbourhood was gone over again, sometimes with my Santhal assistants, at others by them alone, as the state of the weather and of the ground permitted. The people were very much pressed for want of food, and therefore rather unwilling to hear preaching. In my house I had this year more visitors than at any time before, regularly hundreds in the day; but, alas! they were all seeking for the bread only that perishes, and were hardly accessible to the Word of God. On the whole, I expect greater things from preaching at a time when Christian families will be scattered here and there all over the district, whose consistent walk will be the best preaching. In the mean time, we will preach on, and make, with God's help, more of it every year.

II. North-west Provinces.

The North-west Provinces comprise eleven principal Districts, viz. Agra (commenced 1813); Meerut (1815); Benares (1817); Gorruckpore (1823); Juanpore (1831); Kotgurh (1847); Jubbulpore (1854); Lucknow (1858); Allahabad (1859); Azimgurh (1861); Fyzabad (1862).

ALLAHABAD.

Amid much domestic sorrow the Rev. Brocklesby Davis has continued his work at this station, the Rev. D. Mohun, Native Pastor, having the charge of the Native congregation, which is stated to have exhibited a consistency of life and conversation cheering alike to the Missionary and the Native Pastor. In the schools, which embrace an Anglo-vernacular, a Bazaar, and a City girls' school, are 350 children, and Mr. Davis can speak of some spiritual results in connexion with the labours of the year :—

Preaching at Melas and Bazaars.

During the past twelve months we have had our usually good opportunities of making known the glad tidings of salvation to the perishing multitudes around, at melas (particularly the great one in the cold weather), in our daily and weekly preaching in the bazaars and in our schools; and I trust the word thus proclaimed will in due time bear its promised fruit. We have had several inquirers from time to time, and from among them four have recently been baptized, after having been some months under instruction and probation.

In the City girls' school, a girl is now a candidate for baptism. Her parents were inquirers here for some time, but having themselves left the place without carrying out their proposed intention, entrusted their girl to the care of the schoolmistress, with the express desire that she should be taught and baptized when we thought fit. She appears in every way to be one of the best girls, and I sincerely trust she may ere long be added to our flock.

JUBBULPORE.

After many interruptions, arising from the acquisition of the language and from local circumstances, the Rev. J. Stuart feels that he now really enters upon his Mission work. The Rev. E. Champion labours energetically and effectively in the schools. A Catechist, whose labours had been most serviceable to the cause of the Gospel, has been removed by death, and Mr. Stuart affirms, that by his death he has "lost a guide, a friend and a brother." The mode in which bazaar preaching is conducted will be seen from the following descriptive account by Mr. Stuart:—

The Catechist a "guide, friend, and brother."

I have just returned from bazaar preaching with one of the Catechists. We generally get large audiences; some are attracted by the crowd, others come from curiosity; many for a little merry-making; a few, thinking they are wiser than their fellows, wish to ask a question, and more than one or two in every such gathering, who really wish to hear our views of eternal things. An Indian audience is perhaps not quite unlike a flock of geese: for a moment there is a dead silence, then some one says something which is a certain forerunner of a general chatter! Or, again, they might not unfitly be compared to a flock of sheep. One moment you see before you a large throng: some one of them leaves, which is a sure signal of a general rush, and the next moment you find yourself almost alone! But in these respects my mind has undergone a thorough change. Formerly I thought no good could be done without a crowded audience; now my feelings are almost the reverse. With a large crowd there is a good deal of noise and bustle; whereas, with a more limited audience, there is as a rule quietness and attention. One of our opponents this evening was a young man, who, the Catechist tells me, had been for years a scholar in one of our schools. Although we generally give opponents an opportunity of talking, who have any sensible remark to make, yet our controversies are never allowed to go far. I always try to bring such to this vital point—"Mankind are sinners in the sight of God?" "Yes" (heartily). "No sinner (unpardoned) can get to heaven?" "Not at all." Explain to me (as taught by your religion) what is the plan which God has devised to take away our sins?" "Saying prayers, doing pujas, not telling lies, nor speaking against your neighbour, &c.," is the general reply. "Well, but we were all born in sin?" "Yes." "Then supposing you never had committed a sin since you came into this world; how are the sins which you inherited from your forefather, and which you brought into this world with you, to be atoned for? This, as a rule, terminates the controversy, and profitably too, because one's opponent is only too glad to back out of the difficulty of replying to the question proposed to him, and immediately asks, if your honour would be so kind as to explain what you yourself think about the matter. Thus the way is opened for a full statement of Gospel truths. We then can tell them of Jesus Christ and Him crucified as the sinner's only hope.

Incidents of bazaar preaching.

BENARES.

While the Gospel has regularly been preached in Benares and the adjacent villages, the various educational institutions have steadily progressed. The Rev. W. Smith records with thankfulness his ability to continue his labours another year. Seven times in the week, besides his Sunday service, has he been enabled to visit the city. In connexion with itinerating work, some indications of interest on the part of the people are related:—

Indications of interest in the message of the itinerating preacher.

On two occasions I detached a couple of our Native brethren on itinerating work. On the first journey they went to Chaubepur; and after attending the Panchbahni Mela near that place, they started across the country, and visited the villages all along to Zufferabad and Jounpur, and returned viâ Phulpur and Purna to Benares. On the second journey the party started from Raja ka Talao to Rameshwar Bera Gaon and Shewpur, visiting all the intervening villages. About a month was spent in each excursion. They reported that the people generally listened to the message. Of the attention of the people of one village they spoke very highly. Each of my Catechists and Readers has furnished a report of his doings during the past year. Catechist Samuel states that he has given or lent several copies or portions of the New Testament, the Satmat Nirupan and Matpariksha to different individuals, who often come and ask the meaning of different passages, thus showing that they read the books. Many people come to his house, and conversations and discussions are sometimes prolonged to midnight.

Dussamedh, an old Gosain, came and sat down, and said, "I should like to hear the whole of the account of the blind man that you were giving here the other day." He meant the account of the blind man in John ix., and told me exactly how far he had heard on the previous occasion, and desired me to go on from that place, explaining every thing to him. This, of course, I did with great pleasure, and felt encouraged from the fact that he remembered what he had heard so well, and appeared interested in it.

Health and vigour have been granted to the Rev. C. B. Leupolt, and he has been able to add another to the more than thirty years' service in Benares. His experience is very similar to that of Mr. Smith. He has laboured, as in times past, and finds that, while multitudes hear the Word, few are permanently influenced by it. There is, however, greater attention than in previous years, and the Missionary is consequently sustained by the hope of spiritual fruit in due season. Mr. Leupolt's own language will best express the character of his work:—

I can now do more than in former years. Of late I have endeavoured to go three or four times a week to the city. The work is monotonous. People come and hear, some more attentively, some less. The seed is sown, knowledge on the vital points of Christianity is diffused, blossoms appear, but, alas! they remain blossoms, and only now and then one ripens into fruit. The other day we had an eclipse of the moon. Numbers of people from all sides flocked into Benares. Our Native Pastor begged that all the Normal School lads might be permitted to assist in making known the glad tidings to the thousands. They obtained permission, divided into small parties, and spoke to the people all over the city. The people were astonished at seeing so many preachers, and some exclaimed, "What will become of us?" They asked the Munshi of the Normal School whence all those Christians had come? The Munshi, Mr. Treusch told me, was in his glory, and replied, "You must know that there is a Christian Normal School at Benares." When will the time come that we shall have some thirty Native Catechists daily employed in preaching the glorious Gospel to the thousands of this great city?

Character of Mission work described by a veteran Missionary.

Once a fortnight I endeavour to visit Native gentlemen. One Babu, whom I see from time to time, and who is well acquainted with the way of salvation, but unable to take up his cross and follow Christ, joined last year the Brahmo Somaj, adopting their views. For some time he seemed to succeed in quieting his conscience; but afterwards evidently felt that these views, although many are Bible views, wanted authority, so he left the Brahmo Somaj, and betook himself to the study of the Korán. The Korán, at least, assumes authority. He strives against God: may he never prevail!

Others, whom we visit, say, "Yes, yes;" and, like the man in the parable, apparently accept the first invitation; but when the second call comes, saying, "Now come; all is ready," they begin making their excuses, or say nothing at all, but do not come.

In the villages south of Benares, at Gharwa and the surrounding villages, the feeling towards us is good. The people listen more attentively than ever, and I was more pleased, last cold weather and during my visit in the hot season, than I have ever been before. Oh, for an outpouring of the Spirit of God. He alone can convince, convict, remove doubts, create faith, and compel the people to come to Christ.

Throughout the year two Colporteurs, paid by the Bible Society, have been employed in carrying round and offering for sale the Word of God. They have disposed of a good many whole and single Gospels, and have had much opportunity to converse with people. Our united prayer is, "Thy kingdom come!"

Sale of Scriptures by Colporteurs of the Bible Society.

Early in March 1866, the Rev. J. Fuchs and Mrs. Fuchs went to Kotghur, after nineteen years' labour in the plains, for improvement of health. They have, under the direction of the Committee, returned to Lucknow, which station was left without an ordained Missionary, in consequence of the return of the Rev. J. and Mrs. Erhardt to Europe, on account of impaired health.

Educational.

The number of pupils in Jay Narain's College has increased from 445 to 475. The Principal, the Rev. H. D. Hubbard, gives the following account of the present state of the College:—

Present state of Jay Narain's College.

Three students out of five passed the University entrance examination in December 1865. Of these, one has become a Teacher in the junior department, one migrated to the Government College, and the remaining one has been pursuing his studies with the two pupils who passed in the previous year. Owing to the failure of the candidates who went up for the first examination in Arts, and the loss of the two students above mentioned, the number of matriculated stndents of the University, now reading in the College has been reduced to three, and it is a question if we shall, for some time to come, have a sufficient number to constitute what may strictly be called a College department.

The majority of our boys are not in a position to continue their studies for more than five or six years; and, owing to the increasing demand for English Teachers in Oude and elsewhere, we find it difficult to keep them long enough to pass even the entrance examination. The attraction of 30 or 40 Rs. a month as a Teacher proves stronger than a Government scholarship of 6 or 8 Rs., combined with the prospect of obtaining University honours by a continuance of their studies.

It seems, therefore, as if we should be obliged for the present to limit our standard to the entrance class, and so be enabled to give to the lower classes that time and attention which have been almost entirely devoted during the last year or so, to classes of two and three students in the College department. It is possible, also, that by this means a larger number of advanced students may be gradually raised up for the entrance class. I have taken, as in former years, the mathematical studies of the senior classes, and also their history, besides giving occasional gallery lessons on scriptural subjects to the assembled classes of the lower department; and latterly the third College class, consisting of fifteen students, has read with me the appointed subjects in the Old and New Testament.

The Rev. W. Hooper adds, concerning his personal work:—

Personal labours of Rev. W. Hooper.

During the past year I have devoted five hours a day to Jay Narain's College and school, viz. four to the English department and one to the Sanskrit. Two hours a day have been regularly given to the second year of the students for the first examination in Arts—the one to their English, the other to Mental and Moral Philosophy, and Sanskrit, principally the latter. One hour I have always given to the scriptural instruction of the English College classes, or some of them. I endeavour to get through, in a cursory manner, the history of the Old and New Testaments, that being the subject chosen for this year's examination by the Committee of Church Mission Schools' Examination, for the North-west Provinces. But after six months' attempt to accomplish this by taking the two Testaments alternately, I found that it was utterly impossible to do any justice at all to the Gospel history in so short a time, or at least to teach it in such a manner as it deserves to be taught in, if at all. I gave up the attempt, and confined myself to Old Testament history, of which I was able to give the boys a somewhat complete and organic view before the end of September.

Examination by the Lieut. Governor of North-West Provinces.

On the 1st March 1866, His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor of the North-west Provinces visited the Institution, and examined some of the senior classes, and afterwards inspected the classes of the junior department. He expressed his satisfaction at the result.

On the 13th March, the annual distribution of prizes took place in the presence of the Judge, the Collector, and numerous other residents of the station. The gold medal given by His Highness the Rajah Satt Churn Bahadur was this year presented to Ganpat Giri as captain of the school. The prize essay on truth was read by Shushi Thekhar. The chair was taken by H. B. Henderson, Esq., Judge of Benares, who at the close of the proceedings gave an address to the assembled students in English. Baboo Shama Churn also gave an address in Urdu.

The Rev. W. Hooper continued to instruct the Sanskrit classes in Jay Narain's Institution until his removal at the close of the year to Calcutta, for the purpose of assisting in the Cathedral College in that city. Mr. Hooper visited periodically a little flock at Juanpore, and frequently took short excursions with a view to engaging the attention of those he might meet, and instructing them in the great truths of the Gospel. His manner may be seen by a reference to his journal:—

Visitation of the little flock at Juanpore.

I often teach by analogy with some conspicuous or interesting object near. I once asked an old man why a certain palm tree was so crooked and leaning over on one side. He said it would soon fall down and die of old age. I looked at him: he was just such a man, on the brink of the grave, as the palm tree was on verge of annihilation. He knew of no better future for himself than this of the palm tree. Although he would scarcely believe, yet he evidently listened with great interest to the glorious message of the resurrection which I then unfolded to him, and of the glorification of the body which God had promised and provided for those that loved Him.

There is a very large and long lake in the part where I often wandered: this contains water for months after the rains, and some years it never dries up: hence the cultivators of all the fields about, even those not quite near, are always drawing off its water on to their fields. This also was an unfailing source for me. I could appeal to that inward sense, not wholly lost in most, of need of refreshment and life for the soul, and I could speak of God as the great source from which all creatures drew their natural life, and who is also full of spiritual life for those of His rational creatures who ask it from Him.

Education.

In the orphan school for boys, the Rev. C. B. Leupolt reports 59 now in the Institution. With the exception of three boys, the conduct of the whole school has been satisfactory. The girls' school has, during the absence of Mrs. Fuchs, been under the charge of Mrs. Hubbard. Thirteen new girls have been admitted. In the male department of the normal school, conducted by Mr. Treusch, there are 32 students, whose behaviour is good and manly, and a Christian spirit pervades the whole Institution. In the female department there are 23 scholars, whose progress has been such as to cheer the hearts of those who have directed their studies. The practising and model schools, conducted by Mr. Weber, contain 150 boys, and the average attendance has been 110. Of the infant and Christian village girls' school the Secretary reports an increase both in number and proficiency. There are 70 children, with an average attendance of 60. The City girls' schools, under Mrs. Smith, are more than ever a source of satisfaction. The attendance has been more regular and the progress more steady. Nearly 200 children are educated, of whom the more advanced appear really to love their lessons, and are seldom absent.

Educational Statistics.

As to the congregation, how can I say our people are pure. We have had, during the year, to sorrow and to grieve; but God has not left us without joy. At an eclipse of the moon there was a crowded Mela, and almost all the teachers and senior pupils of the Normal School joyfully went two days to preach everywhere in the city.

The Normal schools have made progress, there being thirty-four young men and twenty-two girls in the respective schools. All lessons in every department are given in the vernacular, and here, it is thought, lies the secret of success.

Mr. Leupolt earnestly desires to devolve the supervision of the schools upon others, in order to be more exclusively occupied in preaching, which, like other means employed, he regards as incomplete in results, but which he is prepared to continue with renewed prayerful effort. The past experience and the future endeavours are mentioned in a brief narrative of the year's labour:—

Blossoms, but not fruit.

Preaching goes on, blossoms appear here and there, but, alas! no fruit—no fruit from preaching, none from schools, none from visiting. We are, however, not disheartened. I told our people the other day that we must follow the example of the prophet Isaiah. After having exclaimed in sorrow, "Lord, who hath believed our report, and to whom is the arm of the Lord revealed?" he proceeded with greater earnestness than ever in his preaching, and has given us the most precious discourse which we have in his prophecy. Myself and Catechists have at present two special prayer-meetings, for the purpose of entreating the Lord for India in general, and Benares and vicinity in particular. The Lord hear our prayers and help us!

During this cold weather, and the coming hot weather, we hope to do much for Gharwa and its surrounding villages. Some of the people appear to be almost Christians. We have a few blossoms. Two Hindu farmers have of their own accord given up working on the Lord's-day. But oh for an outpouring of the Holy Ghost!

Juanpore.

Of the three schools at this place, under the charge of Babu Dinanath Banerjee, the Rev. W. Hooper speaks in brief but satisfactory terms:—

As regards the Christian element in the teaching, I am able to report that this has gone on steadily and diligently. There is now a Christian teacher to each of the three schools. As regards results, it is satisfactory to be able to copy the conclusion of the Head Master's Report:—"It seems to me that the Word of God is making a deep impression on the minds of some of the boys of the Central School." I may add that one of the Christian teachers, who is a Hindustani, is very laudably zealous in preaching and conversing in the city and country, after school, on the things of the kingdom of God. I have also preached in the city whenever I have visited Juanpore, as well as ministered to the Native and European Christian flocks.

AZIMGURH.

The illness of Mrs. Lockwood has compelled her for a time to be absent from the station, and the Rev. A. P. Lockwood has found himself much isolated and deprived of Christian communion. European Christians not residing in Azimgurh, Mr. Lockwood has been led to seek sympathy and counsel among his Native brethren. His experience is, that "there are no better counsellors in the great work" than they are. This experience leads him to the conviction that the chief aim of the Missionary must be "to teach Natives to convert Natives." There are four schools—three for boys and one for girls. The number of scholars is 341, and the average attendance has been 268. The Government Inspector considers the schools in a very satisfactory condition. Preaching to the heathen has been carried forward in ten of the larger, and 150 of the smaller places in the district. The Colporteur of the Bible Society, who joined the Missionary in his itineration, sold 200 copies of Scripture. Mr. Lockwood mentions the baptism and death of an aged convert:—

Christian sympathy of Natives towards the lonely European Missionary.

Baptism of an aged convert.

I have been privileged to admit into the fold of Christ an aged woman. She must have been considerably over sixty years of age. Her life had not been a virtuous one. Of her sincerity there could be no doubt, I think; and it was deeply interesting to see the hoary head seeking the way of God after so long a departure from Him, and approaching the baptismal font with faltering steps, but with full resolve publicly to confess Christ. How I prayed that she might indeed be baptized with the Holy Ghost! She died suddenly, from congestion of the brain, six months afterwards. As she was insensible during her last hours, it was impossible to ascertain the state of her mind; but there can be no doubt, I think, that she fell asleep in Jesus.

GORRUCKPORE.

The Rev. H. Stern is not able to announce any considerable progress. The Native congregation remains stationary. The attendance on religious services has been satisfactory, but not a convert has been added to the Church during the year. The Anglo-vernacular school contains 241 children; the three bazaar schools, 92; the Christian girls' school, 56; and the Basharatpore school, 52; making a total of 441 scholars.

FYZABAD.

Having removed in February 1866 from what he terms the palace of Lucknow to the tomb of Fyzabad, the Rev. C. Reuther naturally contrasts the field of labour in the former and the latter sphere. The two stations are thus compared:—

I have but little to say respecting the Mission work at Fyzabad. The work here is still in its very infancy, and must be created before it can be carried forward. We came here in February last.

There were then no Native Christians here, no schools, no bazaar preaching; in fact, nothing at all that betokened the existence of a Mission at this place. The Rev. W. J. Ball had been ill for a long time, and he too was gone. A Mission tomb was all we found, and we had to enter it. It was no pleasant feeling to remove from a royal palace at Lucknow into a tomb at Fyzabad—from the midst of an entensive sphere of usefulness into the confines of a burial-ground, where every thing looked dead and devoid of life; but we tried to make the best of it. We are now accustomed to our new situation, but we have not forgotten our beloved work at Lucknow. Fyzabad, indeed, is a better and healthier place than Lucknow; the Mission tomb is more comfortable and cheerful than the palace at our former station; but Lucknow is more interesting, so far as the work is concerned. There the work is ready, and needs only be done; here it must first be created. But, thanks to the Lord of the harvest, the Mission at Fyzabad is gradually coming out of its tomb. We have now three Native helpers, eleven Native Christians, one candidate for baptism, one orphan child, one school for heathen girls, with twenty-four scholars, and bazaar preaching every day. May our Heavenly Father, who brought again from the dead our Lord Jesus Christ, that Great Shepherd, give light unto the Fyzabad Mission, and multiply our small beginnings an hundred-fold.

A more general view of present Missionary effort and future success is furnished by Mr. Reuther:—

The Gospel in Hindustan is indeed not in word only: I am far from thinking so. There is among our hearers many a Nicodemus, searching the Scriptures quietly, and quietly asking, "What must I do to be saved?" We have reason to believe that the Gospel with us is not in word only, but also in power and in the Holy Ghost. But society is so peculiarly composed in this land, caste is so strong in Hindustan, that we may yet have to wait some time, before we can point to many cases of public baptism in Upper India.

The other day we were out in tents as far as Purtabgurh, one of the places where we were so well received three years ago. This year again we were well received, but the Mohammedans were rather bitter against us, and opposed us a good deal. It would appear that the Gospel came too close to them three years ago, and they feared for Islam. From Purtabgurh we went to Sultanpoor. There we found the people turbulent in the bazaar, and they declared that they never would become Christians. Three years ago we were robbed here, and met with the same spirit of opposition. But even from this place we went away full of hope. The victory of the Gospel in the land is sure and certain. It is only a question of time. The Lord reigneth, and His kingdom is coming.

Hope amid opposition.

LUCKNOW.

During the last eight years the Gospel has been preached and taught in the bazaars, villages, highways, and schools of this district. Four Native Assistants have, during the last year, been engaged in direct Missionary work, of whom two have resided in the city. The number of conversions has not been great, but a spirit of inquiry appears to exist. The Rev. C. P. Menge writes on this subject:—

Tendency of the native mind.

I am glad to say that many have shown, as far as man can judge, that they look on the Gospel in a very different light from what they did when I first came here, and openly evince their esteem for the messengers of peace and goodwill to men. Even indirectly it has come to my knowledge that the Gospel leaven is working in the minds, and I trust also in the hearts, of many. Thus a young Pundit told me one day, after I had finished preaching in the bazaar, that he used to entertain very bitter thoughts against Christianity; but when he once talked strongly against this, as he fancied, erroneous religion to his Guru (who is reputed to count his disciples by thousands, many of whom are wealthy and in high rank), the latter replied that he was mistaken in his opinion of Christianity; that Jesus Christ, the author of it, was a true Incarnation; and that the English nation had become so great and powerful on account of this very religion. Another indirect proof of the influence of the Gospel is the desire many have, not merely of reading the Word of God, but also of studying the arguments in favour of it. Many have read Moulvie Safdar Ali's letter, in which he gives his reasons for embracing Christianity, and I am sure that it will gradually influence not a few. Since then, Moulvie Imadudeen's work, lately published in Lahore, and several copies of which I have given to Moulvies and others in Lucknow, is producing a stir among many. Some weeks ago a native bookseller called on me, and asked for two copies of this work: he bought them for eight annas each, as two Mohammedan gentlemen had called at his shop in order to buy them. The desire to subvert Christianity by false teachers may also be looked upon as an indirect proof of the influence of Christianity.

AGRA.

Relieved from the duties of the Mission station, the Rev. F. E. Schneider was able to undertake an itinerating tour for three months, and thus to preach the Gospel in 400 villages. The inhabitants of some of these places had not previously heard the message of salvation. A brief account of his reception by the villagers is given by Mr. Schneider:—

Three months we were itinerating, and visited many large towns and about 400 villages with the message of peace. In many places the preaching of the Gospel was something quite new: no preacher had ever visited them. I enjoyed this Missionary excursion very much, and found much encouragement in addressing large assemblies of heathen, who listened with great attention and interest. My two Native helpers were active and zealous in the work. We sold and distributed a good many biblical books and tracts, and I was sorry that our supply in Hindi publications was sooner exhausted than I had expected. Everywhere we were cheerfully received: often we were invited to stay longer or come soon again. In some places we were reproached that we had not brought the glad tidings which we proclaimed sooner to them. Many were convinced of the truth and superiority of our blessed religion over Hinduism and Mohammedanism; and we met also a few persons, who were willing to place themselves under Christian instruction, and three or four inquirers after the truth promised to come to Agra. On several occasions we preached to large crowds of pilgrims, men and women, who were going to the great Mela at Allahabad.

Extensive itinerating tour by an experienced Missionary.

The late Bishop of Calcutta ordained F. Abel and J. Kadshu at Agra, in January 1866. In summarizing the statistics of Agra, Secundra, and Allygurh, together with their outstations, the Rev. H. W. Shackell states that there are 870 Native Christians, of whom 184 are communicants, and that the scholars number 1022.

Diminished strength, after nearly twenty-nine years of Missionary labour, has necessitated an arrangement by which the Rev. F. E. Schneider can retire to the hills during the hot months, and itinerate in the plains in the cold season. The Native congregation, numbering 249, has in consequence been more immediately under the charge of the Native Pastor, the Rev. J. Jacob. This little community of Native Christians has raised 40*l.* during the year for the support of its Pastor, whose zealous labours are thus noticed by the Rev. H. W. Shackell:—

Readiness of small nativecongregation to support its Pastor.

In consequence of Mr. Schneider's increasing weakness of health, it is for the future arranged that he shall spend the hot weather on the hills, while he itinerates in the plains during the cold season. The oversight of the congregation has accordingly been intrusted to the Native Clergyman, the Rev. J. Jacob, and myself. This has been since April, and it thus happens that my present annual letter will treat of a wider range of topics than my former ones.

I have already mentioned how much the Rev. J. Jacob seems to be liked, and how active he is in his work. Whenever I have been in the station on Sunday, we have shared the service equally, he and I taking the morning sermon on alternate Sundays. When

I have been absent, which happens about as often as my being present, he has had all the three services to himself. The Church services have been carried on as in Mr. Schneider's time, with the addition of daily morning, and, more latterly also, evening service, which have been instituted by Joseph Jacob of his own account.

Allygurh.

Occasional visits to this station have been made by the Rev. H. W. Shackell, of Agra, who bears testimony to the increase of the congregation under Mr. Steller's care, and adverts to some natives of position, one of whom joyfully embraces Christianity, and another professes his belief in its doctrines:—

Joy of a native convert.

