STATIONS, CLERICAL OR LAY MISSIONARIES, AND NATIVE CLERGYMEN

SUPPORTED EITHER DIRECTLY BY THE SOCIETY, OR BY NATIVE CHURCH FUNDS SUBSIDIZED OR AIDED BY THE SOCIETY.

JUNE 1, 1882.

 A STATION is the place at which a Clerical or Lay Missionary is stationed, or at which Native Christians are located under Native pastoral superintendence in connexion with the Society. The letter (m) means Married. —Wives of Missionaries, &c., though not named, except when engaged in some specific employment, are always expected by the Society to lay themselves out to do good, in every practicable way, among Native Women; such as cultivating familiar intercourse with them, educating children, and instructing the adult women.

The figures after the Names of the European Labourers show the date of their first connexion with the Society's Missions.

The mark ‡ denotes that the Name to which it is prefixed is that of an Agent supported by Native Church Funds aided by the Society. The Native Ministers in New Zealand are supported partly by Subscriptions from Native Christians, and partly from the rents of lands belonging to the Society in the Colony.

The Names of Native Clergymen are printed in italics. The figures after their names show the date of ordination.

All the names under one station or department of work are printed in order of date, without reference to nationality, sex, orders, or other difference.

II. The office of PATRON of the Society shall be reserved for Members of the Royal Family; and that of VICE-PATRON for His Grace the Primate of all England, if, being a Member of the Society, he shall accept the office. The PRESIDENT shall be such Temporal Peer or Commoner as may be appointed to that office; and VICE-PRESIDENTS shall consist of all Archbishops and Bishops of the Churches of England and Ireland, who, being Members of the Society, shall accept the office; and of such other persons as, being also Members, shall be appointed thereto.

OF MEMBERS AND GOVERNORS.

III. Annual Subscribers of One Guinea and upward, and if Clergymen, Half-a-Guinea, with Collectors of Fifty-two Shillings and upward per annum, shall be Members of the Society during the continuance of such Subscriptions or Collections. Benefactors of Ten Guineas, or upward, and Clergymen making Congregational Collections to the amount of Twenty Guineas, shall be Members for Life.

IV. Annual Subscribers of Five Guineas shall be Governors during the continuance of such Subscription; and Benefactors of Fifty Pounds and upward shall be Governors for Life.

V. Members and Governors of Auxiliaries and of Associations who contribute the above sums shall be considered as Members and Governors of the Parent Society.

VI. The COMMITTEE shall have the power of appointing such persons as have rendered essential services to the Society, either Honorary Members for Life, or Honorary Governors for Life.

OF GENERAL MEETINGS.

VII. An Annual Meeting of the Members of the Society shall be held in London, on the First Tuesday in May; unless that day shall fall on the 7th of May, in which case the Annual Meeting shall be held, for that year, on Tuesday the 30th of April; when the Proceedings of the foregoing year shall be reported, the Accounts presented, and a Treasurer and COMMITTEE chosen.

VIII. The COMMITTEE may summon a Special General Meeting of the Members of the Society [at which not less than Thirty shall constitute a Quorum] at any time, and they shall do so on receipt of a requisition in writing, addressed to the Secretaries, and signed by not less than Fifty Members of the Society, and specifying the object of the Meeting. Ten days' notice shall be given in Three public Newspapers, of any such intended Meeting, and of the purpose for which it is called; which shall be deemed sufficient publicity.

IX. None of the Laws and Regulations of the Society shall be repealed or altered, nor any new ones made, but at the Annual Meeting, or at a Special General Meeting called for that purpose.

X. An Anniversary Sermon shall be preached at some Church in London, by a Clergyman appointed by the COMMITTEE. An Annual Report of the Society shall be printed, for the use of its Members.

OF THE COMMITTEE.

XI. The COMMITTEE shall consist of Twenty-four Lay Members of the Established Church of England or of the Church of Ireland; and of all Clergymen who are Members of the Society and have been so for not less than one year. Of the Twenty-four Lay Members, Eighteen shall be re-appointed each year from the existing COMMITTEE, and Six shall be elected from the General Body of the Society.

XII. The COMMITTEE shall elect, at their First Meeting in every year, either from among themselves, or from the other Members of the Society (being Members of the Established Church of England or of the Church of Ireland), a Committee of Patronage, a Committee of Funds, a Committee of Correspondence, a Committee of Finance, and a Committee of Estimates, and shall have power to fill up vacancies. Each of the said Committees shall keep Minutes of its Proceedings, and shall report the same for confirmation to the COMMITTEE.

XIII. The office of the Committee of Patronage is, to procure patronage and support to the Society; and to nominate to the COMMITTEE, proper persons as Patrons, President, Vice-Presidents, Honorary Life Governors, Honorary Life Members of the Society, and preachers of the Anniversary Sermons.

XIV. The office of the Committee of Funds is, to circulate information respecting the Society; to adopt means of obtaining Subscriptions, Benefactions, and Collections in Churches, Chapels, and at Meetings; to take a general oversight of the Associations; and to nominate, from time to time, to the COMMITTEE, suitable persons to act as Agents and Representatives of the Society for these objects.

XV. The office of the Committee of Correspondence is, to seek for proper Missionaries, to nominate them to the COMMITTEE, to superintend their instruction, to recommend their location, and to correspond with them when sent out, and generally to direct the foreign work of the Society.

XVI. The office of the Committee of Finance is, generally to superintend the accounts and financial affairs of the Society.

XVII. The office of the Committee of Estimates is, to prepare and submit to the COMMITTEE an Estimate of the probable expenditure of the Society, and from time to time to note and to report to the COMMITTEE how far the expenditure corresponds with the sanctioned Estimate.

XVIII. The Committee of Correspondence shall elect from among themselves, at their first Meeting in every year, a Clerical Sub-Committee, for the examination of Missionary Candidates.

XIX. The COMMITTEE shall receive and deal with the Reports of the other Committees, shall decide upon the countries where Missions shall be carried on, and shall superintend and control the affairs of the Society in general.

XX. The COMMITTEE shall have power to appoint such Officers and Assistants as they shall deem necessary for the well-conducting of the affairs of the Society, subject, in the case of the appointment of Secretaries, to the approbation of the next Annual Meeting. One, at least, of the Secretaries shall be a layman.

XXI. The COMMITTEE shall meet on the Second Monday in every Month, and oftener if needful; but should the second Monday be a Bank Holiday the Meeting shall be held on the day following. The other Committees shall meet as often, and at such places, as shall be by them agreed on. All Committee Meetings shall be opened with reading a Form of Prayer composed for that purpose, or one or more suitable Prayers selected from the Liturgy.

XXII. The Patrons, Vice-Patron, President, Vice-Presidents, Treasurer, and Secretaries, shall be considered, ex officio, Members of all Committees. Governors, being Members of the Established Church of England, or of the Church of Ireland, shall be entitled to attend and vote at all Meetings of the COMMITTEE.

XXIII. Five Members shall be necessary to form a Quorum of the COMMITTEE; and Three of each of the Committees provided for in Law XII.; in each case exclusive of the Secretaries. In cases of equality of votes, the Chairman shall be entitled to a second or casting vote.

XXIV. All payments on account of the Society shall be signed by Three Members of the COMMITTEE, in Committee, and the Lay Secretary, or in his absence by one of the other Secretaries.

XXV. Five Auditors shall be appointed by the COMMITTEE, annually, for the purpose of auditing the Accounts of the Society, of whom not more than two shall be Members of the COMMITTEE. Three shall be a Quorum.

OF MISSIONARIES.

XXVI. In the selection of Candidates for the Missionary office the following course shall be pursued. The cases of Candidates who are already in Holy Orders, or who are University Graduates, or whom it is proposed to send out without further training, shall be considered by the Committee of Correspondence, the Candidate having (as a rule) appeared in person before them, and a report having been given, after a personal interview, by one or more members of the Clerical Sub-Committee. If any Member of the Committee of Correspondence shall show reason for requiring further information, the consideration shall be deferred till a subsequent Meeting of that Committee. Other Candidates shall be examined by the Clerical Sub-Committee, which shall report to the Committee of Correspondence.

XXVII. A Candidate nominated by the Committee of Correspondence, and accepted by the COMMITTEE, shall receive instruction in such parts of knowledge, and be prepared in such a manner for his future employment, as the Committee of Correspondence shall judge expedient.

XXVIII. Each Candidate shall consider himself engaged to go to any part of the world, and at any time that the COMMITTEE shall decide, and be subject to such Regulations as may be established by the COMMITTEE for the direction of Missionaries: respect, however, being had to his personal circumstances, or to any previous stipulation made by him with the Society.

XXIX. Each Candidate, when duly prepared and finally approved for Missionary work, shall go out, either ordained or unordained, at the discretion of the COMMITTEE*.

XXX. The Missionaries who go out under the direction of this Society shall be allowed to visit home, permission having been previously obtained from the COMMITTEE: and after having laboured in the cause of the Society, to the satisfaction of the COMMITTEE, at the Stations committed to their care, until age or infirmity prevent further exertion, such provision shall be made to render their remaining days comfortable as in the judgment of the COMMITTEE is suitable. The COMMITTEE shall have the power to assist also, in particular cases, the dependent Relatives of those Missionaries, who, by devoting themselves to the service of the Society, are prevented from contributing to their support. The COMMITTEE shall be further empowered in special cases to make such arrangements with those employed by them as they may think fit.

GENERAL.

XXXI. A friendly intercourse shall be maintained with other Protestant Societies engaged in the same benevolent design of propagating the Gospel of Jesus Christ.

XXXII. All questions relating to matters of Ecclesiastical Order and Discipline, respecting which a difference shall arise between a Bishop of the Church of England abroad and the COMMITTEE, shall, in the absence of any tribunal having legal cognizance of the same, be referred to the Archbishops and Bishops of the Provinces of Canterbury and York, whose decision thereupon shall be binding upon the Society and its agents and representatives.

The proposed reference shall be made by the COMMITTEE, through His Grace the Primate, accompanied by such explanations and statements as the COMMITTEE may deem advisable.

XXXIII. The object of the preceding Law being only to provide a mode of settling questions relating to Ecclesiastical Order and Discipline, as to which no provision has yet been made by the Society, it is not to be so construed, as in any other respect to alter the principles and practices of the Society, as they are contained in its Laws and Regulations.

XXXIV. It is recommended to every Member of the Society to pray to Almighty God for a blessing upon its designs; under the full conviction, that, unless He "prevent us, in all our doings, with His most gracious favour, and further us with His continual help," we cannot reasonably hope to meet with persons of a proper spirit and qualifications to be Missionaries, or expect their endeavours to be crowned with success.

* The Bishops of the Church of England, under the authority of the law of the land, ordain and send forth [ecclesiastically speaking] the Society's Missionaries; and in the event of their being appointed by the COMMITTEE to labour at stations within the jurisdiction of a Bishop of the Church of England abroad, it is the practice of the Society to apply to the Bishop for licenses, in which are specified the districts to which the Missionaries have been assigned. This is done on the understanding that licenses will neither be refused, nor when granted be withdrawn from the Missionaries during their connexion with the Society, except for some assigned legal cause.

THE Society's Monthly Publications may be obtained from Messrs. SEELEY & Co., Fleet Street, E.C., through the local Booksellers, or direct from the CHURCH MISSIONARY HOUSE, provided that payment is made in advance. Orders unaccompanied by a remittance cannot be executed.

P. O. Orders to be made payable to MAJOR-GENERAL GEORGE HUTCHINSON, Lay Secretary.

Missionary Boxes, Collecting Books, and Collecting Cards may be procured of the Local Secretaries, or direct from the Church Missionary House. In all applications for a supply, the name of the Association for which they are required should be given; and where the applicant is not a Secretary or Treasurer of a Local Association, nor a Clergyman, the application should be countersigned by the Secretary or Treasurer of the Local Association, or by a friend of the Society, and addressed to the Lay Secretary, Church Missionary House, Salisbury Square, London.

THE following system for spelling NATIVE NAMES is recommended to the Society's Missionaries generally for adoption in their letters and reports, unless any of them should prefer a still closer approximation to the more elaborate scheme of Professor Lepsius. This system should not be applied, of course, to those well-known places of which the spelling has become so fixed that it would be mere pedantry to disturb it; as, for instance, Travancore (Travankur), and Lucknow (Laknau). Other well known names, spelt correctly according to this method, are not pronounced accordingly by English residents. For example, the a in Lagos is always pronounced by English residents, when speaking English, as in the word make.

The powers of the vowels are as follows:—

â usually as in '*fa*ther' (in North-Indian words as in '*a*ll').
e as in '*p*en.'
ê as in '*f*ête.'
i as in '*th*in.'
î as in '*p*ique.'
o as in '*n*ot,' or as in the French '*b*onne.'
ô as in '*n*ote.'
u as in '*f*ull.'
û as in '*tr*uly.'
a as i in '*th*ine.'
au or ou or ow as in '*b*ough.'

It needs only to be noticed further that—

y always sounds as in '*y*ou.'
g „ as in '*g*o.'
j „ as in '*j*oin.'
gn as in 'poi*gn*ant.'
ng as in 'thi*ng*.'
ei as in 'v*ei*n.'

SERMON,

PREACHED

AT ST. BRIDE'S CHURCH, FLEET STREET,

ON MONDAY EVENING, MAY 1, 1882,

BEFORE THE

Church Missionary Society,

BISHOP OF OSSORY, FERNS, AND LEIGHLIN.

PSALM LXVIII. 9, 11, 12.

"THOU, O GOD, DIDST SEND A PLENTIFUL RAIN, WHEREBY THOU DIDST CONFIRM THINE INHERITANCE, WHEN IT WAS WEARY. THE LORD GAVE THE WORD: GREAT WAS THE COMPANY OF THOSE THAT PUBLISHED IT. KINGS OF ARMIES DID FLEE APACE: AND SHE THAT TARRIED AT HOME DIVIDED THE SPOIL."

THESE words of the Psalmist, whilst they carry back our thoughts to the great deliverances which God had wrought for His people Israel in the days of old, were intended by the Holy Spirit to have a prophetic reference to the triumphs of the Gospel in the days which were yet to come. Linked as these triumphs are by the following verses to the glory of Christ, when He "ascended up on high, and led captivity captive;" and quoted as these latter words are by St. Paul, with especial reference to Christ's exaltation, when "He gave some apostles, and some prophets, and some evangelists, and some pastors and teachers," we can have no hesitation in claiming for them at least a partial fulfilment in those marvellous victories which were won by the Gospel in the early days of the Christian Church. And doubtless it was for this reason that the Psalm before us was chosen as a special one for our Whit-Sunday services.

It was in those Pentecostal days that God sent a "plentiful rain" upon His inheritance; it was then that "the Lord gave the Word" of His salvation in all its fulness of grace and mercy; it was then that He stirred up the hearts of many to be the ambassadors of His truth," so that "great was the company of those that published it;" it was then, to use the striking language of our text,—"Kings with their armies did flee and were discomfited,"—that the powers of idolatry and superstition were put to unprecedented rout, and such enlargement and blessing brought to the Church of God, that it might well be said, "She that tarried at home divided the spoil."

It would be interesting to dwell upon those early triumphs of the Gospel, and to note their character and extent. It would be still more interesting to carry our thoughts forward (as this Psalm undoubtedly does) to the final victories of our Lord in connexion with His second advent; but the thoughts which are uppermost in all our minds, upon this special occasion, lead us to look upon the words before us in the light of Missionary effort, as put forth in these latter times, and more especially in connexion with this honoured Society.

We shall accordingly devote our time this evening to some consideration of the struggles in which we are engaged, of the successes which have been achieved abroad, and of the reflex benefits which Missionary enterprise has conferred upon ourselves at home.

The history of the Gospel has ever been a history of conflict. Its errand indeed is one of "peace and goodwill toward men;" but man's depravity and Satan's hostility convert its advance into a march through the midst of foemen, and its message of love into a proclamation of war. "Christ Jesus came into the world to save sinners"—to make peace by the blood of His cross, and to promote peace by the influence of His Gospel; but yet in a very real and sorrowful sense His own words are true: "I came not to send peace on earth, but a sword." The Gospel has to make its way through opposition of all kinds; but nowhere is this opposition so marked and palpable as when we reach the Missionary field, and encounter the vastness and variety of the opposing forces. Dark, stolid ignorance, which seems impervious to any light; giant superstitions, which have both the growth and strength of centuries; grim and savage barbarisms, which have eaten the very heart out of humanity; fierce and licentious passions, which have incorporated themselves with the false religions that abound,—these, and things like these, remind us that we have passed into a region "where Satan's seat is," and where his most desperate struggle is now maintained. And it is to conquer these, or rather to rescue immortal souls from their thraldom (for that indeed, and that alone, is victory), that Christ's armies go forth to battle. It is to penetrate these awful dominions of sin and death, and to bring "out those who are bound with chains" (ver. 6) from these gloomy fortresses, that the heralds of salvation go forth in their Master's name, and in obedience to His last and imperative command. Without this divine injunction—"Go ye into all the world," or rather, without the promise of His presence which accompanies it—"Lo, I am with you alway" —theirs would be a hopeless enterprise. Without the love for souls which His great love inspires, it would be a heartless one beside; but with these to cheer and to assure them, they go forth boldly against "the armies of the aliens;" for they know that the "Lamb shall overcome them, for He is Lord of lords, and King of kings: and they that are with Him are called, and chosen, and faithful."

In this great and prolonged conflict the tide of victory has often ebbed and flowed. Sometimes, in one portion or another of the vast battle-field, it has seemed as if all were lost; sometimes, in consequence of the apathy or cowardice of the Church of Christ, it has looked as though the contest were abandoned. Then suddenly signs of heroism and chivalry have sprung up in unexpected quarters; warriors, true and brave, have rallied round the standard of the Cross; men of faith and prayer, with a fresh baptism of the Spirit on their brow, have gone forth, and "jeopardized their lives in the high places of the field;" and then the arrows of truth have been sharp in the hearts of the King's enemies, and the people have been subdued unto Him—"Kings with their armies have fled and been discomfited"—rebels, subdued and forgiven, have kissed the Conqueror's feet, and owned Him as their Saviour and their Lord.

Now, whenever such achievements have been wrought, you will be sure to find the presence of the two mighty forces which are indicated in our text, namely, the faithful preaching of God's truth, and the gracious influence of His Holy Spirit. "The Lord gave the Word;" and it was that Word, and no adulteration of it—that Gospel, and no substitute for it—which was published by the "company of the preachers." And He who gave the Word sent with it a "plentiful rain to confirm His inheritance"—showers of grace and blessing, to refresh the hearts of those who sowed the seed, and to give increase to what was sown.

Without this two-fold agency there may be apparent progress in Missionary work, but it is deceptive and unabiding. Missionaries may go out, and converts may be gathered in, and the visible borders of the Church may be enlarged; but those who are added to it become a hindrance instead of a help, a disgrace instead of a glory; if, indeed, as not unfrequently has been the case, the very name and profession of Christianity does not die out altogether. We could point to Mission-fields which once boasted of their thousands of converts: where are they now? We could tell of Mission Churches founded on human policy, and upheld by mere earthly powers: what shall we say of the miserable fruits which they have produced? It has happily been a distinctive character of those Missionaries who have fairly represented our reformed faith in heathen lands, that they not only preached the Word of God, but that they endeavoured to give that Word to the people in their own tongues.

Remember how Henry Martyn worked at his Persian Testament, even whilst in pain and exhaustion his sands of life were running out. Look at Morrison, hiding from observation year after year in his cellar below the roadway, while he prepares the Bible in Chinese for four hundred millions of the human race. Think of Judson, in his prison cell at Ava, sleeping on the mean but precious pillow which concealed his Burmese translations of the Holy Scriptures. Witness the saintly triad of Serampore—Carey, Ward, and Marshman—issuing from their printing-press portions of the sacred volume in forty different dialects. And mark the value of the legacy which such men bequeathed to their converts, when (as in Madagascar, for example,) the voice of the living man was hushed, and nothing but the silent Word of God remained—sufficient, as it there proved itself, to keep faith and love alive amidst the most prolonged and relentless persecutions.

Let us bless God, not only that His Word has been so faithfully and extensively preached, but that (chiefly through the labours of our Missionaries and the noble co-operation of our great Bible Society) it has been provided for men in more than two hundred different languages.

This Word of God sets forth, as its one grand theme, the Gospel of His Grace. It reveals Christ Jesus, and Him crucified, and Him glorified, as "the power of God unto salvation to every one that believeth." It sets forth deliverance from the guilt of sin through His atoning blood, and deliverance from the power of sin through the renewal and sanctification of the Holy Spirit; and this Gospel is God's own provision for all the need and misery of our sinful world. Any substitute for this must prove as fruitless as it is profane; any adulteration of it will only be destructive of its beneficent effects.

The Gospel of Christ must, therefore, constitute the message of the Missionary, and, to be effectual, it must be delivered in its fulness and its simplicity; not a Gospel divested of the supernatural in which consists its strength; not a Gospel of mere morals from which the Redeemer and His Atonement are virtually excluded; not a Gospel in which things divine are made void by the traditions of men, or things spiritual obscured by what is sensuous and earthly. Such a Gospel as any of these we cannot expect God to bless. Such a Gospel as any of these will never regenerate mankind. From all such substitutions and all such adulterations the longing, craving, aching heart of man turns away dissatisfied, like Mary from the empty sepulchre as she exclaimed, "They have taken away my Lord, and I know not where they have laid Him."

What the world needs is not so much a system of religion as a personal Saviour; what the soul pants for is not philosophy, but peace. What human nature, corrupt and fallen, most urgently demands, is not civilization and refinement, but "sanctification of the spirit and belief of the truth." And when, through God's blessing, you have brought the latter to the door of the heathen, you have taken the surest and speediest method to introduce all other blessings. With the Gospel which saves their souls, you bring them a religion suited to their utmost need—a philosophy that meets their deepest wants, and a civilization which exalts them in the scale of being. Well might that great naturalist, whose grave closed over him last week, exclaim in admiration, as he surveyed the beneficent effects of Christian Missions amongst once savage and barbarous populations: "The lesson of the Missionary is, indeed, the enchanter's wand!" *

Marsden, after thirty years of labour amongst felons and cannibals, records his experience (and it will be corroborated by hundreds of your successful Missionaries): "Civilization is not necessary before Christianity; do both together if you will, but you will find civilization follow Christianity more easily than Christianity follow civilization." Thank God, the Church Missionary Society can point to many a field of labour where the very foundations of civilization were laid in Missionary enterprise; and it is not too much to say that the Church of Christ has been the main instrument, during the last half century, in fulfilling the primitive injunction given to our race, about replenishing the earth and subduing it. She has sent out her strong and vigorous pulsations to the very extremities of the earth, and she has prepared a welcome and a home for the colonist and the emigrant where otherwise there had awaited them a massacre and a grave.

We have spoken of the "Word of God" as His appointed instrument for the salvation of mankind; but our text reminds us of the Power by which alone His instrument can be effectual. The rendering of the Septuagint is suggestive: "The Lord will give the Word to those who shall evangelize with much power."* So that, if victories are to be won for Christ, we must not only employ "the sword of the Spirit," but must seek the power of the Spirit, in order that it may be wielded effectually. Mere orthodoxy, however valuable, will not defeat the forces of superstition and idolatry. It needs more than the proclamation of truth, however honestly or earnestly that proclamation be made, to subdue the rebellion of the human heart, and to reduce the strongholds of the Prince of Darkness.

There is not one of your faithful warriors in the foreign field who would not tell you that they are reminded of this at every step of their arduous conflict; and that, amidst the overwhelming sense of their own weakness, and in presence of the appalling difficulties which surround them, the one consideration which keeps them from despair is this: "Not by might, nor by power, but by My Spirit, saith the Lord of hosts" (Zech. iv. 6). "When the enemy shall come in like a flood, the Spirit of the Lord shall lift up a standard against him" (Isa. lix. 19). It is the remembrance of this which so often leads them to lift up their hearts in faith, and to use the majestic invocation with which this Psalm opens—an invocation for the presence in the battle-field, not of the ark alone (for they might have that and yet, like Israel of old, be defeated), but of the GOD OF THE ARK, Who alone can give the victory,—"Let God arise, let His enemies be scattered: let them also that hate Him flee before Him."

* "Ὁ Θεὸς Κύριος δώσει ῥῆμα τοῖς εὐαγγελιζομένοις δυνάμει πολλῇ."

I pause to ask, Are not we who remain at home, and who are called to take an humbler part in this great warfare, just as dependent on the Spirit of God for success and blessing? Would that we could realize our dependence on Him as fully, as deeply, as do our Missionary brethren! Do we need men for the Mission-field? God the Holy Ghost alone can call them. Do we need spiritual men—and it is a maxim with this Society that none but spiritual men are fit for spiritual work? God the Holy Ghost alone can qualify them. Do we long to hear of the triumphs of truth and love over error and cruelty in the dark places of the earth? God the Holy Ghost alone can achieve them.

We acknowledge all this in words; but there is great danger, in an age like this, lest we should practically ignore it. Too much is made, nowadays, of mere sincerity and earnestness. If men are only zealous and honest, we are too apt to excuse their lack of light and spirituality. If men have eloquence and learning, we are too prone to overlook their want of unction. God forbid that we should ever lower the standard of that intellectual and moral power which we require both in Pastors at home and in Missionaries abroad. Livingstone has well said that "the Church should send out her ablest, most highly educated, and best men to the heathen; for the work in the foreign field is more difficult than the work at home." And he adds that it is "a popular delusion" to suppose that "an army requires to be better led in peace than in war." But unless we seek for something higher than all which natural endowment, or human culture, or downright earnestness can bestow—even for the Spirit of the living God—in our workmen, and in all who co-operate with us in our work, we are doing dishonour to Him, and preparing disappointment for ourselves. We need men of power, men who are "endued with power from on high," and we know Who it is that said, "Ye shall receive power, after that the Holy Ghost is come upon you."

Let us carry this thought a little further. Our Missionary Society needs not only men, but wisdom, and money, and sympathy, and it cannot do without them; but it needs the Spirit of God still more, and it needs His help and influence in every portion of the work,—in the anxious deliberations of our Committee-room; in the studies and superintendence of our Training College; in the discipline of our Children's Home; in the village Missionary Meeting; in the crowded City Anniversary; in the speeches which thrill from the platform; in the appeals which echo from the pulpit. We need His divine grace to prompt and sanctify our counsels and our contributions; to penetrate and permeate all we think and say and do with His own "fire of love."

"The Lord gave the Word." Has He not promised to give His Holy Spirit also? "If ye then, being evil, know how to give good gifts unto your children; how much more shall your heavenly Father give the Holy Spirit to them that ask Him?" (Luke xi. 13). Would not our supplies of grace be richer, if our entreaties were more earnest and continual? Is not our slowness to ask, one chief reason why our supplies of men and means are not larger? We read in our text that "when the Lord gave the Word, great was the company of those that published it." If our Missionaries go forth in small detachments, instead of in large and goodly battalions, is not the fault our own? If funds are supplied in scanty measure; if they prove inadequate (as they lately did) to equip the men whom God had already given to us, surely the blame lies at our own door.

With more of God's Spirit sought and received, would not men be found volunteering for this noblest of all services, and would not those words of our Psalm be realized: "Because of Thy temple at Jerusalem shall kings bring presents unto Thee"? Yea, to follow its expressive language, would not "every one submit himself with pieces of silver"? and then, as consequent upon this spirit of self-consecration and liberality, might we not look for the fulfilment of the promise which immediately succeeds: "Princes shall come out of Egypt; Ethiopia shall soon stretch out her hands unto God"?

In truth, we must not blind ourselves to the inadequacy of our past efforts. All that has been done is little in comparison of what ought to have been done, and of what still remains to be done; little, indeed, if we take into account the vastness of the demands; the glory of the enterprise; the interests which are at stake; the obligations which devolve upon us, as those whom Christ hath purchased with His precious blood, and whom He has commanded to spread abroad His glorious Gospel. And yet the success which has followed our feeble endeavours has been wonderful; so wonderful that, on the one hand, it rebukes our slothfulness, and reminds us how much might have been accomplished, if only we had risen to the greatness of our opportunities; and, on the other hand, it overwhelms us with gratitude to Him who has allowed us to reap so much where we sowed so little!

What would those faithful men, who, amidst discouragement and opposition, laid the foundations of this and kindred Societies, both feel and say, if they were amongst us now, and heard the recital of our—should I not rather say, of their successes? Think of India! They saw the blaze of the suttee; we have seen it quenched. They witnessed the bloody rites of Juggernaut; we have seen them abolished. They heard the shrieks of writhing victims at the swinging festivals; we listen for them in vain. They saw the Missionaries expelled from British soil by hostile rulers bearing the Christian name; we see them welcomed by our great pro-consuls, and thanked by our approving Governments. To all these happy transformations the work of Missions has directly or indirectly contributed.

But Missionary philanthropy aimed at more than this. It is not merely the social and political aspect of things which has been changed, but the moral and spiritual. They beheld the smoke of devil-worship rising from amidst the palm-trees of Tinnevelly; we behold the spires of village churches, and hear the sounds of Christian hymnody. They saw the zenanas closed by pride and prejudice; we see them opened by womanly tact and gentle piety. They counted the converts by units and by tens; we count them by thousands and tens of thousands; and, better still, we can tell how these converts are being organized into self-supporting Churches, with their Native pastorates; and how, amidst the persecutions arising out of caste, and the martyrdoms which tracked the Indian Mutiny, they have held fast their faith, even unto death!

Our fathers turned to Western Africa, and heard only the clank of the slave chain and the groan of the oppressed; we turn thither, and listen to the voices of peace and liberty and religion, and are now beginning to hear these voices re-echoed from the eastern shores of that dark continent, and to see the first dawn of light gleaming in its benighted interior. Where they struck the fetters off the slave, and offered him a still nobler emancipation, we are privileged to witness the growth of a Native ministry, the commencement of a Native episcopate, and, better still, that depth and expansion of spiritual life amongst the converts which is finding expression in their own Missionary efforts for the regions beyond them.

As our fathers directed their gaze to New Zealand and Polynesia, they beheld the horrid orgies of cannibalism, and were appalled with the reek of human sacrifices; when we turn our eyes thither, we see crowds thronging their Christian churches and flocking to their Christian schools. They scanned the prairies of the West, and saw nought but deeds of savagedom and blood; we look across those selfsame plains, and there, and even beyond the Rocky Mountains which bound them, we behold piety and civilization in the homes of Red Indian Christians.

We have not time to extend our survey; it would carry us all round the world, from Jerusalem to Japan, from Metlakatlah to Mombasa. And yet these successes are but the outward evidences of conquests more sublime. For could we accompany the solitary Missionary, and witness the triumphs of divine grace in individual souls; could we enter into the secrets of things, and see the victories won by the love of Jesus over personal passion and cruelty and lust; could we witness the "peace and joy in the Holy Ghost," which have been shed abroad in the hearts and exemplified in the lives of our converts, rendering them oftentimes an example and reproof to Christians in more favoured lands, we would exclaim: "Truly many prophets and righteous men have desired to see those things which we see, and have not seen them; and to hear those things which we hear, and have not heard them." Even from the lips of the heathen, as they witness the progress of our Christian enterprise, the acknowledgment is being forced: "The Lord hath done great things for them." Let our grateful hearts reply: "Yea, the Lord hath done great things for us already, whereof we are glad." Yes, "great things already," notwithstanding the lateness of our beginnings and the feebleness of our efforts; "great things already," notwithstanding the paucity of our labourers and the vastness of their difficulties; "great things already," for we have still a world-wide work before us; "great things," I say, "already," for with God's blessing we shall see "greater things than these."

Some men tell us that "Christ has had His day." We answer, "No;" Christ has not yet had His day, but He shall have it, and it will be a glorious day! "The Gentiles shall come to its light, and kings to the brightness of its rising." Whatever be our views of God's dispensations in the future, whatever be our readings of the word of prophecy, in this we are agreed—that "all kings shall fall down before Him: all nations shall do Him service" (Ps. lxxii. 11).

But our text further reminds us of the reflex benefits which come to us from Missionary enterprise: "She that tarried at home divided the spoil."

We have already glanced at the gain which has accrued to us, as a nation, from the new fields which have been thus revealed. We might speak of the markets which have been opened to our commerce. We might tell of the safety which has been secured to our mercantile marine in their visits to once dreaded and inhospitable shores. We might recount the political advantages which have come to us in distant sovereignties, and in the midst of hostile tribes, from the presence of men like our Missionaries, who are understood and trusted.

And we might go on to enlarge upon the indebtedness of science, in many of its departments, to those who, together with the lamp of truth carry also the torch of discovery, and have the whole world for their field of observation. But it only needs to mention geography, ethnology, natural history, philology, to recall the important additions which such men as Krapf, and Livingstone, and Moffat, and Köelle have made to the circle of our information. It would not be too much to say that even upon the low ground of worldly profit, Missionary enterprise is well entitled to the consideration of this great commercial and intellectual community. But we prefer to dwell upon those spiritual blessings which it has conferred on the Church of Christ; and here our own obligations are vast and manifold.

Before we speak of the benefits brought to our own doors, let us think of those bestowed upon our kith and kin in distant lands. Where, except for the presence of the Christian Missionary, would have been the religion of many whom we knew and loved, when their lot was cast where no other means of grace was to be found? How has the memory of home, and of the sanctuary, and of the day of rest been kept alive under circumstances such as these; and how has English society been reformed and remodelled in our distant dependencies by the very men whom we sent out to evangelize the heathen! It is not so very long since we had twenty regiments in India, and not a single chaplain; and we know what blessings were brought to our neglected soldiery by men like Swartz and Hebich, of whom it was said that they "could persuade whole garrisons."

We shall obtain a more comprehensive view of the subject when we come nearer home. And first let me remind you of the invaluable additions which have been made to our stock of Christian evidences, and that at the very time wherein they were most required. The Gospel and its efficacy have been thoroughly tested, and on a most extensive scale, in the Mission-field. It has come into contact with people of all climes and conditions; it has reached the civilized and the savage, the learned Brahmin and the ignorant Pariah, the coarse Fuegian and the gentle Tamil, the fierce Fijian and the timid Eskimo, and to each it has proved itself a divine and transforming power.

We were told that the Gospel had lost its ancient virtue, and that we must look around us for some other instrumentality wherewith to regenerate mankind. But lo! ten thousand witnesses come forth from every zone to repel the insinuation. They assure us, by the most practical and comprehensible of arguments, that the Gospel of Christ is still "the power of God unto salvation to every one that believeth;" and that the same undeniable fruits of the Spirit which it produced at the outset of its career are still exhibited, in spite of the most untoward of circumstances, and in the lives of the most unpromising of subjects.

Scepticism finds ways to evade, or at least to depreciate other evidences in favour of Christianity; but these are inexplicable in any way but one. Next to the early achievements of the Gospel (might we not say, equal to them in value), stand these Missionary triumphs. They are, moreover, recent, world-wide, and palpable. We value the proofs arrayed for us by our Butlers and our Paleys, but this kind of evidence transcends them in its suitability to this practical age, and is not the least of those indirect advantages which the Church of Christ has gained by her Missionary labours.

Once more. Has not Missionary work elevated the tone of our religious thought and feeling? Has it not tended to promote a more catholic and loving spirit? It is, indeed, easy to see how it must needs have this effect upon Missionaries themselves, and how, in the presence of a common and gigantic foe, it makes them close up their ranks, and think more about their points of agreement, and less about their points of difference. But is not this spirit beginning to re-act upon us at home? We trust and believe that it is. We are learning to admire and value all that is noble and Christlike in the Missionary heroes of the Cross, though in some things they may differ from us; and, whilst holding faster than ever to our own ecclesiastical convictions, we are more ready to recognize the length and breadth of the great Christian charter. We are beginning, in this matter, to give "honour to whom honour is due;" and if Patteson, the Missionary-martyr-prelate of our own Church, obtains mention in a speech from the throne, Livingstone, an humble presbyter of another Church, finds a sepulchre amongst our mighty dead in our national sanctuary.

Nor is this all. The ardent love which finds its full expression in Missionary work has proved to be the mainspring of many of our domestic charities. It would be instructive to take up the catalogue of our religious and beneficent societies, and note how few of them were in existence when the great modern Missionary movement began, and how many of them owe their existence and support to the same men and the same influences which founded or fostered the great cause which this Society has in hand. The pebble of Missionary influence, dropped into the then stagnant waters of religious society, has created circles of benevolence which are touching every part and portion of our life and duty, and continually increasing in extent and influence.

But more than this, our work has called into fuller activity all Christian graces. It has taught us new lessons of faith and patience, of self-denial and charity. Are not our pulpits and our parishes the better for it? Has not the zeal which it has kindled supplied pastors for the one, and awakened dormant energies in the other? Was it not said with truth, that "the cause of Missions brings more benefits into a family and congregation than it derives from them"? Have not the biographies of our Missionary heroes rebuked our coldness, fired our ardour, and given us deeper views of our responsibilities? Have not the occasional visits of our returned Missionaries, and even of our ordinary deputations, done much to lift us out of our narrowness and littleness, and to fill us with sympathy for all things noble and pure and good? Have not all these enriched our Christian life at home, and lent a new inspiration to our endeavours for the good of those around us? Truly, "She that tarried at home has divided the spoil." If Missionary enterprise had accomplished nothing else, our gain has been enormous, and leaves us debtors to an extent which we have no arithmetic to calculate. This Church and Realm of England, more especially, can never repay Societies like this for the reflex benefits which have been thus bestowed.

Nevertheless, the blessings which such labours have brought and are still bringing to the heathen world constitute their highest purpose and their strongest claim. If we could record no victories, and such was for long time the case with those who founded this and kindred institutions; if we had only to tell of struggles and conflicts undertaken in obedience to Christ's command, and endured in love towards those for whom He died, our duty would still be plain, and the demands for help imperative. But with conquests on the right hand and on the left; with an advance along the whole line of our operations; with successes graciously disproportioned to our endeavours, and only to be accounted for by the presence of Christ and the power of the Holy Ghost, the sense of duty becomes intensified by that of gratitude, and we stand rebuked in the midst of our blessings and of our thanksgivings by the smallness of our forces and the scantiness of our supplies. What, after all, are 400 clergy volunteering for foreign service, when compared with the reserve of 25,000 which the Church of England retains at home? What are £200,000 a year as an income for this great Society, when weighed against the vastness of our resources, and all the benefits, temporal and spiritual, which it has been bringing to our very doors? Above all, what is this sum of money, when contrasted with the riches of that redeeming love, which it is our highest privilege to make known to others, and our truest happiness to call our own?

Men, brethren, and fathers, it would require no gigantic effort, and after all it would be only a small acknowledgment of all God's mercies, to raise that income to £300,000. And oh, how it would lighten the responsibilities which press so heavily upon the hearts of our Committee and our Secretaries! How it would give extension to our work! How it would cheer the hearts of our devoted Missionaries, who are so often threatened and visited with retrenchment! How it would gladden the Native Churches, which are already giving "to their power, I bear record; yea, and beyond their power"! How it would prove to them and to all the world that our English Church and our English Christianity are living and growing things! How it would bless the heathen, who in their own blind, ignorant fashion are crying out to us for something—they know not what:—

> Infants crying in the night,
> Infants crying for the light,
> And with no language but a cry!

It is my firm conviction that if all who value the Church Missionary Society made up their minds to do it, the thing, by God's blessing, could be done. If the home, the school, the pulpit, the press, the universities, could be leavened, as they might, and as they ought to be leavened, with Missionary information, a wider interest would soon be awakened, and a deeper sympathy felt throughout the land.

It is marvellous how little, after all, even the religious public know of what is going on in the Mission-field; and there is not one amongst us who could not do something (there are some who could do much) to alter the state of things, and so to arouse the slumbering liberality of a people who are only half awake to the grandeur and urgency of such a work. What has been done in this respect in some parishes and districts, by the energy of single individuals, proves what might be done in others, if only each of us had a heart to do it. And this sends us once more to our knees to ask for His Holy Spirit. This calls us once more to an entire consecration of ourselves and of all that we possess to our Redeemer's service.

In helping on this work, we shall be furthering, as patriots and as Christians, all that is best and noblest in the country and the Church to which we belong. We shall be kindling or keeping alive the flame of an universal charity; we shall be enriching our own hearts and homes with spiritual benefits; we shall be securing, so far as human agency can effect it, the continuance of our Heavenly Father's blessing, the promised presence of the great Head of the Church, and the abiding influence of the Holy Ghost the Comforter. We shall be doing more; we shall be bringing life and light to the millions who are yet in "the region and shadow of death;" we shall be extending the boundaries of the Redeemer's kingdom; we shall be awakening songs of peace on earth, and undying hallelujahs in heaven; we shall be "hasting the coming" of our Lord Jesus Christ, and the advent of that day when His whole blood-bought Church shall have her perfect consummation and bliss in His eternal and glorious kingdom.

Let us brace ourselves by faith and prayer and labour for that coming day. The Captain of our salvation, Whose banner we are bearing, and Whose battles we are fighting, is watching over us in the strife. Ere long He will return to complete the victory, and to claim the world as His own. Then shall that cry of jubilant exultation resound from heaven, "The kingdoms of this world are become the kingdoms of our Lord and of His Christ; and He shall reign for ever and ever;" then, in fuller chorus, and with deeper meaning than at Pentecost or now, shall re-echo from the ransomed earth the song of adoration with which this triumphal Psalm concludes, and in which I would now make bold to ask each heart to join:—

"Sing unto God, ye kingdoms of the earth; O sing praises unto the Lord; to Him that rideth upon the heavens of heavens, which were of old: lo, He doth send out His voice, and that a mighty voice. Ascribe ye strength unto God: His excellency is over Israel, and His strength is in the clouds. O God, Thou art terrible out of Thy holy places: The God of Israel is He that giveth strength and power unto His people. Blessed be God."

At the Annual Meeting of the Church Missionary Society for Africa and the East, held in Exeter Hall, Strand, on Tuesday, May 2, 1882, being the Eighty-third Anniversary—

The Right Hon. the EARL OF CHICHESTER, President, in the Chair,

AFTER PRAYER AND THE READING OF A PORTION OF HOLY SCRIPTURE,

THE REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE HAVING BEEN READ BY THE REV. F. E. WIGRAM, M.A., Honorary Secretary;

On the Motion of SIR BARTLE FRERE, G.C.S.I., seconded by the REV. H. B. TRISTRAM, LL.D., Canon of Durham, it was—

RESOLVED UNANIMOUSLY,

That the Report, of which an Abstract has now been read, be adopted, and printed under the direction of the Committee; that the thanks of the Meeting be given to the Rt. Rev. the Bishop of Ossory and Ferns, for his Sermon before the Society last evening, and that it be printed and circulated; that Captain the Hon. Francis Maude, R.N., V.P., be the Treasurer of the Society; and that the Committee be appointed for the ensuing year, with power to fill up vacancies.

On the Motion of the RIGHT REV. THE BISHOP OF VICTORIA, V.P., seconded by the REV. R. BRUCE, M.A., Missionary from Persia, it was—

RESOLVED UNANIMOUSLY,

That, in view of the many fresh openings for Missionary enterprise in all parts of the world, and considering the fact that the Society's estimated income is inadequate to meet growing demands in existing Mission-fields, which are the necessary outcome of the Divine blessing on the work, this Meeting recognizes the urgency of prompt and energetic effort to secure a large and permanent increase to the income of the Society.

On the Motion of the RIGHT REV. BISHOP CROWTHER, V.P., seconded by the REV. R. C. BILLING, B.A., Rector of Spitalfields:—

That this Meeting, with hearty thanksgiving to the Giver of all good things, records its deep gratitude, as for other blessings experienced during the past year, so especially for the manifest tokens of healthy growth in Native Churches, as indicated by increased interest on the part of Christian congregations in the organizing of their Church Councils, enlarged efforts at self-support, and marked progress in Missionary enterprise. They desire to recognize in all this the working of God the Holy Spirit through the agencies of this Society, and to go forward with renewed confidence and expectation of yet larger blessings on the great and holy work entrusted to them.

At a Second Meeting, held in Exeter Hall, on the Evening of the same Day—

THE RIGHT REV. BISHOP CHEETHAM, V.P., in the Chair,

Addresses were delivered by the Chairman; the Lay Secretary; Sydney Gedge, Esq.; the Lord Bishop of Nelson, V.P.; the Rev. J. Piper, Missionary from Japan; and the Rev. J. A. Faithfull, M.A., Vicar of Holy Trinity, Scarborough.

REPORT,

&c., &c.

In presenting the financial statement of the Society for the year ending March 31st, 1882, the Committee desire to render humble and heartfelt thanks to God for His blessing vouchsafed upon the generous and loving efforts of their friends and supporters. Through those efforts, at a period when (according to a recent statement in the Times) the agricultural interests of Great Britain are poorer by eight millions sterling than they were three years ago, the Committee are enabled both to report an extension of the Society's work and at the same time to present a balance-sheet unexpectedly satisfactory. First, notwithstanding a diminution of 700*l.* in the receipts from Ireland—a diminution which might well have been much greater—the General Income would stand at almost exactly the same figure as last year but for a fall in Legacies. Secondly, the contributions through Associations in England and Wales, although many warnings were given of probable deficiencies in the returns from the rural districts, are only 300*l.* below the high figure reached last year. Thirdly, the special gifts to the Extension Fund, which have amounted in the twelve months to 10,554*l.*, making more than 20,000*l.* since this Fund was started less than two years ago, have enabled the Committee to send forth a larger number of missionaries than usual, instead of a smaller number as had been expected. Fourthly, the ordinary income (together with so much of the Extension Fund as was properly applicable to the year) has covered the expenditure, and left a balance in hand of 673*l.* Fifthly, this balance, and the gifts to the Extension and other Special Funds applicable to work in future years, and certain extraordinary receipts, have provided a considerable aggregate surplus to be carried to various accounts.

The Committee put these broad results of the year's accounts in the forefront of their Report, that they and all their friends may be stirred up to loud and unfeigned praise for the increasing resources placed in the Society's hands for the promotion of the work of God in the world. When they remember the serious position of the finances only two years ago, they can but bow down in heart before God, and say, "Not unto us, O Lord, not unto us, but unto Thy Name give glory, for Thy mercy and for Thy truth's sake."

General Fund:	Associations	138,544	18	11
	Benefactions	20,958	12	1
	Legacies	18,647	7	2
	Sundries	12,576	12	0
		190,727	10	2
Extension Fund		10,554	3	9
Contingency Fund		1,933	19	7
Various Special Funds		9,694	18	3
	Total contributions	£212,910	11	9

In addition to which, certain extraordinary receipts have to be acknowledged, from sales of property in China and on the Niger, refund on account of Athabasca, &c., amounting to 8225*l.* These have been carried to the Contingency Fund.

The receipts on Special Funds include 848*l.* additional contributions to the Henry Wright Memorial Fund; 475*l.* additional contributions to the Frances Ridley Havergal Memorial Fund; 507*l.* as a memorial to the late Miss Venn for female scholarships at Lagos; 1520*l.* towards additional Capital for the Disabled Missionaries' Fund; and 2200*l.* given by W. C. Jones, Esq., to build one of the three Training Institutions he is generously proposing to found in China and Japan. Also various amounts of Interest on the funds administered by the Committee, such as the Henry Venn Fund, the Jones Funds, &c., which amounts (with the sums disbursed on the other side) will this year be shown in the General Account as well as separately, thus presenting at one view the entire receipts and expenditure under the control of the Society. The Committee hope also in future years to be able to render some account of the funds raised and expended on the spot by Local Committees in India and elsewhere; but the arrangements for doing this with any approach to completeness will take some time to mature.

The receipts on the Extension Fund include two benefactions of 1000*l.* each for work on the Niger and among the Eskimos, and 1114*l.* for a Medical Mission at Gaza; also a sum of 3571*l.* received under circumstances of peculiar interest. Two years ago, when the financial prospects were serious, a friend and his wife came forward with the offer to guarantee the excess of expenditure over income for the year 1880-81, to the extent of 10,000*l.*, provided the Committee would refrain from any such retrenchments as would seriously injure the Missions; and they put aside 5000*l.* to be ready in case of need. On learning the deficiency reported at the last anniversary, 1429*l.*, they at once paid it off; and then, generously resolving not to take back to themselves the balance of the 5000*l.* set aside, they devoted it to the extension of the Society's work.

The Committee cannot refrain from again referring to the origin of this Extension Fund. It has been most commonly spoken of in connexion with special gifts to send out, from one to three years sooner, young missionaries kept at home; but this was not its original object. It was started partly by the Rev. E. H. Bickersteth's earnest appeal for enlarged annual subscriptions in June 1880, and partly by the proposal first made by the Rev. V. J. Stanton, and first put into practice by himself, that those who cannot themselves go out to the mission-field should do what they can to provide a substitute; and the Fund benefits by his annual subscription of 250*l.* for that purpose, and by a like sum contributed with the same purpose by Mr. Martin Sutton of Reading. The Committee trust the mention of these self-denying gifts may awaken in many other of the friends to whom God has given means the sense of personal responsibility to the perishing heathen, and the desire to offer to God, in fulfilment of that responsibility, the cost of a substitute for service in the great missionary army.

The General Expenditure of the year has been 193,515*l.* 12*s.* 11*d.*, including 3461*l.* met from the Extension Fund. This amount (after making some slight adjustments to render the comparison equal), shows a reduction on the expenditure of the previous year of 1880*l.*, notwithstanding the increased number of missionaries sent out. This is in part due to the retrenchments ordered by the Committee in 1880; and the financial success of the policy then adopted is now manifest. But it was impossible for the repression put upon the Missions to be maintained. The Estimates for the current year have been framed on a much more liberal scale. No further reductions have been made; some of the grants previously withdrawn have been restored; and although many just claims for larger grants have been refused, the total increase is estimated at 17,000*l.* Part of this increase will be covered by that portion of the Extension Fund which properly belongs to the year, and part from the Contingency Fund; but the Committee are relying, under God, upon a continuous increase in the General Income. Taking one year with another, the average normal advance in the Income has for many years been about 3000*l.* a year. Although this advance has not been realized in the past year, the Committee thank God that the Associations have been enabled to hold their ground in the midst of agricultural depression, and look with confidence to their speedily going forward again with such energy as to maintain and even raise the general average of their growth. To this end they once again appeal for the ardent and prayerful co-operation of all who long to see the Kingdom of God proclaimed throughout the world, and souls that have been born and bred in revolt against the King brought back to their rightful allegiance.

In particular, the Committee would ask that the General Fund may gradually be relieved of a larger part, if not of the whole, of the necessary allowances to former missionaries who have become disabled in the Society's service and need assistance during their declining years, and to the widows and children of those who have fallen in the field. The interest on the fund invested many years ago for this purpose only meets one-fifth of the annual sum required; and the Committee would thankfully receive special contributions, either to add to the capital, or to meet the current expenditure.

PATRONAGE.

The list of Vice-Presidents of the Society, members of the General and Corresponding Committees, Honorary Life Governors, &c., has lost many honoured names in the past year. Three Vice-Presidents have been called away—Bishop Barker of Sydney, Bishop Barclay of Jerusalem, and the Hon. A. Leslie Melville (father-in-law of the late Rev. Henry Wright): seven Honorary Life Governors—Colonel Caldwell, Dr. Baddeley of Boulogne, Archdeacon Hunter, Canons Bingham and A. Knox, the Rev. R. Collins, and the Rev. John Deck; one member of the General Committee—Charles Woolloton, Esq.; two members of the Committee of Correspondence (besides Archdeacon Hunter, already mentioned)—W. Coles, Esq., and the Rev. F. Arthur Buxton; and the Society's banker, one whose family name has been identified with its work from the very commencement, H. S. Thornton, Esq. Nor must the name be omitted of Miss Emelia Venn, of Hereford, sister of the revered Henry Venn. The Committee thank God for the grace bestowed on all His servants in the respective spheres occupied by them, and would gratefully recall their work of faith and labour of love.

The Committee have only one name to add to-day to the list of Vice-Presidents, that of Admiral James Prevost. The list of Honorary Governors for Life they propose now to raise to one hundred names, and then to fill up year by year only the vacancies in that number of one hundred. Last year there were ninety-six names. The seven deaths above noticed have reduced these to eighty-nine; and the Committee have now made up the full hundred by appointing the following, all of whom have rendered very essential services to the Society:—

The Venerable Archdeacon Cooper, of Kendal;
The Venerable Archdeacon John W. Bardsley, of Liverpool;
The Rev. Canon Crosthwaite, Vicar of Knaresborough;
The Rev. G. C. Hodgson, Vicar of Corbridge;
The Rev. Prebendary Jarratt, Vicar of North Cave;
The Rev. Prebendary Charles Marshall, Vicar of St. Bride's, London;
The Rev. C. Matheson, Master of the Clergy Orphan School, Canterbury;
General F. Haig, R.E., who has taken an active personal part in the Society's work in India;
James Hough, Esq., of Cambridge;
Wm. Charles Jones, Esq., of Warrington;
Charles Playne, Esq., of Stroud.

The Committee have received with great regret the resignation by their much-esteemed friend and colleague, the Rev. W. H. Barlow, of the Principalship of the Church Missionary College, on his appointment to the Vicarage of St. James's, Clapham. They cannot express too highly their sense of the devotion and ability with which Mr. Barlow, from the first, threw himself into the arduous duties of his office, and of the value to the missionary cause of his self-denying and whole-hearted labours, both in and out of the College. Nor must they omit to mention gratefully the happy influence exercised among the students by Mrs. Barlow. They are thankful that they have, as they believe, been guided by God to the selection of a successor to Mr. Barlow's most important office. After careful and extensive inquiries, they have appointed the Rev. T. W. Drury, M.A., of Christ's College, Cambridge, Rector of Holy Trinity, Chesterfield, 25th Wrangler, 3rd Class Classical Tripos, 1st Class Theological Tripos, Scholefield and Evans University Prizeman.

The Secretariat has been strengthened during the year by the appointment of General George Hutchinson, C.B., C.S.I., as Lay Secretary of the Society, and of the Rev. Robert Lang, M.A., Vicar of Silsoe, as a Clerical Secretary. Their names are, in accordance with Law XX., submitted to the approbation of this Annual Meeting. The Committee further deem it desirable to place on the same footing the Rev. Henry Sutton, M.A., who has for two years conducted the Home Organization of the Society as Central Secretary, and Mr. Eugene Stock, who for some years has been well known as the Editorial Secretary, and has taken an active part in the administration of the Society's work; and therefore submit their names also in accordance with the same Law.

SUPPLY OF MISSIONARIES.

Nineteen candidates for missionary service ready to go out at once have been accepted within the year. Of these, three are graduates of Oxford, four of Cambridge, two of Dublin; and four are medical graduates of Edinburgh—one of these being the Afghan adopted son of the Rev. Robert Clark, whose offer of service the Committee received with peculiar interest. Not for many years have so many as thirteen men holding University degrees been accepted by the Society. Another ordained man is from St. Aidan's College; four other candidates have been accepted as lay agents; and there is one lady. All the Islington men ordained in 1881 have been sent out, and three of former years who had been detained at home. The essential aid rendered by the Extension Fund is shown by the fact that within two years no less than twenty-two missionaries have been sent out by its means, either one or more years earlier than could otherwise have been expected, or to be maintained on its standing income. The Committee praise the Lord of the Harvest that He is thus, in answer to many prayers, thrusting forth labourers into His harvest.

The continued success of Islington men in the Oxford and Cambridge Preliminary Theological Examinations is also a cause of much satisfaction. All the ten of the present year competed, and all passed, two in the 1st class, six in the 2nd, and two in the 3rd. This is a happy conclusion of the period of Mr. Barlow's Principalship. Academical distinctions are not the chief object of the Church Missionary College; but they have their uses, and the Committee note with thankfulness this evidence of the excellence of the teaching.

HOME ORGANIZATION.

The Committee observe with much satisfaction the continued growth in the country of the system of Honorary District Secretaries with defined districts, and of Church Missionary Unions for the purpose of binding the Society's working friends more closely together. The number of Honorary District Secretaries has risen to 582. By the blessing of God this improved organization cannot but result in a widened and deepened interest in missionary work, in more general and systematic prayer on its behalf, and in larger contributions for its support. The Committee look especially to the development of Juvenile Associations, not only for an increase in the already very large amount raised by children, but for the planting in their minds and hearts of such a missionary spirit as shall grow with their growth and strengthen with their strength. Arrangements are now being matured for more actively fostering this important branch of the Society's home work by means of lectures with the magic lantern or with diagrams, addresses in Sunday-schools, the wider circulation of the periodicals, &c.

WEST AFRICA MISSION.

Bishop Cheetham's Episcopate.

THE resignation of Bishop Cheetham has removed from the West African coast a most devoted worker in the cause of Christ. His tenure of the see of Sierra Leone has been longer than that of any of his predecessors, and has been eminently fruitful in its influence on the progress of the Native Churches both at Sierra Leone itself and at Lagos, as well as of the Missions in the countries lying beyond the limits of the British Settlements. "He found," says a Native newspaper, "a Church but in its infancy, which he has tended and nurtured carefully into a strong and thriving Church, that promises to do much in the great work of evangelizing and civilizing Africa." The Committee trust that a successor equally able and faithful may be found; and assuredly a field of episcopal and missionary labour stretching along more than 1500 miles of seaboard, with an almost limitless and densely populated area beyond, may well command the whole-hearted service of the most energetic of Bishops.

Eleven years' progress at Sierra Leone.

The close of an episcopate of eleven years is a suitable time for noting the progress of the Church and Missions in the diocese. In 1870, the Sierra Leone Native Church had been independently organized some few years; but it only partially covered the ground, several stations, with 2000 Christians, six European and nine Native clergymen, being still directly connected with the Society. In 1882, the Society has but two European and three Native clergymen, all of them engaged in the work of higher education; and its expenditure is less by 3000*l.* a year. The Native Church, i.e. the Church of England in the Colony, which comprises one-half the Christian population, besides maintaining (with some help from the Society) the clergy, schools, and all other agents and agencies of its fifteen parishes, carries on the Society's former Missions in the Bullom and Quiah territories and the Isle of Tasso, employing two missionary clergymen and seven evangelists and schoolmasters.

Census of Sierra Leone.

The recent Census of Sierra Leone suggests a wider comparison. A hundred years ago, the place was merely an entrepôt for the slave-trade. Seventy-four years ago it became a British Crown Colony, and a home for liberated slaves. Sixty-six years ago missionary work was begun among these slaves. The Census of 1881 registers 35,400 souls as "liberated Africans and their descendants," which is about five-sixths of the whole population of the Sierra Leone Peninsula itself, the remainder being mostly traders and others from the neighbouring mainland. There are 60,546 souls within the Colony, which includes parts of Quiah and Sherbro. The religious statistics give 39,600 Christians, only a small proportion of whom are to be found in the outlying settlements, which are mainly heathen. The Mohammedans number 5178.* Sierra Leone itself, therefore, is a Christian country; and when the material of which the bulk of its population consists is borne in mind, and the fact that even at the present day, although English is the vernacular of the colony, sixty languages are spoken, according to the Census Commissioner, in the streets of Freetown, there is seen to be abundant reason to praise God for His signal blessing on so arduous a work, notwithstanding all imperfections and disappointments.

Testimony of a Government official in West Africa.

Another independent testimony may be referred to. A paper was recently read before the Royal Colonial Institute in London, by Mr. T. Risley Griffith, the Colonial Secretary to the Government of Sierra Leone, on the history, position, and prospects of the Colony. In the course of it, he used the following significant words :—

> To those who are supporters of missionary work, Sierra Leone is an interesting spectacle. Seventy years ago it was a heathen land: to-day it is filled with places of worship. The Church Missionary Society sent the first Sierra Leone missionaries out in 1804. In 1816 the work was entered upon in good earnest, and their labours were devoted, in common with the others, to the liberated Africans, who were now located here in large numbers. Among many names in early missionary work may be mentioned those of Nylander and W. A. B. Johnson, whose hard work and untiring zeal with a people whose belief was a degrading superstition produced the happiest results. A long roll of names of Christian labourers and their wives who died at their post is to be read in the various published accounts. In twenty years from 1815, out of seventy who were sent out, thirty-seven died, or were invalided, in less than a year.
> To the Church Missionary Society, Sierra Leone owes much. They have spent close upon half a million of pounds in Sierra Leone! . . . . The question of the success of Christianity in Africa is a very momentous one; let us hope that the dream of Sir Charles McCarthy will be realized, and that Sierra Leone may be the base whence future operations may be extended step by step into the heart of Africa.

Sierra Leone Native Church and Missions.

The Annual Report of the Sierra Leone Native Church, presented at the anniversary meeting on May 12th, 1881, gives particulars of expenditure amounting to 2355*l*. About three-fourths of this sum were raised on the spot. 300*l*. a year is still granted by the Society, and there are also grants from the Henry Venn Native Church Fund and the Bishop Bowen Memorial Fund.

The anniversary of the Sierra Leone Church Missions was celebrated two days earlier, on May 9th and 10th. The Rev. M. Sunter preached in St. George's Cathedral on the words, "Go forward;" and both a juvenile and a general meeting were held. The income for the year amounted to 518*l*., the whole of which is raised in the Colony. The Report gives an encouraging view of the Bullom, Quiah, and Tasso Missions. There were 37 adult baptisms in the year, and 99 persons had been confirmed. The Committee of the Association, however, lament the inadequate means at their disposal for extension, and plead earnestly for increased support to enable them to enter the many inviting fields open to them. The Sierra Leone Church has done well, both for its own maintenance and for the spread of the Gospel; but it can do better—and will do better if the outpouring of the Spirit upon the congregations is sought in fervent prayer. That the leaders are alive to this primary need is manifest from a paragraph in the Pastorate Report:—"Your Committee earnestly long for a revival, times of refreshing from the presence of the Lord."

Fourah Bay College is still under the zealous care of the Rev. Metcalfe Sunter, who has been assisted by the Rev. C. A. L. Reichardt and the Revs. J. B. Bowen and N. S. Davies, the two last-named being African clergymen. The Rev. J. Quaker (the well-known Native brother) continues at the head of the Grammar School, with which he has been connected almost thirty-four years;* and Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Burton have had charge of the Annie Walsh Female Institution during the year, but have lately returned to England on account of ill-health. In connexion with this latter school the Committee have to lament the loss by death of an excellent English lady, Miss C. Young, who assisted Mrs. Burton for a short time, and then had to be sent home invalided. Shortly after landing at Liverpool she entered into rest.

School for Mohammedans at Sierra Leone.

The last remnant of the Parent Society's evangelistic work in the Colony is a school for Mohammedan children, which was started six years ago by the Rev. A. Schapira, the missionary now at Gaza, who was then at Sierra Leone. Mr. Bowen, the Native tutor at Fourah Bay above mentioned, now reports on it. There are eighty-two scholars, boys and girls being exactly equal in number. The Native teacher "strives to do his work well, and has won the affection of the children."

PORT LOKKOH.

Mr. J. A. Alley continues his earnest labours at this inland station, the only out-lying Mission now carried on directly by the Society. The population are of the Timneh or Temné tribe, whose language was investigated by the late Mr. Schlenker. They profess Mohammedanism of the West African type, i.e. a mixture of Islam with the old heathen superstitions of the country. There is a congregation of English-speaking Sierra Leone people, traders and others, numbering 68 baptized Christians; and the pastoral work among them has been carried on by Mr. Alley and Mr. Samuel Taylor, the latter a Native agent from Fourah Bay, who is both B.A. and L. Th. of Durham. There are communicants' and confirmation classes and Sunday-schools; in which the Sunday-school Institute's Lessons on the Acts, on Israel in the Wilderness, on the Catechism, and on the Collects, have been used. The towns and villages in the surrounding country, both Mohammedan and heathen, have been visited, and chiefs and people instructed in the Gospel, to which many have listened with manifest interest. The Rev.

Preaching to Mohammedan kings in W. Africa.

C. A. L. Reichardt, of Fourah Bay College, visited Port Lokkoh at Christmas last to administer the Holy Communion, and gives an interesting account of his preaching before four petty kings who had come thither to meet the Governor of Sierra Leone:—

> By far the most intelligent man of these kings was Bei Kama. It is through this chief's territory that the great trader-caravans from the rich countries on the banks right and left of the Djoliba (Upper Niger) have to pass. He heard us with scarcely an interruption, telling him of the blessing he and his people would derive from the acceptation of the Holy Scriptures and the truth as it is in Jesus. He called two of his intimate wives, and foremost in intelligence, to sit at his side; they listened with apparent interest. Having kindly inquired of my work, and how long I had been living in Africa, he asked me to offer up a prayer for himself and his people. Before we parted, he told us we should be welcome at his home. In his younger days, and with yet distant prospects to the throne of his country, he had been serving as boatman to Governor McCarthy; and a few scanty rudiments of English words and broken phrases had remained as his memorial possession. A Moslem king asking for prayer.

Mr. Alley mentions his friendly intercourse with the two Moslem priests of Port Lokkoh itself. They enjoy reading the Word of God. The brother of one of them, who died lately, "would not pray as Mohammedans pray, but as Christians pray." Two Timneh converts, the first-fruits of Mr. Alley's labours, were baptized on July 10, 1881.

There appears to be an important door open to the Christian evangelist in these semi-Mohammedan districts; and the Committee trust that if the Society is unable to select them as one of its fields for extension, the Sierra Leone Church itself may be led to undertake the work in faith and prayer and the spirit of self-denial.

YORUBA MISSION.

Badagry, 1845; Abeokuta and Oshielle, 1846; Ibadan, 1852; Lagos, 1852; Otta, 1852; Leke, 1875; Ondo, 1876.

THIS Mission also loses a zealous friend and helper by the retirement of Bishop Cheetham. The port of Lagos, as well as the outlying stations on the neighbouring coast from Badagry to Leke, all which are in British territory, are included in the Diocese of Sierra Leone; and the Society's Missions in the interior of the Yoruba country have also enjoyed the Bishop's care. Here, too, the eleven years' progress should be noted with thankfulness. In 1870, the whole number of Native Christians was under 2500, although the large accessions at Abeokuta had taken place years before; and there were five Native clergymen and thirty Native teachers. Now there are 6270 Christian adherents (many of them being immigrants from Sierra Leone), fourteen Native clergymen, and eighty Native teachers; yet again the Society's expenditure is less. The Native Pastorate at Lagos is now firmly established, and three of the four quasi-parishes in the town itself are connected with it, the Society only giving a grant-in-aid, which is administered by the Church itself together with its own local funds. The amount raised by the Native Christians in the whole Yoruba Mission in the past year was no less than 2900*l*.

Eleven years' progress in the Yoruba Mission.

LAGOS.

This important commercial port, which has only been a British possession since 1861, and before that date had for at least fifty years been a great entrepôt of the slave traffic, now rivals Sierra Leone in most respects, and surpasses it in the value of its legitimate trade. The population of the little island of Lagos itself is larger than that of the whole territory owning the sway of England in and near the Sierra Leone Peninsula; but its religious condition is very different. The majority are still heathen; and Mohammedanism is also powerful. The Native Christians connected with the Church of England, that is, with the C.M.S., number 2400; and there are at least half as many again of other denominations.

Importance of Lagos.

The Rev. J. B. Wood continued during the year at his important post as Secretary of the Yoruba Mission and chief representative of the Society at Lagos; but he is now coming to England, while the Rev. J. A. Maser is returning to the Mission. The Rev. A. and Mrs. Mann are still in charge of the Female Institution, and the Rev. C. H. V. Gollmer of the Training Institution. The Rev. T. Cameron Wilson has, much to his own regret and that of the Committee, had to retire from work in Africa, invalided. Another young Missionary, the Rev. J. S. Bradshaw, was sent out last autumn; and the Committee have designated one of the present year's Islington men to the Yoruba Mission. In direct connexion with the Society there are also two African clergymen, the Rev. T. B. Wright, the old and faithful pastor of the Yoruba congregation in the Faji district, and the Rev. Isaac Oluwole, B.A., who is Principal of the Grammar School.

The Lagos Educational agencies.

This last-named institution continues to prosper. There are forty-five pupils. In the Training Institution there are twenty-four students. One had been dismissed for dishonesty and lying; of the remainder Mr. Gollmer writes: "Their conduct has on the whole been satisfactory, and I see no reason why, under God's blessing, many of them should not become useful Christian teachers." Mr. Gollmer has also charge of the Mission Book-shop, and is Chairman of the Lagos School Board. The Female Institution has lost some pupils by the opening of a similar school by the Wesleyan Mission; and Mr. Mann does not write encouragingly of the general tone and conduct of the girls. A memorial fund raised by the friends of the late Miss Emelia Venn of Hereford, amounting to 500*l.*, has been appropriated to founding scholarships in this Institution. Mr. Mann has also opportunities of preaching Christ in the hospital and the prison of the colony. In the hospital he once had to speak four languages in the course of an hour. In the prison he conducts a Sunday-school. He is also chairman of the Revision Committee which is preparing a new edition of the Yoruba Bible.

Faji is the only district in Lagos the spiritual care of which still remains with the Society. Its church, Christ Church, has an English-speaking congregation, mostly Africans, including Sierra Leone people engaged in trade. The services and other pastoral duties are for the most part taken by the European Missionaries. The Yoruba-speaking Native Christians of the district have a church of their own, St. Peter's, of which (as already mentioned) the Rev. T. B. Wright acts as minister.

The Lagos Pastorate.

The other three districts have now an independent Native pastorate organization, similar to that at Sierra Leone. These are St. Paul's, BREADFRUIT, Rev. James Johnson, assisted by the Revs. S. Pearse and E. F. Willoughby; Palm Church, AROLOYA, Rev. Nathaniel Johnson; EBUTE ERO, Rev. W. Morgan. The Native Christian adherents of these three districts number respectively 1200, 217, and 156; the communicants, 524, 130, and 87. Not so much advance upon surrounding heathenism is reported as might be desired; but there have been altogether 37 adult baptisims, some of them being of converts from Mohammedanism. Mr. James Johnson sends this year another of his thoughtful and interesting letters. He has always been thoroughly frank and open regarding the shortcomings of African Christians, and in his present Report he dwells on the rise of a school or party at Lagos advocating polygamy and professing to defend it on Scripture grounds. Even where views like this do not prevail, there is a low standard of spiritual life. "The people manifest too much worldliness, formality, and indifference." Still, Mr. Johnson's efforts, and those of his predecessor at Breadfruit, Archdeacon Henry Johnson, have not been fruitless; and probably few congregations at home could show a larger amount of zealous work for God. Some sentences may be quoted in illustration:—

Defects of African Christians.

Missionary efforts of African Christians.

We have revived our old district visitors' class, and divided the whole district into sections among them for missionary work among heathens: 38 persons, 24 of them females, comprise this class. They are already doing good work. Many visits have been made, and many persons spoken to; some Christian backsliders have been accidentally met with in heathen and Mohammedan households, and efforts, are being made to bring them back. Visitors are instructed to steadily proclaim Christ our only Saviour.

The work in our out-station, Itolo, is purely missionary. Our agent there visits constantly amongst heathens and Mohammedans, to whom he has generally been very acceptable. We have here only 6 baptized persons and 3 candidates for baptism; but we have also a nice and encouraging weekday school of 112 children—34 of whom are Mohammedan and 40 heathens. It is to be hoped the seed of Scriptural instruction sown in them may not be lost. The desire of Mohammedan and heathen parents—especially the former—is that their children should be taught reading, writing, and arithmetic for the trading life of this place; but this gives us a favourable opportunity to sow the seed of Christian truth, notwithstanding the fact that the big ones of our Mohammedan scholars do their Arabic and Koranic lessons at home also.

Our weekday school maintains its importance. Masters and mistresses are very diligent and earnest in their work. Every absent pupil is looked up; a weekly report is made at our agents' meeting on Monday mornings.

A children's Bible-class has been opened, and the old Juvenile Missionary Association revived. The Bible is taught daily in the schools. We are teaching the 100 texts, with Bishop Cheetham's new book upon them, adapting our teachings to the circumstances of the country. Several texts have been already committed to memory. We do it all in the vernacular. The number of children in the Breadfruit school is 257, of whom 40 are Mohammedans and 30 heathens.

Our Sunday-scholars number 270. We have introduced the Yorùba edition of the Pilgrim's Progress, the Rev. D. Hinderer's translation, which we use along with the Bible. The teachers are much interested in the book. We keep up our monthly teacher's meeting.

We are sensible of our many shortcomings, and of our need of the Holy Spirit's influence. We respectfully ask your earnest prayers.

EBUTA META AND OTTA.