The congregation, from one cause or another, has much increased: the last return gave forty as the number of Christians. Four adults have been baptized in the year. Two of these were Mr. Steller's own servants; another was a very interesting old man, a Brahmachari, in the police, whose display of joy at being a Christian has been excessive. Just about the end of the year he was removed to the Juanpore district. Moulvie Syad Ahmed Khan is the Native Judge there. He has erected (that is, his literary Society has erected) a really fine building, containing a lecture-room, reading-room and library, for the use of both Europeans and Natives; but I fear it is not used so much as it ought to be. Another interesting man there is Pundit Shobha Ram, the Head Master of the Government school, who once asked Mr. French to baptize him, but drew back in consequence of the opposition of his relatives, and still professes to be a Christian by belief.

MEERUT.

The present year completes a decade from the date of the Mutiny, which commenced in this city. At its close many inquirers appeared, and the Mission has subsequently expanded. The labourers, indeed, have all been changed, but the work has been advanced. The Mutiny deprived the Missionary stem at Meerut of every branch, but nine have since put forth and grown on the parent stock. During the decade, 410 adults and about the same number of children, have been baptized. Of the adults, about 100 were received into the Christian Church at Meerut, and 300 at the different out-stations. The Mission now numbers 787 Native Christians, of whom 338 are communicants. The instances of apostacy, always painful to the Missionary, have been few, and the diligent, self-denying efforts now made by the Native Christians, for the maintenance of their Pastor and for defraying necessary Church expenses, are as interesting in detail as they are satisfactory in principle. These efforts are delineated by Mr. Hœrnle:—

Progress and statistics of Native Church at Meerut.

At the resuscitation of the Mission, at the end of the Mutiny, there was not a single rupee forthcoming in the shape of a Church Fund: at the end of the present year we have one amounting to upwards of Rs. 3500. It is hoped that within a few years, adding the surplus of current contributions, it will yield a considerable portion of the support of a Native Pastor, so much needed for the charge of the cantonment branch of the congregation. There is every prospect that eventually he will be independent of all support from direct Mission funds, whether local or foreign. The above fund is being raised partly by monthly subscriptions and partly by contributions in grain. The former are regularly paid by the members of the city congregation, and such of the out-stations as are earning ready money, and the latter are contributed by their poorer brethren of the land-cultivating communities. Each family tilling as much ground as one plough can do, offers a gift to the church at harvest-time consisting of a certain quantity of the produce of their fields. From the direct subscriptions, and the proceeds of these contributions, the current church expenses are paid, and the surplus, if there be any, is added to the Church Fund. At Ikla they have, besides their gifts in grain, adopted the following plan to augment their fund, and to enable them to build a better chapel and school than their present temporary one, which has become too small and altogether unsuitable for Divine Service. They have selected a small plot of ground, which they call the church land. This is cultivated in turns by those families that can best do it. From the annual produce the land rent, water rates, seeds, &c., are first paid, and any balance that remains over and above these expenses, is added to the Church Fund. The balance from the year ending June 30, 1866, was Rs. 122, though the community is yet small, and all the members had been reduced to almost absolute destitution by the famine of 1861.

Contrast between the close of the Mutiny and the close of last year.

While Mr. Hœrnle's second son, the Rev. Rudolph Hœrnle, assists his father in the work of the ministry, the eldest son has, for the present, charge of the educational department of the Mission, and a third son is at a distant out-station.

The schools contain 373 children, and the hope is entertained that they may supply future teachers and a few worthy candidates for the ministry. Of the Anglo-vernacular school the following statement is made:—

Our Anglo-vernacular school, for many years a chief branch of the Meerut Mission, has been steadily improving in the new rooms, which were erected, in 1861, on a larger and more suitable plan. The improvement is apparent, not so much in the number of boys attending the school, as in the system of tuition, which was gradually raised to a higher and more efficient standard. The number on the books is between 160 and 180. This is not quite satisfactory for a town like Meerut, with its large cantonment, but considering that there is another school of the same kind under Government supervision, with an attendance nearly as large, it is perhaps all that can be expected from the proportion of inhabitants which has any inducement, or feels any desire, for the study of English. Instruction is now imparted in almost all branches of knowledge generally taught in our Mofussil Colleges. The monitor system has been successfully introduced. Should our present Head Master be able to remain longer at his post, there is every prospect that two or three pupils will be annually ready for the entrance examination of the Calcutta University.

KOTGHUR.

The Rev. W. Rebsch has continued his labours at Kotghur, but no account of proceedings for the last year has been received.

III. The Punjab.

The Punjab Mission comprises six principal Stations—Umritsur, commenced 1852; Kangra, 1854; Peshawur, 1855; Múltan, 1856; Derajât, 1861; Cashmir, 1863.

UMRITSUR.

The Missionary staff at Umritsur has been weakened by the absence in England of the Rev. W. Keene and the Rev. J. M. Brown. The Rev. Townsend Storrs, however, reached this place at the commencement of the year. The Rev. R.

Clark, in giving the statistics of the Native congregation, speaks of the important influence which some of those recently baptized may exercise over their countrymen:—

The number of baptisms during the past year has been fifteen, of whom four are adults. One of the latter is a learned Moulvie, in Government employ, who for twenty years has been in search of peace; and who, after stumbling for half a life-time on the mountains of Mohammedan philosophy and Soofeism, has at last found God's righteousness in Christ. He has this year published two important Hindustani works, the one of them showing the reasons which led him to renounce Mohammedanism, and to embrace the religion of Christ; and the other descriptive of the workings of his own mind in his long search for truth. He is now employed in writing a critical and more elaborate work, a reply to the "Ijáz Isawi," which, though published in 1853, has hitherto remained unanswered, and appears to be one of the chief weapons used by the Mohammedans of this part of India against Christianity. It professes to be written from acknowledged Christian sources, and parades at its commencement a list of no less than 216 Christian authors, of all countries and Churches and sects, from Clemens and Ignatius, down to Scott and Paley; and boasts that it has proved by references to Luther, Calvin, Cranmer, and Zwingle, as well as to Pearson, Patrick, Horne, and Milner, that both the Old and New Testaments, as they now stand, are full of defects. Its authors, Moulvie Rahmat-ullah and Doctor Mahomed Wuzeer Khan, were the champions of Mohammedanism against Christianity in the celebrated Agra controversy with Doctor Pfander and Mr. French; and, true to their creed, they were amongst the first to take up more material weapons against the same Christianity, during the Mutiny of 1857, when they were proved guilty of offences, for which one at least of them could not be pardoned by the Queen's amnesty. The one of them is now in Arabia, and the other a proclaimed outlaw in Constantinople, where, four months ago (in order to counteract the effects of the Turkish edition of Doctor Pfander's Mizan-ul-Haqq), he published another garbled and untrue statement of the Agra controversy, which, according to his own account, was "translated into Turkish by the learned Iskander Ebn Mohamed, of Cashmire; and is accepted and agreed to, and approved of, by the Council of Instruction, the Grand Council, and the Cabinet Council (i.e. by the whole Turkish Government), as well as by the Ulemah and the learned generally."

Influence of recently baptized converts.

Mohammedan want of faith in Islamism and inquiry about Christianity.

It is a remarkable fact, that of the other Moulvies who took part in the above-named Agra controversy, no less than three have already embraced Christianity, two of the three being acknowledged by all to be very learned men, namely, Moulvie Safdar Ali, of Jubbulpore, and the late convert Moulvie Imaduddeen.

It would almost appear that at the present time there is, religiously as well as politically, a breaking-up of Mohammedanism. Although only a few as yet have openly embraced Christianity, the number of those who have practically discarded it is large. During the past year several Mohammedans of influence and position have plainly expressed their entire disbelief in Mohammed, and their adherence to Christianity, although the fear of man has prevented them from being baptized.

Education.

School statistics.

On the death of the Rev. F. Wathen, the charge of the Anglo-vernacular school devolved on the Rev. Townsend Storrs. The average number of boys has been about 200. As a mark of esteem for Mr. Wathen, the boys subscribed a fund, the interest of which is to be spent in providing a medal to be given annually to the best boy in the school.

In the four schools for heathen girls there are 194 scholars, who all receive Christian instruction. The Orphanages for boys and girls contain about 70 children.

KANGRA.

Effective assistance of a native Minister.

Systematic itineration has been prosecuted by the Rev. J. N. Merk, who, at the close of the year, was compelled to arrange for a visit to England. The Rev. J. Kadshu, a Native Minister, ordained by the late Bishop of Calcutta, has been an effective helper to Mr. Merk, and will now be especially serviceable in the Mission. Mr. Merk thus refers to his itinerating labours:—

Attentive hearers of the Gospel.

As in former years, I have, during the period under review, also systematically travelled over the greater part of the district, preaching and distributing books. In former years the Gospel met occasionally with opposition. This has ceased of late; and whilst I think this favourable change is partly the result of the kindly feeling grown out of our intercourse with the Natives during so many years, I would fain hope that there is something more in it, that the Natives begin to have somewhat clearer views of the religion of the Christians, and that the leaven of the Gospel begins to do its work quietly and imperceptibly. To give one instance showing the willingness of many Natives to hear the Word of God. A mela took place during one night in the neighbourhood of Nadaun. The next day large numbers of people passed through the bazaar, coming from the mela after they had spent the night near a Per. We could not, for this reason, expect that they would listen to our preaching, yet crowds of people listened attentively, indeed till my assistant and myself were so tired that we could not preach any longer. It is on such occasions that the preacher feels what a privilege it is to be permitted to proclaim the Gospel to the poor.

With grateful hearts we returned to our tents. The same experienc we had in other places.

Last year the Mission has been strengthened by the Rev. J. Kadshu having been stationed at Kangra. He is a Native of Kotghur, where I baptized him in 1853. In January 1865 the late lamented Bishop of Calcutta ordained him, and in March following he joined the Mission. He had been a great help to me, enabling me especially to undertake a lengthened preaching tour to Mandic, Kalor, Lahoul, Pungi and Chamba. For several years past I have visited Mandic regularly, and have of late found it a good place for preaching. As Mandic is governed by its own Rajah, idolatry is of course upheld and protected. The Rajah is nevertheless friendly, and received me in as kind a way as I could expect.

MÚLTAN.

This part of India, arid spiritually as well as physically, has yielded some promising fruit to the efforts of the Missionary, the Rev. G. Yeates, who has laboured alone at Múltan. Mr. Yeates has taken a step in advance by occupying a Native house within the city walls, and is thus in the immediate vicinity of the main thoroughfares. The Anglo-vernacular school has been conducted under great difficulties, arising from the want of an efficient Master, but an average attendance of eighty boys has been attained. The girls' school has been energetically superintended by Mrs. Yeates, the attendance having averaged nearly fifty. At Soojabad, twenty-five miles south of Múltan, on the repeated solicitations of the inhabitants, an Anglo-vernacular school was commenced early in the year, and now contains fifty-eight boys. Educational work by Christian women, and more especially in connexion with one who now teaches a girls' school, is thus narrated in the yearly statement:—

Fruit in an arid region.

One family of the few converts has removed within the year to another station, but it was to occupy a sphere of greater usefulness. The husband is employed as a Catechist, and the wife has obtained the responsible appointment under Government of Deputy Inspector of girls' schools, in an important district of the Punjab. Another case, still more satisfactory to the Missionary who longs for spiritual fruit, is the conversion of the heathen teacher of the girls' school at Múltan. The case is not a little remarkable, as being an unusual instance of a Hindu woman taking somewhat of an independent part in matters of religion. She is a Sihkim, and had somehow learned to read. She chanced to meet with a large printed placard exhibiting the ten commandments, and some Bible texts in Gurmukhi: she read and wondered, and resolved to find out more about the religion of the Missionaries. The result was, that after a time she was employed as teacher of a school in her own village; and at the end of the present year, having continued to give satisfactory evidence of her sincerity, she was, at her own earnest desire, baptized. Her husband has not opposed the step. Her only child is a married daughter, who has not yet joined her mother in her profession of Christianity.

DERAJÂT.

The Rev. Robert Bruce, though suffering from weak health, has been enabled to continue at Dera Ishmael Khan another year. He will now be assisted by the Rev. D. Brodie, who has recently been assigned to Mission work in the Punjab. Mr. Bruce states that the progress is slow but steady. There is a large increase in the number of scholars, and a slight increase in the congregation. The "Native Christian labourers" are personally mentioned:—

A converted Brahmin.

Mr. Chukarbarti—A converted Brahmin from Dr. Duff's Institution in Calcutta, is the Head Master of the Mission school at Dera Ishmael Khan. Little more than half a century has elapsed since Henry Martyn wrote, that if ever a Bengali Brahmin became a Christian, a miracle will indeed have been wrought. Is it not a matter for thanksgiving, that, so far away from Calcutta, on the very confines of wild Afghanistan, the word of God is daily taught by a Bengali Christian Brahmin? Mr. Chukarbarti's eldest son is reading for the Calcutta University in the first class of the Mission school.

Mr. John Williams—Son of a convert of the Church Missionary Society's Mission at Gorruckpore came to Dera Ishmael Khan, in Government service, as a Native doctor. But God had a higher work for him to do, as second English Master and Bible teacher of the Mission school. His knowledge and former practice of medicine often prove of great use in his Mission work.

Brahmin becomes a Catechist

Jan Dyal—A converted Brahmin from the neighbourhood of Delhi, is Catechist attached to the Bunnoo Branch Mission.

Wariz Masih—A convert from Mohammedanism, baptized at Furruckabad, is supported by the Punjab Bible and Tract Society as a Bible Colporteur in connexion with the Derajât Mission. He is most zealous and successful in this work.

Mussulman becomes a Mission agent.

Alumgeer—Also a converted Mussulman, of a respectable family near Umballa, learned the Bible from a Native Christian gentleman, whose servant he was. He is now manager of the Mission Book Shop and Poor House, and also a student in the Mission school.

Yahiya Bakir—A gentleman, a native of Kandahar, the first-fruit of that city, was baptized by the late Dr. Pfander in Peshawur about ten years ago. His nephew Jowad Mesih, and Ibrahim who has been his servant for nineteen years, have since become Christians. One night, while lying half asleep in his house in the Mission compound in Peshawur, a fanatic Mohammedan, from the Momund hills, rushed into Yahiya Bakir's room, and brutally inflicted on him seven wounds with a sword. He was hardly conscious of what had happened before his intended murderer disappeared, thinking he had left him dead. Two of his fingers were cut off, his shoulder-blade was severed, and both his hands were cut open. By a merciful Providence he was soon restored to health, but never recovered the use of his hands.

Persecuted almost to death for embracing the Gospel.

For three years he lived at his own expense, with his nephew and servant, in Shikarpoor, as a preacher of the Gospel. Surely the Church of Christ will never cast off one who has thus been a martyr to the name of Jesus.

An inquirer is also noticed in the Report of the Derajât Mission:—

Noor-ul-Haqq—Mention may be made of a Mohammedan priest, a native of Guzni in Afghanistan, (the ancient seat of the famous tyrant, Sultan Mohammed of Guzni). On his way to Hindustan, for the purpose of reading the Scriptures, whose praises he had read in the Korán, he was attracted by the Mission school at Dera Ishmael Khan. Being invited to take a seat, and asked his reason for undertaking so long a journey from his home, he alleged illness, and the fame of European medicines, as the cause; but no sooner was he alone with the Missionary in his study than he declared that his real purpose was to read the Gospel. He spent more than three months in the Mission, poring over the Old and New Testaments, and comparing them with the Korán. He was strangely alive to the inconsistencies and contradictions contained in the book of the false prophet, and eagerly embraced the doctrine of the Divinity and Sonship of the Lord Jesus, saying that this doctrine, though strongly denounced in some parts of the Korán, was as clearly proved as the others.

A Mohammedan priest becomes a diligent student of Scripture.

Before he left he composed a tract on this subject. It was too deep a truth for a novice to treat successfully, but the tract shows considerable learning and very great diligence in the study of the Bible. He has a family in Guzni, eight in number, and left Dera on January 30, 1866, to bring them, and be baptized. Great indeed is the danger to his life on the one side, and his faith on the other, which he has thus run. Which of us can find fault with him for not at once forsaking all and following Christ? May He who breaks not the bruised reed nor quenches the smoking flax deliver him and his family from the mouth of the lion!

The motives for undertaking school work are, together with the character and extent of such work, stated by Mr. Bruce:—

A Missionary's justification in giving attention to school work.

To the age of thirty our Lord and Master laboured in a carpenter's shop. He preached for three and a half, and worked for nearly thirty years. The great Apostle of the Gentiles lived by the labour of his hands, as a tent-maker, and yet found time for prayer and preaching. Is it then unbecoming that a Missionary also should labour for those to whom he would preach the Gospel? Surely not. Though he may labour long, yet he too will, if he faint not, see the fruit of his labour. What labour should be more gratefully and cheerfully accepted as his appointed work, than that of educating the youths of the people to whom he is sent? Often, as he teaches Euclid, arithmetic or geography to heathen boys, his proud heart rebels, and he fancies he was called to a higher work than this. But when it does so, let him call to mind the black goat-hair tent at which St. Paul worked so many happy hours, until his fellow-workers, Priscilla and Aquila became with him labourers in the vineyard of the Lord; or let him consider Jesus, the Son of God, who, after many years of bodily labour in Nazareth, left it, without one follower, to be baptized of John in Jordan. Let the same mind be in him which was also in Christ Jesus. Let him, too, learn "to labour and to wait." Would that all Christians in India knew the Master whom they serve, and from whom they shall receive all things done in the body, whether they be good or evil; and believe that no labour cheerfully performed for the people of this land, in Christ's name and through love for their souls, shall fail to receive its reward! Then indeed would the Gospel be preached, not in word only, but in act; and men, seeing their good works, would glorify their Father in Heaven.

The Dera Ishmael Khan school has enjoyed since February 1865 an advantage of which many Missionary schools in new Missions cannot avail themselves. Besides receiving four or five hours' daily instruction from the Missionary, it has two other Christian teachers, so that the Bible can, day by day, be carefully taught to every class.

The school has had the benefit of a visit from the Lieutenant-Governor of the Punjab. This visit most opportunely happened immediately after the Christmas examination, and the prizes were distributed by the Lieutenant-Governor: 295 pupils were present. The first class had been examined in the Old Testament history to the time of Ahab, and in the Gospels of Matthew, Mark, John and Luke, i—iii.

BUNNOO.

The Rev. H. S. Patterson's work at this place has been suddenly terminated by the serious illness of his wife, with whom he has been compelled to return to England. For the present such assistance as it is possible to afford in carrying on the work is given from Dera Ishmael Khan.

PESHAWUR.

A year of trial and difficulty has been experienced by the Missionaries at this advanced post. The Rev. T. R. Wade was compelled to spend the hot season in Cashmir, in order to avoid serious illness, and the work of the station consequently pressed heavily on the Rev. T. P. Hughes. Two Chaplains died within the year, and Mr. Hughes was for a time under the necessity of supplying English services to the garrison and residents at Peshawur. Under such pressure of duty, the Head Catechist, a consistent and reliable Christian, rendered effective assistance in the bazaar preaching, in the instruction of Native Christians, and in teaching the Scriptures in the schools. Notwithstanding the many demands upon his time and energies, Mr. Hughes has passed the examination in Urdu, and is now about to apply himself to the acquisition of Persian and Pushtoo. On the occasion of a Missionary tour in the North-west Provinces, the Rev. E. C. Stuart, Secretary to the Calcutta Corresponding Committee, visited Peshawur, and thus expressed his opinion of the position and present state of the Mission :— Trial and difficulty.

This Mission is an advanced post planted against the gate of Central Asia, which, I trust, may never be withdrawn until that gate shall be opened to the Gospel.

But besides the intrinsic importance of the position, the Mission has enjoyed other rare advantages, in the midst of many trials through the loss of men, and the tangible results of the generosity of patrons. The vigour and common sense of lay management and co-operation, and the experience of the Missionaries who began the work, are to this day apparent.

All the apparatus of a Mission is here complete and well planned. I think it is a matter of congratulation,—say rather of devout thankfulness to God,—that after those grievous trials of sickness and death through which the Mission has passed, we should now have two younger brethren in the work of so much zeal and judgment as Mr. Wade and Mr. Hughes. They have already passed through a sharp ordeal of trial, but they are in no wise discouraged nor faint-hearted in the work. I express the feelings of the Committee when I thank God for the grace bestowed upon them, and pray that the brother who is about to join them (the Rev. W. Ridley) may make a three-fold cord not soon to be broken. Apparatus of the Mission complete.

nine are Affghans. Concerning a Mohammedan convert baptized within the year, Mr. Wade writes:—

A Cabulee, of the name of Nadir Shah, had heard in his own country that the English were just. He had also been told by a celebrated Fakir that there was far less crime amongst Christians than amongst Mussulmans, and that therefore he considered their religion must be good. When Nadir Shah came down with a kafila to Peshawur, he was an attentive listener at the bazaar chapel to the preaching, and came several times to one of our readers to ask questions. At the commencement of the hot weather, he returned to Cabul, but came back again during the following cold season. This time he came to me and asked me for instruction in our religion, saying that he was sure when Mohammedans' lives were so bad, their religion could not be right. He stayed with me for two months, and was reading continually. At last, at the approach of the hot weather, feeling unwell—for he had not been used to the plains—he wished to return to his home, but entreated me to give him baptism before he left. I consented, and he was baptized March 11th. Next day, when he came to take leave of me, with tears in his eyes he kissed my hand, and thanked me for what I had done for him, and begged that I would pray for him, as his trials, he said, would be many. He also expressed an intention at some future time to return to Peshawur again for further instruction. He also expressed a hope of being able quietly to teach his own friends and relations in his village. I must add that he was by no means an ignorant man when he came to me. He spoke and read Persian fluently, and had a knowledge of Arabic and Pushtoo. This is the second Cabulee who has been baptized by me, and has afterwards returned to his own country. God grant they may be the leaven of good in that land of war and bloodshed!

Education.

Testimony of Sir Donald McLeod to the state of the Mission school.

The number of boys in the Mission school is nearly 500. Testimony to the value and efficiency of the school is borne by the Lieutenant-Governor, Sir Donald McLeod, C.B., who, after an examination, formed the appended estimate:—

On the whole, I felt greatly pleased with what we were able to see of the spirit and working of the Institution, as I am sure were all those present with me, and I cannot doubt that it is fulfilling a very important part in training the youth of Peshawur in a knowledge of better things than their ancestors were ever privileged to hear.

Similar testimony is given by the Archdeacon of Calcutta in reference to this school:—

Similar testimony by the Archdeacon of Calcutta.

The school, I am persuaded, is doing much good in imparting knowledge to the rising generation, and in tending decidedly to break down prejudices. It is marvellous what a change has come over this place within the last few years. It is not long since it was the scene of the severe rule of Runjeet Singh and his successors, and had, for previous ages, been over-ridden by Mohammedan rule and tyranny; and now Christianity is taught here, and the Missionaries set forth Christ as the Saviour of sinners, where before such a thing would not have been tolerated for a moment, but decapitation would have been the necessary result.

CASHMIR.

Success of the Medical Mission.

The appointment of Dr. W. J. Elmslie as Medical Missionary of the Society for Cashmir seems to have more than realized the expectations formed by those who urged such an appointment. Although Dr. Elmslie is at present only permitted by the Maharajah of Jummoo and Cashmir to remain six months of the year in Cashmir, yet his labours appear to have been very successful. The Report of the Cashmir Medical Mission thus speaks of the progress made under these adverse circumstances:—

Difficulties expected.

After spending the cold season at Lahore in studying the Urdu language, and attending the Government Medical Hospital to familiarize himself with the peculiar features of Indian disease, Dr. Elmslie, accompanied by two Native Assistants and a Christian Cashmiri Catechist, took his departure, in the month of April, for the future scene of his Medical Missionary labours. So great had been the opposition offered to the praiseworthy efforts of the Rev. Messrs. Smith and Clark, of the Church Mission, in former years, that Dr. Elmslie fully expected his difficulties to begin as soon as he should have entered the territories of his Highness the Maharajah. But in this expectation he was most agreeably disappointed, for, with one single exception, he was left unmolested in his operations from Kohala to Sirinagar. The plan he pursued on his march was as follows:—Having arrived at a village where he intended to halt for part of a day or for the night, he expressed a wish to see the Headman. On his appearing, Dr. Elmslie informed him of his character as a doctor, and his readiness to examine and treat, as well as circumstances would permit, all the sick of the village and neighbourhood whom he might have assembled before a certain hour. This information was on every occasion well received. Often, long before the specified time, little groups, of from ten to forty invalids, were gathered together outside the doctor's tent. The shade of some adjacent tree having been selected, there the sick, their relatives and friends, and the hard-wrought coolies, who had carried the baggage from the last halting-place, were congregated. When all was ready, a brief and suitable passage of Scripture was read, and simply and intelligibly explained, in the hearing of the assembled company. A short prayer to God was then offered up, graciously to bless the Word read and explained to the hearers, and also the advice and medicine about to be given to the sick.

The sick, many of whom had been brought considerable distances, were then examined, one by one, and received such treatment as the circumstances would permit. Religious tracts and copies of portions of God's holy Word were gratuitously distributed among those who, on trial, were found able to read, and, on several occasions, favourable opportunities presented themselves for holding private conversations on religious subjects. The addresses were attentively listened to, and many were the expressions of gratitude for the books, advice and medicine received by the people. By adhering to this plan, 145 patients, affected with various maladies were treated on the march from Dhanna to Sirinagar; whilst they, their friends and relatives, and upwards of 400 coolies heard something of the mystery of godliness, God manifest in the flesh, through whom alone man can be saved.

The necessary arrangements having with difficulty been made, the Medical Mission Dispensary was opened on the 9th May, and patients were daily seen and treated from that date to the close of the season. At first the attendance was small, but it gradually increased till as many as ninety patients, composed of men, women, and children, were on several occasions present. The plan pursued in the dispensary was similar to that followed on the line of march. The sick, having been gathered together in one place, had a carefully-selected passage of Scripture read and explained to them, after which a prayer was offered up to God for His blessing. The bodily ailments of the people were then attended to. It was extremely gratifying and encouraging to witness the marked attention and apparent interest with which those present listened to the glad news of the Gospel; and there is not wanting the cheering hope that, in addition to the physical relief afforded, the light of God's truth began to dawn on one or two formerly dark souls. Towards the middle of the season Dr. Elmslie, accompanied by his staff of assistants and Catechist, made a short Medical Missionary tour as far as Islamabad, and was well received by the people wherever he went. The need for medical aid and Christian Missionary effort is very great indeed in Cashmir. On the 17th October Dr. Elmslie was compelled, by promise and arbitrary custom, to quit the valley of Cashmir on his way to the Punjab, where he arrived in the beginning of the month of November. Since then he has been carrying on his Medical Missionary labours in the large commercial city of Umritsur, where an impression favourable to such work has been produced.

Spiritual instruction of those who visited the Dispensary.

The amount of physical relief and spiritual service rendered, both in Cashmir and Umritsur, is stated:—

The total number of patients who applied for relief during the season in Cashmir was 2295. Of this number 1502 were males, and 793 females. As to nationality, 31 were Hindustanees, 542 Punjabees, and 1703 were Cashmiris. As to religion, 8 were Christians, 570 Hindus, and 1712 were Mussulmans. Statistics showing the amount of relief afforded.

During the season there were fifteen of what may be denominated indoor patients, and thirty-two were visited and treated in their homes.

In all, there were 173 receptions of patients, at each of which an address on some suitable portion of Divine truth was delivered.

Two comparatively large supplies of tracts and copies of the whole New Testament, with copies of the separate Gospels, were gratuitously distributed among those who were found able to read. During the short time the dispensary was open in Umritsur, 405 patients were treated.

MADRAS.

Some unavoidable changes and consequent new arrangements have prevented the accomplishment of a portion of the work contemplated at the commencement of the year. The Rev. W. Gray, Secretary to the Corresponding Committee, has been compelled to seek invigorated health by a visit to Europe, and the Rev. P. S. Royston has resumed his labours as Secretary. The Rev. J. Bilderbeck has been absent from the Mission on account of feeble health, and the Rev. J. Gritton has retired from the service of the Society. The Rev. David Fenn left England with the intention of undertaking itinerating work in and around Madras, accompanied by the Rev. R. C. Macdonald; but the detention of Mr. Fenn in Ceylon, by reason of the exigencies of that Mission, has, together with his impaired health, hitherto prevented his entering upon the work in Madras. The Rev. G. Maxwell Gordon, late Curate of St. Thomas, Marylebone, having offered himself to the Society as a Missionary prepared to defray his own charges, was assigned by the Committee to labour in the Madras itinerancy, instead of the Rev. R. C. Macdonald, who is successfully engaged in school work. The Revs. W. T. Satthianadhan and V. Sandosham have been joined by another Native Minister, the Rev. T. V. Swami, who was ordained in London in June last, and has proceeded to Madras. The Rev. E. Sell continues in charge of the Harris School.

PALAMCOTTAH.

Education.

With a view to rendering effective assistance to the Rev. E.

Sargent in the work of the Palamcottah Vernacular Training Institution, Mr. Thomas Kember has given his attention almost exclusively to the study of the Tamil language, combining however, during the year, the teaching of English in the classes of the Institution.

Considerable increase in the native congregations.

At the close of another year's labour the Rev. E. Sargent is both admonished and encouraged by a review of the past. The increase in the congregations has been 331 souls, making 2150 professed Christians in the district. From the replies to judiciously selected questions placed before the Native Agents, Mr. Sargent has been able to elicit their views of the obstacles to progress, the advantages gained, and the general condition of the people, both Christian and heathen. In reply to the question, "What more can be done for the heathen than has been done?" the following testimony is given:—

There is no new discovery to be made in this matter, only the old means may be employed in an improved manner and with increased efficiency. We need to teach and preach with more love in our hearts, and with more grace and earnestness in our speech. We require to strive after making this subject to them a more personal and conscientious affair, not seeking so much to confound them by superiority of argument, as to make them feel that we are bonâ fide interested deeply in their welfare, and seek their good. Mere declamation against heathenism will effect nothing, and yet Catechists are very frequently drawn into this by the objections or remarks of their hearers. But for one word that may be said against idols and false gods, we should never part with our audience unless we have had a hundred words for Christ, His love, His power, His willingness to save.

Preparandi Institution.

The duties of the Institution have been continued by the Rev. E. Sargent, who is able to give the following favourable testimony:—

Satisfactory school work.

I am thankful to be able to report favourably of the diligence and conscientious conduct of all the teachers, and of the satisfactory behaviour of the students generally. During the year, three students, at the invitation of the Committee, volunteered to go to Madras and study medicine under Dr. Paterson, with a view to employment hereafter as Medical Catechists. This is an experiment which I trust, under God, will be found of great advantage in the furtherance of our work. The youths sent give fair promise of being useful Christian men. I have every confidence that their religious training will be well cared for at Madras, and I trust that the temptations they may meet with there will only strengthen their Christian character.

Education.

The Vernacular Training Institution, established for the purpose of training schoolmasters for Mission schools, has remained under the charge of the Rev. H. Dixon. The Rev. T. Spratt will, however, speedily return to South India, and will resume the office of Principal. While in Europe, Mr. Spratt has visited many educational establishments on the Continent, and will carry to his former sphere of successful labour the experience thus obtained. Mr. Dixon speaks of the pupils as prosecuting their studies with diligence and success. In addition to his work at the Institution, the superintendence of the Kadatchapuram district has been undertaken by Mr. Dixon, who briefly mentions the services of the Rev. Jesudasen John, the Native Clergyman:—

At Kadatchapuram, the Rev. Jesudasen John, our Native Clergyman, is still stationed; and I visit the place from time to time. As I told you in a previous letter, it is thirty miles from Palamcottah, with an exceedingly indifferent road (or rather bandy track). Mr. Jesudasen performs his duties quite satisfactorily, and, I doubt not, with benefit to those under his charge.

MENGNANAPURAM.

The Rev. J. Thomas has been compelled to pass six months at the Pulney hills, on account of ill health, but has returned to his Mission district in greatly restored strength. For the last six months of the year his son, the Rev. J. D. Thomas, has been in charge of the district. He is able to announce steady and satisfactory progress. The well-organized staff of Native Teachers efficiently sustain the various evangelical agencies. Each Catechist devotes two days in every week to preaching among the heathen. The village of Merangkulam, containing a population of 160, have placed themselves under Christian instruction. Much persecution has been endured, but their determination has remained unshaken. The boarding schools and village vernacular schools have not retrograded, though, as regards the latter, the preference of parents for sending their children to work rather than to school, operates very injuriously. During the year one Catechist has been ordained, and his support been provided by Native Christians. Three Catechists and one Christian schoolmaster have died, all relying fully and firmly on the Saviour. The particulars of the schoolmaster's death are given by Mr. Thomas:—

Firmness of natives under persecution.

Ordination of Catechist.

We have had this year to mourn the death of one of our oldest, most painstaking and successful schoolmasters. Masillamani, the master of the girls' day school in this village, has been in Mission employ for twenty-nine years. He soon showed by his diligence, zeal and piety that he was a trustworthy, valuable man, and an excellent schoolmaster, notwithstanding that he laboured under the disadvantage of being somewhat deaf. His school invariably did well, and obtained considerable praise from those who examined it from time to time. Masillamani, like Pakkianathen, had a delicate constitution, and had been brought several times to the very brink of the grave. He had been declining in health for a long time, and in August last became perceptibly worse. I visited him often, and was always cheered and comforted by his calm and happy state of mind. The last time I saw him he was exceedingly weak and feeble. I wrote on a slate (for his deafness had increased with the progress of the disease), "Do you believe on the Lord Jesus Christ?" He read the question, then, looking at me with a joyful, beaming countenance, and eyes lit up with holy confidence, he passed his hand round his heart to indicate the fulness of his dependence on the Saviour, and exclaimed, "I fully and fervently believe on Him;" and then, making another sign with his hand, as though grasping firmly at something, he reiterated the words, "like an anchor, like an anchor." "Christ is my life: to die is gain." He had no fears, no misgivings or doubts; he "knew whom he had believed, and was persuaded that He was able to keep that which he had committed unto Him against that day." He died full of hope, and with the joyful anticipation of a glorious resurrection. Masillamani was married to the first pupil with whom my dear mother commenced her boarding school, and his eldest son, I am happy to say, is now employed as a Catechist in this Mission.

Peaceful death of an old Schoolmaster.

The manner in which the European Missionary, during a journey by night, casually meets the Native Christian who is engaged in his evening prayers, is narrated:—

About the beginning of the year I had a long journey to accomplish. I sent on my servants during the day, and started alone, on horseback, about 10 P.M., as the moon was rising, for a village on the road ten miles from this. After having ridden for about four miles, I became somewhat uncertain respecting the right track, and allowed my pony to follow a footpath, which led through a thorn jungle. As we were emerging out of it, I heard a voice, and, on looking, saw a man kneeling down near the bank of a paddy field. For a moment I remained quiet, then called out to him. He seemed a little startled to hear and see me, but presently came up. I asked him who he was, and what he was doing there at that time of night. He said he was from Pilley Velley, a Christian; that he had come to keep the night-watch over the paddy cultivation, in order to drive off wild duck and teal, which are very destructive to the corn; and that he was just kneeling to perform his evening devotions. I further inquired if he was not afraid to be in such a lonely place at such an hour. "No," he replied; "why should I? God is with me, and He is all powerful." We had some more conversation together, and I urged him to continue to serve the Lord with his whole heart, faithfully unto death. He then led me, as I requested, to the proper track, and left me to proceed on my journey, thankful to God for what He had wrought. This was a most encouraging and cheering incident. It was quite casually that I came upon the man. He was an ordinary Native rustic, and there, alone, late at night, unostentatiously kneeling down to offer his evening sacrifice of praise, and prayer and thanksgiving to Him who seeth in secret, but rewardeth openly. It is one of the greatest consolations we have in our work, to think that there are doubtless very many, whom we know not of, who are serving the Lord in secret. "The Lord knoweth them that are His."

Some remarks on the position and prospects of the Native Church are added by Mr. Thomas, sen.:—

Position and prospects of the Native Church.

Perhaps the only topic upon which I might be expected to say something is the position and prospects of the Native Church. The contributions of the people during the year have been liberal, and the sum of Rs. 2000 has been set apart for the support of the Native agents in these districts. An important meeting was held here in December last, when upwards of 120 headmen of congregations were present, to whom the accounts were read and fully explained. Several of them spoke with propriety on the subject of self-support. But it is my firm conviction, that until we have a distinct Native organization, the Native Church cannot possibly have any existence.

In nothing perhaps is the success more conspicuous than in the very large number of Native agents that have been raised up here.

Not only have my own wants been supplied with a full staff of well-educated, intelligent and zealous fellow-labourers, but the North Tinnevelly, Madras Mission, and the Cooly Mission in Ceylon, have to a very large extent, been supplied by me, with agents, and the highest testimony has been repeatedly borne to these good men by the Missionaries under whose superintendence they have laboured.

I have lately been much gratified with the clear enunciation of Gospel truth in the skeletons of sermons which the Catechists preach to their congregations, and read at our monthly meetings. There is no uncertain sound, but the whole Gospel is clearly and forcibly set forth by them. It is a glorious result to see more than fifty fellow-labourers as Catechists, besides a large number of well-trained schoolmasters, thus holding forth the Word of Life to the people around.

SUVISESHAPURAM.

Scarcity, famine and disease have pressed heavily on the inhabitants of some of the villages of this district. One small community, reclaimed from heathenism six years ago, has, for a time, relapsed. The landlord, who is a Brahmin, seized the opportunity afforded by almost universal affliction, and urged the people to return to devil-worship. Concerning the district generally, the Missionary, the Rev. W. P. Schaffter, can announce progress. The contributions of the Natives towards the support of their spiritual teachers have been satisfactory, considering the scarcity which has existed. There have been joys to gladden as well as cares to harass, successes to encourage as well as disappointments to dishearten.

Relapse of a small community to heathenism.

The comparative efficiency of European and Native itinerant preaching is thus presented by Mr. Schaffter:—

When I itinerate amongst the heathen in this district, I am either received by one and all with such a degree of respect and such an amount of adoration that makes me their lord and master, or I am treated as one who has no part or portion with them: in both cases, it is a hindrance to that teaching and preaching of the Word which goes from the heart to the heart, and which courts inquiry. Consequently, I must rest satisfied with casting the bread on the waters. But the itinerating Native generally meets with more success. He is at once received, whether by friend or foe, as one of themselves. He has more access to the people in general, and especially the women, and is able to sit for hours, if he chooses, in this or that heathen man's house, speaking to all who come or go, without being stared upon, or stared out, as an European would. It is very much the same in connexion with the congregations. It is altogether impossible for the European Missionary, with several thousand Christians under his care, scattered over fifty or sixty villages, to exercise that individual surveillance and influence which are so necessary to the spiritual welfare of every individual Christian. This lack must be supplied by Native agency: each congregation of 300 or 400 souls has a Catechist, who, being one with the people as regards birth, language and custom, can do more for his people than the European Missionary. The people depend entirely on their Native teachers, and the Native teachers entirely on the European Missionary for spiritual and temporal guidance. Without a Native agency, it would be impossible to carry on the work. I long for the time when our Native agents will have attained maturity of judgment, clearness of thought, and independency of action, for then alone will they be able to carry on the Lord's work independent of European agency and surveillance.

Effect of the cessation of Government care of heathen temples.

The adverse influence on heathenism of the Government measure, by which the care of heathen temples was, a few years ago, devolved on Natives of position, is briefly but distinctly described :—

For many years Government managed the Endowment Fund connected with the various heathen temples and pagodas, and every thing went on smoothly and correctly, but within the last two or three years the matter was handed over to the management of Committees formed of respectable, wealthy and influential natives: the consequences are, that, even within this short time, the accounts are all getting into confusion. Government could not possibly have taken a more favourable step to ruin heathenism.

DOHNAVUR.

Description of the Native Teachers.

There are, of course, two classes, the teachers and the taught. The teachers are a Native Clergyman and twenty-three Catechists. Among these are men of various degrees of piety, and very various degrees of mental cultivation. Some have had too little previous preparation for their office, as I mentioned in a former Report, using it as an argument for strengthening the boys' boarding school. But some are remarkable for practical wisdom. Some have matured experience. Some are qualified with great patience and perseverance. Not one has had to be dismissed for many years, and only now and then is there occasion for much fault-finding. Weaknesses they have, in common with their more privileged European brethren; and weaknesses and failings they have besides, which are more peculiar to Native character. But after all deductions for these, I am sure that amongst the subscribers to the Church Missionary Society, no reasonable person, competent to form an opinion, would be greatly disappointed at the results of the work to which he had contributed on becoming acquainted with the Catechists who have been raised up from amongst their brethren as teachers and preachers of the Gospel.

As for the taught, they comprise, men, women and children, 2646 souls, and, like their teachers, exhibit a great variety of character and proficiency. Of these, 1646 are baptized, and 268 are communicants. One reason for the small number of these last is, that they live in scattered villages, in small congregations, where they have no opportunity of receiving the Lord's Supper, without going some distance from home in order to do so. In Christian knowledge I feel sure that progress is being made, and in piety I have reason to hope that progress is being made also. As for liberality, it can be tested by the amount received in subscriptions and donations. Let it be noticed then, first, that the contributions of the people themselves have supported two Catechists for the whole year, two more for half the year, and two more for one quarter of it, at a cost of Rs. 302-12-0. Next, that out of the same contributions Rs. 278-8-10 have been paid during the year, for the repairs of churches, schools, and teachers' houses. Further, that nearly Rs. 200 more have been raised and expended on the spot for these and similar objects, without passing through the Missionary's hands; and, lastly, that a balance of Rs. 162-14-0 is still available.

The efforts to make known the Gospel of Christ, and the extent of success attending these efforts, are noticed:—

Our efforts to convey the Gospel to the heathen, and to bring them into the Christian fold, have been carried on as usual, by preaching, by conversation, and by the sale amongst them of Scriptures and tracts. Two hundred and forty single Gospels have been sold in this way during the year; at a low price, indeed, but still sold, and not given away. Here, as in other matters, we are deeply indebted to the Bible Society. We have sold, also, tracts and First Reading-books in Tamil, to the number of 1572, and have received Rs. 20-2-9 for them. In two heathen villages the people have renounced their idolatry, broken their idols, and given up their little temples to be used as prayer-houses. These are palpable results, and we believe in other results which are not palpable. We believe that consciences have been appealed to; that the Gospel has been preached for a witness; and that seed has been sown which will hereafter spring up. Above all, we believe that we have been fulfilling the Master's command; and that both those who do this, and all who aid them in doing it, from love to Him, have assuredly His favour and approbation. For such results we ought to be thankful. More striking and marvellous results I do not expect. I see no tokens in these parts that Hinduism is dying out. It is ancient, it is classical, it is prevalent. It has a hazy theology, a loose morality and a rigid ceremonial. It is latitudinarian, antinomian, ritualistic; and so it suits poor fallen human nature exactly. It is one of Satan's most elaborately constructed strongholds, and we must not despise such an enemy. Our cause, we are sure, will ultimately triumph, but until it does we must be content to labour, and patiently to persevere in our labours. Our eye must be on our work, and we must not allow our attention to be diverted from that by any exaggerated expectations of results, which lead to unreasonable disappointment at the want of them.

PANNEIVILEI.

Death of Rev. J. T. Tucker.

The Rev. J. T. Tucker, who laboured so long and so successfully at this station, has, during the year, entered into his rest. He died, after a few hours' illness, at Rempstone, Leicestershire, on September 24, 1866. His successor, (the Rev. J. D. Simmons,) while lamenting Mr. Tucker's death, is called at the same time to narrate the circumstances under which four of Mr. Tucker's converts died, two being the spiritual fruits of his Mission school, and two of his ministerial service:—

Spiritual fruits of Mr. Tucker's labours.

I must allude to the death of Mr. Tucker. The Committee are well aware of the loss which the cause has sustained by his removal to his rest. But perhaps I have more opportunities of estimating fully what the Panneivilei Christians have lost by his death. I have continual evidence of his entire devotion to their interests, both temporal and spiritual, but, like his great Ensample, he made the former to bear upon the latter: it was the eternal salvation of souls for which he longed and prayed so much, and laboured so faithfully. The most satisfactory eulogy that I can pay to his memory will be to give a few instances of the Lord's blessing upon his labours. I shall briefly allude to four, all of whom, I have good hope, have been gathered into the mansions of bliss since Mr. Tucker's own death. The first case is that of a young woman, who was educated in the boarding school. Previously to her leaving the school, she applied to be admitted to the Lord's Supper. I remember being well pleased with the apparent state of her mind on that occasion. About a year before her death she was married, and went to live in a village at a short distance. The Catechist of that village, and members of the congregation, bear testimony to her consistent walk and real piety. About two months ago her first child was born, and died very shortly after birth. The mother fell sick with fever, from which she died in a few days. Mrs. Simmons and I saw her on the night of her death. We did not think her so ill, and hoped that she would recover. She then said that she did not fear to die, for her trust was in Jesus. During the night she grew worse, and seemed quite sensible that her end had come. She exhorted her mother and friends not to weep, saying that she was happy and going to Jesus. Thus she passed away.

First case of dying convert.

Second case.

The second case is that of a young man, who was educated in the boarding school, and afterwards in Mr. Sargent's Institution. Whilst in that Institution he was convicted of deceit and lying in one case, so that when he came to the district for employment, Mr. Sargent said he could not confidently recommend him for spiritual work, but suggested that I should make him a schoolmaster, until his character was more fully proved. The youth felt very much at the time being disgraced, but fulfilled his duties satisfactorily as a schoolmaster for nearly a year. He then sent me, through the Catechist of his village and his brother, (another Catechist,) an earnest appeal to be employed in the work of directly preaching the Gospel, and asked to be made an itinerant Catechist. Mr. Isaac and others said that they believed him to be a true Christian youth, and sorry for his sin; so I appointed him to be an itinerant Catechist. On that very day he was taken ill with cholera, and died on the following day. The Catechist's wife, and members of the congregation who attended him in his illness, say that his death was a triumph over the last great foe. He frequently spoke of his happiness in the assurance of being pardoned by the blood of Jesus, and in the prospect of so soon being with his Saviour. When his father and brother arrived at the village he was too far sunk to speak, but seemed to recognise them, and signified by pressure of the hand that he still had peace. A few minutes after their arrival he entered upon eternity.

Third case.

The third case is that of an old man called Abraham. He was remarkable for his regular attendance upon the means of grace. On Sunday his place was always occupied: although, last hot season, he was employed for half the night in pulling our punkah, at early morning service he was to be seen in his usual place. The Catechist says that he was equally punctual at all the week-day services. Abraham's call, like that of many more in this country, was sudden, and at a season when unlooked for. His daughter was married to a young schoolmaster. Upon the day after the marriage, whilst the rejoicing friends were still present, the old man was attacked with cholera. I administered medicine, but it was not the will of God that his servant should recover. The old man said that he would have liked to have been spared ten days to settle his daughter; "but," said he, "if the Lord calls, I am willing to go." He expressed a wish to have the Lord's Supper administered to him. He seemed to revive a good deal at the time it was administered, and we thought that he would rally, but he died about four hours after. To my questions he said that he had no fear: his hope was in Jesus.

Fourth case.

The last case is that of another old man who died after a few weeks' illness. He was a Maravan by caste (thief caste) from the same village as Mr. Isaac. Many years ago all of that caste in the village came to Christianity to get help in a law-suit. But old Nallamutthu was such a heathen that he would not come, though probably he well knew that the others would not remain Christians. Those who had come to Christianity were determined that he should do as they did; therefore they troubled him, and I believe beat him, till he became a Christian. Nearly all of the others went back to heathenism, and remain heathens till this day; but he, who received the name of Nallamutthu at baptism, was apprehended by Christ, and remained a bright witness for Him up to his death. A few days before that event the Catechist was talking to him about his near end, when the old man, raising his poor bare bony arms, clasped to express his feelings, said, "I have taken hold of Him (Jesus), and will never relapse my hold." He bade his wife and children not to weep, but to sing songs of joy and praise at his grave. I arrived at the village on the morning that he entered upon glory. In the evening we buried him. There was only one thing that I regretted at the time: it was, that we could not sing songs of praise and triumph: most unfortunately none of us present were singers. The remains of the good old man were borne to their resting-place, to await the resurrection morn, by heathen, many of whom were formerly, for a time, professing Christians. It was a fine opportunity to speak. They knew the character of the man whose earthly remains we were committing to the earth. I could appeal to his life as an evidence of the power of God's grace, and to his death as an evidence of triumph over the great foe by faith in Jesus the living Saviour. "He being dead, yet speaketh."

Contributions of Native Christians and circulation of the Scriptures.

Although the Missionary, like every faithful minister, regrets that a higher spiritual tone does not pervade the hearts of the majority, the statistics of the year indicate an advance which cannot be regarded as discouraging. The Bishop of Madras confirmed 145 candidates early in the year. The schools have been well attended, and the attainments of the children are such as could reasonably be expected. The contributions of the Native Christians have been Rs. 1448, being an increase for the year of Rs. 116. There have been 341 Gospels and 1809 Christian tracts sold, almost exclusively to the heathen. Three Catechists are considered suitable for ordination, and there have been forty accessions from the heathen.

PANEIKULLAM.

Increase of contributions of Native Christians notwithstanding prevailing scarcity.

This Mission district, containing 1405 baptized persons, and 914 who, though not baptized, are under regular Christian instruction, has continued under the care of the Rev. J. Whitchurch, assisted by the Native Minister, the Rev. J. Nallathambi. Notwithstanding the scarcity which has prevailed during the year, the Native Christians have raised Rs. 150 more than last year for different spiritual objects. The communicants, 445 in number, give the Missionary much satisfaction. Twenty have been added within the year. The schools contain 389 boys and 94 girls.

NALLUR.

During the temporary absence of the Rev. W. Clark in England, the district of Nallur has been under the charge of the Rev. N. Honiss, the Missionary of the district of Surandei. Mr. Honiss has been assisted by the Rev. Devasagayam Gnanamuttu and the Rev. Abraham Samuel, who have respectively laboured in the western and eastern parts of the district. Mr. Gnanamuttu speaks of the spirit of charity and of the spiritual condition of the Christians in these terms:—

Native Minister's account of his flock.

The spirit of charity also is now increasing. All have learned, in a larger or smaller measure, that it is their duty to contribute to good objects, and several have learned already the easy and sure method of gathering money for charitable objects. All the families in the district, except a very few, have given according to each one's ability, from Annas 2 to Rs. 12 for the General Fund. The people of Kalianipuram stepped forward and have subscribed very liberally for their church, which was finished and opened for the service of God on the 15th of November last. The whole amount collected from the Native Christians in this division during the last year is Rs. 710-6-8; i.e. Rs. 271-10-9 for the Kalianipuram church, Rs. 17-7-0 for the Kovilutthur church, and Rs. 421-4-11 for the general objects of the district. In connexion with this, I should not forget to acknowledge the sum of Rs. 450, which Dr. T. Antony, Native Surgeon at Madura, has given, with his friends, for this church. Dr. Antony had his early education in this division, which was formerly called the Pavur district; then at the Church Missionary Society's Seminary at Palamcottah, and finally at Bishop Corrie's Grammar School at Madras, at the expense of the Church Missionary Society; and he was afterwards sent to the Medical College by our Committee at Madras. The help which he has rendered to this church, and his general conduct towards our Society, show that he has not forgotten the kindness which he received from it. May our beloved Society be instrumental in raising up many such men! To turn again to the subject of the contributions in this division. When I consider the great scarcity, on account of the failure of rain for the last two years; and when I consider also the number of people, which does not exceed in all 960 (including men, women, and children), I am very thankful to God for what He has done, and take courage in my future expectations.

As to the spiritual condition of Christians in this division, I think I have sufficient reason for hope that there is a decided progress in piety among our people. The separation from heathenism and its superstitions is becoming more and more manifest. Their desire to be more like Christians, to conform to the Christian manners and habits, and to the discipline of the Church, their regard for the means of grace, their love for the Word of God, their fellow-Christians, and the Ministers of the Gospel, their zeal for their religion, and their readiness to subscribe to benevolent objects, are, I believe, marks of their spiritual progress.

Concerning the contributions of the eastern division of the Nallur district, and the state of the "little flock" of Christians placed in the midst of heathenism, Mr. Samuel writes:—

During the past year our people have contributed towards the General Fund the sum of Rs. 428-13-11. It has been divided among several funds as follows:

Native Minister's detailed account.