EBUTA META, which is on the mainland opposite the island of Lagos, is a village, as will be remembered, founded by Christian fugitives from Abeokuta at the time of the outbreak there in 1867. The Rev. James White, the Native Pastor, reports favourably of these refugees themselves, but less so of the younger generation that has since grown up. The former show "zeal and love for Christ," and much voluntary evangelistic and Sunday-school work is done by them in the surrounding farm villages. At one place called Igbodo, fifteen miles from Ebuta Meta, one of the old converts, John Onajobi by name, "has been kindling the light of Christianity, and has succeeded in gathering together some twenty individuals for whom he performs divine service regularly every Lord's Day; and he has shown his liberality by providing out of his own limited means clothing for half a dozen poor children who come to be taught the Word of God." Four young men of the Ebuta congregation, belonging to the Jebu tribe, visit a Jebu town and gather a small company every Sunday for worship; and the best evidence of their success has been supplied by an outbreak of persecution.

Voluntary Yoruba evangelists.

OTTA, where Mr. White resided for some years, is now one of the eight out-stations connected with Ebuta Meta. The old king died lately, a heathen still by public profession, though convinced of the truth of the Gospel, and assuring Mr. White on his death-bed that he prayed to the true God of heaven and earth. At another out-station, Iseri, a large parcel of land has been granted for mission purposes by the chief, Taiwo,—who, it may be observed, was one of the speakers at the Pastorate Anniversary at Lagos, in June last. At another, Igbesa, a great impression has been made on the people by the providential preservation from fire of the mission-house, when in imminent peril:—

Mission premises preserved from fire.

A great fire last August destroyed the roofs of the houses of nearly two-thirds of the population, not excepting those of the king and his chiefs. More than twenty idol temples were destroyed. The singular preservation of the mission-house, which is in the very heart of the town, is a miracle in the eyes of the inhabitants. The fire broke out on a heathen Sabbath Day, when all the farmers remained at home to worship their idols. Mr. Cross, the Society's Scripture-reader, was absent from home, having gone to a neighbouring village to preach the Word of God. The fire commenced a few yards in front of the mission-house, and burnt down the roofs of all the houses around it. A tall dry tree in front of the mission-house, and about twelve yards from it, caught fire, and constantly emitted sparks of fire all around, and yet the mission-house remained untouched. That the house of the servant of the Lord, who was away from home, should escape the general destruction, whilst the houses of the king, the chiefs, heathen priests, and idol temples were destroyed in the very presence of the people, at a time when they were all solemnly engaged in the worship of their idols, in spite of every effort to preserve them, is a matter of wonder and amazement to the people generally; and I was told that the expression of the Baal worshippers of old unintentionally escaped their lips, "The Lord, He is the God; the Lord, He is the God."

The baptized Christians at Ebute Meta and its out-stations number 521, and the unbaptized adherents 79. There are 289 communicants, an unusually large proportion. Eleven adults were baptized in the year.

LEKE AND ONDO.

These are the stations, far to the east of Lagos, which were opened by the Rev. D. Hinderer in 1875. LEKE, on the coast, is in charge of Native teachers, and is visited by Mr. Wood from Lagos. There is a congregation of 160 souls. The ONDO Mission, in the interior, is carried on by a Native Missionary, the Rev. C. Phillips, who resides at the capital of the country, Ode Ondo, where there are 92 Native Christians. The excellent work done by Mr. Phillips was described in last year's Report.

BADAGRY.

The Native Missionary, the Rev. D. Coker, reports steady work, but little progress. There are 102 baptized Christians, and 70 unbaptized adherents.

ABEOKUTA.

Wheat and Tares at Abeokuta.

The Rev. V. Faulkner's Report is decidedly encouraging. There is indeed much that is unsatisfactory in the condition of the Abeokuta Church. The tone of Christian public opinion is low; and domestic slavery and polygamy (as at Lagos) are thought lightly of, and not only practised, but openly defended, by some. So far as the agents are concerned, indeed, the rules recently laid down by the Committee and the Bishop of Sierra Leone are duly observed; but independent Christians can only be dealt with by moral influence. Under these circumstances, to which more particular reference was made last year, Mr. Faulkner's Report has been especially welcome. Many of the people, he says, who were among the defenders of slavery, are beginning to acknowledge its evils and the advantages of free labour. The church services, adult Sunday-schools, classes, &c., which had been neglected by some during the time of controversy and dissatisfaction, are now fully attended; and as a natural consequence, the heathen are again gathering round the preachers of the Gospel. There were 38 adult baptisms in the year. The whole number of baptized Christians is 1859, and of unbaptized adherents, 620; total, 2479, an increase of 366 in the year. The number of communicants has risen from 644 to 742, and the candidates for communion from 149 to 196. Good work is done by many of the more godly members of the congregations. The Sunday-schools, for instance, are taught by 78 voluntary teachers.

Some changes have been made in the location of the Native clergy and leading catechists. The Rev. W. Moore, late of Oshielle, is now pastor of the Ake congregation, the oldest and largest of the Egba Christian communities. The Rev. D. Williams is now at Ikija, and the Rev. W. Allen at Iporo. These three are within the walls of Abeokuta. Mr. S. Cole is now in charge of Oshielle, and Mr. Jeremiah Irving of Shuren, the farm village of the Christian balogun, or war-chief, John Okenla, who, says Mr. Faulkner, "at all times exhibits a holy jealousy for the spiritual interests of the farm." Four other out-stations—Ofada, Asese, Afojupapa, and Oko-Akigbade—are maintained by the Native Missionary Association connected with the Abeokuta Church Council. At these there are 330 adherents, who are included in the number above given.

"Upon the whole," concludes Mr. Faulkner, "we have much cause to thank God and take courage. I do know that, notwithstanding the many things which at times offend, the Lord has much people in this city and country." He begs that Abeokuta may not be forgotten in the prayers of God's people at home.

IBADAN.

This station has been quite isolated during the year by the continued closing of all the roads to the coast through the troublesome guerilla war still going on between Ibadan and some of the other petty states of the country. The Rev. Daniel Olubi writes:—"We are still amid the war difficulties, disappointments, and discouragements. Things are growing worse and worse. It is a great comfort to believe that our Jesus still reigns, that He is the Governor of the whole universe, and directs and controls all events to serve His own blessed purpose." "Although the Mission," he adds, "cannot extend or lengthen its cords, yet it is preserved and protected in this trying time, and the Christians are graciously kept within the blessed fold." Some further extracts from Mr. Olubi's last Annual Letter will be read with interest, although it is a year behind, having been written in March, 1881, and received in September :—

The pecuniary difficulty is still great. But I am truly happy to report that the converts generally have done what they can in the way of subscription for religious purposes. On the 30th of April last year the church of the Oke Ogunpa station was blown down by the usual tornado. It was to be got up again by the end of the year. On the 21st ultimo, my fellow-workers and myself set to work at the repairs of that church. On the 26th we had completed the roofing or fixing up the materials. On the 28th the three congregations came, as they were told, with their subscriptions in food of all descriptions, cowries, and their own personal labour. On the 4th inst. the whole work was completed, to the cost of about 40*l*., when carefully calculated. But, alas! that very day at evening, a heavy rain came with tornado which blew down the Aremo church. It is a trial sent in love from our kind Father to try the faith of the Ibadan Christians. We hope by His great goodness to raise it up again.

On the 5th November last year I visited our stations in the interior, Oyo, Ogbomoso, and Iseyin, and on December 8th returned home in safety. I am happy to report that the agents at each locality, to the best of their abilities, were doing well. I had eight children baptized at Ogbomoso. One of the most hard-hearted mothers was present, and gave remarkable attention throughout the service. She seemed convinced. We pray that it may please God to open her heart to receive the good message.

The next was Iseyin. I baptized two men and two infants. A backslider was reclaimed through the long patience of the catechist in charge, Mr. A. F. Foster. I was glad to see him kneel before the holy table to partake of the emblems of the dying love of Christ. He was one of the teachers in Abeokuta before my conversion in 1847, and taught me the alphabet. His father was a native of Iseyin, but he was born in Sierra Leone.

In the royal city (Oyo) I baptized a man of about thirty years, who was long tried and prepared for the same rite.

The Kudeti church is composed of old people, chiefly women, and is thinner and thinner by marriages, removals to other churches, and by deaths. Happily, we have not been visited by the latter as in others of our churches; but as a mother church she continually cherishes her sons with brides, which reduced the number in statistics to 126 for 1880. The Aremo congregation is 208, and at Oke Ogunpa the congregation is 110. The number at Oyo is 40; at Ogbomoso, 19; and at Iseyin, 43, The whole amount of money raised is 22*l.* 17*s.* 5½*d.*

The Committee regret to say that they have received news that in a great fire which destroyed a part of Ibadan on March 31st of the present year, the mission-house was destroyed, and Mr. Olubi lost all his personal effects, books, papers, &c., and the church registers.

Although Ibadan is the most powerful of the Yoruba towns, the titular head of the nation is the King, or Alafin, of Oyo. In October last, he, by the pen of Mr. Olubi, addressed a letter to Mr. Wood at Lagos, begging him to obtain the mediation of the British authorities to stop the disastrous though desultory war. This very touching document is subjoined:—

The Palace, Oyo, 15th October, 1881.

A royal appeal for missionary influence in favour of peace.

To the Rev. J. B. Wood.

SIR,

I beg to approach you with my humble request.

You must have heard of the desultory war in my kingdom which has been wasting its thousands.

I have undertaken several times to effect peace, but my authority is not respected by the belligerent powers. And seeing that if this is not done in time the extinction of the old Yoruba race is inevitable I sent specially on the 9th inst. to call your representative here at Ibadan to consult with him how the Imperial Government of England may be reached to crave assistance to bring about the peace speedily.

Now I humbly beg you to assist me in urging the Government to attend to this my request speedily. The letter addressed to the Government will be forwarded by you, and please use your influence in this important matter for the sake of humanity to save my kingdom from utter extinction.

I remain, sir, respectfully yours,

KING ADEYEMI,

The Alafin of Oyo.

Mr. Wood replied that no opportunity should be lost of using any possible influence in favour of peace, and exhorted the Alafin to look to Him who ordereth all things in heaven and earth. The Administrator of Lagos agreed to invite the various contending tribes to send duly authorized messengers to him, that he might hear what terms of peace they severally required. Mr. Samuel Johnson (brother of Archdeacon H. Johnson), one of the Society's Native agents at Ibadan, was sent round with this invitation, and he was successful in inducing the chiefs of Ibadan and Ijesha and the Ondos to send representatives as well as the Alafin. Sir S. Rowe, the Governor of the Coast Settlements, went to Lagos to meet the envoys, heard their statements, and gave them excellent advice; and the Committee trust that his judicious interposition may be used of God to the promotion of peace. Meanwhile the Alafin sent another letter to Mr. Wood, warmly thanking him for his interposition, and concluding, "I lose no sight of heaven, whence I look for help, as you have recommended."

NIGER MISSION.

Plans for the Niger Mission.

THE Committee have had great satisfaction in welcoming Bishop Crowther once more to England, just sixty years after he was first, as a rescued slave, committed to the Society's care. They rejoice to find that, at the age of seventy-four, his eye is not dim, nor his natural force abated. They trust that in conference with him their plans for the development and extension of the Niger Mission, to which more particular reference was made in last year's Annual Report, may be finally matured. The proposed English Clerical Secretary will, it is hoped, soon be on his way out, the Committee having appointed to this post the Rev. Thomas Phillips, B.A., of Trinity College, Dublin, and of the Society's Islington College. Mr. Phillips is in the prime of life, and having been engaged for several years in secular pursuits as a layman, he will bring business habits and experience to a work in which, from the necessity of the case, the secular element is important.

Meanwhile, the Mission has been much indebted to the Rev. J. B. Wood, of Lagos, for his conduct of its business affairs as Secretary of the Niger Finance Committee there, which duty has fallen upon him in addition to his multifarious work as Secretary of the Yoruba Mission and chief representative of the Society at Lagos. Mr. Wood is now on his way to England, both for the benefit of his health and to assist the Committee in their plans. It is hoped that a Local Committee for the administration of Niger affairs may be formed on the river itself, since the Bishop proposes henceforth to reside at Bonny instead of at Lagos as hitherto. The Henry Venn steamer, which has from the first proved so useful, will be of greater importance to the Mission than ever.

The two African Archdeacons.

To the two African Archdeacons also, Dandeson Crowther and Henry Johnson, the Niger Mission now owes much. Mr. Johnson has signalized his first year of active service on the Upper Niger by maturing important plans for the establishment of a training institution, boarding-schools, and a widows' and orphans' fund for Native agents; and Mr. Crowther's experience, and the respect in which he is held on the river, have made his influence in the Delta important in many ways. The latter's excellent wife has visited the various stations to stir up the wives of the agents to more active participation in missionary work.

STATIONS IN THE DELTA.

The Delta Mission, which is under the charge of Archdeacon D. C. Crowther, includes the stations of AKASSA, BRASS, NEW CALABAR, and BONNY; Brass comprising the two towns of Tuwon and Nembe, which are thirty miles apart; and Bonny comprising four or five centres of work in the town and suburbs, and the out-station of Okrika, thirty miles inland.

Persecution renewed at Bonny;

The movement towards Christianity among the tribes in the Delta continues without check. Opposition, certainly, seems to have no power to stop it. In November last, there was an attempted revival of the persecution at BONNY. King George and some of the chiefs have thrown themselves heartily into the cause of the Gospel, and jealousy of them seems to have aroused those chiefs who still cling to heathenism to active efforts to put down the new and growing religion. Slaves and dependents of the latter, to the number of several hundred, have embraced the faith of Christ, and these were forbidden to attend church on pain of death. Anxious to avoid any steps that might lead to something like civil war, Bishop Crowther, who arrived at Bonny from the upper river just at the critical moment, desired the converts to remain quietly at home for a Sunday or two while he discussed the matters in dispute with the hostile chiefs. Week after week but averted by the firmness of the converts.

passed, however, without his succeeding in inducing the chiefs to meet him; and on Christmas Day the Christians determined to wait no longer, and boldly assembled in great numbers in St. Stephen's Church. Two of them were arrested, and threatened with death, as an example to the others; but the rest immediately gathered round, crying, "We too are guilty: kill us also;" whereupon the chiefs gave up the contest and withdrew the prohibition; and later news describes the services as again regularly held and largely attended. The Committee thank God for this victory, and earnestly trust that equal faithfulness on the part of the Christians may give them a victory not less complete over the far more dangerous enemies that seek their souls, the world, the flesh, and the devil. These are foes that have put forth all their power on the Niger, and human nature—not less frail in the black man than in the white man—has in some cases fallen a victim to their malice. The Great Shepherd alone can defend His sheep from the grievous wolves that would devour them.

Ordination at Bonny.

In the very midst of the revived persecution, on December 18th, Bonny was the scene of a solemn Christian service. While the converts were yet refraining from church attendance, Bishop Crowther held an ordination at St. Stephen's, when two of the best lay agents, Mr. J. Boyle and Mr. J. D. Garrick, were admitted to deacon's orders, and the Rev. J. Buck to priest's orders. Archdeacon Crowther preached on the words, "Ye are witnesses." King George Pepple was present, with several Europeans, and a large number of Sierra Leone traders, &c.; but, for the cause above referred to, none of the Bonny converts. The clergy and agents at the other Delta stations having gathered to Bonny for the occasion, conferences and devotional meetings were held during the preceding week, at one of which—the wives being present—a letter from the Rev. J. B. Whiting on the duties of missionaries' wives was read, and received with much satisfaction.

The movement at Okrika, the out-station, thirty miles from Bonny, of which so remarkable an account appeared in last year's Report, continues very encouraging. The chiefs have paid ten puncheons of oil as their contribution towards the cost of establishing a Mission there, and more than 400 people attend the Christian services.

Baptisms at Bonny and Brass.

The adult baptisms continue to be reported in considerable numbers. In October, 86 adults were baptized at Bonny, all of whom, writes Archdeacon Crowther, had been well prepared in class, and most of them had been under instruction a year and a half. There have been 166 baptisms (123 adult) in the two chief towns of the kingdom of BRASS. In these Archdeacon Johnson took part, when on his way to the upper river. The Bishop wrote:—

On Sunday, June 19th, we had a very impressive service in St. Barnabas' Church, when three elderly women were admitted to the Church by baptism by Archdeacon Johnson; after which they were joined by another very aged woman, who had been previously baptized. She was scarcely able to walk by herself to the rails, on her trembling limbs, from infirmity of age, but was helped to her seat, where I allowed her to remain, where she was confirmed with the three newly-baptized friends, in the presence of a congregation of 480 persons. The fact of four of the old women at Tuwon thus publicly giving themselves to Christ from the service of Satan, in which they had long served to their present age, was another proof of the power of the Gospel to salvation to whosoever believeth. Another and stronger proof to our congregation was that one of the baptized was a devoted priestess to the gods, and an inveterate opposer of the Christian religion, and an unrelenting persecutor of the Christians at Tuwon. She always manifested great indignation against the Christian religion when spoken to, and would not hear. But when it pleased God, her hard, proud heart was subdued, and she became a prisoner of Divine grace. This rare group of four aged women, the most superstitious class among them, was another proof that the fortification of Satan is threatened to be demolished by the Spirit by the powerful application of the Word in the hearts of sinners. The confirmation of these four elderly persons immediately after baptism is an exception; the rest of the candidates for confirmation will wait to be better instructed in the real nature of the rite of confirmation as a ratification of the solemn vows they had made at their baptism.

Conversion of an old heathen priestess.

On June 25th we left Tuwon for Nembe in the canoe procured for our conveyance from one of the chiefs, a convert. Four and a quarter hours' good pull, with the tide in favour, brought us to Nembe, where the people were anxiously expecting us. Sunday, the 26th, was a memorable day for this place, because the second public baptism solemnly took place this day, of 41 adults and 18 children. The performance was shared between Archdeacon Johnson and myself, in the presence of a congregation of 617 persons, to whom I afterwards preached from Acts ii. 37, 38. I preached through an intelligent interpreter. In the afternoon Archdeacon Johnson followed up the subject from Eph. iii. 14, 15. Previous to our arrival at Nembe, a portion of the candidates who could manage it went up the river to Tuwon, when 39 of them were baptized by the Rev. Thomas Johnson, in St. Barnabas', with those of that church, on the 1st of May, making a total of baptized adults from Nembe this year of 80, and 18 children. These baptized 80 were out of 89 Nembe candidates who enlisted themselves at St. Barnabas', for a considerable time under instruction in connexion with that church, a distance of full thirty miles off. Since Mr. Garrick's appointment to this place, many have come forward and put their names down to join the class of candidates for baptism, of whom there are 339 now on the list; candidates for confirmation, 97; communicants, 28.

This same place, Nembe, affords a remarkable illustration of self-help in the matter of church-building. Archdeacon Crowther writes on April 19th of the present year:—

On my arrival at Nembe, I received calls from the Christians and chiefs. Our conversation was on a new church for Nembe. We decided that sermons bearing on the church should be preached on the coming Sunday, and notice given for a large meeting on the Monday following, when every one would be expected to put down on a list opened something towards the new church, as God had given him means.

Large contributions for a new church at Brass.

Accordingly on Sunday, April 2nd, I preached to a congregation of 693 persons in the morning, and to an afternoon congregation of 404. We had the Lord's Supper administered to fifty-eight persons after the morning service. On Monday, the 3rd, by 9 o'clock the church was full of people—men and women. I addressed the meeting, showing what had been done in other places as regards the building of a place of worship—the 217 churches in Liverpool alone, those at Sierra Leone, Lagos, &c.; then the catalogue of drawings of iron churches was passed round; then the appeal for means. The chiefs asked liberty to leave the church for consultation, which I granted; the whole of the men rose and went out. They sent twice to ask—1st, What was the nearest cost of a church to hold 900 persons? I told them about eighty puncheons of palm oil, sold here at 10*l.* per puncheon—800*l.* 2ndly, Whether they should expect help from England towards the building? I answered that they should expect none whatever, that the Society has not enough money to take up the many new openings in China, India, Africa, and other places. After half an hour's consultation, they returned, and two chiefs spoke, that every one should do his best, as it is for God's cause and their own good. Each came, one after the other, and told what he would give. There were four instances I took notice of, in which the givers stood up again and asked that so much might be added to what they had already promised, and by the time the meeting closed at 11 o'clock, there were forty puncheons promised.

I must not omit to mention that three self-taught carpenters of Nembe congregation have voluntarily made a pulpit for the present use of the church. I was greatly surprised at the fine work produced; it certainly does them credit.

Death of Chief Spiff:

Readers of the Society's Report will remember Chief Spiff, one of the earliest converts at Brass. Archdeacon Crowther, in the same letter, mentions his death, and says:—

his consistent ter.

A man of deep religious principles, consistent and straightforward; he was known throughout as being very fond of his Bible, which he used to read every day. Not unfrequently was he seen coming hatless from his house when at the Mission yard, in search of the minister, catechist, or schoolmaster, his hand on a certain text of Scripture which he wanted explained. Nothing kept him away from his seat at church or at Sunday-school, or from the class meetings, except severe illness. His reverence for the Lord's Day was great. On one occasion a shipment came for him in one of the steamers on a Sunday, and he was asked to land what belonged to him. But as he did not appear, the things were taken back. He wrote to the Company to this effect, that he "would rather suffer the loss of everything, than land a single package on the Lord's Day, and that Sunday work does no man any good." This was told me by the European shipping agent of the S.S. Company, who admired the late Chief Spiff for his consistency.

At NEW CALABAR, missionary operations have been almost suspended owing to the war which has been waging between the chiefs and those at Bonny, and concerning which such sad accounts have appeared lately in the newspapers.

THE MIDDLE AND UPPER STATIONS.

Archdeacon Henry Johnson now superintends the whole of the work carried on above the limits of the Delta. OSAMARE, ALENSO, ONITSHA, ASABA, GBEBE, LOKOJA, and KIPO HILL, are the stations, all of which have been mentioned in former Reports. The staff of agents in this part of the Mission has been weakened by the death of the Rev. Solomon S. Perry and the retirement of three or four lay teachers; but, under God, Archdeacon Johnson's energy will, the Committee doubt not, more than make up for the loss, and it is hoped that ere long he may be joined by some of the Durham graduates of Fourah Bay College. He writes that the words "The labourers are few," which were his text when he preached at the ordination of the Rev. Isaac Oluwole by Bishop Cheetham at Lagos, come home to him now with peculiar force.

Of the Middle Stations, Osamare, Alenso, Onitsha, and Asaba, Archdeacon Johnson sends an able and interesting Report. Some extracts respecting ONITSHA will greatly encourage the Society's friends:—

Onitsha converts after the bombardment.

When Onitsha was destroyed in 1879, the Mission had to be removed to Asaba. All the Native Christians who could do so went over with their teachers. But there were many who did not, and would not, leave their homes. The work of destruction having ceased, they issued from the groves and thickets where they had concealed themselves, and, like their heathen friends, began to rebuild their houses which had been burnt down. They regularly assembled themselves for prayer on every Lord's Day, when a schoolboy read prayers, and made what exposition he could of a portion of Scripture. Their church was leaky, doorless, windowless, and half ruined, but they clung to it. They constructed mud embankments in place of the benches which had been stolen, and they are there until this day. Of course a few fell back. Some relapsed into heathenism; others who had once been full Church members fell into the sin of polygamy. But not reckoning those who accompanied their teachers to Asaba, the majority of those that remained stood firm, and amidst the jeers and mockeries of their heathen neighbours, continued "the assembling of themselves together," notwithstanding the great trial to which their faith was subjected.

It was a year after the bombardment, when, repeated communication having been held with the people, Mr. Perry went over to resume the work once more in good earnest. In January of this year, having obtained leave from the Committee, he left for Sierra Leone, where he arrived in March, and in April the Lord was pleased to take him to his eternal rest. After he had left for Sierra Leone, the Bishop appointed Mr. R. A. Fyne, formerly the Catechist of Iyawo Station, to take charge of the general work at Onitsha.

Christian festival at Onitsha.

On the 27th October, the Bishop and myself were present to witness a celebration of the anniversary of the return of the Gospel to Onitsha (as it was termed), after an enforced expulsion for the period of a twelvemonth. The idea of celebrating the event, it is just to say, did not originate with the people, but the praise of the warm manner in which the suggestion was taken up, and the éclat given to the occasion by their holiday appearance, and the general enthusiasm manifested, belonged entirely to them. There was a meeting held in the church, of which the Bishop was chairman. It began at 10.30 a.m., and lasted three hours. There was an attempt at decoration, for palm branches were tied to wooden pillars at distinct intervals, and festoons of evergreens were made to depend gracefully from the windows. Over three hundred persons were present, not a few of the heathens who had never before entered the church being in the number. Resolutions were spoken to by selected persons, and occasion was taken by most of them to recall the painful incidents of 1879. The finger of God in all that took place, and in the subsequent resumption of the work, was carefully traced. What struck me very much was the apt quotation made from Scripture to illustrate the parallel which they drew between the history of the people of Onitsha and that of the Jews. One of the speakers was the man who, with another, had committed the outrages which brought matters to a climax, and exposed Onitsha to the severe punishment which was inflicted. He had surrendered himself to justice, and was let off only after he had been well flogged on board the man of war. Since then he has been a changed man, and now he stood forth to acknowledge, in general, and in his own person in particular, the remarkable providence of God.

Combined assault on the heathenism of Onitsha.

The time had now come when a decided aggression might be made upon the heathenism of the land. Accordingly on the 8th November, previous notice having been given, I met the communicants and candidates for confirmation—altogether about 200 being present, in the church, when I addressed them at length, and unfolded the plans I would propose for future action. All without exception heartily seconded the proposals. On the evening of the same day, about a dozen of the principal members came by invitation to the Mission House, when they entered with Mr. Fyne and myself into details of the general plan sketched out in the morning. Thirty-six names were submitted and approved, of full members of the Church. These were divided into fours among the nine districts composing the town of Onitsha,—two men and two women being assigned to each district. It was the duty of the district visitor to go to the districts assigned them, whenever they could conveniently do so during the week, but especially on Sunday mornings, to speak to the heathens about the Gospel, and persuade them to come to the House of God. Once a month (the first Monday) they are to assemble at a meeting, when any special difficulties, or any points of interest, are to be brought under the notice of the minister, and counsel taken with him in regard to future proceedings. All being duly arranged, they set to work in the name of God.

The effect of their labours was plainly seen on the first Sunday which followed their commencement. Instead of the usual average of 300 odd, we had no less than 621. The next Sunday the number had increased to over 700, and the increase was steadily maintained till Christmas Day, when I had the joy of preaching to no less than 1100 people!

Christmas service at Onitsha: remarkable scene.

The scene that presented itself that day can hardly be described so as to convey its vivid character to those who were not present to witness the sight. It is not at any time easy to get a thousand people into a building that can only conveniently accommodate five hundred. The space within the Communion rails was invaded, and I was hemmed in on all sides by those who wanted room. The vestry was filled. The steps of the reading-desk and of the pulpit were occupied. An extemporized shed thrown outside was crowded, and those who were told off to keep order had a hard work to do to find places for the overflowing congregation. Even after the sermon was over more people were coming to church. It was a gratifying sight, in spite of the noise caused by the jingling of the ornaments on their feet, and the ceaseless whisperings in which many, unused to our simple ceremonies, frequently indulged. I was glad to see so many present on a day like Christmas Day, to hear the wonderful story of redeeming love. My text was from Matthew i. 21, "Thou shalt call His name Jesus, for He shall save His people from their sins." The movement is not a matter of mere temporary excitement. In the month of December especially, day after day, Mr. Fyne had the pleasing duty of entering into the books the names of fresh inquirers.

Conversion by means of a picture.

A woman by the name of Ekubie gave up idol-worship, and brought her gods to the catechist. She was converted by means of a picture. Once, on entering the Mission House, she saw a picture on the wall. It was one of the cheap German sketches—a representation of Jesus sitting before a table in the attitude of blessing a loaf of bread, which He held in His hand, and a cup before Him. Mr. Fyne patiently explained who Jesus Christ is—"the Saviour of men, who came to this world, and died to take away sins." Gradually the woman became interested, and at length she asked, "Did He die for me too?" "Yes," was the immediate reply, "and if you believe in Him, He will save you." So the conversation went on until at last the poor heathen woman resolved to give up heathenism and embrace Christianity. When I left Onitsha a few days ago none was more regular at church, and certainly none apparently more earnest than Ekubie.

Rival chiefs reconciled.

As illustrative of the silent but undoubted influence which the Gospel is exercising at Onitsha, I would mention that two hostile chiefs, who for years had thirsted for each other's blood, were at length reconciled to each other: and although they were and still are, staunch heathens, yet they thought it was their duty to go to church together, and publicly to return thanks to God for having preserved them all the while they had stood in hostile relations towards each other, and turned their minds at last to peace. In the whole country there is none—not even the king himself—so powerful and influential as one of these chiefs. He is at once the best and the worst in all Onitsha. I feel sure that if, by the will of God, he could be gained over to the side of our Lord and Master, true religion will make vast strides in the country in a very short time. But of course this is only speaking as a man. Our trust is in God, who can "make men willing in the day of His power."

The languages of the Niger.

Archdeacon Johnson will find all his linguistic powers—which are not small—called forth by the demands of the Missions under his charge. His hereditary Yoruba he finds very useful, and the Arabic he acquired in Palestine is important in dealing with the higher class of Mohammedans, some of whom he finds have travelled across Africa as far as Egypt and Syria. Haussa, the great language of trade in the interior of West Central Africa, he is studying assiduously; Nupe he will take next; of Foulah, Igara, and Igbira, he desires to know something, and the Ibo of Onitsha is imperatively required.

On the Lower Niger also Bishop Crowther and his son the Archdeacon hope to form plans for the production of portions of Scripture and simple Christian books in the various languages; and to this end the printing-press lately established at Bonny will be turned to account.

The average Sunday congregations at all the stations on the river now amount together to 3470 souls, of whom Bishop Crowther reckons 1599 as Christian adherents; and 457 are communicants. The urgent need of these growing communities, just emerging from the most debased Paganism and adopting Christianity as a superior religion, is faithful shepherding by well-qualified and really devoted Native agents. These, it is hoped, will be raised up from among the converts themselves by means of the projected training institutions; but meanwhile the Committee trust that the educated Africans of Sierra Leone will be ready to go forth into what is to them a foreign country, and there spend and be spent in God's service.

The Bishop has appointed the Rev. J. B. Whiting his commissary in England. Mr. Whiting's visit to Madeira in the early part of last year has proved to have been a most providential event. The knowledge he gained while engaged in the Conference held there has been of great value to the Committee in their deliberations on all West African affairs during the year; and for a few months, when the Secretariat was temporarily weakened, he acted as Secretary pro tem. for the Society's African Missions. The Committee gratefully acknowledge the important service thus rendered by him.

EAST AFRICA MISSION.

Kisulutini, 1844; Frere Town, 1875.

Death of Dr. Krapf.

As with the western side of the Dark Continent, so with the eastern, an event has occurred during the past year which suggests the contrast between Past and Present. That event is the death of Dr. Krapf, the pioneer of all missionary and geographical enterprise in Eastern Equatorial Africa. Exactly thirty-eight years ago, in the first week of the month of May, 1844, Krapf settled on the little island of Mombasa. Two months later he laid the mortal remains of his wife and babe to rest on the opposite mainland, and sent home his memorable message of faith and hope, "This lonely grave is a sign that you have commenced the struggle with this part of the world; and as the victories of the Church are gained by stepping over the graves of many of her members, you may be the more convinced that the hour is at hand when you are summoned to the conversion of Africa from its eastern shore." For more than thirty years the solitude of that spot was preserved; and then, within two or three hundred yards of Mrs. Krapf's grave, there arose a large and flourishing village, the Church Missionary Society's settlement of Frere Town. In his sorrowful loneliness Krapf turned his thoughts to the planning of extended missionary operations for subjecting Africa to Christ. Three ideas shaped themselves in his mind: (1) a chain of stations stretching right across the continent; (2) a colony for freed slaves similar to Sierra Leone, for which he affirmed that Mombasa and its environs would be the best site; (3) in his own words, "A black bishop and black clergy may ere long become a necessity in the civilization of Africa." There was small prospect of any of these then; yet Krapf lived to see the Central African expeditions of recent years, and Frere Town, and the Bishopric of the Niger. Such a retrospect may well rebuke impatience. "O tarry thou the Lord's leisure: be strong, and He shall comfort thine heart."

Krapf's ideas and their fulfilment.

Krapf's geographical and linguistic researchos.

Although Krapf's travels were far less extensive than those of Livingstone, his is the higher claim to the name of leader in the Recovery of the Lost Continent. He went to Africa four years before Livingstone; and the great discoveries of Burton, Speke, Grant, Cameron, Stanley—even the later explorations of Livingstone himself—were the direct and admitted result of his researches and those of his companions Rebmann and Erhardt; while his varied and untiring linguistic labours laid the foundation of all subsequent knowledge of the East African tongues. The Committee rejoice that such a name stands on the roll of the Society, and they thank God for the singleness of aim and boundless faith in which he has left so bright an example to all his successors.*

Krapf's faith and patience are indeed still the first requisite for all who engage in African Missions, and the Committee have felt the need of them in the past year. Trials and difficulties have continued to surround their work on the East Coast and in the interior. At FRERE TOWN, in particular, the necessarily delicate relations of the head of the settlement with the neighbouring local authorities under the Sultan of Zanzibar, and the task of ruling, without magisterial powers, a community of several hundred souls, most of them but lately gathered out of the most debasing associations, are a severe test of wisdom and tact; and while the Committee lament that the administration of Frere Town should in certain respects have deserved the censure of the Sultan and the British consular authorities, they thank God for the emphatic testimony personally given to them by Sir John Kirk to the general excellence of the work. The mistakes were temporary and remediable; the settlement itself remains, a monument of Christian activity and patient labour. For their own satisfaction, as well as that of the British and Zanzibar Governments, the Committee requested the Rev. W. S. Price, the founder of Frere Town in 1875, to go out for a time as special commissioner; and the readiness with which he responded to their request, at great personal inconvenience to himself, has been a matter for true thankfulness. They have been greatly encouraged by the reports received from him. He reached Mombasa on Christmas Eve. "I could not help," he writes, "calling to mind the very different aspect presented when one Sunday afternoon, just seven years ago, I first entered the harbour of Mombasa. Then, where Frere Town now is, was nothing but wild jungle; whilst now, in spite of the devil and all his wiles, it has all the appearance of a field that the Lord hath blessed." In a later letter he writes, "I venture to say that there are few places in the world where there is a larger amount of peace, contentment, and happiness, than in the C.M.S. settlement of Frere Town."

Difficulties at Frere Town.

Peace and prosperity at Frere Town.

The East African slave-trade.

The importance of such a Mission has received fresh illustration within the past few months from the lamented death of Captain Brownrigg, R.N., in a fight with a slave dhow. Notwithstanding the vigorous efforts of Sir John Kirk and the undoubted bona-fides of the Sultan, the slave-trade is not yet put down; and while this is so, settlements of the kind will be needed for the reception of liberated slaves.

The Rev. A. Menzies, who has been the clerical missionary in charge of Frere Town during the year, has been dangerously ill, and for a few days his life was despaired of. The Committee thank God that he has been spared; but he is obliged to return immediately to England. He sends an encouraging Report, which closes with these words:—

It is comforting, in reviewing the past, to notice the decided improvement and advancement made on all sides. We shall not leave Frere Town as we found it. We have laboured, and others have laboured with us; together we have prayed week by week, and together sought the spiritual and temporal welfare of the people, and God has given us His blessing abundantly in many ways. He has preserved our settlement also from the ravages of smallpox, which has cut off hundreds in Zanzibar and Mombasa; and round about us, in the shambas, many have fallen. We had three mild cases, no deaths. God has also turned the counsel of our enemies into foolishness, and suffered no one to hurt us: even our bitter experiences have turned out rather for the furtherance of His Kingdom and the glory of His great name. It is meet and right then that we praise Him, the Lord, our Preserver and Benefactor, for ever and ever.

Mr. Menzies gives some details of the work at Frere Town, from which a few brief extracts may be taken:—

Baptism of freed slaves.

During the past year we have had two special services for the baptism of adult freed slaves and their children, numbering in all forty-one adults and thirty children. The first of these happy occasions was held on the 26th of June, and the second on Christmas Day. The freed slaves have been instructed for several years from the Scriptures, and the candidates selected from among them were placed in a class by themselves, and very carefully prepared for their baptism some months before. Then, finally, I examined them individually. Their answers to my questions were very satisfactory. They seemed to understand what the service of the Lord Jesus required of them, and that from henceforth they must lead a new life in dependence on their Divine Saviour. The day on which they publicly confessed their faith in the Lord Jesus, and received the seal of baptism, was alike memorable to them and to us. It was a very happy day, and a time, we trust, of special quickening, spiritual life being imparted to not a few in answer to our earnest prayers.

Services and classes at Frere Town.

On October 16th we had our usual harvest thanksgiving service, which we have always endeavoured to make interesting and impressive. Our church was prettily decorated with the graceful branches of the cocoa-palm, and some flowering shrubs, and round the communion rails the people placed their offerings of fruits and grain, and a plate in the centre received the gifts of money. The collection this year, after the sale of the fruits, &c., amounted to eighteen dollars, or eight dollars more than last year. Many of the people seemed to have a real pleasure in giving, and were truly thankful to God, who had preserved for them the fruits of their labour. They responded heartily to the invitation to come into His courts with praise. About 270 were present.

And now to go back a step. On Sept. 7th we held our first monthly missionary prayer-meeting, which was attended by most of the people, and we managed to keep up their attention to the end. Special addresses were given, and at intervals prayer was offered for a blessing on the work of our Society in all parts of the world, remembering especially those we had sent to Godoma and Fulladoyo; after which suitable missionary hymns, well known by all, were sung with much feeling. Three of our little boys then held plates at the door, and received the contributions as the people went out; we realized 2 dollars 2 cents.

I have taken classes of the people, and classes with the catechists and others week by week for the best part of the year. Mr. David and Mr. Ishmael have been reading with me the books of Joshua and Judges, Nicholls' Help, Boultbee on the Articles; and Mrs. David was reading through a small work on the Prayer-book. Three times a week I have given Scripture lessons to four of the senior boys from the school. There are four weekly classes held with the people. The candidates for confirmation and the Lord's Supper are at present 108.

A very large class is held on Sunday morning, attended by over 100 of the freed slaves, men and women. This has been taken regularly by the catechist and myself.

The attendance at divine service on Sundays has averaged 195 in the morning, and 160 in the afternoon. Average attending the Lord's Table 20. There have been 10 deaths and 18 births.

I wish particularly to speak of the valuable assistance rendered me at all times by both Mr. George David and Mr. Ishmael Semler, and the good example of patient continuance in well-doing they have set the people.

The school has been carried on by the Rev. W. E. Taylor, who has also had medical charge of the settlement. Another missionary, the Rev. A. D. Shaw, was sent to Mombasa last autumn; and a gentleman from Bristol, Mr. H. W. Lane, has been appointed to the vacant Lay Superintendentship, and sailed on May 17th in the present year. His wife, and a lady accompanying them who is engaged to Mr. Shaw (Miss Amy Havergal, niece of the late Frances Havergal), will be especially welcome for the important work among the women which the return home of Mrs Menzies will leave to them. Another young lay missionary will, it is hoped, be sent out in the autumn.

The interior station of KISULUTINI or RABAI has had a year of peace and progress under the good management of the Rev. H. K. Binns. He reports as follows:—

Baptisms at Rabai.

In the beginning of the year I had the pleasure of baptizing several more of my people, when my dear wife was present and acted as a witness, together with Isaac, his wife Polly, and myself. I am thankful to be able to say that the men and women then admitted into the visible Church have, with but few exceptions, lived consistent lives during the past year, and are progressing favourably in Christian knowledge.

About the middle of March I started on my journey to the Wakamba, making friends with the chief men of the tribe, and making proposals to them to send a catechist or even go myself to teach them. They treated me very well, and many of them have been to see me since at my home here, and were greatly astonished and pleased at everything I showed them; as yet, however, they show little desire to have a teacher. They even went so far as to say they did not want one, as they had no time to learn—they must look after their cattle: but the Rabais used to say the same. Passing on from the Wakamba, I visited parts of Giriama, Biriaa, and Bamba, places never before visited by a European, and had some interesting conversations with several of the elders.

Translational work in East Africa.

I have been translating the first lessons for morning and evening prayers for all the Sundays in the year, for as we have not the Old Testament in Swahili, I translated with Isaac every week the lessons required for the following Sunday. I now have the entire lectionary almost complete. We also translated Dr. Watts' Catechism into Kinyika, as well as some prayers, hymns, &c., which are now in the printer's hands.

Our numbers have not increased very materially during the past year, owing to our agreement with the Wagiriama that we would not keep any more of their slaves; but those coming from other places we have received, and so our numbers are slowly on the increase. Large numbers of runaways continue to come from Giriama, but I am obliged to tell them to go elsewhere.

On the whole our people are happy and contented, and generally well behaved; they attend church prayers and classes well, and are becoming, I trust, more and more enlightened in Gospel truth. Many of them show more than ordinary cleverness in remembering texts and Scripture facts, and I trust that many of them are gaining more than a mere head knowledge, and are endeavouring to serve God in their daily lives.

The death of our beloved catechist, Isaac Nyondo, from smallpox, on the 12th December, was a very serious loss to this station; but God can supply his place, and He will do so in His own good time.

We are seriously in want of a new church at this station, as our present building will not hold more than half our people; we want a good substantial building to hold at least 500 comfortably, as it is a great drawback having no building in which I can gather all the people together.

God grant to us all a rich outpouring of His Holy Spirit, that we may work more faithfully and self-denyingly for the glory of His holy name.

There are now 800 souls connected with the two Missions, of whom 419 are baptized Christians. Sixty-five adults were baptized during the year, of whom twenty-four were those referred to by Mr. Binns, and the remainder the freed slaves mentioned by Mr. Menzies.

Giriama Christians.

The GIRIAMA Christian community was visited by Mr. Price in February last. His account of the new settlement at Fulladoyo, of which Abe Sidi is the presiding elder, is most remarkable. Round the little Christian nucleus established by Abe Sidi have gathered large numbers of fugitive slaves from the surrounding districts. For these the Mission is in no way responsible, Fulladoyo being fifty miles from Frere Town, and far beyond the reach of the Society's control. The people are quite independent, and not even a paid catechist has been supplied to them. Some passages from Mr. Price's account are subjoined :—

Mr. Price at Fulladoyo.

At the bottom of the valley we came to a river, on reaching which, our men fired off their guns to give warning of our approach, which were quickly replied to from the other side. The river is about twenty feet wide at this season, and is covered with a beautiful lily in full blossom. The very sight of the clear bright liquid was refreshing after our weary march; and more so still the warm and hearty reception we met with from the people of Fulladoyo. They had only a few days' notice of our intended visit, and must have set to work at once and with a will to prepare for it. Several large trees had been felled, and laid from bank to bank to form a bridge for us to cross the river; and a splendid wide road had been cleared through the thick wood which leads up thence to their village. So much evidence of energy and public spirit I have seen nowhere else in Africa. A great crowd was collected on the opposite bank, and as we stepped from the bridge on to Fulladoyo ground, a shout of joy rang through the forest, and echoed among the hills, which produced sensations in me which I shall never forget, but which I cannot describe. Then came the shaking of hands. Men and women crowded upon us, each one eager for a shake, and "yambo, yambo sana" greeted us on all sides. The whole thing was a welcome surprise for us. On emerging from the wood we came at once upon a large village, or rather a small town: the best built and most orderly kept of any I have seen in this country. I had rather expected to find here a large number of half-wild and desperate men—the scum of the population—slaves who having run away from their masters, were herded together here in disorder and confusion. On the contrary, I found a comfortable settled and well-ordered community, meeting together morning and evening in a place of worship which they have put up at their own cost, to hear the Word of God, and join in prayer and praise. I saw, too, on all sides the signs of industry and prosperity. There was altogether an air of uncommon respectability about the place. The houses are neatly and strongly built, and the shambas are well cultivated and rich with Indian corn, and other grain and fruits. They put us up in a nicely thatched unfurnished shed in the centre of the village, which we liked all the more because it was quite open at both ends, thus giving us plenty of air. The only disadvantage of this arrangement was that crowds of Wanika flocked in upon us the day through to feast their eyes on the wondrous "Wazungu," and it was next to impossible to get a few moments of privacy to ourselves.

Towards evening the people of the place one by one began to come in, bringing us presents of such things as they had. I never saw anything like it before. I counted about thirty fowls, some dozens of eggs, a goat, and enough rice and ground Indian corn to feast our men all the way back. I really felt ashamed to receive these things, and yet they were given evidently with such good will, that one felt it would give them pain and disappointment to refuse their offerings; so I accepted them, mentally resolving to repay them in some way or other without appearing to do so.

Abe Sidi's congregation of runaway slaves.

Tuesday, February 28th.—Rose early and scrambled into our clothes as best we could under the gaze of the ever-curious Wanika, who had already begun to put in an appearance. At 6.30 a.m. the bell rung for prayers, and in a few minutes the large room was full and the verandahs too. I thought it better to let Abe Sidi conduct the service as usual. After a hymn, which was heartily sung, Abe Sidi read and made remarks upon a few verses from Gen. vi., and in simple and earnest language set forth Jesus Christ as the true ark of refuge, provided by a merciful God for perishing sinners. Then followed the prayers: a selection from the Book of Common Prayer, of which now, thanks to Bishop Steere, we have a fair translation; and very touching and soul-stirring it was to hear them all as with one voice joining in the Confession, Lord's Prayer, and General Thanksgiving. I wish my congregation at Wingfield could have heard them. The usual Morning Prayer ended, I gave a short address, and was followed by Shaw, after which G. David concluded with a suitable extempore prayer. I never witnessed greater decorum and attention in any congregation, which is much to say when we consider who and what these poor people lately were: and what in fact they still are: runaway slaves.

The Henry Wright steamer.

The Committee hope shortly to send out the proposed Henry Wright steamer, the construction of which has been delayed pending inquiries as to the size and build most likely to be useful on the coast. They also trust that the advance into the interior from Mombasa, so long desired and so often deferred, may now be in the immediate future. One additional missionary has been lately sent out on the Extension Fund, and they hope soon to reinforce the Mission further.

Extension in East Africa.

Mr. Price, with reference to his journey to Fulladoyo above mentioned, writes, "I praise God for permitting me to see and hear so much to rejoice my heart. I had no idea of the splendid opening presented in this part of the country for evangelistic effort. 'The fields are white unto the harvest.'" The memory of Krapf, who was the first to visit the Wakamba, Wateita, and other tribes, and to discover the African Switzerland in which they dwell, is a fresh incentive to push forward; and the Committee regard with much interest the expedition now proposed by the Royal Geographical Society to explore the route that way to the Victoria Nyanza.

NYANZA MISSION.

Mpwapwa, 1876; Rubâga, 1877; Uyui, 1879; Mamboia, 1879.

STRICTLY speaking, the Victoria Nyanza Mission is the Mission in Uganda. But the intermediate stations on the road thither are regarded as belonging to it, although geographically they might be included in "East Africa." It is remarkable that while the efforts of Krapf to open up the Dark Continent through the countries north-west of Mombasa have not yet produced a permanent result, the southern route to the great Lakes from the coast opposite Zanzibar has become almost a beaten track for missionaries. The policy of plunging into the heart of the continent, rather than advancing step by step from station to station—the policy, that is, of the Uganda Mission—has been seriously doubted by some; but it may well be questioned whether, without the impulse that sent the first Nyanza expedition on its adventurous journey, even the nearest intermediate post would now have been occupied. Missions near the coast would have absorbed the strength of the missionaries, and advance would have seemed as perilous in 1882 as it did in 1876. But now, the stations in Usagara and Unyamuezi, started in the first instance as little more than intermediate resting-places for parties going on to the Lake, are fast becoming important centres of evangelistic work and Christian influence on the surrounding tribes. Krapf's grand conception of a chain of stations is nearer fulfilment than ever before; and the Committee rejoice in the tokens vouchsafed to them that in the conduct of their great and difficult enterprise they have been guided by a wisdom not their own, to steps the full bearing of which they could not at the time discern.

The policy of the Nyanza Mission.

Krapf's "chain of stations" scheme being fulfilled.

USAGARA MISSION: MPWAPWA AND MAMBOIA.

It is a matter of thankfulness, amid all the vicissitudes which inevitably mark the history of any work in Africa, that the names of the four missionaries in the Usagara country have remained unchanged in four successive Annual Reports. Dr. Baxter, the Rev. J. C. Price, Mr. H. Cole, and Mr. J. T. Last are still, by God's mercy, at their posts, the first three at MPWAPWA, and the fourth at MAMBOIA. But an important addition has been made to the effective strength of the little band by the presence of the wives of two of them. Mrs. Last's arrival was mentioned last year; and Mrs. Cole is now at Mpwapwa. Both ladies have so far enjoyed excellent health, and are already gaining a happy influence over their African sisters. "Mrs. Last," writes one of the other missionaries, "seems to be greatly beloved by the Natives, and it is wonderful the amount of visiting which she does amongst the people of those hilly districts." Other interesting features of the Mpwapwa Mission are Dr. Baxter's medical labours and Mr. Cole's farming operations, both which are patiently prosecuted, though in both cases it is up-hill work, the former on account of the popular preference for charms in case of sickness, and the latter on account of the uncertainty of the seasons.* The direct missionary work is necessarily at present of the simplest kind. Mr. J. C. Price thus describes it:—

My work amongst the Wagogo and Wasagara Natives of Mpwapwa has hitherto been only of the simplest character, viz. going about amongst the various scattered tembès (or as some have improperly called them, villages), and talking to the little knots of people which may be found sitting about gossiping, or making their hoes and other implements. My knowledge of their language is still too imperfect to enable me to say all I would, yet I think they are beginning to see that what we have come to tell them is really "good news," and that they have hitherto been living in the dark. That great, glorious fact which was the centre of the apostles' teaching—the Resurrection, I find always secures their attention, if nothing else will. It is just the kind of thing to interest these wonder-loving people, with their ideas of magic, witchcraft, and rain-making. To be told that a man was put to death by wicked men and then rose again, and ascended visibly into heaven, and will come again and raise them all in like manner, is so altogether new to them that their ears are at once secured, and they often repeat what I have told them to each other, as though they have really heard something new. It seems to me that we must begin with them in this way, the other blessed truths will then follow in their place. They can scarcely be said to have any idea of one great Maker and Possessor of all things. He is to them indeed an unknown God. One must expect to find it far more difficult to teach them the Gospel than a little child; for whilst both have not the knowledge of divine things, the mind of the one is already firmly held by superstitious prejudices.

The Gospel of the Resurrection in Usagara.

Ignorance an obstacle;

Less time than one could wish has been given to work amongst the Natives of the place, owing to our having the slave refugees and others (coast people) connected with the Mission. Although such a collection of representatives of so many tribes, most of them know more or less of Kiswahili, and in this language we convey our instruction. This consists of two services on Sundays, when I use Bishop Steere's translation of the Prayer-book and Scriptures, and give them a simple address, generally on the Gospel for the day, in the morning, and in the afternoon questioning them on it or other subjects. Of course most of them are very dull; but I have often been led to hope that others remember and think a little about what they have heard, and have sometimes fancied that two or three really wish to follow the Lord Jesus, and then afterwards have had to undergo the disappointment, which all missionaries share in, of finding them prefer their old sinful ways after all. They are such complete slaves to a worse master than the Arabs; fornication, adultery, stealing, and lying are the chains with which he securely binds them, and nothing but the grace of God can set them free.

From Mamboia, Mr. Last has made a journey of 250 miles into the Nguru country, a region never before visited by the white man, where he was received with the utmost friendliness. His narrative and sketch-map of the district have been published by the Royal Geographical Society,* and the map is regarded by them as one of the most important received from Africa for some time. Of his work at Mamboia itself no detailed report is to hand, but the following very gratifying letter from Bishop Steere, of the Universities' Mission at Zanzibar, only confirms what the Committee have heard from other sources :—

Testimony of Bishop Steere.

Death of a Native Christian soldier.

MY DEAR SIR,—It gives us always great pleasure to be able to help our brothers and sisters in the great Mission work. Mr. Last I hear of in various ways, as singularly active and successful, and we have seen here a great many good results of your Mission at Mombas and of Mr. Price's work at Nasick. A man died here a few weeks since of small-pox, which is very prevalent this year, who was a good example of Christian character to his countrymen and comrades. His name was Kalinganisa, a Nyassa, a released slave, who had been at Mombas. He was in the Sultan's army, and one of the best and steadiest of the soldiers. Mr. Matthews, their commander, told me that he would sooner have lost fifty men than have lost him. When on detachment duty at Mamboya, near Mr. Last's station, he used to march a party of his comrades over every Sunday to the Mission, and they all cherished the liveliest feelings of attachment and gratitude to Mr. Last, and to "their mother," Mrs. Last. Here Kalinganisa's house was the centre of our Mr. Jones-Bateman's cottage lectures and Mission work. He was on the way to baptism, and his wife had been formally admitted a catechumen, when he died suddenly, after having seemingly passed the crisis of his disease. We buried him with prayer, and sang his favourite hymn in Swahili, "Jesu, meek and gentle," over the grave, with his comrades in the army and a large party of his countrymen and women from the town. The widow is coming to live close by us under the shadow of our slave-market church. It is seldom that we find so firm and well settled a character among our unstable hearers.

May God be with you.

Yours ever,
EDWARD STEERE,
Missionary Bishop.

The Committee must take this opportunity of expressing gratitude to Bishop Steere for the very great kindness he has continually shown to the Society's missionaries while they have been sojourning in Zanzibar.

UNYAMUEZI MISSION: UYUI.

In the early part of last year, Mr. Copplestone, the zealous lay missionary at Uyui, was actively working at the language, and winning his way among the Wanyamuezi. In July his health gave way, and he came down to Mpwapwa and Zanzibar for a change; Mr. Stokes, who had returned from Uganda after conducting the envoys thither, remaining in charge meanwhile. In February, Mr. Copplestone was back at his post, much invigorated by his journeys. He was received with every manifestation of regard by the people; also by the chief, "Hundred Spades," though the cupidity of the latter's nature soon again showed itself. He begs that friends at home will have patience, and wait God's time, and he doubts not that the Spirit will presently be moving in even such earth-bound hearts as those around him.

Uyui: an appeal for patience.

In May last year Mr. Copplestone visited the famous chieftain Mirambo, at whose town, Urambo, Dr. Southon of the L.M.S. is stationed. He is the first C.M.S. missionary to have seen this remarkable African potentate. Mirambo showed him every courtesy, and promised an easy route to the Victoria Nyanza through his country, which would avoid the inhospitality of Usukuma.*

UGANDA MISSION: RUBAGA.

Although the latest news from Uganda is in many ways very favourable, the Mission still causes the Committee anxiety. Uncertainty must necessarily attach to any relations with King Mtesa; but the Committee feel that the bare fact of the continued occupation of Rubaga in the name of the Lord is a cause for thanksgiving; and so many tokens for good have been granted, even in the midst of trial and perplexity, that they can with the more sure confidence commit the whole enterprise to His care who worketh all things according to the counsel of His own will.

Uncertain position in Uganda.

The last Annual Report left Mr. Mackay and Mr. Pearson in Uganda, in December, 1880; and Mr. O'Flaherty, Mr. Litchfield, and Mr. Stokes, with the Waganda envoys, at the south end of the Lake, waiting to cross, in January, 1881. The next mail received brought full accounts of the long months in 1880, when Mr. Pearson was alone at Rubaga, and of the period subsequent to Mr. Mackay rejoining him. It was a time of much trial. The influence of the Arab traders was dominant at court; and the atrocious charges brought by them against Mr. Mackay—as that he was an escaped murderer from England, and was plotting to murder the king, &c.—added not a little to the difficulty of the position. The wickedness of every kind by which the missionaries were surrounded caused them constant sorrow of heart, and but few opportunities were permitted them of proclaiming God's messages of wrath against sin and of mercy for the repenting sinner. But they made faithful use of such as they had; and some of the people did resort to them for instruction. Two lads, in particular, gave evidence of a work of grace in their hearts; and in consequence of publicly avowing their belief that "the religion of Jesus was the only true one, all others being lies," they were arrested and removed to an island on the Lake, where they patiently endured further punishment.

The following references to these two lads, and to other inquirers, appear in Mr. Pearson's journal * :—

Inquirers in Uganda.

Aug. 6*th*, 1880.—Two of Mkwenda's boys, Duta and Mukasa, came. They were taught to read by Mr. Litchfield, and after his departure they came to me to continue reading. They brought a kipande [wooden board used for writing on], and I wrote them out the Creed and Lord's Prayer in Kisuahili, explaining both to them. I wrote out a short prayer in Luganda for them to use every day: "O Father, give me Thy Holy Spirit, for Jesus Christ's sake." May the prayer be offered up sincerely, and be heard and answered!

7*th*.—Mwanakulya came and begged me to have prayers with him; so Mufta, he, and I went into my bedroom. I chose 1 Kings xviii. for our chapter, as most likely to influence Mwanakulya's wavering character. We read in Kisuahili, which he understands. We then had prayer. I wish I could have a better opinion of this chief's honesty of purpose.

8*th*.—I gave Mukasa and Duta a Scripture lesson, my own boys listening. I have great hopes of these two youths. I find myself more able to explain the Book to them. May God open my lips more freely!

25*th*.—My people are getting well on with reading. I have now daily prayers in Luganda. May my efforts to lead these lost sheep to Christ be blessed by God! Had several applications for Arabic Bibles. Supplied all who came.

Oct. 24*th*.—Mkwenda and his protégé, Duta, came, and we had service in Luganda, and a Scripture lesson. Mkwenda does not care about its being known that he comes to prayers. It is as well that the tender plant be nursed first. When I feel assured that he believes in Jesus, I shall urge him to confess Him boldly.

Persecution of inquirers.

Nov. 7*th*.—On Thursday I heard that Majassi, captain of the palace guard, had made an accusation to the king against Mukasa, the keeper of our late church (now mosque); the occasion being that he had refused to clean some guns. However, I heard on Saturday that the real reason was that he had refused to go to the Mohammedan prayers when the chiefs went, and that he had said the religion of Jesus, which the white man taught, was the only true one, all others being lies. He was taken before Mtesa, who said such chejo [pride or obstinacy] must be put down; so Mukasa was led off, and is now in the stocks. This is the first case of open persecution against an Mganda.

8th.—News came early that my two pupils, Duta and Mukasa, had been seized, and sent off bound to the country. Alas! now I have no scholars. The interdict is still upon our teaching, and no one comes since Duta and Mukasa were taken off. Lord, clear the way. Give me an open door. Do Thou indeed enable us to light Thy candle in Uganda which shall never be put out.

28th.—I hear that my two scholars, Duta and Mukasa, are confined on an island in Lake Wamara, Mittiana, Mkwenda's country. Well, no one can take from them what they already know about the one true God and His glorious salvation through Jesus Christ. I pray that they may teach others even there. Some say that the king ordered their imprisonment, others that it was at the instance of Mkwenda. From the diversity of reports, even from the different reasons Mkwenda has himself given, and from my knowledge of the lads, I cannot believe but that it was solely on account of their professing Christianity. Of Duta I am sure that the Holy Spirit had touched his heart.

First-fruits of Uganda: "Henry Wright Duta."

The two lads were subsequently released, and Duta accompanied Mr. Pearson and Mr. Litchfield to the coast, rejoicing their hearts on the journey by the blamelessness and consistency of his behaviour; and on Easter Monday last he was baptized at Zanzibar by one of Bishop Steere's clergy, Mr. Stokes standing sponsor, and giving him the name of Henry Wright —the most appropriate of all names for the first-fruits of Uganda unto Christ. Thus a seal of future success has been already vouchsafed to the Mission by a prayer-hearing God. Four younger boys brought away by Mr. Pearson were sent to Frere Town, and three of them have been baptized (as infants) by the Rev. W. S. Price.

Return of Mtesa's envoys.

On March 18th, 1881, Mr O'Flaherty reached Rubaga, with Mtesa's envoys. As usual with fresh arrivals, he was received with much empressement by the king, who was pleased to approve the present sent by Her Majesty and Colonel Grant, "although he would have preferred guns and powder." The envoys seem to have faithfully reported to their master the greatness of England, assuring him that in comparison he had "no country at all." * How far their statements may have influenced his mind is not clear; but, as will be seen presently, the English Mission has from that time been fairly well treated.

Mr. Stokes, having conducted the envoys safely to their own land, at once returned to the south end of the Lake, and was accompanied by Mr. Pearson. They found Mr. Litchfield, who had been left at Kagei, lying very ill there, and Mr. Stokes took him on with him to Uyui, Mr. Pearson remaining at Kagei, where the beginnings of a regular station had been made. His health, however, also quickly failed, and he was obliged to leave; and, to save their lives, both he and Mr. Litchfield were obliged to come down to the coast, and ultimately to return to England. The Committee received them with much concern on account of their very weak state of health, but trust that by God's mercy they may soon be restored. Their personal statements fully confirm the general views of the Committee regarding the Uganda Mission. They consider its relations with the king very uncertain, notwithstanding his intervals of favour and apparent interest in Christianity; while they regard the people generally, sunk though they be in idleness and vice, as friendly and teachable, and quite open to patient missionary effort.

Improved prospects in Uganda.

Mr. O'Flaherty and Mr. Mackay have thus remained the only missionaries of the Society in Uganda. The detailed accounts received of the nine months from the former's arrival in March to the latest date, Christmas Day last, are decidedly encouraging.* Notwithstanding the bitter and strenuous antagonism of the Arabs, the favour of the king has been retained: grants of land have been made to the Mission, several acres of which are under cultivation, and the produce helps to feed the two brethren and their dependents; Waganda boys have been not only permitted but ordered to come to Mr. Mackay to be taught to labour with their hands; and liberty of teaching has been restored. For a time, Mtesa seems to have resumed the rendering of certain external honours to the Lord's Day (flying a flag, &c.), as a kind of partial profession of Christianity; but apparently this has not lasted, and in any case it was worth little. In a Mission so situated as that in Uganda, successful secular work is of real importance, and some passages from a letter of Mr. Mackay's, dated June 24th, 1881, will be read with much interest:—

Work in Uganda:

We are endeavouring to introduce some simple measures for helping to lift up both king and people from their present critical state. Were they even all to become Christians, they would either be idle Christians or fighting Christians; and either would be a worse latter state than their present. Hence, part of the instruction we give them is to show them how to use their eyes and heads and hands in peaceful arts which will give occupation to the idle, distract attention from warlike raids, and raise the standing of the country.

With Native labour alone, and Native material alone, we are building ourselves a respectable house of simple, but, to their eyes, marvellous design, and we know full well that the king and every chief in the land will very soon set about building for themselves after our pattern. That will give employment to many, and in itself raise the standard of excellence, and the standing of the owners, besides conducing to health and cleanliness. building;

We have been successful, moreover, in finding excellent clay within our own plantation, and are at present experimenting with it in the way of brickmaking and plaster, and I have no doubt but that such a simple art as that of making, burning, and building in brick will, when once introduced, effect a great revolution in the country. brick-making;

The present universally used style of thatched huts of reeds, with no walls, and the roofs ending in the earth like bee-hives, is conducive to neither comfort nor health. The end of the thatch ever rotting in the soil, and the filthy state of the floor in the dark interior, have produced a plague, closely akin to, if not quite identical with the "black-death" which swept over Europe in 1665. We have made representations to the king on this matter, with a view to relieving the sufferers and, by improved hygienic measures, to check the spread of the awful pestilence. Already the effect is marked. The filthy streets and lanes have been cleaned, attention is being paid to the vile floors of the huts, and burial of the dead is ordered instead of throwing the bodies into the pestilential swamps as heretofore. sanitary reform;

His Majesty has been kind to us also in various ways, besides supplying the men and timber for our house-building, having ordered every great chief to supply a quota of men to fence in all our ground securely. Only recently he gave us an increase to our plantation fully as large as our original piece of ground; while yesterday he also conceded a large plot on the opposite side of the road, where our servants may build, and plant little gardens, thus giving more room for our own cultivation.

Within the last month we have sunk a well in the slope within our land, and have found a copious supply of pure water. That we should find water there is a great marvel to the Natives, who never thought of looking for water except in a swamp. Our excavation of a deep shaft and raising the sand by bucket and rope passing over a pulley, was a constant object of wonder. But the climax came when we fixed in a copper hand-pump, and they saw the water rise some twenty feet, and fill their water jars almost instantaneously. "Wonderful, wonderful," they say, "the Bazungu are more clever than the lubare: they know everything: the Arabs and Wangwana know nothing at at all: why don't they draw water out of a hole in the swamp like ourselves?" Hundreds every day examine the wonder, and the story of it has spread far and wide. They rush to have a drink of the marvellous water that rises so of itself, and many are the strange utterances over this simple suction-pump. Some call it the lubare, and some say it is the work of God. "God creates, and the Bazungu create," they say; "for is not that a wonderful creation? These Bazungu must know God!" We generally improve such an occasion by telling them that God created the water, and gave man cleverness to make use of it: so man only made the pump. a well sunk: astonishment of the Waganda.

Some results are already manifest of the spiritual teaching given, as the following extracts from Mr. Mackay's journal will show:—

Spiritual work.

Sept. 1*st*, 1881.—My pupils continue to come every afternoon, and we get through a page or two of St. Matthew each day. May the Lord, whose words these are, carry them home to the hearts of these lads. The oldest is named Mulamba. He is a mutongole of Mkwenda. Litchfield taught him to read, and gave him a considerable amount of instruction. The Roman Catholics got hold of him afterwards. I do not know whether or not he continues to read with them, but he seems anxious to understand the word of God, and is quiet, and, so far as I know, lives up to his light.

Readers of God's Word.

Then there are three good readers in the same class with Mulamba. One is Mukasa the "Long," and another Mukasa the "Red," and another is called Kagwa. Who taught these to read I don't know. I believe they picked up the art from other lads whom we taught in person. They were certainly not taught by either us or the Frenchmen. They are quiet and respectful in their treatment of the sacred words, and I earnestly pray that they may come to a knowledge of the truth. Each is about eighteen or twenty years old.

With these comes Magali, an older fellow, and friend of Mulamba. A month ago he began with the alphabet, and now has read through all the reading sheets I have to give him. If Kiswaheli were his own language, he could read a book now easily. He is quiet and industrious.

Mr. O'Flaherty frequently visits the Katikiro and Kyambalango when he goes to Nabulagala, and helps them to read. Kyambalango (alias Kyimbugwe) is a great chief, and the king's favourite, being a great toady. For many months in 1879 he read with me. From letters I took him through Chambers' twelve reading sheets, then we read all Steere's "Scripture Reading Lessons," and the First Book of Kings in Kiswaheli. He has forgotten most of what he learned.

The Katikiro I used to help frequently with his letters, and read with him a good part of the Swaheli Scripture history. I found him much quicker than Kyambalango.

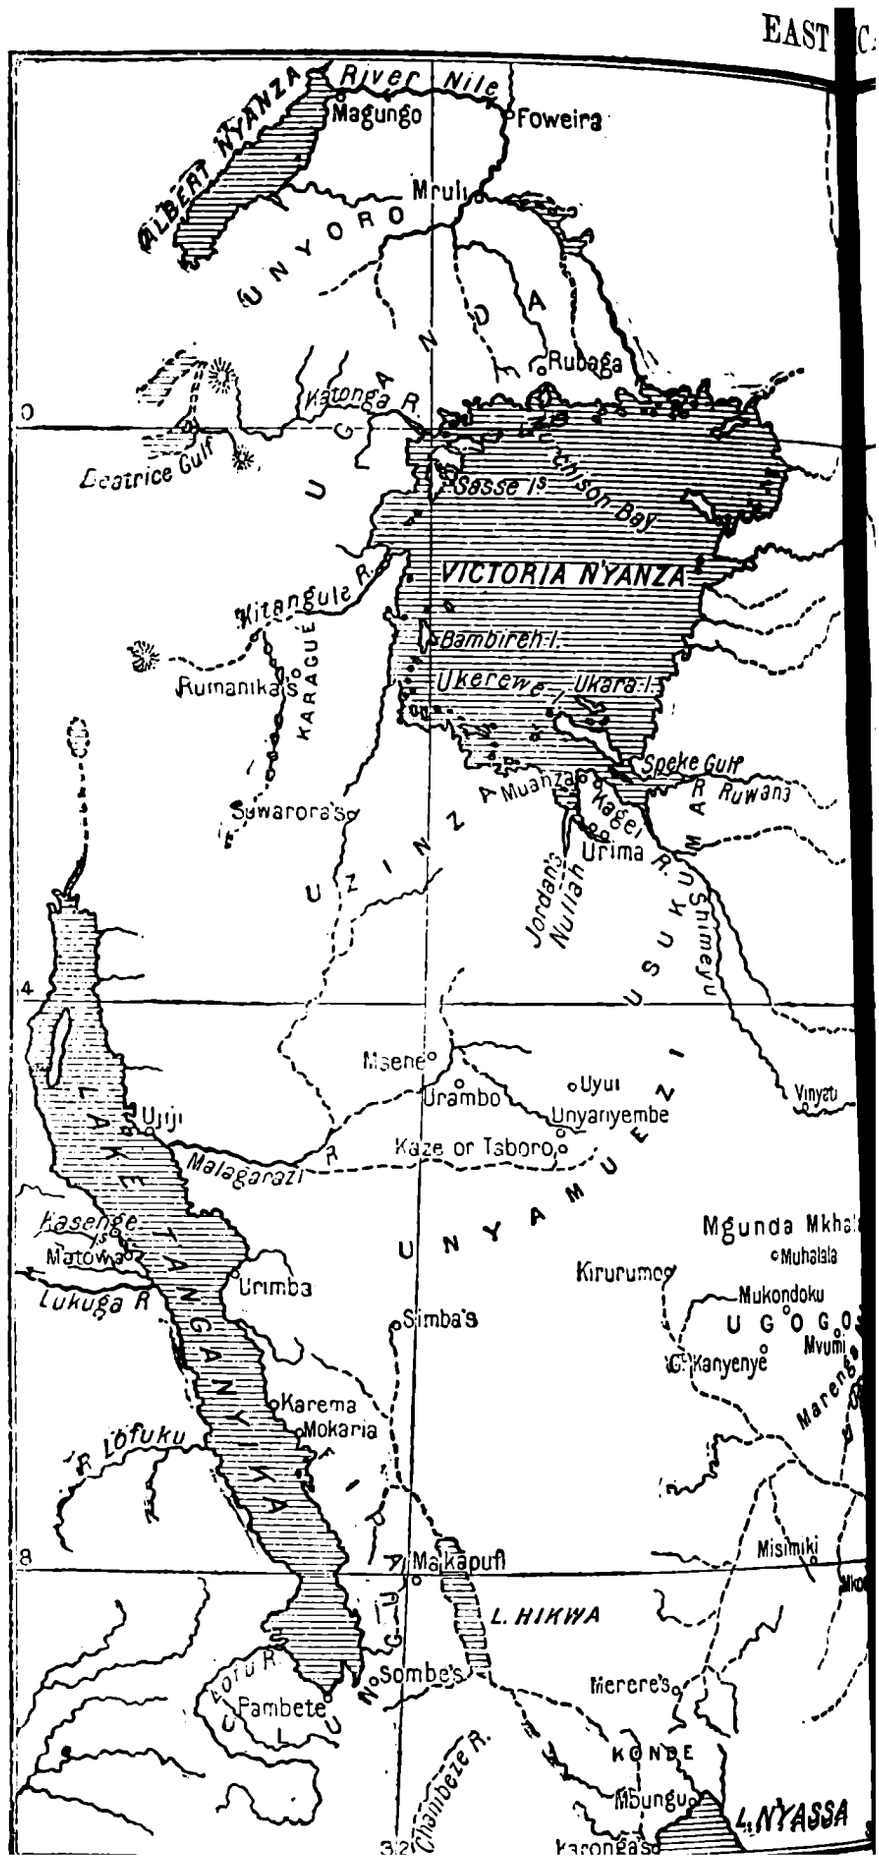

Mukasa, the keeper of the "church," now seldom comes, except on an occasional visit. I believe that lad has a fair knowledge of saving truth. How far he has it in his heart, I cannot tell.

Many others, high and low, rich and poor, some old and some young, have been taught to read here by my brethren or myself. They come and go, but most learn to read fairly before they leave, and all learn something of revealed truth. They teach others too, and thus the stone is rolling. May the grace of God guide it in the right direction.