To Church-building Fund	40	0	0
„ Native Church Endowment Fund . .	100	0	0
„ Pay of a Catechist for one year . .	84	0	0
„ Bible Society	25	0	0
„ Tract Society	17	5	11
„ Poor Fund	59	0	0
„ Catechists and Schoolmasters' House Fund	43	8	0

Our people, who are like a "little flock" among the thousands of heathen around them, live in 42 different villages. Their number at present is 1553, of whom 1243 are baptized, and 310 are unbaptized. Among these, also, we have many people who do not walk consistently with their high vocation. They exhibit no marks of true piety, but possess a sort of zeal for their profession, and take interest in benevolent objects. The others, who seem to follow the footsteps of Christ, give us satisfaction by growing in knowledge and piety. There is every reason to hope that the Lord is with them. They shine like little lights, and direct those who walk in dark places to change their course and follow the true path, which leads to life eternal.

A few of our congregation are making efforts for building substantial churches and paying the Catechists of their respective places. May the Lord give them more strength to carry on their undertakings! It is encouraging to find that our people are not backward in such things; but poverty and other causes prevent them from fulfilling their wishes.

SURANDEI.

An impetus has been given to the labours of the Missionary, the Rev. N. Honiss, by the visit of the Bishop of Madras, to whom 149 candidates for confirmation were presented. On the following Sunday there was a large number of communicants. The number under Christian instruction is 2274, being 100 less than last year; but such diminution is not discouraging, inasmuch as, in the previous two years, the increase was 1000. The sum raised for charitable purposes has been Rs. 1103, of which Rs. 180 have been appropriated to the support of the Native Pastor. Such contributions, in times of scarcity and want, must be considered liberal. In reference to self-support, education, and extension, Mr. Honiss writes:—

Statistics as to self-support, education and extension.

The congregation of Ukkirankottei is in a most satisfactory condition. Mr. A. James, their Native Pastor, is beloved by his people. At present he is supported by our general Native Church Fund; the subscriptions of Ukkirankottei, which amounted last year to Rs. 185, being given towards completing their new church. This is one great step gained, and abundantly successful to encourage us in the immediate prosecution of another in the same direction.

In accordance with the Committee's request, the subject of self-support has been prominently kept before our people. The older Christians generally see the propriety of, and manifest a desire to fall in with, the view of doing what they can towards supporting their own teachers.

Education has, on the whole, gone back in this district during the last year, but under circumstances which sufficiently exonerate both masters and superintendent. At the close of 1865 we had 476 children under instruction: now there are 340. The average attendance for each village master was then 22; now it is 20. Could we command the heavens that they rain in time of dearth, we should have little difficulty in filling our schools. During the past year parents have had to use every available means to provide themselves and their children with food. Book knowledge is at all times sadly at a discount; but when our people have to make their choice between a dish of rice and no school, and a furnished head with an unfurnished table, we cannot be surprised at their preference for the former.

Inquirers in heathen villages.

In eight formerly wholly heathen villages there are some who have professed Christianity during the past year. In these eight villages there are upwards of 200 inquirers, among whom three small congregations have built themselves churches, but have not yet been added to our numbers. One hundred and seventy-eight portions of Scripture have been sold, and 2642 tracts, realizing Rs. 17-10-3. We have thus in one year established, as it were, eight magazines in the strongholds of the enemy; the artillery of God's Word has breached their walls, and our little tracts, like sharpshooters, lie in ambush in their houses and in their streets. We may, then, hopefully look forward in the prospect of another year. "Hitherto hath the Lord helped us." The all-prevailing Gospel has been our theme, and our twenty Catechists have not preached in vain.

SIVAGASI.

This district, the result of the North-Tinnevelly itinerancy, is described by the Rev. R. R. Meadows, the superintending Missionary, as containing, on the one hand, many who have renounced idolatry and are willing to receive Christian instruction, and, on the other, many nominal Christians, whose conversation is not such as becomes the Gospel of Christ. Yet faithful if not faultless preachers are said by Mr. Meadows to be found among the Native Teachers, while the Native Christians often exhibit simplicity of faith, earnestness of aggressive love, and conduct worthy of the Gospel. Mention is made of a Christian widow and her labours, especially in the management of a Bible class:—

Fruits of itinerancy.

> There are two Bible classes, one for the educated women, conducted solely by Mrs. Meadows, the other for the poor and illiterate, conducted by our school matron, at which Mrs. Meadows is always present. The educated women also attend this, and it is an exceedingly interesting class, both from the numbers that attend, and from the earnestness and spirit with which the faithful woman alluded to conducts it. She is a noble specimen of a Native Christian woman. A widow for the last twenty-five years, she has learnt to read. She possesses, for a Native woman, an unusual amount of energy and practical good sense. She is the friend of all the women in their trials and sorrows, and a thorough evangelist to both heathen and Christian women, wherever she finds them. No greater proof of the power of the Gospel need be brought forward than the life and conduct of this one woman. And we have several other women in this congregation, like-minded as regards spiritual things, doing their part as useful Christians, though not all partaking of the same energy and decision of character. Some, who have talents, have yet to learn to do good to the bodies and souls of others, not so much because the Missionary commands it, or because it adds a few rupees to their monthly income, but from a lively sense of gratitude to Christ.

Inquirers scattered over a wide district.

A systematic evangelistic work is conducted by Mr. Meadows. Among a population of 270,000, there are 13 Catechists, 8 readers, 21 schoolmasters, and 13 schoolmistresses actively occupied. In no fewer than 191 villages of the district Christians and inquirers are to be found.

III. Travancore and Cochin.

PALLAM.

Labourers are removed, but the work expands.

The Rev. Henry Baker, while lamenting that his venerable father, and others who had long laboured in Travancore, have been removed by death, is permitted to rejoice in the life and expansion of the Mission. The year has been one of blessing. Old congregations have been considerably increased, and new ones have been formed. The Native Ministers have rendered most effective service, and the Native congregations have advanced in the direction of self-support.

Contrast between 1844 and 1866.

Mr. Baker has, by reason of the paucity of Missionaries, been compelled to extend his superintendence beyond the district of Pallam, which contained, in 1844, only a Christian congregation of 118, and which now has a congregation of 2921, of whom 2174 have been baptized. During the year 400 persons of different castes have received Christian baptism. Concerning Pallam he writes:—

> In the Missions, new congregations have sprung up, and old ones have been much enlarged. Agents have become more prayerfully useful; young members a little more wise; schools better taught. More harmony, and less of worldly, crooked policy, and some faith displayed. Persecution has been patiently endured in several cases, and some difficulties unexpectedly removed.

sub-district as their particular charge, but help on Sundays in administering the Sacraments in the various churches and prayer-houses, besides visiting and preaching throughout their own special charge. We are gradually, I hope, so working out the caste feeling among converts, that they are now beginning to assemble, where practicable, in the same churches. At Kollatta and Ericarte, all who are neighbours, worship together. At Velloothoorithe the church, deserted by the professed Syrian converts, is entirely occupied by those lately slaves; the same at Changnacherry. Olesha has a few Chogan worshippers, but the majority are Syrian. This is the case, in various degrees, with all the congregations.

Scriptural teaching in Schools.

The schools average from 700 to 750 children. We profess only to teach the principles of Christianity in them, to read, write and cypher; otherwise they are preaching stations. Teaching so many hundreds to read God's Word, and to explain it to the friends who gather round, is a great advantage. Chief schools in towns and Mission stations, of a plain, practicable kind, are wanted; and such the Cambridge Nicholson Institution will enable, and is now enabling, us to have, and these will educate the upper classes.

Death of Rev. H. Andrews.

The Society has been deprived of the valuable services of the Rev. H. Andrews, who had, since 1855, laboured in the Travancore Mission, and who died at sea of cholera on the 19th October, on his return to this station with Mrs. Andrews. The cholera having broken out among the crew, Mr. Andrews devoted himself to their spiritual good, and also to the alleviation of the sufferers, as he had some knowledge of medicine. He dissuaded two younger Missionaries from exposing themselves to the risk he cheerfully incurred for the Lord's sake.

Central portion of Tiruwella.

The rich Syrian and the poor slave meet as communicants.

In the Syrian Church, also, a spiritual movement is perceptible. The Scriptures are increasingly read, and laymen meet together for prayer. In connexion with part of the Tiruwella district, Mr. Baker mentions large assemblies of communicants, where the rich Syrian, the poor palm-climber and the late slave meet around the table of their common Lord:—

The central portion of the Tiruwella district is under the charge of the Rev. G. Matthan, while I superintend the two portions under the immediate charges of the Rev. J. Chandy and the Rev. I. Eapen. Mr. Chandy's health has latterly been very bad, and prevented his doing much, but still progress has been made. A new prayer-house has been erected at Neranum, and a new congregation of slaves formed. The agents have become more efficient, and I believe the Thalawaddi congregations are progressing. I can heartily say the same of those at Mallapalli and its neighbourhood. Mr. Eapen has worked very cordially with me, in weeding out the inefficient agents, increasing the visiting and prayer-meetings among the people, and making the Readers less mechanical in their set services and duties. The Mallapalli and Kaviur congregations are all Syrian by birth, as is the case at Thalawaddi, but all the others are converts from slave castes. These places were the scenes of much labour, both forming parts of our late dear friends Peet and Hawksworth's charges. I am now completing Tiruwella church. Mr. G. Matthan has large assemblies of communicants here monthly, from the surrounding stations. The completion of this church building will be of immense service in carrying out this amalgamation of feeling. The baptized in these two divisions amount to 1248, the unbaptized to 241; total 1489. The school fee of nearly one penny for each child, has been well carried out at Mallapalli, but not so well at Thalawaddi.

MAVELICARA.

The Native Clergy, Readers, and Schoolmasters in this district have been actively engaged in their respective duties, under the guidance of the Rev. R. H. Maddox. In each of these departments of Missionary labour progress has been made. A new out-station has been commenced, in response to an earnest appeal from influential Syrians, who have subsequently joined the Church. Among the converts of the year are two Brahmins and a Mohammedan, and among the promising inquirers is the son of a Rajah. The congregational prayer-meetings have been well attended, the contributions at these Meetings being Rs. 354, as compared with Rs. 319 last year, and the whole Native Church income has risen from Rs. 653 in last, to Rs. 854 in the present year. Mr. Maddox adverts to his method for training the Native Clergy to independent action:—

Brahmin and Mohammedan converts.

Increase in income of native church and diligence of native clergy.

The Native Clergy are working hard, not merely in their own congregations, but also in the whole Mission district. They have entered with spirit into all my plans, and have rendered me very kind and efficient help. I am happy to state that the best understanding and mutual confidence exists between us. I was anxious, upon my arrival in the district, to show them that I appreciated their faithfulness and diligence during Mr. Peet's removal from the Mission: accordingly, I assigned a certain portion of the district to each Native Clergyman, requesting him to consider himself as the Pastor of those under his charge, and to settle the various wants of the people of the different congregations to the best of his power.

ALLEPIE.

Progress during fifty years.

On a review of the Missionary work at this station, for the fifty years between 1816 (the date of the establishment of the Mission) and 1866 (the last completed year), the Rev. A. Johnson, the Missionary now in charge, is able to trace a steady advance, and to state that 1067 persons have been baptized, while 46 have, within the same period, been received from the Church of Rome. The Mission Church now comprises 381 baptized persons, of whom 83 are communicants, and there are 175 under instruction. The machinery of the Mission is improved, and the Missionary looks for the gracious influence of the Holy Spirit for a blessing on its application.

KUNNANKULLAM.

The congregation at this place is composed of those who were formerly either Syrians, or Roman Catholics, or Chogans, or slaves. The pastoral work has been maintained in efficiency, the Sunday schools, both for males and females having been well attended. The educational work, embracing the boys' boarding school and the English school in the bazaar, have made progress; but the vernacular day schools are, by reason of the indifference of the parents and the carelessness of the teachers, not in a satisfactory state. The Jubilee of the Society in Travancore has afforded to the Missionary the special opportunity of preaching Christ crucified, and this apostolic method has caused the addition of seventy-four new converts to the Native Church.

Conversions in connection with special preaching on occasion of the Jubilee.

A gradual advance towards self-support seems necessarily to follow the organization of the Native Church. Even among a comparatively poor population, the success of the effort sometimes surprises the European Missionary, as in the case mentioned by the Rev. J. Wilson, who has, during the year, been in charge of the Kunnankullam district, assisted by the Native Minister, the Rev. Oomen Mamen:—

Methodical arrangements for extension of the Native Church.

I have divided this district into companies, or koottams, each company having a headman. It was decided that six families would be a suitable number here for one company, or koottam, though in some places we cannot count so many at present. There are altogether here seven companies, or koottams, and I am happy to inform you that, so far, the plan has more than answered our expectations. In five cases out of the seven, the companies have already added to their numbers. In one village they began with three families, and this company, or koottam, has already doubled its numbers. In a second instance, where there were only two families belonging to our church in the village, there are now four, and I have reason to believe there will soon be one or two more. Other two companies have each added one family, and in another case two more families have joined. Thus there was a total of nine families, or thirty souls; and seven out of these nine families, after careful instruction from five to twelve weeks, were baptized on the 24th August 1866.

Twelfth of yearly income given as a Jubilee offering.

The people have more than answered our expectations in their contributions to the Native Church Fund, having agreed to give a twelfth of their yearly income, which total amounts to an average of sixteen shillings each family. Myself, and all the agents of the Mission, in order to encourage them, have voluntarily offered to give one month's salary, as a Jubilee donation (this being the Jubilee of the Church Missionary Society's operations in Travancore), in order to purchase a house and some land for the permanent support of a Native Pastor.

Our calculation is, that not less than 2000 rupees will be required in order to build a house and buy land for the support of a Native Pastor. The plan would be as follows, viz. either to buy a house and land in one lot near the church, and put a man in it at present merely to attend to the cultivation, or else to buy land cheaper at a short distance of one or two miles, and to build a house near the church when the time comes to require it, in the mean time securing a piece of ground for that purpose. It is calculated that, according to the present rate of material and labour, 200 rupees will build a proper house for a Native Pastor, and that the interest of 1000 rupees invested in land, which will yield a certain 10 per cent. profit, will suffice for his salary.

MASULIPATAM.

The Anglo-vernacular school, so long and so efficiently conducted by the late Rev. R. T. Noble, continues to give evidence of the beneficial influence he exercised over it. Although the total number on the roll of the school has been somewhat decreased by the effect of conversions to Christianity, and by the removal of the names of those who were frequently absent, yet the average attendance has been slightly increased. Seventeen persons, Christians, Hindus and Mohammedans form the educational staff of the school, which, taken as a whole, the Government Inspector regards as very efficient. His Report, after examination, is thus concluded:—

> This Institution continues fully to maintain the high character for sound teaching which has always distinguished it. In my judgment it is in better working order now than it was last year, and promises, under the able supervision of its present Principal, to reach a higher state of efficiency than it ever previously attained.

Visit of the Bishop of Madras.

The Bishop of Madras visited the Telugu country in February last. While bearing testimony to the success of the Missionary work at the different stations, whether directly evangelistic, or in connexion with schools, he surveys with compassion the gloomy hills of heathen darkness which arise on every side. His lordship thus depicts what he beheld, and appeals for more labourers to occupy the wide field:—

> My principal object in writing to you now is to bring before you and the Church Missionary Society Committee, and the friends of the Society in England, some of the wants which have come under my observation.
> The first district we came to in journeying eastward from Secunderabad was Mr. Darling's, Bezwara, now under Mr. Ellington's care. At Ragapoor, near Nundegamah, I confirmed 32, and at Bezwara 18, or thereabouts. Nundegamah is on the road about thirty miles west from Bezwara. But before reaching Nundegamah we had travelled from Secunderabad nearly 140 miles, through a territory unoccupied by any Missionary Society. At different places along the road we had conversations with some of the Natives, and found them well disposed to listen: they received portions of the Scriptures and tracts, and promised to read them. At Sooriapett (84 miles from Secunderabad), at Juggiapettah (120 miles), and at Nawaubpettah (132 miles), these things occurred. When I coupled this with the fact, that there is now established a system of Bible colportage, under the Bible Society, in the Hyderabad territory, with its head-quarters close to the capital, and that the Colporteurs are received favourably, it seemed to me that the time is come when our Missions should pursue their way westward from Bezwara, when Mr. Darling should have the aid of two itinerating evangelist Missionaries to carry the message of salvation to the Telugus westward of the present range of his labour. The inhabitants of a large portion of the Nizam's dominions are Telugus.

Testimony of the Bishop to the present management of the School.

Then, at Masulipatam itself, Mr. Sharp, who is admirably carrying on Mr. Noble's educational work, wants much an English helper. Mr. Arden is only able to assist him a little; and if any thing should deprive the school of either Sharp's or Arden's services, though only for a year or two, it would be impossible to fill his place. It seems important that some young man of energy and piety should come out soon, and learn the language, and be available for employment, either in Missionary work, or (if need be) in the chief educational position in the Mission.

I did not see nor hear much about Amlapoor; but I believe the importance of supplying it with a Missionary has been fully represented to the Church Missionary Society Committee.

Guntoor, Pulnaud, Rajahmundry and Samulcottah are occupied as Missionary stations by the American Evangelical Lutheran Society. But there is an important town on the coast, Coconada, which has no Missionary nor Catechist of any Society. One of the principal Europeans residing there earnestly requested me to endeavour to obtain a Missionary for the place. He said that it is a town of growing importance, that increasing numbers of wealthy natives come to reside there, and that he believed half the salary of a Missionary could be raised among the resident Europeans. The nearest Chaplain lives forty miles off, at Rajahmundry, and visits Coconada on one Sunday in each month, and that only for one service. When will England give her money and her sons so freely to the Lord, that every place whence the cry proceeds, "Come over, and help us," shall be supplied with a messenger of the Gospel of peace?

Need of more labourers.

I might appeal to you for places in the Telugu country farther north, the hundred miles between Chicacole (where there is a Native Clergyman of the London Missionary Society) and Berhampore (a branch of the Cuttack Baptist Mission), all sunk in heathenism, and almost unvisited by Evangelists. The place in which I am writing this letter, Bimlipatam (40 miles south-east from Chicacole), a seaport town with eighty Europeans and East-Indians, and five or six thousand Natives, ought to have a Missionary Clergyman for itself and surrounding district, yet it has only the very infrequent visits of a Catechist living at a sugar-factory three or four miles off. However, the Masulipatam circuit alone, up to Coconada, needs, as I have shown, four or five Missionaries more to meet the immediate demand for extension of the Mission field, or provide for very possible contingencies.

Prattipad.

Half the inhabitants of a village embrace Christianity.

In the village of Prattipad, containing a population of 300 persons, there has been an earnest desire to listen to the Word of life. One half of the inhabitants have embraced Christianity, and the Madras Corresponding Committee have consequently taken steps for the erection of a house of prayer. The people manifest much interest in the education of their children.

ELLORE.

The surrounding villages continue to form the most promising part of the Rev. F. W. N. Alexander's work. Christians and inquirers are found in the six villages regularly visited. In the Anglo-vernacular school there are 102 boys, of whom 61 are heathen and 41 are Mohammedan. The average attendance has been 83. In the vernacular schools are 56 boys, of whom 7 are Christians, and the remainder are heathen. The girls' school has 39 scholars, of whom 12 are Christians. The influence of these schools is mentioned by Mr. Alexander:—

> My vernacular schools give me very great encouragement. It is really wonderful to see the ardour of the young to embrace the truth. In many instances they have been foremost in casting the idols to the moles and to the bats. Already four young men, once pupils in these schools, are teachers in the very villages where they themselves were first taught, and more will soon be ready. There is great promise in my work.

BEZWARA.

There are no points of special interest, in connexion with the work of the Rev. W. Ellington, at Bezwara. About 200 baptized persons, of whom 39 are communicants, and 100 under Christian instruction, form the principal statistics. The number of baptisms has been somewhat less than in former years, but the number of inquirers has considerably increased.

THE KOI MISSION.

The Rev. C. Tanner has continued his labours in the Koi Mission, and has been joined by Mrs. Tanner, the state of whose health had compelled a visit to England. The work has satisfactorily advanced, but no detailed account has been received.

CEYLON MISSION.

Division of Mission.—I. Colombo. II. Baddagama. III. Kandy. IV. Jaffna.

General Remarks.

THE Mission in Ceylon has been subjected to several trials during the last year. Several valuable Missionaries have died: scarcity, and even famine, have prevailed in several parts of the island, followed, in some places, by the destructive ravages of cholera and other diseases.

Hopeful aspect amid adverse circumstances.

Notwithstanding these adverse circumstances, the aspect of the Mission is hopeful. Losses and difficulties have been experienced, but on the whole the preaching of the Gospel to the heathen has been more vigorously and extensively carried forward than in any preceding year, while the Native Church has exhibited greater evidences of strength and vitality.

In the Cotta and Baddagama districts, and in the town and suburb of Kandy, there are decided marks of progress towards a healthier condition. Self-support is pressed forward by the Missionaries with more determination than ever, and they report throughout their congregations a stedfast, and, on the whole, consistent profession, notwithstanding the apparent apathy of the national character, and the continued opposition of the Buddhists.

The infant congregations in the purely Kandian district at Talampitya and other places are still full of life and vigour, though the additional baptisms have not been numerous.

The contributions of the Natives for religious and charitable purposes during the year have been as follows:—

I. Colombo.

European Mission Establishment:

Rev. John Ireland Jones, B.A (m), 1857.
Rev. William Edward Rowlands, B.A. (m), 1861.
Rev. Josiah Herbert Clowes (m), 1861; at home.
Mr. Stephen Coles (m), 1860.

The work in Colombo is chiefly among the Tamil population. Steps toward self-support have commenced in the formation of a Native Church Fund. The Gospel is daily preached in coffee stores and in the public streets, and there are nineteen candidates for baptism.

The Rev. John I. Jones has, on his return to the Ceylon Mission, been transferred from Kandy to Colombo and the Cotta district.

While the Rev. W. E. Rowlands finds it difficult to trace any manifest spiritual results, while converts during the year have been few, and many circumstances discouraging, yet he is able to write in encouraging terms with reference to the Christian congregations:—

Our Christian congregations—at any rate two of them, those of Slave Island and Grand Pass—have been and are, in some respects, encouraging. The attendance at the 8 A.M. service in Galle Face church has kept up very well, averaging for the year 61, nearly all of whom are adults. The attendance, too, at the Grand Pass service—about 20 adults—may be considered decidedly good, when it is remembered that the congregation is comparatively a new one, and that the nucleus of Christians was very small. As far as I can judge, the Catechist stationed there has been very active, and many of the attendants at Divine service are the fruits of his efforts among the heathen and Roman Catholics of the neighbourhood. Of the four adult baptisms mentioned above, three have taken place in our Grand Pass congregation; and the case of one man possesses peculiar interest from the fact that, though in consequence of his embracing Christianity he was subjected to a great deal of persecution and trial, he, by God's grace, remained quite firm, and, by his conduct since his baptism, has given us reason to believe, with deep thankfulness to God, that he has really found "the pearl of great price."

Firmness under persecution.

The Rev. C. Jayesinhe, a Native Minister, has continued his labours in the Talangama portion of this district, and thus reviews the work of the year:—

The number of attendants in our congregation is nearly the same as in the former year, but I am happy to observe that they are becoming more sound in faith, and more consistent in Christian demeanour. Entire devotedness to Christ, however, is seen only among a few of them.

The agents employed in the district have shown greater zeal and devotedness to their respective duties than during last year. The Native contributions for the support of Catechists are still very low. All our Christians acquiesce in the principle of self-support; but their shortcomings in this respect are not to be wondered at, since they have been brought up in a form of Christianity propagated and maintained by Government.

The contributions in the district, during the year, amounted to 12*l.* 18*s.*, but I have great confidence that the amount of these contributions will increase, as well as the number of Christians, when we are enabled to replace our Catechists by ordained men, as Pastors.

Three Catechists are now working as Pastors in three different portions of this district, while three are labouring among the heathen as itinerators. Thus, while we are, by the grace of God, building up one portion of the spiritual building, we are gathering stones together from new quarries for extending its space.

Our schools, I am happy to say, are going on steadily now. Some misgivings prevailed among the people when fees were first introduced into the vernacular schools, and the number of scholars diminished, but shortly after they began to come again as before.

COTTA INSTITUTION.

Pupils in Cotta Institution.

The Cotta Christian Institution has well maintained its efficiency and character as a Seminary of sound learning and religious education. The number of students during the last year has amounted to 100.

The following is the briefly expressed, but decidedly favourable, testimony of the South Ceylon Missionary Conference, as to the present state of this Institution :—

The Report of the Principal of the Cotta Institution is most encouraging, showing, as it does, that the number of students is larger, their moral tone higher, and that the Institution is fast advancing towards complete self-support, the personal expenses of the Principal alone excepted.

II. Baddagama.

Baddagama commenced, 1819 ; Bentotte, 1861.

European Mission Establishment :

Rev. Edward Thomas Higgens (m), 1851.
Rev. Richard Thomas Dowbiggin, 1867.

BADDAGAMA.

The death of the Rev. George Parsons, while zealously and efficiently prosecuting his Missionary work in this district, has necessitated the removal to it of the Rev. E. T. Higgens, from Kandy. The Rev. R. T. Dowbiggin has joined Mr. Higgens at Baddagama, and will, while acquiring the language, assist in the duties of the station.

Mr. Higgens adverts in his annual letter to the loss which the Mission has sustained by the death of Mr. Parsons, and then alludes to the present aspect of the work among the heathen :—

Present aspect of the work.

Regular preaching to the heathen is carried on at all the principal places in the district by the resident Catechists, and by the European Missionary during his visits to the out-stations. There are at present, however, no indications of direct success, except so far as determined and often violent opposition may be taken as an indication that our preaching is beginning to tell upon the minds of the people, so as to arouse them from a state of indifference, and make the more zealous and far-seeing among them feel that their old superstitions are being shaken and disturbed by the new doctrines that are proclaimed. That the strong opposition we now meet with may be so interpreted I feel very little doubt, and am therefore led to hope and believe that the seed of the Word, constantly sown, will be found to bring forth, in due season, an abundant harvest. Our schools are also used as a means of spreading abroad a knowledge of the truth among the heathen; and, with a new class of intelligent teachers, actuated by right motives, we may, I trust, expect, by God's blessing, to see more results than we have seen in times past.

Education.

The two very important Training Institutions at Baddagama, for training Catechists and Schoolmasters, have somewhat languished for want of students. Plans are proposed which it is hoped will remedy this evil.

III. Kandy.

Kandy commenced, 1818; Itinerating Mission in Kandy Districts, 1853; Tamil Cooly Mission, 1855.

European Mission Establishment:

Rev. William Oakley, 1835.
Rev. John Pickford (m), to South India, 1852; to Ceylon, 1863; at home.
Rev. John Allcock, 1864.