A request for baptism.

8*th October*, 1881.—My old faithful pupil and assistant, Sembera Kumonbo, has turned up again several times. His master lives very far off, hence he has difficulty in coming often. To-day he brought me a note written by himself, and very legibly, although he has never had a lesson in writing. Written in Ruganda, with a pointed piece of speargrass and some ink of dubious manufacture (made of pot soot and plantain juice), it ran thus, "Bwana Mackay. Sembera has come with compliments and to give you great news. Will you baptize him, because he believes the words of Jesus Christ?"

This was an interesting case. Sembera was one of my very first pupils, and I taught him to read nearly three years ago, when I was three months here alone, before the Nile party arrived. He showed an anxiety to learn, and was most diligent. He is only a slave of Mumakulya, one of the first mutongoles, and has taught his master to read also. With me he read everything I had to put into his hands—one or two Gospels, the Acts, the Books of Kings, and many Psalms, besides one or two Epistles. His master allowed him to accompany me last year to Uyui, and he was of the greatest assistance to me in the work of the caravan, and enabling me to make a little more progress in knowledge of the language and customs of the country. Since my return he has been many months away with his master on a war expedition, which the latter had part command of.

He says he does not fear any danger of being caught and killed should he be baptized. Mr. O'Flaherty has had a long talk with him, and promises to baptize him by-and-by. To my knowledge his life is exemplary, and his understanding and reception of Christian truth very good for his limited opportunities. May the Lord Himself perfect the good work begun in his heart, and make him a chosen and true disciple.

My afternoon class continues as usual. We shall soon be through St. Matthew's Gospel. Sembera is busy with the Acts, and understands wonderfully well.

Reference may here be made to the outline grammar and vocabulary of the language of Uganda which has been prepared by the Rev. C. T. Wilson since his return to England, and printed by the S.P.C.K.; also to the work jointly produced by him and Mr. Felkin, entitled Uganda and the Egyptian Soudan. No other book gives so full and accurate an account of the country and people. It is not designed to relate the story of the Mission itself; but it is acknowleged to have considerable scientific value.

On a general review of the work in East and Central Africa, the Committee cannot but recall the noble words of Dr. Krapf, written when his own great scheme of a chain of stations across Africa failed for a time in 1851:—"The idea of a chain of Missions will yet be taken up. I bequeath it to every missionary coming to East Africa. Every one who is indifferent to life or death for his Master's honour will open this bequest and take his portion out of it. Our sanguine expectations and hopes of immediate success may be laid in the grave like Lazarus, yet they shall have a resurrection, and our eyes shall see the glory of God." It is in the spirit of these words that the Committee are sending out no less than six additional missionaries to reinforce the various stations, and they trust that both the clerical and lay members of the party may be found ready to take their portion of Krapf's solemn legacy.*

Krapf's bequest to missionaries in Africa.

* The following sailed on May 17th:—the Rev. James Hannington, M.A., of St. Mary Hall, Oxford, Minister of St. George's Chapel, Hurstpierpoint; the Rev. R. P. Ashe, B.A., of St. John's College, Cambridge; the Revs. W. J. Edmunds, J. Blackburn, and E. C. Gordon, from the C.M. College; and Mr. C. Wise, an artisan.

PALESTINE MISSION.

Jerusalem, 1851; Nazareth, 1852; Salt, 1873; Nablûs, 1876; Jaffa, 1876; Gaza, 1878.

FEW Reports have ever given the Committee more thankful satisfaction than that presented to them during the past year on the Palestine Mission by their friends Canon Tristram and the Rev. E. H. Bickersteth.* It is, indeed, too true that the rival Churches of the East, all naming the name of Christ, and all marked by a deplorable lack of the spirit of Christ, form one of the saddest spectacles in Christendom, and nowhere more so than in the land whence Christianity came. It might be easy to gather out of them scattered communities of nominal Protestants, little better than their neighbours. But the Society's Mission is to the Mohammedan and semi-Mohammedan population, in other words, to the Arabs and the fellahín; though when those who were seeking rest and finding none in the darkness of Greek and Latin ceremonialism have been attracted by the True Light shining in their midst, they have been gladly received—partly because in Palestine the planting of the Church of England is the very best means of promoting Scriptural reformation in the Oriental Churches themselves, but still more because if Christianity is to be commended to the Moslems it must be presented to them in a concrete form, and yet in a form that excludes the image and picture-worship which has for centuries repelled them from its fellowship. Now Canon Tristram adduces evidence of the Society's success in spreading a knowledge of the Truth as it is in Jesus among the Mohammedans to an extent not hitherto suspected even by the Committee themselves. "Our work in Palestine," he says, "is a real and vast one. I have visited thirty-five stations and out-stations, and I say without hesitation that the C.M.S. is saturating the villages with Gospel knowledge. We are reaching the Moslem youth of both sexes, and are doing a mighty work, 'not by might nor by power;' and the result, under God's blessing, must one day be vast." There can now be no hesitation in regarding the Holy Land as a noble field for the Society's best exertions. All accounts agree that never was there such an open door to the Mohammedan mind; and if the Mohammedan heart is still closed, the Lord can open it as He opened the heart of Lydia. The Jesuits are making strenuous efforts to reach them, and are even establishing a colony in the Land of Moab for the safe reception of their converts. The Church Missionary Society, with scantier means, but in reliance on Divine help, must not be behindhand.

Work among Moslems in Palestine.

It is particularly by means of schools that the effort is made to set the Gospel before the followers of Islam; and a large proportion of the 1500 boys and girls in the Society's schools in the Holy Land are the children of Mussulmans. This is especially the case at Gaza, Lydda, Ramleh, Salt, and several of the villages. At Abûd, twelve Moslem boys come from distant villages and spend the whole week in the place, in order to attend regularly. The last annual examination of the boys' school at Salt was attended by the Pasha of Nablûs and his suite, the Turkish officials of the town and district, and the local heads of the Greek and Latin Churches; and the Pasha delivered a short address. But it is not the young only who are reached. The Annual Letters lately received from the missionaries and Native clergy relate many interesting conversations with adult Mohammedans, including leading sheikhs and ulemas of high rank. One Imâm said, "Please, sir, procure for me a copy of the Holy Bible. I like very much to read in it, and I can't find any here." At Jaffa and Gaza there are Bible-classes for Moslem women, and at the former place the wives of the Turkish officials attend them. The Bedawin of Gilead and Moab are visited by a zealous Native agent, and manifest eager interest in the Gospel message.

Among other important agencies in the Mission may be mentioned the Preparandi Institution and Diocesan Boarding-school at Jerusalem, under Mr. Zeller's able management; the Printing-Press, also worked by Mr. Zeller, which now sends forth a large number of Christian books and tracts in Arabic every year; the book depôts at Jerusalem, Nablûs, &c.; and the Medical Mission at Gaza, which has been started by Mr. Schapira, and which is now to be provided with an English doctor and evangelist through the liberality of the Rev. John Venn, of Hereford, and the Medical Missionary Association of London.

Death of Bishop Barclay.

The Committee received with deep regret the intelligence of the death of Bishop Barclay, who, during his short episcopate, had endeared himself to men of all classes and creeds; and they trust that the Emperor of Germany, to whom the appointment now falls, may be led to select a clergyman not less peculiarly qualified for the post.

Two events of the past year should also be noticed, which, though not directly connected with Palestine, belong to the history of the Society's Mediterranean Mission. One is the death of the veteran missionary the Rev. J. T. Wolters, and his wife, who had laboured forty years at Smyrna, and who entered into rest within three days of each other. The other is the baptism of Ahmed Tewfik Effendi, the distinguished ulema of Constantinople mentioned in last year's Report. The Committee thank God for the grace given to enable him to forsake all and follow Christ, and pray that a suitable field for the employment of his great learning and influence for the advancement of the Kingdom of God may soon be providentially indicated. At present he is engaged in theological literary work in London.

Baptism of Ahmed Tewfik.

JERUSALEM.

The Rev. John Zeller and the Rev. T. F. Wolters have continued their labours in and around the holy city. The Rev. M. Kawar is pastor of the Native congregation. Mr. G. Nyland works zealously at the most important out-station, Ramallah.

The Native congregations at Jerusalem and the out-stations comprise 459 baptized Christians, of whom sixty-seven are communicants. Mr. Zeller reports, "Their spiritual state is decidedly improving. This appears from the regular attendance at church and at our weekly prayer-meetings, and from a spirit of charity among the members." *

The Preparandi Institution is under Mr. Zeller's charge. There are again eleven students. The Native tutor, Ibrahim Baz, is highly spoken of. Canon Tristram says, "I was thoroughly pleased with Mr. Baz's teaching and its results."

Preparandi class at Jerusalem.

The Diocesan School founded by Bishop Gobat also owes much to Mr. Zeller's care. There are sixty boarders; and Canon Tristram points out that it is the only higher Protestant school in Palestine, and practically the junior training institution for the Mission. It is mainly supported by funds raised by Mr. Zeller personally, of which there came last year 84*l.* from England, 16*l.* from America, and 466*l.* from Germany and Switzerland.

Mr. Zeller further superintends the Printing-Press, which is doing an important work. He sends the following list of books and tracts published in Arabic last year:—

(Since this list was made, the following have been added :—Sermons on Charity, by the Rev. Chalil Jamal; Baxter's Saints' Rest, translated by the Rev. Seraphim Boutaji; the late Rev. H. Wright's tract on Secret Prayer, translated by Abdallah; and two or three other tracts.)

The out-stations, together with the evangelistic and pastoral work in Jerusalem, have been under the supervision of Mr. Wolters since a new division of labour was arranged in the autumn. Those to the north, in the highlands of Benjamin, are grouped around Ramallah, where Mr. Nyland is stationed, and of which Canon Tristram writes, "A hearty and vigorous Mission. Forty-two families are in membership. The average congregation is over 100. Thirty-five girls were present in the bright, vigorous school." He also describes—

A most interesting gathering—a Bible reading and general gathering in the large girls' school, at 9 p.m.—to meet Mr. Zeller and to hear his exhortation. The subject was 1 Thess. iii., and admirably Mr. Zeller seemed to adapt it. The Greek priest of the village also attended, took his Testament, and studied with the others. Over fifty adult men were there, though notice had only been given that afternoon that we should stay the night; no women or children were there. The men were grouped on the ground round the walls, and many questions were asked both by members and by Greeks. The schoolmaster and Mr. Nyland also spoke, and both of them led in prayer.

A Greek priest at a Bible-reading.

There are schools also at Jifna (the ancient Gophna), Bir es Zeit, and Taiyibeh (Ephraim, John xi. 54); and other villages are asking for them. Of Bir es Zeit Mr. Nyland sends a report calling for much thankfulness :—

With regard to Beerzeit, where, as I have hitherto reported, hatred and strife and murders always prevailed, I am now able to say that the Lord has done great things during the past year. After much painstaking and prayer, the Lord has at length fulfilled our wishes. A general reconciliation has taken place, and now the people live together in peace. I will not say that this has been done through me, but this I can say, that if the Gospel had not been brought to them, the old state of things might have existed for a long time to come.

Our school drew the children to us, and through them we reached the parents. The Bible-classes also, which are held as often as possible, and which are attended even by Greeks and Latins, and even by the Greek priest, have been the means of showing the people that we desire their spiritual welfare. In short the God of peace has caused the re-establishment of peace. To Him belongs the glory; and I hope that there are some of the people of Beerzeit who will be found to be to the glory of our Blessed Redeemer. Our two teachers are exerting themselves to improve the school; they live in peace with each other, and with all around them; also with the Mohammedans, several of whom send their children to them for instruction.

Both in Jerusalem and at the out-stations there are frequent opportunities of preaching Christ to the Mohammedans. It is, however, not desirable to print more than has been said in the introductory paragraphs.*

JAFFA.

"The circumstances of Jaffa," says Canon Tristram, "are quite exceptional in Palestine. As the port of entry for Jerusalem, there is a large and increasing mixed population, and probably there are few places where direct missionary work among the Moslems is more difficult and less encouraging." The Rev. J. R. Longley Hall has now been the C.M.S. missionary at Jaffa for nearly six years. He reports as follows:†—

In the town of Jaffa the work is becoming almost daily more important. Our services and meetings are attended much more regularly than before, and those who come are very attentive, join heartily in the responses, and listen eagerly to the Word read and preached. Our school also has been well attended, and the half-yearly examinations have shown very good progress made, especially in Scripture knowledge.

Female Bible Classes at Jaffa.

Mrs. Hall has two Bible-classes for women every week, which are amongst the most important branches of our work. One of these meetings, which is intended for the higher, cleaner, and more respectable class of women, is attended sometimes by the wives and families of Moslem Turkish officials here in Jaffa, and many poorer Moslem women come to the other class.

With regard to the spiritual condition of my district. It is with much gratitude to God that I am able to look back and feel that things are not as they were, that we have made progress, that there is far more inquiry after the truth amongst the congregations, and far more consistency of life amongst the genuine Christians than there was a few years ago. In all this I feel that there is the loudest call to praise God and take courage. But still things are very, very far indeed from being what one would like to see them. The prevailing immorality and licentiousness of the people of the country, the utter disregard of truth, the total ignorance of all (outside our own congregations) of the necessity or possibility of such a thing as spiritual religion, or that God requires more than a mere formal, outward worship; these things, which are so difficult for strangers to conceive or realize, cause us oftentimes to weep and sigh when we think of the tremendous efforts made, the amount of labour and money expended, and the hardships endured, and yet the results so small. Truly, the work is to be done, "not by might nor by power, but by My Spirit."

Schools for Mohammedans in the Plain of Sharon.

Concerning the out-stations, Lydd, Ramleh, and Abûd, Canon Tristram says, "I am convinced that these schools in the Plain of Sharon are doing a real and important missionary work." Mr. Hall reports that at Lydd the Native agent, Mualim Hanna, who was trained in the Diocesan School and Preparandi Institution at Jerusalem, is very energetic, and the attendance both at the Sunday services and at the schools is large. Sixty Mohammedan children are under instruction. At Ramleh, too, the schools prosper, but the small congregation is not satisfactory. Of Abûd Mr. Hall writes:—

> The work in Abûd is rapidly extending its influence far beyond Abûd itself. Already twelve Moslem boys come from distant villages, and spend the whole week in Abûd, in order that they may attend the school. Here, as in other places, God has been very gracious to me in sending me really suitable agents. Mualim Ibrahim Harb is a truly earnest Christian man, and his character is so upright, and his life so consistent, that he has won the respect and esteem of both Christians and Moslems. His wife also is a good teacher. Two months ago there was a terrible fight in Abûd between the Christians and the Moslems, but Mualim Ibrahim was able to persuade about sixty men to have nothing to do with the quarrel, and although our school-house stands on the borders of the Moslem quarter, it was not touched, nor were any of our congregation attacked, nor their property in the smallest degree injured. I have visited, distributed tracts and portions of Scripture, and preached during the year in a large number of villages in my district, and in every one I have been received well, and in the great majority I have been welcomed heartily.

Haifa, at the foot of Mount Carmel, is also superintended by Mr. Hall from Jaffa. There is a small congregation, of which the Rev. Seraphim Boutaji is pastor.

GAZA.

Canon Tristram's account of this Mission is of the most gratifying character. He says,— Promising work at Gaza.

> Gaza is one of the most important stations we possess, and here we have more direct aggressive work against Mohammedanism than anywhere else in Palestine. I spent four days at Gaza, including Sunday. Both Mr. and Mrs. Schapira are devoted missionaries, with the true spirit of self-sacrifice, and are labouring most cheerfully and unwearyedly in this the most lonely and isolated station in the country, without any human sympathy and help. They never see a European, and, with the exception of a telegraph clerk, are the only Protestant Europeans in this population of 12,000 souls. It is marvellous how, in a short time, they have won the confidence and respect of the most fanatical Moslem population in Palestine, where formerly a Christian could scarcely show himself in Frank dress.

There are four schools—Moslem boys, Moslem girls, Christian boys, and Christian girls—in different parts of the town. The mistresses (sisters) are trained from Beyrout, and are excellent teachers and pious young women. Nothing could exceed the readiness and quickness of the Moslem girls in their Scripture answers. The Moslem boys' master is an able young man. Owing to the fanatical feeling of the place, it is impossible to educate Moslems and Christians together, as the boys of one religion dare not go into the quarter of the others. The Greeks have seven boys in their school, and no girls' school. The Latins have set up rival schools, but have three boys and five girls only; yet there are three priests and a master planted here. One of them, being remonstrated with by Mr. Schapira on only coming where we had been working, replied, "Our object is not to convert the Moslems, but to thwart your heresy." The Greeks do not show a bitter feeling, and the Greek archdeacon called on me, and spoke in a kindly tone of our work, though he said it emptied his school. The Sunday services are hearty, and both Greeks and Moslems attend and listen. There is morning service, and a catechetical lecture in the afternoon. Of course the children make up the bulk of the congregation as yet, but it is a wonderful step to have induced the attendance of the Moslems.

Romish opposition at Gaza.

The great lever of Mr. Schapira's success is the dispensary. It is the only medical appliance in Gaza, and relieves untold suffering. Mr. Schapira has also established, in an adjoining room, a reading-room (!) with books and papers, which is frequented by Moslems, who are at liberty to take away a tract. This gives him many opportunities, as I saw, of religious conversation with inquirers.

The Turkish Governor of Gaza, who has proved himself a warm friend of our schools, asked me to call on him, and we had a long conversation on the Mission. He spoke in the highest terms of the dispensary, and of Mr. Schapira's influence over the inhabitants.

Thanks from a Turkish governor.

Mr. Schapira, writing in December last, says, "Our work goes on steadily and progressively. The Moslem boys' school is well and regularly attended. The girls of the Moslem school increase every day. The dispensary is doing a blessed work, for the Word of God is read there every day to many Moslems, and it is also the means of bringing many to our Sunday morning Arabic service. My wife has started a sewing-class for Moslem women, and many of them meet at our house every Wednesday, when the word of life is read to them while they are working."

By the liberality of the Society's revered friend, the Rev. John Venn of Hereford, who gave 500*l.* for the purpose, and by the energy of the Medical Missionary Association, a fund has been raised for establishing a Medical Mission at Gaza, and the Committee have appointed to it Dr. George Chalmers, M.B. C.M. (Edin.), late of Monkwearmouth Dispensary, Sunderland. Gaza is emphatically a place for a Medical Mission, and the Committee earnestly pray that the Lord will be pleased to bless the effort and make it instrumental in saving souls.*

NABLOUS.

This station, of which the Rev. C. Fallscheer is the missionary in charge, must also be described in Canon Tristram's words: † —

Good work at Nablous.

This, in Mr. Fallscheer's hands, is one of the most remarkable and encouraging Missions in Palestine. The energy and devotion of our missionary are unwearied, and great has been the success with which God has blessed him. Nablous is, like Gaza, a stronghold of Moslem fanaticism, and here our Mission is, as at Gaza, a directly aggressive one on Mohammedanism. The new church has just been finished, and is a marvel of economy and comeliness combined. It stands on a good-sized plot of ground, bought by Bishop Gobat, and handed over by him to the C.M.S., in the most commanding and conspicuous position, just outside the west gate of the city. The church is an ecclesiastical-looking building, with an open portico reached by a flight of steps, over which a bell is being placed, presented by German friends of the Mission. It is capable of containing 200 people. Under it are an airy and spacious boys' school, a girls' school, and a smaller room for communicants' meetings. Two ancient cisterns have been discovered in the grounds, which have been repaired, and are of great value, supplying water for the whole year's consumption. And all this has been done for 1000*l.* Mr. Fallscheer has been his own clerk of the works, and to him all is owing.

Mr. Fallscheer has a Bible and book depôt, kept by an old man, a convert. Many Moslems, and especially Turkish officers, come in to read and inquire. I had a call in my tent from a captain, a Moslem of course, who is an inquirer through his visits to this depôt, and a diligent reader of his Bible. The congregation averages over 120 adults—men. At the girls' school, where we have two capital mistresses, in most miserable little rooms, which by this time are changed for the room under the church, there were forty-three present when I visited it, fourteen of them Moslems. The boys' school is equally good, and well taught. There were forty-two boys present when I examined, of whom eight were Moslems, and six Samaritans, the rest Greeks. There are many more, both boys and girls, on the books.

I paid three visits to Nablous, and cannot speak too warmly of every part of the work there.

Royal and episcopal visitors at Nablous.

The new church was opened on April 15th of the present year, the Bishop of Gibraltar and the Dean of Chester, who were travelling in Palestine, taking part in the service, and the Princes Albert and George of Wales being also present.

There are out-stations at Rafidieh, Zebabdeh, and Jiref el Jebil, with boys' schools. The whole number of Native Christian adherents is 215, of whom 89 are communicants.

NAZARETH.

The Rev. J. Huber continues in charge of this station and district, assisted by the Rev. Nasr Odeh. "Next to Jerusalem," says Canon Tristram, "Nazareth is, with its out-stations, our most important Mission. It is now passing through the trials of the stage of a second generation of Christians, the children of our early converts." The congregations number in the aggregate 380 souls, of whom eighty-seven are communicants. There are 435 children under instruction. The boys' school at Nazareth is particularly efficient. Mrs. Huber does excellent work among the women. The out-stations are Shefamer, Reimeh, Yafa, Medjedel, Kefr Kenna, and Acca. The first-named is a place of some importance, with a congregation for which a Native pastor is needed.

SALT.

The Rev. Chalil Jamal, the pastor of the Salt congregation, is highly spoken of both by Mr. Wolters of Jerusalem, under whose supervision he works, and by Canon Tristram. The following is from Mr. Jamal's Annual Letter:—

A Native pastor's prayer for his people.

We have on the register 54 families, viz., 154 males and 134 females; making 288 souls in all. The communicants are 40. Their conduct is on the whole orderly, and not a few of them walk circumspectly. They are very willing to learn. In order and discipline we are an example to others, and I heartily pray God to make us as such in our spiritual life and conversation too. Yes, there are many faults in us as a congregation, but my hearty prayer is, that we may be sprinkled with the precious blood of Jesus, the Lamb of God slain for us from the foundation of the world.

The two-night weekly Bible and prayer-meetings are regularly attended to; and the daily morning service, which is at seven in winter, and half-past five in summer, is also regularly attended. The Sunday morning services are most punctually attended at the appointed time. Our Sunday-school and evening services are also well attended. All these means of grace, which we seek to keep up as faithfully and earnestly as possible, are accompanied by much blessing, both temporal and spiritual, for which we are thankful.

A Turkish Pasha in a Mission School.

The examination was on 11th August. The Pasha of Nablous and his suite, the Kiam Makam and all the Turkish officials, and the principal men of the town of every denomination, and the spiritual heads of the Greek and Latin Churches, were all present. The examination lasted seven hours in all. The Pasha gave a short complimentary address.

Moslem Revival at Salt.

There is a great deal of awakening amongst the Moslems of this town as concerns prayer, and I wish from the bottom of my heart that the gates or threshold of the Christian churches here and elsewhere be thronged as is the threshold of the Moslem jami (place of worship) here in Salt.

Another evidence of the goodwill of the Turkish officials towards the Salt Mission is given by Canon Tristram. The governor of the town called upon him, and expressed his gratitude to the Society for doing so much for the people's good.

The Native evangelist who visits the Bedawin tribes, Mr. Behnam, has experienced from them the most friendly reception. "He rarely," writes Mr. Wolters, "had to ask permission to read a chapter or to speak. It was the Bedawin themselves who, having heard of him by report, asked him to address them on religious subjects." An evangelist among the Bedawin.

THE HAURAN.

The Rev. F. Bellamy was instructed by the Committee to take up his residence at Midan, the Druze suburb of Damascus, with a view to the development from that place as a base of the evangelistic and school work in the Hauran. He has not, however, been able to visit the villages where schools had been established, owing to the disturbed state of the country, which has been held by 9000 Turkish troops. The Committee trust that better openings will be found for the work ere long. Mr. Bellamy has resided mostly at Nazareth, where he has been able to assist Mr. Huber in many ways.

PERSIA MISSION.

THE claims of the Persia Mission also have received fresh recognition during the past year.* The visit of Mr. Bruce to this country has stirred up many hearts to pray, and many minds to plan, for more vigorous efforts to make Christ known in the kingdom of Cyrus and of Queen Esther; and the remarkable testimony borne by the enterprising traveller Colonel Stewart and others to the important results of the work, even as hitherto carried on, has satisfied the Committee that both Mr. Persia Mission: testimony of Colonel Stewart.

* A full account of Persia and the Persia Mission, by the Rev. R. Bruce, appeared in the C.M. Intelligencer, of November and December, 1881, and January and February, 1882.

Bruce and themselves have been divinely guided to plant the standard of the cross in a land where it is admitted that immediate large results cannot, humanly speaking, be looked for. With God all things are possible; and Persia is not so close shut as Japan was only a few years ago. The moral condition of Julfa, the Armenian suburb of Ispahan, in which the Society is located, has greatly improved in the last ten or twelve years, a result which Colonel Stewart attributes to the influence of the Mission; and the Persian Moslems, he says, do not now judge of Christianity by the Armenians and Romanists, but acknowledge the excellence of a religion which hitherto they could only despise.

Persian opinion of Christianity.

The Rev. E. F. Hoernle, M.B., who went out as a medical missionary two or three years ago, has been in charge of the whole Mission during Mr. Bruce's absence. He reports as follows:—

Our congregation numbers 53 communicants, besides about 100 other adherents, and children. Every Sunday morning we have a service conducted in Persian (with the exception of the hymns and Psalms, which are in Armenian). This service is our missionary service; it is meant as an opportunity we offer Persians to hear the Word, and almost every Sunday one or two are present; sometimes, but rarely, half-a-dozen; some of these, I should add, buy afterwards a copy of the New Testament or the Gospels. It is of importance to maintain this service, although our congregation consists of Armenians. For this is the only way we can publicly proclaim the Gospel in Persian, and is also a ready opportunity of getting into conversation with them. In the evening we have a Sunday-school, conducted in Armenian, which the whole congregation, old and young, attend.

Our Church Council consists of five members (besides the missionary, who is president ex-officio). They are elected by all the male members of the congregation who are above twenty years of age. They meet once a month to discuss and settle congregational affairs. In their hands is also the Church Fund, and its administration is their chief work, though I try to interest them in all the affairs of the congregation. The Church Fund is chiefly a Poor Fund, though part of it goes to an Endowment Fund for a Native pastor, and towards payment of a pupil-teacher in the girls' school.

The boys' school numbers ninety-eight boys, and the attendance is fairly regular. The S.P.C.K. have promised us a grant of books up to the value of 20*l.*

As to the girls' school, I examine the older girls in English and Scripture from time to time. The head-master has, at my request, begun to teach the older girls Persian, so that they may be better able to join in the Persian service; also the wife of one of the telegraph clerks here comes once a week to teach the older girls darning, cutting out, &c., which knowledge, I hope, will one day prove useful to them.

Orphanage and Industrial School.—In this department we have had a good deal of trouble this year. The industrial school is a weaving establishment. For some reason or other this trade seems not to be very popular with the boys, of whom some, no doubt, considered themselves destined for better things. This feeling, however, would, in all probability, have passed off, but that the enemy was watching outside (headed by his Grace the Bishop of Julfa!), and encouraged the boys to run away: thus we lost four boys during the last twelve months. It has done, however, no harm to the good name of our orphanage (or boarding school—thus called, as some boys pay for their board and education), and it is now fuller than ever.

The Medical Mission was meant to be my chief work; but hitherto, owing to lack of time, and especially want of funds, it has retired very much into the background. I am unable to have my dispensary open more than twice a week, when I see on an average twenty-five patients each time. Until we have a dispensary in town, the Medical Mission here does not get a fair trial. I cannot undertake it now for lack of time; but even on Mr. Bruce's return I shall not be able to do it for want of funds. The only contributor at present is Mr. Bruce.

Revision of the Persian New Testament.

Mr. Bruce brought home a revised translation of the New Testament, a translation of parts of the Prayer-book, and a Bible History, in Persian; and he is now preparing the New Testament for the press, in conjunction with Professor E. H. Palmer. The University of Dublin have conferred on him the degree of D.D., honoris causâ.

Plan to occupy Bagdad.

On hearing Colonel Stewart's testimony and Mr. Bruce's appeal, the Committee resolved, in full belief that they were following the leading of God's providence, to send out a third missionary for Persia, on the Extension Fund. It has since been determined to carry out this resolution by occupying Bagdad, which, though in the Turkish Empire, is a place of great importance for Persian work, both as a convenient base for the south-western districts of Persia, and as being in the immediate neighbourhood of the sacred places of the Shiah Mohammedans, and therefore the resort of thousands of pilgrims from all parts of Persia, and indeed of the East. The language, too, is not Turkish, but Arabic and Persian; so that Bagdad is linguistically as well as geographically a link between the Palestine and Persia Missions. It is an interesting circumstance that these plans for extension have been formed in the year of the centenary of the birth of Henry Martyn, who poured out his life for Persia, and who first essayed to give her the Word of God.

INDIA.

A REVIEW of the Church Missionary Society's work in India involves the collating of more than eight hundred official documents during the past year—Annual Letters and Reports, Minutes of Corresponding Committees and of Native Church Councils, Secretarial correspondence, &c. Last year, the information thus gathered together was presented, in the Society's briefer Report known as the "Abstract," in a classified form, according to the nature of the work; and this Indian section of the "Abstract" was printed in the larger Report as a "General Summary," introductory to the details given under the heads of the various stations. This year, the corresponding section of the "Abstract" is arranged in the usual geographical order, and does not provide a general review for insertion here. One or two special features of the year's work in India may be noticed, however, by way of introduction.

1. The signs of advance pointed out last year continue to be manifest. The Native Church organization movement gathers strength year by year. The various Church Councils show an independence and vigour in debate which, rightly guided, must exercise a powerful influence for good. In the south, the pressure of the rule by which the Society's grants-in-aid are annually diminished is somewhat severely felt by the Councils, which find it hard to make up the reduction while they are at the same time seeking to extend their work. In the north, this difficulty is not yet felt, because, the Councils being so much younger, the Society's grant still forms the bulk of the funds they have to administer. The Society's plans for maintaining an efficient Theological College or Class in each province have received further development; as also those for providing good Boarding-schools for Native Christian boys and girls. The Auxiliary Funds administered by the Society are increasingly useful, the important "William Charles Jones Fund" especially so; but not less so, relatively to their scope and power, the "Walter Jones Fund," the "Henry Venn Native Church Fund," the "Roxburgh Colportage Fund," and the "Frances Ridley Havergal Fund." Separate accounts of the work of these funds are appended to this Report. The Missions to the Non-Aryan tribes, if not showing any marked results during the year, are at least sufficiently encouraging to invite to further effort for their development; and much the same may be said of the Frontier Missions and other Missions to Mohammedans. In Vernacular Literature important work has been done; but this department of Christian labour deserves more attention than the over-worked mission staff have been able to give to it. Good theological books are especially wanted, for the use of Native Mission agents, who at the present time are subject to doubtful influences from two very opposite quarters, the one tending to ceremonialism, and the other to that extreme form of unsectarianism which is more sectarian than any sect. Importance of Vernacular Literature.

2. An important event of the year, which, though not directly connected with Missions, may have an important influence on their future course, is the appointment of a Vice-regal Commission on Education. It is a matter for unfeigned satisfaction that the wise step has been taken by the Government of reviewing the whole system of State Education in India, both Higher and Primary; and the Committee confidently trust that the result may be the adoption of a policy more strictly in accordance with the Despatch of 1854 than has latterly prevailed. The Christian Missionary will look for no exclusive privileges; he is not afraid of the neutrality of Government, provided it is a real neutrality; but he does ask for Mission Schools the same equal treatment which Voluntary Schools receive in England, viz., grants proportioned to work done. The Committee learned with much pleasure that Lord Ripon had decided to select one of the Society's missionaries for a seat on this Commission as the representative of Church of England Missions, and the Committee nominated for this purpose to his Lordship the Rev. W. R. Blackett, Principal of the Bengal Divinity School. The Vice-regal Commission on Education: Appointment of Mr. Blackett.

3. The progress of female education and Zenana work is one of the brightest features of Indian Missions at the present time. This is less the direct work of the Church Missionary Society than of the three English societies established for the express purpose, viz. the Church of England Zenana Missionary Society, the Indian Female Normal School and Instruction Society, and the Society for Promoting Female Education in the East. But ladies employed by all three labour, in different places, in association with the C.M.S. missionaries; besides which, the wives of the C.M.S. missionaries themselves take a large share in the work. The Committee rejoice to learn that the aggregate income of these three organizations available for India has largely increased. Progress of work among the women of India.

4. Another cause for thankfulness to God is the increase of the Indian Native clergy. Those connected with the C.M.S. alone now considerably outnumber the European mis- Increase of the Native Clergy.

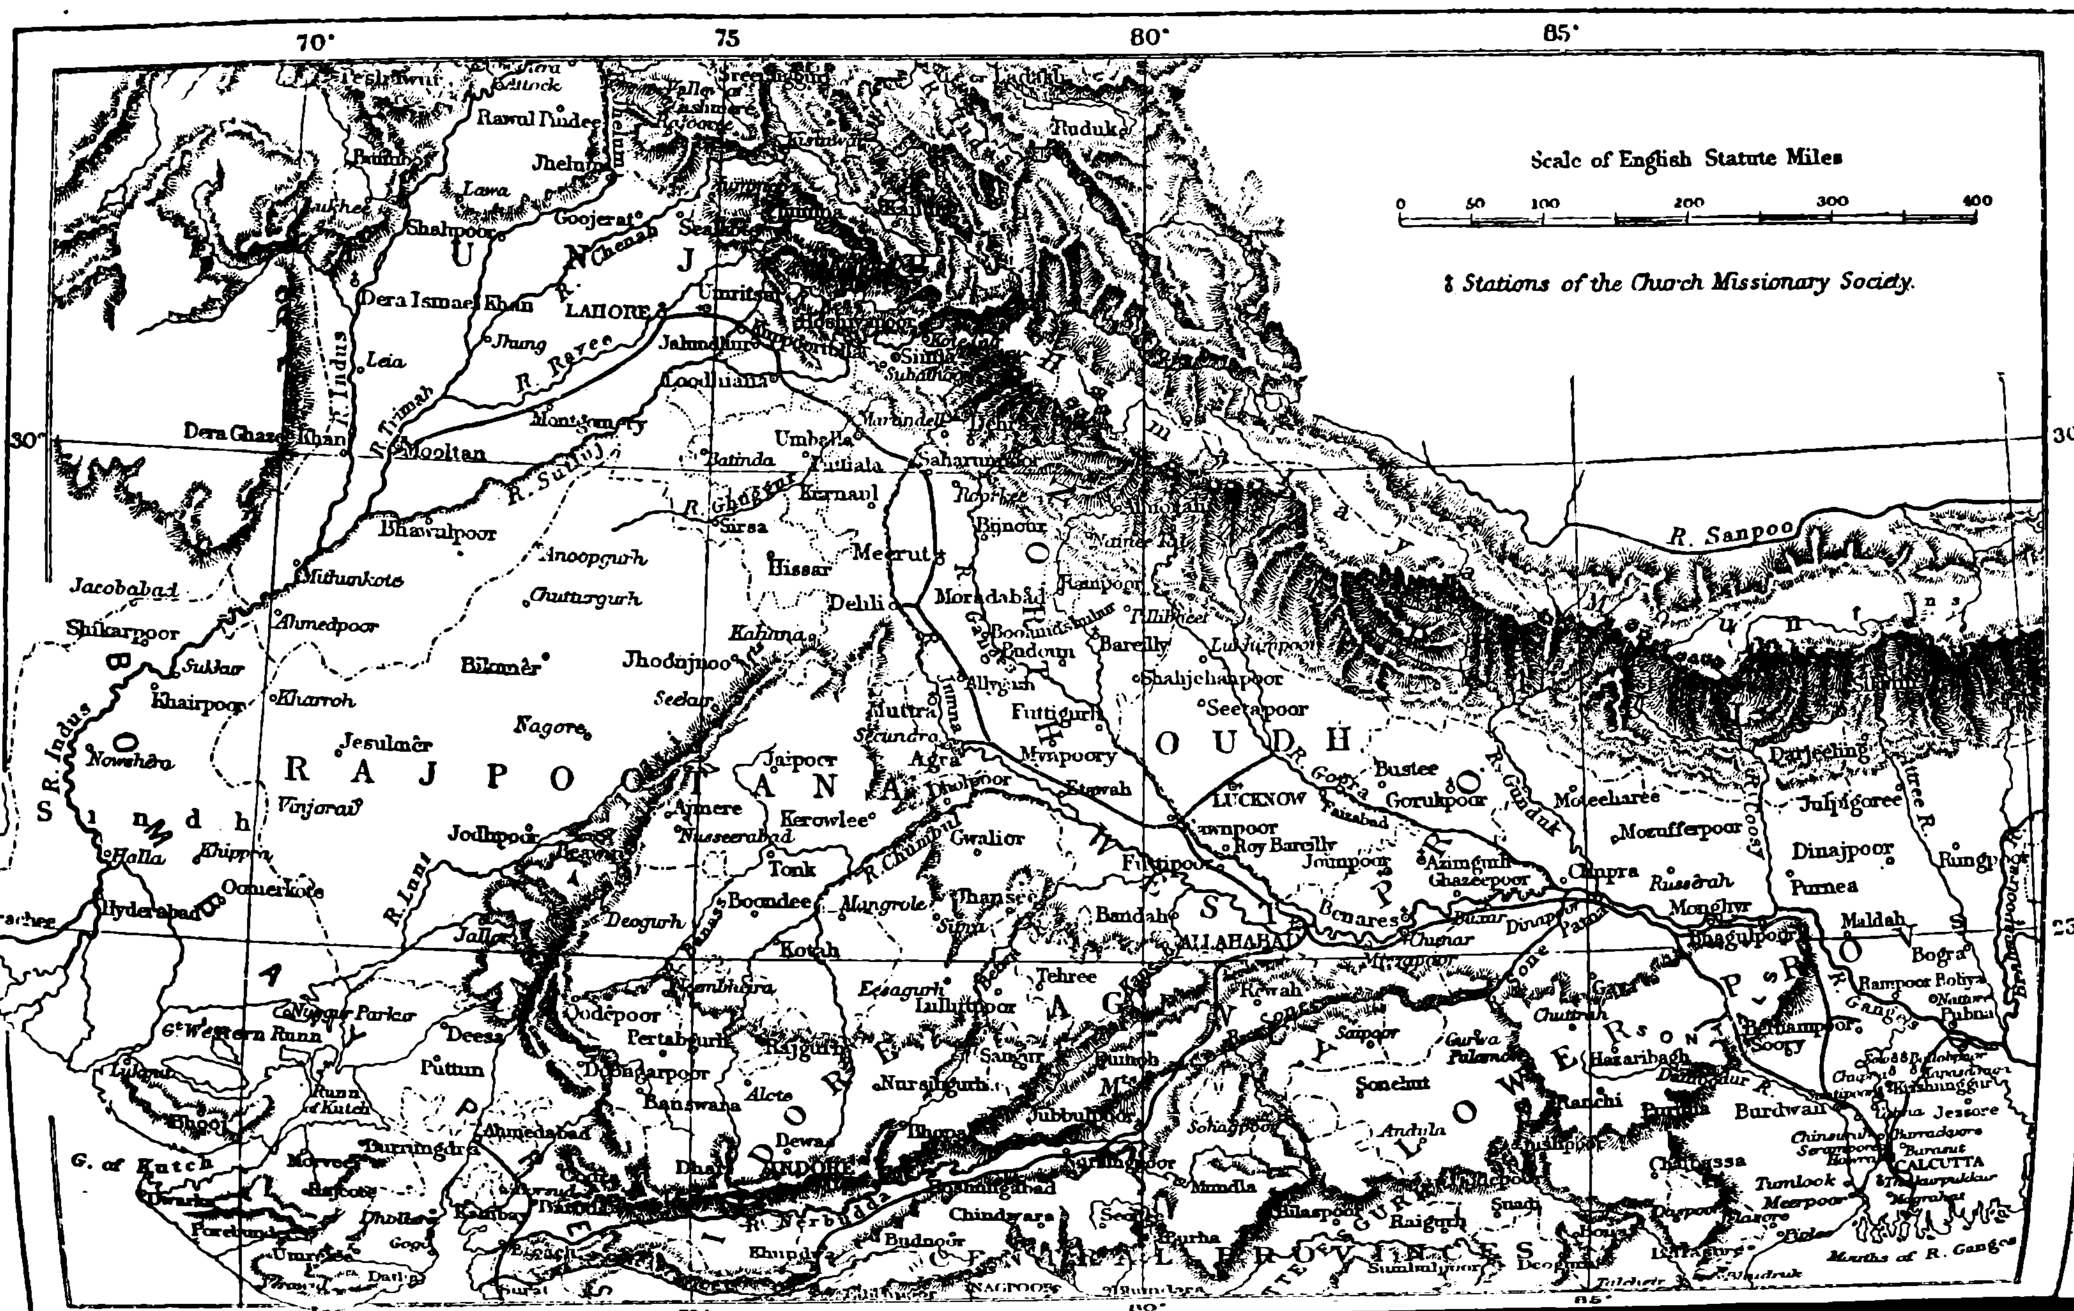

sionaries. Of the latter, actually in the field, there are ninety-four; while the former now number 121.

One hundred thousand C.M.S. Native Christians in India.

5. The number of Native Christian adherents, including catechumens, connected with the Society, has increased by nearly 5000 souls in the year. The total is now close to one hundred thousand (99,453), having doubled in twenty years. Just four-fifths of these are baptized Christians; and one fourth of the baptized, i.e. one fifth of the whole number, are communicants—the proportion long ago named by Henry Venn as to be expected in ordinary cases. The Committee do not wish to overrate the importance of this increase. The larger part of it is due to the natural increment of population, and represents only an advance of nominal and hereditary Christianity. On the other hand, it must not be underrated. It is only in this way—unless it should please God to use extraordinary means and grant to them extraordinary results—that India can become a Christian country. And it does include a considerable accession of converts from heathenism. There were more than 1600 adult baptisms in the year in the Society's India Missions; and the Committee trust that in a large proportion of these cases the initiatory Sacrament of Baptism was received, as the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper should be, "with true penitent heart, and lively faith."

Christian knowledge permeating India.

6. The following pages will present many illustrations of the impression made upon the Hindu mind by the preaching of the Gospel, even where conversion has not resulted from it as yet. Let one be given here. It is from a young missionary's first Annual Letter. "It is easy," he writes, "to observe that the religion of our Lord Jesus Christ is not a hateful system in enlightened Hindu eyes. You might stop hundreds of men and boys in this town of Masulipatam, and find that you have not so much to set before them an unknown Jesus, as to talk to them on a well-known topic. This knowledge has not been accumulated by hearing the preaching of missionaries, but by reading for themselves, and possessing at some time or another God's holy Word in our Mission schools. This is the crown of school work in India." Nor is this the hasty impression of one young enthusiast. From Kashmir to Cape Comorin, from Calcutta to the Bolan Pass, comes the same testimony. Everywhere, however dark the immediate surroundings, faith sees the signs of coming day. It is for the Society and all its friends to work on, "continuing in prayer, and watching in the same with thanksgiving."

CALCUTTA AND NORTH-INDIA MISSION.

(European Missionaries first arrived 1816.)

Lower Bengal.

Calcutta, 1816; Burdwan, 1817; Krishnagar, 1831.

Death of Rev. James Vaughan.

PROCEEDING to review the work in Bengal, the Committee are at once face to face with one of the heaviest losses with which it has pleased God to visit the Society's Missions. Few missionaries in any part of the world could be more missed than James Vaughan. For his nineteen years' work in Calcutta among Hindus of all castes and classes, from the most highly educated Brahmins to the inmates of the Leper Hospital, and for his noble efforts during the last four years to rouse the Native Christians in Krishnagar to a higher spiritual life, his memory will be deservedly honoured. The Indian Christian Herald, a newspaper conducted by Native Christians unconnected with the C.M.S., says of him, "We have scarcely seen another man who could work so hard as Mr. Vaughan. He was a many-sided man, with a wonderful power of adapting himself to circumstances. Morally, religiously, and socially he was a power for immense good. As long as the Bengali Missions shall last, the names of a Welland, a Greaves, and a Vaughan will remain as household words, enshrined in our hearts in characters of gold."

Bengal Native Church Council: its first regular meeting.

It was a happy consummation of Mr. Vaughan's labours in training congregations both in the city and in the rural districts to self-dependence and self-support, that he was permitted to preside once over the newly formed Bengal Native Church Council. The inauguration of this Council was recorded last year; its first formal meeting was held in May, 1881, when most of the six Native clerical and thirty Native lay delegates were present, representing fifteen churches or groups of churches. The printed Report of this meeting contains a graphic account of some of its features and incidents, from which a few paragraphs may be extracted :—

Prayer meeting.

Very pleasant was it on reaching Calcutta on the afternoon of Tuesday, May 24th, to behold the members of the Council flocking together from all points of the compass. East, west, north, and south sent their representatives to this happy convocation. The Preliminary Meeting was held on Tuesday evening after all the brethren had come together. All were more or less weary with their journey, but it was felt to be meet and right that our first united act should be one of worship. A hymn was sung, after which Mr. Rudra read the 46th Psalm. The Chairman followed with a few observations applying the cheering and inspiring utterances of that psalm to the condition of the Church in Bengal, feeble, harassed, assailed, yet confident that the Lord of Hosts is with her, that the God of Jacob is her Refuge. The Rev. Rajkristo Bose then offered prayer; another hymn followed, and then another prayer by our venerable brother, Baboo Jadu Bindu Ghose, the man who found Christ in that very church nine years ago, after a dreary search for peace of forty years' duration. The brethren then retired to partake of their common meal, and to hold pleasant intercourse far into the night-watches.

Early service.

Divine Service commenced on Wednesday, at 7.30 a.m. The church was well-filled. It was a special satisfaction to see our Diocesan in our midst. Fourteen clergy, European and Native, were present. The following special lessons were read, Isaiah lv. and Philip. ii. to verse 18. A Native organist presided at the harmonium, and both chants and hymns were rendered with fervour and feeling. The Rev. M. S. Seal, senior Native Missionary of the C.M.S., preached an edifying discourse from Titus ii. 14. About one hundred persons received the Holy Communion. The Bishop administered the Sacrament to the clergy, and the clergy to the rest of the Communicants. The Offertory was given to the Native Church Council Fund.

First Session.

The First Session was held in the schoolroom in the Mission Compound. The proceedings commenced with a hymn, after which the Rev. P. M. Mukerjee, S.P.G., offered prayer. The Bishop was asked to give an address, but his lordship preferred to do this later on. In order to keep his lordship posted up with the proceedings, the Rev. W. R. Blackett sat by the Bishop's side and made running notes of the papers read and speeches made. It must be borne in mind that all the translations, services, reading of papers, and speeches, were in the Bengali language.

The Chairman, the Rev. J. Vaughan, then addressed the meeting; after which the Rev. P. M. Rudra read a paper on the subject, "What practical lessons arise from a comparison of the Church of Bengal with the Churches of Apostolic times?" which was followed by a discussion. The Rev. A. C. Seal, Pastor of St. Barnabas, Kidderpore, read the second Paper on "The Development and Direction of Voluntary Effort." Another paper was read by Baboo Koilash Chunder Bishwas, Catechist of Bollobhpore, on the same subject.

Intercession for Foreign Missions.

An Intercession Service for Foreign Missions took place in church on the evening of Wednesday. The service commenced with a hymn, after which the Rev. P. M. Rudra read Exod. xvii. 8—16; giving the story of Amalek's defeat in the wilderness. The Chairman called attention to the great lesson conveyed by the narrative,—that effort and prayer must go hand-in-hand, that we should struggle and toil as if all depended upon our efforts, whilst at the same time, with hands uplifted to heaven, we declare, "without Thy blessing, O Lord, nothing is strong, nothing is holy." The Rev. P. M. Rudra then read a Bengali version of the Archbishop of Canterbury's Form of Intercessory prayer. Another hymn was sung, and the service concluded with a prayer by the Rev. C. N. Banerjea, of the L.M.S.

Ascension Day.

The joyful festival of Ascension Day was celebrated by a bright and happy service which commenced at 7.30 a.m. The Rev. P. M. Rudra read prayers, and the Rev. R. K. Bose of Thakurpukur preached an earnest and edifying discourse from Acts. i. 9—11. In the evening another service was held of prayer and praise, when the Chairman gave an address on the Glorious Announcement, the Weighty Charge, and the Inspiring Promise, of St. Matthew xxviii. 18—20.

The Second Session of the Council was held in the Hall of the C.M. Divinity College in College Square. This was the business Session of the Council, and at this gathering the officials and delegates alone had a claim to speak and vote. Second Session.

The Rev. P. M. Rudra, Secretary, who had written his report for the past year in English, gave the substance of it in Bengali. The Treasurer, Mr. Omesh Chunder Dutt, followed with his report. Discussion on financial and practical topics succeeded.

Thus closed the proceedings of the first Anniversary of the Church Council. From beginning to end peace and harmony prevailed; an intelligent interest was displayed by delegates and visitors in all that took place. A large admixture of devotional exercises with our ordinary proceedings helped, we believe, to impart a quiet, hallowed tone to all that was said and done. To God be all the glory!

The Committee are glad to observe in the Minutes of the last meeting of the Conference of C.M.S. Missionaries in Bengal, the following notes of what is being done in the Province to provide the Native Church with Christian literature:—

The Vernacular Translation Sub-Committee reported that Law's Christ is All was being translated under the superintendence of Dr. Baumann. That Yakub Bishwas was translating Pfander's Mizan ul Haqq under the superintendence of the Rev. H. Williams. That the translation of Andrewes' Devotions had not yet been completed. Translational work in Bengal.

The Rev. F. Gmelin also stated that he had in hand "An Explanation of the Church Catechism," "Comments on the Thirty-nine Articles," "An Explanation of the Tabernacle," some of Bishop Ryle's Tracts, and Bishop How's Plain Words.

The Rev. A. Clifford also reported that a translation of one of Miss Havergal's books was in hand. For this help had been promised from the Memorial Fund.

CALCUTTA.

The Rev. H. P. Parker has continued labouring during the year as Secretary of the Calcutta Corresponding Committee; the Rev. C. S. Harington, as minister of the Old Church; the Rev. W. R. Blackett as Principal of the Cathedral Mission Divinity College; the Rev. Dr. C. Baumann as general superintendent of the evangelistic agencies. The Rev. A. Clifford was in charge of Christ Church, and of Agarpâra; but he has been transferred to Krishnagar to take Mr. Vaughan's place. The Rev. W. H. Ball has been added to the staff, with a view to his assisting Mr. Blackett; and the Committee have designated three more men to Calcutta who are to go out in the ensuing autumn. Mr. Clifford is succeeded in the charge of Agarpâra by the Rev. F. Gmelin, who has lately returned to the Mission; and at Christ Church, by the Rev. Rajkristo Bose, who is in his turn succeeded at Thakurpukur by the Rev. Molam Biswas, Kristopur being committed to the care of a lay catechist. The other Native clergymen, the Rev. Modhu Sudan Seal and the Rev. Piari Mohun Rudra, have remained at Kidderpore and Trinity Church respectively.

The number of Native baptized Christians at the various stations in and around Calcutta, all of whom are now connected with the Native Church Council, is 1310; and there are nineteen catechumens. The communicants are 554. Ten adults were baptized during the year. The largest congregation is that of Trinity Church, formerly Mr. Vaughan's sphere, and now for some years under the pastoral care of Mr. Rudra. Among the agencies connected with this church the Sunday-school may be especially noticed, in which all the teachers but one are undergraduates of Calcutta University.

Hindu undergraduate S. School teachers.

The Cathedral Mission Divinity College, the Society's Theological Institution for Bengal, is working well under its able Principal, the Rev. W. R. Blackett. He thus graphically describes the studies:—

Cathedral Mission College.

We work mainly by dictation. I give the students a short paragraph sentence by sentence, and then we discuss it conversationally. There are few text-books in Bengáli, and if there were more I doubt whether we should be able to use them satisfactorily. But the notes of lectures are valued by the students, and usually bound up for preservation and future study. Every few months we have an examination, in which the men generally answer fairly. But I must own I don't much believe in examinations; I would rather inspire my men with a mind to study and to think than cram their minds with a pile of answers to examination questions.

What do we read? The Bible, of course. Piari Babu—Mr. Rudra's usual designation—reads the historical books of the Old and New Testament with the Junior Class, and I am just now [Aug., 1881] going through Romans with the Senior Class, and Isaiah with all together. Then sometimes we have an hour's practice in the topical use of the Bible, in hunting up the texts bearing on some important subject, explaining and combining them in a systematic form. They wanted me to give them the Bengáli version of the Dublin Text Book, but I say we must make one for ourselves. Then we are reading through the Prayer-book, which I am sorry to say becomes a somewhat controversial exercise, owing to the increasing attacks on the Church's doctrines, both from without and from within. Mr. Rudra has also read the Church Catechism with his class. Church History is not neglected, but I find, as I was led to expect, that the Indian mind is not easily interested in anything historical. We also have some time every week at Pastoral Theology, and at sermon composition, both theoretically and practically. I have begun to make the students preach on Wednesday evenings at Christ Church, and they have really acquitted themselves very fairly. Theology I take in a systematic way with the elder class twice a week.

This is all Bengáli work. With my little English Class I have been reading Pearson On the Creed, and Angus's Introduction to the Bible. They have made good progress in Greek, and will soon be able to read the Greek Testament with some ease. This is rather important in this country, where every educated Hindu can quote the Shastras, and every Mussulman the Koran, with more fluency than intelligence certainly, but yet in a way that makes it desirable that our better educated Christian teachers should know the Christian Shastras in the original. Then, by way of setting them to think, I have been reading some Logic with them, and find it both interesting and useful. Moreover, finding that one of them had been studying Latin by himself for two years, I have just begun giving him an hour a week in it. I should not wonder if I have to begin Hebrew with him some day. These two men have read Paley with Mr. Clifford, and are beginning Butler.

As to our students. They are our weak point at present, for we have only seven of them. But, after all, if we can turn out seven fairly taught men every two or three years we shall supply all the present wants of our Missions. And we are very particular as to the quality of the material we accept.

Christian Boys' Boarding School.

The Christian Boys' Boarding School, the opening of which was mentioned last year, is reported as popular and flourishing. It is under the charge of Dr. Baumann; but probably one of the new men shortly to go out will be specially set apart for this very important sphere of labour.

Much earnest and diligent missionary work of various kinds is going on in Calcutta under the auspices of the Society, of which no detailed reports have been received. It can all, however, be commended in prayer to Him who marks every agency and every agent, and who alone can make their efforts fruitful to the conversion of souls. In an able Report prepared by Dr. Baumann for the Calcutta C.M. Association last year, these efforts are thus described :—

Evangelistic work in Calcutta:

The courses employed by us are two; the one, addressing the higher classes, and so working downwards; the other, affecting the lower classes, and so working upwards. Calcutta is full of native undergraduates and High School students, whose knowledge of the English language, and whose taste for the highest English literature, make them intelligent and eager listeners wherever English lectures or services are held. The C.M.S. have always given considerable attention to the educated class of natives, and are making fresh exertions in this line at present. With a view to assist in this endeavour, we have availed ourselves of the Sunday evening English Service in Trinity Church, which is held chiefly for the sake of the inmates of the House of Industry, but which is attended also by a good sprinkling of English-speaking Bengalis, who would hesitate to stand and listen in the public street. Generally the subjects of our sermons are prepared with a view to reach both classes, Christians and non-Christians, and are wound up with a pointed address to the hearts of all present. Sometimes, we have given a series of connected lectures, as e.g. on the Apostles' Creed, for the special benefit of our Bengali hearers; and to make the service otherwise attractive, a choir was formed by Mrs. B., which she trains carefully, and which consists of our Christian undergraduates and the best voices in the Boarding School. Hitherto we are not able to point to any instance of real conversion as the result of this work, but if the readiness with which some of the more regular of our non-Christian Bengali hearers contribute to the offertories, and the fact, too, that by it a few of them have been led to a more intimate converse with the Missionary and his Bengali Christian brethren, may be taken as indications of success, surely, our work has not been in vain in the Lord.

Among orthodox Hindus.

Fresh ground has lately been broken in a part of Calcutta where the living seed was never scattered before, or scattered only at long and irregular intervals. We mean the banks and ghâts of the river. Considering that thousands of Hindus resort thither ever day for the ablution of their bodies and, as they ignorantly believe, for that of their souls, it is strange to say that this field has been hitherto overlooked. And yet the river side affords a splendid opportunity for preaching the gospel to large numbers, as well as to such who pay heed to matters of religion. The Ganges in which the Hindu devoutly bathes, of which he drinks, on which he gazes with rapture, on the banks of which he listlessly dreams, and from whose sacred water he carries some to his favourite shrine or to his household gods, is to him a divinity, worthy of the homage he reverently and thankfully renders. Here are daily to be met with the orthodox Hindus of the town, pandits and priests, rich and poor, educated and ignorant, and not only they, but also their females, who come here in herds in open daylight, and are not otherwise accessible to the sound of the gospel. Here likewise are to be met thousands who come by boat from the outlying villages, either to attend office in town or to carry on business and trade. Lastly, here may be found those strange but interesting people called Sanyásis and Bairágis, who undergo such grievous mortifications and sufferings for the sake of inward happiness and peace.

Twice during the week the Catechists go to the various Ghâts, beginning at Baranagar and going down to Garden Reach. One morning as the Catechist Abraham Tushta Biswas was preaching at Wattgunge Ghât, near Garden Reach, he was interrupted by one of the faqirs, who appeared to him to look more weird and worn than the rest, saying, "Your words have touched my heart; please come to my hut, I wish to thank you for your trouble by giving you some refreshments, of which you stand in need, and which I hope you will accept." During the conversation which ensued some interesting facts were brought to light. It was first discovered that the Sanyási was not a man but a woman; that she came from Sylhet, was once a happy wife and mother, but her happiness was suddenly cut short by the death of her dear ones; and that to find consolation and peace she had taken to asceticism, which she had practised for twenty years. She had been to various places of pilgrimage, such as Haridwár, Kási, Prayág Gáyá, &c., and at last to Káli ghât or Calcutta. She ended by saying, "I have tried all this, and yet there is no comfort. I am still groping my way in the dark; truly, my mind has never known peace."

Among the Chamars.

Another scene of usefulness was opened in the year 1880, by which the prayers and energies of the Association were directed to the Chámárs or outcasts of Calcutta, whose spiritual well-being has been hitherto all but neglected. There are about 40,000 of them in Calcutta, who, along with the aboriginal tribes of the Kols and Santals, fill up the lowest stratum of native society, and eke out a living as cultivators, shoe-makers, coolies, or as sweepers, scavengers, carters, &c.

For the first time systematic Christian work has been commenced among this class of the population. A house was hired near Mirzapore, and three Christian families were located there who nobly volunteered to do this work, moved thereto, we trust, by the love of Christ and love of souls. Many were attracted by their preaching, and especially by their singing, but the enemy of souls who is ever on the alert stirred up the Mussulmans against us, who left no stone unturned to stop the good work. One evening they rushed in numbers into the Chámár Preaching Chapel and beat the Catechists, on another they threw mud and brickbats at the Missionary, and day by day they went about from hut to hut threatening every Chámár with like treatment who should venture to show himself again at the Mission house. Notwithstanding these hindrances, we were able not only to maintain our ground, but also to extend our work.

KRISHNAGAR.

As already mentioned, the Rev. A. Clifford has succeeded Mr. Vaughan in the superintendence of the Krishnagar district. The Rev. H. Williams continues his important work as itinerating missionary, and the Rev. J. W. Hall has been sent out during the year for the same purpose. The Rev. G. H. Parsons had been appointed to the charge of the Normal School, but his health has suffered so much that it is doubtful whether he will be able to remain in India at all.

Owing to Mr. Vaughan's death, no regular report on Krishnagar has been received. The statistical returns show a total of 6071 baptized Christians in the district, of whom only 446 are communicants—a significant token of the low condition of religious life in the congregations. But Mr. Vaughan, who certainly was wont to look rather at the dark than the bright side of things, was able, in his address to the Bengal Native Church Council already noticed, to report some improvement. He said,—

The late Mr. Vaughan on the Krishnagar Church.

In speaking of the general condition of the Krishnagar Churches I desire to speak very guardedly and very humbly. Things are still, I grieve to say, very far from what one would wish them to be. Still, looking at the state of the Mission four years ago, there are, I cannot doubt, tokens of progress and improvement. These tokens are not strikingly vivid, but I think they are real. The present aspect of the Mission, to my eye, is just that of a man who has been well-nigh sick unto death, but has taken a turn, and is, though very slowly and with strange fluctuations, on his way to convalescence. God grant I may not be mistaken!

For a long time no outward expression of caste feeling has troubled us; externally, at least, peace and oneness on that subject reign among our people; they meet together in social harmony and partake as one family in their different churches of the Holy Supper of Love.

As regards the contributions of the people to God's cause they are far below what they ought to be, but they are something more than double what they were four years ago. The total amount realized during the past year has been 700 Rupees.

As regards tokens of spiritual growth, I trust an increase in our communicants may be regarded as one of these. The increase has neither been great nor rapid, but here and there a few who never partook of the Holy Ordinance before, have for the first time been drawn to the Table of the Lord. And I fully hope and believe that, throughout our extended Mission, individual souls are, under the unction of the Blessed Spirit, growing in spiritual life and likeness to Him whose name they bear.

Nor must I forget to note signs of good in connexion with some of our Church Committees. In certain of our stations these bodies render efficient help in furthering what is good and in checking evil. They help the catechist in looking after his flock; some of the brethren use their efforts in bringing the careless to Church or to prayer meetings held in the village during the week.

Among Mr. Vaughan's latest trials in this district were "raids" from two opposite quarters, the Baptists and the Romanists. The former—Native ministers—were promptly disavowed by the Baptist Society, whose loyalty to the great missionary principle of non-interference is above suspicion.

Romish aggression in Krishnagar.

The Romish priests were more persistent. "Why," asked the C.M.S. Christians, "do you never go to the perishing heathen? Why come to disturb the peace of our Christian community?" "I admit," replied one priest, "we do not go to the heathen, for we think they may possibly be saved by the light of reason; but we are sure that you, as Protestants, must perish, and so we come to you."

The Rev. H. Williams reports on the schools, sixty-eight in number, with 2600 scholars. Up to August last they were "in a most flourishing condition," but an epidemic which then broke out went far to empty many of them for a time. "The esteem in which the village schools are held by Hindus and Mussulmans is shown by the large number of applications for schools sent to us. The people know that the religious subjects will be taught more thoroughly than any of the secular subjects, but that does not prevent them coming to us with their petitions."

Mr. Williams also gives a very encouraging account of his evangelistic tours through the district. Systematic itineration of the kind is a plan associated with the honoured names of Ragland and Gordon, and the Committee would gladly see it carried out in every Mission in India—but for this men are wanted:—

From the end of November to the middle of March I was engaged in itinerating through the villages to the north and east of the district in which the Christian congregations lie. About 100 villages were visited. The plan pursued was that laid down in the instructions I received at Salisbury Square, February, 1876; namely, to evangelize thoroughly a limited district. In the three and a half months the distance travelled was not more than fifty miles, but every village lying on the route, and on either side of it within a moderate distance, was visited. The smallest villages were not passed by. In places where there were Hindu and Mussulman quarters, each was visited, and the Gospel preached in the language used by each class. Systematic Itinerating in Krishnagar.

The interest shown wherever we went was most gratifying, and what was especially pleasing was that in villages visited previously even more interest was shown than in the villages visited for the first time. Another interesting feature was the teachable spirit of the Mussulmans. They have the character of being the most difficult to deal with. In other parts it may be so, but in this district the Mussulmans showed a more intelligent appreciation of the Gospel than the Hindus. The account of Christ's life, teaching, and death was always received with pleasure. There was of course earnest discussions. It would not be a good sign if it were otherwise. It is not a hopeful feature in the Hindus that they can listen so politely and assent so readily to all that is said to them. The agricultural population of these parts consists chiefly of Mussulmans, and if any great movement towards Christianity were to occur I should expect to find it among them rather than among the Hindus. Teachable spirit of Moslems.

As an example of the interest shown by the Mussulmans I may mention the case of a village named Korumdi. While we stayed near it we had no need to leave our tents to seek for listeners. Every afternoon at three o'clock about forty of the villagers would come to the tent to hear and discuss the Gospel. The discussions were carried on with a remarkable absence of wrangling. Large portions of the Gospels were read out to prove the errors of Mohammedanism, and they were always listened to with great reverence. We hesitate to speak of interesting inquirers, but God did not leave us without this encouragement.

In conclusion I may record, with gratitude to God, that all through the tour we felt that the Lord Jesus was with us and working with us.

BURDWAN.

No report has been received from the Rev. E. H. Thornton, who was in charge during the year. He has been much tried by the return to England, invalided, of Mrs. Thornton. The Native Christians number 106.

Santalia.

The Santâl Mission has suffered by the illness and enforced absence of some of the missionaries. The Rev. J. Tunbridge was sent away for some months invalided to Ootacamund, and just as he was returning to his work his wife was taken ill, and died. The shock brought a renewal of his own illness, and he was ordered home. The Rev. R. Elliott has also Trials in the Santâl Mission.

come to England in very weak health; and the Rev. F. T. Cole has taken his furlough after ten years' service. The Rev. A. Stark and his family were obliged, by repeated attacks of fever, to go to the hills for several months. The Rev. E. Droese, from a similar cause, had to be absent from Bhagalpur for some time, and the Rev. A. W. Baumann was transferred thither, which involved further loss to the Santâl Mission. On the other hand, the Rev. J. Brown has returned to the field. He is now in charge of the TALJHARI and BAHAWA districts; the Rev. A. Stark of GODDA; and the Rev. J. Blaich of HIRANPUR. It is pleasant, under these circumstances, to read these words in Mr. Cole's Annual Letter—"The Native pastors have given us great cause for joy. They take a real interest in the work." But more European missionaries are greatly needed; and the Committee hope to send two out this year, one of them a medical man.

The Santâls:

The number of baptized Santâl Christians connected with the C.M.S. is now 2044; and of communicants, 631. There were 41 adult baptisms in the year. In the 60 schools there are 1200 children. The importance of the educational work is illustrated by a remark of Mr. Elliott's, that nearly half the Native Christians have been gathered in through the medium of the schools. Female education is not in a forward state; but the Girls' School at Taljhari has 96 pupils, only seven of whom are boarders supported by the Mission.

The congregations.

The village congregations vary in character. The Rev. Sham Besra says of one, that the people are "very careless," and of another, that they are "bright and lively, and give him great joy." Naturally, in a community of 2000 Christians gathered so quickly out of heathenism, there would be many who would manifest little of the power of the Gospel; still, to quote another report, "considering from what depths they have been brought, it is marvellous to see what they have become." They are at all events regular in attendance on the means of grace, and self-denying in giving of their substance to the support of their pastors and church ordinances. In one district the contributions of rice at the harvest thanksgiving services amounted to one ton thirteen cwt., "a noble offering," justly remarks Mr. Cole.

Prospects of extension.

Regarding the prospects of extension, the Native clergy themselves differ. The Rev. Ram Charan (a Hindu) thinks there is little hope of further accessions from among the Santâls, owing to the Hinduizing influences at work, which the Committee have sorrowfully noticed in former years; while the Rev. Sham Besra (a Santâl) affirms that it is "merely a matter of time, and all the people will become Christians." Perhaps the Rev. William Sido (another Santâl) is nearer the exact truth when he says, "The people would all become Christians, were it not for the holy life necessary. They are on the brim, but are restrained because they do not wish to forsake evil."

Medical work.

The Dispensaries at Taljhari and Bahawa have done useful work. At the former, Mr. Elliott, who is a medical man, reports that there were 10,000 attendances during the year, the separate patients numbering 3000. "I feel sure," he says, "that this is an excellent means of winning the confidence of the people."

Translational work.

Concerning translational work Mr. Cole reports,—"During the year the Collects and Epistles for the Day have been published. The Gospel of St. Matthew has been revised, and is now in the press. A Bible History in Santali is now being printed. It is greatly needed, as the Old Testament is not translated."

The removal of Mr. Baumann to Bhagalpur leaves one great need still to be supplied—that of a missionary to devote himself wholly to the evangelization of the Paháris on the hills, learning their language and making himself thoroughly at home among them. The Rev. Ram Charan writes of them from Pathra in the Godda district as follows:—

Pahâri converts.

The Pahâriyas, or hill tribes, have neither a regular caste nor religious system of their own. They have no objection to partake of food and drink with others, be they Christians or non-Christians; and so also in their forms of worship they often imitate or adopt the religious ceremonies and notions of those who are their neighbours. From a religious point of view they are most accessible, and would receive Christianity readily; but their language is as yet so little known to outsiders, that practically they are not within reach of our Mission agents; and those of the Society's readers and preachers who live in the midst of them, and who are thoroughly acquainted with the "Maltono," or hill language, as they are hill people themselves, have not been working so faithfully as they ought. Still, by the blessing of God, there is always a goodly number among them who are added year by year to the Church of Christ, and this year also there are several inquirers among them who have been prepared for baptism. As the heathen Pahâriyas are not fettered by caste prejudice, and have very lax notions about the state of matrimony, they are only too easily persuaded to give their daughters in marriage, even to youths who have left their clan and joined Christianity. A girls' boarding-school would, I think, rectify such disorders in future. There are altogether sixty-five Pahâri Christians and eight inquirers.

Mr. Elliott also says of the Pahâri Christians in the Taljhari district,—"They are on the whole satisfactory. They are steadily increasing in numbers, and I hope in godliness."

BHAGALPUR.

The absence through illness of the Rev. E. Droese during part of the year, and the appointment of the Rev. A. W. Baumann to this station, have been already alluded to. The BHAGALPUR Mission comprises an Anglo-Vernacular Boys' School, vernacular schools for boys and girls, boys' and girls' Orphanages, and Native congregations numbering together 413 souls. The converts form four communities, one at Bhagalpur itself, one at Jamalpur and Monghyr, one in the Sahibganj district, which includes some Pahâri Christians, and one at the village of Phulkiya, consisting of the recent converts of the Satgurua clan or sect. Of these latter Mr. Droese reports:—

The Satgurua converts.

The Native Christians of Phulkiya have the Sunday services conducted for them at their own village. As yet there is no place set apart for divine worship. The people meet in a cow-shed, or in the cold weather, when the missionary's tent is in their neighbourhood, in the tent, when the services often are witnessed by many of the heathen there. The Sunday services are conducted for them by one of our readers who goes over from Bhagulpore for the purpose, staying sometimes only a few days with the people, sometimes a week or two. They meet also for daily morning and evening prayers, which, in the absence of the reader, are conducted by one of themselves. These new converts have gone on satisfactorily, holding on to the Lord notwithstanding many difficulties.

As regards their secular affairs, the people are sometimes very downhearted, when they consider that from the time they embraced the Christian religion they have had the greatest difficulties to get on. Agriculturists depend a great deal on the helping hand of their village neighbours. Our Native Christians at Phulkiya must do without that, and have, moreover, every obstacle put in their way by their heathen neighbours, so that they have their operations in field and about their homesteads in every way impeded; not even hired servants can the Christians obtain, since these are threatened with being put out of caste, if they work in a Christian household, or in the field of a Christian. The village money-lender, too, turns a deaf ear to a Christian's entreaties in the hour of need. Any one who is acquainted with the perverse state of affairs in Indian agriculturist communities with regard to money affairs knows what it means to be excluded from the mercy—such as that wretched mercy is—of the village money-lender. The Lord knows the troubles of His people, and will not permit that more come upon them than what they are able to bear, is what our converts here are taught, and what they endeavour to learn to hold to.

Pahâri translations.

During Mr. Droese's absence from the station, he was not idle. He carefully revised his Pahâri translation of St. John's Gospel, and sent it to press. He also, having taken a Pahâri with him, spent some time in collecting material for a dictionary and grammar of the language; the cost of printing which will be defrayed by the Bengal Government.

North-West Provinces.

Agra, commenced 1813; Meerut (Mirât), 1815; Benâres, 1817; Gorakpur, 1823; Azimgarh and Jaunpur, 1831; Lucknow, 1858; Allahabad, 1859; Faizabad, 1862; Aligarh, 1863.

Reduced grants and their consequences.