KANDY.

By the death of Mrs. Oakley, on the 14th July last, the Rev. W. Oakley, who has laboured more than thirty years in the Ceylon Mission field, has experienced a severe bereavement, and the Society has lost an earnest, cheerful, effective agent. In 1839 Mrs. Oakley commenced her Missionary labours in Ceylon, and her removal has increased the weakness of the Mission at a juncture when sickness, death, and unavoidable changes caused such a loss to be doubly felt by those who remain to continue the work. The Ceylon Church Missionary Record thus adverts to Mrs. Oakley's Missionary career:— Death of Mrs. Oakley.

Of Mrs. Oakley's character as a Christian it may most truly be said that her course was always consistent, and her daily life and conversation a constant proof of the reality of her faith. Brought in early life to a saving knowledge of the truth as it is in Jesus, her earnest simple desire was to live to His glory, and to spend and be spent in His service. The daily habit of prayer, and the reading of God's Word, kept her mind in a peaceful, cheerful frame, and supplied her with that inward strength which enabled her, year after year, to go forward in the path of active, earnest Testimony to Mrs. Oakley's spiritual service in the Mission.

labour in her Lord's service, to which she had been called, until, in the vigour of health and in the maturity of her usefulness, the mysterious stroke was sent, which laid her aside, weak and helpless in mind and body for many weeks, and finally removed her from the scene of her earthly labours to the rest prepared for her in heaven. She was suddenly seized with a fit of apoplexy, at Newera Ellia, in March last, which completely paralyzed one side, and greatly affected her mind and intellect. On the 8th of July she had a second attack, under which she gradually sunk, and expired early on the morning of Saturday the 14th, at the Mission House, Kandy, to which she had previously returned.

ITINERATING MISSION IN THE KANDIAN PROVINCES.

The itinerating work has been conducted by the Rev. J. Allcock, and the few subjoined quotations from his account of this branch of Missionary labour will prove that much encouragement is connected with it. He first speaks of the district of Hangurankettia:—

In the district of Hangurankettia we have one Catechist stationed, who has been labouring for some time, though hitherto with little visible success; but now the work appears more hopeful, and the Word of God appears to be coming home with power. Here we have a neat little church, which was built at the sole expense of the Hangurankettia coffee estates. There are, scattered here and there, about twenty baptized Christians, and, I think, about fifteen attend Divine Service every Sabbath.

At a village called Narampanawa we have collected about forty heathen. They listened with deep attention for more than an hour. As we entered the village a number of people were actively employed in making images. The images were only in their rough state, made of clay. In the centre was a monster image of Buddha, on each side his guards or disciples; above were the sun, moon, and stars, with their guardian gods. I read Isaiah, chap. xliv. and endeavoured to impress upon their minds that there is but one God and Creator of heaven and earth. Wonder and astonishment appeared to sit on their faces as I spoke of God reconciling the world to Himself through Jesus, not imputing their trespasses unto them, and that He now called all men everywhere to repent and believe the Gospel. Some of them exclaimed, "This is a wonderful doctrine: we have heard strange things!" It was fortunate that I came to Hangurankettia at this season, as there is a festival going on which attracts great numbers daily from all parts. In the evening I took up my position under one of their sacred Bo-trees, and preached the great truths of the Gospel to about 200 people. I saw no triflers or scoffers, but most of them were deeply attentive.

A young inquirer.

I was highly delighted one morning to see a young inquirer. I believe that there are two or three young men in this district earnestly seeking after truth. Two of them have been educated in our school in Hangurankettia, and appear never to have forgotten the great truths there taught. I felt especially interested in the youth who came to see me this morning. His father is the headman of a village in Maturatta. He appears to have derived much benefit from a Christian in that district, and he has heard a Missionary preach there several times. His knowledge of the fundamental truths of the Gospel is clear and comprehensive, and he desires baptism; but owing to the difficulties and temptations to which young persons are exposed in such circumstances, the Catechist thinks it would be well to defer baptism a little. I have preached, during my stay here, to large numbers who are attracted by the Buddhist festival. I am persuaded that street preaching is the best way of destroying the Devil's kingdom. I was surprised when the Superintendent of the Police came to tell me that he could not send policemen to protect me. I told him at once that I needed no such guards. All the people were quiet, and I heard no unkind word, nor saw any thing like disturbance.

The spiritual influence of a few Native Christians at Talampitiya is noticed:—

Spiritual influence of a small band of Native Christians.

My visit to Talampitiya was quite unexpected, as my letter had been accidentally delayed. The intelligence of my arrival soon collected most of the Christians together, when we all united in prayer and thanksgivings for God's protection, and permitting us to meet again. I was glad to find that most of them are growing in grace, in heavenly love, and increasing in the knowledge of our Lord Jesus Christ. It appears to me that there are three or four remarkably pious men, who are used by God to feed this heavenly flame. The fire of God's love and the light of His truth are shining in this dark district, and will, I trust, never be put out, but that many may come to it and light their lamps. There was one circumstance which occupied our attention which will illustrate the difficulties and the necessity of being prepared to take up the cross if they wish to be sincere followers of Jesus. The wife of one of the Christians has left her husband and family, and declares that she will not live with him. I could only recommend him to follow the advice of St. Paul in 1 Corinthians, and pray that God would give him wisdom concerning all things.

TAMIL COOLY MISSION.

Expanding and successful Mission among Tamil Coolies.

The expanding and successful Mission among the Tamil Coolies employed on the coffee estates was in danger of serious interruption by the death of Mrs. Pickford, and the consequent visit to England of the Rev. J. Pickford, with his children. The Rev. D. Fenn, however, was then on his way to Madras, and the Committee, by telegraphic message, requested him to take temporary charge of the Cooly Mission. Mr. Fenn bears testimony to the success of the efforts made among the Tamil Coolies; speaks of the immigrants as amounting to 250,000, of the coffee estates as 1000, of the planters as 750; of the readiness even of careless planters to receive Catechists; and of the contributions as having risen from 240*l.* in 1857, the first year of the Tamil Cooly Mission, to 694*l.* in the last year. The sphere of labour is one in which the European Missionary may not only direct an effective band of Native Catechists, but may also incidentally minister to Europeans far removed from the means of grace, to whom his visits are most acceptable; and Mr. Fenn pleads for a second Missionary, who can influence for good his fellow-countrymen, and who can at the same time throw all his energies into evangelistic work.

Details of Tamil Cooly Mission.

In reference to the sum contributed by Native Christians, in connexion with this branch of the Ceylon Mission during the year, there is, apparently, a considerable falling off, as compared with the previous year,—40*l.* now, 72*l.* then. This is partly explained by the fact that no special appeal has been made to their charity during the year, and partly by the change of Superintendent. There seems to be a readiness to contribute when they are called upon. One Tamil Christian has given his annual contribution of 5*l.* to the Cooly Mission's General Fund. The Christians on a single estate, hardly forty persons in all, have paid during twelve months 8*l.* towards the support of the Catechist in their neighbourhood, and continue regularly to give 10*s.* a month.

There are 347 adults and 68 children, making a total of 415 Christians and inquirers, who attend public worship on Sundays, and assemble in 32 different places. Some of these have only the opportunity of doing so once a month. The largest congregation is in Kandy. On the first Sunday in the month (when the Lord's Supper is administered to about 30 communicants) we muster a congregation of from 70 to 100; on other Sundays from 50 to 70. The average during September, October, and November, including rainy Sundays, was 65.

We have a "Congregational Report" for each of the thirty coffee districts, in which the name of every Christian and inquirer is entered. Flagrant offenders, even though baptized persons, are struck off the lists. The lists contain in all above 900 names of people, who are scattered all over the planting districts. In far-off Rakwane (Saffragam) are to be found 88; in Kallebokka Valley, 111; in Kandy and its immediate vicinity, 154. It is the scattered character of the work that makes it difficult for a new Superintendent to give his statistics with perfect accuracy. And what is more important, it is this which prevents him, even when aided by sixteen Catechists and Readers, from exercising that pastoral supervision over the Christian flock which is so desirable, and prevents the people from assembling, as they would otherwise do, for public worship. A Catechist for every twenty-five or thirty estates, resident in some central spot, and supported by contributions of proprietors and managers of these estates, would both be able more effectually to tend these scattered sheep, and, by the Divine blessing on more regular and frequent preaching to the heathen on each estate, would be more likely to gather into Christ's fold those who are still wandering in darkness. The plan has been tried in five or six instances, and there is good hope of a speedy increase of these "stationed" Catechists.

JAFFNA.

In Jaffna the European Missionary was first prostrated by sickness, and at last compelled to leave the island. He was enabled to remain just long enough to welcome a new recruit, the Rev. T. Good, on whom an unexpected burden has thus been placed.

Vigour of Native Church in time of pestilence.

But the Native Church is rising to the emergency. Four Native Ministers are rendering effective service. At the close of the year the cholera raged in Jaffna with great violence. About fifty Native communicants fell victims to this disease, but their happy and peaceful deathbeds astonished the heathen and cheered the almost fainting Missionary.

The number of adult Natives attending Divine Service in Jaffna, Nellore, and Copay is 1956, of whom 225 are communicants. In the vernacular day schools there is an average daily attendance of 834 children, and the amount contributed by Native Christians for religious and charitable purposes has been 75*l.*

MAURITIUS, MADAGASCAR, AND EAST-AFRICA MISSIONS.

Mauritius Mission.

(Commenced in 1856.)

Division of the Mission: 1. Tamil-speaking Coolies; 2. Bengali or Hindustani-speaking Coolies.

European Mission Establishment:

Rev. Stephen Hobbs (m), to South India, 1839; to Mauritius, 1856.

Hindrances from temporary changes among the Clergy.

THE number of clergy has been so far reduced by temporary changes, that the Missionary journeys of the Rev. S. Hobbs have been to some extent interrupted. The services at Crêve Cœur have been regularly maintained by the Catechist, Gnanamuttu, and the attendance has so improved as to encourage the erection of a more convenient place of assembly for public worship and school purposes. Amid disappointments caused by some who "did run well," and were afterwards "hindered," the Missionary is cheered by the patience and attention generally evinced by those to whose homes the Gospel is carried.

Moral condition of Indian Coolies and in Mauritius.

The moral condition of many of the Indian Coolies, and the difficulties which continually lie before the Christian Missionary, may be inferred from the fact, that many of the females have deserted their husbands in India, and many of the males have similarly forsaken their wives.

Schools among the Indian population are vigorously promoted by the Government, and the Society expends a Government grant of 100*l.* for each Missionary supported by the Society in the Colony, in the employment of Native Christian agents.

The Local Church Missionary Association continues to maintain its pecuniary position, and sermons have this year been preached on its behalf in the Cathedral.

Mr. Hobbs thus summarizes the evangelical and educational work under his care:—

Evangelical and Educational work.

My facilities for visiting the Indians in the camps are constantly enlarging, by the extension of my personal acquaintance with the planters. I trust the time is approaching when I shall be able to avail myself of them more fully than for a long time past. The little I have been able to accomplish in this branch of my duties during the year has not been destitute of encouraging circumstances, but there is far less satisfaction in making journeys at very long intervals than in repeating them within moderate periods. We are greatly relieved of the anxiety we might otherwise feel on the subject of education, by the zeal and activity of the Superintendent of Government schools, who has increased the Indian schools to the full extent of the means placed at his disposal, and is only waiting for more means to carry out the same measures still further. We retain the schools already established, all of which have Grants-in-aid from the Government, but do not attempt to increase, as we want all the funds we are able to raise for the employment of Catechists. The only Tamil school on which I have to report is that at our station, which is proceeding in a very satisfactory manner, containing nineteen boarders—eleven boys and eight girls—supported by the kind contributions of friends in England.

The Bishop of Mauritius, during his recent visit to England, made arrangements for the employment, in the Tamil Mission in Mauritius, of the Rev. H. D. Buswell, who had, by failure of health, been compelled to retire from the Society's Tamil Mission in Ceylon. Mr. Buswell has entered upon his work, St. Thomas' Plains, Wilhelms, with much energy and hope. The district in which he labours is thus described by him:—

My district, in common with every other district in Mauritius, contains representatives from almost every nation under heaven. For the present, I can only hope to work amongst the Tamils and the few English families that reside in it. There are, I am sorry to say, but two schools in connexion with the Church in the district, and there are scarcely fifty children under Christian instruction. Education throughout the island appears to be attended with considerable difficulties. It is evidently not appreciated here as in Ceylon, notwithstanding the very liberal encouragement given by the Government.

There is an immense amount of work to be done, and it is certain that we can hardly expect to work very efficiently without Native aid. One cannot help feeling that, with God's blessing upon the work, in an island occupying a position of such importance in connexion with the commercial world, and embracing such a heterogeneous population, great influence for good might result to every nation there represented. Oh how blessed and glorious would it be were the Gospel of our blessed Redeemer to take deep root, and to grow luxuriantly in Mauritius! Might we not expect that, like the staple product of the country, its sweet and grateful influences would be distributed far and wide, and as from the one multitudes in all parts of the world are enriched with that wealth which endureth but for a season, so from the other multitudes would be enriched with those priceless blessings which are from everlasting to everlasting?

Madagascar Mission

Rev. Thomas Campbell, 1863.
Rev. Herbert Maundrell, 1863.

ANDEVORANTE.

Removal of Missionaries from Vohimare to Andevorante.

The sparse population of Vohimare has rendered it desirable to transfer the Society's Missionaries, the Revs. Messrs. Campbell and Maundrell, from that place to Andevorante, a town on the coast, deriving importance from the fact that travellers, both from north and south, as well as those visiting the capital, pass through it, thus affording the opportunity of preaching to Natives from all parts of Madagascar. The Bishop of Mauritius being in England, personally expressed his concurrence in this arrangement for the occupation of Andevorante by the Society's Missionaries. Messrs. Campbell and Maundrell, after having been graciously preserved from what appeared to be imminent death by shipwreck on the voyage from Vohimare to Mauritius, experienced much hardship in the passage from that island to Tamatave, where they at length safely landed, and received a brotherly welcome from the Rev. Mr.

"Perils by the sea."

Hay, of the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel. The Governor of Tamatave promised protection to the Missionaries on their arrival at Andevorante. From Tamatave Mr. Campbell, accompanied by Mr. Hay, proceeded to Foule Point, distant twelve hours' journey, where they preached Christ to the little congregation of twenty or thirty Christians who assembled at that place.

An intelligent heathen, of high official rank, testifies that the love of money is the absorbing passion of the Malagasy people; but another official is found, in what is termed the "holy village," who is leaning calmly on the promises of the Gospel, while passing through the valley of the shadow of death. Of this village and its Christian Lieutenant-Governor, Mr. Campbell says:—

An intelligent Christian found dying peacefully in a heathen village.

On Tuesday morning we paid a visit to the Hova town. It is called Vohimasina, or "holy village." The way to it is through a marsh and across a river, which is spanned by a rustic bridge of about 100 yards. This is certainly one of the nicest of Malagasy villages. Its situation is well chosen in point of defence, health and beauty. The hill on which it stands commands a view of a fine tract of country, which is almost free from those deadly swamps which are so prejudicial to health. The trees, which were scattered here and there, were of beautiful foliage, and reminded one of some of our parks at home. We visited the Governor, and had a long conversation with him, and also with the Betsimisaraka judges who came to welcome us. We afterwards called on the Lieutenant-Governor, who was very ill, apparently of consumption. He is a Christian, and one who suffered for the faith in the days of Ranavalona. He expressed his firm trust in the Lord Jesus Christ as his only Saviour and only hope, and really seemed to feel it. While the poor man was thus speaking, his cough occasionally stopped his utterance, and he had to wait for breath before he could resume his conversation. He suffers with patient resignation, and appears to be a triumph of grace. We promised to send him medicines which might relieve him.

A religious service is conducted at Mohambo, which is briefly noticed by Mr. Campbell:—

In the evening we met the Christians of Mohambo in their little prayer-house. They number about thirty, and at present are under the leadership of the Lieutenant-Governor, who appears to be an earnest man. After singing and prayer, Mr. Hay and I addressed them, and spoke of the necessity of their living holy and godly lives, and letting their light so shine in the midst of the surrounding darkness, that heathen men, seeing their good works, might learn to glorify God.

The account of the journey from Tamatave to Andevorante

presents some distinctive features, both of the physical aspect of the country, and of the spiritual condition of the people. In most of the towns and villages small Christian communities are found. At the first service in Andevorante between seventy and one hundred attended. The Missionaries have also commenced a service every Sunday at Vohibonhazo, a large village about two hours' sail from Andevorante, in the direction of the capital. Some details of the journey from Tamatave are given:—

The nature of the country and the character of the people.

On Wednesday, the 31st of October, I started at noon for Andevorante. The sun was scorching, and the sand so hot that it caused my poor bearers to dance over it very quickly. As Mr. Maundrell had had an attack of fever, he thought it best to wait behind for a day or two. When once started, we went along at a rapid rate over a plain, which took us about an hour. Here we were met by herds of bullocks, wending their way to Tamatave, there to be sold to the Mauritians and Bourbonnais, who are entirely depen dent on Madagascar for their supply of beef. After passing through a small wood, we came to the village of Hivondrona, built on the bank of a river of the same name. This village, which is one of the finest and best situated I have yet seen, contains a considerable number of neat houses, and perhaps 500 or 600 inhabitants. This is the farthest point south worked by our brethren belonging to the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel; while Fenvarivo, sixty miles north of Tamatave, is the farthest point in that direction. The Hivondrona is a splendid river, broad, clear, and deep, and the canoes which ply across it are a wonderful improvement upon those which I have been used to in the north. The Betsimisarakas are much better boat-builders than the Sakalavas, and are more at home upon the water. The latter have a roving propensity, and are a more independent race, spending most of their time among their flocks and herds. The part of Hivondrona which we crossed must have been at least half a mile broad; but as the canoe was good, we all got over safely, and resumed our journey on terra firma. For several miles our path lay through the dry bed of a swamp, which my bearers told me was filled with water during the rainy season. On leaving this, we entered a forest, which brought us about sunset to a village called "Trano-maro," many houses. There were not more than ten houses in the place, and hardly twice as many people, exclusive of my bearers. Here I put up for the night, and as I had neither knife, fork, spoon, plate, bed, nor candle, was obliged to make myself as comfortable as possible under the circumstances. I bought some fat, and extemporized a Malagasy candle, which enabled me to see my rice and fowl. These were served up on a leaf of the travellers'-tree: a piece of this same leaf served me for a spoon. After partaking of this same repast, I spread my waterproof sheet on the floor, and, throwing my rug over me, slept but indifferently during the night. Got under weigh before five A.M., as we had a long day's journey before us. After travelling for a short distance, we came to the sea-shore, at a village called Tampolo. Here we came in sight of the lakes, which run along this coast for nearly 200 miles. We soon turned inland, into an immense dead forest, and then mounted a ridge, probably of sand, from which we had several splendid views of the lakes. Passing the villages of Mpandrano and Andranokoditra, and crossing the river Ambinandrangy, we went through Ampantomaizina, and came to Vavony, where we had a rest and breakfast. All these villages are of very small note, the largest not containing a hundred inhabitants. In Mpandrano there appeared to be more pigs than people. Why they permit so many pigs about the town I can hardly understand: it must interfere materially with the health of the population.

Vavony is situated on the southern point of the largest of the lakes. It is called "Rasoabi," large and beautiful, and certainly it is well named. It is at least three or four miles long, and from one to two broad, and is almost surrounded by small hills covered with wood. The little green patches here and there enhance the beauty of the scenery. These woods are all being destroyed by the Natives, who are burning them up to make "tavy" or rice grounds. This is the name which they give to their rice-fields in the mountains, which are to be distinguished from those in the plains and swamps. After breakfast we resumed our journey, and found the greater part of the road, as usual, through a wood. We came to a broad and deep river, or branch of a lake, called "Andavakamenarava," hole of serpents, into which I was almost capsized. In about an hour after this, just as the sun was setting, and after about thirteen hours' travelling, we reached Andevorante, the place of Mr. Maundrell's and my destination for the present.

Disappointment still to be recorded.

Disappointment must still be recorded in connexion with the arrangements made to give assistance to the Rev. J. Rebmann, who has so long laboured alone in East Africa. The sudden death of the Rev. J. Taylor was last year announced, and the failure of another arrangement must now be chronicled. The Rev. E. Parnell and Mrs. Parnell were assigned to East Africa, and sailed in the autumn for that Mission. During the voyage, Mr. Parnell's eyesight showed signs of weakness, and on his arrival at Bombay he was recommended by medical advice to return to England. Mr. Rebmann's lonely position calls for the sympathy and prayers of Christian friends, his previously solitary lot having been rendered still more solitary by the death of his wife in November last.

General View.

AT the extreme points of the Chinese Mission field, Hong Kong and Pekin, little success has been obtained. At Hong Kong a new Mission church has been opened, and a small parsonage for the Native Pastor has been erected within the church enclosure, from funds raised in the Colony. Sunday Services are divided equally between the European Missionary and the Native Minister. A congregation of 150, partly Christian and partly heathen, usually assembles. The spiritual state of the Native Church is less satisfactory than could be desired, and the communicants are few in number; but the recent appointment of Dr. Alford to the long vacant See of Victoria, encourages the hope that new life and vigour will be imparted both to Colonial and Missionary work. At Pekin the Mission of the Society is still in its infancy. There is much in the moral atmosphere and the confirmed habits of the people which is adverse to the success of the Gospel. Men live rather by stratagem than by integrity. The spiritual object of the Mission is therefore comprehended with difficulty, and imposition is often attempted. A feebleness of character is manifested by the Native Christians, and there is an inadequate supply of Scripture portions and tracts in the vernacular. While endeavouring to strengthen Chinese converts, and to obtain religious publications, the Missionaries continue their work hopefully and prayerfully in this populous and important city.

At Fuh-Chau decided progress has been made. Signs of spiritual life have been manifested in the city and at several out-stations. The number of adults baptized during the year has been double that of any previous year. The Viceroy has promoted the delivery of lectures on morality by one of his officers, and the lecturer spoke very highly of the religion of Jesus. Portions of Scripture and religious tracts have been carried far into the interior, and the inquiry for them has been greater than has hitherto been manifested. Long preaching tours have been undertaken, and the people give marked attention to the message delivered by the Missionary. Often the proclamation of the Gospel was continued to a very late hour of the night, and even to the early morning of the coming day, in some shop or store lent for the occasion to the itinerating Missionary. Hour after hour the people remained, and the Missionary having addressed them once, or perhaps twice, was succeeded by the Native Catechist, or other Native Teacher who accompanied him. The people generally are not hostile to the message of the Missionary. They will read the Scriptures he distributes, and listen to the doctrine he proclaims.

Extensive preaching tours.

With such a field of labour open to Missionary effort, Mr. Wolfe is constrained to plead for more labourers, and in reference to his own Province of Fuh-Chau exclaims, "Will the Church at home be satisfied with only two men and one station for twenty-nine millions of heathen? Let her answer this question." The preaching of the more advanced Native Christians has been found most effective in the itinerating tours recently undertaken. The European Missionary rejoices to hear the Gospel set forth with much clearness, force, and power, by his Native Assistant. Such preaching by Natives of China encourages hope for the ultimate evangelization of its millions; and the Missionary, contemplating the spiritual agency of the Natives, declares, "We must extend, we must give our Native Christians full scope."

A serious question.

An important resolution.

The wide field for Missionary labour in and around Ningpo has been cultivated with prayerful assiduity, and gives promise of spiritual fruit. The knowledge of the Gospel is rapidly extending through the community, and the communicants have increased fifty per cent. between January and December.

HONG KONG.

At the close of a second year of Missionary labour in this island, the Rev. C. F. Warren finds his physical strength increased, and his knowledge of the language such as to enable him to preach, hold meetings, and conduct Bible classes. Portions of the Prayer-book were, during a visit made by the Rev. J. S. Burdon, on his way to Pekin, translated from the Mandarin version to the Canton colloquial. The prominent event of the year has been the opening, on September the 7th, of the New Mission church, in the presence of the Governor, and of English friends and Chinese Christians.

Opening of a new Mission Church.

FUH-CHAU.

On a review of the year, the Rev. J. Wolfe can affirm that "the year 1866 has closed in hope, and the year 1867 has opened with brighter prospects than ever for this Mission." Although the literary classes are hostile, the common people hear gladly the message of the Saviour. An Association of the learned has been formed for the purpose of preventing any Chinaman from selling or renting any building to the Missionaries; but, on the other hand, almost every department of Missionary labour has been conducted with success. The discussion class, held regularly on one day in the week, has been well attended by inquiring Chinese, who have maintained a friendly and animated discussion on the comparative claims of heathenism and Christianity. The Scriptures have been largely distributed and generally read. One convert who was baptized arrived at the knowledge of the truth by reading St. Matthew's Gospel. Of the Native Christian congregation Mr. Wolfe thus speaks:—

Character of Native Christians.

I am glad to able to report that, with the increase of numbers, I believe I can see an increase of zeal for the conversion of others, and a deeper acquaintance with spiritual religion in the members of our little flock. This is principally manifested in increased prayerfulness, and a greater desire to make known the truth to their immediate friends and acquaintances. There is also, I think, greater boldness for Christ, and less of that shrinking from the shame of the Cross. It is no easy thing for a Native Christian to follow Christ in this bigoted, proud, heathen city, and therefore we are glad to see our Christians, in the face of great difficulties, and in the midst of much persecution, willing to bear their cross and follow Jesus through evil and through good report.

We have had to exercise severe discipline in one or two instances, by excluding from the Holy Communion. I rejoice to say the offenders have shown deep penitence, and are most anxious to be again admitted. We hope to be able to do so in a very short time.

Spirit of Native helpers.

The Native helpers have given us very great satisfaction, and some of them have shown great faithfulness and devotion to the cause of the Gospel. They are as anxious as ourselves for the extension of the work to "the regions beyond." May the Lord of the harvest raise up to us many more of this stamp of men to occupy the vast uncultivated fields around us on every side! Then shall "the wilderness and the solitary place be glad for them," and may we not hope, too, that "the desert shall rejoice, and blossom as the rose?"

Out-stations.

Poverty of art and grandeur of nature.