THE Society's Missions in the North-West Provinces are still suffering from the reductions of two years ago. Although, as stated in last Report, the withdrawals of European missionaries from certain of the smaller stations were not in all cases insisted on, yet on the other hand the proposed great centres of Benares and Agra have not been strengthened as was intended. The Native lay agents employed have diminished in number from 205 to 146; and the schools of various kinds from 100 to 70.* It is earnestly to be hoped that the renewed expansion now permitted in other Missions will also appear in the stations of the Gangetic Valley, which are among the most truly important on the Society's list.

Efforts of the N.W. Provinces Church Council.

In the meanwhile, the North-West Provinces Native Church Council has been making admirable efforts to supply, as far as its limited strength will allow, the Society's lack of service. Its much respected Treasurer, Mr. G. E. Knox, C.S., writes, "The Committee will have been cheered by the accounts which will have reached them of the Native Church Council. Two important steps forward have been taken:—(1) the acceptance of a consolidated grant from the Society for the coming year, and the resolution to work within it, and so be ready to accept a lesser grant year by year; (2) the resolve to take up and work a district as a distinct effort outwards. Both responsibilities have been cheerfully undertaken." The local funds have this year been sufficient to enable the Council to claim a grant from the William Charles Jones Fund for evangelistic purposes, which will be used to take up Azimgarh and the villages lying between Benares and Gorakpur. The Henry Venn Native Church Fund has for some time been assisting the local Missionary Associations at Meerut, Gorakpur, Allahabad, &c. (See the separate statement at the end of this Report.)

The fifth annual meeting of the Church Council was held at Benares, on September 29 and 30. Reports were submitted from most of the seventeen Native congregations connected with it; and interesting discussions took place on the qualifications and education of Native pastors, and on the mode of appointing members of the local Church Committees. A very hearty and hopeful spirit was manifested throughout, and it was felt that the Great Head of the Church was vouchsafing His presence and blessing to the yet infant organization.

BENARES.

Benares: the staff;

In all India there is no Mission more important, or more deserving of the sympathy and prayers of friends at home, than that at Benares, the very heart and centre of Hindu idolatry. The missionaries now there are—the Rev. B. Davis, who adds to the duties of general superintendence, and of the chairmanship of the N.W.P. Church Council, the Principalship of Jay Narain's College; the Rev. J. Treusch, a lay agent of twenty years' standing who was ordained in December last, and who with Mrs. Treusch and a lady sent out by the I.F.N.S. and I.S. is in charge of the Female Normal School, the Girls' Orphanage, and the Female Industrial School; the Revs. J. J. Johnson and F. E. Walton, who are still in the preparatory stage of missionary work, but have assisted, the former in the Sunday services and in visiting out-stations, and the latter in the charge of the Boys' Orphanage, while Mrs. Johnson has superintended the City Girls' Schools. During the year, the Revs. W. Hooper and H. M. M. Hackett, now of Allahabad, were also at Benares, and besides beginning the Divinity School, rendered important help in the general work of the Mission. The Native pastor is the Rev. Aman Masih Levi; Babu Timothy Luther continues at his old post as head-master of Jay Narain's Free School; while Babu Prio Nath Ghose and Babu G. Chandra Bose are still the head-masters of the Anglo-Vernacular Schools at Jaunpur and Azimgarh respectively.

The congregations.

The five congregations, Sigra, City, Gharwah and Ahraurah, Chunar, and Jaunpur, comprise an aggregate of 347 souls, of whom 158 are communicants. To these would have to be added some 40 for Azimgarh; but even then there appears a falling off from last year. Deaths and removals, it is to be presumed, have more than balanced the 25 baptisms. There are 1500 scholars under instruction in the various Schools.

The following is from the Rev. B. Davis's Annual Letter:—

My own work has consisted as before of Jay Narain's, a share in the City and Sigra church services, preaching in the bazaars, instruction of inquirers, superintendence of the catechists and the out-station of Jaunpur; together with the care from time to time of matters connected with the Church Council. In Jay Narain's our numbers have slightly increased, and we were glad to find that three out of five sent in succeeded in passing the Entrance Examination of the Calcutta

University at the commencement of the year—two being placed in the second class and one in the third; and at the same time several of our old pupils passed from other schools in the place, where they had read but a short time; so that these would be properly considered as to be counted from our college.

A Native Christian tutor.

One of my old pupils at Allahabad, Lullah Singh, was appointed about nine months ago as master of the lowest English class in the college, and has come regularly to read the Testament with me, accompanied frequently by his eldest boy. I trust he and his family may in due course be baptized. He has himself been long ready to profess his faith in Christ, but waits in the hope that his wife, who is under the instruction of one of our Christian women, will join him ere long. In college, he has worked far more zealously than any other master, and does all he can to teach his boys the truth of the Gospel, in which he so heartily believes himself; and instead of driving boys away by so doing has had more additions to his class than any other English master. I wish we had more like him.

Mr. Davis also mentions a remarkable case of a Brahmin from South India who read the New Testament with him for some months. This man had left his home four years before under the conviction that idolatry was wrong, and had ever since wandered over the country without once communicating with his family, although leaving behind him considerable property. He became convinced of some of the leading truths of Christianity, but could not grasp the doctrine of the atonement, as the idea (prevalent in the south) that sacrifices are only offered to evil spirits that feed upon the blood had so fast a hold of his mind that he could not entertain the thought of Christ's sacrifice of Himself. He was persuaded to return to his home by the missionaries, with the prayer that he might receive fuller light and embrace the true faith.

Brahmin notion of a propitiatory sacrifice.

Another notable case is narrated by Mr. Hooper; and here the inquirer, also a Brahmin, has been led to forsake all and follow Christ. Had the late General Lake lived to hear of this conversion, it would have been ample recompense to him for all his prayers and labours on behalf of what has seemed so fruitless a station, Azimgarh:—

Strange history of a converted Brahmin pundit.

He is an Azimgarh man, and succeeded his father as pundit of the Mission school there. He has been nearly all his life a seeker of truth and peace. He often describes himself as one who has proved Hinduism, and found it wanting; who has not only investigated, but had practical experience of its various sects and expedients for meeting human needs, and has at last found in Christ, and in Him alone, all he wants. He had reached a certain degree of dissatisfaction with Hinduism and inclination towards Christianity, when I chanced (as men speak) to meet him in January, 1874, when I was itinerating along the Azimgarh road. I had quite forgotten the circumstance, till he assured me that I had turned back and walked with him a considerable distance on the road towards Azimgarh, and when I could go no further, stood with him on a little bridge and prayed. That, it seems, made a deep impression on him, though I knew it not.

Our excellent head-master at Azimgarh, Babu Girish Chunder Bose, had always been a good Christian friend to him, and he now strengthened the good impression. But notwithstanding, he had after the lapse of some time lost it considerably, when the death of a son again aroused him to reflection. From that time he never turned his back completely on Christ, though he wavered for years. What kept him up to the mark was the unusually strong affection he had for the widow of the above-mentioned son, whom he loved quite as a daughter. Unable to bear the thought of perpetual widowhood for her, he conceived the wish that she might become a Christian, which would, of course, involve his doing likewise. It was not until he had received much more instruction himself, in fact until he was being prepared for baptism, that he began to feel that Christianity was worth having indeed for its own sake, and for that of eternal life. Nay, he has told me that when he was baptized, and when, even at the last moment almost, he experienced that terrible shrinking which we can never enter into, but which we can conceive in the case of a Brahman of the highest sub-caste (which he is), it was this which brought him to the point, and overcame every objection.

It is remarkable that he has not yet been able to get hold of that daughter-in-law. She has been, ever since her husband died, living with her own brothers at Ramnagar, and they, though they have promised over and over again, yet are evidently determined not to give her up. Yet she is determined to come to him, and quite willing to change her religion for his sake. His wife is also quite willing to become a Christian on his account; but sickness and other causes have as yet prevented her from receiving the necessary instruction, though she is herself quite eager to receive it. Indeed, Janaki Datt has the fullest confidence that every member of his widely scattered family will eventually be brought to Christ, and that he himself will see it, a presentiment which, seeing that he is an old man already, though still very active, fills one with joyful hope.

I need hardly say that the pundit has very different views of the preciousness of Christ, and of the right motive for becoming His, from those he had at first. He has been growing uninterruptedly, by God's grace, ever since his baptism.

Mr. Hooper also sends an interesting notice of the services conducted by him while at Benares, in the Mission Church in the city of St. Thomas's:—

A course of mission sermons.

On Sunday afternoons I have adapted my sermons to the students and to the heathen at one and the same time. The attendance of heathen has been generally very good, and often the same persons have remained throughout. I have taken si xcourses of sermons, of which the following have been the subjects:—

1. God as "Light"—"Spirit"—"Lord"—"Father"—"Husband"—"Physician"—"Guru" (i. e. Spiritual Guide)—"Shepherd"—"Love."

2. Man as "fallen"—"blind"—"bound"—"guilty"—"miserable"—"dying."

3. CHRIST as "God and Man"—"Brother of man"—"guru"—"example"—"priest"—"forerunner."
4. The HOLY SPIRIT—"Who He is"—"the Spirit of truth"—"of conviction"—"of liberty."
5. CHRISTIANS as "sons of God"—"one with Christ"—"temples of the Spirit"—"kings"—"priests"—"prophets"—"pilgrims"—"soldiers"—"servants of Christ"—"friends of Christ."
6. CHRIST coming again as "thief"—"judge"—"king"—"bridegroom."

On Tuesday evenings the church has sometimes been crowded with heathen, who have behaved and listened well. Several persons living in the neighbourhood have attended the preaching regularly, and have remained throughout the services. The students have both been listeners to my addresses to the heathen, and have also in turn given addresses themselves, besides all helping in the singing of bhajans between the addresses.

Mr. Hackett's Annual Letter contains an encouraging account of the Sigra Christian community :—

Progress at Sigra in self-support and self-government.

For the last four years I have been Chairman of the Church Committee, and am now very sorry to close my connexion with it. During that period they have made great strides in the direction of independence. I have endeavoured rather to teach them how to manage their own affairs than to manage them for them. They have now a set of rules, adapted from those commonly used at home at vestry meetings. The members have thus begun to feel that the management of the affairs of their Church is in their own hands, and that nothing can be done without their approval and consent, and consequently they have grown to take a much greater interest in its welfare. This increased interest they have proved in many ways. At one of our last meetings it was pointed out by the Secretary that the subscriptions towards the Pastor's Fund were regularly Rs. 2 a month less than the expenditure. He said that they must, therefore, either reduce the salary of the pastor, run into debt, or increase their subscriptions. There could be no doubt as to which of these was the better plan, and he asked the members of the committee to set an example to the congregation by raising their own subscriptions. On the very spot we received promises of increased subscriptions to the amount of one rupee and twelve annas a month, and the deficiency was speedily made up by an absent member; so that there was no necessity to appeal to the congregation. Any one who knows the Natives of India will easily understand how much is meant by an increased subscription.

Mr. Hackett also gives a particularly interesting account of the first girls' school ever known in the town and district of Ahraurah :—

First girls' school in a Hindu village.

During the last two years we have been trying the experiment of a girls' school. A very intelligent Native Brahmin, himself a vedantist, was very anxious that we should make the experiment, and himself offered to assist us in any way in his power. Thanks to his co-operation and assistance, the school has proved a great success. This is the first girls' school that has been known of, not merely in the town itself, but in the whole country around, and even still the feeling against it is very strong in some classes; in fact, if it were not for the influence of the chief Natives, of whom I have spoken, the school could not possibly exist.

Last year my wife examined the school, but this year, with the approval of my friend the Brahmin, I announced my intention of examining the school myself, but sent word to the girls that no one need come who had any objection to appear before me. As the room in which they generally read is close and stuffy, the examination was held in the open air. I was somewhat astonished at the readiness of the girls to be examined by me. The younger came up and read for me without any hesitation, only a few of the elder ones remained at a short distance enveloped in their chaddars, or condescended to read with their backs turned towards me. The result of the examination was highly satisfactory; so much so, that I am in hopes that we may be able to extract a grant-in-aid from the local Government. The progress made by some of the girls in two years was to me quite surprising. Not one of them had previously known a single letter, nor could they sew the simplest stitch, but now some of them can read even difficult passages with ease and intelligence, and can do plain sewing well.

Bishop of Calcutta and Lord Ripon at Benares.

The Sigra Mission received visits lately from both the Viceroy of India and the Bishop of Calcutta. Lord Ripon was there on November 29th, and expressed much interest in all he saw, especially in the educational work. The Bishop was there for a few days in December. On the 18th he confirmed eighteen Native candidates. On the 20th he addressed a large audience of educated Hindus in the Town Hall. On the 21st he held an ordination, when (with others) Mr. Treusch was admitted to deacon's orders, and also two C.M.S. Native agents, Mr. William Seetal and Mr. Nathaniel Rahim Bahksh; and the Revs. D. Jeremy and Aman Masih Levi received priest's orders. Mr. Seetal was appointed to read the Gospel. The sermon was preached by Mr. Hackett.

GORAKPUR.

Thirty years of missionary life.

The Rev. H. Stern has completed his thirtieth year of missionary life, almost the whole having been spent at this station, and the larger part in sole superintendence of its multifarious agencies. The Committee thank God that Mr. Stern has been permitted to see the work grow under his hands, and particularly for several encouraging features in his present report. The baptized Christians connected with Gorakpur, and the Christian village of Basharatpur, and the out-station of Basti, number 809, including 280 inmates of the orphanages. There are 208 communicants. "So far as the outward fabric of the Church is concerned, it has the appearance of a growing and flourishing Church," although

Mr. Stern goes on to lament individual cases of backsliding and of a quarrelsome spirit. This latter fault was particularly manifest in a dissension between Gorakpur and Basharatpur, as to who should be recommended by the local Church Committee to the N.W.P. Church Council for presentation to the Bishop to be ordained to the pastorate of the latter place. Ultimately, however, a trusted catechist was unanimously nominated; and it is hoped that after some further theological instruction in Mr. Hooper's Divinity School he may receive ordination.

The schools, comprising the High School and Middle-class Schools educate 1250 children, of whom 300 are girls. The orphanages continue to be "a constant strain on the strength and patience" of both Mr. and Mrs. Stern; but God does not leave them without reward in seeing some of their young charges growing up in the nurture and admonition of the Lord. A second agricultural settlement has been planned for the purpose of placing them out where they can make a living for themselves. The Government has granted 170 acres of jungle land, which is being rapidly cleared; and the foundation of the new Christian village was laid on the day of the Epiphany, January 6th of the present year. "Its name was by general consent fixed on Sternpur, or Sitârapur, with a view to the star of the east." Mr. Stern gratefully refers to the kindness of the magistrate and collector of the district, J Kennedy, Esq., in this matter.

A new Christian colony: Sternpur.

Evangelistic work is mainly carried on by the Native Missionary Association. One of the agents, Pundit Vidya Pât, lately met with some interesting incidents while on a preaching tour:—

Evangelistic work of Vidya Pât.

In one place he was requested by several Babus and zemindars to read to them the whole Gospel. He read to them during four days the whole of the Gospel of St. Mark, with which they were much pleased. They thought the Christian religion was very good. Only in one thing they could not agree, i.e. that all should be made one caste, and they should all eat together promiscuously!

In another place he had a meeting with several pundits, when four questions were proposed and discussed:—1, The origin of the Shastras is unknown. 2. The incarnation of the Son of God impossible. 3. Ram gave salvation to many, to whom did Christ give salvation? 4. The God of the Hindus is the sun, which gives light to the whole world: what is your God?

Again, in one of the Government schools in the district he was requested to deliver a lecture on Christianity. The schoolmaster invited all the principal inhabitants of the town, who, with the teachers and pupils, listened attentively.

Mr. Stern concludes his report by pathetically remarking that when he was starting on his return to India in 1879, he was, in the Instructions of the Committee, "told to occupy out-stations," and yet his most important out-station, Basti, has since been abandoned by the Society! This is an illustration of how the soundest missionary policy may be frustrated by lack of funds. The Committee rejoice to hear that Basti was saved from extinction by local funds, but that does not affect the Society's responsibility, and resources of the kind are not always available.

ALLAHABAD.

The N.W. Provinces Divinity School.

In accordance with the plans described last year, the C.M.S. Theological College for the North-West Provinces, after having been started on a small scale at Benares, has this year been established at Allahabad. The new Institution was opened on February 2nd last, with the name of St. Paul's Divinity School. The Rev. W. Hooper, M.A., of Wadham College, Oxford, is the Principal; and the Rev. H. M. M. Hackett, M.A. of Trinity College, Dublin, the Vice-Principal. During the year at Benares, there were seven students, viz. one candidate for priest's orders, one for deacon's orders, one for the higher grade of catechists, three for the lower, and one for the higher grade of "readers." "We thus," says Mr. Hooper, "had to make several different classes, most of which consisted of but one pupil. Thus the work was not laborious, but absorbed a great deal of time." The Committee earnestly pray that a like blessing to that which has marked the course of the Lahore College may be vouchsafed to the Allahabad College.

The Native Christian community of 500 souls occupy their own village of Muirabad. Their excellent pastor, the Rev. David Mohun, has now a clerical assistant in the person of the Rev. Nathaniel Rahim Bahksh, whose ordination has already been mentioned. Mr. Mohun fears lest the interest attaching to the new Divinity School may draw to it and the work that will gather round it local sympathy and support hitherto given to him and Muirabad. "For some time past," he said at the Church Council Meeting, "there had been only one dog belonging to the Mission in Allahabad, which had obtained all the scraps; but as there would now be two dogs, he feared the first would find it difficult to pick up a living." The Committee feel sure that his people will gain far more than they can lose by the near presence of the College and its missionaries.

Two dogs to pick up the crumbs.

LUCKNOW.

The Rev. E. H. Bickersteth's fervent appeal in behalf of Lucknow at Exeter Hall last year has been as yet but partially responded to. The Committee have, however, felt able so far to reverse the policy of retrenchment as to send a young missionary brother, the Rev. W. Windsor, to the assistance of the Rev. G. B. Durrant, who still holds the fort in the capital of Oudh. The ordination (already mentioned) of Mr. W. Seetal, the excellent head-master of the High School, gives Lucknow a second Native clergyman in addition to the Rev. D. Solomon. Mr. Durrant accordingly writes in a tone of thankfulness and hope with which all readers of this Report will rejoice to sympathize:— Reinforcement at Lucknow:

A review of the year fills us with devout thankfulness to God for the gracious way in which he has helped us. Difficulties that we dreaded have been removed; funds that we needed have been supplied; progress that we longed for has been granted us; and, above all, our prayers for the reinforcement of the Lucknow Mission have been answered, and a fellow-labourer has joined us from England. As to the past we would thankfully acknowledge that "the Lord has been mindful of us," and for the future rest confidently assured that "He will help us." A mission ary's gratitude.

The evangelistic work has been carried on with the same regularity as in former years. I wish I could report conversions and baptisms as the result of our bazaar preaching, but, alas! I cannot. Notwithstanding, I am certain that through this agency a knowledge of Christian truth is being diffused, and the people familiarized with the doctrines of a religion which many even amongst themselves believe is destined to be the future religion of their country. Our four outstations, Sandila, Fathganj, Mau, and Gothainganj, still remain open, with the same staff of workers as in 1880. At one time we had seriously to face the question of curtailing some of the work, and reducing still more our already sadly reduced staff. But I am thankfull to say this was averted owing to the kind liberality of the Rev. H. W. Shackell, who in the course of the year forwarded to our Mission the sum of Rs. 725, with the special request that it should be devoted entirely to evangelistic work.

The educational work is still being vigorously prosecuted by the Rev. W. Seetal, together with his Christian fellow-teachers. I feel most thankful for Mr. Seetal's ordination, and for all the circumstances connected with it. He passed an excellent examination, heading the list of candidates, and was in consequence appointed to read the Gospel at the ordination service. I was myself at Benares, having gone specially to be present at the ordination, and the Bishop spoke to me most warmly of Seetal, not only of the excellent way in which he had answered the examination questions, but also of his high spiritual tone which had come out clearly in the course of the examination. As regards the funds of the school, we have been marvellously helped. Though sometimes brought very low, we have never yet failed to get the needed sum before the day for payment came. I am glad to say that we have been enabled to reopen a branch school which was closed for want of funds in 1880. I feel most strongly the missionary importance of these schools. I write this from camp; and in the very village where our tents are pitched—a village about twenty-five miles A Native schoolmaster in holy orders.

from Lucknow—the sub-postmaster is a young man who was educated in our Lucknow Church Mission School. He is liberal-minded, reads the New Testament, and is one out of many others scattered up and down the country, who having been trained in Mission schools or colleges, have a leaning more or less pronounced towards Christianity.

The pastoral work has been carried on with energy by the Rev. D. Solomon, our Native pastor.

The baptized Christians connected with the Lucknow Mission number 299, of whom 111 are communicants. There are 446 children under instruction.

FAIZABAD must be regarded for the present as an out-station of Lucknow, though the Committee trust that they may be able to reoccupy it. The Rev. F. Abel has ministered to the 128 Christians. He has been much helped by his wife and daughter, who have themselves carried on both day and Sunday-schools.

AGRA.

Agra: the staff.

This most important station has been very weakly manned during the year. The Rev. R. J. Bell has been in charge of St. John's College, and Mr. P. M. Zenker is the leader of the evangelistic agents. Mr. A. H. Wright has come home in consequence of the lamented death of his wife. The Rev. C. G. Daeuble, who returned to India in the autumn, is, with his daughters, now stationed at Agra, and will find a wide sphere for his energy and experience; and the Rev. H. Lewis, one of last year's Islington men, was sent out to assist in the College. The Rev. Katwari Lal was pastor of the congregation during 1881, but he has recently been appointed to assist Mr. Hooper in the work of the Divinity School at Allahabad.

St. John's College: its aim and its result.

No report has been received of St. John's; but from an account in the Calcutta C.M. Gleaner of the prize distribution on April 1st of the present year, it appears that the College has successfully passed its candidates in the university examinations. One student who passed the F.A. was a Christian. The chairman on the occasion, Dr. Valentine, the well-known medical missionary of Jeypore, told the 400 assembled students plainly that while the Christian men who conducted the institution had no thought of converting them by spells or charms, it was their great aim to produce in the minds of those they taught an honest conviction of the truth of Christianity; which remark was loudly applauded. That St. John's is doing that cannot be doubted; but alas! there is with the educated Hindus a great gulf between conviction and conversion.

Of the evangelistic work Mr. Zenker has sent a most graphic account, which is too long for quotation in these pages. In the preaching tour described, the Gospel was preached by him and his Native helpers in 279 villages, the inhabitants of many of which had never before even heard the name of the Saviour. Their ignorance Mr. Zenker fears more than the opposition of others; "for if, as I believe," he writes, "the village population will sooner or later come over to Christianity en masse, these crowds will simply swamp the Church, and though numerically swelling the ranks of congregations, seriously imperil the spirituality of the older members."

Accessions expected en masse.

The out-station of SECUNDRA, with its Christian village and orphanage, are still the sphere of labour of the Rev. J. Erhardt. "Our little congregation in the village," he writes, "has given us joy: all seem under the influence of the Gospel of Christ, and signs of progress in grace and knowledge are not wanting." The Bishop of Calcutta confirmed 73 young persons on December 7th. Mr. Erhardt's notice of his disposal of the grown-up orphans is interesting:—

What becomes of the orphans.

A party of our boys left for Ajmere to join the Government workshops; others entered the Agra Normal School and there offered themselves for spiritual employment; one is to commence as colporteur, and two are to join Missions as readers, with a view of completing their education by-and-by in the Theological School at Allahabad. From the Girls' Orphanage we have sent seven to the Benares Normal School; two have been married to catechists to assist in zenana work; one has been chosen by a Native Christian zemindar in Kolu to open a girls' school among the wild Paharis; a Native Mission doctor took away another for working in a dispensary for women. Nine of our girls have thus been chosen, and only one of the nine will not be in connexion with direct Mission work. There is great inquiry for suitable female agents in our days, and we thank the Lord that we are able to point out some for such honourable employment, who will not be blind leaders of the blind.

There is at Ajmere a small Christian community which is in fact a colony from Secundra. They have been earnestly asking the N.W.P. Native Church Council for a pastor. An acceptable man, however, was not found; and they have now obtained a lay catechist from the S.P.G. Mission at Delhi.

Of MATTRA and ALIGARH no report is to hand. The Rev. J. W. Stuart is still labouring at the latter place.

MÎRAT (MEERUT).

The Rev. I. G. Hermann Hoernle has continued in charge of this station, with its outlying agricultural Christian settlement of Ikla and the similar settlement at Annfield in the Dehra Dhûn valley, 140 miles off. The Native pastors are the Revs. D. Jeremy and J. Richard. Mr. Hoernle writes favourably of both these brethren; but otherwise his Annual Letter dwells rather on the disappointments of the work, particularly the lack of brotherly love among the peasants forming the Christian community, and want of fervent zeal on the part of the catechists. The varied agencies of the Mîrat Mission are admirably organized. May it please God the Holy Spirit to breathe fresh life into the people!

JABALPUR.

THE Rev. T. R. Hodgson is the superintending missionary at this important centre, and the Rev. Madho Ram, the pastor of the congregation, which comprises 112 souls, of whom twenty-nine are communicants. Mr. Hodgson's Annual Letter is extremely interesting, but its information must for these pages be condensed into a paragraph.* "The small Christian community is," he says, "a growing, living Church, and not a dead organism." "It obeys the law of all progress, natural and spiritual—first the blade, then the ear, after that the full corn in the ear." "The Rev. Madho Ram, our first Native pastor, has striven to be an example in word and deed." The local Church Committee, which is connected with the North-West Provinces Church Council, "shows a praiseworthy zeal in administering the secular matters of the Church, and deserves a word of praise for its financial abilities." Moreover, the Native Christians "give, not grudgingly or of necessity, but with a ready mind and willing heart." Monthly missionary meetings are held, and papers read by native brethren. There is a Sunday-school for non-Christian boys, in the teaching of which all the regular agents of the Mission and several volnnteers take part. There are fourteen weekday schools, including the High School, with 800 scholars, which are aided by the local Native Municipality, although the teaching of the Word of God is a prominent feature in the curriculum; and that this teaching is not without its effect is illustrated by the case of a Brahmin youth in the High School, whose marriage was forbidden by the girl's father at the last moment, because he was charged with being a Christian at heart. The lad, though making no open profession, let go his wealthy bride when a simple disclaimer would have secured her. To prevent Hindu opposition schools being started, Mr. Hodgson has felt it necessary to multiply his own; but, he says, "I have done so with much fear and trembling, that most terrible Damocles' sword of 'reduction' having been held threateningly over my head throughout the year. I do not ask for larger aid, but I most earnestly trust the Committee will spare to me the already existing grant." The book depôt is flourishing, and not only pays its own expenses, but gives its profits to the Mission. Of the evangelistic work Mr. Hodgson writes,—

The sword of Damocles.

> I should despair of giving you anything but the barest outlines of a work so varied in its incidents, so absorbing in its interest, as this. In crowded streets and secluded villages, amid the turmoil and chaffering of noisy bazaars, in the quiet courtyard of some village landholder, by lonely jungle-tracks, and where the sacred river flows silently along, all unconscious of the sorrowful tale of guilt and unworthiness poured into its hurrying stream by myriads of strange and dusky pilgrims; wherever, in fact, men do congregate, we have gone forth to them with the message of eternal life. Our catechists have laboured faithfully and well amid much obloquy and reproach.

Picture of evangelistic work.

Other noteworthy features of the Jabalpur Mission are the dispensary, carried on by a Native Christian, which has daily some thirty patients, to all of whom the Gospel is preached; the Native Bible-woman, supported by a grant from the Frances Ridley Havergal Fund; and the Local Mission Committee, among the members of which are the Commissioner of Jabalpur, the Deputy-Commissioner, the superintendent of Government Telegraphs, the civil surgeon of Damoh, the chaplain of the station, and a leading barrister. Thus do those Englishmen in India who take the trouble to inquire about missionary work (which many never do) find their interest awakened; and living on the spot, with the results, whether small or great, before their eyes, they are ready to give it active countenance and support.

MANDLA (GÔND MISSION).

The Revs. E. Champion and H. D. Williamson laboured together in this new Mission during the year. The work of making known the Gospel to the untutored Gônd people proves to be very difficult; but Mr. Williamson notes progress in three respects, viz. (1) "in the interest taken by the people in our preaching," (2) "in their understanding us and our aims," (3) "in our understanding them." To assist the progress in the two latter respects, Mr. Williamson travels from village to village without tents, in as quiet and unassuming a way as possible; while the progress in interest is illustrated by a man—the first Gônd met with who could read—coming eighty miles to get a copy of the Scriptures. Mr. Champion writes:—

Effect on the Gônd mind.

The results of the year's work among the Gonds are few and unimportant, as they appear recorded on paper; but they are material and marked to those who have faith and patience to value them aright. Not only is our presence as teachers of a beneficent religion acknowledged, but that religion itself has come forth from its surroundings of mist and unreality. Hitherto we have been known simply as occasional visitors, who came not for the enjoyment of sport, but to sit and talk kindly to the people. But now I am sure that, throughout a rather large area, we are not only welcomed as friends, but are known as teachers of certain specific truths; and those truths are chiefly these: (1) That no object or being but the great Creator is to be worshipped; and (2) that though we are sinners, that great God loves us, and sent His Son to be the one great sacrifice for the sins of all.

Recently I visited a small village in which no one had ever preached. I explained to my hearers the simple truths of Christianity, and told them of our objects and motives. Then the village watchman said, "I have heard that before." I said, "Where?" He replied, "At Mangalganj bazaar, when you and the lady were there." "And now," I said, "you must tell others who do not know." He assented, and added, "But we already take the name of Christ." We are often told this now, but, alas! it is pretty certain that they do not also give up their old worship. I met an old man named Lachi, one day. I have known him for several years. I said, "Well, Lachi, you have heard us preach very often. Whom do you worship?" He replied, "Isa Masih." "But," I continued, "do you worship Him alone?" "Yes, since you came and taught us, I have ceased to worship our deities—the 'Kher mai' (mother of the village) and the 'Maha mai' (great mother, goddess of small-pox) and all." I asked, "But are you sure that you do not worship some one of your old gods?" "Well, I have given up all except 'Narāyan Deo' (the sun), and by-and-by I shall give him up, too." They find it hard to get over their superstitious fear.

First reception of the glad tidings in a Gônd village.

But they readily assent to the reasonableness of what we say, as will be seen from what occurred in another village. No one had preached in it before, and Williamson and I were both present. It was after dark, and at least fifty Gonds and Baigas had collected round a good fire, and more came after we arrived. I preached first at some length, and then Williamson followed. In conversation afterwards we urged their reception of the truth. They said, "Of course, now you have come to us, we will obey. We heard you had given this message in neighbouring villages, but you never came to tell us. Now we have heard we will do as you bid us." Thus it is that this simple, lovable people receive our message.

These incidents are not striking, but they are truthful. And yet they by no means convey an adequate idea of the interest of the scene when (shading their faces from the fire with the hands, and stirred from their normal apathy) they look up with surprise and pleasure while we endeavour to set forth the unspeakable riches and loving-kindness of Christ. They receive so little kindness from others that they scarcely believe in its existence. But when assured of Christ's love to the weak, the sick and poor, and of His mighty deeds wrought in their behalf, these facts appeal to their sympathies, and they feel that despised as they are by Hindus and Mohammedans, there is One who does not forget or neglect them. Thus the Gospel, commended by its own intrinsic beauty and excellence, is assuredly winning its way among these children of the wilderness.

The Committee humbly thank God that a work so long contemplated and so often deferred has begun so hopefully. But the Mission has now sustained a heavy loss by the retirement of Mr. Champion, who has removed with his family to Australia after more than twenty-three years' faithful labours, chiefly at Jabalpur. The Committee propose to send a young missionary out this autumn.

KHAIRWARA (BHEEL MISSION).

First report from the Bheel Mission.

A most interesting first report has been received from the Rev. C. S. Thompson, the zealous missionary supported by Mr. Bickersteth's benefaction, describing the great difficulty he has experienced in getting access to the timid and suspicious highlanders, who doubted whether he had come to kill them or to levy fresh taxes; and the steps by which he has already succeeded, through patience and the exercise of his medical knowledge, in winning the confidence of many. Some brief extracts must be given :—

Bheel fears of the census.

The Indian census was taken last year: and as with the Santals, so with the Bheels, they could not understand the why or the wherefore. All kinds of absurd notions troubled their dark minds. Some said that our Queen was taking an account of their number, and the number of their cattle, in order to kill them all. Others thought that it was to impose fresh taxes. But others, getting still wider of the mark, said that a scheme was being prepared for giving the fat women to the fat men, and the lean women to the lean men. Well, what with the census and the Maharana of Oodeypore farming the spirit licences in that country, the poor ignorant people were stirred up to attack and kill three men and a woman complicated in the liquor question. Troops were at once marched through forty miles of their country, burning their páls, and shooting the people.

Difficulty of approaching the Bheels.

Things being so, when I visited the chiefs I hardly dared to speak upon any topic whatever. If I inquired about the family, then how very naturally might they have looked upon me as another enumerator. If I spoke about their cattle, fields, or crops, then the tax question might have disturbed their minds. To talk about God, I knew that with them, as with others, nothing could so readily or so strongly call forth their highest fears. There was, moreover, another obstacle to be overcome. I had hoped to have relieved sufferers, and to have gained a hearing by treating their sick. I found, however, that they were full of fear on this head also. A doctor, who had but just left Khairwara before my arrival, had succeeded, by paying premiums, in getting several Bheels into hospital to be operated upon. They have now a wholesome dread of the knife. The consequence is that, although there are hundreds of sufferers lying in the páls, it is a very rare thing indeed to see a Bheel man, woman, or child, near the dispensary. Of course they looked with suspicion upon me. When I made my appearance in their midst, they, in great fear, I am now told, asked one another, "Who is he? What does he want? What will he do? Has he come to kill us?"

When we began our visits it was almost next to impossible to get near the people, fear filled their minds. If we met any one, or passed a hut, I endeavoured to be as free and look as unconcerned as possible about things in general. Long before we got anywhere near them the children ran off to their homes as fast as their legs could carry them. Men and women, peeping round corners, or over the enclosures surrounding their houses, might be seen watching us in all directions.

Success of medical work as a pioneer of the Gospel.

Then we decided upon spending a week or so in one pál (village) instead of going from place to place. It soon became evident that our new plan was going to work admirably. In the evening we returned home. On the Tuesday we had 15 visits for medicine or treatment; on the Wednesday, 30; on Thursday, 45; on Friday, 59; and on Saturday, 58: total, 207. Among the number was the gammaiti (head-man) of the pál. On the Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday we held little meetings to make known the Saviour. We did not think it advisable to say too much in this way on our first prolonged visit. The great magnet for drawing the sinner is love. We wished, one day, to tell the poor souls around us how much God loved them. To our surprise we found that they had no word for love. The nearest is "háw"—a word used by the people when they meet one another, as "háw ho" = how are (you).

The way in which God, at times, works is marvellous. At the Obri pál, a day or two after our week's work had ended, a woman, a relative of the chief's family, died. A great dinner was given. Twenty gammaities assembled; among the number the two who accompany me in my visits. The Sahib's work and medicines were talked about. The consequence was that the two gammaities were commissioned by the others to give me their "bahut, bahut salááms" (very best wishes), and, also, were to say that they all wished me to go and live among them.

Very earnestly would the Committee commend a work like this, needing so much patience and tact and faith and simplicity, to the special prayers of the Society's friends.

PANJÂB AND SINDH MISSION.

SINDH: Karachi, 1850; Hydrabad, 1856.

The great mission-fields of the Panjâb.

THE PANJÂB and SINDH present as important and hopeful a field for the enterprise of the Church of Christ as ever, whether the great cities of Lahore and Amritsar be looked at, with their numerous and noble missionary institutions, or the myriad villages of the Doabs, in which English ladies are now in the field as pioneer evangelists, or the valley of Kashmir with its Medical Mission, or Peshawar and the other links in the chain of Missions along the Afghan frontier, or the new Mission to the Beluchis, or the busy port of Karâchi. The veterian senior missionary and secretary of the Corresponding Committee, the Rev. Robert Clark, after thirty years' labours, writes in a recent letter:—"It would almost seem as if the blessing were near. Encouragement is met with on every side. It would seem as if the reaping-time were at no very distant date about to take the place of the sowing, or at any rate that the reaping and sowing may now go on together."

Reaping-time near.

An Urdu Commentary on the Book of Revelation.

Let one incidental illustration of advance merely in the agencies at work be mentioned. It is little more than three years ago since Mr. Hooper, now at Allahabad (as already mentioned), was Principal of the Lahore Divinity School, and was delivering Urdu lectures on the Book of Revelation, full and careful notes of which were taken by one of his students. This year those notes have been published as a Commentary for the use of the Native Church, and that student has been ordained as assistant-teacher in the College. An illustration may also be given of the influence of Mission Schools, the importance of which has been so strongly pressed upon the Society lately by Bishop French. At a station in the Panjâb the missionary was requested by some of the elder non-Christian students to hold a Sunday Bible-class for such as liked to attend. One Sunday he expressed a suspicion that most of them had no higher motive in coming than to practise themselves in English. "There was something," he writes, "so meek and sad in the silence with which they received my words, that I quite regretted having uttered them." Two of the lads stayed behind to assure him that every one who came was convinced of the truth of Christianity, though they would not all acknowledge it even to one another. Yet they are kept from open profession "by the dread of the severance of all natural ties and of the ruin of earthly prospects." Well does this same missionary take up Mr. Gordon's motto, and, content to work for eternity, say, "Let Thy work appear unto Thy servants, and Thy glory unto their children."

The Panjâb Native Church Council.

The Panjâb Native Church Council, at their last annual meeting, made a noteworthy forward move. They have undertaken the entire charge of the village Missions in the rural districts surrounding Amritsar, and have appointed the Rev. Mian Sadiq Masih as their own missionary, to reside at Jhandiala, the same village where Miss Clay, the devoted honorary lady missionary, has her headquarters. They also maintain the out-station of Majitha mentioned last year. The Mission in the Kulu valley, also then mentioned, has been taken over by the Rev. F. H. Baring, as part of the independent work now carried on by him. One of the interesting incidents of the Council Meeting at Christmas was the presentation, by the catechist they had employed in that Mission, Munshi Mohan Lal, of a translation by him of the Gospels and Acts into the Thakari dialect spoken in Kulu. Very important discussions took place on this occasion, upon Village Missions, and upon the best way of raising up a higher class of lay and clerical Native agents, and upon Sunday-schools; papers being read by Mr. Mya Das, the Rev. Mian Sadiq, Mr. George Lewis (a Native Government official), Babu Ishan Chander Singha, and the Rev. Dina Nath. The whole of the papers and speeches would well deserve transplanting bodily into this Report. It is one of the disadvantages of the Society's ever-growing work that so much that is of deep interest has to be passed over with the barest allusion. The Committee do, however, render unfeigned thanks to God for the growing strength and Christian spirit manifested by these Native Church Councils.

Support of the Lieut.-Governors.

The Panjâb Mission has from the first owed much to the hearty and fearless support of the rulers and other high officials of the province. The Committee are glad to notice that this support is still accorded. Sir Robert Egerton, the late Lieut.-Governor, himself laid the corner-stone of the new church lately built for the Lahore Native congregation by the exertions of Dr. Weitbrecht, besides being a liberal contributor to it; and Sir Charles Aitchison, who has now succeeded him, is in full sympathy with missionary work.

The Committee have lately added two other missionaries to the Panjâb staff, viz. the Rev. E. Guilford, and Dr. Henry Martyn Clark. The latter, an Afghan by birth, and the adopted son of the Rev. R. and Mrs. Clark, having been educated at Edinburgh, and having taken high medical honours there, offered himself to the Society as a medical missionary; and it was a special satisfaction to the Committee to send out to their beloved friend, Mr. Clark, one so dear to him, to be engaged in preaching the kingdom of God and healing the sick under his own eye. Dr. Clark has married a Scottish lady who desires to consecrate herself with him to missionary work; and friends at home will not fail to give them special remembrance in prayer to God.*

AMRITSAR.

The Rev. W. Keene was the missionary in general charge of this station during the year. He has since come home on furlough, and is succeeded by the Rev. T. R. Wade, who was engaged during 1881 in the visitation of the out-stations, and for a few months in Kashmir. The Rev. A. T. Fisher is Principal of the High School, and also superintends the other boys' schools in the city. Mr. H. F. Beutel and Mrs. Reuther have superintended the Boys' and Girls' Orphanages; but the latter is now succeeded, on her removal to Kangra (vide infra) by the Rev. Bhola Nath Ghose and Mrs. Ghose, who have been transferred to the city from Narowal. Mrs. Grime, who was, during part of the year in charge of the Alexandra Girls' Boarding School, has been lent for a time to the Indian Female Normal School Society for its Normal School at Allahabad; Miss Henderson, a lady missionary of the Church of England Zenana Missionary Society, which is strongly represented at Amritsar, having gone out again to her old post at the head of the Alexandra School. Another of the ladies of the C.E.Z.M.S. has charge of the Lady Lawrence Girls' Schools connected with the C.M.S.; and the rest so combine their operations with those of the C.M.S. missionaries, as to make them very important members of the united "Amritsar Church Mission." The four Native clergymen are as last year: the Rev. Imad-ud-din, preacher to the Native congregation (with an assistant catechist for the pastoral work), and also lecturer and writer on theological subjects; the Rev. Daud Singh, pastor of Clarkabad; the Rev. Mian Sadiq Masih, itinerating evangelist; and the Rev. Bhola Nath Ghose, hitherto pastor and schoolmaster at Narowal, but now transferred to Amritsar, as above mentioned.

Amritsar: the staff.

* Interesting notices of the Panjâb Mission occur in a narrative of the Bishop of Calcutta's recent tour, C.M. Intelligencer, April, 1882.

The congregations.

There are 708 souls connected with the Christian congregations in AMRITSAR and its out-stations, including Narowal, Batâla, Clarkabad, Jhandiala, Taran Taran, Fathgarh, Uddoki, Purian, and Majitha. But in this number are reckoned the inmates of the orphanages (28 boys and 51 girls), as well as the 47 Christian girls in the Alexandra School. The adults are a smaller proportion than in many Missions, being only 303; and of these, 141 are women. There are 61 Christian men at Amritsar, 22 at Batâla, 65 at Clarkabad, and 14 at the other villages; which shows that the work is even yet only in its infancy. But Mr. Keene well observes, "Thank God, if we cannot point to numbers, we can to men who, for fine intellectual powers, Christian zeal, Christian graces, good sound practical ability, and manly independence, are an ornament and strength to the Church of this province. Mere numbers are no recommendation to any body of men, however formed."

The epidemic at Amritsar and its effects.

The principal event of the year at Amritsar was a sad one. It pleased God to lay upon the city a terrible visitation of cholera and fever. Out of a population of 150,000, no less than 10,444 died, and many thousands besides suffered severely. On one day, Oct. 3rd, 268 persons died, the ordinary death rate per diem being twenty-five. But in His infinite mercy God spared the Christians. Not a single adult Christian died; only five young children. But the effect on the Mission was for the time disastrous. As one of the Zenana ladies writes, "The black cloud of sickness and death settled on the city, closing schools and houses, and putting an end to all work but that of ministering to the sick." That work, however, was done, as only heroic Christian women could do it. Miss S. S. Hewlett, the devoted medical missionary of the Zenana Society, came back from the hills in the midst of the pestilence, and though ill herself, fearlessly went in and out among the people to relieve their sufferings and point them to the great Healer. Advantage was taken of the visit of the Bishop of Calcutta in November to hold a special service in the mission church for confession and supplication to God on behalf of the city, at which both he and the Bishop of Lahore addressed a large and attentive congregation, the former taking as a text the words, "See that ye refuse not Him that speaketh." A meeting of the leading Native (non-Christian) gentlemen of the city was also convened, that the Bishops might express their sympathy with them. "I trust," wrote the Metropolitan, "that our meeting may have contributed something towards strengthening the bonds of union between Native and European." It can scarcely be that this heavy visitation had not in it the gracious purpose of softening some hearts to receive the divine message. One of the Zenana ladies writes, "Being called one day into the house of a Native doctor, he told me that when he was so ill, and hundreds were dying around him, he began to think that this world was indeed kuchh nahin (nothing at all), and would I come and teach him and his family about the other world and how to get there?" Babu Elias, the oldest catechist in the Mission, who was baptized in 1854, and has been preaching Christ ever since, says:—"People were so anxious to find out the source and cause of this trouble that I was often and often invited to their homes to talk on the subject, which gave me many an opportunity of gently leading them to Jesus."

Converts at Amritsar.

Through the instrumentality of this old evangelist one of the most interesting converts of the year has been won to Christ. This is Kharak Singh, municipal engineer of the city. For six years Babu Elias was seeking his soul; and he was baptized by Mr. Keene on February 10th of this year. Of two female converts also Mr. Keene gives an account which cannot be read without a sense of the "mysterious way" God moves in, "His wonders to perform:"—

Of six women baptized, five are connected with the medical branch of the Zenana Mission established in this city. Two of these call for special remark, because the foundation of their knowledge of Christianity was laid some thirty years ago by an honoured lady, Mrs. Fitzpatrick, the wife of one of the founders of this Mission.

In those early days, "the day of small things," Mrs. F. made an attempt to teach the women of this city. Adjoining the room she took in the city, in the next house lived two Kashmírí girls, the daughters of a pashmína merchant. These girls said, We cannot visit you unless you make a hole in the wall—then we will come and see you. This was done, and these two girls came under Mrs. F.'s instruction and her high Christian influence.

Mrs. F. eventually left for Multán with her husband, and the instruction given does not appear to have been followed up by any other lady. The girls did not, however, pass entirely out of sight, nor were they entirely unheard of. The wife of a Native Christian of this Mission was attacked by a terrible bodily affection. And who were the nurses of this afflicted woman? Why, these two Moslem women, who, under very trying surroundings, for the disease was a loathsome one, with assiduity and love exhibited the spirit of another Master than him to whom they were tied by their hereditary profession. A noble Christian lady of the American Presbyterian Mission was in the habit, during her journeys up and down the railway, to take up her position in the third-class carriages, allotted to Native women, for the purpose of instructing her fellow-travellers. On one of these occasions, while engaged in her work of love, a woman at the other end of the carriage opened her mouth and gave utterance to her knowledge of the Gospel. When asked where she had learned this, she answered, from Mrs. Fitzpatrick. These are the only two episodes, which to our knowledge occurred between those early days and what took place at the end of the last year.

Then one of them fell ill, and the lady in charge of the medical hospital was in the providence of God led to pay her a visit. She became an inmate of the hospital, and again came under Christian instruction there. They both came several times to me for examination, previous to their baptism, which holy rite was administered to them by me on December 28th last. Is not this narrative another striking instance of those words so often fulfilled, "Cast thy bread upon the waters: for thou shalt find it after many days"?

Educational institutions at Amritsar.

All the schools and institutions suffered by the epidemic. The High School, which had done extremely well in the Government examinations, was closed for a time, and on reopening, its numbers were greatly reduced. In August there were 703 names on the books of this and the other boys' schools; at the close of the year there were 558. In the Girls' Orphanage, not a single girl escaped the fever; yet every one, by God's mercy, recovered. This institution has been admirably conducted by Mrs. Reuther. She reports:—

This institution was established in the early days of the Amritsar Mission for the purpose of receiving unclaimed heathen girls, found wandering about the streets of the city, or in villages in the district, and bringing them up as Christians. A large number of such waifs and strays have, in the course of years, been sent, especially in times of famine, partly by government officials, partly by benevolent persons, who not unfrequently undertook also to pay for their maintenance. Of these girls, rescued from starvation and other evils, many are now respected Christian wives and mothers. Several are working as Bible-women or school-teachers, and all are, we trust, endeavouring to lead others to Christ, if not by actual teaching, at least by their Christian conversation and conduct.

The orphanage is, however, not only open for children picked up in the bazaars and villages, but admits also orphans of Christian parentage, and the daughters of poor Native Christians. Among the latter are many who have embraced Christianity as adults, and not having learnt any trade, or acquired knowledge in their youth, are earning but a scanty livelihood, and have not the means to pay for the education of their children.

During the year six new comers were admitted, and seven girls left. Six of the latter married and went to homes of their own, where, we hope, they will faithfully fulfil their new duties, and be shining lights among the heathen around them.

In March the Bishop of Lahore confirmed eleven girls. During his stay at Amritsar he visited the orphanage and wrote in the Log Book:—"The work is honest and thorough, pursued vigorously and with true aims, and pains will not be spared to raise up a valuable class of Christian mothers, whose lives will be bright and speechful examples to their Indian sisters, exercising an attractive influence Christwards."

The Boys' Orphanage has been removed to the Christian village of Clarkabad, which will enable its excellent superintendent, Mr. H. F. Beutel, to wield influence over the people there for good. The Native pastor, the venerable Rev. Daud Singh, asked for some help of the kind, both he and his wife being now in poor health.

Of the Alexandra Christian Girls' Boarding School, the Bishop of Calcutta wrote :—

It gave me great pleasure to be able to visit this grand school, of which I had already heard so much, and I soon came to the conclusion that grand as are the buildings, they are only in keeping with the very superior character of the work carried on within them. It may be, as I am told, the day of small things in the Panjáb so far as great results in the way of conversions from heathenism and Mohammedanism are concerned, but the stream flowing out from such a school as this must, in time, have an influence, which will make the wilderness a very garden of the Lord. I was much struck with the brightness and happiness which seemed to reign over all.

Literary work of the Rev. Imad-ud-din.

It is a matter of extreme thankfulness that an entirely new translation of the Book of Common Prayer has been made during the course of the year. Our dear Bishop has been very assiduously engaged in the work, and has bestowed a great deal of labour and attention on it. I was present with him at the Murree Hills for about a month and a half. The Rev. Messrs. Shirreff and Hooper have also been very actively engaged in it. Papers from other quarters regarding this translation were also on the table. This is a better translation than the former. All the objectionable phraseology has been removed, and a new and idiomatic and acceptable translation is now put forth in the hands of the public. I was engaged in its revision for about three months previously, and had to rewrite it from beginning to end, which has cost me a deal of time and attention. Similar efforts were also put forth by other members of the Committee of Revision. I am thankful to say that this work has been thus successfully brought to a close, and hope that the Church will be profited by it.

Another most important work, which I was compelled to take in hand, was the preparation of a refutation of the new religious views promulgated by the Honourable Maulví Syud Ahmad Khán, K.C.S.I. From a long time I had given up the idea of writing controversial books, but when I found that the Maulví's efforts were directed very largely against Christianity, and were becoming a very great obstacle in the way of weaker Christians, it was deemed advisable that some effort be put forth in that direction. But this called for extra and a steady application. All of his works and articles that have yet been written had to be collected, and very carefully read, and his views had to be carefully sifted before anything could be said or written about it, and thus a very great part of my time was devoted to it. But as one large and consolidated work would have necessitated very great delay, I thought it best to issue it in parts. The work is entitled Tauqíd ul Khiyálát. In this work some fifteen or twenty of the particular objections will be scrutinized. Nos. 1 and 2 of the series have already been prepared, and are now in course of circulation among the members of the Urdú Sub-Committee of the Panjáb Religious Book Society. The other numbers I hope to get through during the course of the present year. It is hoped that twelve numbers will finish the discussion.

Mr. and Mrs. Baring at Batâla.

Concerning BATÂLA, although the Corresponding Committee have included the 107 souls composing its Christian community in the statistical return of the C.M.S. Mission, it is not properly the province of the Society to report, the Rev. F. H. Baring having now, under the arrangement noticed last year, entered upon the independent charge of the whole Batâla district and maintenance of the mission agencies there. He returned to India at the close of 1881, with Mrs. Baring, who had (as Mrs. Elmslie) been so well known for her noble labours at Amritsar ever since Dr. Elmslie's death. The Committee cannot pass over Batâla without wishing their dear friends the heartiest God-speed, and commending them, as well as Miss Tucker—to whom that mission owes so much, and who has been so happily described by the Bishop of Calcutta's chaplain as presiding over it "with all the tact and grace of a benevolent fairy"—to the prayers and sympathy of the Society's friends. One fact regarding Batâla, however, must be mentioned. Bishop French speaks of a Pandit at Oduki, a village five miles off, who embraced Christianity some years ago, but who was for a time shaken in his faith. On March 22nd last year he delivered a lecture to a crowded audience, chiefly Christians and Hindus, but with a sprinkling of Sikhs and Mohammedans, in which he gave the results of a long and careful comparison he had made between the Hindu and Christian sacred books, and avowed his full faith in Christ. "It was a memorable occasion," justly remarks the Bishop; "every one such can hardly fail to tell on India's future."

LAHORE.

Lahore Divinity School.

The Rev. F. A. P. Shireff, Principal of the Divinity School, has come home on furlough; but he was at his post throughout the year, together with the Rev. H. U. Weitbrecht, who is now in charge during his absence. Six students were sent forth from the college at the beginning of last long vacation, four of whom are now engaged in the C.M.S. Missions at Amritsar, Pind Dadan Khan, Gorakpur, and Agra; one under Mr. Baring at Batâla; and one in the S.P.G. Delhi Mission. The Native assistant-teacher, the Rev. Dina Nath, received holy orders from the Bishop of Lahore on December 18th. Dr. Weitbrecht writes, "As compared with former years, our present students are intellectually a moderate average. Morally and spiritually I am better satisfied with them." The standard of theological education maintained will be gathered from Mr. Shireff's summary of the subjects of his lectures during the year :—

The Book of Isaiah (with Delitzsch and Kay); the Gospel according to St. John (with Godet); the Pastoral Epistles (with Alford and Ellicott); the Nicene Creed (Pearson and Forbes); the textual criticism of the New Testament, with some account of the MSS., versions, &c. (Hammond and Scrivener); Church History (Smith's Manual and Dictionaries of Christian Biography and Antiquities, with occasional reference to original sources); the Prayer-book (Humphry, Daniel, &c.); the History of the Doctrine of the Person of Christ (Hooper's Urdu version of Dorner). At the missionary meetings on Friday evenings I have lately been giving the students accounts of some of the chief missionaries in the sixth and seventh centuries.

In speaking of the open-air preaching carried on by the missionaries and students, Dr. Weitbrecht notices signs of a Mohammedan revival :—

Signs of a Moslem revival.

There seem to be decided signs of revival of Islam, though the revival itself can hardly be said to have taken place. I notice, more frequently than formerly, little knots of Muslims extemporizing a place of prayer, and going ostentatiously through their prostrations and other forms in unison, with one acting as Imam, or leader. I have also noticed the cry of the muezzin proceeding from old mosques (in which the suburbs of Lahore abound) that before had been unused. The Anjuman i Islamiya, or Society of Islam, is making considerable efforts to bind together for common action the various Mohammedan sects, and to provide for proselytes and preachers. At the annual I'd (or festival) a number of Hindus are usually admitted during the great service held in the Badshahi Masjid (Royal Mosque), and the other day a suit was heard in one of the courts connected with a case of successful proselytism by a Mohammedan countryman which had resulted in the conversion of several Hindus, whose co-religionists were retaliating by persecution. At the same time a large quantity of stone brought here for the repairs of the Royal Mosque has lain in its courtyard ever since I have been in Lahore, and none of our wealthy Muslims have cared to contribute sufficient for the placing of it.

The new church for the Native congregation, built mainly by Dr. Weitbrecht's efforts, is now finished. The first stone was laid (as before mentioned) by Sir Robert Egerton, the Lieut.-Governor, in March last year; and on February 15th of this year the Bishop of Lahore opened it for the service of God. The Native pastor, the Rev. Yakub Ali, has been working, says Dr. Weitbrecht, "industriously, and not without a blessing."

KÔTGÛR, KANGRA, AND SIMLA.

Fate of proposed retrenchments at Kangra, &c.

The Committee have received earnest and reiterated appeals against the proposed withdrawal of European missionaries from Kôtgûr and Kangra, from the Bishop and the Archdeacon of Lahore, the Corresponding Committee, the Missionary Conference, and individual missionaries. Fortified by the opinion of several members of their own body who know the Punjab well, the Committee were very desirous to carry out their purpose of concentrating rather than scattering the necessarily limited missionary force in the province, and to commit the small congregations at these hill-stations and Simla to the care of Native pastors. Suitable men for the pastorates, however, are not yet forthcoming; and the Committee have felt it impossible to disregard the strong appeals made to them. They have accordingly sanctioned the location of the Rev. A. Bailey (who is released from Dera Ismail Khan by Mr. Thwaites's return) at Kôtgûr, and of Mrs. Reuther at her late husband's old station of Kangra, which she is fully competent to superintend, catechists being placed under her.

Of the importance of KANGRA in itself there is no doubt. It is one of the centres of Hinduism. Bishop French calls it "the Benares of the Punjab." It was visited by several of the missionaries in the course of last year; and they write warmly of the good work done in the school still maintained there, some boys in which have avowed their faith in Christ. Twelve miles from Kangra is the hill-station of Dharamsâla, where an honorary catechist, connected with the Punjab Native Church Council, has been labouring. The majority of the Christians there are bandsmen in the Goorkha regiment.

On SIMLA, Dr. Weitbrecht reports. There is a congregation there of 86 souls. The Native Christian who has long acted as honorary lay pastor, Thomas Edwards, has now given up a good situation to enter the service of the Punjab Church Council on a much lower salary, and has entered the Lahore Divinity College to receive some theological training before beginning his regular work.

PIND DÂDAN KHAN.

Memory of G. M. Gordon.

Dr. Weitbrecht reports also on this station, so closely associated with the memory of George Maxwell Gordon. The Native agent who worked under Mr. Gordon, Charles Matthews, is still in charge of the district, no European missionary being at present available. The latter writes, "The noble and self-denying life of Mr. Gordon lives in the memory of the people;" but so far there is little disposition manifested to embrace the faith he preached. Both evangelistic and school work, however, are patiently carried on.

MULTÂN.

The Rev. Trevor Bomford and the Rev. Henry Rountree are the missionaries at this station. Mr. Briggs has come to England on sick leave; but his energetic wife (a Native lady, well-known to the Society's friends) has remained at Multân with her adopted daughter, and their familiarity with the vernacular has been a great advantage to the Mission under the circumstances. When Mr. Bomford and Mr. Rountree are able to use it freely, they will find a wide sphere for their most zealous efforts, there being no other Christian missionaries in a district with a population of a million and three quarters. The principal work carried on at present is educational; and this has been much interrupted by the serious feuds between the Hindu and Moslem sections of the population, which culminated in open riots in September last.

There are three out-stations, Bahawalpur, Shujabad, and Muzaffagarh. At the two former there are good schools under Native Christian head-masters. Bahawalpur is the capital of the independent Mohammedan state of that name. It was visited in October last by the Bishops of Calcutta and Lahore, who were entertained by the Nawab himself, and accompanied by him to the prize distribution. Bishop Johnson's chaplain thus describes the scene:—

> At the station the Metropolitan was received by the Bishop of Lahore, the Multan missionaries, the Rev. T. Bomford and Mr. Briggs, and Miss Briggs, and by the Nawab's Mushir. Carriages had been provided, in which the party drove some two miles to the fine palace built and furnished in European style—in which, however, the Nawab does not now care to reside—where they were entertained for the remainder of the day.
> At 4.30 p.m. a great function was held in the C.M.S. school in the city, the object of the present visit. The scene was a very picturesque one—the great courtyard before the school filled with some 240 bright-eyed and brightly-dressed lads, the large daïs at the upper end arranged with gilt thrones for the Nawab and the Bishops, and with simpler seats for the guests of lower degree—notables of the State, parents of the boys, &c., &c. The Nawab, who was received with a salute, is the picture of a Beluch chieftain, swarthy and burly, wearing the baggy Sindhi trousers, a tunic entirely covered with gold, over which his black ringlets fell below the shoulders, and a green and orange pagri fully a foot high and two feet in diameter. He was accompanied and surrounded by a large number of wild-looking armed retainers, the simple attire and quiet demeanour of the two Christian Bishops forming a striking contrast to their barbaric surroundings. The school report was read, prizes presented to six boys who had passed the Middle School examination, and eloquent speeches made by both Bishops, the Bishop of Lahore repeating in Hindustani the substance of the Metropolitan's address before proceeding to his own remarks. The ceremony over, the boys were left to the enjoyment of a display of fireworks, while the Bishops and their party returned to dine at the palace.

DERA GHAZI KHAN (BELUCH MISSION).

The new Beluch Mission.

It was the desire of the late Mr. Gordon, in founding this Mission, that an ordained and a medical missionary should be associated together in the work. The Rev. Arthur Lewis and Dr. Andrew Jukes were appointed in 1878, and have continued their joint labours ever since their arrival at Dera Ghazi Khan in April, 1879. They have been anxiously seeking for a locality nearer to the Beluch country itself, in which the Medical Mission might be established; but hitherto the difficulties have proved insuperable, notwithstanding the cordial assistance of Sir R. Sandeman, Mr. Fryer, and other Government officials. Dr. Jukes's dispensary is therefore still in the city, where the population, though Mohammedan, is not Beluch to any large extent. It is now hoped that Harrand may prove to be the right locality. Meanwhile, the two missionaries have been able to go up each summer into the mountains to Fort Munro, which, though occupied by British troops, is just beyond the frontier, and thus both medical work and religious conversation have been carried on among the Beluch tribes. By this friendly intercourse they have sought gradually to become known to the hill-people and to win their attention to the Gospel massage. There is also a handful of Native Christians in Dera Ghazi Khan itself to be ministered to, and many opportunities there for evangelistic effort. Mr. Lewis gives some particularly graphic illustrations of the latter work:—

Preaching at a mela.

On March 11th and 12th, two days of our annual horse fair at Dera Ghazi Khan, when there is a great gathering from the neighbouring districts, I was anxious to seize the opportunity of preaching to those assembled. Early in the morning the colporteur and another Native Christian were sent off with Testaments, Gospels, and tracts, in order to have the whole day for selling books. Soon after mid-day, Isaac, the dispenser, and I started for the scene of the mela (horse fair). We soon found the colporteur in the thick of the crowd driving a brisk trade. We commenced by all singing a sacred bhajan (Christian words set to a Native air), which is a certain way of attracting a crowd. Then followed preaching, in which Isaac took part. After about an hour of this we went to rest under some trees at a little distance from the crowd. We were followed by an old man, who turned out to be a faqir from Sakhi Sarwar. He recognized me as the same padre whom he had seen preaching at their great gathering the year before. His conversation was similar to that which one often hears: "How much pay do you draw from Government?" "None," said I; "I have nothing to do with Government; I am sent by religious people in England, because Christ told His disciples to preach the Gospel. I am a faqir, like yourself." He seemed rather incredulous, and turned to Isaac for confirmation of what I said. Then he asked, "Where do you live? in cantonments?" "No," I replied; "I live in the serai (the native inn in the city.)" "Well," he exclaimed, "then you are a paka faqir!" [i.e. a real, out-and-out faqir]. A paka faqir.

The next day saw us again in the crowd. We sang our bhajans and preached. After this I sat down on a box, somewhat tired, intending to watch the bookselling, but this was not to be. As long as I sat there questions were sure to be asked and answered; so that I soon found myself engaged in a sort of conversational preaching with the crowd around. Like the woman of Samaria, the first thoughts of these people seem to be of the externals of religion, to the neglect of religion itself. "Are you," asked one man who constituted himself the chief questioner, "allowed by your religion to eat pig?" I read the 7th chapter of St. Mark's Gospel, showing him that our religion consists of something higher than eating and drinking; that not that which enters a man defiles him, but that which comes forth—angry words, evil actions, adulteries, thefts, &c.

DERA ISMAIL KHAN AND BANNU.

The Revs. W. Thwaites and T. J. L. Mayer have returned to their old posts in the Derajât, but the report on DERA ISMAIL KHAN is from the Rev. A. Bailey, who was in charge of that station during the year. The school, which has in past years produced some interesting converts (one of whom is now in the Society's College at Islington), continues to be well conducted and to afford a great opportunity of making known the truth. Evangelistic preaching has also been kept up with earnestness and persistency by Mr. Bailey and his catechist and colporteur, both in the bazaars and caravanserais in the town, and in the surrounding district. In describing this branch of his work, Mr. Bailey introduces a most suggestive and interesting notice of the Medical Mission at Tank, where the excellent Native brother, the Rev. John Williams, ministers with so much zeal and patience to both the bodies and souls of the wild frontier people:—

The Native Medical Mission at Tank: its wide-spread influence;

An interesting episode was my conversation with the Mahsud Wazirees, who were detained in Dera as hostages during the recent expedition into the hills beyond Tank. Among these were many men of respectable position, who spoke quite affectionately of their former acquaintance with Mr. Bruce and Mr. French (our present beloved Bishop), and others. And here I gained an incidental testimony to the wide-spread influence of the Tank Medical Mission, and of "our fakeer doctor," whom every one of these rough hill rangers knew, and knowing loved. Many a time had they sought to make him their mediator to negotiate terms with the English Government; but without offending them, he prudently refrained from associating himself with either party. Probably there is only one foreigner (not to say Christian) who would be able to go through the Gumal Pass into the very centre of the Waziree country, except at the risk of his life, and that one is Dr. John Williams. Such is their gratitude for the wide-spread benefits received through the Tank Medical Mission, and such is the value of a philanthropic agency like this, as a pioneer to the blessed Gospel itself.

I claim for that Mission that it has accomplished the work of a pioneer for the Gospel, but this is all. Though I firmly believe that the foundation of a Church of Christ has there been laid in the faithful preaching of Christ crucified, yet to the best of my knowledge no living stone has yet been built upon that foundation. And the cause of this, humanly speaking, is apparent. The very success of the Mission as a hospital and dispensary has proved the chief obstacle in the way of its fruitfulness as a mission-field. Although the work, or rather the crying demand for the work, has increased tenfold in the last few years, yet we have only one agent paid by the Society, and he is supposed to perform the duties of pastor, evangelist, physician, surgeon, and many others all himself. Jealous of his calling as an ordained minister of Christ, the doctor has often snatched an hour or two to preach the Gospel, and with this object has limited the number of his patients, shutting a deaf ear (so to speak) to many a piteous cry of distress, and "passed by on the other side" to the duties of his higher calling, though not without some serious misgiving as to whether he might not be mistaken. Again and again has he appealed to me to send him a helper that he might be more free to preach the Gospel, and his appeals I have not failed to repeat to the Punjab Medical Mission Society, and our own Corresponding Committee, but without success.

Why "without success"? It is sufficient to say that under the head of Native agents, the Estimates Committee had reluctantly to reduce the Punjab grant last year from Rs. 7674 to Rs. 4356. Why that was necessary it is not for the Committee but for the Society's supporters to say.

The work at BANNU is of the same kind as at Dera Ismail Khan; but the Mohammedan Mullahs are more bitter in their hostility. Mr. Mayer, in a recent letter, gives a vivid picture of the personal dangers attending his public preaching:—

Violent antagonism of Moslem mullahs.

The preaching in the bazaar on Friday, when lots of men from the tribes come in here, has reached a crisis. The Mullahs, who all along have been most troublesome, have resorted to open violence, pulling and pushing me about and knocking the books out of my hand, and giving me now and then a stone or a stick by way of a change. They pulled my turban off, and pulled me from my steps which I am obliged to use to get above the crowd. Were it not for the British Government, you would very soon have to send another messenger here.

So altogether we have had a pretty storm of it. But I have one great cause of thankfulness. With the few copies of the Psalms in Pushtu, which have been run through the press for me, I can get crowds to listen, and can keep them listening, but the moment I get on to a prophecy of Christ and tell the story of His great love, then in come these fanatical Mullahs and drive away the crowd. This they repeat again and again, but I go straight on and take no notice of them. Lately I have shut up all interruptions which came direct by my book or person being seized, by saying, "When I have finished, sir, I shall be most happy to answer any questions you may be pleased to ask me." In this way, several very sensible questions have been asked. I was much comforted a week ago by hearing one Ghilzai answer a Mullah who was driving him away out of the crowd saying, "Khwund lari" —"it tastes nice, how can we help listening?"

I only wish you could hear the row sometimes. I always thought I had a fair pair of lungs, but all that conceit has been taken out of me lately. When about twenty or thirty Mullahs are driving away a crowd the roar is something deafening: omnibuses, cabs, and drovers' carts at the bottom of Ludgate Hill are nothing to it, and it is very difficult to keep up one's voice so as to be heard above the roar. I generally find an hour and a half as much as I can stand, and croak like a raven for the rest of the day.

Pushtu Psalter holding hearers spell-bound.

Qazi A. K. is invaluable, and to his faithful and conscientious labour on the Psalms with me I owe all the crowds that have gathered lately in the bazaar; the language simply holds them spell-bound, and every line of the Word of life seems to find eager ears. How will it be, I ask myself, when the Gospels are as clear?

Austin's printing is greatly admired, and not a few of the better class of Mullahs have taken up the book, and, after reading it to the crowd themselves, have returned it to me with a salaam. But one needs great strength, and feels great weakness.

"Your prayers," says Mr. Mayer in another letter, "will not be wanting for our Pushtu translations, and their safe conduct through the press, and for the little knot of listeners in the city of Sir Herbert Edwardes."

PESHAWAR.

The Afghan Mission.

The Committee are always thankful to be able to mention the names of the same missionaries year after year at the same stations; and it is a matter for special gratitude to God that the Revs. T. P. Hughes and Worthington Jukes, after seventeen and nine years respectively, should still be vigorously labouring for Christ in the climate of the Peshawar Valley, and in the midst of a fanatical Afghan population—for Peshawar, let it ever be remembered, is in the main an Afghan city. During the latter's absence in England last year, the Rev. C. Merk spent some months at the station; and the Rev. J. H. Knowles has been appointed to it permanently. The Rev. Imam Shah also continues his faithful labours as Native pastor.

Mr. Hughes's report is not less interesting than in former years. The difficulties of work among the Afghans are strikingly presented in the following passage:—

Sad state of society on the Afghan frontier.

To give you some idea of the state of society in this part of British Afghanistan, I may mention that, at the present moment, not fewer than twelve men are under sentence of death in the Peshawar gaol. These are men whose hospitality I have partaken of, and whose friendship I have enjoyed when I have visited their villages in past years.

One brave old chief (Rasaldar Fateh Khan Khatak), a very great friend of mine, shot one of his creditors in a fit of passion, and was sentenced to transportation for life. But he died in gaol of a broken heart before he was removed from the prison. He was a most distinguished commissioned officer, and possessed the most excellent certificates from Herbert Edwardes, Edward Lake, Henry Lawrence, Lord Dalhousie, Lord Napier, Lord Clyde, and other well-known Indian officers, all testifying to his unvaried loyalty and indomitable courage. I visited him in gaol not long before his death, and urged on him the duty of repentance; but he said his was a very hard case, for, whilst he had slain hundreds on account of Government, he was now in prison for having killed one individual on his own account. He has left four sons, two of whom are students in our mission school.

Visits to Afghan murderers.

Only yesterday I heard that Almas Khan, an Afghan in Kunar, beyond our frontier, has murdered his wife and twenty of his male relatives. This man is a relative of our Christian reader, Syud Shah, and partook of my hospitality about nine months ago. And this very night, whilst I am writing this letter, I have an Afghan guest in the hujrah, whose two brothers are under sentence of death in the Peshawar gaol. Some of these cases are very affecting. Not long ago I was of some service to a very respectable Afghan farmer, whose father and brothers and uncles and cousins had been engaged in a village quarrel, in which several persons had been killed. His father was sentenced to death, but died in gaol; three of his brothers were hanged; and several other members of his family were transported for life. He told me that not fewer than forty female members of his family were thus deprived of either their husbands or guardians. The poor fellow was almost mad with grief. He witnessed the execution of his brothers, he carried back the dead body of his father to his native village, and, by bribing the native policemen, he was allowed to accompany those relatives sentenced to transportation as far as the River Indus. He then came back to me, and stayed with me a few days, only too glad to be able to open out his griefs, and get what consolation he could from an old friend.

Such is the state of Afghan social life, and such their exceeding need of the Gospel of reconciliation and peace.

Perils of Afghan converts.

It is not, however, surprising that amongst such a people—who set such little value upon life—our Afghan converts find it most difficult to hold their own, and are in the greatest possible danger of losing their lives, or of relapsing into Mohammedanism. Some of our Afghan converts have been very much tried during the past year, especially the young Afghan gentleman, Yusaf Ali, but he has come out of the fiery trial, I humbly trust, still stronger in faith. Our most recent Afghan convert, Habib Ullah, seems to be earnest and faithful.