Accompanied by his head Catechist and a Colporteur of the Bible Society, Mr. Wolfe has visited the cities of Hok-chiang Kang, Lieng-Kong, and Lo Nguong. The incidents of his preaching tour are full of interest. The grandeur of the scenery contrasted strangely with the mud walls and wretched hovels of the Chinese towns. Art seemed afraid to attempt any thing in the presence of the grandeur of creation. Often the messengers of Christ, like the Apostles of the Gentiles, continued to preach and speak of Christ through the greater part of the night. The people in some of the places visited had never heard of the Saviour, and had never even seen the foreign teacher. Under such circumstances, the Missionary felt a deep, an unspeakable joy in preaching Christ. On one occasion the crowd throngs a shop, or public room, which has been offered to the Missionary; on another, in an idol temple, the Gospel is preached beneath the shadow of the idol itself; on another, the people rush into the great theatre of the place, in order to hear the new doctrines of the strangers; and on another, the Word is preached, late in the evening, in a large empty space, when the people furnish lights, and the Missionary, already exhausted by two addresses, is succeeded by the Colporteur, who long continues the preaching of Christ, with such clearness and impressiveness as the Missionary had never previously heard from the lips of a Chinaman.

The shop, the public room, the idol temple and the theatre are used for preaching the Gospel.

Mr. Wolfe describes some of the incidents connected with public preaching:—

We rested and took some refreshment, and spoke to the numbers, who soon crowded around us, of Jesus and His redeeming love. We had very attentive listeners, and our books and tracts were very gladly received. I was very much interested by a little boy who came and asked for the book which told about the Good Man who raised the dead and cured the lepers. I asked him who told him that we had such a book. He said "A man in my village has such a book, which he got from a foreign man, and it is a very good book. My village people never saw such a book before, and they all came to listen to him when he read it to them." After some further conversation with the lad, I gladly gave him a New Testament and a few tracts. He thanked me very politely, and ran off as proudly as if he felt he possessed some great treasure.

A hundred voices say "Do come again."

We commenced a little preaching, and distributed books and tracts to the assembled crowd. We explained fully our mission, and the object of our present journey hither. They seemed quite pleased. I said we were too tired to preach much at present, but we hoped to come again and spend a longer time among them, and teach them more about Jesus. A hundred voices shouted out, "Do come again; do come again." Before we left we had a private interview with one man who wished to hear from us more fully about the doctrine of Christ. He was a literary graduate, and a man of some property in the neighbourhood. He listened with apparent interest to what we told him, and received a copy of the Old and New Testaments and a number of good tracts. He does not live in the town, but in a village about six English miles distant.

The account of the opening services at the chapel of Ku-chang, and of the preaching on the way back to Fuh-Chau, contains some points of interest:—

Opened the chapel for preaching: had large congregations, at least as large as our small chapel would contain. The entire day was spent in preaching and talking to the people. They behaved remarkably well. Many interesting cases. We entertain very great hopes of Ku-chang. Very tired this evening. How weak the flesh is! but the spirit is willing, and God can strengthen both as long as He wants them for His service here.

We preached in many of the villages on the way home, and arrived at night rather late at Sî-pâng, where the people were delighted to see us, and again flocked to hear the Gospel. I did not feel well, so the Colporteur commenced. I spoke afterwards, but not so well as when I stopped here on my way up. I feel very weak and weary. Travelling or talking is not easy work for this weak body of mine. I find, ever since I have had my severe illness, that the least thing exhausts me. I require to be very careful, but my Master knows best. It is a great trial, however, when people come begging to hear of Jesus, and this poor body refuses to supply the necessary strength. In one of the villages in which I preached during the day I was remarkably struck with the attention and intelligence of one woman. She seemed to comprehend at once the idea of God and of the Saviour. I do not remember having met with such an interesting person since I came to China. I believe the Spirit was influencing her heart. When I spoke of Jesus she raised her eyes to heaven, and thanked the heavenly Father. It was the quick way in which she appeared to comprehend every thing I told her which surprised me so much. Who can tell but that the truth has found a lodgment in her heart? I said on leaving, "I hope, elder sister, you will bury these words in your heart." She replied, "Yes, stranger, they are good words: I will hide them in my heart; I will remember them: you speak with reason and truth." I have given orders to the Catechists not to forget this poor woman in their visits to this village.

The "hired house" not to be obtained for preaching.

At Lieng-kong, notwithstanding the opposing influence of the literary classes, the Scribes and Pharisees of China, who maintain in the city a system of espionage, and excommunicate those who transgress the customs of the elders by erasing their names from the ancestral halls, some have ventured to show their interest in the Gospel. Opposition took the form of inducing the people not to allow the Missionaries to rent chapels, so that the Gospel could not be preached in the "hired house." Still the first-fruits have been gathered, as will be seen from Mr. Wolfe's statements:—

Baptisms of first converts at Lieng-kong.

The out-station of Lieng-kong has at length yielded her first-fruits to the Church of two adults, whom I have baptized. They had been under instruction for some considerable time, and one of them, a carpenter by trade, has endured a great deal of persecution for the truth's sake. I have had several opportunities of examining these two previously to their baptism, and have perfectly satisfied myself as to the sincerity of their motives. I have great confidence in the Catechist, Tang, under whose guidance and instruction I trust they will grow in grace and in knowledge. The evening of their baptism the chapel was crowded, and many who desired to witness the ceremony could not find room in our little Bethel. I opened the service with the hymn, "Come thou fount of every blessing;" and, after a short prayer, read and expounded the 3rd chapter of St. John's Gospel, explaining to the people the nature and necessity of the new birth. No doubt these things sounded strange to many of them, but all listened with the greatest attention, and I was very much encouraged. We felt that we had the presence of God in the midst of us. The exposition occupied about half an hour, after which I baptized the two candidates in the presence of a large number of their fellow-countrymen. I then briefly addressed the newly-baptized on the duties and responsibilities of their new relationship as members of the body of Christ. I reminded them of the great honour which was placed upon them in being the first called by God to bear the name of Christ in the city of Lieng-kong, and urged them to walk worthy of this high vocation with which they were called. It was an intensely interesting evening to myself, and I felt deeply the privilege of being permitted to admit the first converts into the Church of Christ in the city of Lieng-kong. It was an event for which I had prayed for three years, and now God has graciously answered these prayers. Oh, how unworthy, how feeble were those prayers! Oh for more faith, for more love, more zeal and self-denial in the cause of so faithful a God! There are two others who, I trust, are earnestly seeking after Christ, and whom I hope to baptize before the end of the year.

After glancing at the promising aspect of Oh Noi, mention is made of a spiritual movement in Lo Nguong, where a young man, having embraced the offers of the Gospel, becomes a zealous assistant to the Catechist, and induces his heathen father to visit the Missionary for instruction:—

From Oh Noi a request was sent, some time ago, by one of its inhabitants for a Christian teacher. I hope this step will, in some degree, be an answer to that "man of Macedonia," and will give them an opportunity of hearing about Jesus. This is all we can do at present. May the Spirit raise up to us more faithful, earnest Native Missionaries! This is the great want of China. The next station which I visited was Lo Nguong. Here also I was privileged to admit one man into the Church of Christ. There are several other inquirers, and I am hoping at my next visit, which will be (D.V.) in December, to baptize three or four others. Here I found every thing most encouraging: the Catechist earnest and faithful, the inquirers generally most anxious to learn, and all the neighbours most kindly disposed towards us. One of the inquirers especially showed a great deal of zeal for the cause. He accompanies the Catechist in his preaching tours, and exhorts the people: he has, furthermore, supplied the lime for washing and plastering the chapel, and thinks it the duty of the members to bear the expense of repairs, &c. This feeling, of course, I encouraged as much as possible, as it is an important evidence to the heathen that the Christians are sincere. This young man, though he fully believes, and I have every reason to think him a sincere disciple, did not, on the occasion of my visit, present himself for baptism, though he had chosen the name with which he wishes to be baptized. His desire was to wait till his father would also believe, and then father and son would enter the Church together. The father, previously to my visit, had shown no desire to become a Christian, though it was the earnest desire and constant prayer of the son that he might. When I arrived he was most anxious that his father should have an interview with me, and accordingly

he asked his father to come and see me. I found him very dark and ignorant, but not at all disposed to prevent his son becoming a Christian; and at the end of a long conversation I could only elicit from him the old story—"The doctrine is very good, but it will not do for me: I will do what my fathers did before me."

After a discussion which had apparently been without effect, idolatry is relinquished by the father, and subsequently by the family:—

Discussion which had apparently been fruitless, results in the renunciation of idolatry by a whole family.

They both returned home, however, and, in about two hours after, the son returned almost breathless with joy, and informed us that his father had decided to be a Christian; that the incense vendor had been round to the shop as usual with his wares to sell for the approaching festival, but that his father refused to buy any, but sent him away, saying, "I have decided to worship no more idols; I want no more of such vain and foolish things; I have determined to become a Christian, and worship the true God." Of course we were all delighted, and returned hearty thanks to God on his behalf. The old man was present at evening prayers, and also at the baptism, and then remained the entire evening talking about religion. He keeps a large shop, and has a flourishing business. I hope and trust he will be enabled to carry out his determination, and become a truly-devoted Christian. Since I returned, I received a letter from the Catechist, telling me that the whole family has given up idolatry, and that the old man and his son request me to visit Lo Nguong shortly, and admit them all to baptism. The report that this old man believed spread like wild-fire, and scores came to the chapel, the Catechist says, inquiring for books. There are several other inquirers who are fully convinced of the truth, but are not prepared to keep the Sabbath. This is a great difficulty with them, and those at a distance cannot fully understand the extent of this difficulty. If we could do as the Romanists are in the habit of doing, viz. allowing their members to work on the Sabbath as on other days, we could reckon our converts by hundreds and by thousands.

The evident moral transformation which followed the conversion of the young man at Lo Nguong caused much inquiry for the New Testament, as the book of the religion of Jesus. The interesting details of this conversion are given by Mr. Wolfe:—

Before his conversion he was one of the most forlorn reprobates for sin and crime in the whole city. He was guilty of breaking every one of the ten commandments; "Yes," to use his father's expression concerning him afterwards, "Yes, and of ten commandments more in addition, if there are so many." It will give you some idea of his wickedness when I tell you, that though he is an only son, his father was very seriously contemplating disinheriting him just before his conversion. This had no effect whatever upon the son: he seeemed bent on destruction, and appeared likely to draw his whole family into poverty and shame. He went to the chapel, as people would say, by mere chance, probably to laugh at the preacher; but the Lord ordered it otherwise, and his visit I have no doubt was, though unknown to himself, ordered and directed by God. He heard the truth. It laid hold of his heart, and produced deep conviction of sin and a complete change of life. The change in his conduct was the subject of surprise and speculation to the whole neighbourhood. They could not understand his motives, though it could not be doubted his reformation had in some way been brought about by the preaching in the chapel of the "Religion of Jesus." This brought people to inquire, and at that time not less than 2000 books and Testaments were eagerly taken by the people. His father first doubted for joy, but, after some time, he was convinced his son's reformation was real, and though he was a great idol worshipper, he offered no opposition to his son in coming to the chapel, having the books, and keeping the Sabbath. Several were attracted to the chapel. This young man now became very earnest and anxious about his father's conversion, and appeared determined that he would not enter the church without bringing his father with him. Ah, it was a spectacle worth beholding, to see that once reprobate sinner on his knees carnestly beseeching God for his father's conversion. It was a spectacle which almost overpowered me with joy, and it was one I am sure over which the angels rejoiced. How little do worldly minds know of these joys, and how contemptible are their sneers at the result of Missionary labours. And were these earnest pleadings disregarded in heaven? Did God turn a deaf ear to the cry of the son for his father? Let it encourage others to hear that an answer was vouchsafed, and that without measure, in the conversion of the father, and his subsequent entry into the Church by baptism on the very same day as his son and grandson. Oh the adorable goodness of God, the faithfulness of His promises, and the depth of His inexhaustible love! That son, once the plague of his father's life; that father, once the dark and most devoted idolater in the city, now helping one another in the way to heaven, and cheering each other in the midst of much domestic persecution. If there were no other results of Missionary labour than these two in this city, could it be said that Missionary labours were in vain? The father is sixty years old, but quite fresh and strong, and is growing in grace and in the knowledge of Jesus Christ. It would move the hardest heart to see that once hardened idolater sitting down and weeping at the remembrance of the many years spent in the service of sin and Satan.

As an effect of this conversion 2000 Testaments and Christian books are distributed.

Father, and son and grandson are baptized together.

Under the care of a Native, the Mission work at Ku-cheng has advanced, as is apparent from the following account of the Rev. A. W. Cribb:—

The out-station of Ku-cheng, a city about 100 miles N.W. of Fuh-Chau, has been under my charge during the year. A Native Catechist, "Chieng Ong," has been stationed there, and has laboured with much encouragement. I have visited the station three times during the year. The Helper reports that at the daily preaching there was an average congregation of from thirty to forty persons, many of whom stayed during the whole service. Several also remained after the preaching for conversation with him on "the doctrines," and more have declared themselves inquirers, and come regularly to morning and evening prayers, and to the Bible classes. The chapel was found to be too small, so that, on my last visit, we moved to larger premises. Several tours have been made into the villages, and large numbers of tracts and books circulated. One man has been baptized during the year. He is about sixty-five years of age. His answers to the questions we put to him at his examination before baptism gave us much satisfaction. He was baptized at Fuh-Chau, having come down here during the hot weather for this purpose. He has since been teaching his wife, and she is now a candidate for the sacred rite.

Satisfactory visits to Ku-cheng.

A visit to Ping-Nang, eighty miles to the north of Ku-cheng, is made by Mr. Cribb, accompanied by a Native Teacher and a Colporteur of the Bible Society. The curiosity, interest and attention of the people are thus described:—

In November last I extended my tour to the city of Ping-Nang, which is about eighty miles to the north of Ku-cheng. It is one of the ten cities under the jurisdiction of the Prefect of Fuh-Chau; but, owing to its great distance from this city, has never been visited by foreigners. I took with me the Native helper from Ku-cheng, and the Bible Society's Colporteur, with a large quantity of Testaments, &c. We walked the whole distance, preaching at the larger villages along the road. We were much pleased with the kind reception we received at all these places. Many of the people had never before heard the name of Jesus; others had heard Him spoken of in ridicule, but had not heard His doctrines: they were therefore eager to hear something about them. We gladly availed ourselves of the opportunity, and related the story of the Cross.

At Ping-Nang the brogue is very heavy, and it was difficult to make them understand a continued discourse; so we taught them catechetically, and by this means many could understand. The curiosity of these people to see a foreigner, and to hear him speak, was intense, never having seen one before. The inn where I lodged was crammed till dusk; and after the crowd had dispersed, and I had retired to my room, many came in, and desired to hear more of the truths I had been teaching them. They placed a chair in front of the shop, and suspended a lamp on either side, and requested me to be seated. I, however, preferred standing, and then, having told them that they must ask me to explain any sentences which they could not understand, I preached to them of Jesus. At the same time my helper was engaged preaching in one of the bedrooms to those who, like ourselves, were halting there for the night. We felt greatly privileged in being the first to proclaim the truth in this district, and hope and pray that our visit may not have been in vain.

At Ning-Taik two have openly declared for Christ; and at another place the first-fruits of Missionary labours were realized by a baptism early in the year, and there are also several hopeful inquirers.

NINGPO.

The Rev. A. E. Moule and the Rev. J. D. Valentine have carried on the work of this important station. The latter having, during three months, been almost entirely prevented by illness from active service, the pressure of Missionary duty on Mr. Moule has been somewhat heavy. Daily preaching in the Mission chapel has been maintained, and the knowedge of the Gospel is rapidly extending through the community.

Increase in number of communicants.

In the whole district, including Hang-Chow, Soen-poh, and many villages, the communicants have increased from 77 to 118 between January and December. While the Missionaries have been called to deplore the weakness and inconsistency of some who had embraced Christianity, they are enabled to rejoice in the stedfastness shown by others in enduring persecution, in reference to which Mr. Moule writes:—

Positive but not violent persecution.

During the latter part of the year several of our people have been passing through a good deal of positive, though not very violent, persecution. In Soen-poh, a young man, named S——, has been sorely tried by the passionate abuse heaped upon him by his father, because the son refused to subscribe to the restoration of the village temple. The father, after much violent abuse, paid the money himself, and then broke pots and pans freely in his fury; but the son quietly and firmly held his ground.

An elderly man, the eldest brother of Ling-Ah-kao, who, for six or seven years past, had been the solitary Christian in his hill village, having lately been baptized, has a constant ordeal to pass through from the ridicule and abuse of his widowed sister-in-law, to whom he gives a home. He endures it in silence, but he feels it sorely.

Others in our Tsông-to'eng district are threatened by anonymous writers of placards. They were much frightened, especially the women. I have just been comforting them with the thought that this is their cross, and a very light one too.

Notwithstanding these trials, the leaven of Christian truth seems working in the hearts of those who attend the preaching of the Gospel:—

Advance of the truth notwithstanding persecution.

With all these trials and hindrances, there has been, and is, I trust, life and progress in many quarters. I have lately begun the plan of visiting the Christian families in the city, with the view of reaching the heathen neighbours; and in two or three instances I have found that there had been some witnesses for Christ, and some efforts to do good, where I feared to find utter deadness and coldness.

An old man is with us now for a few weeks, diligently learning to read, that he may tell and read to others about the Saviour, in whom he himself trusts.

A young catechumen in Soen-poh, whom I hoped to have baptized last month, but was unavoidably prevented from doing so, has just been to his native place, some sixty or seventy miles away, and he returns with joy, saying that a scholar and an incipient monk, and several others, have believed through his preaching.

Rapid spread of Christian truth.

There is no great stirring of the dry bones, but an increasingly rapid spread, I think, of the leaven of Christian truth. It is quite rare to meet with people in and around Ningpo who have heard nothing of Christianity at any time. It is talked about amongst the people; and signs are apparent, I think, that our arch enemy is disturbed and uneasy, though the number of Christians is at present insignificant, and our apparent success so small. There is enough Gospel knowledge in many hearts, I believe I may truly say, to save them, when applied by the teaching of the Holy Ghost.

The visitation of the villages has been attended with a measure of success. Some impression of the disposition of the people to listen to the Missionary may be gathered from a few passages in Mr. Moule's journal:—

Night passed in an idol temple.

After dining in a temple and preaching briefly to some natives, we went on some six miles further into the hills, and reached the first three of seven beautiful waterfalls, with some 100 feet of sheer fall each, tumbling down tier after tier of the hill side. We spent the night in the temple we had dined in at noon. The temple-keeper attended prayers in the evening, and the great idols sat in silence below.

We went on to Dziang-li-fong, some two and a half miles up the valley, in which village there are six adult Christians. We were entertained by old K'oe-nyün-pang, the senior Christian, and

I preached for a long time. Mr. Kaufmann, the Chaplain of the Seaman's Bethel in Shanghae, who accompanied me, was much struck with this most genuine old Christian.

Chinese view of the Missionary's preference for itinerating on foot.

A wet day. Started at nine A.M., on foot, for Z-ky'i, where I had directed the boat to wait for me. While I was crossing the steep pass in the hills separating Soen-poh plain from the Ningpo plain, I heard some fellow-traveller say, "Why doesn't he ride in a chair?" "Oh," said one, "he wants to save money." "No," said another, "he is a preacher; and, if shut up in a chair, how can he talk to people by the way?"

Apathetic as is the Chinese character, the truths of the Gospel from the lips of their countrymen sometimes engage an interested attention. The Rev. J. D. Valentine thus describes the preaching of Christ in Ningpo:—

Chinese preacher stirs the heart of Chinese hearers.

In the evening we had one of the city chapels open, and one or two Native Catechists, with myself at times, in attendance. The number of persons present whenever I was in the chapel seldom exceeded a score or so. However, I was pleased often with the attention given by this peculiar people to the word of truth spoken unto them. And it was spoken with power. I remember particularly the evening of the 8th of August, when, in a most simple and interesting manner, Bao Sin-sang set forth the way of salvation to a little company of his fellow-citizens. One person in the congregation appeared really anxious to understand the doctrines of Christianity, and put questions to the Catechists in a very becoming manner; so that before Bao had concluded his address he had been speaking more than an hour. It is when we get persons to inquire in this way that we feel encouraged to hope that the seed of the Gospel will bring forth fruit, for, generally speaking, a Chinese audience is surely the least impressive of any, the attention being most easily diverted from the all-important truths that are being uttered by the preacher.

HANG-CHOW.

Gospel preached to the poor.

Assisted by a few Native Catechists, the Rev. G. E. Moule has continued his evangelistic work in and around this city. "Not many mighty, not many noble" are called, but "to the poor the Gospel is preached." A small congregation of forty assembles on the Sabbath, and on Whit-Sunday six members were added to it by baptism. Concerning one of these, who received the name of Luke, a brief narrative is supplied:—

Of the baptized, the most interesting was P'un-sin-seng, who, having practised as a doctor, was christened Luke. He belongs to one of the best families of old Hang-Chow. His immediate ancestors on both sides filled very high offices; one grandfather having been special envoy to Annam in the reign Taokwang, on the occasion of conferring the regal investiture on the Annamese king; and the other grandfather, still living in Hang-Chow, having commanded in Soochow when it fell to the Taeping. He is now about thirty-seven years of age. At the time of the first invasion of this province and capture of this city in 1860, he was living here a life of ease and sensual pleasure with his mother (his father having died long before, as well as his elder brothers). On the very eve of the capture of the city his wife died, leaving him two little boys. Next day, before her funeral could be performed, the city was sacked and he was carried off to a six years' captivity. In the interval his mother died of starvation, and his little boys are he knows not how or where. The bones of the mother were buried by a faithful old nurse, who is now, like her master, a Christian. P'un did not regain his liberty till the spring or summer of 1865, when, being somewhere north of the Keang, he attached himself to a relative of his late wife, who held high office in those parts. He had been a lover of pleasure from his youth, being especially addicted to conviviality, and when with his relative he became for a short time an opium smoker; but on the relative's death, having no means, he thought it prudent to leave off the habit, which he did successfully with the aid of a prescription he possessed. He made for a few months a precarious subsistence by practising as an apothecary, but not prospering, determined to return to Hang-Chow, which he reached not long before our arrival in November 1865. At Shanghai he had attended a few times the Romanist Mission services; and, on his arrival here, having heard of us through the former owner of this house, he got an introduction, and became an assiduous attendant at our services. For some time I found it difficult to determine whether he was really actuated by spiritual motives, or only seeking some employment, which his poverty rendered necessary to him, and which he might perhaps think his assuming the part of an inquirer would induce me to give him. My assistants were as much perplexed as myself. He read and heard intelligently, but made no objections, and few inquiries. His manners were remarkably simple, without either the obsequiousness or the assumption which are usually characteristic of his class. He was a Sintsai, but his natural common sense and information on general subjects were much more creditable to him than his scholarship, which was below par. After a month's acquaintance I engaged him as my teacher, having failed in obtaining any qualified teacher elsewhere. His demeanour remained unaltered. He said nothing about money matters, gave me all his time, volunteered assistance in some cases of loathsome sores which we attempted to relieve, and in other ways showed himself ready and able to turn his hand to any thing that could conduce to the furtherance of my main object; whether the persuading of his neighbours to come to church and hear the Gospel, or the preparing and applying of plaisters and dressings to many who came to us for relief.

He receives baptism. In January or February he asked for baptism. I took pains at the time to explain to him that I had engaged him as a teacher, quite independently of the possibility of his becoming a convert; and that whilst his being baptized would certainly occasion him inconvenience, and perhaps persecution, it was not likely to procure him any temporal advantage. He continued his application, and, though shaken for a time by the insidious arguments of a clever Buddhist, Hoshang, whom I entertained for three months, he showed, on the whole, such intelligent resolution, that both I and my Native helpers being satisfied of his sincerity, I baptized him on Whit-Sunday.

Attention has been given to the instruction of catechumens, preparandi, a Catechist's class, and the preparation of vernacular works. Mr. Moule glances at these labours in his annual letter:—

Teaching of preparandi. The chief occupations of the first five months, besides the instruction of the Catechumens, were the teaching of two preparandi, Djông-san and Ts-sing; the superintending and correcting the formation, by Ts-sing, of a commentary on St. John in the Ven-li (classical style); a daily lesson (during about two months) in Proverbs and Psalms, given to John Dzang, P'un-sin-seng, Ts-sing, and the Buddhist monk, in a class; and, at leisure intervals, which occurred but seldom, a little study of the Hang-Chow dialect, with a view to compiling a dictionary of it, and fixing for it a Roman orthography.

Commentary by a native. Ts-sing's Commentary is all but completed. I trust it may be of some use. The young man is, of course, not an accomplished writer, but his style is clear, and, I think, not utterly without merit. Many of the doctrinal and practical comments have cheered me much, as giving evidence of increase of knowledge, and, I trust, also of spiritual experience in the writer. On points of harmony, antiquities, criticism, and the more difficult points of doctrine, I have been in the habit of writing notes for him, of which he has corrected the Chinese style, and combined them with his own.

Essays on the Creed. Latterly he has been writing Essays on the Creed, in connexion with a Sunday-morning inquirers' class, which I have entrusted to him. I hope to leave copies of the Commentary in the hands of Mr. Russell, Mr. Burdon, and other experienced friends, with the hope that, if it appears to them useful, it may one day be printed.

The Lessons on the Psalms I had hoped to make subsidiary to the formation of a Psalter in the colloquials of Ningpo and Hang-

Chow, translated from the Bible Society's classical version, and with a few corrective notes founded on Mr. Perowne's translation from the Hebrew; but I had advanced only to the 23rd when the summer interrupted our work, and I have been unable hitherto to resume it.

Progress in the colloquial.

In the colloquial I have made a moderate collection of words, and written the first few leaves of a dictionary. I have acquired enough of the phraseology to converse pretty well with the women and others who do not speak the Ningpo, and I should endeavour to use it almost exclusively if I were not expecting so soon to leave. At present, I use the Ningpo at daily prayers, and on Sundays also, both in the Liturgy and sermon. The Old Testament Lesson is read by P'un-sin-seng in the Hang-Chow. My Ningpo household, five or six in number, has been a chief inducement to me to make so much use of that dialect; but it is, in fact, when spoken idiomatically, more intelligible to a majority of persons of all classes in this city, than the city dialect, if spoken with labour and difficulty.

SHANGHAE.

The Rev. Dzaw Tsang-lae, Native Pastor in this city, has earnestly and effectively ministered to a little Native congregation, who appear to grow in grace and in the knowledge of the Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ.

PEKIN.