The hujrah, or guest-house, of the Peshawar Mission, is well-known to the friends of the Society. Of the influence exerted through its means Mr. Hughes writes:— The guest-house at Peshawar.

I suppose some thousands of people visit the mission-house in the course of the year. It would be very interesting, had I time, to keep a diary, and to record the many peculiarities of those visits, and to give some idea of the conversations which take place from day to day. Moulvies from mosques, chiefs of villages, old army pensioners, farmers, and farm labourers, sons of the soil, all congregate in our guest-house, and what so presses on my conscience is the fact that so little time can be found for making known the truth as it is in Jesus to these precious souls.

Mr. Hughes and Mr. Jukes have been busily engaged in translating the Pentateuch into Pushtu. The former has also added to his important literary works on Mohammedanism a Dictionary of Islam. Pushtu literary work.

For the proposed memorial church Mr. Hughes still needs considerable funds, though less, he observes, than is often "spent upon a painted window or a bell in England." The Committee will rejoice when he is able to erect the building he has so long desired as a visible witness for the Gospel in the heart of the city.

A young missionary's first essays in missionary work are pleasantly described by Mr. Knowles, who went to India in March last year, and, after sojourning for a time at other stations, reached Peshawar in November:—

My work at present, during Mr. Jukes' absence, is to attend to the school. I spend one hour every morning with the senior boys, teaching Scripture. Two or three of these have been much affected lately by the simple declaration of "the old, old story." Wherever I can I introduce it. It is not often these Pathans cry, but two did the other day. The reason, I have since learnt, was the thought of Jesus' love for them in dying on Calvary's cross. One came a week ago, and begged Mr. Hughes to give him a Bible. I do believe a great work is going on in these splendid schools. It may be slow, but it is sure, and in God's own time and way must have abundant fruit. Afghans in tears at the "old, old story."

As far as I can I associate with the boys of our hujra. Now and then I go for a walk with them; sometimes take the leading ones for a ride; and every Saturday attend the cricket-field with them. Often thus I am able to speak to them of things concerning the kingdom.

On Sunday afternoons I have a little Hindustani service all to myself. The congregations are mostly Native drummers from the regiments stationed here. Soon I hope to have a congregation of twenty-four. We have an abridged service, with short sermon, which as yet I have borrowed from others better able to speak the vernacular than I am.

A most interesting account of the Bishop of Calcutta's visit to Peshawar has been published by his chaplain, for which there is not space in these pages. The Bishop himself wrote, "From all that I had heard, I had expected to find much that was unique and interesting in the work carried on by Mr. Hughes, and I was not disappointed. Under the peculiar conditions of our intercourse with the Afghans, together with the naturally suspicious character of the race, the difficulties in the way of gaining their confidence are unusually great. Mr. Hughes has, by his kindness, tact, and judgment, achieved a wonderful triumph in this respect. . . . I paid the Rev. Imâm Shah a visit in his house, which, with his wife and three girls, was a model of a Native pastor's home."

KASHMIR.

Dr. Downes has continued his patient medical labours throughout the year. Dr. A. Neve joined him in the autumn. The Rev. J. S. Doxey has succeeded the Rev. T. R. Wade as the evangelistic missionary.

Medical Mission in Kashmir.

Dr. Downes thus summarizes the work of the Mission Hospital:—

New patients seen, 8755; total number of visits received, 24,197; number of major and minor operations performed, 1138; in-patients discharged, left, or died, 855; total days in hospital of all who left or were discharged during the time, 14,369. This last figure represents 28,738 meals to the patients, not including food given to friends of patients or extras, which have occasionally to be supplied.

The direct missionary work done has been but small, the Native assistants in the hospital not being Christians; "but," says Dr. Downes, "a work has been done in God's name by Christian charity—a work such as Christ delighted to do. If we can only succeed in showing people that religion is goodness and not bitterness, that God is love and not Moloch, we shall soon succeed in gaining attention to our blessed Lord, who alone is perfect goodness and perfect love."

Its wide-spread influence.

Mr. Doxey thus notices the widespread influence of the Medical Mission, and the opportunities it affords for setting forth the glad tidings of salvation:—

Opportunities offer themselves of conversing with the inmates of Dr. Downes' Mission Hospital, and with the out-patients, many of whom come from all parts of the valley and surrounding countries to be benefited by the skill and self-denying labours of Dr. Downes. Many of these are afflicted with the most loathsome of diseases, so that it is not easy or pleasant to say and do what one could wish. They are always however willing to listen, and often to assent to the truths taught. To take the names and addresses of those recovered, and to visit them and their fellow-villagers afterwards, will be, I trust, a not unuseful part of one's work in the future. Dr. Downes' work is known now all over the valley, and there is, as one finds out by experience, scarcely a village in which there lives not some one who has benefited by his kindness. The poor owe their lives in many instances to the care and skill of Dr. Downes, and for this they are grateful, and at least see that the only desire of the missionaries is to do them good in body and soul.

Sowing the seed in the Kashmir valley.

The orphanage for the famine children, having done its beneficent work, has been closed. Its 400 inmates are now scattered over the Kashmir Valley. "Let us hope," writes Mr. Doxey, "that they will not readily forget the religious instruction given them, and that the knowledge of the Saviour and the texts of Scripture they learned, and the hymns they were taught to sing, may with God's good blessing and in His own good time bring forth fruit." Mr. Doxey has since used the orphanage buildings for a day-school, which is attended by young Hindus of the pundit class. He has also visited different places in the Valley on the occasions of Mohammedan melas, accompanied by the aged Kashmiri catechist, Qadir Bakhsh, who, though now unable to preach by reason of infirmity, "can in a nice way do an equally useful work in conversing with the people." Tracts and handbills published by the Panjâb Religious Book Society have been gladly taken by those who can read.

Kashmiri Sermon on the Mount.

The Rev. T. R. Wade has completed the New Testament in the Kashmiri language. The Sermon on the Mount, printed both in the Persian and the old Sharada character (for Moslems and Hindus respectively), has been largely sold and distributed. The effect has been remarkable. Some asked with astonishment, "Is this the religion of the English?" A village official, who was an in-patient of the hospital, read it and re-read it as he lay on his charpoy, "until there was not a sentence with which he was not familiar." Surely even in Kashmir, where, as Sir R. Temple has said, "Seldom has nature in such beauty looked upon man in such misery," shall the Divine promise be fulfilled, "My Word shall not return unto Me void."

Sindh.

The Rev. J. Sheldon has come home invalided, and the Rev. G. Shirt is coming shortly on furlough. The Rev. J. Bambridge has succeeded the former in charge of the very important station of Karâchi, where the Rev. A. E. Ball is also located; and the Rev. Joseph Redman is at Hydrabad.

The results of missionary work in Sindh are still small. There are 80 Christians at Karâchi, 21 at Hydrabad, and 15 at Sukkur on the Indus, where a catechist is stationed. Yet in no Missions has the Gospel been more faithfully and patiently preached. The manifold agencies at KARÂCHI are thus described by Mr. Bambridge :—

Varied work at Karâchi.

The Sunday morning service in Urdu has been well attended, and I trust that not a few of our Native brethren are really seeking to follow Him whom they profess to love and serve. We have had our difficulties; but the exercise of a little Church discipline has had a salutary effect upon all concerned. With the view of deepening the spiritual life, and building up the faith of our Native congregation, I have added to the daily morning prayer a short exposition of the Gospel of St. John. Evening prayer is also now held in the Mission library, at which we are reading St. Matthew's Gospel. On Saturday evenings our gathering develops itself into a congregational Prayer-meeting, which is well attended.

The Bible-class on Sunday afternoons is fairly well attended by the young men of our congregation, and the boys belonging to the "Mission Home." I generally go over the subject of the morning's sermon, picking out and explaining additional texts.

The Sunday evening service in English holds together a small but helpful congregation. Perhaps the time and labour bestowed upon this branch of our work is not lost, when we consider the various ways in which it helps our local Mission.

The women's Bible-class is held weekly, under the superintendence of an agent of the Zenana Mission. I always close it by catechizing and with prayer.

Our High School has not gone on quite so well during the past six months as we could have wished. I am afraid my enforced absence from actual teaching and general examination has rather told upon it. Last year I never gave less than five hours daily to this school, four of which were spent in actual teaching. However, with Mr. Ball's help we have again resumed the "Entrance Class," and feel sure that the institution will soon regain for itself the high position it has won during the past two years, as an educational agency. The school has in no way suffered in what should ever be the back-bone of every Mission-school, viz., its scriptural instructions. This, with Mr. Ball's help, has been given day by day in each class. In the Matriculation standard we have just resumed the study of Christian Evidences.

Our Lending Library is also well-stocked with suitable books, which we trust, with God's blessing, will press home the message to many a young heart. The whole library has cost us about Rs. 1000, one-fifth of which was given by a friend in England, who, during a ministry of more than half a century, has ever been a true friend to the C.M.S. About Rs. 500 were collected from purely Native sources.

The Boys' Vernacular School is quite full, and answers its purpose exceedingly well as a "feeder" to our High School. The Girls' School is under the able superintendence of the ladies of the Zenana Mission.

Bazaar preaching has been carried on at four preaching stations.

Our Temperance Society is again flourishing. Monthly lectures, on various subjects, are given to English-speaking Natives.

The Wednesday evening Bible-class, in English, for those who wish to know more of "the way," is fairly encouraging. We are now going through the Epistle to the Hebrews. What most of these men need is not knowledge of Christ, but decision for Christ.

What was formerly the Mission bookshop has now developed into the Karâchi Religious Book Society, working almost independently of the Mission. During the past six months our sales have averaged over Rs. 180 a month. One of our agents sits daily in the bazaar bookshop, our branch for vernacular publications, for the purpose of religious conversation with customers and passers-by. During the year the society published its first work—a tract in Sindhi—for Mr. Shirt.

Our Native agents meet every morning for prayer and study of the Word. We are now reading the pastoral epistles.

To encourage our Native brethren in habits of thrift, and to seek to prevent their too common failing of indebtedness, we have just started a "Mission Savings' Bank," in connexion with the Government treasury.

At HYDRABAD almost all the same agencies are at work. There has been more itinerant preaching in its neighbourhood. Scarcely a town of any importance in Sindh was without a visit from Mr. Shirt during the year. Sukkur especially has received attention. The catechist there, Munshi Amir-ud-din, reports to the Punjab Church Council.

Sindhi translational work.

Mr. Shirt has continued his important literary work. Within the year he translated Isaiah and 1st Kings into Sindhi, and three of Dr. Murray Mitchell's Letters to Indian Youth. His Sindhi Pilgrim's Progress has been carried through the press. Mr. Sheldon has made a beginning with Bible translation in the little-known Brahui or Birohi language, spoken by one of the hill races of the frontier.

A visit to Quetta.

Last winter Mr. Shirt, at the request of Bishop French, spent two or three months with the English garrison at Quetta, in the heart of Beluchistan.* He held religious conversations with men of various nations and languages; and if the British occupation should be continued, he considers that one or more missionaries ought to be placed there. Of Karâchi, too, Mr. Bambridge expresses an earnest hope "that the Society will see its way to make Karâchi what it ought to be, and may be, an important centre of missionary work and enterprise." So come the calls from every corner of the field!

BOMBAY AND WESTERN-INDIA MISSION.

(European Missionaries first arrived in 1820.)

Signs of change in the Hindu mind: Native testimony.

In Western India, the year has not been marked by any events of special interest. The Rev. Appaji Bapuji considers that "every year there seems an advance in all departments, education, social intercourse, preaching, and literary efforts for the conversion of the heathen; and all these efforts show decided signs of the ultimate success of our labours, under God." To another Native clergyman a Hindu gentleman said, "Why do you urge me to come out and be baptized, and thus cut myself off from my family and people? There are many who, like myself, believe in Christianity, and we are doing real good by influencing others. The time is not far distant," he added, "when, in this very Bombay, hundreds will come out boldly and confess Christ as their Saviour." Meanwhile the signs of revolt against the old idolatry are more noticeable than those of any general acceptance of Christianity. The Deputy-Collector of one large town, "a very energetic and enlightened man," lately travelled across India to visit Benares and the other sacred places in the North. "He came back disgusted with what he saw, and at a public lecture given in the High School he exposed the hypocrisy, deceit, and wickedness which he had witnessed while on pilgrimage." He then printed his lecture, and sent copies to the C.M.S. Mission in his district, with permission to distribute them. Thus, writes the missionary who sends this information, "educated non-Christians are doing what they can to pull down the crumbling edifice of Hinduism. May the time," he adds, "soon come when they will be willing to build as well as destroy by substituting a living faith for a dead one."

BOMBAY.

Bombay: the staff.

The Society's missionaries at Bombay during the year under review were—the Rev. H. C. Squires, Secretary to the Corresponding Committee and Minister of the Girgaum English Church; the Rev. J. G. Deimler, missionary to the Mohammedans; the Rev. T. Carss, Principal of the Robert Money School; and the Rev. Jani Alli, who has assisted in that school and carried on the Hostel. The Rev. Appaji Bapuji is pastor of the Native congregation of 105 baptized Christians. The Rev. R. A. Squires has been making arrangements for the establishment of the Theological Class, to the charge of which he has been designated. Its permanent locale is not yet settled. The Committee have had much satisfaction in adding to the staff the Rev. H. A. Bren, M.A., of Wadham College, Oxford, a son of the Society's old Ceylon missionary and tutor of the Preparatory Institution at Reading, the Rev. R. Bren. He has been appointed to the Principalship of the Robert Money School, that post having been resigned by Mr. Carss.

Robert Money School: A young Brahmin baptized.

From Mr. Carss's Report it appears that the educational success of the school has been illustrated in the past year by the students gaining for the first time three scholarships in the Matriculation Examination of the Bombay University; and its missionary influence by the baptism of the young Brahmin ex-student mentioned in last year's Report. The service took place on Easter Day, 1881, and was performed by the Rev. Appaji Bapuji at the Girgaum Church, in the presence of a large English congregation. Mr. Bapuji writes, "Since his baptism he has been a devoted and steady attendant at our vernacular and English services, and also tries to persuade others to come."

There have been eleven Christian youths resident in Mr. Jani Alli's Hostel while prosecuting their studies at various colleges, &c. On Sundays he has given them Scripture and Prayer-book instruction.

Revival of the Mohammedan Mission.

The Mohammedan Mission in Bombay, carried on for many years by the Rev. J. G. Deimler, was closed in 1877 under the scheme of retrenchments in that year, and he returned home on furlough. In 1880, even when still more serious reductions were in progress, the Committee yielded to Mr. Deimler's earnest request to be sent back to India, on condition that the resumption of the work involved no more expense to the Society than his own personal allowances. Naturally, however, he quickly found the need of Native helpers, &c.; and the Committee have recently been glad, in the improved financial position of the Society, to restore to him the agency formerly employed in the work. In no city in the world, probably, are more Mohammedans of different races and sects met with; and nowhere else can the good seed of the Kingdom be more widely scattered among them, in sure and certain hope of its springing up and bearing fruit in God's own good time. Mr. Deimler writes:—

Friendly intercourse with Moslems.

On our return here we made a point of paying visits to all our Native friends and acquaintances. They were much pleased to see us back again in Bombay: some we found had been removed from us by death during our absence, amongst them our good friend, the late Wazir of the late Sultan of Zanzibar. His family, too, were gone, having left for Zanzibar after his demise. He was a very liberal-minded Mussulman, without bigotry, as well as without infidelity. He loved to read the Arabic New Testament, which he said was precious to him. He sometimes called on us with some of the members of his family, and allowed me also, when calling with my dear wife, to see them and to shake hands with them, as I was "as a padri—his brother." Both Mrs. Deimler and myself continue to visit Mussulman houses, and I also visit shops, when time permits. Mrs. Deimler is honorary superintendent of the Zenana Mission, and has access to forty Mohammedan zenanas.

Sometimes, taking with me a number of tracts, I go from shop to shop in the Bhendi bazaar, which is mostly occupied by Mohammedans, where I find valuable opportunities of conversing with the people, and distributing tracts. It may occur that when I have given a small tract, I am asked for a larger one, the book being valued according to its size. I have to remark with feelings of thanksgiving to God, and of hopefulness for the work, that during the last three years of my absence from Bombay a decided movement in the Mohammedan mind has taken place towards a free examination of the claims of Christianity. Since resuming the Mohammedan Mission in December last, my intercourse with Mussulmans has always been of a pleasant and agreeable nature.

The appeal for catechists sent by Mr. Deimler, to which the Committee have now in part responded, deserves to be recorded, as a specimen of the urgent representations constantly being received from all parts of the world:—

Solemn appeal for help.

Several branches of Mission work have remained untouched. I sadly feel that single-handed as I am, and with many other various calls on my time and strength, I cannot do the justice to the Mussulman Mission it deserves. I have always advocated—and I do so again, and shall do so as long as I am in the field—a strong and well-organized Mission of the Society to the 150,000 Mussulmans of Bombay. I beg in all humility to ask, Is it really a fact that the great Church Missionary Society, with its many friends and supporters, wealthy as many of them are, is unable to do more for these 150,000 Mussulmans of the metropolis of the West of India, and the most populous city of the grand Eastern Empire, than to send out, and keep up, not without difficulty, a single European missionary with his wife? What a good work could be done with catechists speaking Hindustani, Gujerathi, Persian, Arabic, Cutchi, and Kisuaheli properly engaged in the various spheres of labour which offer themselves among the Mohammedan inhabitants, and the thousands of strangers visiting this mighty emporium! If my most earnest appeals for an increase of labourers to the Mohammedan Mission are of no avail in moving the hearts of the Society's members, I, at least, have the consolation of having done my duty as a missionary to the Society, and I solemnly bequeath these appeals to rest in the shrine of their consciences.

NASIK AND SHARANPUR.

Sharanpur Christian settlement.

The Rev. W. A. Roberts has persevered through another year in his multifarious labours as Superintending Missionary of the Christian agricultural settlement at SHARANPUR, and of the evangelistic work in the district and in the important Hindu city of NASIK. He has been assisted by the Rev. Lucas Maloba, Native pastor, and by the Rev. C. Mountfort; also, during part of the year, by the Rev. R. A. Squires. The Native Christians number 381, of whom 111 are communicants. Mr. Roberts is unable to report favourably of their spiritual character; but he calls to mind "the delineations in Scripture of such infant churches as those of Corinth and Galatia, the warnings of Church history, and the lessons of experience," and is not cast down, resting on the promises of a God of faithfulness and love. The farm, "notwithstanding that the past season has not been one of the most favourable, has prospered with a balance to the good, and has answered to an extent its purpose. It provides labour for some Native Christians, it often affords healthy occupation for our orphan children, and the greater part of the grain consumed by the orphans has been raised on the spot."

JUNIR.

The Rev. Sorabji Kharsedji still makes this town the centre of his evangelistic itinerations. The Rev. Alfred Manwaring has also resided there while learning the language, and has held much friendly intercourse with Natives of all classes. On Sunday afternoons four or five English-speaking Hindu gentlemen would come and discuss religious and social difficulties, and listened attentively to instructions on the life and work of Christ. In one month, August, no less than ninety-six men, besides many boys, visited Mr. Manwaring. Mr. Sorabji Kharsedji has itinerated during the year over an area of 1200 square miles, "halting at several centres from one to two weeks at a time, visiting in all 250 villages and hamlets surrounding these centres, and preaching the Word of Life to from 60,000 to 70,000 people." His accounts of this work are very interesting and encouraging. One extract gives a striking illustration of the movement going on in the Hindu mind:—

Seed-sowing at Junir.

Christian preacher supported by a Hindu bystander.

I was not a little surprised one day at a village called Piruplewundi, about sixteen miles north-east of Junnar, where, at the conclusion of my preaching to an over-crowded congregation, a Brahman schoolmaster of the place came forward and said, "Sir, what you have told the people just now is all true; but such truths as these—there is only one God, and that a man is a sinner and needs a Saviour, &c.—were also contained in our Hindu Shastras. What need is there then to give up our own religion and accept yours?" At this prologue, an intelligent Kumbi got up in the crowd and said, "Pouliji Maharaj" (schoolmaster, my lord), "how is it that if these things are written in our Shastras, you have never told us of them? You call upon us on every new moon and other festivals to squeeze out money, rice, clothes, &c., from us, but you never told us that idol-worship was a sin, or that Ram, Krishna, and other Hindu incarnations were not gods! On the contrary, you tell us almost every evening long stories about some wonderful exploits of these false deities, and make us believe what you yourself do not believe." The schoolmaster tried to silence the man by getting angry with him; but he kept his ground, and went on, showing all the trickeries of the Brahmans, whom he designated as "wolves in sheep's clothing," who deceived the poor people for the sake of their own bellies. Some other villagers soon joined the daring speaker, and the poor schoolmaster walked away amidst the jeers and laughter of the crowd.

Forty years ago such a scene would have been considered the highest sacrilege; but the Gospel has been preached and the people have learnt to value the liberty of their consciences which were held in bondage for ages past by these demi-gods the Brahmans. I afterwards asked my bold defender from whom he had learnt about the Christian religion, and he said from Padri Schwarz Sahib, and especially Gyanoba Powar, our former catechist, who was stationed at Junnar for several years. He told me also that there was another man of the same mind like himself at a village called Otur, about six miles from Junnar, and that they both read our Scriptures together, and prayed whenever they met. I read to him the first twelve verses of the 3rd chapter of St. John, and urged upon him the necessity of being born again of water and of the Spirit.

MALEGÂM.

The Rev. F. G. Macartney, in another full and interesting Report, writes:—

We humbly trust that progress has been made in all branches of the Mission during 1881. Two new out-stations have been added to our list, making now five in all. The Native agents are steadily working at their posts. Their monthly reports show that 1379 visits were paid to various towns and villages. There are several inquirers in the district, some of whom we are hopeful about, and believe will join us. We greatly need more evangelists for East Khandesh; in that part, and along the railway line, there are many towns that have not been visited for years; in fact, that part of the country has scarcely been touched by Christian effort. Above all, we need the quickening influences of God's Spirit.

The Native congregation remains under the charge of the Society's aged and esteemed Native pastor, the Rev. Shunker Nana. He is now weak and infirm, and has had one or two serious attacks of illness during the year, but has generally managed to take his turn at preaching in church. The principal share, however, of this work has fallen to our catechist, Mr. M. Goray, who in this, as in other departments of the work, has performed his duties with ability and success. We have a monthly missionary meeting, and the rent of the camp reading-room is paid out of the money collected at it. Our monthly Church Committee meetings have also been kept up, and the Committee is doing what it can in this "day of small things," to consolidate and extend the Church in this place.

The guru's son at Randla, whose baptism under such remarkable circumstances was recorded last year, has remained firm to his faith, notwithstanding the strenuous efforts of his still heathen wife and relatives; but otherwise he has not in all respects been going on satisfactorily. Of the old guru himself Mr. Macartney does not speak; but another of his disciples is a candidate for baptism. Under the influence of the old man's teaching, this disciple and all his family circle gave up idolatry years ago. "There is not an idol to be found in any of their houses. They possess a Bible, Prayer-book, and several Christian tracts, and have made use of them during the last few years, in which they have been gradually feeling their way to light and liberty." The old guru at Ranâla.

AURANGABAD.

The Rev. Ruttonji Rowroji ministers to a congregation in this important town consisting of 494 baptized Christians, of whom 240 are communicants; and he carries on interesting evangelistic work in the surrounding country. His Report contains an encouraging account of some recent baptisms, and significant illustrations of the attractiveness of the Gospel:—

Twenty-four adults and thirty-five children have been baptized during the past year. Among the baptized is a high-caste Hindu gosain. For four years past he had made up his mind to come over to us, but his wife had hindered him from doing so. But we never lost sight of him, nor he of us. When he found that he could not prevail upon his wife, he left her to come to us in April last. I baptized him in the district, at his own request, along with several people belonging to the so-called low caste. Freely mingling, and partaking of food with them, he gave a practical proof of his belief that God had "made of one blood all nations of men." I changed his former name, "Prama-Ghir," to "Premdass," which means a servant or follower of the Lord of love. This name, on account of his Christian meekness, suits him admirably. Baptisms at Aurangabad.

Soon after his baptism he came with me to an annual gathering, held in the immediate vicinity of his village, forty miles from Aurangabad. Several hundred people, men and women, of his acquaintance, came out to see him from morning till night. They affectionately urged him to give up Christianity, offering to defray all the expenses of purification. But he remained firm, bearing testimony to the peace and happiness he had received in following the Prince of peace. We had great doubts of his wife's joining him, for she seemed bitter against our religion; but perceiving the happy change that had passed upon her husband, she first sent her son, and afterwards she herself followed him; and they are now a rejoicing Christian family.

Close to Saigaon there is a village called Nanegaon. From this village I had baptized a young man some years ago, but who, for some domestic difficulties, had gone back to heathenism. I had little hope of his repentance and reformation. But happily I was mistaken. The man has long ago repented, and has been endeavouring to bring over others into the Church. The Christian puntoji of Saigaon reported to me of the willingness of several families to receive baptism, and their children's willingness to learn. In April last I baptized several families, consisting of twenty-two souls. Finding that the leading men of the village were favourably disposed to our work, I obtained a piece of ground, upon which I am now building a school. All classes of the people flock to hear us. At one time the village carpenter remarked aloud, "Ah, I see what this will end in. The Padre Sahib is gaining ground. With the bewitching powers he possesses he will make the whole village Christian. Not a soul in this place will remain a Hindu. Mark my word, it will be as I tell you!"

A village carpenter's prophecy.

I have visited almost all the annual fairs of the Hindus held throughout the district, preaching in each daily for several hours together to eager and attentive hearers. The Pyton fair is an extensive one, where thousands of pilgrims from all parts of the country assemble. The town of Pyton is situated on the banks of the Godavery, and contains a population of 12,000 souls. In the great gathering of this celebrated town we have managed to keep our preaching for twelve hours daily, for nearly a week. I calculated that at least 10,000 or 12,000 people heard the Gospel message, and never did they hear us with greater attention and pleasure. I have noticed a strange desire on their part to know our religion. There is a restlessness, an increasing restlessness, on the part of the masses, and often have I heard them exclaim, "Oh, do show us the way of salvation! Show us the inner mysteries of your religion. We are far from being happy. We want peace. Our religions do not satisfy us. Can your religion give what ours cannot?"

Earnest longings for peace.

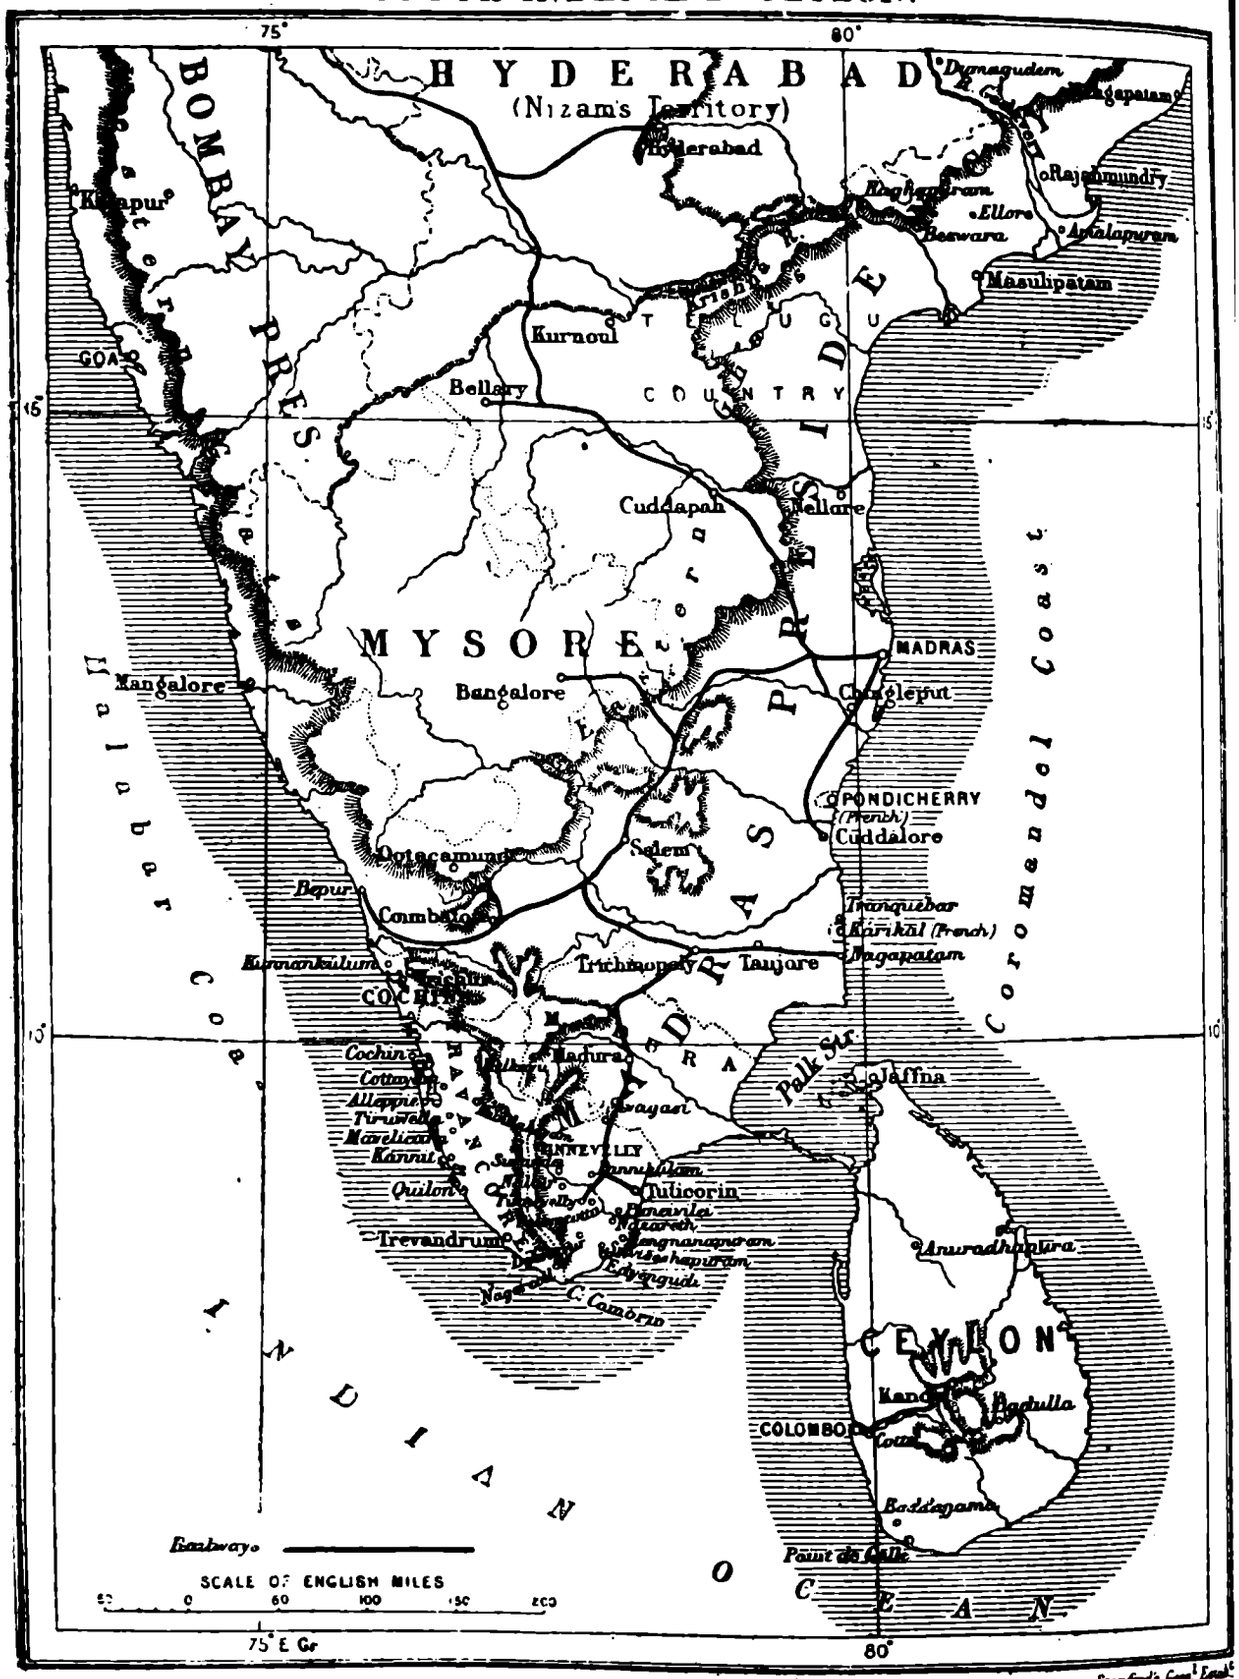

I will mention one instance. A Brahmin, employed as schoolmaster, visited us daily. He had several questions to propose, and he was so earnest that it was a pleasure to converse with him. At the time of parting he put up both his hands—joining them together (which Brahmins never do, except only to Brahmins)—and with moistened eyes he told me, in the presence of a large audience, "Oh, sir, how grateful I am for the trouble you have taken in solving my difficulties, and how much I feel refreshed and comforted. I will remember your kindness to my dying day. I know not when God will permit us to meet each other. But, oh, sir, let me make one request. In all your preaching, and at the conclusion of every religious discourse, call upon my countrymen to learn to read. When they read your Scriptures they will be convinced that Christianity is divine, revealing to sinners God's plan of salvation. I feel so sorry to part with you, but my leave is up, and I must be at my post. But from the bottom of my heart I thank you."

MADRAS AND SOUTH-INDIA MISSION.

Bishop Gell's charge: increase of Native Christians.

In commencing their report on South India the Committee note with much thankfulness the review taken by the Bishop of Madras in his recent charge of the progress of Missions in his diocese. Since his last visitation four years ago the number of baptized Native Christians connected with the Church of England has risen from 79,917 to 101,246, an increase of 21,329, or 27 per cent. Just one-half of this increase belongs to the C.M.S. There are, further, 38,000 catechumens. No less than 11,432 Natives have been confirmed in the four years. In the twenty years to which Bishop Gell's faithful and happy episcopate now extends, 120 Native clergymen have been ordained, 75 of them in connexion with the C.M.S. "If," says the Bishop, "the greater number of these clergy are sincerely endeavouring to fulfil their Christian ministry faithfully, and if a proportion of the laity not less than that in the English portion of our Church are real as well as nominal Christians—and I fully believe that this is so,—we may thank God for the victories of His Gospel in South India, and think lightly of the scorn with which so many who profess to be believers in Christ, but cannot be, regard our efforts to bring all India into subjection to the cross of the Lord Jesus Christ."

Native Christians at University of Madras.

The growing importance of the Native Christian community in South India is shown in the most striking manner by the 26th Annual Report of the Syndicate of the Madras University, the particulars of which have reached the Committee while this Report is passing through the press. In the last examinations there were 271 Native Christian candidates for Matriculation, 50 for First Arts, and 22 for B.A. The percentage of passes was, in the three examinations respectively, 33·9, 52, and 63·6. This percentage in the first and third cases is higher than that gained by any other class of Native students; and in the second case it is exceeded only by the Brahmins. When the small relative numbers of the Christians are considered, and the fact that so many of them are of the poorer classes, this result is surprising, and a matter for unfeigned satisfaction.

It may here be mentioned that the Peter Cator Examinations in Scripture knowledge under the management of the

The Peter Cator examinations.

C.M.S. Corresponding Committee in Madras, continue to attract a large number of competitors from among the English-speaking Native Christians of all denominations in South India. In the last annual examination there were 57 candidates in the higher grade, of whom 46 gained prizes and certificates, and 242 in the lower grade, of whom 172 were classed. In the higher grade, the first six were students of the Madras Christian College; and then follow candidates from the S.P.G. College at Sawyerpuram, the C.M.S. Colleges at Cottayam and Tinnevelly, Doveton College at Madras, the L.M.S. Seminary at Nagercoil, &c.

The Rev. A. H. Arden having returned to England, the Rev. E. Sell has succeeded him as Secretary of the Madras Corresponding Committee.

I. Madras.

Work at Madras now in Native hands:

In the city of MADRAS the Society now employs English missionaries only for its Mohammedan Mission—excepting that Mrs. Vickers is still engaged in Zenana work. The other departments of work, including not only the pastoral care of the Native Christians, but evangelistic effort among Hindus of all classes, is now wholly in the hands of Native clergy and laity. There are two pastorates, the Northern and Southern, with 522 and 451 Native Christians connected with them respectively; of which the Revs. V. Simeon and W. T. Satthianadhan are the pastors. Within the past two years the Church Council, under Mr. Satthianadhan's energetic leadership, has taken over the charge of the vernacular schools in the city, and of the whole of the Society's work in the outlying Palaveram district. The Rev. Samuel John, a brother of Mrs. Satthianadhan, labours diligently among the many educated young Hindus in Madras, and among Native Christian students in the various colleges.

Vernacular schools.

Sunday-schools.

Hindu girls' schools.

The Vernacular Schools now worked by the Church Council give Christian instruction to 974 children, of whom 295 are girls. There are 34 masters and 16 mistresses, all of them Christians except one. The Sunday Schools, which meet from 6.30 to 7.30 a.m., have 430 scholars. "When the Sunday schools close with prayer," writes Mr. Satthianadhan, "it is interesting to see the children march out in order through the public streets singing a Christian lyric, thus affording a testimony to the influence of Christianity to the heathen around. Mrs. Satthianadhan's Hindu Girls' Schools, seven in number (three C.M.S. and four C.E.Z.M.S.), teach 445 girls. The annual prize distribution in February last was held in the Napier Park School, a building presented by Lord and Lady Napier, when the former was Governor of Madras.

Christian Association.

A Report has been received of the Chintadrepettah Christian Association, signed by Mr. P. T. Tharyan, B.A., Secretary. Chintadrepettah is the quarter of Madras in which Zion Church (Mr. Satthianadhan's) is situated, and the Association is a Literary Institute on Christian principles for educated Native Christians, with the reading-room, library, lectures, and discussion classes, so familiar at home. The superiority of the Madras Society in one respect, however, is manifest in the titles of the lectures in one of the courses—"God," "Man," "Revelation," "Atonement," "Death," "Resurrection," "Judgment." "The lectures," says the Report, "were eminently calculated to satisfy earnest seekers after truth."

Outlying district.

The Palaveram District, lately transferred to the Madras Native Church Council, was the field of the Itinerant Mission formerly carried on by David Fenn and G. M. Gordon, and comprises several village congregations, some of which were originally attached to the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel. Mr. Satthianadhan has been earnestly engaged in organizing the work in this district. He found "such apathy and lifelessness among the Native Christians that anything like an effort or activity seemed impossible. Hitherto their pastoral ministrations had been supplied to them from without, and they had no thought of self-help." On his first visiting them, he was besieged by applications for temporal relief; "but," he writes, "I told them that I visited them in the capacity of their guru (religious teacher and guide), to minister to their spiritual wants, and that it was therefore their business to feed me, as the heathen did their gurus." The result is that the people have voluntarily held meetings and subscribed for the support of their own church ordinances.

The new guru's office.

Of the evangelistic work among English-speaking Hindus, the Rev. Samuel John sends an encouraging report. He writes:—

English-speaking Hindus.

> During the year I have had access to the houses of Hindus, as well in the town as in the suburbs of the city of Madras. These houses, for the most part, belong to men of some position. They are either officials connected with public departments, such as the Supreme Court, the Municipal Office, the Bank, &c., or vakeels, magistrates, influential merchants, &c., or the graduates and undergraduates of the Madras University, employed as teachers in the several educational institutions of this city. Personal visits and conversations with individuals in the morning have been followed by evening lectures.

My public meetings have been regularly held during the year. Considering the great barriers which lie in the way of Hindus at the present time, when their minds are distracted by sceptic, atheistic, as well as theistic pamphlets, discourses, &c., it is a matter of no small gratitude to God to see the meetings attended as they have been. These meetings greatly encouraged me.

The actual cases of young men who by virtue of deep conviction desire to exchange their primitive and ancestral faith for the truth as it is in Jesus, do not frequently occur, as we desire, yet it is a source of great satisfaction to see that a spirit of inquiry is widely manifesting itself, chiefly in the well-informed classes of this country.

Mr. John also seeks out, and endeavours to influence for good, the Native Christian students who come to Madras for higher education :—

Students' Prayer Meeting.

There are at present nearly thirty Christian young men from different parts of this Presidency (Palamcotta, Travancore, Bangalore, Calicut, &c.) settled down in this city of Madras, for the purpose of pursuing their studies in the colleges and institutions. They are scattered in different parts of the city and suburbs. I am thankful to state that these young men are members of our Students' Prayer Union, and take lively interest in the monthly prayer-meetings held in connexion with it. They take part in these meetings, and also help the Association by means of their monthly subscriptions. The monthly prayer-meetings for these young men have been regularly held.

Mission to Mohammedans of Madras.

The Society's MISSION TO THE MOHAMMEDANS in Madras is carried on by the Revs. Malcolm G. Goldsmith and Henry D. Goldsmith. This is of course an up-hill work, but the brethren see not a few signs that the old bigoted faith in Islam is giving way both before European rationalism and before the Gospel. One old Moslem brought to them a short hymn he had written in praise of Christ, the refrain of which was—"O Masih (Christ), the fame of Thy gift reaches me!—My soul now goeth forth to meet Thee!"—but he would not deny that Mohammed also was a great prophet.

Harris School.

There are three principal agencies at work in this Mohammedan Mission: the Harris School, the Gospel Hall, and the Bazaar preaching. The Harris School, notwithstanding its avowed missionary character, is highly esteemed as an educational agency by the Mohammedans, and now has 174 pupils. Its 25th anniversary, celebrated in March last, was attended by a large company of Mussulman noblemen and gentlemen; and the Governor of Madras, the Right Hon. M. E. Grant Duff, presided, as his predecessors, the Duke of Buckingham and Mr. W. P. Adam, had done. The Annual Report was read by the Rev. E. Sell both in English and in Persian. Of course this Report referred only to the educational results of the school. In a supplementary Report by Mr. Malcolm Goldsmith, which was published afterwards, its evangelistic influence is described. Only in the highest class, which prepares for the University Examinations, is there any difficulty about the regular Scripture teaching, and this only because the time for it is grudged. "In most of the classes the Scripture lesson is a cheerful one, and many of the boys gain a very fair knowledge of the Bible. When it is borne in mind that every page of it more or less cuts at the root of the Koran and traditions, and contains the precious truths of everlasting life, we have good reason to thank God for what is being done. And as the boys are obliged to have their own Bibles (or portions), the Word of God often gets taken to homes where it would hardly else enter." Mr. Goldsmith has also actually begun a Sunday-school for these Moslem boys—"partly in self-defence!" he says, "for on Sundays so many came straggling in to see us and talk with us at all hours, that partly for our own convenience we fixed an hour when all might come and a register of attendance be kept."

Scripture teaching for Moslem boys.

Gospel Hall is a house in Triplicane, the Mussulman quarter of Madras, where English-speaking men are gathered for lectures and conversation. The poorer Mohammedans are reached by preaching and tract distribution in the bazaars. This is a trying work, as the opposition is very bitter. A Christian faqir from Poona, who visited Madras last year, and preached with great power, declared that nowhere else in India had he met with so bigoted and abusive a rabble.

Bigotry of Moslems.

There is now a remarkable helper in this work in the person of a convert from Islam, Sheikh Ibrahim Talibuddin Sahib, a pensioned Subadar of a Native infantry rigment, who was brought to Christ in 1860. He had been munshi to an English officer, whom he had rebuked for living inconsistently with the Christian religion. This rebuke from a Mohammedan was, with other influences, blessed of God to the conversion of the officer; and he then, in his turn, appealed to Talibuddin to accept the Gospel. The appeal was successful; but Talibuddin was so roughly handled by his fellow-sepoys, besides being twice brought before courts-martial on false accusations, that he had to retire from the service, thus losing his promotion. His daughter became the wife of a son of the Rev. Imad-ud-din of Amritsar, and being thus known to leading Native Christians in North India, he was lately recommended to the Madras missionaries, who have long been anxious to get such a person to help them, because in South India a convert from Islam to Christianity is regarded by the Moslems as an impossibility. His arrival at Madras caused no little excitement :—

Reception of the ex-Moslem Subadar at Madras.

'It has been a favourite argument of the Musalmans here that no one of their number has ever yet become a Christian. There have been converts in South India, but it is quite true that they have been very few, and consequently the above statement has had more currency than it deserved. In Talibuddin this "argument" is refuted, and the scowls he meets with on all sides prove the very bitter feelings of his former co-religionists. It has hardly been safe for him to go out alone into the bazaar; when he has done so he has been hooted, and worse things might follow. In the bazaar various stories are circulated to his discredit, such as that he is the son of a grass-cutter, &c. All this does not greatly interfere with his usefulness; many come to see him and talk with him, and his thorough knowledge of the Muhammadan controversy, his own natural shrewdness and his hearty and good-natured, though thoroughly practical, and soldier-like way of dealing with objections, silences the adversaries sooner than they are prepared for, and appears to be already winning some towards the truth of the Gospel. He has great faith in settling one objection at a time, and to this end fixes down his antagonist by writing down the question and answers, and by issuing written statements of his own on some of the cardinal doctrines. He is thus often surrounded with attentive listeners, and looks like a true patriarch, when affectionately and dogmatically expounding all that the Prophets and Apostles have said regarding the Christ, the One Saviour of the world.

A Hostel for Christian students has lately been established in Madras, in memory of the late much-loved Rev. David Fenn, and called the Fenn Memorial Hostel. A trustworthy Native superintendent has been appointed, who works under Mr. Satthianadhan. The contributors to the fund were of all classes and denominations in Madras.

OOTACAMUND.

The Rev. S. Paul is the Native pastor of the congregation of 350 souls at this well-known hill resort, which is regarded in the Society's Mission arrangements as an out-station of Madras. Many of the members are scattered over different estates; but those at Ootacamund itself, "with few exceptions," says Mr. Paul, "attend the services regularly, and read the Word of God in their homes; and the number of houses that hold regular family prayers has increased." This mission has not been unfruitful in converts from the heathen; for in seven years there have been 76 adult baptisms. Mr. Paul also engages in literary work. He has written a book on the Women of the Bible for the Christian Vernacular Education Society, and a new Tamil version of the Pilgrim's Progress for the Madras Tract Society.

II. Tinnevelly.

The Mission is divided into ten districts, each with a Church Council, viz. 1, Palamcotta; 2, Dohnavur; 3, Suvisêshapuram; 4, Mengnânapuram; 5, Paneivilei; 6, Pannikullam; 7, Nallur; 8, Surandei; 9, Sivagâsi; 10, Vageikulam; the last two being in North Tinnevelly.

TINNEVELLY is now a conspicuous illustration of the success of the policy to which the Committee have adhered through evil report and good report, sometimes in advance of the approval of their own missionaries and the leading Native Christians—the policy of throwing on the Native Church the responsibility of its own maintenance and extension. They do indeed most gratefully acknowledge the inestimable advantage of Bishop Sargent's fostering care. No one can read the journals of his tours from district to district throughout the province without thanking God for the blessed influence he is still permitted to wield over the people. But he has been a firm supporter of the Society's policy, not only as a matter of theory, but in his practice as a superintending Bishop; and the results are decisive. A few years ago the Committee were lamenting the want of life in the Tinnevelly Church. No doubt its want, and the want of every Church in Christendom, still is "life more abundant." But in no previous year have the reports been more uniformly encouraging.

Bishop Sargent's influence.

The Society's last Annual Report mentioned Bishop Sargent's serious illness. After an absence of four months he returned in July, 1881, and experienced an overwhelming reception. "I never before knew," he writes, "how much the people loved me. Letter after letter followed me in my absence, assuring me of their prayers for me, both individually, in the family, and in public worship, and telling me not to fret or be anxious on their account." He might well "not fret." During the four months, while 146 of the adherents who joined in the famine had gone back, no less than 1046 persons had joined the Christian community. The whole increase in the number of baptized Christians in the year was only 23 short of 2000. There were 936 adult baptisms, 1919 infant baptisms, 713 burials, and 415 marriages, performed by the 57 Native (C.M.S.) clergymen in the 1027 (C.M.S.) villages in which there are Christians. In the six months following his return to active work, Bishop Sargent confirmed 2565 candidates.

Progress during his illness, and afterwards.

The good Bishop's service as a missionary clergyman in Tinnevelly has now extended to forty years. It was in June, 1842, that he sailed for India after his ordination. (He had laboured there before that as a lay agent.) The contrast between that time and the present is full of encouragement, and calls for loud thanksgiving to God. Mr. Sargent found only one Native clergyman in Tinnevelly. There are now 65 connected with the C.M.S. alone, and including the S.P.G. pastors, 96 in all. Then there were, in the C.M.S. districts, 7000 baptized Christians; now there are 40,000. Then there were 1160 communicants; now there are 10,000. Truly it may be said, What hath God wrought!

Pastoral work in a Tinnevelly "parish."

The reports from the Tinnevelly Native Pastors, of which the Committee have received an unusual number this year,* give interesting glimpses of what is in effect parochial work. Sunday and weekday services, prayer-meetings, Bible and communicants' classes, day and Sunday-schools, evangelists both paid and voluntary, liberal contributions for church purposes, are the topics of report after report. That of the Rev. Aaron Vethamatthu, of Arumuganeri, which is translated from the Tamil, may be cited as a specimen. He says, "Many of the Christians in this circle are truly progressing in godliness. They come to morning and evening prayers; they diligently learn Scripture texts; they come to church regularly on Sundays; they thoughtfully partake of the Lord's Supper. They read the Word, and have family prayer. They comfort and pray with the sick. To Christians in trouble they render assistance both in kind and in prayer. Many young men earnestly set forth the Gospel to the heathen." One leading man, he continues, aged 73, has given Rs. 1000 to build a stone church in his village, and has given over the cultivation of his land to his son that he may himself superintend the building. "He is hastening on the work, that his eyes may see the church finished and dedicated, and that he may partake in it of the divine ordinances. He trusts Christ alone as his Saviour, and is very diligent in moving his fellow-Christians to godliness." But this same pastor is not blind to the faults and failings of his people. "Satan is doing his injurious works in the Church. Some being only Christians in name practise evil deeds in secret. But knowing the Lord's parable of the tares and the wheat being in the Church until His coming, we continue with boldness to minister in the congregations, and we anxiously pray the Lord that the evil workers may improve." Then, after recounting in detail the peaceful dying hours of a young woman, he adds, "The Lord makes His children stand firm in death, takes them to His kingdom, and receives the glory. To His good name be the praise!"

One of the native clergy at Mengnânapuram, the Rev. Manuel H. Cooksley, is both a pastor and a medical man. His report, therefore, has a special interest of its own :—

A Native medical pastor.

My work divides itself into two branches, medical and pastoral.

1. Medical Work.—The work in the dispensary is commenced at 7.30 a.m., and continued till 10, and resumed at 4 and closed at 5.30 p.m. every day, with the exception of Sundays; a portion of God's Word is read and prayers offered before we commence giving prescriptions. I talk to the patients about Christ's incarnation, &c., individually to Hindus and Mohammedans; Christians too are not neglected, memoriter lessons or Scripture texts are often asked, with advices and counsels.

The number of in-door patients being 35, we have had prayers every day with them, with short addresses. It is very pleasing to see the Hindus, many of them men and women, kneeling down with us for prayer, and to hear from their lips the loud "Amen."

The total number of patients treated in out-door till November, 1881, was 2776. Since the dispensary was aided by the Local Fund Board in 1878, I have furnished the Board with monthly and annual returns. The boarding-school children, the Mission agents, and the people have for the most part enjoyed good health. Vaccination is also involved upon medical subordinates as a part of their duty. The number of children vaccinated during the year was 120.

2. Spiritual Work.—I take part in the week-day services and prayers. The following table shows the sacred offices performed by me in the station and in the pastorates during the year :—Services, 74; sermons, 63; marriages, 9; infant baptisms, 31; and funerals, 5. Of the 74 services, 45 were conducted in the station and 29 in out-villages. I have conducted Sunday-schools and prayer-meetings, and visited the sick and others in their houses, and have offered up prayers with them. The Lord's Supper has been administered once every month and twice on special occasions.

Spiritual growth among the people I am glad to say is on the increase; family worship and the reading of God's Word are seen and heard in most of the houses, and others are daily enforced upon this work of personal and family piety. One little girl of seven years old was heard by her mother praying for her parents, brothers, and pastors, and asking with all her petitions to bless the efforts of the medical pastor in his work of curing the body and give him long life.

Deaths of two Native Christian doctors.

The Rev. Jesudasen John, of Palamcotta, gives some touching accounts of Christian death-beds. One case may be selected—that of another Native Christian doctor, but a layman :—

Massillamany Pilley was for many years a Native doctor in this place. He was loved both by the Christians and heathens as a well-known and experienced physician. This good man was suddenly attacked with some disorder in the brain. While he was conscious I had a short conversation with him. "Well, Doctor, suppose the Lord is willing to call you to Himself, are you ready to go?" "Sir, I am ready to go to Him. Although I am a great sinner, God has pardoned all my sins through His beloved Son Jesus, who shed His blood for me." Another Christian brother asked him, "Don't you know that your death will be a great loss to your dear wife and children?" He said, "No, no; don't you know that Jesus Christ conquered death, and thus opened everlasting life to all believers?" At his earnest request I administered to him the Lord's Supper four days before his death; then he seemed to submit to God's will. He could not speak, as he had an impediment in his tongue. I trust he is now resting in heaven with the children of God made perfect by the blood of the Lamb.

Another Native Christian doctor has more recently been taken to his rest—Dr. S. Jesudasen, Government Surgeon of Tinnevelly, a leading member of the Church, and its chosen representative during the visits of the Duke of Edinburgh and the Prince of Wales.

One account of a conversion must also be given, from the report of the Rev. V. Vedhanayagam, who, as the readers of the Society's publications are aware, is Chairman of the Council (or rather Councils—there are now two) for North Tinnevelly :—

Interesting conversion of a Hindu schoolmaster.

Mention was made in my last Annual Letter of an intelligent Vellalan, forty-five years of age, living at Periur, near Sangaranainarcoil, who expressed a wish to come forward for baptism. He was true to his word, and came here two months since and was baptized by me in my church at this place.

His father, grandfather, and his great-grandfather have all been in the military, occupying somewhat important posts. He has been the only one in the family who chose a different profession, as a Hindu schoolmaster. He was a teacher under the American missionaries for a period of ten or twelve years in Madras. It is nearly twenty years since he came to this place, and all this time he has been and still is an independent schoolmaster. He seems to have known the way of salvation while under the American missionaries, but never yielded to their entreaties to become a Christian, nor ever intended to become such. He, however, for some years held himself back from idol-worship and lived like a Christian, walking consistently in all he did and said, though persistently refusing to come forward for baptism, which he thought and said was not necessary for salvation. I have known him but for the last four years. Each time I saw him I discussed the point with him, setting before him the absolute necessity of his being baptized. He was after all led, through the wonderful providence of God, to see for himself how baptism was necessary for him to be a true disciple of Christ; and he came forward and received it most cheerfully in the presence of a large gathering. His wife and family would not follow him.

He is a clever man, being well versed in Hindu Shastras, and his knowledge of the Bible is very fair. His preaching to the Hindus is so acceptable, and he is looked up to by all classes of people in the neighbourhood with respect and esteem, as an honest man in all his dealings. Nor is he careless about the salvation of his own family circle. He has ever been trying to win their souls for Christ, and his efforts have not been fruitless. It was only on Dec. 12th I had the happiness of baptizing his only son of thirteen years, and his sister's son of almost the same age, in the presence of nearly 500 Hindus.

First Christian marriage and baptism at Periur.

The occasion was an important one. The Christian police inspector, who is now located there, had a wedding that day in his house. It was previously arranged by the parties themselves that both the ceremonies should take place together, and it is well that they so managed the matter, as it gave such a capital opportunity for the Hindus of that bigoted town to witness these Christian ceremonies—this being the first time that Christian marriage and baptism have ever taken place in this town—and I believe they were all impressed with a favourable opinion of them.

There was a time when the townspeople boasted of their not having any Christian at all in the town. Now, through God's mercy, we have ten families of Christians there. To God alone be all the praise! Devasagayam Pillei is the Christian name of the new convert.

The Tinnevelly Church Councils continue to make good use of the William Charles Jones Fund. They have again claimed this year, for the support of distinctively evangelistic agents, grants amounting to Rs. 4150, to meet equal sums raised by themselves. By this means, there are no less than 67 agents in connexion with the Native Church employed in preaching to the heathen in Tinnevelly alone.

Romish aggression in Tinnevelly.

Allusion was made above to certain adherents who fell away from the Church during Bishop Sargent's absence. Some of these, as well as others, have been drawn away by the enticements of Rome, whose priests seem to have as pitying a regard for the Tinnevelly members of the Church of England as for those in Krishnagar. At a conference of the C.M.S. and S.P.G. missionaries working in Tinnevelly, held last year, the Rev. A. Margoschis, a missionary of the S.P.G., complained of "an invasion of his district by Roman Catholic priests, who, in order to draw away his people, had started theatrical representations of sacred subjects, to which they invited the S.P.G. Christians, and showed them a great deal of attention when they came." It is a matter for thankfulness that their success has been but small. On the other hand, as in Krishnagar, so in Tinnevelly, there has been an attempt by a Baptist minister, a Native, to win to his cause some C.M.S. Christians, several of whom he re-baptized; but here also his action was promptly disowned and stopped by the Baptist Society, whose Secretary, Mr. A. H. Baynes, happened to be on a visit to India at the time.

Intrusion of a Native Baptist.

There are still four European missionaries, besides Bishop Sargent, employed by the Society in Tinnevelly; three in educational work, and one, the Rev. J. Ilsley, as yet unassigned. The Rev. V. W. Harcourt is in charge of the Sarah Tucker Female Institution and its network of Branch Girls' Schools; the Rev. H. J. Schaffter, of the Anglo-Vernacular School in Tinnevelly Town; and the Rev. T. Kember, of the Theological Class and Training Institution. All these agencies have, by God's mercy, prospered unmistakably in the past year.

Sarah Tucker Female Institution.

(1.) Mr. Harcourt reports that there are 120 girls in the Institution itself; that there are five affiliated Boarding-schools, with about 30 girls in each, at Sachiapuram, Surandei, Nallur, Paneivilei, and Suviseshapuram, from which the supply of students for training is kept up; and that there are 55 branch schools for caste girls, which have 1764 pupils. "These schools are as popular as ever. Applications for more are of frequent occurrence." "The little girls are now beginning to salaam to us when they meet us in the streets, instead of timidly shrinking from our gaze and contact; and the Brahmin fathers, too, catch the children's smile as they see us, though they do not join in the salutation."

College in Tinnevelly town.

(2.) Mr. Schaffter reports that the new School or College in the heathen town of Tinnevelly is "steadily though slowly gaining ground, in spite of determined resistance." Educationally there has been good success. "As regards the college being an evangelizing agency,"—

"One taken and the other left."

I had the no small privilege of baptizing a Vellala Sivite of a very good family in Tinnevelly, an old pupil of the school there. So "one soweth and another reapeth." The boy had belonged to the school for four years, and was compelled to leave when he had got up to the fourth class. A schoolmate and he left together; but both with a fixed determination to confess their faith in Christ as soon as their parents died. "Lord, I will follow Thee; but first let me bury my father." Three years thus passed, when very suddenly this friend died of small-pox. This solemn warning was not lost on the young man. As he said to me, "I have been postponing my baptism till my parents had passed away; but what if it is God's will that I should die before them, as my friend has died before his old father and mother?" After some months of preparation, during which he regularly attended church, while his relations bemoaned him as one dead, I had the pleasure of baptizing him by the names, "Edward Jesudasen." He has not experienced any persecution such as he expected, because he is now quite independent, being the head Government vaccinator of the town of Tinnevelly, and has since been raised to be the municipal inspector. His parents are still supported by him, and I am sure they must be touched with the contrast between the way he is treating them and the way they would have treated him, had they the power, when he embraced Christianity. It is cheering to see his consistent life.

Reputed Christian boys.

I might tell of several young men in my higher classes, who are not far from the Kingdom of Heaven, and who are even becoming bywords amongst their classmates as "Christians." Two or three of them are so well known for their leaning towards Christianity, that when any of the boys, picking up some of the arguments of Colenso, Payne, and Bradlaugh, air their knowledge during the Scripture-hour before the class of about sixty, they turn involuntarily to these boys and address their conversation to them, and ask them how they can believe when such objections are urged. I shall never forget the cool way in which one of them replied somewhat as follows: "If no objection can be urged against a thing, it is knowledge not faith. This is called the Christian faith. Of course many objections can be brought. For every one objection you can bring against this religion, I can bring five against idolatry and Hinduism."

Theological class.

(3.) Mr. Kember sends a full and very encouraging account of the Theological Class and Normal Class, for which there is not space in these pages. There have been 18 students in the former, and 65 to 70 in the latter. He has also had an Ordination Class, with eight candidates in it, seven of whom, with one other, were ordained by Bishop Sargent on March 5th last. Of this class Mr. Kember writes:—

The course of study comprised Old and New Testament History, the Book of Common Prayer, the Thirty-nine Articles, Pearson on the Creed, the Gospel of St. Luke, the Book of Deuteronomy, Paley's Evidences, and the Epistles to the Galatians and Philippians. One of the North Tinnevelly men, N. Mutthu, being a good English scholar, and an excellent teacher also, has rendered valuable assistance to me and to his fellow-students in the work of the class. All the men have kept very steadily at work throughout the time they have been reading with me, and their earnestness of purpose has been very gratifying. Being men of experience, they have exercised a very salutary influence over the younger men in the Theological Class, and the benefit of their intercourse with them has been very apparent. In the matter of practical work, besides frequently giving expositions at morning and evening prayer in the Institution, they have gone out week by week to preach to the heathen of all classes, in the villages near, as well as in the towns of Palamcottah and Tinnevelly.

The Bishop of Madras fully approved of the eight finally selected, and directed Bishop Sargent to proceed with their ordination. Their final examination was during the week preceding Sunday, March 5th; and in the same week also a series of devotional services was arranged for by Bishop Sargent, at which addresses were given on various matters touching the Christian ministry.

Ordination of Tamil clergy.

On Sunday, March 5th, the ordination took place. The duty of presenting the candidates was assigned to me, and very earnestly did I pray that they might all prove men "full of power and of the Holy Ghost," wise to win many souls to Jesus, and fruitful in every good word and work. The Ordination Sermon was preached by the Rev. V. W. Harcourt, from 1 Cor. iii. 9, "We are labourers together with God," and was full of helpful thought and suggestion. At the Holy Communion afterwards, forty-seven ordained men, including three European missionaries, joined with the Bishop in commemorating the Saviour's dying love. The congregation at the Ordination Service numbered 1246. It was a day in the annals of our Tinnevelly Native Church that will long be remembered. The Gospel was read by the Rev. N. Mutthu, one of the newly-ordained deacons, who, at the afternoon service, preached his first sermon from the text, Rev. i. 6, "And hath made us kings and priests unto God, and His Father: to Him be glory and dominion for ever and ever. Amen." The Rev. V. Vedhanayagam, of North Tinnevelly, was present at the ordination. To him the admission of so many fellow-workers into the sacred ministry of the Church was especially interesting, as five of them would be associated with him in the work of his district. The newly-ordained brethren have already gone forth to their spheres of labour, followed by the earnest prayers for their abundant success of a great number of Native friends, and to these earnest petitions will doubtless be added those of countless sympathizing friends in England, who watch with unfailing interest the progress of Christ's Church in this heathen land.

The Theosophists in Tinnevelly.

Reference must not be omitted to the attempt made in October last by Colonel Olcott, the American leader of the new Theosophist Sect of Buddhists (noticed in last year's Annual Report under the head of Ceylon). His arrival caused intense excitement, it having been given out that he was one of hundreds of English gentlemen who had abandoned Christianity for Hinduism. His laudation of Buddhism, however, and his disregard of caste customs, gave great offence, and in four days he left hurriedly, the infuriated people angrily tearing up a cocoa-nut tree he had planted within the precincts of the great temple in the town of Tinnevelly. A full account of this affair was presented to the Provincial Council of the Native Church by the Rev. Atidâsen Asirvadam, and much thankfulness was felt at the complete discomfiture of this fresh device of the enemy of souls.

III. Travancore and Cochin.

(Commenced in 1816.)

The Mission is divided into six districts: 1, Cottayam, Pallam, and Mundakayam; 2, Mavelikâra and Tiruwella; 3, Alleppie; 4, Alwaye; 5, Trichur; 6, Kunnankulam.

Bishop Speechly.

THE Travancore Mission, like the Tinnevelly Mission, has now the great advantage of a Bishop to itself, of a Bishop well known to the people for his lengthened missionary labours, of a Bishop heartily endorsing the Society's policy of throwing the Native Church to the utmost on its own resources. Under his guidance, and through the good hand of the Lord, the varied work carried on among the Syrians, and the Hindus of various castes, and the Pulayan ex-slave population, and the Hill Arrians of the Ghauts, continues to prosper; and almost all the 18,000 Christian adherents are now connected with an organized Native pastorate system.

Causes of slow progress.

Nevertheless, the present progress of the Malayalam Church is not rapid. For this there are probably several causes. One is that the Christians, though not few in number, are not a homogeneous community. The most active and influential section has been drawn from the Syrians, and from the Hindus; but the converts from the slave population are nearly one-half the whole number, and these are of course very poor, and greatly need education. The Hill Arrians, again, are quite distinct, and the congregations in the kingdom of Cochin are separated by a considerable distance from the rest. Another cause of slow progress is the present inability of the Church to meet the annual reduction of one-twentieth in the Society's grant, partly because of its laudable efforts at the same time to extend the area of its influence and take up fresh work. The Committee, however, have felt able, in the prospect of considerable accessions from the classes most needing the instruction of well-trained agents, to make some concession in respect of the amount granted to the Church Councils; and in doing so, they are but providing for distinctly evangelistic work, and not at all departing from their policy of throwing pastoral expenses more and more upon the Native Church.

The Six Years' Party.

A third cause may be found in the schism that rent the Church seven years ago, when the "Six Years' Party" was formed by the Rev. Justus Joseph. This clergyman, it will be remembered, who was a convert of good Brahmin family, came under the influence of a so-called prophet who announced that Christ would appear in six years. In connexion with this prophecy much grievous extravagance was manifested, and the excitement issued in the secession of some hundreds of the Christians attached to the C.M.S., and of a much larger number belonging to the Syrian Church. The party thus formed proved a thorn in the side of the Mission. It is now, however, rapidly coming to nought. The six years' period matured on October 2nd, 1881, and the failure of the prediction has had its natural result. Bishop Speechly drew up a form for re-admitting seceders into the Church; and in Kannit itself, their head-quarters, no less than seventy were received back a few months ago, on their public recantation. Probably not a hundred now remain in secession of those who had been Protestant Christians. The mischief done by this excrescence on the Revival of 1874 has not been small; but, as ever, God has brought good out of evil; and the faith of many who stood firm amid much inducement to waver has been strengthened by the issue of events.

The Provincial Council.

At the annual meeting of the Provincial Council, in the first week of March last, a very hearty and hopeful spirit was manifested. The discussions mainly turned on details of financial administration, especially on the best way of utilizing the grants from the Henry Venn Fund and the W. C. Jones Fund. The Report of the Council was presented by the Rev. Koshi Koshi, and that of the Native Missionary Association by the Rev. Ambarta Thoma. This Association maintains two schools, which were reported on by the Rev. Oomen Mâmen and K. Koratha. One is for "Pariah Robbers on the Vempanad Backwater." The Rev. P. Joseph reported on the Alwaye Itinerancy, in which evangelistic sphere of labour he is actively engaged.

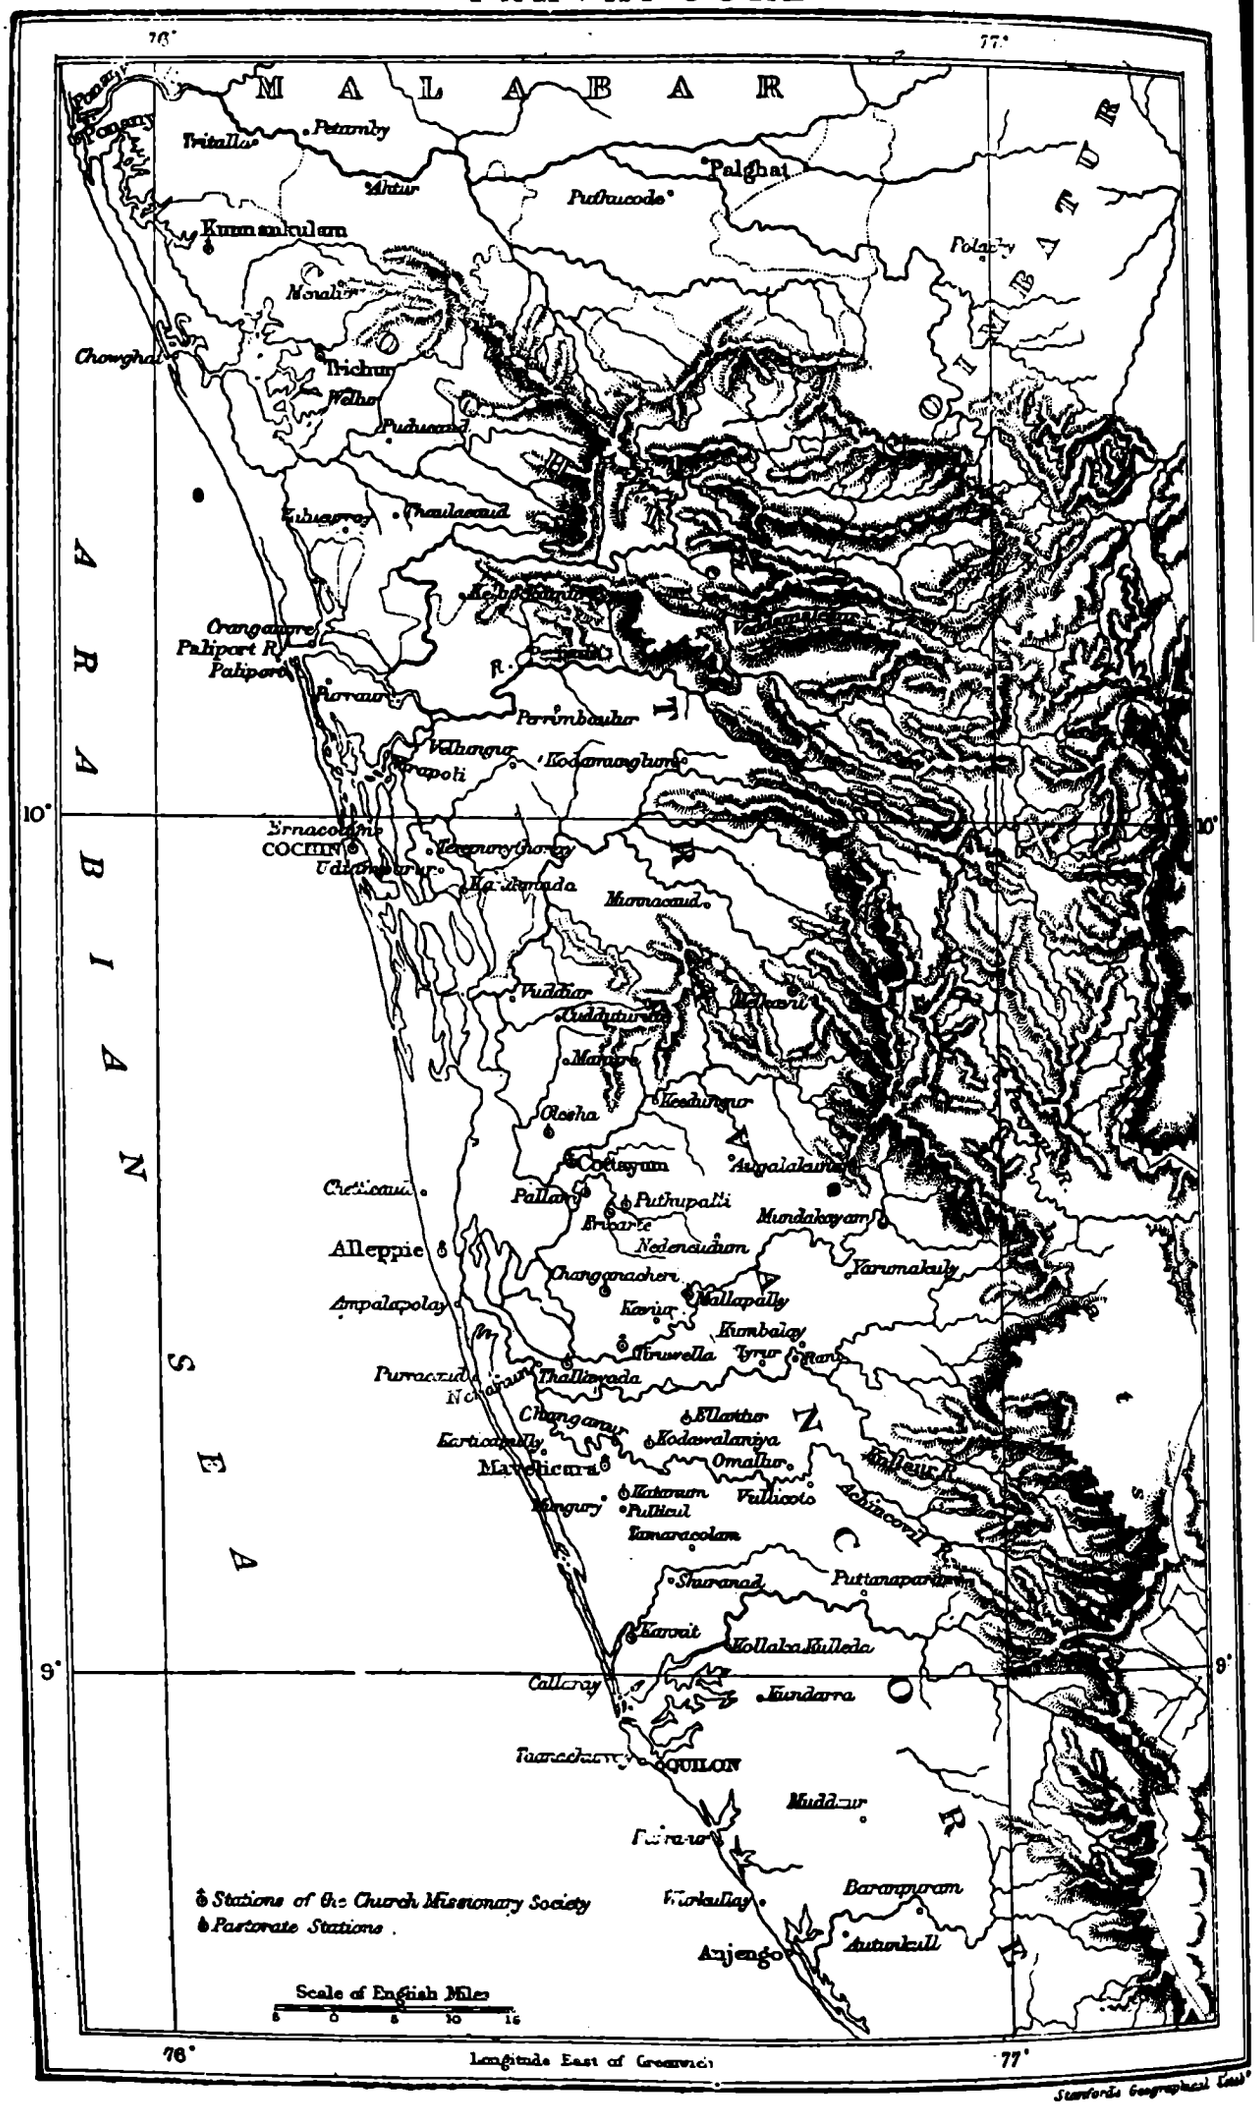

Diocesan Gazette.