The Rev. J. S. Burdon is devoting a considerable portion of his time to the preparation of Scripture portions and religious tracts. The classical Chinese being unintelligible to the masses, translations of Scripture in the Mandarin colloquial are in progress. The chapel at the west end of the city of Pekin is open daily under the superintendence of the Rev. W. H. Collins, and a stream of curious, if not inquiring, Chinese is continually passing in and out of the building during the preaching of the Gospel. The Rev. C. Atkinson is giving his time and attention almost entirely to the study of the language. Mr. Burdon refers hopefully and prayerfully to the great work in which the Missionaries are engaged:—

Rev. J. S. Burdon's view of the work.

On the whole, then, am I ready to despond about our work? Not in the least. I only wish to keep before my own mind, and the minds of others, the actual state of the case. I would not for one moment exclude the spiritual element from our work, but I am anxious that the human element should not be ignored. To influence this great city and empire, we want something more than the imperfect tongue of the foreign Missionary before we can expect any movement worth the name in favour of Christianity. In the mean-time, because our wants are not fully supplied, far be it from me to sit down in despair and do nothing but find fault with our lack of means. Rather do I work from day to day to improve those means, so far as lies in my power; and I work on in hope that in due time we shall be more effectively equipped for our work. Above all, I do not cease to pray that He, who is the God of Missions, will make us all more effective in His service, and bless our poor efforts to the extension of His kingdom on earth.

NEW ZEALAND MISSION.

European Missionaries first arrived in New South Wales, 1810; proceeded to New Zealand, 1814; Mission confined to the Northern Island.

DIVISION OF THE MISSION.

I. Northern District, comprising the Diocese of New Zealand.

II. Eastern District, comprising the Diocese of Waiapu.

III. Western District, comprising the Diocese of Wellington.

General View.

Injurious effects of war.

PROLONGED war has caused desolation, depression and demoralization throughout the greater part of the New Zealand Mission. The older Missionaries, who have been driven from their stations, have hitherto found difficulty in returning to them; but though cast down they are not in despair, and they look to that Gospel, which has once destroyed heathenism and cannibalism, as the only remedy for the innumerable evils of war, fanaticism and disorganization. Colonial Bishops, diocesan synods, eminent laymen, and European Missionaries, concur in the opinion that the Society must not withdraw from New Zealand, although the work is now more Colonial than Missionary in its aspect. The spiritual welfare of the Maori race is the great object to which the efforts of the Society must be directed. The Native Ministers, who, in their painful position, have been faithful in their allegiance to the Gospel, are regarded by the Missionaries as the chief hope of the Native Church. For the development and establishment of the Native Clergy, the Society has the advantage of Missionaries familiar with the language. These Missionaries will itinerate among the Natives, and those who have had the longest and largest experience in New Zealand anticipate a spiritual revival from such earnest evangelizing labours among the Maori race. A Native Minister has been added to the Church during the year, and two have been removed by death, one having completed eleven, and the other thirteen, years of devoted ministerial service. The testimony concerning one of these brethren is, that he was an "efficient Minister and a working man," and his own words of simple and strong faith may well be adopted by ourselves as we contemplate the trials and troubles of New Zealand—"The strength of our God will preserve us."

Faithfulness of Native Clergy.

Testimony to the character of a Native Minister.

The death of the King-maker, Thompson, has exercised considerable religious as well as political influence. In his last hours he confessed his adhesion to the Christian faith and his allegiance to the British Crown. The "Southern Cross" gives an account of the closing hours of this remarkable man, furnished, not by a Missionary, but by a merchant:—

Last days of the New Zealand King-maker.

Thompson had been removed from Maungatautari to Cambridge, for the greater convenience of medical attendance. After lying at the latter place for some time, it became quite evident that his end was coming, and Te Oriori and the whole of the Ngatihaua were anxious that he should be removed. The motive of this anxiety was that they knew Thompson would soon die, and that there would be a great gathering of the Natives, for which Waikato is not so favourable as the Thames. The wish to remove a dying man is not uncommon amongst the Natives under these circumstances, and the sick man is expected to be quite passive. Thompson was so, submitting to whatever was wished by his relatives. A litter was made, upon which he was borne by easy stages into the Mangakawa ranges, which run between the Waikato and the Thames. Dr. Sam accompanied the party. At the place in these mountains where Te Waharoa, Thompson's father, died, a halt of two days was made. This place is described by Europeans who have seen it as one of the most picturesque and beautiful places in the whole country. It was first intended that the party should remain there till Thompson died, as it was understood that he wished to be buried near his father's grave, but for some reason it was resolved to move down to Peria, and to that place Thompson was carried. Here Mr. Firth, who had been written to by Thompson, requesting that he should come and see him before he died, overtook the party. It was near sunset, the halt had just been made, and the dying chief was lying on the litter in a small glade in the forest, with his wife close to him, and the other Natives sitting silent at a distance. The whole scene was most solemn. The Natives were awed into silence, and omitted the usual calls of welcome. This was on the 26th of December. Mr. Firth was anxious to get from Thompson a declaration of his views towards the Government, and also especially a statement of his religious belief, feeling assured that his confession would show him a firm believer in pure Christianity. But Thompson, exhausted by having been carried, was unable to say much. Mr. Firth, therefore, very judiciously abstained altogether from teasing him by questions. Thompson at once recognised his friend, and a smile of welcome passed over his face. Dr. Sam explained to Mr. Firth that he was vexed because Thompson would not take wine to support him. Victoria (Thompson's wife) told her husband that it was Mr. Firth's particular wish that he should take a glass of wine, which she held in her hand, and he raised himself on his elbow, by a great effort, and drank it. Mr. Firth said to Thompson that he had come up to see him, as he had asked. The answer was, that he would speak to him in the morning. Thompson evidently had much on his mind to say, but as he was unable then to speak Mr. Firth did not prolong his stay. Next day, the 27th, when Mr. Firth got down, accompanied by Captain Clare, he found that Thompson had been taken across the river, and was laid down to rest. He was very weak, and too much exhausted to enter into any conversation. Te Oriori asked him, "What shall I do, and the Maoris, your children, when you are dead?" The answer was, "You must stand by the Government and by the law: if there be any evil in the land, the law will make it right." Then, addressing Mr. Firth, he said, "I am about to die, but do not be afraid: remain you here on this land: remain always, and it will be well." We may mention, to make these words intelligible, that they were spoken on the run which Mr. Firth leased some time since from Thompson. The party was then on the plain of Turanga Moana, near the lake which is the head waters of the long line of swamps that extend between the Piako and the Thames. About an hour after Mr. Firth left, a messenger came to him to say that the chief had died, and he immediately returned to the place. The whole of the Natives were gathered, weeping bitterly, and the widow was standing beside the corpse chanting a lament which enumerated the virtues of her husband. The body was carefully wrapped in a winding-sheet, which was lifted down in order that Mr. Firth might see the features.

Dying injunctions to those around him.

During Thompson's illness there was nothing like Pai Marire ceremonies tolerated near. He himself, as long as he was able, read a Bible which had been given him a short time since by an European, and carried it beside him, when too weak to read. Always before he was lifted the following prayer was offered up by the tribe:—"Almighty God, we beseech Thee give strength to William Thompson whilst we remove him from this place. If it please Thee, restore him again to perfect strength: if that is not Thy will, take him, we beseech Thee, to Heaven."

One of Mr. Firth's men made a coffin, in which the body was laid.

Constrained by the evils of war to retire from Taupo, the Rev. T. S. Grace has been compelled to remain in comparative inactivity at Auckland. Convinced, however, that Missionary work might be resumed among the Maories, he has visited those on the banks of the Thames. His reception was not unfriendly, even by the Hauhaus, who, on learning that he had been with Mr. Völkner at Opotiki, were desirous of persuading him that their religious system differed from the fanaticism of Opotiki. Mr. Grace found that the Prayer-book was coming into use as formerly, the prayer for the Queen being omitted until peace is definitively concluded; and the impression obtained from his visit, was that many of the Hauhaus will renounce their fanaticism if the Gospel be earnestly preached among them. The Committee have sanctioned the resumption of Mr. Grace's Missionary work at Taupo, whenever circumstances may permit him to return to that station.

Missionary visit to the Hauhaus.

The Native Clergy have, as a body, acquitted themselves as good soldiers of Jesus Christ, and the hearts of the European Missionaries were, on the 23rd September last, rejoiced by the admission of two Native Deacons, the Revs. Heta Tarawhiti and Matiu Taupaki, to Priests' orders. The Rev. B. Y. Ashwell had laboured with the former during twenty years, and he describes him as a "faithful Christian brother, with whom he had laboured in the greatest harmony and love." The occasion is also briefly noticed by the Rev. C. Baker, who says:—

Admission of two native Deacons to the order of Priesthood.

On the 23rd of September the Bishop conferred Priests' orders on the Rev. Heta Tarawhiti and Rev. Matiu Taupaki. At the Bishop's request, Messrs. Chapman, Ashwell and myself assisted in the laying on of hands, much to our joy at the event. They have proved themselves worthy of the high honour conferred upon them. You may easily conceive what our feelings were towards these our successors in the work.

But the joy created by this ordination is mingled with regret for the loss of others, who having, amid earthly wars, "fought the good fight of faith," and "done the work of evangelists," were removed by death.

The Rev. Rota Waitoa was the first New Zealander who received ordination. He died last Autumn. In a letter to the Rev. T. Lanfear, with whom he had been associated, he thus expressed himself concerning the murder of Mr. Völkner and the present state of New Zealand:—

Letter of Native Minister to European Missionary.

We have all suffered alike from the wicked doings of the Pai Marire, but that which grieved us most was the violent death of our beloved friend. Great was the sorrow, both of the Native and English Church. The end of those wars at Opotiki, Whakatane and Waiapu will be the union of the well-disposed, whether Native or foreign; but the ill-disposed will be separated from them even in this world. My friend, those murderers are lost: for them there is no settled place of abode: in the bush, on the mountain, on the sea-shore, in the prison, is their dwelling. The people at your station, at Mata Paru, Joseph and his people, still hold to the faith. Farewell, my beloved friend. The strength of our God will preserve us. I have done.

From your beloved friend in the Lord,
ROTA WAITOA.

Public testimony to the value of the labours of two deceased Native Ministers.

The labours of the Rev. Riwai Te Ahu and of the Rev. Rota Waitoa are recognised in the following terms by one of the public journals of the island:—

The death of the Rev. Riwai Te Ahu, at Otaki, deserves more than the passing notice of the obituary. Known as he was to many of us, indeed to all of the old settlers, and respected by all that knew him for his gentle and consistent character and conduct, we may be allowed to tell them that his end was peaceful, like his previous life; that in his latter days he exercised all the influence his position and character gave him to impress upon his Native brethren a due sense of the blessings of Christianity and of a Christian life.

It is now twenty-seven years since he readily listened to the teaching of the first Missionary of this Southern district, and soon showed himself to be deserving of any trust and confidence that might be reposed in him. He became the nucleus of a body of young men at Waikanae, who devoted themselves to the knowledge and practice of the Gospel. After a while, when their English Minister was laid up for some years through severe illness, Riwai Te Ahu steadily upheld his teacher's work, by gathering together the community to a regular attendance in church and school, and by setting them an example of a genuine Christian life.

His health began to fail about the year 1850, and when his bodily weakness unfitted him for any hard active work, he gave his mind exclusively to the study of the Scriptures, and learnt the English language enough to read by himself parts of the Old Testament, when as yet there was no translation of it in his own language. After having studied some time at Auckland, he was admitted, in the year 1855, to the office of a Deacon, by the Bishop of New Zealand. His friend, Rota Waitoa, of Otaki, had been ordained two years before, and as they were alike in their lives, so in their deaths they were not divided. Rota, the first ordained Clergyman of the Maori Church, died in July last, after having laboured most faithfully at the East Cape, until he was driven from his post by the Hauhaus. Riwai, from the time of his ordination to that of his death, lived at Otaki. His health gradually declined: nevertheless, he persevered in teaching daily at the school, and taking as much of the services of the Church as his strength allowed. Latterly, during all the excitement of the Hauhau superstition, all who heard his sermons and conversation were much struck by the increased depth and earnestness of his thoughts and feelings. Doubtless his labours were not in vain; and he did much to keep the Natives of the district true to the Gospel faith and loyal to the Queen.

He was buried by Archdeacon Hadfield, the Bishop, with all the English residents and the Natives of the place, attending the funeral. By the innocency of his life and the constancy of his faith unto the end, "he being dead, yet speaketh."

On this subject, and on the general state of New Zealand, Archdeacon Maunsell bears the following testimony:—

There is little doubt but that the tide has turned, while the fact of a great leading rebel retaining his faith and dying a Christian, and this not on the testimony of a Missionary, but of Mr. Firth, a merchant, who once wrote against Missionary work—this fact, Archdeacon Maunsell's view of the present state of New Zealand.

I say, may lead us to conclude that many of the inferior men have also in secret (as Thompson did lately to Mr. Ashwell) recognised Christ as their only Saviour. The aspect that the Maori now presents is very different from what it was a few years ago. Then it was homogeneous; now it is like our own, heterogeneous, and each man will form his opinion of it according to the point of view from which he regards it.

We say to our watchmen, "What of the night"? They reply 'Darkness cometh." This none can deny. Gambling has fearfully ncreased among men and women; and so has drunkenness and its accompanying sins. But it is as the prophet said, "Darkness cometh, and also the light." The chaff is flying away and the wheat is becoming more distinct. Before this late time of trial both elements, darkness and light, were blended into an universal twilight. Now they are separating, and as our knowledge of human nature would suggest, the darkness prevails, and seems to cover the people. Hence the superficial observer says, "All is darkness." But I am glad to find that many of my brethren do not take this view; neither would my observation (limited as it now is) point to the same direction. About five months ago I paid a visit to the other side of the Thames (Coromandel Harbour), where the Land Courts had brought together a number of Natives. As might be expected, we saw much drunkenness, and heard brawls, but at the same time I found that there were hidden worshippers; and a party of from twenty to thirty met every day, while I was there, to join me in worship. While thus engaged one evening, I was surprised to hear a bell at a little distance off, and, after service, proceeded to see what it meant. It was rung by a party who had just landed, and who were not aware that I was on the ground. Coming suddenly to the door, I found about twelve of them reverently and devoutly on their knees engaged in their evening devotions. Waiting till they had concluded, I then stood forward to express my gratitude and joy at such an unexpected scene. This last Christmas season I spent at my old station, and the surrounding district. I found every thing as I had left it, the congregation as usual, and the attendants at the Lord's Supper very nearly the same as formerly.

Kaitaia has enjoyed immunity from the evils of war. Peace, happiness, and contentment have prevailed. The Missionaries, Messrs. Matthews and Puckey, have much ground for thankfulness. An impression as to the state of the district may be obtained from testimony thus given by them:—

Comparative immunity from the evils of war.

We have pursued our duties quietly, and we have been favoured with the Divine blessing, although but in a small degree. Twelve adults have sought admission into the Church of Christ, and were baptized during the year. They appeared earnest, and we hope that a blessing will rest upon them. When we see young men and women striving to read God's Word, and learn their Catechism well, and able to answer proper questions propounded to them by us, we feel pleased and hopeful, for we know that a powerful weapon is placed in their hands. We have a few candidates now for baptism, but we think that there cannot be more than a score of unbaptized adults in the whole district of Kaitaia. There have been fifty-eight infants baptized by us, and perhaps as many more by the other Ministers in the district. There have been eleven weddings registered by us, and perhaps the same number by other Ministers. The Holy Communion has been administered thirteen times publicly during the year, and privately to sick and dying people when desired. The communicants were 282 Natives and 14 Europeans.

We have been much pleased to hear of the Rev. Matiu Taupaki's admission to Priests' orders, of whom the Bishop speaks as "having well earned this good degree;" also of our Deacon at Hokianga, who is going on well, and has an important sphere to move in. We have also good news of Renata Tangata, the son of one of our first Teachers, Himiona Tangata, who is preparing, under Dr. Martin and others, for Deacons' orders.

Eastern District.

Six stations have been occupied in this district in the following chronological order—1. Tauranga, 1835; 2. Maketu, 1835; 3. Rotorua, 1835; 4. Turanga, 1840; 5. East Cape, 1842; 6. Wairoa, 1844.

A hopeful view of the spiritual state of the Maori race is taken by the Bishop of Waiapu.

While the spiritual condition of the Maori race is such as to cause deep anxiety, it is not such as to justify despair. The Bishop of Waiapu, who has so long laboured in this part of the Missionary field, is constrained to deplore the forsaking of God which characterizes many at the present time; but, on the other hand, he is able to affirm that there is an aspect of affairs which is "bright and full of hope," and that "there are many who hold fast the truth." The Bishop, in reviewing the past, and anticipating the future, is persuaded that better days are dawning upon New Zealand, and the wayside confession of Christ incidentally made, which concludes the annexed extract from the Bishop's letter, seems to corroborate the estimate formed of New-Zealand Christianity :—

There are indications of a desire for peace in other parts of the country. The chief Tamihana Te Waharoa has lately died. The wish that he expressed upon his dying bed was that there should be no more fighting; that their waste lands should be let to the white man; and that good feeling should be promoted between the races. This was immediately acted upon by his people, who sent a message to a small tribe who were causing trouble near Tauranga, to desire that they would desist from their proceedings. But what is better still, there is a wish expressed by many to return back to that religion which so many of them have disowned. The havoc which has been made among them by the demoralizing effects of the war has been fearful, and human nature inclines the multitude to follow that which is evil. Whenever, therefore, we meet with a strong desire for a better course, we are warranted in believing that such desire is sincere, and happily there are many such cases to be met with.

Ordination of Native student.

In the month of May last, one of our students from the Turanga School was admitted to Deacons' orders, and has been located at Tauranga. This locality has suffered much from the war and all its consequences. Indifference to religious services is sadly prevalent, not because they have an example of irreligion before them in our own countrymen, for the larger portion of the English community does maintain an outward attention, at least, to Christian worship. It seems to be that they have taken a downward course, and it is a difficult matter to recover their position. In every case where the root of the matter is not in them, there is no influence to work upon them in the way of reformation. It is only the gift of that grace which, in too many cases, they have never possessed, that they can become true Christians.

Firmness of Native Clergy amid trials.

The Native Clergymen located at Waiapu, Turanga and Wairoa have held their ground amidst many severe trials, and there is a certain number of their countrymen who are glad to receive their ministrations; but they have to lament over the coldness of the greater part of the people. Still, even among the lukewarm, there is a wish expressed that their teachers should return to them; and it is only the unsettled state of the country which has delayed the admission of three more of our students to Deacons' orders.

The remnant of our school has continued at Paihia, under the charge of the Rev. E. B. Clarke, until the end of September, when, on the arrival of the Rev. G. Maunsell from England to take this post, the services of Mr. Clarke were transferred to the Northern District, where there is a widely-scattered Native population unprovided for.

Looking forward to the future, some might be disposed to regard our prospects as dark and gloomy. I do not take this view. The fact is, we have come upon the days of conflict, which it is not possible to disguise or to explain away, and what we have to do, whether in New Zealand or in England, is to stand forth boldly for the truth. We know what the end will be, and who is directing the issues of the conflict. Prospect not dark and gloomy.

I will conclude this letter by mentioning an incident which occurred three weeks ago at Wellington. I was talking to a friend in the road at the village of the Hutt, waiting for an omnibus to come up, when an old man, a Native, came along and sat down on the opposite side of the road. I crossed over to him. He was between seventy and eighty years of age, and his hand was tremulous with weakness. He told me his name was Samuel, and that he had been baptized by Archdeacon Hadfield. I said to him that perhaps he had laid aside his religion like many others. "No," he said, "I have not." "What then do you believe?" "I believe in Jesus Christ and in Jehovah." "And what has Jesus Christ done for you?" "He came into the world, and died upon the cross for my sins, and I believe in Him." Here was a simple confession of faith, given by the roadside, which I had not looked for, and it was cheering. Tamihana, also, the Waikato Chief, who died about a month ago, told Archdeacon Brown, shortly before his death, that so far from being a Hauhau, he had never omitted to read the Scriptures daily. This, I fear, is more than could be said by the majority of professing Christians. Brighter days are coming, and we will wait for them. Interesting wayside incident. Faith in Christ crucified.

The military stationed at Tauranga have required much of Archdeacon Brown's ministerial services, while in preaching to the few Natives there, he has been assisted by a recently-ordained Native Deacon. The Archdeacon briefly states the present aspect of affairs:—

The Imperial and Colonial forces stationed at Tauranga have occupied, as last year, much of my time. I have, in addition, continued to preach the Gospel to a few Natives on the afternoons of the Sabbath, my lack of service in the mornings being ably supplied by a Native Deacon, who was ordained by the Bishop of Waiapu, in May last, to assist me in my duties.

My old friend, William Thompson (the King-maker, as the "Times" styled him) was with me in August. He was on his return from Wellington, whither he had gone to meet the Governor. I was glad to be assured by him, that although he had joined the Hauhaus as a political movement, he had never entered into their wild fanaticism, and still studied the Scriptures. He said that he would never again take up arms against the Europeans, but should quietly brood over the wrongs which they had inflicted upon his country.

Irreligion resulting from war.

His open withdrawal from the King party will, I trust, be over-ruled to the restoration of peace in this distracted land. We are still upon our "watch-tower," with little to cheer and much to depress us in our Missionary work. Neglect of the means of grace, desecration of the Sabbath, drunkenness, and Hauhauism in some of its many forms, prevail to a fearful extent. The influx of colonization and the horrors of war have doubtless acted as a hotbed with respect to many of the crimes which cause our hands to hang down and our knees to wax feeble; and yet I cannot believe that God's holy Word, which, for half a century, has been sown broadcast through the length and breadth of New Zealand, will cease to produce fruits of righteousness. Even in our darkest days we have been privileged to rejoice in a gathered Church, in sheaves added year by year to the heavenly garner.

ROTORUA.

Hopeful indications.

The war drew from the Rotorua district almost all the Natives capable of using arms, but the Rev. S. M. Spencer, who is in charge of the district, thinks there are now some hopeful indications. An increasing freedom for visiting some of the more distant localities exists, and in some places, which appeared hopeless to the Missionary by reason of the power of fanaticism, the Natives are returning to daily worship and the reading of the Scriptures. An improved attendance on the means of grace is reported in districts where Romanism, rebellion, fanaticism and negligence had prevailed.

Western District.

The district was first occupied by Archdeacon Hadfield in 1839. It now comprises five stations: 1. Wanganui, 1840; 2. Otaki, 1842; 3. Heretaunga, 1844; 4. Papawai (Palliser Bay), 1856; 5. Pipiriki, on the Wanganui river, 1856.

Exhibition of feeling on the departure of the Missionary for England.

On the eve of his departure for England, the Rev. R. Taylor assembled the Christians of Wanganui. Notwithstanding the number absent on account of the war, two hundred attended service, and there were nearly sixty communicants.

The presentation of a token of respect, and the account of a Prayer Meeting at the commencement of the new year, are thus described by Mr. Taylor:—

We have had a very pleasing meeting this Christmas: the number present was small in comparison with that of former years, most of my people being now at the front, garrisoning the out-ports; so that the entire congregation did not much exceed 200, and, of them, nearly sixty communicated. The great attention, however, of the congregation, and their serious deportment, was very satisfactory. After the service, one of our head chiefs, Metakingi, informed the congregation that I was shortly going to leave them, on a visit to my native land, and that they ought not to allow me to leave without taking away with me some token of their respect and esteem. In the afternoon I gave an entertainment at my house, at which fully 120 were present. At its conclusion Metakingi held a meeting in the field. Many speeches were made. I was summoned to receive the "Mea whaka honore" —token of respect—and about 25*l.* were placed in my hands. Coming at such a time as this, when the Missionary has had so much to lament and depress him, I must say I felt very thankful to our Heavenly Father that He so much inclined the hearts of my people to give this spontaneous expression of their attachment and sense of advantage derived from Missionary labour in their behalf. This was also a public and satisfactory proof that the Native is not so destitute of feeling as many would make him to be. Last night we terminated the year with prayer, and began this new one with the same. The attendance was small, but the feeling of all was solemn. Shall we ever be permitted to meet again for the same service? I presented each one present with a copy of the New Testament and Psalms, to keep them in remembrance of it. I have always found this service a cementing bond between the Missionary and his people. The number of Natives and Europeans present was nearly equal: each shook the other most cordially by the hand, and mutually exchanged the best wishes for each other's welfare.

The native Minister can take the place of the European.

AMONG the scattered tribes of North-West America the work is continued with success. Some of the older Mission districts are assuming almost a parochial character, and in the more remote stations the Native Minister is found capable of being not only an assistant to, but also a substitute for, the European Missionary.

The Bishop of Rupert's Land has strenuously exerted himself to supply, in connexion with St. John's College, a sound, religious and secular education to the youth of the land, and the Rev. John McLean, of the diocese of Huron, has been selected to fill the office of Warden and the Archdeaconry of Assiniboine. The general state of the College, and the character of the students there supported by the Society, are stated in Archdeacon McLean's first report:—

Statistics of St. John's College.

The total number of students at present attending our Institution is 28. Of these, 25 are enrolled as scholars of the Collegiate School, the remaining three, including Mr. George Bruce, one of your Catechists, are exclusively students of divinity, forming the senior class.

I have formed a junior divinity class, consisting of seven students from the 25 enrolled in the school, so that their theological instruction does not interfere with their attending the ordinary classes. Five of them are supported by the Church Missionary Society, of whom three are Indians.

I am particularly interested and gratified in having the three Indians in the class. Perhaps no testimony could be more striking, as to the value of the work of the Church Missionary Society, than to see these men so far advanced as to enter with such intelligence upon the studies they are now engaged in. I may mention that four out of the six Church Missionary Society's students are already employed as teachers in my parish Sunday School. I think this will help their own training.

Testimony of Archdeacon McLean to the value of the Society's labours.

I. Red River District.

Though not in strong health, the Rev. J. P. Gardiner has been able to continue his ministerial work at St. Andrew's, which almost assumes a parochial form. Week-day evening lectures and night schools are conducted in addition to the regular Sunday services. A Missionary prayer-meeting has been well attended, there being on some occasions 80 persons present. The schools have improved, the average attendance of scholars being more than one hundred. Some cases of individual conversion have occurred within the year, and the Missionary looks earnestly for a larger outpouring of the Holy Spirit upon those who listen to the Gospel.

INDIAN SETTLEMENT.