The Diocese of Travancore and Cochin has the advantage of a Diocesan Gazette, a monthly magazine edited by one of the missionaries, which records in a very interesting way the events, great and small, of the current Church history of the two kingdoms, and also provides the English-speaking members of the Church with notes of what is going on in other parts of India and in England, and with useful articles of varied character. One of its recent numbers contains a graphic account of Bishop Speechly's first ordination, and in another is a notice of the observance in the Diocese of the Days of Intercession for Sunday-schools in October last, as appointed by the Archbishop of Canterbury.

Intercession for S. Schools.

The ordination which took place on December 18th in Christ Church, Cottayam (the well-known church built in 1842 by the Rev. B. Bailey), was peculiarly interesting in this respect, that, of the two candidates (both for priest's orders), one, the Rev. C. A Neve, was an Englishman, and the other, the Rev. E. Varkki John, a Native, and both were presented to the Bishop by his Native chaplain, the Rev. Koshi Koshi. The sermon was preached by the Rev. Oomen Mâmen.

Subjoined is a summary of the returns from the Travancore and Cochin Mission for the year 1881 :—

COTTAYAM.

The Rev. C. A. Neve is Principal of the Cottayam College, and the Rev. A. F. Painter is now in charge of the Cambridge Nicholson Institution, having succeeded the Rev. W. J. Richards on the latter leaving for England on furlough in December last. The venerable Mrs. Baker, sen., and Miss Baker still carry on the Christian Girls' Boarding School, in which there are 48 girls; and Mrs. Neve superintends the Hindu Girls' Schools, with their 160 pupils. The Rev. Koshi Koshi is pastor of the Cottayam congregation.

Cottayam College.

In the College, there are 214 pupils, of whom ninety-eight are Syrians, ninety-nine Protestants, and seventeen Hindus. Mr. Neve speaks favourably of the spiritual character of many of the Christian boys. They hold prayer-meetings and study the Bible, and the elders teach in Sunday-schools for heathen boys. Educationally, the College has had a successful year. Its seven candidates for matriculation at the Madras University all passed, whereas in the whole Presidency only one-fourth passed. At the annual prize distribution, Dr. Murray Mitchell, the well-known missionary of the Free Church of Scotland, who was on a visit to Travancore, presided, and spoke very highly of the College and its work. The Maharajah of Travancore* (who is a Hindu in religion) continues to take an interest in the College, and during the year sent several gifts to the library, including the Life of Dr. John Wilson of Bombay, and Dr. Murdoch's Christian periodical called Progress.

On the Cambridge Nicholson Institution Mr. Richards reports for the year 1881. There are twenty-two students, four in the Divinity Class, and eighteen in the Training Classes for schoolmasters. In the former there were six for part of the twelve months. Two of those sent out into the work of the Mission during the year are spoken of in warm terms, as likely to prove able and faithful agents. The divinity students regularly engage in evangelistic work, and an account has appeared in the Diocesan Gazette of their forming, with two missionaries, two Native clergymen, six evangelists, and one reader, a party for preaching at the great Hindu religious fair at Ochira, near Puthupalli. During the three days of the feast, fifteen hours were actually spent in open-air preaching. One incident is interesting. A young Nair, devoted to Hinduism, thought to puzzle the Christian band by asking them to explain the way of salvation in one sentence, "as he wished them to be very brief." One of the evangelists instantly replied, "I can do so," and then exclaimed at the top of his voice, "The blood of Jesus Christ cleanseth us from all sin." He was asked to repeat the words; and much interest was excited in the crowd. Among other references to the Institution in the Gazette is a notice of a series of lectures on Butler's Analogy, part ii., by the Rev. Koshi Koshi. They are intended to form a basis for a translation of part ii., to complete the Malayalam edition, part i. of which was translated by the late Rev. G. Matthan some years ago.

Divinity students preaching

The way of salvation in one sentence.

A very interesting notice is furnished by Mr. Richards of the good influence of a Christian leper at a village called Nyârakkal, four miles from Cottayam:—

> At this place, there lived in his own small compound a Christian named Moses, who had been afflicted with leprosy, which had deprived him of the top-joints of eight toes, and I forget how many finger joints. He lived about a mile from the high road on the borders of some paddy fields, where his heathen Pulayan neighbours and a few Interesting work of a Christian leper.

* In last year's Annual Report there was an accidental mistake. The new Maharajah was said to have succeeded to the throne on the death of his father. It was not his father, but his brother whom he succeeded. In Travancore the property and title pass to younger brothers, and failing them, to the sons of a sister or of a niece; never to a son.

converts from among them work during the sowing and harvest times. The nearest place of worship for them was an out-station at Muttapallam, half way to Cottayam, but as their road thither was a public thoroughfare frequented by the high castes, it is difficult for them to attend. Moses was anxious to have a congregation near his own hut, and also to be the means of bringing the light to the heathen Pulayans about him. To gratify his earnest desire I sent a "slave" teacher to the place, as an experiment for a year only, not knowing how long we should be able to continue the man's salary, owing to the constant reduction in the C.M.S. grant. However, a rich Syrian from near Tiruwella made an offering in Cottayam Church of an English sovereign and 55 rupees for the purpose of preaching the Gospel to the heathen. This sum I devoted to Nyarakkal.

In December I accompanied Mr. Koshi to Nyarakkal, where there were now forty candidates for baptism. They willingly gave up a day's work that they might be examined and baptized. Mr. Koshi carried them in a rigid examination over the Creed, the Lord's Prayer and the Ten Commandments. Some answered very well, some had to be rejected. There was one man suffering from acute dysentery. Once before he had put himself under instruction, but having been attacked by the disease, he had backslidden into worship of devils, thinking that they had afflicted him with the disease. When he got better he again came forward, and now the second time his old complaint has laid him low, but the Holy Spirit has blessed the teaching given him, and he believes it is only a Father's chastisement, and is no longer afraid of the demons. He was accepted.

They had been assembling every evening for some months, and the men were in the habit of sleeping in the prayer-house in Moses' compound, as their daily instruction did not finish till midnight. Mr. Koshi was quite struck with their evident earnestness. Those whose baptism was deferred were quite downcast, but they had to be miserable.

Their sorcerer and devil-dancer some time ago gave me his chank, or large shell, which he used to spin when patients wished him to visit them, to ascertain from what direction the evil spirit in any particular instance had come to afflict his clients or patients. There is a large hole worn on one side of the shell owing to its frequent use. I have also the bell used for the same purpose.

When the service was over and the address, &c., finished, old Moses said, "Now I can die in peace, since God has sent the light to these people." In a sense they are his spiritual children.

TIRUWELLA AND MAVELIKARA.

The Rev. F. Bower has had charge of these southern districts. He reports favourably of the Native Christians. "Most of them, I trust," he says, "are increasing in sound spiritual knowledge and growing in grace. Meetings of the District Church Council have been regularly held, and a deep interest in the growth and stability of the Native Church is taken by both clergy and laity." He mentions some interesting cases of high-caste inquirers and students of the Scriptures. One is a Government official, who has been studying Butler's High-caste students of Scripture.

Analogy, and asked Mr. Bower to recommend him a commentary on the Scriptures. Another, a young man, the son of a petty Rajah, came to Mr. Bower when he had been preaching near the Vishnu temple at Tiruwella, and gave him some questions on paper to be answered, about Christ. He afterwards called on Mr. Bower, but his friends were so angry at his doing so, that they at once removed him to another part of the country.

ALLEPIE AND MUNDAKAYAM.

The Rev. W. Clark, formerly of Ceylon, has superintended these two districts. The Rev. A. J. Jacob is pastor of the Native congregations in and near Allepie. Of these Mr. Clark writes, "As far as I can judge, all these congregations are firm in their profession of Christianity. Their attainments in Christian knowledge, however, are but scanty. The agents are sincere and good men, and for the most part active in the discharge of their duties."

In the MUNDAKAYAM district there are both Pulayan and Hill Arrian congregations. Mr. Clark says, "There are quarrels and disputes among them, as in other congregations; but speaking of their conduct and character there is much to commend. In openness, heartiness, simplicity, zeal, and liberality, they are not inferior to many older converts from heathenism."

COCHIN AND ALWAYE.

The Rev. Kuruwella Kuruwella is pastor at COCHIN, and the Rev. Pothen Joseph evangelistic missionary in the ALWAYE district. The Rev. J. Caley, who has lately returned to India, will probably take up the very important work known as the Alwaye Itinerancy.

TRICHUR AND KUNNANKULAM.

The Rev. J. H. Bishop is in charge of these northern stations in the kingdom of Cochin. The Rev. Jacob Chandy is pastor at TRICHUR, and the Rev. P. Wirghese has lately been appointed to KUNNANKULAM. At the latter place the earnest labours of a faithful pastor are much needed. The congregation, left, owing to the scantiness of the missionary force, to themselves, have not maintained their consistency, and in some cases not even their Christian profession; and Mr. Bishop has written very sadly regarding them. "I am thankful, however," he adds, "that some well-known and interesting converts, such as Timothy, and Simon the mason (the first who was baptized in the font he made as a heathen) have stood the test, though their faith has been sorely tried." Of TRICHUR, its present state, its openings for Christian effort, and his plans for its evangelization, Mr. Bishop writes:—

Trichur: its work and its claims.

The Christian congregation numbers about 500 souls. Most of these have been gathered in from the lower castes, and many of them are very poor. As such they would of course be despised by the Brahmans and Nairs. The Protestant community is, however, gradually improving its intellectual and social status. Moreover, Brahmanism and the Gospel in Trichur seem now to be coming into close contact and conflict. There are providential openings in all directions for work amongst the high castes. Opposition to street-preaching has considerably declined. Satyadasen, our Brahman evangelist, is listened to with marked attention. The missionary is now courteously received into the houses of the Nairs. A desire for English education amongst the Pattara Brahmans and Nairs has during the last few years sprung up, so much so that our small Mission boarding-school for Native Christians, having this year been raised one standard higher than the Government school, immediately attracted several Brahman and Nair boys, who willingly purchased Bibles and joined our senior class, fasting from 10 to 4 p.m., lest they should lose caste.

The most interesting sign of progress is the commencement of the Zenana Mission. A large Zenana Mission girls' school is now being built. Weekly visits to some of the houses of the best Hindu families in Trichur, and daily dispensing of medicine for the soul and body, form a part of the work of the missionary ladies.

In order to take advantage of these providential openings, an appeal is being made in the Madras Record for funds to procure a good centre for work amongst the high castes in Trichur, i.e. a basis of operations. The present Mission-house and schools are quite out of the way, in the extreme south-east corner, on the ramparts, and cut off from the Hindu quarter by a huge Roman Catholic bazaar and the Sepoy lines. With very great difficulty indeed, on account of the opposition of the Brahmans, an excellent site has been purchased, on the main thoroughfare, near the great pagoda, and here it is proposed to erect a Hindu girls' school, a book depôt, and a lecture hall. Then, too, we want to convert our present small boarding-school into a C.M.S. High School, to be managed entirely by Native Christian masters. Here, too, we might appoint a Sanscrit Professor, and open a class for the Namburi Brahmans.

Thus though "a great door and effectual is opened" to us in Trichur, as at Ephesus of old, there are many adversaries. Brahmanism is not yet dead. Satan and his emissaries are hard at work deceiving the nations. The triple veil of ignorance, idolatry, and superstition is still spread over this land, hiding the bright beams of the Sun of Righteousness. More believing prayer and systematic effort is needed to rend this veil asunder. Who will help us?

The Brahmin evangelist alluded to in this extract was mentioned in last year's Annual Report as being "apparently from the L.M.S. Mission in South Travancore." This is not the case. He is the remarkable convert baptized by Mr. Baker in 1877.

IV. Telugu Mission.

The Telugu Mission comprises Masulipatam, 1841; Ellore, 1854; Bêzwâra, 1858; the Koi Mission (Dummagudem), 1860; Raghapuram, 1872; Amalapuram, 1876.

In the Telugu Mission the outlook is distinctly hopeful. The number of Christian adherents has risen in two years from 3998 to 5504, an increase of 38 per cent. As in the case of Travancore, these accessions have rendered it impossible to carry out in their entirety the Committee's reductions in the grants for Native agents, and their stipulations regarding Native Church self-support. Indeed, the Telugu Mission, being a comparatively young Mission in many of its departments, has special claims upon the Society, and all will rejoice at the expansion of the work, even if it does involve larger estimates.

As in other parts of India, however, so here, the higher Hindu castes stand aloof from Christianity. The Telugu Mission has, indeed, been noted for its eminent Brahmin converts, and the past year has not been without evidence that the Gospel leaven is working in many hearts among the educated young men, although conversions are still few and far between. The following important remarks on this point are made by the Rev. E. Noel Hodges, the Principal of the Noble High School, in his Annual Letter:—

Prospects in the Telugu country.

I wish I had time or space to write of the things I had the privilege to see and hear, and to take a feeble part in, during a recent tour in the Ellore and Raghapur districts. I was struck with the readiness shown by the caste people to listen and converse on religion, and it is more than ever important that the missionary should devote himself rather to purely evangelistic work among the higher castes than to the pastoral supervision of those who are already Christians, who in the country districts hitherto with scarcely an exception belong to the Malas or lowest orders of the people. The force of circumstances has to a large extent prevented this, but it has not unnaturally given an impression that our religion is fit and intended only for the Malas. There are signs, however, that this reproach shall be done away, for as the organization of the Native Church is developed and perfected, and Native pastors are ordained to look after the congregations already established, the missionary will gladly avail himself of his comparative freedom from the care of all the churches and throw his whole energies into evangelistic work among the people at large, proclaiming day by day from village to village and from town to town, to all alike, repentance toward God and faith in His Son Jesus Christ; setting forth the love toward men (φιλανθρωπία) of God our Saviour.

The great hope for the future, under God, is in the now full and flourishing schools for the high-caste girls. "Without the women," writes Mr. Hodges, "India will never become Christian. They who are hastening the conversion of the women are doing the very best to hasten the conversion of the men. Had the young men of India now panting for the truth the sympathy of their wives and sisters, we should see history repeat itself, and a nation born in a day." Value of Female Missions.

MASULIPATAM.

There is no alteration in the European staff at this station. The Rev. E. Noel Hodges is Principal of the Noble High School, and is assisted by the Rev. W. G. Peel; the Rev. J. Padfield carries on the Training Institution; and the Rev. Manchala Ratnam is the pastor of the Native congregations in the town and district.

The Noble High School holds on its own beneficent course, with its average of 300 students; but Mr. Hodges still has to exercise "long patience" for the much-prayed-for spiritual fruit. One young Brahmin, after years of struggle, came forward for baptism, but yielded at the last moment to the tears and entreaties of his heathen friends. Another, who had often asked whether the belief of the heart was not enough without the confession of the mouth, was taken dangerously ill just before going up for his University examination, and died—without giving the joyful assurance that he was Christ's. "I had fainted," writes the Principal, "unless I had believed to see the goodness of the Lord in the land of the living." Noble School: "Almost a Christian."

Mr. Hodges also has a school for Mohammedan boys, which has been affiliated to the Noble School because of repeated requests by the Nabob of Masulipatam that he might send his sons to the latter. He contributes towards its maintenance Rs. 25 per month. There are also two schools for Mohammedan girls, one, which is supported by Mrs. Poole, under the charge of Mrs. Ratnam, and the other under the ladies of the Zenana Mission. Girls' Schools.

The Girls' Boarding School founded by Mrs. Sharkey is carried on by Mrs. Padfield. The 34th anniversary was celebrated in December, when it was reported that 53 boarders and 17 day-scholars were on the list. The report of the Government Inspector is highly favourable. Of the various girls' schools in the Kistna Zillah he pronounces it "first in order of merit," and adds, "The care and attention bestowed on this school by Mrs. Padfield are beyond all praise." Twelve of the girls were married during the year, half of them to Mission agents.

The Caste Girls' Schools are superintended by Mrs. Hodges and Mrs. Peel. They educate girls of the higher classes. There has lately been an interesting convert who was formerly in one of these schools under Mrs. Clayton, but who left ten years ago to be married. Her husband died, and she came back desiring to be a pupil-teacher; and the evident work of grace in her heart gradually deepened, till, in the early part of this year, she came out and confessed Christ in baptism, despite the bitter opposition of her family. Her name is Sheshamma.

Telugu translational work.

In the Training Institution there are 21 students. Eight were sent out into Mission work during the year. Mr. Padfield, the Principal, is also usefully employed in translational work. He has prepared a Telugu version of Paley's Evidences, and is now at work on Bishop Walsham How's Commentary on the Four Gospels, both of them for the Madras Committee of the S.P.C.K.

The Rev. Manchala Ratnam's Report.

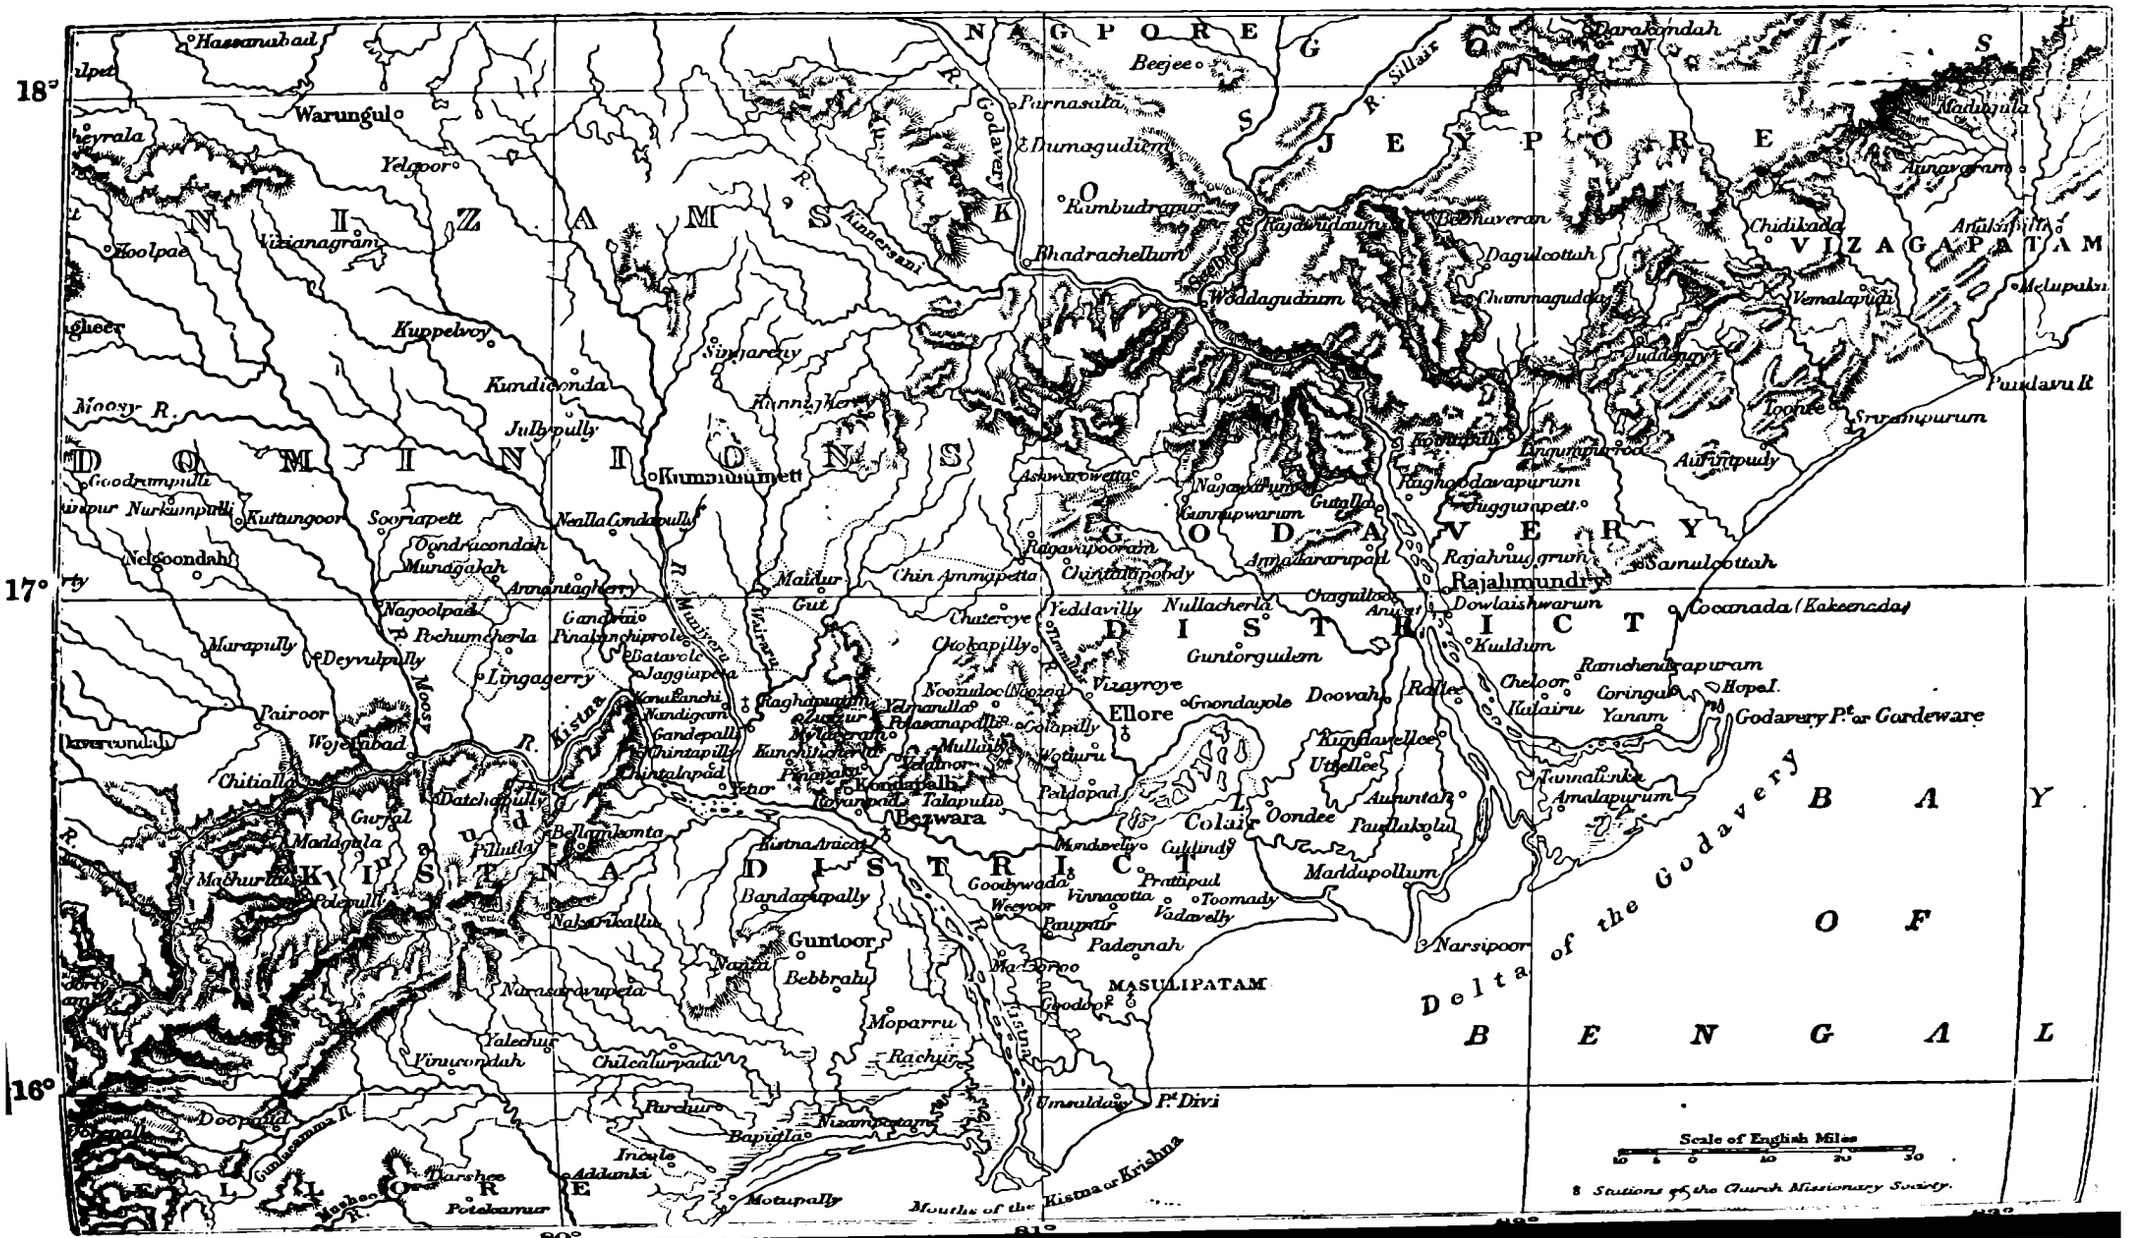

The Rev. Manchala Ratnam reports on the pastoral and evangelistic work. He has 1184 baptized Christians in his congregations, and 928 adherents or catechumens. There were 153 adult baptisms in the year. Speaking of the new accessions in the district, he says, "The tender saplings need special care and attention. For this purpose we want men of genuine piety and sound learning, and funds to meet this extra demand." There are 23 day-schools and 6 Sunday-schools. Mr. Ratnam sends a deeply interesting narrative of the conversion of a respectably connected Sudra, son of a revenue inspector under Government, named Mullavolu Ramayya :—

Interesting history of a new convert.

For upwards of five years Ramayya pursued his studies in the C.M.S. High School, Ellore. Afterwards he was offered a compounder's post at Nuzvid. Whilst there it suggested itself to his mind that he might profitably employ his leisure hours in reading The Advanced Reader, his class-book at Ellore; and on perusing a few of the religious lessons, his heart, under God's blessing, was opened, and a flood of light burst on him unawares. His ardent desire to know more of the truth induced him to apply for leave and to go to Masulipatam, and there he found a friend in Darbha Rama Sastrulu Garu, a convert from Brahminism, now an assistant master in the Noble College, Masulipatam.

Ramayya's desire for baptism grew stronger and stronger, and on the 17th August last he suddenly made his appearance at my house, and besought me most earnestly to give him shelter under my roof, as his relatives had been planning to carry him off to Nursapur in the Godavery district. There was no alternative left but to accede to his wishes. He clung to Jesus with firmness; and I could oft hear him repeat "Lord Jesus, help me and give me strength to go through this fiery ordeal." A mob soon collected at my door, and a harrowing scene ensued. His interview with his mother and others of closest relationship lasted for upwards of five hours, most painful and trying. Wailings, heart-rending words, entreaties, threats, and everything else that a frantic mind could suggest, were used without restraint to prejudice his mind and to draw him away from Christ, his Saviour. More than once an attempt was made to carry him off by force under cover of the darkness. They tore his garments to pieces, and he might have received bodily injury as well, but for the timely assistance rendered by us to disperse the crowd. During the whole of the trial Ramayya's faith was unshaken; and he firmly resisted all these strenuous and persevering efforts to take him home.

Business of an urgent nature compelling me to leave the house the following morning, it was arranged that the young man should be protected in an experienced Christian brother's house, till I came back in the evening; but, to my utter astonishment and horror, the first thing I heard on returning to my house was that poor Ramayya had gone home. This intelligence pierced my heart like an arrow. Lifting up my heart in prayer to God, and fully believing that the Lord, who had begun a good work in him, would bring him back in due season, I lost no time in trying to find him out.

A day or two afterwards I was told that Ramayya had been taken before the magistrate, and was forced to say that he wanted more time to consider the matter. Whilst at home, as was afterwards described to me by Ramayya himself, his condition was most deplorable. His words run thus:—"The day that you were not with me, leaning on Christ for fresh support, I was able to resist all the efforts made by my relatives to take me back. But having foolishly promised the previous night, not at all anticipating the danger I would be in, to go and see them the next day, I yielded to their wishes, and went home with the idea of only staying there for a little while. But I soon found my mistake. I felt I was a prisoner shut up, as it were, in a close dungeon, carefully watched by my relatives for many days. I was not allowed to touch a Christian book. This grieved me very much, and affected both my body and mind, so much so that the people called me insane, and drugged me with medicines, much against my will, to cure me of it. Strange fears came over me, that the Lord had given me up, and that my cry would no longer be heard, and that my sin of turning my back against my Saviour was too great to be forgiven. I never felt so wretched in my life. At length, the Lord pitying me, I was allowed a little liberty; and I took this opportunity of running back to my old friend Sastrulu Garu, and of relating my sad tale."

His faith having been sufficiently tested, I admitted him into the visible Church of Christ by baptism on the 23rd November. The young convert is very happy with me. He has been leading a holy, consistent life. Your prayers are requested for him.

BEZWÂDA.

The Rev. John Harrison is the missionary at this station. There are 347 baptized Christians and 363 catechumens. Of the latter a considerable number have been baptized since the year's returns were made up. The caste people in this district show a favourable disposition towards Christianity. One of the recent converts is a young Vellama, who exhibited much courage in utterly renouncing caste and living with boys of Mâla origin.

Mr. Harrison has suffered much from sickness, and is obliged again to return home invalided.

ELLORE.

Ten years' progress at Ellore.

The Rev. F. W. N. Alexander gives a ten years' review of the work in this district, that being the period since he last rejoined the Mission. In 1871 there were eleven villages occupied, in three circles; there are now thirty-seven villages, in seven circles. There were then 171 baptized Christians and 216 catechumens; the corresponding numbers now are 808 and 265. There were 49 communicants; there are now 139. There were 20 baptisms in that year; and 155 last year. Thus the Lord is blessing the work.

The various agencies have been vigorously worked in the twelve months under review. In the schools, including the High School, the Mohammedan School, the Girls' Boarding School, the Middle Class Boys' School, and the village vernacular schools, there are 277 boys and 328 girls. The High School is conducted by Mr. Martin Browne, assisted by the Rev. G. Krishnayya and Mr. V. Venkayya Garu, the former of whom also ministers to the Ellore congregation.

A Tamil missionary in the Telugu country.

The Rev. Samuel Vores, the Tamil clergyman, who is a gift to the Mission from the Tinnevelly Church, has made good progress in the Telugu language, and is now in charge of three of the seven circles above mentioned. Mr. Alexander writes of him, "Mr. Vores is a valuable helper, and has quite won the regard and trust of those placed under him."

RAGHAVAPURAM.

The Rev. James Stone continues his untiring labours at this distant village in the heart of the Telugu country. There has been very decided progress during the year. Thirteen new villages have been taken up in the district, making sixty-two in all. There are now 753 baptized Christians, and 462 catechumens, together 1215, against 800 in the preceding year, an increase of fifty per cent. But Mr. Stone urges that the work still needs developing. The district extends from Raghavapuram, forty miles westward and fifty or sixty miles northward. But it is not half occupied; and beyond is "a vast field untouched" by any missionary effort at all. A year and a half ago Mr. Stone received an urgent letter from a village ninety miles off, in the Nizam's territory, begging for a teacher. A catechist was sent to visit the place. "He found all the Mâlas ready to receive us, and four could repeat the Lord's Prayer. Still I could not take up their village. I have not the strength." Of the nearer villages, eight or ten are pressing for resident teachers; "but we have neither the men nor the money."

Appeal from a "vast field untouched."

In the whole district there is as yet scarcely a convert from the higher castes. But they are manifesting an increasing interest in Christianity. In one centre there are ten caste men under instruction. Of one, a Brahmin, who it is hoped may soon be ready to confess Christ publicly and receive baptism, the following very touching incident is told:—

A Brahmin found studying the Bible.

When he first showed an interest in our religion, I sent him a copy of the New Testament in Telugu. Some time after, when on one of his monthly rounds, the catechist was passing through his village about 10 o'clock at night, as he drew near this man's house, he was surprised by hearing some one, in rather a subdued tone, reading, "Let your light so shine." He paused, and he heard the same person say, "Your light! I have none. How can I get it? Oh, for this light!" The catechist asked who was there. In reply, the yard gate was opened, and then, during the dead hours of the night, when all the others of the family were sleeping, all caste feeling being forgotten, these two conversed concerning the "True Light which lighteth every man that cometh into the world."

Caste difficulties among Telugu Christians.

The spirit of caste is not confined to the higher castes. It has been Mr. Stone's great difficulty in the past year among his Mâla Christians. They are an out-caste people themselves; but there is a lower grade still, the Madigas, from among whom many of the new converts are drawn; and it is distressing to observe that their accession is anything but welcome to some of the Mâla Christians. But, as he remarks, "the favouring of caste is so diametrically opposed to the increase of Christian virtues, that wherever it exists it must have a deadening effect." Of his difficulties, and of a victory won by Christian charity over caste feeling, Mr. Stone gives an interesting account:—

The signal for the actual caste feeling to show itself was my receiving two Madiga boys into the Boys' boarding-school. Immediately several of the old congregations declared their intention of apostatizing if I did not remove the boys at once from the school. However, one thing gave me great comfort amidst all the trouble, and that was that the real spiritually-minded in the congregations had not the least sympathy with this movement. For nearly a fortnight did M. Kâliyâna Râma Garu (agent on the Walter Jones Fund), several of the elders, and I plead and reason with the poor people in almost every conceivable way. At last some yielded to our persuasion, others stood out till we had to threaten them with excommunication. Ultimately, by God blessing, the storm subsided without even a single soul apostatizing.

It occurred to me that as nearly all our agents were of Mala origin, it would be well to try and get some Christians of Madiga origin trained as schoolmasters, &c. Just at that time, I baptized a very intelligent couple of that class, who had been preparing for baptism for some time. The young man had formerly read in our boarding-school, but had run away because of the persecution he received from the other boys on account of caste. Still he had never forgotten the truths imbibed there, and when I first saw him in his village, four years after, he answered very intelligently questions which I asked him about salvation through Christ. Last year (i. e. 1881), at his baptism, we gave him the name of Matthew at the request of those who undertook to help to further educate him. After much prayer, in order to facilitate his education, I brought him and his wife into Raghavapuram and put them in a house which I had built for them amongst the Christians. It was a bold step, some may think not a wise one, to bring Christians of Madiga origin to live amongst those of Mala and other caste extraction, and it was with fear and trembling as to the result that I did it. To my surprise, about twelve of the leading Christians, with the teachers of Raghavapuram, entirely of their own accord, and amongst them old Venkayya, proposed a "house warming," and they all went and took food in Matthew's house. This caused a great stir, and at one time I almost feared a division in the congregation, but up to this time nothing has happened, and all now seem to be treating Matthew more or less in a brotherly manner. Still we must watch and pray and be ready to deal the monster a timely blow as often as ever he lifts his head; and then, by God's help, he will disappear.

A victory over caste prejudice.

Of the boarding and vernacular schools, Mr. Stone reports favourably. He also reports that his colporteur has "sold and scattered in all directions" about four thousand religious books of every description. Thus the bread is cast upon the waters—assuredly to be found "after many days."

AMALÂPURAM.

This station, in the delta of the Godâvery, is superintended from Masulipatam by Mr. Padfield. The Rev. H. W. Eales has been residing there while studying the language. The chief Mission agencies are the Anglo-Vernacular School, of which Mr. A. Subbarâyadu Garu, one of Robert Noble's converts, is head-master, and the Caste Girls' School conducted by his wife. There are 125 boys in the one, and 25 girls in the other. "The light," says Mr. Padfield, "is perhaps feeble as yet, but it is lit, and it is shining in a dark place."

DUMMAGUDEM: KOI MISSION.

During the year General Haig has been actively prosecuting his noble enterprise—for such it is. He went out, not only to "hold the fort" during the Rev. J. Cain's absence, but also to "spy out the land," and form plans for the extension of the work among the Koi tribes of the Godâvery. In July last year the Committee received from him a full report on the position and prospects of the Mission. He found that although Dummagudem was originally occupied with the express purpose of evangelizing the Kois, and although this purpose had been steadily kept in view during the nineteen years of the Mission's existence, yet the great majority of the converts were not Kois but Telugus, especially of the same Mâla caste which has furnished so large a proportion of all the Native Christians in the Telugu country. His figures gave 303 as the whole number on the roll, of whom 251 were Telugus and 52 Kois. (More recent statistics from the Society's Secretary at Madras give a total of 386, and the General now counts 70 Kois.) Three causes are assigned by General Haig for the slow progress among the Kois:—1. That missionary after missionary has had to leave the station through ill-health, so that for seven and a half out of eighteen and a half years there was no one there. 2. The lack of well-qualified Native agents. 3. The more numerous accessions from the Mâlas, upon whom the Kois, though a wild forest tribe, look down as inferior to themselves, and are repelled from joining a community largely composed of them. The motto of the Mission, as General Haig says, has been, "To the Koi first, and also to the Mâla;" but the Mâla, like the Gentile of old, has proved more ready to receive the Gospel, and the Koi, like the Jew, has been offended thereby. This unhappy caste spirit has even shown itself within the Church, and it is only in response to a fatherly letter from the Bishop of Madras that the Koi Christians have laid aside their hereditary prejudices and begun the practice of sitting side by side with the Mâlas in the public services, and kneeling with them at the Lord's Table. That they have yielded, however, is a cause for great thankfulness, and a token of the working of divine grace in their hearts.

General Haig and the Koi Mission.

Causes of slow progress among the Kois.

Another victory over caste feeling.

The larger part of the Mission work from the beginning has been done by "Râzu Gâru" (the Rev. I. Vencatarama Râzu), but his increasing age and weak health prevent his taking long forest journeys, and the care of the little congregations close around Dummagudem has demanded all his time and strength. The Kois, however, still "look to him as their great friend and protector about questions of all sorts, and he never lets a man go without preaching Christ to him." The few Koi Christians General Haig reports as leading quiet and consistent lives, but as lacking—like so many Christians both at home and abroad—in earnestness in making known the truth to others. "The Kingdom of God," he says, "has yet to come to the little Church in power, and for this we must pray, and work, and wait." Some of the Mâla converts are much more aggressive; witness the following remarkable and very encouraging case:—

Mâla voluntary evangelists, male and female.

The work at Nigeram, a village some thirty miles down river, is entirely due to the labours of one humble but truly earnest Mâla Christian, Mutiálu by name, who was baptized here in 1872. His own village, Dantenam, is only about six miles from here, but driven from it by persecution, he went about from place to place, up and down the river, testifying to all his own people of the Saviour he had found. The Lord wrought with him, and as a result of his preaching in Nigeram, 17 persons, mostly adults, were baptized by Razu Garu some years ago. Four of these were converts of Mutiálu's own stamp. Two of them were women. They, i. e. the women, also could not keep the glad tidings to themselves, but for about two years went up and down the river—of course entirely at their own expense—telling all who would listen to them about Jesus. One of these two devoted women is now with Christ. She died (on one of these tours, I think) at Konáram a year or two ago. The other I saw on my way up, a nice modest comely-looking woman. Her husband and another man are the remaining two of the four above mentioned They also, for the past two years have spent most of their time itinerating at their own cost, preaching the word. They, as well as Mutiálu, are well received by their caste people, and sometimes even by others; they, in fact, depend largely on the hospitality of those to whom they preach. One of them said to me, "I take nothing with me when I set out, and I never come home hungry." All these that I have mentioned belong to the priestly subdivision of the Mâla caste.

General Haig's plans for extension.

General Haig further made proposals to the Committee for extending the work widely into the more purely Koi districts; and although all has not been done that either he or they would have desired, yet by the blessing of God a beginning has been made by opening five new schools in the Rakapilly taluq (district), fifty miles south of Dummagudem, and also a new out-station, Mokpal, 75 miles N.N.E., in the Native State of Bustar. The agents for the latter purpose were provided in a very interesting way. The General wrote to Bishop Sargent, and asked if the Native Church of Tinnevelly would send him evangelists. The matter was brought before the Provincial Church Council, and excited such deep interest that they at once resolved not only to send two Tamil catechists, but to bear the cost of their support; and Rs. 600 a year were voted for that purpose. At the same time the General obtained from the L.M.S. Mission in South Travancore a Tamil with some medical training.

Men and money from Tinnevelly for the Koi Mission.

In the last week of 1881 the three were at Dummagudem, and were engaged, with the General and Mr. Râzu, and the Telugu agents, in a week of prayer and study of God's Word, preparatory to commencing the work. Subsequently, one of the Tamil evangelists had to leave on account of sickness; and the Tinnevelly Provincial Council, apparently somewhat discouraged by this, resolved to offer money only, and not men. The Committee trust, however, that grace may be vouchsafed to them to persevere in so excellent a course as the sending of their own brethren into what is to them a foreign country in the service of Christ.

Reference must not be omitted, in passing, to the beginning General Haig has made in providing reading for the Kois. He has prepared a Primer, a First Catechism, and selections from St. Luke's Gospel, in their own language.

In response to General Haig's earnest representations, the Committee have designated to the Koi Mission one of the young missionaries going out in the autumn. The Rev. J. Cain also returns to his old post this year. Meanwhile he has been doing good service by a visit to Australia, where he has been pleading the Society's cause. Mrs. Cain was a lady sent to the Telugu Mission from Australia for work among the women; and the Committee desire to take this opportunity of expressing their deep sense of the great help rendered to the Society's India Missions by the devoted clergyman under whose auspices she was sent forth, the Rev. H. B. Macartney, of Caulfield, Melbourne. By his instrumentality about 1000*l.* per annum is remitted to India for the support of Mission agencies connected with C.M.S. work, chiefly, though not exclusively, in Tinnevelly and the Telugu country; and this sum maintained last year 12 male and 20 female Native agents, two divinity students, and 172 children in boarding-schools. The Committee thank God for the loving and liberal spirit that has prompted this noble auxiliary contribution, and pray that He will reward the Australian subscribers, in spiritual blessings, sevenfold into their bosom.

CEYLON MISSION.

I. Singhalese Mission:—Kandy, 1818; Baddêgama, 1819; Cotta, 1822; Kurunêgala, 1880.

II. Tamil Mission:—Jaffna, 1818; Colombo, 1852; Tamil Cooly Mission, 1855.

Reinforcement in Ceylon.

THE Ceylon Mission has again been reinforced by the addition of four ordained missionaries; and two more are to be added shortly. This has been rendered necessary by the return home of some experienced labourers; still it raises the nominal force, and will by God's blessing raise the effective force, to a considerably higher figure than at any former period. Two of the brethren lately added, the Revs. E. T. Higgens and E. M. Griffith, have worked in Ceylon before; and another, the Rev. H. Horsley, in Tinnevelly; and the Committee were especially thankful to send back the first-named of these brethren, who first went out no less than thirty-one years ago.

Success of school work in Ceylon.

This reinforcement is fully warranted by the steady progress of all branches of the Mission. The schools, in particular, of which there are 222, with 11,000 scholars, are increasingly efficient, and are bringing forth fruit of the best kind, in the conversion of souls. In the English school at Cotta, for instance, in which there are 50 Christian boys and 50 heathen, more than one-fourth of the former are sons of heathen parents, and they have been converted since they entered the school. At Jaffna, where there are more than 900 baptized Christians, two-thirds of the converts are fruits of the school work. In purely heathen districts, where the Missions are in their infancy, children in the fields and gardens may be heard singing a poetical Singhalese Scripture History called "Milk for Babes," which they have learned at school. Sunday Schools are an important agency in Ceylon, and are reported on as very efficient.

Opposition of Theosophists.

The evangelistic work has been vigorously carried on, although bitter opposition has been met with, from both Buddhists and Mohammedans. The former have been encouraged to greater activity in their attacks on Christianity by Colonel Olcott, the American Theosophist leader, who avows his intention to "entirely uproot Christianity in the island," and who has held meetings in many towns and villages, and induced the priests to set up opposition schools. One Buddhist priest under his influence issued an address, in which he affirmed that Christian bishops, clergy, and teachers would even kill men to get their salaries, and that there were "no deceivers, artful liars, fools, and thieves like the Christians anywhere." The Native evangelists, nevertheless, have worked patiently on. One of them having silently borne the insults of a Mohammedan antagonist, the latter said to him, "How is it you do not get angry? Do you like my speaking in this way?" "I do not like it," was the reply, "but our Bible teaches us to be patient. The Lord Jesus was so, and we follow in His steps." That their labours have not been in vain in the Lord is evidenced by the register of 139 adult baptisms in the year; and there are 379 candidates for baptism at the various stations.

Patience of Native evangelists.

Of the Native Church, the General Report annually issued by the Missionary Conference says: "There has been quiet and steady progress. The congregations at most of the stations have increased. The attendance at public worship has been steady. The number of communicants has risen, and the contributions given by Native Christians for the support of their pastors, and for other religious purposes, have at most stations been sustained, but in some they have fallen off. Amongst those of the Native Christians who have passed away during the year, some have given clear and distinct evidence of the power of the religion of the Lord Jesus, not only to give peace, but also joy, through the bright anticipation of coming glory, when facing the last great foe."

Progress of Native Church.

The Bishop of Colombo visited almost all the C.M.S. Missions during the year, inspecting, confirming, and preaching in the churches and chapels and in the open air. No less than 520 Native Christians connected with the Society were confirmed within thirteen months. Of these, 174 were in the Tamil Cooly Mission, as will appear presently.

Bishop of Colombo's confirmations.

The one sign of weakness in the Mission has been seen in the lukewarmness of some of the congregations, and the diminution here and there of the numbers. In the aggregate however, there is an increase; and there are many tokens also of growing power in the Native Church generally. At the Provincial Council held in July, a strong desire was generally expressed by the Lay Delegates that self-support might speedily make the Native Church pecuniarily independent; and a godly jealousy was also shown for the purity of its doctrines and the simplicity of its worship. The issue of the discussions now going on in connexion with the withdrawal of State aid and recognition from the Anglican Church in Ceylon, is at present uncertain; but the Committee earnestly desire that the new constitution may follow the lines of the Church of England, which, whatever the errors of particular sections of it, has been, and is, a faithful witness to the truth of the Gospel. They trust that the pure and Scriptural Christianity which alone can make Ceylon a garden of the Lord may be protected from all adverse influences, until the day comes when the Native Church, with its Native Bishops, shall become independent without loss of communion with the Church at home.*

The C.M.S. Ceylon Mission has two branches, carried on in two languages for the benefit of two races, the Singhalese and the Tamils. It is proposed this year to review these two branches separately, instead of following a merely geographical order. In Colombo, and in the hill country of Kandy, the two Missions work side by side; but Cotta, Baddêgama, and Kurunêgala are Singhalese stations, and the Jaffna peninsula is purely Tamil. One of the Society's agencies falls under neither head—the English Church at Galle Face, Colombo, of which the Rev. Henry Newton is minister, and which is not only self-supporting, but renders both personal and pecuniary help to the Society's work.

I. Singhalese Mission.

COLOMBO AND COTTA.

THE head-quarters of this Mission are at COTTA, six miles from Colombo. The Rev. R. T. Dowbiggin was the superintending missionary during the year under review; but having returned home on furlough after more than fourteen years' uninterrupted service, his place has been taken by the Rev. E. T. Higgens. There are two Native pastors, the Rev. Hendrick de Silva at Talangama, and the Rev. H. Kannangâr at Nugegoda. The Singhalese congregations in Colombo have their services at certain hours in the English Church at Galle Face Church, and at a new church in private hands called St. Luke's, which is also primarily English.

Mr. Dowbiggin's full and very interesting Report is not encouraging as to the state of the congregations, which comprise 1182 baptized Christians and 44 catechumens, 254 of the former being communicants. "Spiritual life is weak and low," and except in two pastorates there were no adult baptisms in the year. On the other hand the school work, for which Cotta has always been famous, continues to prosper. Mr. Dowbiggin writes:—

> The schools this year are fifty in number, as compared with forty-eight in 1880; and of these twenty-seven are for girls and twenty-three for boys. It has been my object, as far as possible, to extend female education in this district: and it is with great satisfaction that I see the girls' schools out-numbering those for boys. I very much question if such a thing obtains in any other Mission. My belief is that children are influenced far more by their mothers than by their fathers; and as our hopes rest on the rising generation more than the present, I am anxious to bring as many girls as possible under the teaching and influence of the Gospel of Christ. Flourishing mission schools at Cotta.

On the 30th September, the total number of girls on the lists was 1212, and of boys 1766, as compared with 1149 and 1694, respectively, in 1880; a total of 2978 as compared with 2843 last year. This would give an average for each boys' school of 76, and for each girls' school of 45, avoiding fractional parts.

In the grant-in-aid examinations the average per cent. of passes received in girls' schools was 86, and in boys' schools 87, which is a shade lower than last year.

The girls' boarding-school has been full throughout the year, and has been as successful as in previous years, and its influence is being felt in the country. As a proof of this, the young women who have left it are eagerly sought for as school-teachers, even in Government schools. Not long ago I had a letter from the Director of Public Instruction inquiring if I could give him the names of any such girls who had left the school. Except about ten, all the girls in the school are the daughters of Christian parents. I copy the letter of one of the girls to her father, making known her wish to receive baptism. Her father is a Christian but the mother is a Buddhist:— Singhalese school-girl's letter to her father.

"Please, father, I require something from you and mother, which is, leave for me to be baptized. For I have learned that the truth of Christianity is quite perfect.. The reason is that I know Jesus loves me, and I also love Jesus very much. If I go to Him I am sure He will be pleased to take me. I have no other peaceful religion than Christianity. Please, father, give me leave to be baptized as soon as possible. If I enter the flock of Christ I shall be happy for ever."

In connexion with girls' schools I may mention that we obtained two prizes at the Melbourne Exhibition for lace and embroidery which we sent from the Cotta district.

Of Sunday-schools there have been forty-seven in operation during the year, which were attended by an average of 821 boys and girls.

Mr. Dowbiggin is also able, by God's blessing, to report much active evangelistic work. In Colombo the Singhalese catechists visit both the general hospital and the gaol hospital, and preach "in the streets, at the court-house, and wherever they can find men to listen to them." They meet with much opposition. Their own words are, "Satan is most active in stirring up men against us. They make a great noise, and abuse the name of our Lord God, and us also. Even when walking in the streets they seek to prevent us, abusing us and pursuing us like a pack of dogs." The village of Angampitiya "has been the centre round which the battle has raged with especial fury." The Buddhist priest there has been bitterly antagonistic. At Liyanwela, where agents on the Henry Sowing the seed at Colombo.

Progress at Liyanwela.

Venn Fund are at work, there is steady progress. The Bishop of Colombo paid visits to these two out-stations for the first time in November last, and confirmed 23 adult candidates, most of whom had been baptized by Mr. Dowbiggin within the past five years. "The Bishop seemed very much gratified with all that he saw and heard of the work in this district; and more than once expressed his satisfaction that it was really missionary work, and not merely a Church composed of the offspring of Christian families."

Death of a leading Singhalese Christian layman.

The Colombo congregation has lost its leading layman, Mr. J. D. Jayesinha, who died in September. Mr. Dowbiggin gives an interesting account of him:—

> He had been baptized in infancy, but was only nominally a Christian, and in heart and life a Buddhist until about three years ago. He was well acquainted with Buddhism, and all his relatives were zealous for that faith.
>
> Mr. Jayesinha formed the acquaintance of our pastoral catechist in Colombo, and by degrees his mind became enlightened, and eventually he embraced the Gospel of Jesus in the love of it, and was very earnest in promoting the work of the Gospel. He was the secretary of the Church Committee, and its representative in the Provincial Council. He was also chosen as one of the delegates to the Church Assembly which met in Colombo on the 5th July last.
>
> His devotion to the work of the Gospel excited the opposition of his friends, who were Buddhists and Theosophists; and not content with persecuting him during his life, they even carried it so far as to revile his dead body, heap abuse upon his religion in the house of mourning, and turn to ridicule the funeral service with which the grave closed over his remains.
>
> During Mr. Jayesinha's illness he was forsaken of all but the catechist and his Christian friends. His own Buddhist relatives seemed to regard a Christian and the Christian religion as something altogether vile and unclean, and the consequence was that Mr. Jayesinha was left entirely to the care of his young wife and the catechist; the latter of whom, with the help of his servant, had actually to perform the last sad offices for the dead body of his friend. Mr. Jayesinha had been connected with the office of the Surveyor-General, in a position of trust and responsibility, where he was much respected. At the funeral there stood around his grave the Honourable the Acting Surveyor-General, his chief office assistant, and many others who had been his fellow-workers in the office.
>
> To the Christian Church his death is a very severe blow. He was a man that, humanly speaking, the Church could not spare, and by whose life and consistent Christian character we had hoped so much would have been done to help to build up the Native Church in this island. But the Master knows best.

BADDÊGAMA.

In this southern district, with its 200,000 souls, the Society has one missionary, the Rev. J. Allcock, under whom there are two Native pastors, six catechists and readers, and forty-seven schoolmasters and mistresses. The whole number of baptized Christians at BADDÊGAMA and the out-stations is 568, of whom 167 are communicants; and there are 112 catechumens. The schools give Christian instruction to 1117 boys and 727 girls. The two pastors are the Rev. Abraham Suriârachchia Amarasêkara, at Dodanduwa, and the Rev. Garagoda Arachchigé Bastian Perera, at Balapitimâdara.

Mr. Allcock's Annual Letter, and those of the two pastors,* tell of much zealous and faithful missionary work, and give many encouraging instances of the working of divine grace in the hearts of the people. One or two may be selected. First, take two instances of men brought to repentance when sick with a much dreaded disease akin to leprosy, called parangi:—

Bodily sickness blessed to sick souls.

A man who had hardened his heart for a long time has repented. The news came to me that he was suffering from parangi. When I saluted him, he surprised me by replying, "Hitherto our Lord Jesus helped me." I said, "Friend, are you speaking actual experience or canting nonsense? Do you covet the Christian's money?" He replied, "I will give you my reasons, sir. God gave me good health and power to work for myself and family for nearly fifty years. During my health and strength I sometimes wanted things necessary; but since my sickness I have lacked nothing. I prayed to God, and He supplied my wants and my family." I have known him for years, and he always appeared to me a stupid, heavy, earthly-minded man; but as it appears to me the true grace of God is now operating in his soul. He and his family are now catechumens.

There has been another remarkable case. The uncle of the Rev. A. S. Amarasêkara was smitten with this dreadful disease. When his nephew visited him, he almost despaired of his life. His wounds were very large and deep. It struck him that his case was exactly described in the 38th Psalm. He turned it into Singhalese poetry, or into what they call set kawi, or hymns of peace. The sick man was in distress and fear. He regarded the loathsome disease as the "wrath," "the hot-displeasure," "the arrow of God." His old lovers and friends stood aloof, and even kinsmen stood afar off. He seems now to be convinced of sin and much afraid. The pride and carnal courage which he displayed in health and strength seem to be broken, and conviction of sin and humility are apparently growing in their place.

One convert is the fruit of the monthly moonlight preachings:—

Moonlight preaching and its fruits.

We sometimes preach in schools for four or five nights together from about the 9th day of the moon to the full, taking such texts as "God so loved the world," "Christ Jesus came to save sinners." We had one special week among the heathen of Dodanduwa, when more than 100 heathens attended. One man who had been in heathen darkness for nearly fifty years, came to the light, but he had to endure much bitter sarcasm and scorn from his old friends. They surrounded him like bees, and said, "We can respect this missionary and David Arachchi. They believe God from conviction; but this cunning turncoat and vile hypocrite, to get more honour and position from great gentlemen, hypocritically professes to be a Christian." Thank God, our new brother very patiently bore it all, and like his Master was dumb when reproached without a cause.

* Mr. Amarasêkara's letter is printed in the Intelligencer of March, 1882.

"There is now more activity and life among the Christians," says Mr. Allcock, "than I have seen for the last seventeen years. It seems as though they were beginning to understand more perfectly the text, 'Laying aside every weight . . . . let us run with fortitude the race,' &c., according to the Singhalese translation." He also mentions the increasing liberality of their offerings to God's service:—

Freewill offerings of Ceylon Christians.

They have subscribed Rs. 1349 for religious purposes. That makes nearly 8*s.* for each adult in one year. By this they show that they love and value the Gospel. Each congregation sets apart one day in the year, and calls it the "freewill offering day." They are beginning to understand more perfectly the meaning of the Master's word, "Give alms of such things as ye have; and behold all things are clean unto you." I am afraid that some of the Pharisees would have their sensibilities shocked if they beheld our offerings. They included a fine bull, a young heifer, over fifty bushels of corn, sugar, treacle, cucumbers, melons, wambotu, plantains, cocoa-nuts, oranges, limes, eggs, fowls, cigars, tobacco, rice, woollen fancy articles, oil, sugar-canes, soap, beans, and other things too numerous to be remembered. One day's free-will offering realized more than 100 rupees.

KURUNÊGALA, AND KANDYAN ITINERANCY.

The extensive Singhalese Mission in the central and western central districts of Ceylon was, as in the preceding year, divided between the Rev. J. Ireland Jones and the Rev. S. Coles, until the recent departure of Mr. Coles, who has had, to his own regret, and that of his brethren and the Committee, to return home invalided. This makes Kurunêgala the centre of the whole work, which now falls wholly upon Mr. Jones. His words respecting this heavy additional burden of responsibility call for the prayerful sympathy of all readers of this Report:—"When a man has already a district which taxes every energy, and even then cannot properly be grasped, it is no light thing to find added to it the oversight of 23 schools, scattered over an area over 150 miles long and proportionately wide—and schools are but one part of the work. I can only cast myself on God's promise—'As thy days so shall thy strength be'—and remember that His strength is made perfect in our weakness."

A heavy burden of work.

During the year under review the work in the Kurunêgala district was much interfered with by a severe epidemic of fever, which raised the death-rate from 540 per month to 2000, and almost emptied the Mission schools. But, "blessed be God," writes Mr. Jones, "the Christians were wonderfully kept: many were seriously ill, but in the villages we only lost, I think, two old men and one child; and God has given us two aged persons in place of those He took, as I have baptized two women aged, one about 70, and the other 75." He felt much more keenly some trials of another kind, namely, the fall into inconsistency and sin of some of the converts; but on the whole, he is able to report favourably of the congregations, which comprise 828 baptized Christians and 80 catechumens, and also of the recently ordained pastor at Kaegala, the principal out-station, the Rev. Johannes Perera Kalpagê.

KANDY.

The Singhalese congregation at Trinity Church, KANDY, and that at KATUKELE, are ministered to respectively by two Native pastors, the Revs. Henry Gunasêkara and Bartholomew Piris Wîrasinha, and together form a Church Council, of which Mr. Gunasêkara is chairman. The whole number of baptized members is 377, of whom 107 are communicants. There are four Sunday-schools, with about 160 children. The one in connexion with Trinity Church is superintended by a Singhalese gentleman, a proctor, Mr. Henry Gunatilaka, and among the teachers are several teachers in Trinity College, and the superintendent of police. In Mr. Wîrasinha's report there is a touching account of the conversion and death of an aged man who had been baptized in infancy, in the days when the only way of securing certain civil privileges was to be registered as a Christian, but had been nearly all his life a Buddhist in heart and life. When seventy-five years old he began to long for the forgiveness of his sins, and finding no provision for that in Buddhism, he sought it in Christ. He died in peace at the age of eighty.

Conversion of an aged Singhalese.

TRINITY COLLEGE, KANDY, may be noticed in this place, being mainly for the benefit of the Singhalese population, though the instruction—as in all high-class educational institutions in Ceylon—is in English. The Committee observe with much satisfaction how greatly the college is prospering under its energetic Principal, the Rev. J. G. Garrett. The number of students has risen from 177 to 238. In race they are Singhalese, Kandians, Malays, and Eurasians; in religion, Christians, Mohammedans, Buddhists, and Hindus. Among the non-Christians there are some inquirers, and one late student has said of himself, "I belong to Lord Jesus." The estimation in which the College is held by the Natives is shown by the interesting fact that the surplus funds long in the hands of the Singhalese Committee for the Reception of the Prince of Wales, amounting to Rs. 6000, have now been expended in founding a scholarship for Singhalese boys.

II. Tamil Mission.

COLOMBO.

THE Society's Tamil Mission at the capital of Ceylon includes the pastoral care of congregations, with evangelistic and school work, both in COLOMBO itself, and at other places on the coast as far south as Galle and as far north as Negombo. The whole number of baptized Christians is 862, of whom 241 are communicants; and there are thirty-five catechumens. In the schools 376 children are taught. The work has been divided during the year between the Rev. D. Wood and the Rev. J. I. Pickford, but Mr. Wood has since been obliged by illness to come home. There is a Native pastor, the Rev. John Gabb, for the Colombo congregation. The evangelistic work is very varied in character, as a few lines from Mr. Wood's Annual Letter will show:—

> House-to-house visitation, visiting the gaols and hospitals, tract distribution, street-preaching, personal conversation at our mission-room and elsewhere, are all so many means of which we avail ourselves, believing that each and all of these God will bless in His own way, if only we enter upon them in faith and prayer. We have had a large number of visitors at the mission-room every month, and outside the room we have had good audiences at street-preaching. Christians have come to the room to ask questions on matters which they did not understand, while Romanists, Mohammedans, Buddhists, and heathen have also come in. Some have conversed quietly; others, it was evident, came merely to dispute. Many have purchased, and taken away with them, tracts and portions of God's Word.

Work among Tamil Moslems.

A good many of the Tamils reached by this Mission are Mohammedans; and these, as may be expected, are particularly bitter in their opposition. The antagonism of the Moslem women is especially spoken of. One scornfully exclaimed, "My religion gives me plenty of jewels; your religion gives you none." In the mission schools, however, there are many Mohammedan children, both boys and girls, who learn texts of Scripture readily; so that precious seed is being sown in their minds, at all events; and the Committee doubt not that by the blessing of the Holy Spirit it will take root downward in some hearts, and then bear fruit upward in some lives.

The Tamil Girls' Boarding-school was under the care of Miss C. Young until her marriage with the Rev. J. I. Pickford. Miss Matilda Hall, a sister of the Rev. J. W. Hall, of the Bengal Mission, has lately gone out to undertake this work.

KANDY: TAMIL COOLY MISSION.

The Rev. W. E. Rowlands continues his energetic and devoted labours as superintending missionary of the extensive and important TAMIL COOLY MISSION. The Rev. F. Glanvill, who went out in 1880, is now able to take an active share in the work; and the Committee have lately also sent out the Rev. Hugh Horsley, who having already served some few years in Tinnevelly, and thus knowing the language, can at once join in it. There are two Native assistant-missionaries, the Revs. Pâkkyanâthan Peter and Aralanâthen Gnânamutthu; and also fifty-three catechists and schoolmasters. In the supervision of these Native agents, Mr. Rowlands has had to ride or walk over the hilly coffee districts of central Ceylon at the rate of 600 miles a month.

Encouraging report of the Tamil Cooly Mission.

Mr. Rowlands' report is a very encouraging one. Not that there have not been trials—"the greatest of all being the indifference and unbelief manifested by many of our own countrymen." "To be continually met," he says, "with the objection that what you are doing is worse than useless, and that to make the Tamil labourer a Christian is only to make him 'twice as big a rogue as he was before,' is very hard to bear, and has often led me to cry unto God with tears, 'Arise, O God, maintain Thine own cause: remember how the foolish man reproacheth Thee daily." This trial is all the harder to bear because the reproaches are not always wholly groundless. The extent of country over which the Mission works is great, and there are districts where a single catechist has to visit so many estates that his visits to each are of necessity few and far between; and for want of Christian counsel and instruction some of the coolie converts have given occasion to the adversary to speak reproachfully. Nevertheless, the general result is one calling for devout praise to Him whose grace alone can make of these poor hired labourers living and shining Christians:—

Reproaches of the English planters;

> The statistical table compares favourably with that of last year. There is an increase, either large or small, under almost every heading; and under some of the most important ones the increase has been considerable, e. g. the number of baptized Christians has risen from 1183 to 1360 (an increase of 177); communicants from 349 to 362 (increase 13); number of persons attending public worship, from 627 to 744 (increase 117); adult baptisms, from 28 to 56 (just double); adult candidates for baptism—not including persons regarded merely as inquirers, which would add 80 more—from 34 to 97 (increase 63, or nearly treble); while Native contributions have been Rs. 2422 instead of Rs. 2049, showing an increase of Rs. 373.

For the number of adult baptisms, which, I think, I may safely say is larger than that of any previous year, I feel specially thankful to Him who alone can dispose the heart of any man to seek His face; and, having examined and baptized every one of the fifty-six persons myself, I am able to state positively that none of them have been received without due preparation, nor without its being manifest that, so far as their knowledge extended, they were really desirous to become the faithful followers of Christ. In many instances the examination preparatory to baptism has been most cheering, as manifesting a clear grasp of saving truth and a simplicity of faith in Christ which could only have resulted from the work of the Holy Spirit in the heart; and I have more than once been constrained to say to European planters who have thrown doubt upon the work of the Tamil Cooly Mission, and the power of the Tamil people to receive Christian truth at all, "I only wish you could have been with me this morning to hear the answers of such and such a candidate for baptism; for had you been, I am sure you would no longer speak or think as you do." and how they were answered.

Bishop Copleston visiting the Tamil Cooly Mission.

The confirmation of 174 coolies by the Bishop of Colombo has been already mentioned. Mr. Rowlands writes:—

The Bishop and I travelled together, in the first part of our tour, more than 200 miles —riding and driving (besides the return journey), in the course of which nine confirmations were held. Then, again, we visited Kandy and neighbouring districts, where his Lordship held five more confirmations. There was much that was gratifying in the earnest devout spirit in which the majority of the candidates entered upon the service; and the Bishop expressed himself much pleased with what he saw. I trust and believe that it was an occasion when real spiritual life was deepened in the hearts of very many.

The Committee receive such tidings as these with the greater thankfulness, when they recall the difficulties which two or three years ago beset the Tamil Cooly Mission; and they rejoice to observe the continued confidence in the work shown by the planters, nearly one hundred new subscribers having been added to the list, and the total sum being Rs. 10,782; while the Christian coolies themselves have contributed no less than Rs. 2424.

JAFFNA.

The Rev. J. D. Simmonds is the fourth of the Ceylon missionaries whose return home this year has had to be recorded. He was in charge of the JAFFNA Mission during the year under review, assisted by the Rev. G. T. Fleming, and by the Native pastors, who were four in number in the early part of 1881, but were reduced to three by the death of the Rev.

Elijah Hoole. The Rev. E. M. Griffith, who formerly laboured in the Tamil Cooly Mission, has gone out to superintend the larger part of the work.

Mr. Simmonds sends an interesting review of the seven years during which he has been in charge at Jaffna. In that time the Native Christians have increased in number from 570 to 916; a Church Council and local Church Committees have been fully established; and the Society's grant to the Council funds has gradually diminished from Rs. 1700 to Rs. 464. The Vernacular Schools have increased from 1430 boys and 284 girls to 2517 boys and 728 girls; the Boarding Schools and Training Institution have also grown and prospered; and evangelistic work has been gradually extended over a large extent of country in the northern districts of Ceylon. Jaffna is not a Mission that has been conspicuously before the eyes of the Society's friends; its history has been quiet and uneventful; but this review shows that the Lord's servants have been faithfully labouring, and that the Lord Himself has honoured their labours with success.

Seven years' progress at Jaffna.

The Rev. T. P. Handy, one of the Native pastors, mentions that "old Philips," the aged Christian of Nellore, who was noticed in last year's Annual Report as bedridden, with no hope of recovery, is still alive—at least was so at the date of the letter—and "growing higher and higher in spiritual affairs." Mr. Handy gives a pleasant account of a Christian woman who was taken to rest during the year:—

> The removal of Mrs. Lilla Tucker by death is strongly felt as a great loss. She was born of heathen parents, and was well instructed in the sound doctrines of Christianity in the female boarding-school here, till she was married, in the year 1852, to a Christian teacher named John Tucker. She was leading an exemplary and consistent Christian life in the village she resided in, and was shining like a bright star in the midst of heathen darkness. She was the first Bible-woman in Jaffna, and continued in this important work to the last moment of her separation from this world of sin and sorrow. It may be truly said of her that she was a Christian indeed, in her words and deeds. Her knowledge of Scripture was surprising. Her faith in Christ was simple and firm. Her hope of glory was bright and steadfast. Her end was in peace. Since she was appointed as a Bible-woman, hundreds of females of all classes have been brought to the saving knowledge of Jesus Christ. We miss her influence as a leading Christian woman in our social gatherings.

MAURITIUS MISSION.

Division of the Mission: 1. Tamil-speaking Coolies (Madras Branch), 1857; 2. Bengali and Hindi-speaking Coolies (Calcutta Branch), 1857; 3. The Seychelles Islands, 1875.

THIS, in the main, is another Cooly Mission, though not, as in Ceylon, to Tamil coolies only, but also to Bengalis and other races of India. Under its influence, likewise, come some of the Creole population of the island (mixed African and French), and also the increasing number of Chinese, who are now conspicuous as shopkeepers and do a flourishing trade.

The Society's missionaries are—to the Tamils, the Rev. H. D. Buswell, formerly of Jaffna, Ceylon, who also acts as Secretary of the Mission, and the Rev. Nigel Honiss, formerly of Tinnevelly; and to the North India coolies, the Rev. F. Schurr, formerly of Krishnagar. There are now three Native clergymen, the Rev. C. Kushalli, pastor of the Bengali congregation at Port Louis; the Rev. T. Ephraim, a Tamil from Madras; and the Rev. John Ernest, also a Tamil, who was ordained on March 19th last by Bishop Royston—who, let it here be noticed, continues to give his most wise and kind superintendence to the whole Mission. Mr. Ernest is the first Mauritius-born Indian to be ordained. He came as a heathen boy into Archdeacon Hobbs' school at Crêve Cœur in 1868, and while there received the truth of God into his heart. He has latterly spent some time in Mr. Kember's Training institution in Tinnevelly, preparing for his ordination. He will be an agent of the Native Church Council, which being now three years old, is working well, "a supply of the oil of kindness," writes Mr. Buswell, "having kept the wheels in motion with hardly a jarring sound."

Ordination of a Tamil born in Mauritius.

The number of adherents has increased during the year from 1406 to 1551, of whom 1488 are baptized Christians. There were 96 adult baptisms. Among those who have thus publicly confessed Christ are six Chinamen. Forty services are held weekly in different parts of the island, most of them conducted by the Native clergymen and a staff of Native teachers, but a good many by volunteer Christians, who, writes Mr. Buswell, "are happily beginning to understand that the way to enjoy religion is to communicate it to others." One young man is mentioned who was formerly in the Orphanage, and is now in Government employ, and who occupies some of his leisure hours in instructing the ignorant in the truths of the Gospel, and has presented for baptism six adults, the fruits of his zealous labours.

Fruits of school work.

The conversions, says Mr. Buswell, which have given most encouragement are those which have resulted from the Christian teaching given in the schools. He writes:—

> Some months back I was accosted by a youth who informed me that he had a short while before lost his father (a reputed Brahmin), and that having been six years in one of our schools he had learnt enough to convince him that the Christian religion was right; and that he and his sister wished to look up to me as their father. I soon found out that he was possessed of a little property, and that it was very improbable therefore that worldly considerations had led him thus to come forward. After some months' instruction, during which time he gave me many evidences of his sincerity, I baptized him. He is now instructing his sister with a view to her baptism.
> I have baptized two youths who had for some time been under instruction in the Mission school in my compound. The parents of both, though very angry, did not oppose their baptism. A circumstance occurred on the occasion of their baptism which I cannot forbear mentioning. A comrade, who a long time before had been a fellow-pupil at school, hearing of their determination, came with them to church, and asked to be baptized with them. He had long had the desire to come forward, but lacked the decision needful. The courage of his friends inspired him. He seemed quite disappointed when I pointed out the necessity for a period of instruction and probation.

The Rev. N. Honiss is in charge of the important Plaisance Orphanage, in which there are 130 children, and also of the Elementary Schools, eighteen in number, which give instruction to more than a thousand boys and girls. Of the 1500 Native Christians in Mauritius, more than 500, Mr. Honiss says, are the fruits of the Orphanages successively carried on by Mr. Ansorgé, Archdeacon Hobbs, and himself. Among the "old boys" he now counts 8 C.M.S. catechists, 19 schoolmasters (8 in Government employ), and a large majority of the members of the Native Church Committees. The Sunday-school at Plaisance is superintended by Lieut.-Col. Robinson, R.A.

Fruits of orphanages.

But what Mr. Honiss justly regards as his "most sacred and pleasing duty" is itinerant preaching among the heathen, the importance of which his own Tinnevelly experience formerly illustrated. It is, however, a good example of the mutual advantage of varied agencies working side by side, that the schools are a great assistance to this evangelistic work. "The school-buildings are useful as preaching-stations, in which the Gospel can be expounded under more favourable circumstances than in the streets." Besides which, he adds, "Our schools establish a link of sympathy. The Hindu loves his offspring far better than his wife, or even than his cow, and kindness shown to his child excites kindly feelings on his part."

Industrial Home in the Seychelles.

The Industrial Institution for African children at Capucin, in the Island of Mahé, the largest of the Seychelles group, has continued under the zealous and loving care of Mr. H. M. Warry, assisted by a locally engaged agent, Mr. Pickwood. There are forty-one inmates, the majority being girls. In May last year the little Mission was of service to some of the officers of H.M.S. Ruby, who reached the island suffering severely from fever. They resided for a few weeks in the Institution, and derived great benefit from its healthful position. In recognition of Mr. Warry's services, Captain Foote, the commander of the ship, invited him and all the members of his black family to spend a day on board; "which we did," writes Mr. Warry, "and enjoyed it very much indeed, though some of the little children were rather frightened at the salute of twenty-one guns." Since then, Mahé has been visited by Colonel Gordon, formerly of China and the Soudan, who showed Mr. Warry much kindness, and made some important suggestions for the extension of the Mission; and in April of this year, by the Bishop of Mauritius, who writes, "I am very well satisfied with what I heard and saw at the African Institution."

A good work has also been done by forming little congregations of Africans and Creoles at the villages of Pointe-au-Sel, Anse Boileau, and Port Gland. Sunday services are held at these centres alternately, and are fairly well attended. "The work is very hard, however, as all the journeys have to be done on foot."

Even in this "small corner of the Lord's vineyard," as Mr. Warry calls it, the Missionary has his "hopes and fears, joys and sorrows." The Committee rejoice to remember Who it is of whom we continually sing in our Morning Prayer, "In His hand are all the corners of the earth."

CHINA MISSION.

South China.—Quan-tung Province: Hong-Kong, 1862; Canton, 1882.
Fuh-Kien Province: Fuh-Chow, 1850; Hok-Ning, 1882.

Mid China.—Kiang-Su Province: Shanghai, 1845.
Cheh-Kiang Province: Ningpo, 1848; Hang-Chow, 1861; Shaou-hying, 1870.

The Society's Missions in China are established in four of the eighteen provinces, viz. Quan-tung and Fuh-Kien in South China, and Cheh-Kiang and Kiang-Su in Mid China. Arrangements are in progress for the more perfect organization of the work in two divisions, under the presidency of the two Bishops of Victoria (Hong Kong) and Mid China. The old enumeration was by stations, Hong Kong, Fuh-Chow, Ningpo, Hang-Chow, Shanghai, Peking (now given up); and these were in no way linked together for purposes of administration. There are now a Conference and Finance Committee for Mid China under Bishop Moule's chairmanship; and a similar arrangement will be made for South China under Bishop Burdon, the Fuh-Kien and Quan-tung Missions having each its own sub-Conference. Not that the Committee would depend for success in their great work upon any external arrangements, however symmetrical. Organization is not life. In the grace and power of God the Holy Ghost alone would they look for real and lasting results.

New organization of the China Mission.

And that grace and power have not been withheld. The general result of the past year's work in China is distinct progress. The number of Christian adherents has again risen 13 per cent., from 4667 to 5303. It has just doubled in five years. In the Society's China Missions, as elsewhere, there are three circles of Native professing Christians: first, the inner circle of communicants; secondly, the outer circle comprising all the baptized; thirdly, another outer circle, including both baptized and catechumens. The inner circle of communicants in China is now as numerous as the outermost circle was six years ago.

Progress: number of converts doubled in five years.

The Committee cannot enter upon a review of the Society's Missions in China without a passing reference to the Opium Question, now more than ever causing deep searchings of heart among Christian Englishmen. They rejoice that the question has become prominent, and that it is being so fully discussed. They do not shut their eyes to its difficulties; but judging it from the point of view of a Missionary Society—and it is not their province to judge it otherwise—they cannot but express their profound conviction, the result now of long experience, that no one obstacle to the progress of Christianity in China is so formidable as Opium, both in respect of the "terrible ruin and misery" (to use the words of the Rev. Ll. Lloyd, one of the Society's missionaries at Fuh-Chow) it inflicts upon the country, and as enabling heathen opponents to denounce the missionary as a representative of the nation that supplies the drug to China. The Committee have sometimes to deplore the falls and failures of Native agents. Again and again, as witnessed by the reports of this very year, are these caused by opium. An opium-smoker hears the Gospel and believes it. Conscious that he "cannot serve God and opium," he throws away his pipe and is baptized. He is brought to the training college, and afterwards sent forth as an evangelist to his countrymen. The opium cravings come on again, but he resolutely and prayerfully resists them. At last, in a moment of weakness, he yields. It is the first step in a rapid downward course, which ends in expulsion from the Mission ranks. Must not the missionary's bitter grief be increased by the knowledge that the import of opium was forced upon China by the action of Great Britain?

Province of Quan-tung.

In this great southern Province, with an area double that of England, and a population of nineteen millions, the Church Missionary Society has been at work for just twenty years, and during almost the whole of that time has been represented by only one missionary; and by him only on the little British island possession of Hong Kong. English Nonconformists, and American and German societies, have laboured on the mainland; but not a single messenger of Christ has been established there in the name of the Church of England. There are, however, extensive districts quite unoccupied by any Mission, and in some of them out-stations have been gradually multiplying, worked by Native evangelists sent forth from Hong Kong. The missionary to whose efforts in the past few years, under God, this extension on the mainland is due, the Rev. A. B. Hutchinson, has, like his predecessors, Mr. Warren and Mr. Piper, been transferred to Japan; but the work, as will appear presently, is not standing still, and Occupation of Canton.

CANTON has just been occupied by the Society as a centre from which to superintend it.

Extension in the Quan-tung Province.

This location of a missionary at Canton may be regarded as the first step to what it is hoped may grow into a Quan-tung Mission more worthy of the field of labour and of the Society. But other steps are about to be taken in the same direction. The Committee have had the advantage of full conference with Bishop Burdon during his sojourn in this country; and plans are under consideration for meeting his earnest appeals by occupying one or more ports. If it please God, through these doors the Society will enter with the glad tidings of salvation into Western Quan-tung, where those tidings have never yet been proclaimed. The funds to establish and support this new Mission are being provided by means of an appeal issued by Bishop Burdon himself for special contributions to the Society's Extension Fund for the purpose.

To return, however, to the existing Mission at Hong Kong. The Rev. J. Grundy has been in sole charge during the year; but he has now moved on to Canton, for the purpose already indicated, and his place on the island has been taken by the Rev. J. B. Ost, who went out in 1879 to the Cheh-Kiang Mission, but was transferred to the South from thence. This involves his learning a new dialect; but he has made some progress in it already, and Mrs. Ost (who is a relative of Bishop Burdon) appears to have the peculiar gift of acquiring the Chinese tones, a gift possessed only by a few.

Converts at Hong Kong.

Mr. Grundy's report for the year gives the number of Native baptized Christians as 193, of whom 66 are communicants. There are 186 children under instruction, and five students under training for mission work. Eleven adults have been baptized, one of them "a very bright and intelligent man, who holds a high and responsible position in one of the large foreign mercantile houses." "His Christian influence," continues Mr. Grundy, "will, I trust, be known and felt. Already his wife has embraced the faith of Christ (though not yet baptized), and daily with her husband reads the Holy Scripture and prays to God." The Rev. Lo Sam Yuen has been away from his post on account of illness; and the evening preaching to the heathen in St. Stephen's Church has been chiefly done by the catechist Sham Kwan Hing, "a thoroughly sincere and trustworthy man, who preaches with an earnestness and force seldom witnessed here." Mr. Ost, since he took charge of Hong Kong, has had the privilege of baptizing two elderly women brought in by the Bible-women.

The out-stations on the mainland are Kow-loong, Heung-Shan, Kong-Moon, Hoh-Shan, Yan-Ping, Shiu-Hing-fu, Tak-Hing-Chau, Lo-Ting, and Wong-Pi. Most of these are large and populous cities, and lie at distances of from 20 to 50 miles from one another. At Kow-loong a Chinese centurion has been baptized, a man of influence and culture. At his baptism he asked for a pocket Testament, that he might read it during his spare moments. At another city, writes Mr. Grundy,—

A Chinese Nicodemus.

> The catechist, Yeung, a devout and earnest man, formerly lay preacher in America under Bishop Whitaker, has met with much opposition. When I visited the place the city was in an uproar. Placards were posted up, inciting the mob to drive us out of the place. I had one of the placards taken down which I took to the Mandarin, a venerable old gentleman, and explained the object of my visit. He treated me with the greatest kindness and respect; in fact, he wished to show me greater regard and attention than is usual for a missionary to receive. He promised to take immediate steps to suppress the turbulence of the people. This he faithfully performed. The next day large placards were posted throughout the city threatening the people with severe punishment if they should offend in that way again. Some time after my departure, this Mandarin came one evening in disguise and sought an interview with the catechist. He conversed a long time on the Christian doctrine, and expressed his opinion in the words, "This doctrine is very good."

Need of prayer for Native agents.

The little bands of converts in these distant cities have met with much persecution, which, by the grace of God, they have borne bravely. A heavier trial has been the backsliding of more than one of the catechists. No class of men should be more constantly remembered in prayer by the Society's friends than its Native agents all over the world. Often posted at isolated stations, in the midst of snares of every kind, and with little or no Christian public opinion to strengthen their resistance of evil, the wonder is, not that some fail to maintain the consistency of their Christian character, but that the failures are not much more frequent than they are.

Province of Fuh-Kien.

THE past year has been signalized by the return of Mr. Wolfe to the scene of his twenty years' labours, accompanied by a younger missionary brother, the Rev. J. Martin, whose accession raises the European staff to six; and the Committee hope shortly to send out a seventh. In no Mission has Native agency been so largely and so successfully employed as in Fuh-Kien; but there will be abundance of responsible work for all the seven Englishmen. For the first time in this province, a city other than the Treaty Port is now occupied by them,—Hok-Ning, a first-class ("fu") city on the coast, 100 miles from Fuh-Chow. The Revs. Ll. Lloyd and J. Martin, and the medical missionary, Dr. Taylor, proceeded thither at the beginning of the present year. This will leave Mr. Wolfe and one of the younger brethren, the Rev. W. Banister, to superintend twelve of the fourteen districts; and the Rev. R. W. Stewart and another (to be sent out) to conduct the important work of the College, the Boarding-school, &c., at Fuh-Chow city. The ladies of the Female Education Society have rendered important service in connexion with the Girls' Boarding-school: Miss Foster especially, who has lately come home.

Occupation of Hok-Ning.

The reports from this Mission are as full of interest as ever, and show that the hand of the Lord is still stretched forth to heal sick souls in the now familiar cities and villages of the province. The statistical sheet, which in its Chinese form, several feet square, is posted up each year at all the 112 stations and out-stations for the inspection of friend and foe, shows a total of 4099 adherents, an increase of 549 in the year, after allowing for 112 removed by death and other causes. The adult baptisms have been 264, nearly one-half of them in the Lo-Nguong and Ning-Taik districts. There are 1386 communicants.

Conference of agents, exhorters, and delegates.

The Annual Conference was attended by 300 men, delegates and agents. They met in a large hired tea warehouse in the foreign settlement at Fuh-Chow, and caused no little surprise to the foreign community. Of some of the agents Mr. Lloyd writes, "They are well versed in the Scriptures and able to preach clearly and fully, and I may add eloquently. I have again and again rejoiced at their boldness and faithfulness, and their patience when they have been ridiculed and called hard names." Of the delegates from the congregations, Mr. Stewart says,—"We never had so many independent Christians with us before, and seeing that each of them lost by coming the earnings of two weeks, and incurred as well considerable expense, the presence of so large a number was a good indication of the interest taken by the laymen in their Church." He adds,—

> The "exhorters" spoke with greater freedom than last year, especially on the occasion when their "duty" was the subject of the meeting. One after another came forward to state what he had been accustomed to do on Sundays and other days in assisting the catechists, taking an independent service himself or hunting up those who had not been present in church. One said he thought the Church was like a ship, in which the catechists and "exhorters" were the different ranks of boatmen; if all pulled together the ship would be sure to move on fast.

Theological College.

The Theological College, which was suspended after the expulsion of the Mission from Fuh-Chow city, as related last year, has been re-opened in the foreign settlement. Nine students were during the year sent forth as catechists to various stations, and another to manage a book-shop which has been opened at Hok-Ning-fu. At the beginning of this year there were twenty in residence.

Bible-women in Fuh-Kien.

Of the Native Bible-women, Mr. Stewart gives an encouraging account:—

> Chitnio still remains the invaluable Native teacher of this class. There have this year been in all fifteen women. Of these, four, the wives of Christians, have returned to their homes, and are the first members of a class now established in the church, and known as "female exhorters." These are of course entirely unpaid, their duty being to give as much time as they can spare to teaching the women and children in their neighbourhood. One, the wife of a most excellent catechist stationed at Lau-A, has returned to her husband to carry on the important work of instructing the female portion of his congregation and any others who will receive her. One, a young widow, was married to one of our best catechists after the Conference; and one other has gone out as a Bible-woman, and has done already good work in the Hok-Chiang district. Altogether then the class has this year sent out seven, who entered it without knowing scarcely a character and very little of the truth: they have left it able to read their colloquial Bibles, well grounded in Scripture, and as far as their teachers could tell, themselves true Christians.

At our Conference this work was specially commended by the catechists who spoke: one after another came forward and expressed his opinion that the education of its women was what the Church needed now, perhaps more than anything else.

On my trip in November through Lo-Ngwong district, Mrs. Stewart came with me to visit some of her old pupils, and see for herself what they were doing. One, the woman who had been possessed with a demon, and whose case was mentioned two years ago, we found at Chiah-Sioh. She had already induced three or four of her relatives, who formerly were bitterly opposed to Christianity, to give up their idols and worship God; several others too were attending church, led to do so by her; and thus the hope expressed of the future usefulness of this woman is, thank God, being realized. Another old pupil at Ling-Iong was preparing two women for baptism who answered very fairly, and another at Ling-Chio was holding a meeting of some twelve or fifteen women and children each Thursday evening and Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Tang, the widow of the late Rev. Tang Tang-Pieng, has been employed during the year as a Bible-woman. She has been stationed in Lo-Ngwong City, from whence she itinerates through the district, staying two or three weeks at a time in one place. She is a truly pious and well-educated woman, and has done already some good work, and if her health does not fail, we expect that she will prove of great use in this branch of the work.

A Chinese hymn-book.

The Book and Tract Department has sold in the year, among other things, the whole edition (1000 copies) of a small hymn-book, containing such favourites as "Rock of ages," "There is a fountain," and "Work, for the night is coming," which are well known in Fuh-Kien. The Gospel of St. John has been published in "romanized colloquial."

Medical work in Fuh-Kien.

Dr. E. Van Someren Taylor's work may be called a Medical Itinerant Mission. He sends a consecutive account of his travels into the various districts during the year. The itinerant plan does not prevent his staying some weeks, or it may be even months, in one city at a time; which, for the sake of continuity and the watching of prolonged cases, is often important. One passage may be extracted from Dr. Taylor's report as an illustration of his method:—

At the city of Ning-Taik, on the advice of the Rev. Ting Sing-ki, the Native pastor located there, the patients waited in the clergyman's own reception-room, and there were handed tea and tobacco: in other words, were treated as guests. And whilst waiting they were spoken to by the clergyman or the catechist.

Amongst my patients was the head military officer of the city. He here for the first time in his life heard the Truth, for he sat for some time and listened to the clergyman telling him of Christ. I also presented him with a Bible. I pray God that the good seed sown may not fall into fallow ground. I cannot help thinking the fact that a high official of the city called upon me will do good to the work. For at Ning-Taik there was a strong feeling against the Christian doctrine —a feeling which I am glad to say is gradually fading away, due, I believe, to the conciliatory spirit shown by the Native clergyman there.

Trainin ; Native medical evange-lists.

Dr. Taylor thus describes his plan for training up Native medical evangelists :—

The student whom I have had with me since my arrival here is now of great help to me. I can leave him by himself to attend the general run of dispensary cases, and also to dress the patients after they have been operated upon. But he is not able to operate himself. For the last eight months I have had with me one other student, a boy from the boys' school. He is still very young, but I hope that he will in time be of great use to the Mission. These two I have taught as best I could, really translating English books to them. I have taken them over the diseases of the "Digestive System," "Heath's Surgical Diagnosis," and other books. At the same time I have endeavoured to teach them from the patients themselves as opportunity offered.

My idea is, if possible, to train a few Natives who will be able to act as missionaries in the different cities in the province, men that we might send to cities where there exists an opposition to the Christian doctrine; and even if, as has been said, many may leave us and start for themselves, I cannot help feeling that in that capacity they will greatly benefit our work, for I strive not merely to impart to them medical knowledge, but also to influence their characters. I need hardly say that we are most particular in the choice of the students. Were we to admit any one, we could have plenty.

In noticing the out-stations, it is needless to describe again their arrangement in geographical divisions. This was done in last year's Annual Report. Nor is it possible to mention, however briefly, more than a few of the cities and villages in which the glad tidings of salvation are now regularly preached, and believed and rejoiced in by companies—larger or smaller —of Chinese Christians. Stories of simple faith, earnestness in making known the Gospel, constancy under persecution, self-denial in giving to God's service, are, as usual, numerous in the reports; but only a fraction of them can be given here.

In the LIENG-KONG District there has been much persecution. "The converts have had to suffer for their faith, and have displayed a wonderful spirit of Christian forbearance." Of a young man who was baptized at Tong-A a most touching account is given by Mr. Stewart :—

He is a young man of good family, and one of the senior members of his household holds an important official position over the literati of the district, and, as a matter of course, is bitterly opposed to Christianity. This young man, when it was demanded of him why he had joined the hated sect, and brought discredit on his people, replied that the doctrine was good, and that he could not give it up. He was forthwith set upon and beaten till he fell to the ground insensible.

Bearing in the body the marks of the Lord Jesus.

At this stage his mother interfered, saying she only wished him to be beaten, not killed. They supposed him to be dead; but on his showing consciousness, the elder brother, who had been his chief tormentor, fled from the house, fearing that the young man would bring him before the Mandarins; but on his recovering the Christian sent word for him to return, for that he need fear nothing from him, as he was a follower of Christ, who forgave His enemies, and he would follow His example.

The night I arrived the catechist told me at once of this young man, but said he scarcely expected to see him at the service next morning; however, to our surprise and delight, just at church hour he came in, still bearing the marks of his wounds. I examined him for baptism, and shall not forget the look in his face as he answered the question, "How do you know that Jesus loves you?" "Why," he said, "did He not leave His Father and the glory of Heaven and come down and die for us wicked men? What is that if it is not love?"

In the LO-NGUONG District, the adherents have increased from 777 to 961; and there are 325 communicants. "Not a few of those who have recently joined us," writes Mr. Stewart, "were led to do so through either themselves or their friends receiving benefit from Dr. Taylor's medical treatment." The present Native pastor, too, the Rev. Sia Seu Ong, "has been greatly blessed of God to bring back backsliders and to draw in others. The church in Lo-Nguong city is now regularly well filled, and sometimes inconveniently crowded." Except at two of the out-stations, there are encouraging signs throughout the district. Mr. Stewart's notice of Oh-Iong will interest many who remember the remarkable story of the first convert there, Chung-Te:—

Chung-Te, or "Praise the Lord."

The old Christian, Chung-Te, the father of the church in that district, is still as earnest and hardworking as ever. He talks to every one he meets on the road; and as we trudged along together I heard him familiarly styled by the passers-by as "Praise the Lord." This man has indeed suffered for the Name he loves. According to the local custom, when any one dies, it is necessary to fasten the body in a sitting position, in a chair, in the best room; and the catechist told me that when Chung-Te's dearly-loved wife, who had been his sharer and his one human sympathizer in persecution, died, he had to perform all these painful offices single-handed, for not one neighbour would come near to assist him while he worshipped Jesus. He stood alone then; but he has lived to see not only a Christian congregation in his own village, but several other little churches spring up in the surrounding country as offshoots from it. At my last visit I found his dear little girl, his sole remaining comfort, had left him to become the wife of a heathen man, to whom she had been engaged in infancy, before the father believed. May God grant that this husband may not ill-treat his young wife on account of her faith, but soon join with her, and take her God to be his God!

The NING-TAIK District also exhibits marked progress.

There were 56 adult baptisms in the year, and the adherents now number 671. Of these 335 are in Sa-Hiong, or the Western Villages, a group of hamlets on a high plateau north-west of Ning-Taik city, of which deeply interesting accounts came home a few years ago, but which has not been often mentioned of late. At Ni-Tu, the town where the first martyr of the Fuh-Kien Mission laid down his life in 1876, there were ten baptisms last year, and twenty candidates are being prepared for admission into the Church. This district is under the charge of the Rev. Ting Sing-ki. His "facile pencil" is spoken of, with which he has adorned the windows of the guest-room where inquiring visitors are received with paintings from Bible scenes: "foremost among them being the Ethiopian eunuch and Philip riding in a jinriksha and being pushed along by a Chinese coolie—such being the Chinese idea of a 'chariot.'" Mr. Lloyd mentions a conversation he had with this good man when visiting him at Ning-Taik:—

A Chinese clerical artist.

Progress at Ning-Taik.

The Rev. Ting Sing-ki was stationed at Ning-Taik before his ordination, some eight or nine years ago, and he told me what a wonderful change had taken place in the attitude of the people towards Christianity, and in the progress of the Gospel itself, since that time. Then, he occupied a small unsuitable house, the only procurable one, outside the city gate, and scarcely one of the people would listen to what he had to say, while no out-stations had been opened in the country around: now, we have an excellent house within the city, suitable in every respect for us, and the people listen respectfully to the preaching of the Gospel, while fifty or sixty Christians, week by week, meet together for service. In the country around, moreover, stations have been opened in every direction, and numbers are acknowledging Jesus as their Saviour, No wonder he added, at the close of our conversation, "Of a truth this is the great power of God, man could not have brought it about."

Back-sliders.

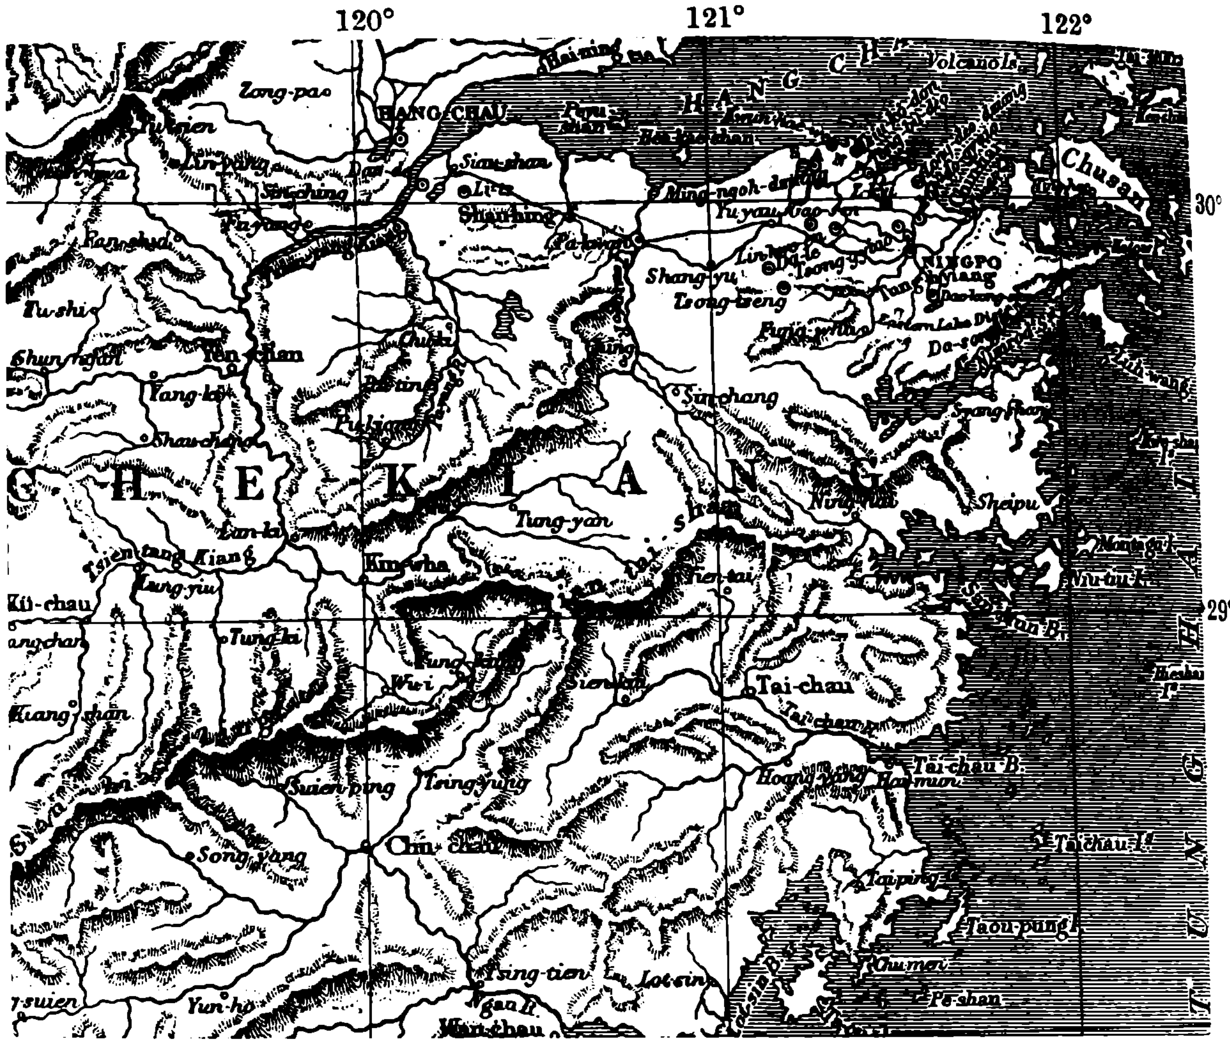

Yet Mr. Lloyd "rejoices with trembling." In this Ning-Taik District, "twenty who professed to be followers of Christ have been expelled the Church during the year; some having relapsed into idolatry, some to the opium pipe, while others have been guilty of still more deadly sin."

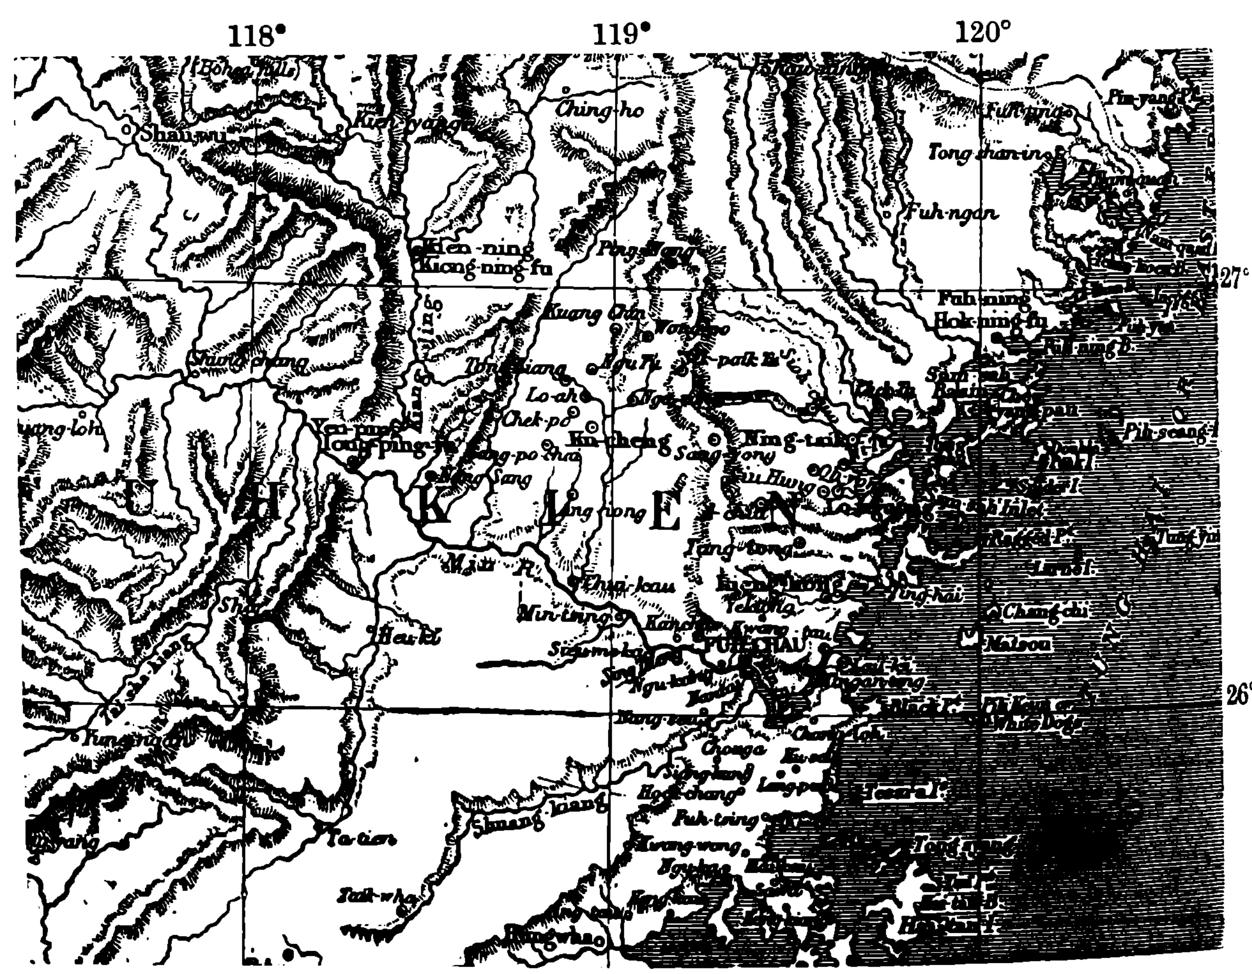

Of the SANG-IONG District there is, as heretofore, little to say that is encouraging. The town itself has a very bad name even among the Chinese, and it has produced few converts. Of an old Christian at one of the villages, however, a pleasant glimpse is afforded us by Mr. Lloyd:—

A Chinese Christian patriarch.

I wish I could show the Committee and all our friends at home the pillar of the Sioh-Iong Church, a venerable old patriarch of eighty-five, of whom we might almost use the words applied to the Lawgiver of Israel, "His natural force is not abated nor his eye dim." He is,

NINGPO AND OUT-STATIONS.

FUH-CHOW AND OUT-STATIONS.

I think, the finest man in our whole Mission, and would win respect anywhere. He is a good scholar and an attentive student of the Holy Scriptures. When last I saw him, he asked me a question with regard to the meaning of some characters in the Book of Isaiah, which he had failed to understand. His son, sixty-seven years of age, and his grandson, forty years of age, are also Christians.

The important districts of KU-CHENG and ANG-IONG have given more encouragement than in the preceding year. There were 37 adult baptisms in them, and the total of adherents is 822; but, as in Ning-Taik, twenty had to be struck off the lists. One of these expulsions, like one last year, was for bigamy under painful circumstances. Mr. Lloyd, in one paragraph, notices this case and an interesting baptism :—

Another Christian persecuted into bigamy.

At Lau-A, one member has been expelled for bigamy. It is a very sad story, and very similar to the one related last year, only in this case the man was one of our most zealous exhorters a few years since, and contributed about a fifth of the whole cost of the pretty little church at the station, which is immediately in front of his house. He was urged to commit this sin by his wife, as in the former case, and the practice is a very common one in the district. Such falls as this make us very sad, and doubtless injure the work and hinder the progress of the Gospel.

A rich convert at Lau-A.

To compensate in some measure for this sad fall amongst the Lau-A congregation, I am glad to be able to record the baptism of quite a wealthy man there this year. His house, quite a grand one for those parts, is some two miles from Lau-A, on the road to Ngu-Tu, and his friends were quite glad for him to join the doctrine of Jesus. It seems that the Rev. Ngoi Kaik-ki was tutor to his younger brother some years before he was employed by the Mission, and he (Ngoi), being at that time a Christian, and his baptism being much spoken of in the district, frequently told this man, and all in his house who would listen, the reason why he had given up Confucius, Mencius, and the other sages of China for Jesus Christ. At that time no result was apparent, but subsequent events have showed that God caused the faithful words His servant spoke to find a lodgment in at least one heart in that family, and he has this year confessed Christ openly.

It is well known that in the Fuh-Kien Mission, not many rich, not many noble, have enlisted under the banner of the Cross, and therefore the great joy of our Christians at the conversion of this man will be understood and excused. They feel, and indeed we all do, that if it please God to give us a few men of this class, we may begin to hold a higher position and status in the minds of the people.

Some interesting particulars are given of the clergyman mentioned in the foregoing extract, the Rev. Ngoi Kaik-ki, including the baptism of his wife :—

The Rev. Ngoi Kaik-ki.

The Rev. Ngoi Kaik-ki, whom it was my privilege to present to the Bishop of Victoria for deacon's orders in February, 1881, has taken Mr. Tang's place. He is a very spiritually-minded man, deeply taught of the Holy Spirit, and his example and whole bearing are almost unimpeachable. But whether he is quite so efficient as an organizer, and for conducting the more secular work of his large district, is not quite so certain. These Native pastors need the constant prayers of our friends at home in their arduous duties.

In consequence of the death of Mr. Ngoi's father, he, as the eldest son, has become an Honorary Mandarin of the fifth military degree. This degree was conferred on his grandfather, for his bravery in exterminating a number of banditti in the Iong Ping district, some twenty-five years ago, and is hereditary, the recipient receiving also some eight dollars a month from the Imperial Treasury. It will be remembered that Mr. Ngoi was deprived of his B.A. degree for becoming a Christian, and it seems that there is some difficulty about his holding this Honorary Mandarinship in consequence: he hopes, however, to get it conferred upon his son.

Conversion of his wife.

Another matter which has given us much joy, has been the baptism of Mr. Ngoi's wife, who was formerly a most bitter opponent to the truth, and whose opposition and unkindness caused her husband much sorrow. In 1879 he persuaded her however to come to Foo-Chow, and she was gradually won over, until at length she consented to study the Gospel with Mrs. Stewart's other women, and, like many another in every land, was led to see in Jesus her Saviour and her God. It was my joy to baptize her and her three children at Lau-A on Oct. 2nd, and she is now living at the Ku-Cheng parsonage with her husband, where she will, we trust, be a true helpmate to him.

The Mission is still excluded from KIONG-NING and IONG-PING. The Committee deeply regret to hear of the death of the man who was imprisoned at the former city four years ago for selling a house to the foreigner. He was released at last, but died the next day. He had not been a Christian, but his wife writes to Mr. Wolfe that he "heard of the Saviour Jesus, professed his faith in Him the day before his death, and prayed to Him in his own house."

The Christian community in the HOK-CHIANG District south of the Min continues to grow and multiply. The adherents number 909, at 16 centres; but more than half of them are still only under instruction for baptism. There are 238 communicants. The subscriptions to various church funds amounted to the large sum of 462 dollars.

It only remains to add that no solution has hitherto been found for the difficulties regarding mission buildings at Fuh-Chow. Every obstacle to the acquisition of sites by the Mission is put in the way by the Mandarins. Mr. Stewart says, "We have now in our mission safe the deeds of three native houses and two pieces of land, all lying within the Treaty Port, and of none of which are we permitted to take possession." This causes heavy extra expense for rents of hired buildings. It is indeed a great mercy that these difficulties, though they try the patience of the missionaries and add to their discomfort, have proved to be quite powerless to stop the work of God in the country.

Mid China.

The Mid-China Mission comprises Shanghai, in the Province of Kiang-Su; and Ningpo, Shaou-hying, and Hang-Chow, with their numerous out-stations, in the Province of Cheh-Kiang. The whole work is now under the superintendence of the Society's experienced and honoured missionary, Bishop G. E. Moule. He has been hard at work during the year, travelling from place to place in the slow Chinese boats on the rivers and canals, and walking up and down the steep hills of the Chu-ki district, exhorting and encouraging the converts, preaching to the heathen, confirming more than 150 Native Christians, and administering the Lord's Supper to almost all the 458 communicants in the various districts. In his general Report, he justly draws attention to the remarkable character of the statistical returns from the Cheh-Kiang Province in one respect. The baptized Christians in that province number 890, and of these exactly one-half, 445, are communicants. So unusual a proportion speaks much for the generally satisfactory condition of the congregations; though, on the other hand, it indicates slow progress, for large and rapid accessions would quickly swell the number of persons under preparatory instruction, whether for baptism, or for confirmation and admission to Holy Communion.

Laborious life of Bishop Moule.

Large number of communicants in Cheh-Kiang.

The mission staff in Mid China needs to be strengthened. The only additions to it in the past year have been Dr. D. Duncan Main, who has gone out to take the vacant charge of the Opium Refuge at Hang-Chow, and Mr. J. W. Strickson, appointed assistant-master in the Shanghai English School; besides whom, Miss Laurence has returned to her useful and important work at Ningpo. On the other hand, the two veterans of the Mission, the Revs. Canon McClatchie, of Shanghai, and F. F. Gough, of Ningpo, have returned to England; the Rev. J. C. Hoare has come over on a short visit; the Rev. J. D. Valentine is also now on his homeward voyage; and the Rev. J. B. Ost has been transferred to Hong Kong. To which losses may be added that of the Rev. A. E. Moule, who was hoping to be back in China last year, but is not yet permitted by the doctors to leave this country. The Bishop is thus left, for the time, with but five clergymen for the vast fields open to his missionary energies, with one medical man, two schoolmasters, and one lady missionary.

Reduced missionary staff in Cheh-Kiang.

Nothing would give the Committee truer satisfaction than to be able to reinforce Mid China; to throw into the conflict with Satan's hosts there a force, not indeed adequate—that could not be—but less inadequate to the greatness of the opportunity. Their solace, and the solace, they doubt not, of their missionary brethren, is that there is no restraint to the Lord to save by many or by few; and their prayer is that He will graciously own and bless the willing service of the handful of brave men who in Mid China have come to the help of the Lord against the mighty.

NINGPO.

The missionaries in this great city during the year have been—the Rev. J. Bates, who is Chairman of the Native Church Council, and superintends the Native agents engaged in pastoral and evangelistic work of various kinds both in Ningpo and the surrounding country; and the Revs. J. C. Hoare and R. Shann, who conduct the college and boarding-school, and the outlying schools in several towns and villages. The four Native clergy have continued in the same pastoral charges as were noticed last year; but the Native Church Council, at its meeting in December, changed their locations, and appointed them as follows:—The Rev. ʻÔKwông-yiao to Ningpo city; the Rev. Dzing Ts-sing to Z-kyʻi, Tsong-gyiao, &c.; the Rev. Wông Yiu-Kwông to Kwun-hæ-we and the other villages in the San-poh district; and the Rev. Sing Eng-teh to Tsong-tseng and the Eastern Lake district.

Mr. Bates thus describes his method of supervising and training the Chinese catechists:—

Training catechists at Ningpo.

Eleven Native agents are under my charge. They keep journals for me, in which are entered their daily occupations, and also any cases of interest that they may meet with. The journals are returned to me for perusal, and as they come up to Ningpo once in three months to settle accounts, I try to improve their two or three days' stay as much as possible. We have meetings for Bible-readings, and for united prayer. Those who can write have papers set for them to answer Scripture questions from a regular portion of Scripture. During the past year we have been going through the Epistle to the Romans in this way. They also compose sermons and essays on topics previously suggested by myself, which I read over and criticize. They also report the state of the work at their various stations. I have found all their exercises very helpful and beneficial both to the catechists and myself.

Rev. J. C. Hoare's College.

The new buildings for the College and Boarding-school, the funds for which have been mainly raised among Mr. Hoare's friends, are now completed, and ere this are in full use. Mr. Hoare's report on the year's work is a very interesting one. Six young men have been sent forth as mission agents, making eighteen since the institution was begun five years ago. The number under training, adults and boys, has been about thirty. Eleven of the boys were confirmed by Bishop Moule, and some of them "showed a very earnest Christian spirit" in thus renewing their baptismal vows. There is a Prayer and Preaching Union connected with the College, with twenty-two members; also a Debating Society, which has held interesting discussions, "useful, not only to quicken the powers of speech, but as real vehicles of instruction." "For instance," continues Mr. Hoare, "in a debate on polygamy, it was no small advantage to have the opportunity of giving them a digest of Mr. Venn's weighty pamphlet on the subject."

A Chinese Christian debating society.

In the country day-schools superintended by Mr. Hoare and Mr. Shann, much sound Christian instruction is being given, and not fruitlessly:—

Success of Christian boys in schools.

It is interesting to notice how well the Christian boys did in the examination; none failed to reach the third class, the majority of the first class were Christians, whilst in the first and second classes combined nearly half were Christians, though the proportion of Christians to heathens is less than one to four. I attribute this in part to the fact that the Christian parents are getting more alive to the importance of early education, but I also most truly believe that the Holy Spirit of God quickens the understandings of these little boys. When I tell you that to obtain a first-class place, a boy has to repeat twenty-four pages of Scripture—say the whole of St. Mark's Gospel—thrice that amount of Native classics, in addition to reading and writing in both the Chinese character and the Roman character, the repetition of the Catechism, and a vivâ voce examination in the life of our Lord and one or two books of the Old Testament, you will appreciate the fact that Chinese boys of the age of twelve have considerable powers of work, and that the young schoolmasters who teach them have to work hard to attain to such good results.

The vivâ voce examination in Scripture is always extremely interesting. Ask them what I will in the set subjects, they seldom fail to give a correct answer; usually in words very nearly approximating to the words of Scripture. We surely cannot but believe that the seed thus sown in the hearts of these boys will bring forth fruit hereafter unto eternal life. For the teaching done in these schools is not mere training of the intellect; some of the masters, at any rate, realize fully that their work is to lead these boys to the Saviour. Not long ago I was catechizing the Tsông-ts'eng school during a Sunday afternoon service, and was speaking of the fatherly care which God takes of all His children. After speaking at some length about the temporal blessings of food and raiment, I asked, scarcely expecting an answer, "But what clothing does God provide for the soul?" Without any hesitation a small boy of eleven years old—the only Christian in the school—cried out, "The righteousness of Christ."

Clothing for the soul.

Four of the out-stations are under the charge of the same brethren. At one place, Tsông-gyiao, there has been marked blessing. In the past three years, between thirty and forty converts have been baptized. Of one of these, an old eye-doctor named Kyü, a very interesting account is given by Mr. Hoare :—

Active evangelistic work of a Chinese oculist.

Two years ago he came to the Tsông-gyiao chapel, and after attending for some weeks expressed a desire to be baptized. He was therefore admitted as a catechumen, but after some time he disappeared. On inquiry we found that the members of his family were persecuting him and keeping him from the chapel. We therefore could do nothing but pray for him. One Sunday morning the old man appeared, carrying his god of medicine, a wretched little mud idol, in his hand, and saying that he could keep away no longer; come what might he must be baptized, for his only hope was in Christ. He was therefore in due course baptized, and since that time he has been most zealous in proclaiming his Saviour's love to those about him.

Often have I seen the small wizen man, his face radiant with smiles, on a Sunday morning with a stranger by his side, whom he had brought to hear the Gospel in the chapel. At first he brought them singly, but at the commencement of this year he used to come regularly with a party of five from his native village, and after a time these all applied for baptism. After a probation of six months I agreed to baptize them, but as there was talk of persecution in their village I thought it best to test them by telling them that I would baptize them there, in a small preaching-room which we had hired. Their neighbours heard of it, and declared that on the day of their baptism they would beat a gong through the streets of the village and pronounce them excommunicate. They did not shrink, however, but were baptized, three men and one woman, in August: one man I told to wait, as I was not satisfied with the knowledge he showed of Christian doctrine. Since their baptism they have held services regularly on Sunday in the preaching-room, the members of our Preaching Union going there every week to help them; and we have now four more applicants for baptism in the village.

I have never put down any "unpaid agents" in the statistics that I have sent in, for I do not quite know the difference between an unpaid agent and a true Christian man. The old eye-doctor has never set apart any fixed proportion of his time for preaching work; indeed, he is not fitted for preaching, but he lives and talks the Gospel, and thus bears a better witness to his Lord than many an authorized agent, whether paid or unpaid. And many of the Tsông-gyiao Christians do the same. Though weak and poor and ignorant they seek their friends, saying, "We have found the Messias:" "come and see."

SHAOU-HYING.

A "feeble little flock."

The Rev. J. D. Valentine's patient labours, and those of Mrs. Valentine among the women, are still without large results. He thankfully records three visits from Bishop Moule, "on each of which he has spent a Sunday with us, addressing our feeble little flock as one only can who has, as he has done, borne the burden of souls in this heathen land for many a year." The "feeble little flock" consists of thirty-nine baptized Christians, of whom eleven are communicants. The Shaou-hying Mission is very slow in progress compared with Fuh-Chow; but, on the other hand, it has not to suffer from the opposition of the mandarins. Mr. Valentine mentions the very courteous treatment he met with from the district magistrate when a disturbance arose through a drunken man interrupting a service at the preaching-room, and the catechist was dragged by his pig-tail through the street and severely beaten and kicked by the mob. The chief offender and one of the abettors were arrested and punished, and others had to pay part of the doctor's fees for attending the wounded man.

The "feeble little flock" have encouraged Mr. Valentine's last few months before leaving for England by an activity and zeal in one matter which quite surprised him:—

Its activity in self-help.

After the usual festivities of Christmas, we have been holding to-day a meeting of our Native Church Committee: eight persons were present. It was decided by the meeting that the Native Church Fund, amounting to above 200 dollars, should be utilized—first in building a preaching-room and catechist's house on the site purchased and presented by Mr. Palmer in the High-streef; secondly, with the surplus remaining, if any, in purchasing land in the country for a cemetery. A sub-committee of four members was appointed to obtain plans and estimates for the buildings, which, when erected, will relieve the Society to the extent of thirty dollars per annum, now paid for rent of preaching-room and catechist's dwelling.

A later letter mentions that this project was duly carried out, and on Good Friday last the new building was opened, and preaching to the heathen was kept up the greater part of the day. The entire cost was 315 dollars; "not a farthing of C.M.S. funds was required, and the building was opened free from debt." The cemetery has also been purchased in the same way.

HANG-CHOW.

At this great and populous city, the capital of the Cheh-Kiang Province, Bishop Moule has established his head-quarters. The Rev. Arthur Elwin is the missionary in charge. The Rev. J. H. Sedgwick has conducted the Opium Hospital, pending the arrival of the medical missionary, and also the book-shop, besides superintending the Bible colporteurs and visiting the out-station of Fu-yang; but he has now removed to Shaou-hying, to take Mr. Valentine's place for the time. The Rev. C. B. Nash and Dr. D. Duncan Main have joined the Mission during the year.

The only detailed accounts that have reached the Society from Hang-Chow are concerned with the Chu-ki district, the work in which is best known by the name of the first village in it reached by the Gospel, "Great Valley Stream." It has been visited by both Bishop Moule and Mr. Elwin during the year, and the narratives of their tours are deeply interesting.* Of the 214 baptized Christians (119 of whom are communicants, again a very high proportion), and 17 catechumens, in the Hang-Chow district, a large majority have been gathered among the hills and valleys south of Chu-ki during the last five years. Mr. Elwin writes :—

Spread of the Gospel in the Chu-ki district.

There is much to sadden, but far more to cause one's heart to rejoice! It must never be forgotten that a few years ago there was not one Christian in this vast district, indeed, the name of Jesus was unknown. Now there are Christians in about thirty-three villages, and the Bible is read, prayer is offered, hymns are sung, the Gospel is preached at nine convenient centres every Lord's Day, in rooms set apart for that purpose; for this we do rejoice; yea, and will rejoice.

The accounts of the way in which the Gospel has spread from village to village resemble in almost every particular those in past years from the Fuh-Kien Province. One place mentioned by Mr. Elwin may be selected, San-tu ("Third Hundred" or "Division") :—

A Christian wife bringing her husband and his other wife to Christ.

San-tu now stands forth as the most encouraging station in the Chu-ki district. The work is quite independent of the work at the Great Valley. It began in the following manner :—Matthew Tai was preaching one day outside one of the gates of Hang-chow, when he encountered a Buddhist devotee, a woman, who soon showed much interest in the Gospel message. Tai asked the woman to call upon his wife, which she did, and spent some days in the house inquiring about the true religion. She said she was a native of San-tu. When she became a Buddhist devotee she thought it right to leave her husband. She therefore bought him another wife, a girl, partly blind, for thirty dollars, and then started on her travels. When she became a Christian she saw it was her duty at once to return to her husband. He received her back again, and decided to allow the wife who had been bought for him a small sum of money every month, that she might live apart. Matthew Tai was invited to San-tu. He accepted the invitation, and on his arrival found that the first wife had preached so successfully that the husband and second wife were also inquirers. The second wife left the house, and a short time after she died with the name of Jesus on her lips. The first wife and her husband were afterwards baptized, and formed the nucleus of the Church.

"Black Ox" and his spiritual prey.

In September I baptized "Black Ox" by the name of Mo-i (desiring righteousness), and also "Cedar-pine," both mentioned in Bishop Moule's letter, see Intelligencer for 1881, p. 637. I took the names of eight inquirers, most of whom had first heard the good news from the sportsman, Black Ox. When here last May he pressed the Bishop and myself to accept a fine pheasant which he had shot; but now, instead of wild birds of the field, he presented living men—precious souls—whom he had been the means of awakening to the sense of their sin and their danger; to whom he had preached and with whom he had prayed, until they were willing to endure the cross and despise the shame for the sake of the Saviour, whom they now knew had done and suffered so much for them.

In one man I was particularly interested. I said, "What made you first think about the Lord Jesus?" He answered, "I was digging in the fields with Black Ox; no one else was near. Black Ox said to me, Have you heard of the doctrine of Jesus? I answered, No. He then preached the doctrine for me to listen to, and in consequence of what he has told me I come to apply for baptism to-day."

How Great Valley was found out.

Some of these villages are in the most secluded spots imaginable. "Well might the enemies of Luke Chow [the first convert]," writes Mr. Elwin, "say to him, 'If you had not brought the foreigners to this place [Great Valley Stream], how could they have found it out?'" And well might a young female convert at another village, Wang-kao-wu, which is shut in on all sides by lofty mountains never before trodden by a foreign foot, say, "God's chosen ones were here, and the Great Shepherd had called the under-shepherds to seek out for Him the wandering sheep, and bring them into the fold."

Answer to last year's prayers for Li-Min.

The poor woman, Yoh-in Kwa-nyang (baptized by the name of Li-min), whose sufferings under persecution were recorded in last year's Annual Report, and elicited such wide-spread sympathy among the Society's friends, is now well-treated by her relations, whose hearts, by God's mercy, have been turned back to her again. The father-in-law who beat her so barbarously received Mr. Elwin in quite a friendly way, and invited him to a cup of tea. This happy change Mr. Elwin attributes to the right cause. "Prayer," he remarks, "was offered up, and prayer has been answered by a prayer-hearing God. But," he adds, "let it not be thought that Li-min is the only persecuted Christian in the district. There are others to be prayed for likewise."

In Bishop Moule's journal of one of his tours in this district, occurs the following very vivid picture of the actual work of a Missionary Bishop in such a country and amongst such a people:—

Good and evil in a Chinese Christian family.

At "White's Place" (Sze-kā U) there is a large family party of Christians, by name Vong. We found them not altogether at peace. The eldest of the three brothers, apparently a sincere Christan, had nevertheless been betrayed into a quarrel with his wife only a day or two before, and the wound was not yet healed. He had said to others that he felt he was not fit to be confirmed in such a temper. One of the solitary Christians, a paper-maker, had also given way to temper, and had shown too little earnestness in his efforts to keep the Lord's Day. The strange mixture of frankness in owning his fault, with a want of manly consideration for his wife, on the part of the chief Christian, was most peculiar. These and other matters gave occasion for almost endless conversations. All the candidates (9 men and 7 women), except one or two of the women, were spoken with singly and together, and all but two men accepted—the offending couple having as I trusted, sincerely made up their differences.

Episcopal comforts in a Chinese Christian village.

It is impossible, I fear, to give you any just notion of the oddity of the arrangements—the only possible ones at present—for worship and missionaries' accommodation at this beautiful and important station. A tidy little room is lent to us on the ground floor for our dining-room and kitchen—the latter hidden by a screen. For worship the greater part of a large upper room is set apart. The Commandments, and two texts from Romans iii.—"All have sinned," "Being justified freely"—are suspended over a table, on which stands, in a neat little wooden case, the Bible, in two volumes. But on the margins of the room are a bedstead, agricultural tools, corn-bins, &c. &c., and the approach to the women's rooms from the stairhead passes through the outer part of the chamber. And at night, after worship and conversation is over, it is between the wooden pillars of this church-room that the missionaries are fain to sling their hammocks.

Evening prayer was late, and "last words" later still, and it was not till near midnight that we got into our hammocks. The other inhabitants of the house upstairs and down, talked on—mostly, I trust, on Christian topics—later still.

Among other interesting converts, he mentions a young female candidate for baptism, who had endured much persecution, and who, in reply to the question, "How long do you mean to keep the faith if they persecute you," replied, in quaint Chinese phrase, "Till my feet are straight," i.e. "till I am laid out in death." The Bishop also gives a pleasant picture of a village wedding "in the Lord:"—

Christian wedding in China.

We reached "Twin-bridge" at 12.15. The cottage—a very poor one yet—looked hospitable and cheerful, with wedding guests already at their mid-day meal. A side shed had been made tidy, with chairs and a table for us. Plates of fruit and cold meat, and cups of tea, were at once set out for us, and we were importuned to eat. Close to my chair was a huge jar containing certainly "more than two or three firkins," from which, from time to time, nice wine was ladled out, to be mulled for the guests.

After half an hour's talk with heathen guests, who listened civilly to the Gospel, I was ushered into the chief room, where, in my surplice and hood, I married and blessed "Sea-River" and "Sweet Purity," using a very much shortened service, after reading the Marriage of Cana, and saying a few words by way of sermon. The young people behaved as nicely as their conduct last Monday led me to hope, the answers in the service, and the hearty thanks afterwards, being as simply unaffected as possible. After wishing them joy, leaving each a little present, and sitting awhile longer, we walked on to our boat.

SHANGHAI.

Thirty-eight years ago, the Rev. T. McClatchie began the Church Missionary Society's China Mission at the then newly opened port of Shanghai. Subsequently the work there was virtually suspended for several years, but it was ultimately resumed by the same missionary, and carried on by him to the present time. As a mission-field, a busy commercial city like Shanghai was not likely to prove fruitful, and it has not proved so; but the fact must be acknowledged that it has never been occupied in force by the C.M.S. Other societies have cultivated it with more success. Canon McClatchie, who has now returned to England, leaves there 71 baptized Christians, of whom 13 are communicants. His last year in the Mission was marked by a very sad incident, and by a cheering one:—

Sad death of a backslider.

A gloom has also overspread our little band of Christians here in consequence of the almost sudden death of a former school-teacher, who was suspended from his duties and from the Holy Communion last year, in consequence of his having fallen into grievous sin. After his suspension he still continued his evil course, evincing no repentance or desire to be again received into communion with the Church, although frequently visited and exhorted by the catechist. He was seized by the fatal disease prevalent and died, and a fire breaking out in the neighbourhood just as he had been placed in his coffin, the house in which which he lay was burnt down, and the coffin and body were consumed in the flames.

Yet, in the midst of trial the Lord has shown mercy, for four catechumens have been admitted into the Church. On Whitsunday, at morning service, after the second lesson, I baptized the aged mother of Dr. Hoo, our catechist, together with a family consisting of father, mother, and son; the father and mother having been brought to the knowledge of Christ by their son, now sixteen years of age, who has been a steadfast Christian for more than two years past.

The Shanghai Boys' School has been faithfully carried on by Mr. G. Lanning. He writes:—

Indirect results of school work.

We have no marked conversions to point to; we cannot hope that any of our scholars will become active propagators of the truth; they do not come to us with any such intention; but we may hope, and experience bears us out in it, that they leave us with a higher and clearer insight into the nature and character of the true God, and of His Son Jesus Christ our Lord; that they have a higher appreciation of what is really true and noble and good; and that, in many cases, their lives are purer and nobler and better than they would have otherwise been. Of secular results it is more easy to speak definitely. Without appearing egotistical, I think I may say that the school is highly appreciated throughout the Chinese community.

JAPAN MISSION.

Remarkable signs of progress in Japan.

AMONG the multiplying signs of the speedy triumph of the Gospel in Japan, not the least significant is the expectation of it prevalent among the people themselves. Not only do newspaper writers discuss the claims of Christianity and acknowledge its superiority over the old idolatry*—not only do they avow that it is "the only religion that can satisfy the religious aspirations of the Japanese people to-day" and so "preserve and promote virtue among men" (to quote the words of one leading article)—but the more conservative Buddhist priests have taken alarm, and are now roused into energetic opposition. "They are raising," says Mr. Maundrell, "vast sums of money for the express purpose of decrying Christianity, by means of books, and of lecturers, who are going throughout the empire on their errand of defamation." One of these lecturers, at a great meeting held last year at Kioto, enlarged on "Christianity as a National Injury,"† and in order, as he said, to "startle the immoral believers of the foreign religion in their infatuated dreams," and expose "the iniquities of the Christian sect," detailed the humbling history of the religious wars of Christendom. Yet he admitted that "of late the progress of the sect has been marvellous, and may be compared to a fire sweeping over a plain, which constantly increases in power." His alarm can scarcely be wondered at, when in that same city of Kioto, as Mr. Warren writes, equally large meetings have been held in the theatres for the purpose of disseminating Christian truth, meetings entirely arranged by Japanese Christians, and addressed only by them. In another letter Mr. Warren says, "It is scarcely possible to travel now by rail or steamboat in Japan without meeting one after another of those who know something of the Gospel, or who possess portions of the Scriptures and other Christian books."

Admissions of hostile lecturers.

Public meetings of Japanese Christians.

These remarkable signs of the times must be regarded as the result, under God, and in the main, of the work of the American missionaries. Their superior numbers and more perfect organization have enabled them to carry on missionary operations of all kinds, including schools, female work, and medical missions, on a scale far beyond that of the English societies. Probably five-sixths of the Japanese Christians belong to them. Upon the labours of the C.M.S. agents, however, the Divine blessing is very manifestly resting. The number of baptisms in the year was 99. Of these, 44 were of children, which in a young Mission is a noteworthy sign of progress, as indicating an increasing number of Christian families. Among the 55 adult converts were some men of position and influence, including a leading ex-official, well-known for his scholarship, and a Shinto priest, in the Island of Yezo; and two gentlemen Samurai, father and son, with their respective families, at Kagoshima. This historic port, the chief city of the great Satsuma clan which has played so conspicuous a part in the national history, is occupied only by Native teachers and visited by Mr. Maundrell from Nagasaki; and it bids fair to be one of the most promising centres of evangelization. Within three years, nearly one hundred persons have attached themselves to the Church there; and if Christianity takes root among the vigorous Satsuma men, they will, by the grace of God, wield no small influence upon their countrymen. During the past year an out-station, Tokushima, has been opened also in the fourth of the four great islands forming the Empire of Japan, SHIKOKU, and three converts have been baptized there already.

Japanese converts.

The Society's staff in Japan has been strengthened during the year by the transfer thither of the Rev. A. B. Hutchinson, late of Hong Kong, who is now stationed at Nagasaki. On the other hand, the Mission loses the valuable services of the Rev. John Piper, who, having returned home, has accepted a parochial charge in this country. The Rev. P. K. Fyson, also, though not leaving Japan, has been (so to speak) lent to the British and Foreign Bible Society, at the earnest request of the Tokio Bible Committee, that he may for a time devote himself wholly to the important work of (with others) preparing the Japanese Old Testament. The agent of the Society in Japan himself also is a C.M.S. missionary "lent" for the purpose, the Rev. Isaac J. Taylor.

Bible work in Japan,

Here it may be added that the Society's other missionaries have taken, and are taking, an active part in translational work. In the past year the Rev. J. Piper has compiled a Japanese Reference New Testament; the Rev. C. F. Warren, as one of the Japanese Prayer-Book Committee, has shared in the revision of several of the Occasional Services: and the Rev. W. Dening has written a work on the Canon of the New Testament, based on Dr. Westcott's book, and translated Dr.

Proposed English Bishop for Japan.

The marked progress of Christianity in the empire renders it important that the Church of England should be represented in the country by its full organization; and the attention of the Archbishop of Canterbury was called, nearly four years ago, by Bishop Burdon, of Victoria, who has hitherto had episcopal charge of the English clergy in Japan, to the advantage of a separate Bishop being appointed for so important a field of labour. Arrangements are now maturing for carrying this project into effect. The Archbishop did not see his way to accept the Committee's suggestion that he should consecrate a Bishop nominated by the Society and supported by its funds, as has been done in some other countries; and seeing that in Japan the work of the Church of England is not exclusively in C.M.S. hands, the Committee acceded to his Grace's proposal that the Society should contribute a portion of the stipend of a Missionary Bishop to be selected by himself, fully confiding in his wisdom to make an acceptable appointment. They rejoice to know that this resolution has been heartily approved by many of the Society's oldest and staunchest friends, although others have felt difficulties regarding it; and one of these approving friends, in token of his approbation, has spontaneously offered to cover the promised grant of 500*l.* a year, for five years at least, thus relieving the General Fund of the charge during that period.*

NAGASAKI.

The Rev. Herbert Maundrell and the Rev. Walter Andrews have continued at this, the oldest and the southernmost of the Society's stations. Mr. Andrews, however, is about to be transferred to Hakodate, the most northern post, from considerations of health; and the Rev. A. B. Hutchinson, late of Hong Kong, takes his place.

Obstacles at Nagasaki.

NAGASAKI presents exceptional obstacles to missionary work, in addition to those of indifferentism, and the influence of the Buddhist priesthood, which it shares in common with the rest of Japan. One of these, however, has at least its favourable aspect, as showing how the true character of the Gospel is apprehended by the human conscience, even though repugnant to human depravity. "It is," to quote Mr. Maundrell's words, "the deep-rooted hatred of Christianity on account of its holy teaching, inasmuch as it condemns the lucrative vices, commercial and moral, so common at this port." In the mercantile community there is also a revival of anti-foreign policy, "owing partly to the rejection by the foreign powers of the proposed new treaty, and partly to the embarrassed state of the currency and of the country financially, which not a few Japanese attribute to the foreign policy of the Government. Jealousy of foreigners generally is more probably at the root of it." "The people," says Mr. Andrews, "often openly resist the preaching of Christ with abusive language. I have been deeply pained by their scoffs and jeers." "The whole city," says Mr. Maundrell, "seems as yet confederate against us."

Progress, therefore, in Nagasaki itself is slow. Still, comparing the Mission as it is, with the Mission as it was in 1875, when he arrived, Mr. Maundrell finds grounds for thankful encouragement:— Progress slow;

In 1875 there can scarcely be said to have been a Christian congregation with the C.M.S. There were two persons, a milkman and his wife, who had been baptized by Mr. Ensor, and an acting catechist. For these Mr. Burnside had been holding little services in his own house, and had already put up our present little church, though this had not been opened. A few other persons also had been baptized, but they had gone to other parts of the empire. There was no regular Mission school; no preaching in the city (it was not yet allowed); and there was no out-station. Now there is a Christian congregation witnessing for the religion of Jesus, both by their regular and orderly worship and attendance at the means of grace, and more or less, I trust, by their lives. There is a small school for day-scholars, a girls' boarding-school, and a theological class. Then, in "the regions beyond," three important out-stations are occupied, at which also there are little groups of Christians watched over by Native catechists. Besides this, speaking generally, there are unmistakable signs of prejudices giving way before the light of advancing truth, so that a wide and open door is before us, though there are many adversaries. but yet manifest.

It is in the surrounding country that the door seems most open. Mr. Andrews has made itinerating his special work, which has been facilitated by the extension of the Treaty limits for travelling without a passport to a radius of twenty miles:—

Within these limits are some large and important country towns, the centres of busy, active life, whose inhabitants are not so much prejudiced against Christianity; and again there are some hundreds of hamlets and villages where I feel sure the Gospel will find an easier entrance than in the busy places. The simple villagers are very willing to listen to the Gospel, but access to them can only be obtained by climbing over steep mountain-paths or by boat. One does not get much opportunity for speaking to the men, but at the shrines and temples there are always a number of women and children with their spinning-wheels and playthings, to whom one can show pictures and Work in country towns and villages.

tell the Gospel story. I find my magic-lantern most useful, the people coming in crowds to see it. This is the Lord's work: how and when He will give fruit must be left to Him.

Rapid progress at Kagoshima.

But the regular out-stations at the important cities of Kagoshima, Kumamoto, and Saga, have been hitherto the most fruitful fields, the first-named especially. Out of 170 baptized Christians and 25 catechumens connected with the Nagasaki Mission, two-thirds belong to these cities, and one-half to Kagoshima alone. Out of 50 baptisms in the year (21 adults and 29 children), 42 were at Kagoshima. This historically famous port, therefore, is the most promising post occupied by the Society in Japan. Mr. Maundrell writes:—

Kagoshima, as far as numbers are concerned, is bidding fair to be our strongest post. The Lord's blessing is resting on the work there, and I have been cheered on each of the two occasions that I have visited it during the year. Paul Morooka San, who took Stephen Koba San's place as catechist there in January last, has shown himself a zealous and acceptable worker, and is much liked. The work is full of promise. There are now nearly 100 persons, including children, who have attached themselves to our Church. At my last visit, only a short time ago, I had the pleasure of giving the Holy Communion to 19 persons, besides the catechist, and of admitting to the Church by baptism two gentlemen Samurai, father and son, with their respective families, who have shown unmistakable evidence of their sincerity. Like Cornelius, before becoming Christians they had "given alms," and done what they could for the good of others. They built a school 36 ft. long by 15 ft., which cost them 240 yen, about $140, for the sake of their poorer countrymen. This, with its furniture, they have now given to our Mission.