The prevalence of typhus fever and dysentery at this station has caused the Rev. A. Cowley much anxiety and additional labour. The visitation of the sick has made heavy demands on his energies, not only from the large number of sufferers, but also from the great distances to be traversed. So general was the sickness at one period of the year that the schools were almost closed. Some promising young Indians were removed by death, and in the midst of these trials Mr. Cowley was called to deplore the introduction of greater facilities for intoxication so fatal to the spiritual and physical welfare of the Indian. Yet progress has been made both in the spiritual and temporal affairs of the Church. On the first Sunday in February 1866, communicants to the number of 106 gathered around the Lord's Table, and on Easter-day the communicants were 168. A confirmation was held by the Bishop for the district of the Indian Settlement, when 90 were confirmed. Mr. Cowley has been assisted part of the year by the Rev. J. Settee, a Native Minister, who in September proceeded to Fairford. The Rev. Henry Cochrane has now become the Native Pastor at the Indian Settlement. A new stone house has been erected for the Clergyman in charge, and the progress towards parochial organization may be inferred from the account of Church meetings:—

Sickness in the Mission.

Church Members and Parochial proceedings.

In the evening, met the members of our Church at the Indian Settlement, for the purpose of electing churchwardens and vestrymen for the year ensuing; also two delegates to attend at the Bishop's Conference in May next. The meeting was opened by reading God's Holy Word, singing and prayer.

Joseph Monkman, sen., a Half-breed, to be churchwarden, John Thomas, an Indian, do.; John Johnstone, Indian, to be vestryman, James Johnstone, do., Joseph Monkman, Half-breed, do., William Leask, do.: also Henry Prince, Indian, and John Sinclair, Indian, to be delegates.

The temporal business of the Church was brought before the meeting, when it appeared, that all expenses having been met, there was a balance of 17*s.* 3*d.* in the hands of the treasurer, exclusive of a donation of 5*l.* from a lady, who sent that sum to the box as a thank-offering: this, together with that, was voted to the Bishop's fund for heathen Missions.

The meeting, which throughout had been highly gratifying, was brought to a close by singing the Doxology, and the people were dismissed with the blessing.

April, 3*rd.*—Went to Lower Mapleton, to meet the candidates for confirmation and others. In the evening went on to Upper Mapleton school, to meet the male members of our Church of St. Clement's, for the purpose of electing churchwardens and vestrymen for the year ensuing, and delegates to sit at the Bishop's Conference, and to attend to any business connected with the Church of St. Clement's.

The meeting was opened with singing, reading God's Word and prayer, and was very well attended. There were elected:—

Mr. Thomas Bunn and Mr. Samuel Taylor, to be churchwardens; Mr. W. Pruden, Mr. John Pruden, Mr. W. Cochrane, and Mr. P. Spence, to be vestrymen; Mr. Thomas Bunn and Mr. Charles Donald, to be delegates.

Vestry Meetings.

The statement of past accounts connected with the collections, from January last till now, showed a small balance in its favour. This was voted unanimously to the Bishop's Mission fund. Other matters of business were deferred till the vestry shall be able to meet.

The meeting, which throughout had been most happy and cordial, was concluded by singing and the blessing. The storm of snow and wind was so violent that my friends pressed me, and I remained at Mapleton for the night, at Mr. Murray's.

The contrast between Christian and heathen Indians is graphically sketched in a few strong and distinct lines:—

I am happy to say, that, so far as I have seen the crew, all Christian Indians from Devon, they have to a man behaved very well indeed. Liquor is to be had in many places, and they had money, yet I do not believe they sought it, nor had any of it all the while they have been in the settlement. They leave with our best wishes. I could not but contrast the peaceful, harmless life of these Christian Indians with the conduct of several heathen Indians, only a few days ago, in the upper part of the settlement—murdering their fellow-Indians simply because they belonged to another tribe, and even eating part of their flesh and drinking their blood!

A contrast between Christian and heathen Indians.

LA PRAIRIE.

The congregation here has, by regular and full attendance, manifested its appreciation of the labours of David Spence, who has also been in charge of the school. In winter the number of children has been from 40 to 50, and in summer from 20 to 30.

Concerning LANSDOWNE, the Rev. A. Cowley is able to announce, on the testimony of the Rev. R. Phair, who is in charge, a promising commencement :—

I have lately heard from Mr. Phair. The new schoolroom at Lansdowne, which is to answer the double purpose of school and church, is so far finished as to admit of being used for Divine service on Christmas-day last. There were fifty-eight persons at morning service, and six of them remained to partake of the Holy Communion. There would have been one other, had she been at Lansdowne at the time, but she was with us, and attended the same service at Mapleton.

One other fact I have great pleasure in communicating, viz. the baptism of the chief of the place, and also his wife and child: other members of the family were previously baptized. There is now quite a nice little flock of Native Christians at Lansdowne, similar to, though less numerous, than the Church at Islington. I should be delighted to see both those places endowed, and entrusted to the care of Native Ministers, that the work might assume a permanent shape, and the Church become naturalized, and, so to speak, indigenous.

Baptism of a chief and family.

II. MANITOBA DISTRICT.

The Rev. J. Settee has been located at FAIRFORD during the latter part of the year. Mr. David Hale, a student from the Islington Institution, has recently been assigned to this district.

III. Cumberland.

The Rev. T. T. Smith has removed during the year to Devon, but will, it is feared, be compelled to visit England for restoration of health. There has been much sickness in the district, but the work has proceeded without serious hindrance.

Nepowewin.

After much domestic affliction, the Rev. Henry Budd has been sustained in his arduous Mission duties. Three Missionary tours have been undertaken, in addition to the work carried forward at Nepowewin. Mr. Budd alludes in his annual letter to his domestic bereavements and his ministerial labours:—

It is now nearly two years and a-half since my dear and now sainted son, with his mother and sister, entered into his rest: since then, I have been left to plod on all alone, doing what I could for the people committed to my charge, and endeavouring to further the best interests of this Mission under my special care. By the sparing mercy of God, and by His strength, I have been enabled, far above my expectations, to carry on the work of the Mission as usual, both the secular part and otherwise, as well as caring for those beyond the boundaries of the Mission. I feel thankful, when I look back, that, with all my trials, nothing has gone back upon me, and that I am still able to report of some progress made. Though no human help has been at hand to assist me, yet help did come from another source: "My grace is sufficient for thee, for my strength is made perfect in weakness." The Gospel of our adorable Redeemer has been preached, the same as usual, from one end of my district to another. The visits to the surrounding neighbourhood, of mixed population, have been made as often as I could spare the time here, and could leave my own people. Some converts have been brought in, in each of these visits, and several baptisms have taken place: the school has gone on steadily, and the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper duly administered; and a great deal has been done towards the new church, and I hope now to finish it by next summer.

Consolations of the Gospel amid afflictions.

The work of the Mission has gone on throughout the year much the same as in former years. Indeed, we have accomplished more work towards the completion of this Mission than we could have done in former years.

IV. English-River District.

At Stanley, in this district, the country-born Minister, the Rev. J. A. Mackay, is in charge. Sickness has prevailed.

The average attendance at the day school has been twenty. The Indians have remained longer at the station than formerly, and Mr. Mackay mentions the encouraging case of a Christian Indian, who visited a heathen family in order to make known the Gospel to them:—

A Christian zealous for the spiritual welfare of his race.

It is a subject of much encouragement that one of my Indians has left his own hunting-grounds, and gone to spend the winter with a heathen family, in order that he may instruct them in the truths of Christianity. Before he left I provided him with a few simple books in Cree, but gave him no pay nor promise of any. Indeed, I feel sure that hope of temporal advantage is not his motive, and that he is influenced purely by a desire to impart to his heathen countrymen the knowledge of the Saviour upon whom he has believed. I received from him yesterday a letter, written in the Syllabic character, of which the following is a fair translation:—"Sixth day of the horn-rubbing moon" (i. e. the month when deer rub their horns on the trees to rid them of the skin). "My dear praying master, I write a short letter to you that you may know that I have visited Deer Lake. Our friends there, both Crees and Chippewyans, listened attentively to the Word. I saw both Crees and Chippewyans gathered together at the Fort. Let me know what you think I should do next spring, and I will try to follow your advice. I have nothing more to say. There is one thing of which the Chippewyans spoke to me. There is your house at Hatchett Lake: they still wish a teacher to go there among them. I salute you all. May our Saviour bless and take care of us all, both in body and in spirit, now and for ever."

V. Mackenzie-River District.

This district has, in common with other parts of Rupert's Land, suffered severely from sickness, and the Missionary, the Rev. W. W. Kirkby, has not been in full health. The Mission has, however, in some measure, advanced.

The Rev. W. C. Bompas, who was assigned to the Youcon district, has passed the summer at Great Bear Lake. Having repaired to Fort Simpson, he was there joined by the Rev. R. McDonald, the country-born Minister, now in charge of Youcon, and, in consultation with Mr. Kirkby, it was thought desirable for Mr. Bompas to itinerate from Bear Lake as a centre.

The new church at Fort Simpson was, on the 26th August, sufficiently completed to be opened for Divine service.

Concerning his spiritual labours Mr. Kirkby writes:—

Regarding the work throughout the district, I can safely and thankfully say that there has been some real progress made during the year that is closing. The severe chastisement of last autumn has, I hope, solemnized the minds of many, and God has given us many gracious tokens of His presence, for which it becometh us to be thankful. About eighty adults, besides children, have been admitted into the Church of Christ, by baptism, and others are waiting for admission to that holy rite. Nearly all of these have been from the Youcon Mission.

We have nothing here to present at all like the work at the Youcon, I am sorry to say. The Slaves are very different from the Kutchin, and the Romanists are as bitter and active as ever in their opposition. Still, thank God, there is much improvement manifest. It is very cheering to see, Sunday by Sunday, the Indians about the Fort (generally about twenty-five in number) gather together in God's house of prayer, to hear His blessed Word. Very encouraging is it also to hear them sing the praises of Jesus so nicely as they can now do, and repeat the Litany and other portions of our Service, which I have recently, by God's help, prepared for them. In their daily life, too, I would fain hope some are endeavouring to live as becometh the Gospel of Christ. But I sadly long to see more life among them. We need the quickening influences of God's Spirit to make the flesh and bones, which have been drawn together, live.

The Youcon.

Diminution of the people by disease.

The Native Minister, the Rev. R. McDonald, has laboured alone at this station during the year. Great mortality has prevailed among the Indians, but the diminution of the people by disease has been simultaneous with the increase of the number of Christians. Mr. McDonald notices both the physical effects of disease, and the spiritual results of the Mission:—

The mortality among the Tukuthe from scarlet fever was very great. Of those connected with Youcon as many as 170 died; and of those connected with Peel-River Fort and La Pierre's House, upwards of 100. More than a dozen of the Mountain Indians who frequent Peel-River Fort were also carried off by that disease, also several of the Esquimaux.

Within the last six months I have had the pleasure of admitting into the visible Church of Christ, by baptism, 100 individuals of the Tukuthe, upwards of 80 of whom were adults. There are many more awaiting baptism, and I hope to administer that sacred ordinance to a few this autumn.

VI. York Factory District.

This district, with its two out-stations of Churchill and Severn, has been under the diligent and experienced care of the Rev. W. Mason, from whom, however, a detailed account of the year's proceedings has not been received.

VII. James'-Bay District.

Moose Fort.

The Rev. Thomas Vincent, country-born Minister, has carried on the work of this station during the year, the Rev. John Horden being in England. The services of the Church have been regularly attended, and the school has been maintained in efficiency. Mr. Vincent records the death of an enlightened and useful member of his little Indian flock:—

Loss to the Mission by the death of an aged convert.

Our Mission has just sustained a severe loss in the death of the good old man, Oolakachisish. He died very suddenly, as he did not complain of being ill at all. The morning it took place he seemed perfectly well after reading; he marked the day of the month in his almanac, and then breakfasted; he then left the tent, followed by his wife. They went about 150 yards, then, suddenly stopping, he stood for a little, but almost immediately fell over, and expired without saying a word. All they could do for the mortal part was to bury it carefully, the distance being too great to allow of its being brought here. When he came to say "Good bye," last autumn, he was very cheerful, and said, "I know to whom I must look, and from whom I must get support. If I am spared to return, you will see me about the usual time I arrive." In him our community has lost a light—a light which always shone out brightly. Frequently have the walls of our church echoed with his powerful voice when addressing his countrymen; but though that voice is now still in death, it will continue to echo long upon our memories.

Albany, an out-station, 100 miles distant from Moose Fort, and camps of the Indians at various points in the wilderness, have been visited during the year. On Whit-Sunday there was a full congregation, and 42 communicants, at Moose.

METLAHKATLAH.

Christian village beyond the Rocky Mountains.

BEYOND the Rocky Mountains the Christian village of Metlahkatlah has arisen in the wilderness. The peace and prosperity there found united with religion and morality, elicit the admiration of those who visit the community, whose present, contrasted with their past condition, exemplifies the Scripture, "Godliness is profitable unto all things, having promise of the life that now is, as well as that which is to come."

The most decided and favourable testimony as to the social, moral, and religious state of this village, is supplied from an independent source. A gentleman, who is a member of the Roman Catholic Church, and a trader on the coast, has recently visited Metlahkatlah. On his return he published in a local paper an account of what he had witnessed, and some portions of this testimony are appended. His description is as follows:—

Favourable testimony of a visitor to Metlahkatlah.

I could not but feel surprised and gratified at the vast improvement in the condition of the Indian, both morally and socially, that I witnessed at the different Missions since my last visit. At Metlahkatlah, the charge of Mr. Duncan, this improvement was particularly marked. Though not of the same denomination as the gentleman, and having no interest to subserve by my advocacy of his great claims to the respect and gratitude of all true Christians for his meritorious services in the good cause, it is with feelings of the utmost pleasure that I bear testimony to the great good effected by this worthy man during his period of self-exile at Metlahkatlah. Some time ago reports were industriously circulated, that his influence over the aborigines was rapidly on the wane, and that he used every means to prevent his people from trading with the vessels calling at the Mission. With regard to the first assertion, it is simply ridiculous. The confidence reposed in Mr. Duncan by his dusky flock has never for a moment been shaken, in fact, is daily on the increase, as the many additions to the population from outside sources will attest, as well as the alacrity with which he is obeyed in every command having for its object the good of the community. A notable instance of the latter I witnessed in the ready manner in which they turned out to do their quota of statute labour on the streets, or paid its equivalent in blankets, &c.: no coercion, all was voluntary, for they see the benefit in front of their own doors. Their hearts seem to be centered in their little town, and you can inflict no greater punishment on them than to exile them from it and its founder. In regard to the allegation about the prohibition to trading, I have only to remark that it is as groundless as the other. I myself was on a trading voyage, and stopped ten days at Metlahkatlah, and had every facility afforded me by Mr. Duncan in trafficking with the Natives. The reason is obvious enough: our trade was not in whisky. That branch of trade is certainly discouraged at the Mission, hence the outcry about "interfering with commerce."

A word or two now about Metlahkatlah and its beautiful environs, all blooming with the blossoms of that useful esculent the potato, some twenty acres of which were under cultivation and looking splendid. The town is triangular in shape, the Mission buildings being located on a bold promontory forming the apex. The view from the southern entrance of the harbour, looking townward, is extremely pretty. The church, of octagonal form, having a handsome portico and belfry, and surmounted with the emblem of Christianity and peace, occupies a prominent position in the foreground: adjacent to this are the parsonage, store and saw-pits, the latter supplying lumber of good quality, the product of Native labour, at the rate of fifteen dollars per 1000. The houses, numbering about fifty, are nearly all of a uniform size—16 by 24 feet—good frame, weather-boarded and shingled, glazed windows, and having neat little gardens in front; the whole forming two handsome esplanades, one fronting the outer and the other the inner harbour. The interior of the houses did not belie the promise held out by the exterior. Every thing was neat and scrupulously clean. The inmates were as well supplied with the requisites to make life comfortable as any of our labouring class here. Cooking-stoves and clocks were common to every dwelling, and, in a few instances, pictures adorned the walls of the more luxuriously inclined. The sight at church on Sabbath morning was pleasant to behold. The congregation numbered about 300, the females preponderating, the major portion of the males being at that time out fishing. They were all well clad: the women in their cloth mantles and merino dresses, and their heads gaily decked with the graceful bandanna; the men in substantial tweeds and broadcloth suits, and having the impress of good health and contentment on their intelligent features. Their conduct during Divine service was strictly exemplary, and would have done credit to many a more pretentious edifice than that at Metlahkatlah. As a whole, Mr. Duncan's people are industrious and sober: they are courteous and hospitable to strangers, and, if properly protected by the Government against the poison-venders of this island, will, in time, become a numerous and wealthy people.

Arrangements for strengthening the Mission.

In order to strengthen the hands of the Rev. R. A. Doolan and Mr. W. Duncan, the Rev. F. B. Gribbell and Mrs. Gribbell were assigned to this station. After a short residence at Metlahkatlah, Mrs. Gribbell's health was so seriously affected that she was compelled to retreat to Victoria, Vaucouver's Island, where Mr. Gribbell is now engaged in ministerial work, offered to him by the Bishop of Columbia. The Rev. Robert Tomlinson, B.A., has been appointed to Metlahkatlah, and has recently left for that station. He will be speedily followed by Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Owen, and the Committee trust that, by the Divine blessing, these arrangements may sustain and expand the interesting Mission work so energetically and successfully initiated and continued by Mr. Duncan.

The Rev. R. A. Doolan has visited Naas River, from Metlahkatlah, and small congregations have been assembled.

Some brief quotations from Mr. Doolan's journal show the character of the work among these Indians:—

The Sunday services were, as usual, well attended, though the weather was very bad. All the people seem to observe the Sabbath. There is a quietness reigning over the village on this day very delightful to perceive. No canoes of strangers arriving the previous night are allowed on this day to start, nor are parties from Fort Simpson allowed to land. They now know this law, so that they cannot plead ignorance for coming on this day. We were much pleased with a circumstance that happened this evening. A young man, long a consistent Christian, and much respected by all, came to say that this winter he very much wished to go amongst the people at night, and talk to them about their souls. Every Wednesday evening the young men have a meeting amongst themselves. Mr. Duncan encouraged him, telling him to preach nothing but Christ, and a blessing would accompany his work.

On another occasion the Sabbath services are briefly noticed:—

Services well attended. In the evening a good congregation to hear a portion of the Pilgrim's Progress explained. The nights are dark, and the roads, owing to the late rains having washed away some portions, are very bad, yet still the people surmount these obstacles to hear God's Word.

The arrangements for the peace and government of the community are mentioned in connexion with the religious service at the close of the year:— The management of the village.

Much distressed at the increasing illness of a young girl who lived some years as a boarder in the Mission House, and last February was married to one of the most consistent Christian men here. The constables and councillors, in number 27, were to-day invited to dinner, and, after dinner, different plans for improving the village road, and rebuilding the canoe rests partially destroyed by the late high tides, were discussed. At midnight a meeting for prayer and praise to God for His mercies to us during the year. The weather was very severe, but about 200 were assembled. After the service we shook hands with those assembled, wishing them a happy new year.

CONCLUSION.

THE experience of every year deepens the conviction of the Committee that the Society's Mission in the world is the promotion of a work as spiritual as it is stupendous. The solemn question arises, "Are the efforts in proportion to the momentous spiritual interests involved, the present spiritual results obtained, and the vast spiritual destitution which exists?" Your Committee are constrained to answer this question in the negative. From year to year the appeal for men and money is made with trepidation as to the continued existence, rather than with confidence as to the constant expansion of the work. The influx of candidates and the income of counties are subjects of anxiety to those who guide the Society's affairs, because conditions of stable equilibrium seem to affect both these necessary appliances of Missionary operations. A stationary position at home cannot be combined with successful progress abroad. God has permitted the Society to raise living spiritual Native Churches; to behold a Mission entirely composed of Natives, from its experienced Bishop to its most inexperienced Deacon; to achieve a success among the contemned Negro race which the year of Jubilee serves to mark but not to measure; and the language of that Jubilee celebration seems to apply to ourselves this day with emphatic force—"Retrospects of the past, and anticipations of the future, are only of service as they nerve for the duties of the present."

"Are the efforts in proportion to the work?"

Past success should encourage to more expansive action.

Expansion seems the duty of our day. "Attempt great things and expect great things," should be our watchword. The thought of an income equal to any preceding year should be discarded as unworthy of the encouragement God has given. The wealth of the nation has been largely increased. Shall a stationary Church Missionary income compel the inference that the zeal of its supporters has practically diminished? Men, too, are needed. Some stations are feebly occupied, at others the devoted Missionary nobly resolves to remain at his post with broken health rather than quit it before a fellow-labourer has arrived. In some years the Society has appealed for men, in others for money; but for the purposes of a decided onward movement both men and money are needed. India calls for more labourers; and the earnest language of the Bishop of Madras applies not only to the Telugu country in which it was uttered, but to the whole field of Indian Missions. "Let," he says, "Cambridge and Oxford know the spiritual destitution of the people and country, for whose sake Fox and Noble lived and died. And may the Lord Jesus Christ incline the hearts of some young men to pray that they may have the honour of carrying on the work which those devoted men begun, and blessed God that He had ever called them to it, and died with the conviction that no work on earth was more important, more honourable, more blessed."

Why should not the members of the Church Missionary Society respond to this appeal by simultaneously raising 200,000*l.* in the coming year, and praying for the men whom this increased income would support? Week by week from your Committee ascends the petition for men "full of faith and of the Holy Ghost." The acknowledgment is made—"The silver and the gold are thine, O King of kings!" united with the prayer—"Supply us with what is needful for our great work." Let these petitions arise wherever the Society is supported, from every parish, every family, and every heart. Soon will the offerings, like those of Israel for the tabernacle, be abundant, with this important difference, that Israel, having only to provide for the furnishing of a material tabernacle, was embarrassed by the riches of the contributions; but the Society, called to aid in building that temple which is to be a habitation of God through the Spirit, can know no such embarrassment till "the knowledge of the glory of the Lord shall cover the earth as the waters cover the sea."

Prayer for men and means.

One part of the Mission field may soon claim the action of the Society. At the same moment are borne to your Committee the sounds of joy from the celebration of the Jubilee in West Africa, and the cries of woe from the prosecution of the slave-trade in East Africa. The horrible cruelties once perpetrated on the Western, are still practised on the Eastern coast. It is computed that 30,000 slaves are always ready for embarkation, and that each of this number represents not less than five lives destroyed in the process of capture. The Society may be urged to achieve in the East what, under the blessing of God, it has achieved in the West. With an expenditure already in excess of income, the Committee may be unable to enter a field similar to that which the Lord has so eminently blessed.

Slave-trade on East African coast.

Finally, the Committee would record their conviction that the Saviour's promised presence and blessing rest largely on the Society's labours. Spiritual life and power exist. There is life which human power can neither create nor crush. Could we stand amid the ruin and desolation caused at Masulipatam by the Cyclone of 1864, we might see many a tall palmyra tree which had lost its green top, and had neither shot forth its leaves again nor been cut down. But the Mission has revived, and the Church is filled with Native

Saviour's promised presence and blessing.

Christians. Mindful of the spiritual success which can be vouchsafed to the most inadequate instrumentality, the Committee would advance with confidence in God. The power and favour of the world must not be expected in the completion of the purposes of God. Moses does not bring to the deliverance of Israel the power and position of an inmate of the palace, but the weakness and obscurity of a dweller in the wilderness. By the absence of human power, there was a fuller manifestation of the power of God. Such is still the Divine economy. The language of the prophet of the old dispensation aptly describes the labour of the preacher of the new—"Not by might, nor by power, but by my Spirit, saith the Lord of Hosts." Thus shall the Lord alone be exalted in that day, when the kingdoms of the world shall become the kingdoms of our Lord and of His Christ, and then "shall men know that this is Thy hand, and that Thou, Lord, hast done it."

Power of God must be sought.

 This mark * denotes that the Sermon was preached at St. Anne's, Blackfriars; this †, that it was preached at St. Bride's, Fleet Street; the Twenty-third was preached at Christ Church, Newgate Street; the Thirty-first at St. Sepulchre's; the Thirty-second at St. Clement Danes; and the Thirty-third at St. Andrew's, Holborn.

The Collections at the Sixteenth and subsequent Anniversaries include the sums contributed at the Annual Meetings.

NOTICE TO TREASURERS AND SECRETARIES OF ASSOCIATIONS.

THE Committee of the Church Missionary Society request the Treasurers or Secretaries of Associations to transmit the proceeds of their respective Associations, together with the Contribution Lists and Accounts, as soon after the close of their Financial Year as possible. The Lists and Accounts should be written legibly, to avoid mistakes in printing, and made up in the manner in which the same are printed in the Parent Society's Report. The Local Officers being appointed by the Associations, their names, as well as the date at which the Accounts of the Association are closed, should be specified. Where the Account or the List is a printed one, two copies should be forwarded.

The Committee would also point out, for wider adoption, the convenience of a practice already very generally observed by Associations, of making remittances on account whenever any considerable proportion of the year's receipts is in the hands of the Local Treasurer. This practice, they have reason to believe, would be acceptable to many of their Contributors, and would tend to equalize in a greater degree the income and expenditure in the earlier months of the Society's Financial Year.

The Society's General Accounts are closed on the 31st of March, and all Moneys and Lists belonging to the year must be received at the Society's House by that date, in order that the Lists may be inserted in their proper place in the Report.

The appending of the Lists and Accounts of the Associations to the Annual Report is a general acknowledgment to the Local Contributors that their Contributions have been received by the Parent Society; and the Committee are desirous of preventing the dissatisfaction which they are aware is occasioned by the omission of the Lists in the Report in consequence of the Money or the List having been received too late for insertion.

Where an Association has Branches connected with it, the Accounts of the Branches should be forwarded to the Secretary of the Association some time before the period for forwarding the Accounts of the Association to London. When this is not done within a reasonable time, such Branches should be considered as self-excluded, and the Accounts forwarded without them.

To prevent mistakes, it is requested that Branch Associations will in every case, where practicable, forward their Money and Lists through the Association with which they are connected, and not direct to the Parent Society.

The Committee return their cordial thanks to the Treasurers of Associations, and to those friends who kindly fill the office of Secretary—an office which, they are well aware, draws largely on the time and attention of those who occupy it, but on the efficient discharge of the duties of which, the prosperity of an Association chiefly depends.

N.B. Benefactors of Ten Pounds and upward, whose Names have appeared in former Lists of the Associations, will find them in the List of "Benefactions of former Years."