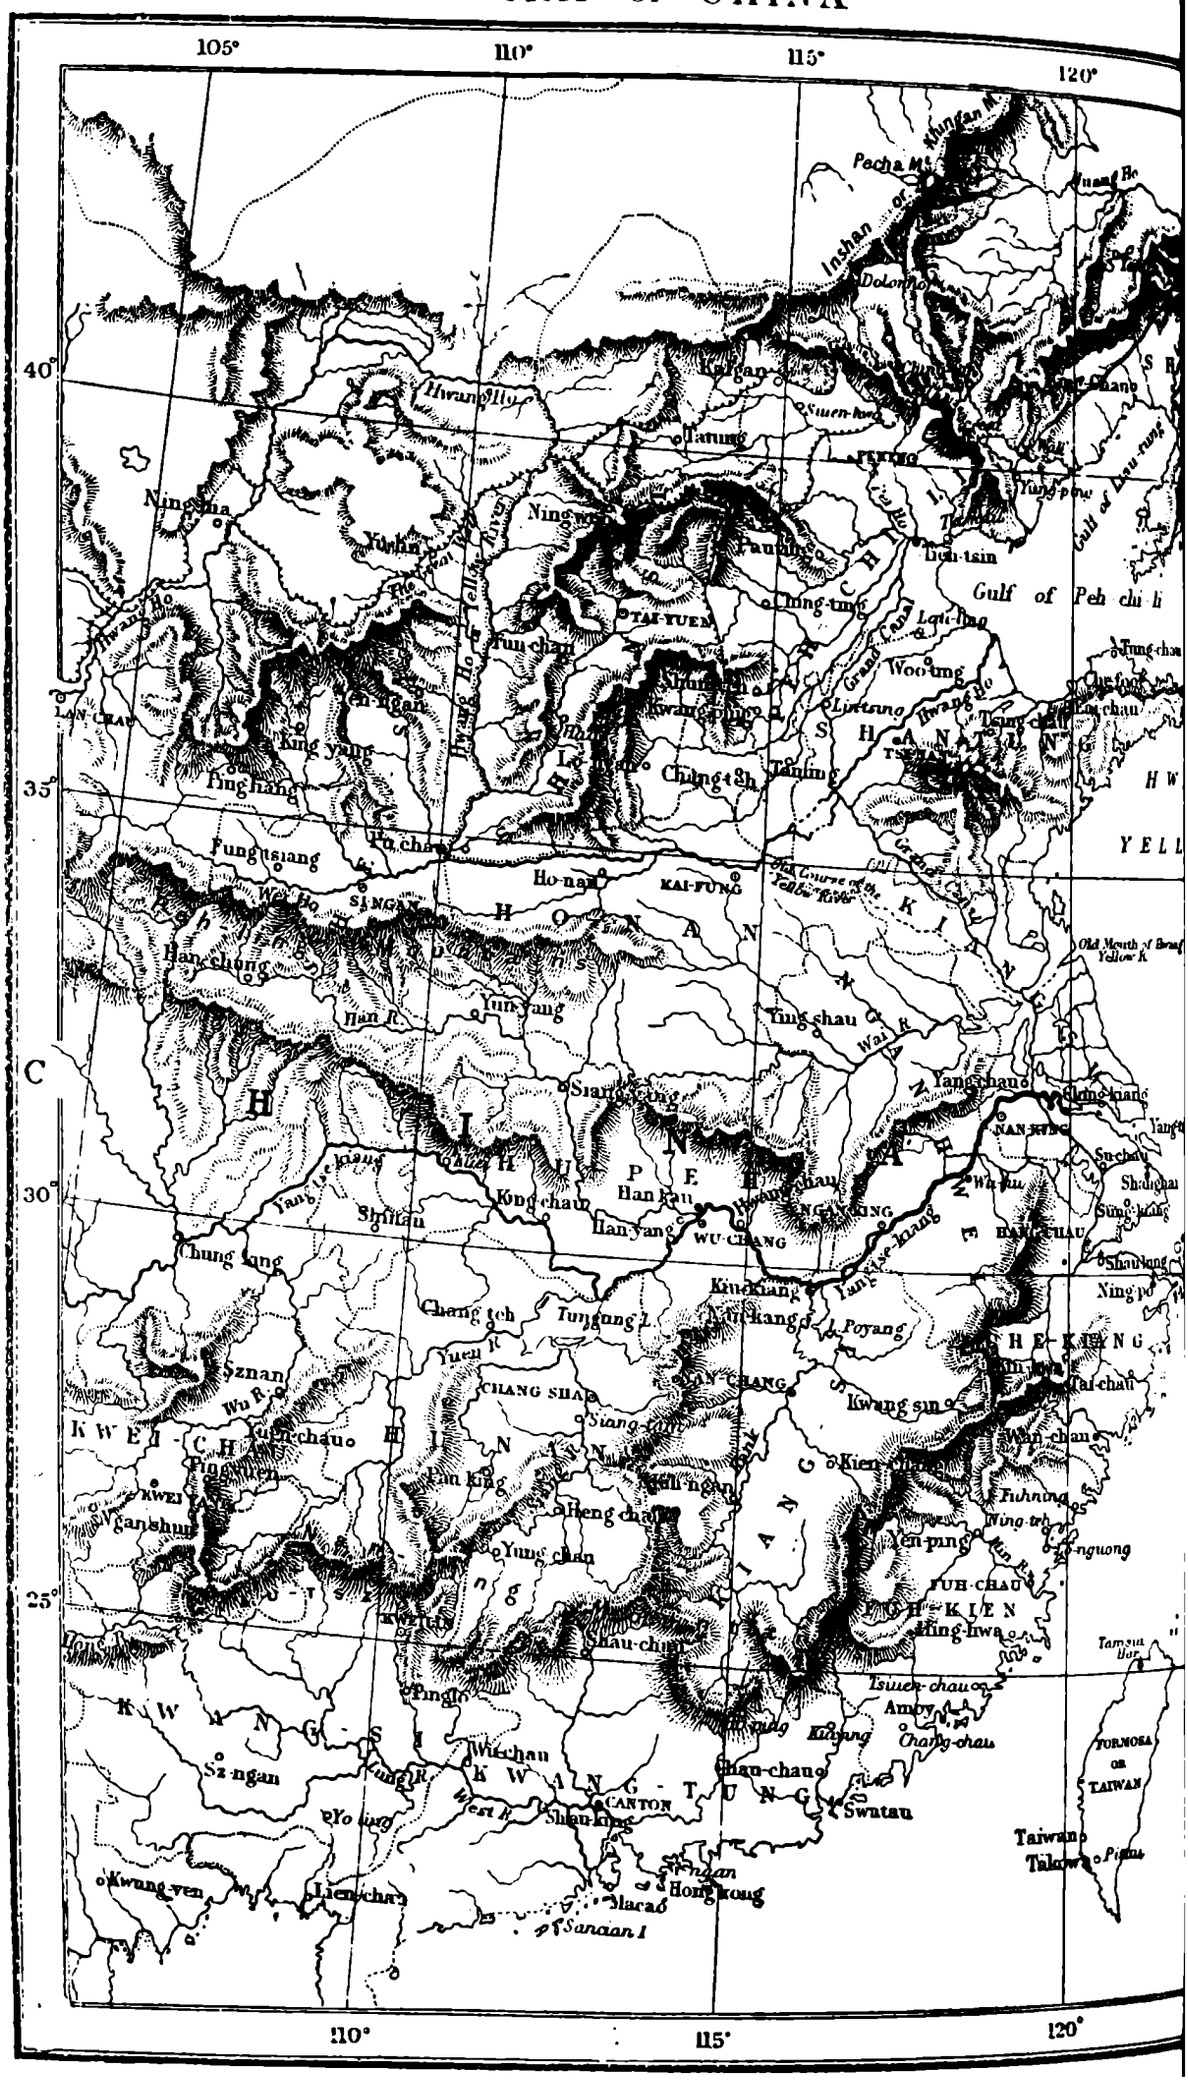

Japanese Cornelii.

At Kumamoto, "in many respects the most important city in Kiushiu," another catechist, John Funtsuka San, has "held the fort against much opposition." "Again and again has the preaching-place been stoned, but the Christians (21 baptized adults and 7 children, with one catechumen and three inquirers) have continued to meet for worship, and preaching has been carried on regularly." On one of his visits, Mr. Maundrell met with a good illustration of the anti-foreign feeling above referred to:—

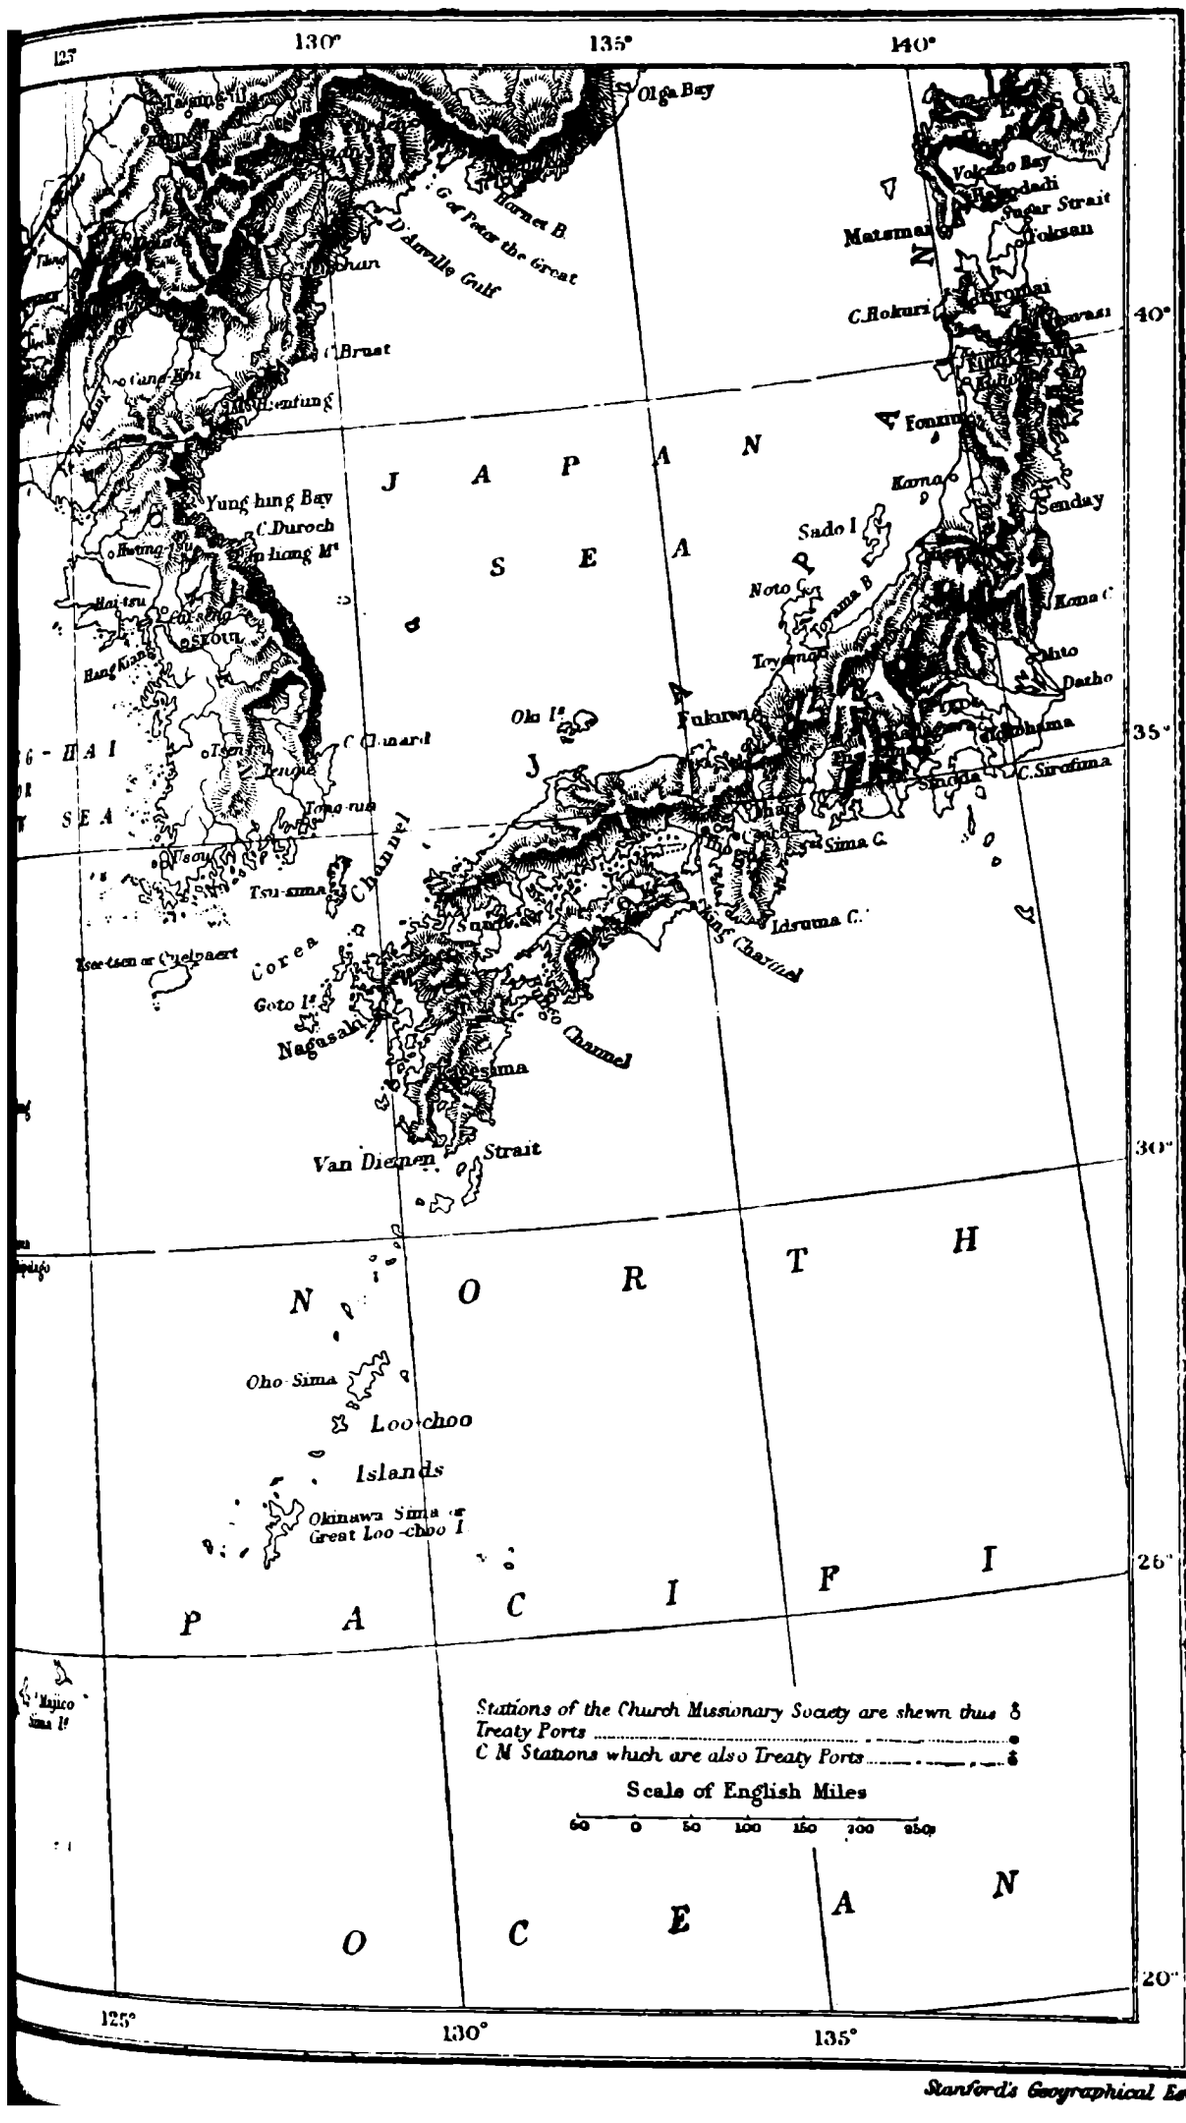

A Japanese newspaper's advice to a missionary.

After I had been preaching one evening at Kumamoto, on the text, "On these two commandments hang all the law and the prophets," an article appeared in the next morning's local paper to this effect, "Last night Mr. Maundrell, a missionary, was preaching at ——, on loving God and loving our fellow-men. It is very good of this gentleman to come all across the great sea to preach this doctrine to us; but our advice to him is to go back at once to his own country, and to teach it first to his own people, that they may be less cunningly selfish, so that in demanding new treaty terms with our country, they may be less exacting, and be more ready to do to us as they would do to themselves."

Stanford's Geographical Est.

At Saga, the opposition of the Buddhist priests has been successful in reducing the numbers attending the services. The catechist, too, deserted the Mission, and after being declined by the American Methodists, "under the well-proved rule of not receiving those who come from another Mission from motives of petulance and jealousy," was accepted (on grounds not explained) by another American society.

Mr. Maundrell has opened two or three small day-schools at Nagasaki and the out-stations, but at present the experiment has not been very successful. The Girls' Boarding-School, a very useful agency, is conducted by Mrs. Goodall, the excellent lady who, though not connected with the Society, freely gives her services to the Mission. In the Theological College, there are two senior and eight junior students; four other senior men being at work at the out-stations, though still regarded as belonging to the institution. Mr. Maundrell sends the following pleasant account of a gathering of the whole number:— Nagasaki Divinity students.

On St. Andrew's Day, the anniversary of the opening of the College, we had full morning service with Holy Communion at Deshima Church, when I preached from Matt. iv. 19, "Follow Me, and I will make you fishers of men." In the afternoon there was a football game between the catechists and the students, in which Mr. Andrews, as always, was a champion; and in the evening there was a tea for the catechists, students, and a few other Native friends, at my house. And this evening Mr. Andrews entertained them in Deshima School, with a Natural History lecture on Bees, with the help of magic-lantern slides, which afforded much profitable amusement, and he kindly invited the catechists and our foreign staff (Mrs. Goodall, Miss Shaw, and ourselves) for another evening's social entertainment at his house. There was no examination this time (that is to be at future gatherings), but there were many profitable meetings for the discussion of matters concerning the work of our Church in Kiu-Shiu, and there were some devotional meetings, at which St. Paul's Epistles to Timothy and the work of the ministry generally, and in Japan particularly, formed subjects for prayer and meditation. There were frequent opportunities for preaching at Deshima, and each catechist gave one or two good sermons while here.

We had also a missionary meeting in Deshima School, at which there were six speeches, each not more than twenty minutes long. The first and introductory one referred to the Society's work throughout the world in general, and then to the particular work of the Society in Japan. Then followed an account from each of the catechists of his own special field of labour, and Mr. Andrews read a paper (Japanese) on the introduction of Christianity into Britain. After the catechists of the out-stations had spent ten days or more here, including two Sundays, they returned to their work.

OSAKA.

The missionaries at this station are the Revs. C. F. Warren,

H. Evington, and G. H. Pole. Mr. Warren has succeeded Mr. Piper as Secretary of the Japan Mission. Mr. Evington was absent for some months on a flying visit to England.

The baptized converts at OSAKA number 92, of whom 36 are communicants. Eighteen adults and eight children were baptized during the year. Of some of these Mr. Warren gives very interesting accounts. One, a surgeon in the Japanese army, is the son of Mrs. Kumé, who will be remembered as the first-fruits of the Osaka Mission. Another is a Custom-house officer:—

Converts at Osaka.

Mr. Yamashita, baptized Paul, is a custom-house officer, a part of whose duty is to patrol a defined district to prevent smuggling, in much the same way as the members of our coast-guard service at home. The Foreign Concession is within the limits of the district patrolled by such officers, and Yamashita was not unfrequently brought near our chapel, at the door of which he began to listen to that Word which was to bring light, joy, and even food to his soul. At that time his case was a very sorrowful one. His wife, to whom he had been married some ten years, and by whom he has three children, had been unfaithful to him, and had had to be divorced, though not before he had given her time and opportunity for repentance and amendment. It was in the bitterness of soul which this trial caused him, that the Gospel came to him as a message of hope and peace. His earthly hopes blasted, himself worse than a widower, and his children worse than motherless, he drank in with earnestness those truths which were for his true consolation. His New Testament, well worn and marked from reading and searching, shows how he has striven to know the way of the Lord. His love for the house and ordinances of God has been very marked. His duty does not leave him every Lord's Day free, but he almost invariably contrives so to arrange his hours of duty with his fellow-officers as to be present at every service and class.

The case of another illustrates the difficulty that confronts Native Christians both in China and in Japan regarding the observance of the Lord's Day:—

A heathen employer giving his Christian servant the Sunday rest.

One young man, baptized on June 26th, has been a somewhat wild and reckless youth, but the Lord has, we trust, laid hold of him, and he now seeks to walk in the footsteps of his Saviour. His case was before us when the eight were baptized on Trinity Sunday. So far as his knowledge was concerned he was ready for baptism then; nor did I doubt the sincerity of his motives in seeking to be united to the Lord's people; the great difficulty was the observance of the Lord's Day. His own mind was made up on the subject, but he was in a situation where he could not be sure of the Lord's Day rest. He was ready to throw up his situation with a view of removing the only obstacle that remained; but I urged him, as a first step, to confer with his employer, and, seeking God's guidance in prayer, to await the result. He acted upon my advice, and the Lord granted him the desire of his heart. This employer, as I learned from another party, had been so impressed by the change wrought in him, and was so sensible of his value in the position he occupies, that he gladly consented to give him Sunday as a day of rest.

New mission work in Shikoku.

The principal event of the year in connexion with the Osaka Mission is the opening of the first regular out-station, and that in a locality of special interest in itself. Mention was made in last year's Annual Report of a visit made by Mr. Evington to SHIKOKU, the fourth of the four great islands of the Japanese Archipelago. In this island very little has hitherto been done by any agency, but the American Board Mission has gathered a few converts within the past year or two. Mr. Warren thus relates the circumstances that led to the occupation of one of its largest cities, Tokushima:—

Shikoku is the smallest of the four principal islands of Japan. On its north-eastern coast, about sixty or seventy miles south-west of Osaka, is the large and important town of Tokushima—the capital of the prefecture of that name—which has a population of about 60,000. Mr. Evington went there last year, and had some opportunities of preaching the Word, and of conversing with many who came to him. The Greek Church has been working in the place for some time, and has some adherents. It appears that those who are working in connexion with that Mission as Native agents are not altogether ordering their conversation as becometh the Gospel of Christ. This led two men to break connexion with the Greek Church, and seek intercourse with us. As there was evidently a desire to know more of the truth in its simplicity, I determined to send down Aratani to spy out the land, and to do what he could towards commencing work there, if there appeared to be an opening. The result was that a room was rented for preaching, and work regularly commenced.

In March I spent six days there, and was much cheered by the evident signs of progress. Inouye, a photographer, and his wife, appear to be in good earnest in learning the way of God. They have each a New Testament and other Christian books which they have purchased, and there is no doubt that they are carefully read and thought over. Fukui, also a photographer, is another earnest and intelligent inquirer. He is married, and his father and mother and one of his sisters live in the same house. The elder Fukui has not advanced so far as his son, but light seems to be breaking in upon his mind. Mrs. Fukui, senior, seems to be quite at one with her son, and considerably in advance of her husband.

The Greek Christians did not remain in connexion with the Mission. When a demand from them for a change of catechist was not acceded to, they went to an American Baptist missionary, by whom they were re-baptized. The heathen inquirers proved more steadfast. In October Mr. Warren again visited Tokushima, and baptized the first three converts, Inouye and his wife, and the younger Fukui, mentioned in the foregoing extract. The Committee heartily thank God for this good beginning in an entirely new sphere.

Mr. Warren mentions with thankfulness that "fraternal relations with other societies and denominations continue as cordial as ever :"—

Fraternal relations of missionaries of various societies.

A monthly Bible reading with the members of the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel and the American Episcopal Mission, held alternately at Kobe and Osaka; the united Conference of all the missionaries [of all Protestant societies] in this neighbourhood, held four times a year; the monthly united prayer-meeting held at Osaka; and the special meetings during the week of prayer and at other times, are evidences of this, and tend to strengthen our union. Our Native Christians, too, both during the week of prayer, at the intercession season, and on other occasions, meet with the members of other Churches for prayer and praise. Thus the oneness of spirit which pervades the body of Christ is manifested, and the God and Prince of peace honoured.

TOKIO.

Since the return home of Mr. Piper, the Rev. J. Williams has been the only representative of the Society in the capital of Japan. He writes in a thankful and hopeful spirit. "We commenced the year," he says, "with a deep sense of our own weakness, but" [should not this "but" be "and therefore"?] "the Lord has been with us, and we have received from Him many tokens for good." "Nine adults and three children have been baptized, and some of these new converts have been a great comfort to us." The baptized Christians now number thirty, of whom eighteen are communicants. One of the converts is a married sister of Ito, the Christian of Satsuporo who has been mentioned in former Reports. "She is the most intelligent Japanese woman I have met," writes Mr. Williams, "and like her brother possesses great force of character. My wife feels that she has quite a companion in her." Her husband, Mr. Ozaki, has been connected with the Japanese Legation at Rome, and he being in Europe, she wrote and asked his permission for her baptism, "praying night and morning that God would dispose his heart to grant her request." "In due time the reply came, and was all that a fond wife could wish," and she was baptized on May 29th, 1881. Her husband has since returned to Japan, and is himself also receiving instruction. Mr. Williams further writes of her :—

Conversion of a Japanese lady.

She has been a real friend to the Mission, and a great help to us in the work. On one occasion we found her services invaluable. A serious difference had arisen between two of the Christians, and, as is always the case, each imagined the other to be the sole offender, and could see no fault in himself. The ill-feeling had existed for some time, and threatened a serious breach in the Church; some of the Christians siding with one, and some with the other. I expostulated and reasoned with both of them, but in such a case it is not easy for a missionary to get at the bottom of the matter. Mrs. Ozaki was seriously troubled, and worked hard to reconcile the two offenders. Her social position entitled her to the respect of both, and gave her an advantage which none of the other Christians enjoyed. At no little inconvenience to herself she visited both of them in their own homes, and ultimately they consented to meet each other at her house. A reconciliation followed, which I believe is not only outward, but inward and real.

Owing, too, to the exertions of this good Christian woman, a friend of hers, by name Mrs. Hada, has during the past year joined the Church. She is the wife of a physician, and a woman of good social position. She has not the same go and energy as Mrs. Ozaki, but she does all she can in her own quiet way to spread the knowledge of the truth amongst her countrymen. Her husband and Mr. Ozaki meet with me from time to time to read the Bible, and I hope that before long they will be rejoicing in Christ.

NIIGATA.

No report has been received of this station. Mr. Fyson, as already mentioned, is now set apart for translational work. The question who shall succeed him, or whether the Mission shall withdraw from Niigata, is not yet decided. After such long and patient sowing, a reaping-time, judging from other fields, ought not now to be far off. On the other hand, concentration of work is very important, and when a missionary band is limited in number, its members should not be too much scattered.

HAKODATE.

The Rev. Walter Dening still labours at this northern port. He reports the year as one of "progress and prosperity in the work." Seven adults and four children have been baptized, and there are now thirty-five baptized Christians and twelve catechumens. Among the new converts is an ex-government official, well known and much respected in Hakodate for his scholarship and force of character. "Before receiving baptism he went round to his best friends, and told them that he was about to join the Christian Church, and should henceforth do his best to spread abroad a knowledge of Christianity." His conversion "has made a great stir in all the region round about." By him a Shinto priest was introduced to Mr. Dening as a teacher of Chinese, and he too, after voluntarily attending the services and classes, was baptized with his friend.

Converts at Hakodate.

Mr. Dening gives an interesting account of some public lectures delivered by himself and other missionaries:—

In the month of Sept., taking advantage of the presence of several visitors from the south, we made a special effort to reach the more educated classes by means of a series of lectures on subjects bearing on Christianity. The subjects were:—"Christ the Perfect Example," by Ogawa; "The Relation of the Sexes," by Sakurai; "Education," by Mr. Dixon; "What is Dumbness?" by Honda. My subjects were: "The Nature and Importance of Natural Religion," and "Unity in Nature." The speakers consisted of two Presbyterians, one Methodist, and two Episcopalians. The audience was entertained by music and singing, in the interval between the lectures, in which all the foreign members, male and female, of both Missions took part. The Methodist Mission kindly lent their organ for the occasion. The lectures were delivered in a theatre, and the place was full.

Lectures to educated Japanese.

Under the head of "Lectures," I should mention that I have promised to lecture once a month for the Young Men's Christian Association. I gave my first lecture last month, the subject being, "The Causes of John Stuart Mill's Scepticism." As was anticipated, this title led numbers to come who are not in the habit of attending our services. The church was full; the lecture lasted an hour and a half, but there was perfect quietness throughout; and one man told our catechist after it, that the lecture had cleared up his doubts on the subject, and that he intended to study Christianity forthwith.

In the spring of the year I had the privilege of lecturing twice at Kiyoto, to a vast crowd of people, at a very large theatre, once on the "Need of a Revelation," and once on "Miracles." These kind of lectures are becoming very popular all over Japan; they meet a need which cannot be so well met in any other way. Of course, their popularity is not altogether owing to the nature of the subjects chosen for discussion, but is rather to be attributed to the spirit of the age in which we live—a spirit of inquiry, which leads men to run hither and thither seeking for a something they hardly know what; when one deep or one sea says, "It is not with me," they pass on to another. I feel more and more sure that a great work for Christ and His Gospel is to be accomplished by means of lectures. I would commend this matter to your prayers.

Beginning of work among the Ainos.

Mr. J. Batchelor, who was devoting himself especially to the Aino population of Yezo, has lately come home for further preparation for a missionary life. During 1881 he paid two long visits, of two months each, to Biratori, a village in the interior, the old Aino capital. He diligently studied the little-known Aino language, in which he is the first person who has ever preached the Gospel. "The barbarous people showed him no little kindness," and the Committee trust that a permanent work may shortly be set on foot among them, and that the Lord may take out of them a people for His name.

NEW ZEALAND MISSION.

European Missionaries first arrived in New South Wales, 1810; proceeded to New Zealand, 1814; Mission confined to the Northern Island.

DIVISION OF THE MISSION.

I. Northern Division, comprising chiefly the Diocese of Auckland.
II. Eastern Division, comprising chiefly the Diocese of Waiapu.
III. Western Division, comprising chiefly the Diocese of Wellington.

Number of Maori Christians.

THE statistical returns from the New Zealand Mission are fuller than have been received for many years, owing to the exertions of Bishop Stuart to make those from the Waiapu diocese perfect. The result shows that the Society's figures have understated the number of Maori Christians by no less than ten thousand souls. The estimate last year was 15,000. It now becomes 25,000; and this is known to be under the mark, for the returns from the Auckland and Wellington dioceses are still incomplete. The Committee are not surprised at the difficulty of furnishing them. Although in the northern districts, and on the east coast, there are thriving Christian Maori villages, with their churches and schools and pastors mainly supported by the people themselves, and shepherded with unwearied diligence and earnestness by Archdeacons Clarke and Williams, in other districts it is difficult to know who may and who may not be counted, owing to the extent to which the heresies of the disaffected leaders, Te Whiti and Te Kooti, have spread among those who are nominally Christians, and many of whom were baptized in infancy.

Maori clergy.

Two more Maoris have been admitted to holy orders, making thirty-nine in twenty-eight years, every one of them in connexion (direct or indirect) with this Society, a fact which often fails to be recorded in public notices of the Church in New Zealand. The past year has witnessed what is the first failure among them to maintain the consistency of their high calling, one having given way to intemperance and been suspended from his office. Another, the venerable Rev. Piripi Patiki, has been lost to the Church militant, but only through being translated to the Church triumphant. A touching account of his last hours will be found below.

Future plans for New Zealand.

The Committee have been engaged in drawing up a scheme for the gradual release of the Society from its financial responsibilities in New Zealand. Many years have now elapsed since Mr. Venn first endeavoured to make arrangements with Bishop

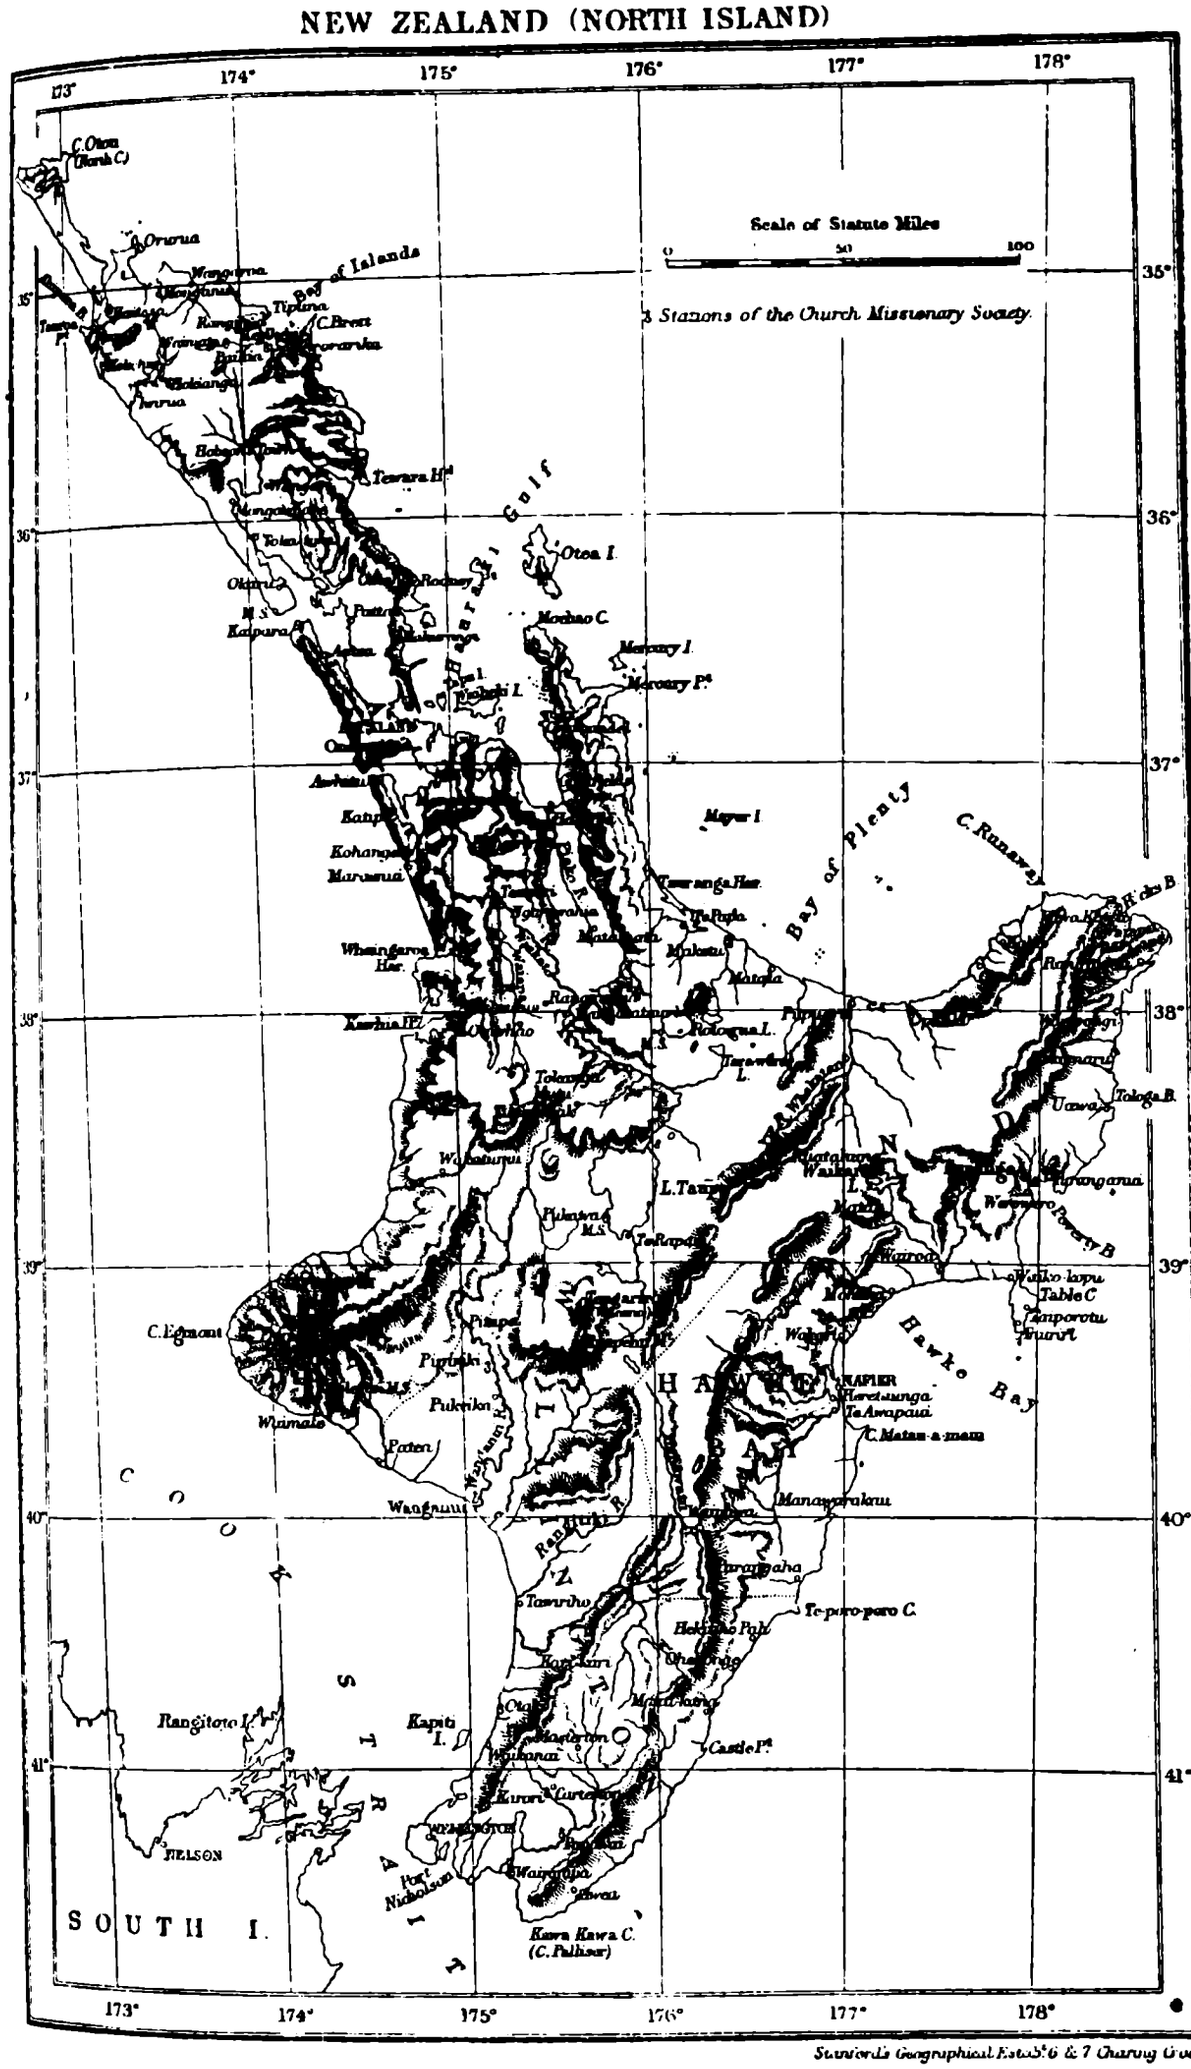

Selwyn for transferring the charge of the Native Christians to the Colonial Church. The war of 1860, and other circumstances, rendered it impossible to carry his designs into effect; and in the meanwhile the missionary funds raised from the white population have become absorbed in the work of the Melanesian Mission: so that the Maori race has been left, so far as the Church of England is concerned, almost entirely to the Church Missionary Society. The charges on the General Fund, however, have been much reduced, by the appropriation of the rents from the Society's lands acquired many years ago to the support of the Native clergy and teachers, and by the increasing ability and readiness of the Native Christians to bear a large part—in some cases the whole—of the cost of their own pastoral ministrations. Three-fourths of the present grant from the General Fund are required for the maintenance of the remaining European missionaries, some of whom have been labouring most faithfully for forty and fifty years. It is now hoped, by a fixed annual reduction in the grant, subject to the personal claims of the missionaries on the Society, and by committing the administration of the grant and of the landed property to a local Board appointed by the Committee, that the Society may in the course of a few years be able to rejoice in the complete independence of a flourishing Maori Church. Independence, that is, as regards the Parent Society, not as regards the Anglican Church in the colony. New Zealand is not like India and China, where the white population are sojourners and an insignificant minority. There the Church of the future will be Indian and Chinese. In New Zealand the Maori children of the Church Missionary Society are the remnant of a race to a large extent dispossessed by the colonists; and it is for the best interests of the Maori Christians that they should be members of the Colonial Church. This distinction was plainly pointed out in the Committee's Memorandum of 1878 in reply to that of the Indian Bishops. (Annual Report, 1877-8, Appendix.)

I. Northern Division: Auckland.

1. Bay of Islands (Paihia and Waimate), commenced 1814; 2. Auckland (Hauraki), 1833; 3. Kaitaia, 1834; 4. Waikato, 1840.

THERE has been no change in the Mission staff, European or Native, during the year, except that, as already intimated, one Native clergyman has been removed to his heavenly rest, and another suspended by the Bishop of Auckland.

NEW ZEALAND (NORTH ISLAND)

Stanford's Geographical Estab.t 6 & 7 Charing Cross.

Archdeacon E. B. Clarke sends a succinct report on the districts north of Auckland, comprised in the Archdeaconry of Waimate. This report, being the most complete account of the work in a short space that has been received for some years, is subjoined almost in extenso :—

Religious condition of Maori parishes.

In a general way things are most satisfactory if one looks only for the external observances of religion. There is less drunkenness than ever. The people as a whole attend the services regularly; but that is not all we want. There is nominal Christianity to any extent, and, with here and there an exception, not much to complain of on the score of morality. The statistics are satisfactory so far as to numbers of communicants and attendants at the services, but what I yearn for is to see more real spiritual life and practical everyday Christianity. There are some who I honestly believe are living the life of faith, but these are few and far between.

I will give you a general report of the whole northern district, noticing the principal ministerial or parochial districts.

Mangakaahia is an out-station connected with Kaikohe, and in charge of the Rev. Matiu Kapa. There is a pretty and substantial church, built a few years ago by the late Reihana Taukawau. Since his death the people have lacked a leader, and have to a certain extent become lax, so that the expectations I once had regarding them have not been realized. Intoxicating drink has been brought to them by Europeans, so that in some cases I hear of excess on the part of those of whom I had anticipated better things. There is a lukewarmness about most of them as to the higher life, which is discouraging.

Kaikohe, where Matiu lives, has perhaps the largest population of any place in the district. There has been an improvement this year, and though there is much worldliness, connected with horse-racing and its attendant evils, there is a desire on the part of many for social and moral elevation. Timber for a new church, to cost over 500*l*., has been prepared, so that I hope in the course of a few months to report its erection.

Ohaeawai is also in connexion with Kaikohe. There is a flourishing Government school and a pretty church, which are both well attended. This is on the road from the Bay of Islands to Hokianga, and though there is a hotel for the accommodation of travellers, there is but little intemperance amongst the Natives. Otaua, Mataraua, Tautoro, and Mata are small out-villages from eight to ten miles from Kaikohe.

Hokianga, formerly in charge of the late Rev. P. K. Patiki, is now without a clergyman, but is occasionally visited from Ahipara. The villages connected with it are Waiparera, Whangape, Rotokakahi, and Herekino. These people have always been remarkable for their attention to their religious duties, though, for the last two years, owing to old Piripi's inability to visit them, they had become rather slack. A revival has however taken place, and the people of Whangape are about to build a wooden church, their present one being of rushes.

South of Hokianga is Waimamaku, the head-quarters of their energetic young pastor, Rev. Wiki te Paa. The people have shown considerable life since his appointment last year. They had, a year or two before, built a nice church, and now there is a comfortable wooden parsonage built at a cost of about 200*l*. Drinking is unknown at this place, and consequently the people are in every respect in a healthy condition. A Government school is about to be erected on land given by the Natives for the purpose. This district extends southwards to Kaipara, and includes several large villages, such as Kaihu, and Parairawewha, and some smaller places, all of which are regularly visited.

Waimate district, including Okaihau, Touwai, Matauri, Ngaere, Pupuke, Taakou, Keri Keri, varying from eight to thirty-five miles from the centre, is under the immediate charge of the Rev. Hare Peka Taua. He lives at Waimate, and is one of the most active of our Maori clergy. Of all of these places I can report favourably. It is not possible to visit them more than once in two months. During the Kauri gum-digging season, or for nine months in the year, the people are not at their homes. It is the greatest drawback to our work, for they are scattered in twos and threes all over the country, so that it is impossible to get at them. They do, however, return to their homes for the Sundays on which the clergyman is expected. This remark respecting the gum-diggings applies to the Natives of the whole of the northern district. Another occupation which calls many from home is the coast whale-fishery. For several months in the year, most of the able-bodied men are away in the neighbourhood of the prominent headlands looking out for their prey.

Paihia, now under my special charge, comprises Kororareka, Rawhiti, Whangaruru, Waikare, Kawa Kawa, and Oromahoe. Of these, Waikare and Whangaruru have not been visited as often as I could wish, but I think I can see signs of life. A stranger on visiting them would not fail to be pleased with their orderly conduct at the services; but to one that knows them intimately, and has an insight into their inner life, there is much to depress.

Oruru is the centre of the Rev. R. W. Tangata's district. The principal villages belonging to it are Peria, Mangamuka, Kenana, Weketoria, Para Para, Taipa, and Rangiahia. As a whole, perhaps, this is the most encouraging station in the whole district. I was lately present at the opening of a new church.

Ahipara is the district occupied by the Rev. R. Kamiti. There are five or six villages connected with it.

The northernmost district is Parengarenga, under the charge of the Rev. R. Paerata. It is at the extreme end of the island, and comprises a comparatively small community. Besides the principal places there are four small settlements and but few Europeans. They are a simple-hearted people, and have so far escaped some of the ill-effects of close contact with the white settlers. Strange to say, the principal settler is a gentleman of the Jewish persuasion. He is respected by all, and materially helped them in building their church, which is one of the best of its size north of Auckland. These Natives, as a rule, exhibit the grace of liberality to a larger extent than any I know.

You will judge from this imperfect description, the condition of the Native Church in this part of the island. Of nominal Christianity there is no lack; nor of the outward observance of religion, such as attending services, keeping the Lord's Day, family prayers, &c. May the Holy Spirit also work in them, causing them to produce those fruits without which their profession is in vain!

Of the late Rev. Piripi [Philip] King Patiki, the Archdeacon writes: "He was looked up to by all his Native brethren as a father, and many of us can never forget his loving admonitions. He was a simple, earnest believer, and, both by example and precept, sought to let his light shine before men." The Auckland Church Gazette contained the following interesting notice of him:— The late Rev. P. K. Patiki.

Piripi Kingi Patiki, the senior Maori clergyman of the diocese, entered into rest on October 4th, after a few weeks' illness. He died at Waiparera, Hokianga, at the age of about seventy. He was one of eighty who were baptized at Kaitaia, by the late Bishop Williams, on January 20th, 1839, and he took the name of Philip King, after the eldest son of our pioneer catechist. In 1856, he was invited to St. Stephen's, Auckland, to prepare for the ministry; his companion being the late Matiu Taupaki. He was ordained deacon by the late Bishop Selwyn, in 1861. Few can estimate the amount of hard work involved in the care of his extensive district, but many can testify to the indefatigable zeal with which he laboured.

For some years previous to 1878 he had complained of weakness of the eyes, which then resulted in almost total blindness. His son in the ministry, the Rev. Wiki te Paa, of Waimamaku, writes:— "Though his outward eyes ceased to see, the eyes of his mind were very clear, enabling him to do the work of the ministry with singular effect. He always said the prayers from memory, and preached; while a lay assistant, sometimes his wife, read the psalms and lessons. Now, if he had been a faint-hearted man he would have made his blindness an excuse for idleness."

Wiki goes on: "I was sent for on September 27th. I wished him to let me telegraph to the Archdeacon to say that his end was near. He answered, 'Why should you? It is the Lord's work. He planted the seed, made the seed to grow, and then to bear fruit, and now that the fruit is ripe let Him gather it in His own way. Do not interrupt the elders in their work. And you, my son, God has planted you here; grow, work; bear much fruit, and when you are ripe He will gather you too. When I am gone you can write to the elders and let them know."

As a preacher, our old friend was unequalled among the Maori clergy. There was an originality and raciness, and an aptness of illustration, which never failed to rivet attention and furnish food for thought. The influence of his example was felt by the whole of Ngapuhi, so that in losing him we are deprived of perhaps the most effective Maori clergyman in the diocese.

The two veterans in the northern diocese, the Revs. Joseph Matthews and B. Y. Ashwell, though now "well stricken in years," and with little physical strength left, have done what they could for the Maoris within reach of their influence. Mr. Ashwell, who resides at Auckland, refers to himself and his work in touching terms:—

I am enabled to visit in my buggy, if the weather is fine, the following places, viz., the gaol, hospital, refuge, lunatic asylum, and St. Stephen's school. Twice a week I have services with the Maories, either at the Orakei villages or some of the institutions above named.

An aged invalid missionary still at work.

The roads are good, and little exertion in travelling. My buggy is a great blessing to me, for I can neither ride nor walk, my breathing is so difficult; going out is often beneficial to me. My missionary work, under God, keeps me alive. Sometimes depression of spirits is very great; God only knows what I suffer; my nervous system is so weakened and broken, by nearly fifty years of missionary work (dear, glorious, happy work!); but it has told on the system, and now I long for rest—that rest which awaits God's dear children. My idea of the highest bless of heaven is immediately after death to fly to the Saviour, clasp His dear feet, and make heaven ring with the shout of "Free from sin at last: the work of my dear Master."

I have made several hundred visits to Natives and Europeans in Auckland and its neighbourhood. I am thankful that through my knowledge of the Native language I can minister to both races.

I have paid several visits to Waikato, and things appear to be in statu quo, excepting that there is a better feeling upon the whole of the Kingites towards the Europeans, and there is a disposition on the part of the others, i.e. the friendly nations, to attend our services. On my last visit I was received with a hearty welcome, and several of my old congregation brought their children for baptism.

The Rev. R. Burrows continues his important services as Secretary of the Mission, including a great deal of work in the administration of the Society's lands. He resides at Auckland.

II. Eastern Division: Waiapu.

1. Tauranga, 1835; 2. Rotorua and Maketu, 1835; 3. Turanga, or Gisborne (now including Wairoa), 1840; 4. Waiapu (East Cape), 1842; 5. Napier (Te Aute or Mohaka), 1844.

Maori divinity students ordained.

In the Diocese of Waiapu, also, there is no change in the European staff. The Native clergy have increased by two, the Revs. Manahi Te Aro and Nirai Runga having been admitted to deacon's orders by Bishop Stuart in October, 1881. The Bishop writes: "They have had special instruction in Archdeacon W. L. Williams's Theological Class. They have acted efficiently for some time as lay readers, and are much respected. Their ordination is a most interesting and important development of the Rev. Samuel Williams's laborious work in his district [south of Napier]. At the meeting held the same afternoon to discuss the prospects of the work, a sum of 600*l.* was handed over by the Natives towards an endowment for the men newly ordained."

The Committee regret to have received only two Annual Letters from the Waiapu Diocese, viz., from the Rev. G. Maunsell and Archdeacon W. L. Williams. Mr. Maunsell is now at Opotiki, on the coast of the Bay of Plenty. He writes:—

Until we get a staff of Maori clergy for these districts we cannot hope to make a very great impression on the people. At present one man has to attempt what in old days was thought enough for three or four with a well-organized corps of Native teachers. But as it is they cry out at being so seldom visited, or, as they say, the ashes are cold before the fire is re-lighted. Some places can only be got at twice or thrice in the year, and none more than six or seven times. Considering that there are between forty and fifty settlements of various sizes, and at distances varying from three to thirty miles apart, and that to go once round involves travelling to the amount of over 500 miles on horseback and on foot, and that to reach the people each settlement has to be visited, for they will not come to us, it will be seen that a missionary's post there is no sinecure, but requires considerable physical power and endurance, as well as bushcraft in finding intricate and obscure paths.

All people in this part are infected with Kootiism, but readily listen to the missionary when visiting them. Bibles and Prayer-books are sought for, and in many instances considerable knowledge of the Scriptures is manifested.

The Tauranga, Opotoki, and Rotorua districts, were visited by Bishop Stuart in May last year.* He was well received by the Maoris at many villages. He baptized one aged chief on his death-bed :—

Baptism of an aged Maori chief.

One of the principal chiefs of Rotorua, a very aged man, has just died. His name is Taiapu Tewaiatua, a celebrated warrior and tohunga (priest). He had never been baptized; but on Friday night, at his own desire, I baptized him in the great carved house here, in the presence of all the leading men of the tribe. It was an impressive service; the aged chief intimating by significant gestures his meek acceptance of the sacred rite, and his thankfulness. I saw him several times afterwards, and held service in his presence. On Monday, shortly after he had at the conclusion of the early morning prayers held out to me his feeble and emaciated hand, he gently passed away. On my return in the evening I found he had been already buried! It seems he was regarded with feelings almost of awe and dread, the old Maori superstitions investing him with somewhat of a supernatural character, as a great tohunga in the olden time, and a lineal descendant of Hinemoa, the great ancestress of their tribe; and so they hurried the burial, from some idea that spirits from the other world were hovering around the body, and that, therefore, it must be at once removed to a wahi tapu or inviolable place. Of course these superstitious notions were not shared by all, but the relatives who had the management of the obsequies gave in to the feelings of some of the old people. A large concourse of Maoris is assembling from all the surrounding district to mourn for the old chief.

Archdeacon Williams sends a brief but fairly encouraging account of the Maoris on the East Coast :—

As regards the habits of the people generally, the improvement which I have spoken of in previous Annual Letters seems to be still progressing. At the time of the meeting of the Native Church Order and sobriety of Maori Christian villages.

Board there had been a general election, which gave us the opportunity of observing that gatherings of the people which a few years ago would have been the occasion for much boisterous revelry, are now marked by perfect decency and order. Several public houses in Native districts have been closed simply because they do not pay, and collections of money are being made, where they are required, for the erection of churches. It would be unreasonable to look upon mere outward improvement in social habits and religious observances as indicating a corresponding spiritual growth, but we may nevertheless fairly conclude that such improvement is due, in some measure at least, to a wider extension and increased vigour of spiritual life among the people, and we may be grateful accordingly to our Divine Master for the encouragement thus afforded to put forth more energy in the prosecution of our work in humble reliance on His blessing.

III. Western Division: Wellington.

First occupied by Bishop Hadfield in 1839. 1. Wanganui, 1840; 2. Otaki, 1842; 3. Wairarapa, re-occupied, 1877.

THE Rev. T. S. Grace, who joined the Society's Mission in the Diocese of Wellington last year, has come to England on a visit; but before leaving New Zealand, he sent an interesting first report of the Wanganui district, of which he had taken charge. Some paragraphs are subjoined:—

To the sphere of labour of my predecessors the South Taupo district has been added, and from it, by an arrangement made by the Bishop of the diocese, Rangitikei taken off. My itinerating lies in three directions, viz., northwards, by a good road along the sea-board to Cape Egmont, 120 miles; to Taupo, by rough bridle-tracks, 150 miles; up the Whanganui River to its source by canoe, about 200 miles. South Taranaki, South Taupo, and Whanganui proper are convenient designations for these sub-divisions of the district. I have accomplished a complete circuit of them, having made one journey along the coast in March, one to Taupo in April, and three journeys up the river during March, May, and July.

Followers of Te Whiti.

The South Taranaki Maoris are staunch believers in Te Whiti, the fanatical Maori prophet. They are haughty, and, in matters touching upon religious questions, boldly self-opinionated—thoroughly satisfied with their prophet's interpretation of Scripture, they ignore any explanation or comment that differs from his.

Hauhau worship.

In Taupo, the Maoris are Hauhaus on the south and south-west, and Christian along the eastern shore of the lake. The Hauhaus here spoken of receive a missionary with civility, but show no signs yet of being influenced by him. They appear thoroughly apathetic over their own karakia, and wearied of invoking their king and deity, Tawhiao; in place of the choruses of praise raised to him a year or two ago by men, women, and children engaged together in acts of adoration to the Maori king, there is heard now but the low murmur of some solitary worshipper, usually an old man or woman, wrestling in prayer with him who, Baal-like, "either is talking or pursuing, or is on a journey, or peradventure sleepeth," and therefore hears not.

Among the Christian Maoris of East Taupo, a lay reader itinerates, holding Church of England services at the various villages in regular rotation, and morning and evening prayers at his own settlement, during the week.

The Natives on the Whanganui River may be arranged under three divisions, viz., Te Whiti's adherents, Kingite Hauhaus, and Christian Maoris. The first-named have their settlements on the seaward Whanganui, the Hauhaus are at the head of the river, and the Christian tribes occupy central Whanganui. Of the whole course (200 miles) of the river, eighty miles is as much as I have been able to traverse hitherto. Beyond this distance begins the territory of the murderers of the late unfortunate Mr. Moffat, and my Native crew have refused to take me amongst these tribes. I have, however, been in letter communication with them, and as a solitary and perhaps somewhat questionable indication of their goodwill, there was sent me only the other day by one of their chiefs a copy of Milton's Paradise Lost and Regained, with the message, "An heir-loom of your father; take it. I have kept it safely for many years." The book is one of the many that were removed from my father's library at Pukawa, when the Mission station was ransacked in 1865 by Kereopa, the Paimarire fanatic, and murderer of Mr. Völkner.

The Rev. J. McWilliam continues to labour at Otaki, but has been discouraged by the influence of Te Whiti among the people.

One of the four Native clergy in this diocese, the Rev. Rawiri Te Wanui, has been taken to his rest.

The Committee earnestly trust that, although New Zealand now occupies but a small place in the Society's reports, and although the interest excited in former years by the wonderful works of God of which its missionary records told has been drawn away to newer fields, the Maori Church may still be remembered by many in their prayers. It needs, like all Churches, the felt presence and manifested power of the Holy Ghost. It has been brought safely, though not without loss, through fiery trials. "Return, we beseech Thee, O God of Hosts: look down from heaven, and behold, and visit this vine; and the vineyard which Thy right hand hath planted, and the branch that Thou madest strong for Thyself!"

NORTH-WEST AMERICA MISSION.

Reduction and extension in N.W. America.

ALTHOUGH the Bishops of Rupert's Land and Moosonee are doing their best to relieve the funds of the charges incurred in ministering to the thousands of Christian Indians in their dioceses, and although the Committee have adopted plans for limiting future expenditure for that purpose, yet extension, rather than reduction, has hitherto characterized the Society's Missions in the Great North-West of British America. The Extension Fund has this year been charged with the maintenance of three additional missionaries: one for the Blackfoot Indians of the Western plains, under the Bishop of Saskatchewan; one for the Eskimos around Fort Churchill, on the north-western side of Hudson's Bay, under the Bishop of Moosonee; and one for the Eskimos of the Mackenzie River and the shores of the Arctic Sea, under the Bishop of Athabasca.

Illustrations of spiritual results of work among Red Indians.

The Committee enter thus on fresh work among the scanty population of North-West America in the full confidence that by so doing they will, by God's help, save precious souls. The remarkable results already achieved afford abundant evidence of the readiness of the most ignorant and degraded of them to receive the Gospel. Mr. Peck says of the Eskimos:—"Many can now read in their own tongue the Word of God, and have a clear and intelligent knowledge of Christianity. As regards their spiritual life, I delight to say there are cases of the Holy Ghost's influence. It is true these are a little flock; it is true they are weak and erring; but our Great Master had but a little band, and He loved them with all their faults." At Asisippi, a station founded by Mr. Hines only seven years ago, a Cree chief, who, with fifty-seven others, was confirmed by the Bishop of Saskatchewan last May, acknowledges to having once been a cannibal, as well as a medicine-man. He is now one of the churchwardens of the place, and a devout Christian. "The change," he said to the Bishop, "must have come from God—it could not have come from myself. God showed me that I was in the power of the Evil One, and that I could only escape by coming to Jesus." A convert at another station, an old woman, describing her first reception of the Gospel, expressed it thus, "I took the Word when I heard it." Of the Indian Christians at Severn, an isolated post rarely visited, comes this account—"Morning and evening they assembled in the house of prayer. All the mothers came with their crying babies. They were most earnest in worship, and very attentive to the Word. Scarcely any possessed a Prayer-book, but they responded beautifully from memory. The congregation grew, till at last the church was quite full." At Battleford, many of the Crees "have accepted the offer of mercy with transports of joy, and are seeking to live consistent lives to the praise and glory of their great Deliverer." This station was visited by the Marquis of Lorne in the course of his recent journey to the Far West of the Canadian Dominion, as will appear presently.

Joyful reception of the Gospel.

The Committee cannot review the work in North-West America without recalling the important services of one who has this year passed from a useful sphere in this country to his heavenly rest, Archdeacon James Hunter. The Missions there owe much to him and Mrs. Hunter, especially for their Scripture and Prayer-book translations into the Cree language. In particular it should be remembered that the extensive and admirably organized work now carried on in the immense Diocese of Athabasca, which has already attached 3000 Indians to the Church of England, dates from Mr. Hunter's memorable "journey due north," only twenty-four years ago.

The late Archdeacon Hunter.

Southern Division: Rupert's Land.

1. Province of Manitoba, 1823; 2. Fort Alexander district, 1864. 3. Fairford or Swan River district, 1842; 4. Cumberland district, 1840.

MATERIAL prosperity and development advance with rapid strides in the central portion of the Diocese of Rupert's Land, the Province of MANITOBA. The effects of this upon the Indian and half-breed population so long under the Society's care, but now being gradually taken over by the Colonial Church, are of a mixed character, as might be expected. It is a matter for true thankfulness that the Church possesses at this time so energetic a chief pastor as Bishop Machray.

In Manitoba itself there are now but two European missionaries of the Society, Archdeacon Cowley and the Rev. R. Young. Mr. Young's parish, St. Andrew's, Red River, is now only counted as a C.M.S. station in virtue of his personal connexion with the Society. His Annual Letter, which is to all intents and purposes a parochial report, is a very satisfactory one; and the Committee rejoice to see a place that was once the ultima Thule of the Missions now affording no material for a missionary report. Archdeacon Cowley, in addition to his general superintendence of the C.M.S. Missions in the diocese, and his work as Joint Secretary (with Mr. Young), gives a special fatherly oversight to St. Peter's Indian Settlement. This charge has been a trying one during the year. The Rev. H. Cochrane, who had formerly been the Native pastor, but had been suspended by the Bishop for misconduct at Devon, where he had afterwards served, returned to St. Peter's, and being personally popular with the people, was unhappily successful in effecting a schism in the congregation; and in the midst of the trials that ensued, Rome, true to her traditions, stepped in to fan the flame. Nevertheless, by God's mercy, the majority of the Indians clung to their Church; the new Native pastor, the Rev. B. McKenzie, "has entered," says the Archdeacon, "upon his duties in a nice spirit, and is discharging them, I trust, faithfully as to the Lord;" and on Feb. 26th of the present year the largest confirmation ever held in the diocese took place at St. Peter's, 135 candidates being presented to the Bishop.

Last year there were three European missionaries. The third, the Rev. Henry George, was taken to his rest on Aug. 7th. He had laboured for twenty-seven years, the last sixteen of them at Portage La Prairie, of which old and familiar station he took charge, in 1865, on the death of his father-in-law, the late venerated Archdeacon Cockran.

In the western portion of the diocese, beyond the limits of Manitoba, are the CUMBERLAND and SWAN RIVER districts. At Fairford, the Rev. G. Bruce (Native) is in the centre of an extensive country, over which he travels to visit the scattered Indian families. His chief trouble is the antagonism of four Roman Catholic priests, who do their utmost to draw away the simple people. Simple, that is, in Christian knowledge and faith; not that they lack shrewdness. One priest waylaid them on their way to church, and asked them to come to mass, "as there was very little difference between the two religions." "Well, if it is so," replied a woman, "you may as well come with us." After service he met them again, and challenged them to tell him what the Protestant minister's text had been. "Yes," was the reply, "Ephesians v. 6, 'Let no man deceive you with vain words.'"

Romish attempt to draw away Indians.

At Touchwood Hills, the Rev. G. Cook (country-born) is now stationed; at Cumberland and Moose Lake there are catechists; and at Devon, the Rev. J. Reader is labouring, whose journals show patient and prayerful effort for the souls committed to his charge.

At Oak River, in the south-western portion of the diocese, there is a Mission to the Sioux Indians, worked by the Rev. W. A. Burman, under the Bishop. Mr. Burman is not a C.M.S. agent, but a grant of 100*l.* a year is made by the Society to the Bishop in aid of the expenses.

To the east of Manitoba are the FORT ALEXANDER and RAINY LAKE districts, the latter stretching to the borders of Canada. Archdeacon Cowley sends good accounts of the work at Islington, under the Rev. Baptiste Spence (Native), and at Lac Seul, a new station, where the Rev. James Irvine, a (country-born) clergyman, ordained last year, is now located. The Rev. R. Phair continues his patient labours at Fort Francis, where the reaping-time seems near, two chiefs having asked for baptism. It should be the earnest prayer of the Society's friends that the Spirit may be poured out upon the Indians of this district before the now rising tide of emigration reaches them.

Eastern Division: Moosonee.

Moose Factory, 1851; York, 1854; Albany, 1855; Little Whale River, 1877.

THE six districts into which the Diocese of Moosonee is divided are the same as were described in detail last year; and the missionaries and Native clergy labouring in 1881 were the same as in 1880. Since the beginning of the present year, the Rev. J. H. Keen has returned to England, and the Committee are now sending out a missionary brother to take his place at Moose, and another to be stationed at Churchill, with a view to the Eskimos of the western side of Hudson's Bay. Before this Report is published, Bishop Horden himself will also be on his way back. His sojourn in this country has not only been of great service to the Society, but has been fruitful in the promotion of the interests of his diocese generally. He has raised a considerable sum for a Diocesan Fund, which will gradually relieve the Society's General Fund of some of the charges now borne by it; while the General Fund itself has profited by the liberality stimulated by his always acceptable sermons and addresses.

Bishop Horden in England.

Concerning the MOOSE, MATAWAKUMMA, and RUPERT'S RIVER districts, no accounts have reached the Committee this year. The report of ALBANY district sent by the excellent (country-born) minister in charge, the Rev. T. Vincent, is satisfactory, but contains nothing of special interest. In addition to the regular services, &c., throughout the year, special daily services and prayer-meetings are held during the summer months, when the Indians from a distance are at Albany. Of the prayer-meetings Mr. Vincent writes, "Our leading men are asked to take part, and I believe the practice to be good. It is cheering to hear the simple and earnest way in which they pray."

Indian prayer-meetings.

The Rev. G. S. Winter's report from YORK gives the same encouraging account of the Christian Indians in that district as has come now for some years past. "They manifest the same diligence in attending their 'praying house.' None will remain away unless absolutely compelled." "I have often been surprised," continues Mr. Winter, "to see so many in church when the thermometer registered 60 and 70 degrees of frost, and again when the rain has been coming down in torrents." He has had the great privilege of successfuly pointing a dying Indian to Christ. It is not often that the Indians die at the Fort: more frequently while away for months together in the woods. This man was one of the Samatawa Indians baptized five years ago, and a son of the chief. He was not happy when first confined to his hut; but in answer to Mr. Winter's earnest prayers, God gave him perfect peace before he was called away.

Indians at church.

Mr Winter's pleasant notice of the Indians at Severn has been already quoted in the introductory paragraphs.

In the EAST MAIN district, the Rev E. J. Peck has been telling the "old, old story of Jesus and His love" as earnestly and affectionately as ever to the Indians at Fort George, Great Whale River, and Little Whale River, and to the Eskimos who resort to the two latter posts. The account of his Eskimo work must be given in his own words:—

Eskimo Mission:

> During the last winter the work amongst my people has been carried on under some disadvantages. The Hudson's Bay Company wished to abandon Littie Whale River, making Great Whale River the trading-post instead. Many of the people would not agree to this change, but others repaired to Great Whale River as desired. This movement of course scattered the people, and gave me some difficulty in doing much for them. My plan was to travel from one post to the other, and see as many of the people as possible, leaving at each post an assistant who could teach the people during my absence.
> There were no baptisms amongst the Eskimos. The people being scattered, and not having in many cases opportunities of instructing them, I thought it wise for them to wait. Among some of the Christian Eskimos there were some matters which caused me anxiety. In the time of sickness and need, some, I am afraid, looked more to their superstitious practices for aid than to Jesus, the Prince of life. This point also made me careful with inquirers, and I determined to give them at least another year's trial. What I think one needs in dealing with the heathen is a broad, sympathizing, loving heart. They have much to contend against. They fight a battle against heathen practices which have been handed down from generation to generation. The fight is hard; the odds are sadly against them. It is true God's grace can and does do wonders. It is none the less true that Satan's chains are not easily broken. He will not surrender without a struggle. Two of the Eskimos have died trusting in the Saviour.

A hard fight with old ways.

As regards the intellectual and moral advance of the people, I can without hesitation say that there is a change. Nearly one hundred can now read in their own tongue the Word of God, and many have a clear and intelligent knowledge of Christianity. As regards the habits of the people, I am glad to say there is some improvement, although not nearly so much as one would wish. The Eskimos are a very dirty race. Some of them differ but little from the animals upon which they live. To see an Eskimo in his wild and uncivilized state, is truly disgusting; their skin being literally coated with dirt, while their hair is generally one hardened, clotted mass. Several of the Eskimos who come to Little Whale River present a different appearance, and some of them quite enjoy a wash. As soon as I can get wood from the south I shall (D.V.) build a bath-house; I shall then ask them to supply washing utensils, &c., and with these means I hope to create amongst them at least a little love for soap and water.

Improved habits of many.

In reference to literary work, I have tried to do what I could. Besides the study of Eskimo and Indian languages, I have been able to compose a dictionary in the Little Whale River dialect of over ten thousand words. In composing this I have been greatly helped by a work compiled by the Moravian brethren; many of the words in this being well understood at Little Whale River.

Eskimo dictionary.

What joyful news it would be to hear of the poor Eskimos in other parts hearing of the Saviour's love! When shall we hear of an Arctic Expedition whose object is to pierce the frozen north, not for the mere object of adventure, &c., but to bring light and life to the dark and much-neglected Eskimos?

Western Division: Saskatchewan.

Stanley, 1850; Asisippi, 1875; Battleford (Carlton), 1876; Prince Albert's Settlement, 1879; Fort McLeod, 1880.

THE Diocese of Saskatchewan is in more than one respect the most important of the fields occupied by the Society in North-West America. Its Indians are more numerous than those of Rupert's Land, Moosonee, and Athabasca together; and the great bulk of them are still unevangelized. Its vast territories, too, have a great future before them, as civilization advances westward. The Rev. Canon J. A. Mackay, the Society's Secretary for the Missions in the diocese, writes:—

A great field of labour in the Saskatchewan territories.

Great changes are before us in this country. Our days of isolation are rapidly drawing to a close. The Canada Pacific Railway is being rapidly pushed westward, and a very few years will witness an immense emigration pouring into this country. I have no doubt there will be a wonderful change in the course of a few years, but while the white man enters upon the earthly heritage of his red brother, surely the poor Indian ought not to be allowed to pass away without the light of the Gospel of Christ, to guide his feet to a fairer heritage above.

In this great field the Society has now seven ordained missionaries, three European, two country-born, and two Indians. Six of these and their districts are as last year. The seventh, a Native Cree, is the Rev David Stranger, whose ordination on May 7th is reported while these sheets are passing through the press. Another English clergyman, a son of the Society's much respected former missionary, the Rev. R. Hunt, has been appointed to the Saskatchewan Mission, to go out in the ensuing autumn.

The Rev. Canon Mackay, at PRINCE ALBERT'S SETTLEMENT (the Bishop's head-quarters), has charge of a congregation of Christian Indians, many of them settlers from Manitoba; and he is Cree tutor at Emmanuel College, the Divinity School for this diocese. Mr Stranger, the newly ordained Native clergyman, was one of his students. At this station also resides the venerable Native clergyman, the Rev. J. Settee, who visits Nepowewin, Sturgeon Lake, and other out-stations and Indian reserves.

From BATTLEFORD, the Rev. T. A. Clarke writes in a thankful and hopeful spirit. There have been visible fruits of the work in the past year, especially, as in 1880-81, at Mikisiwuchee Reserve:—

Converts from the Plain Crees.

The Mikisiwuchee Reserve, as in preceding years, has been the most fruitful in spiritual things. There were twenty-three baptisms through the year, eleven of which were adults, men and women who four years ago knew nothing of the boundless love of God in sending His dear and well-beloved Son into the world to die for their sins. These Indians, as well as all in this neighbourhood, were born and brought up on the Great Plains. They lived in ignorance and superstition, and practised idolatry, sometimes undergoing the most horrible tortures to appease the supposed wrath of their offended deities. What a great change has taken place within the last few years among these poor degraded Natives! They are being settled on reserves, building themselves warm and comfortable houses, cultivating the soil, and endeavouring to obtain a livelihood by the sweat of their brows. Some have already accepted the offer of mercy with a transport of joy, and are seeking to live consistent lives to the praise and glory of their great Deliverer.

Six reserves have been located and surveyed in this district. Three of these are occupied by our beloved Society, one by the Church of Rome, and the other two are at present unoccupied. It is our earnest desire to open schools on the latter two as soon as possible, as it would give us a claim to minister to the Indians.

Marquis of Lorne at a C.M.S. station.

His Excellency the Marquis of Lorne, Governor-General of Canada, during his recent visit to Battleford, had an excellent opportunity of seeing the children, and of judging for himself some of the good the Society has accomplished among these dear lambs of the wilderness. At an early hour on the morning of his arrival, I collected the children together in the school-house. As soon as his Excellency had landed, about a mile from the school, I marched them, about sixty in number, to a magnificent arch, which had been erected in honour of the visit. There we remained in perfect silence, until the vice-regal party approached us, when the children sang, harmoniously and heartily, "God save the Queen." His Excellency stopped his carriage, and his Hon. Lieutenant-Governor Laird introduced me to the Marquis. He expressed himself much pleased with the manner in which the children had acquitted themselves. Afterwards I had the pleasure of dining at Government House with his Excellency, and in the course of the evening I had a conversation with him, the principal topic of which was the Church Missionary Society's work among the Indians. His Excellency made many inquiries respecting the Mission, and was interested in its results. He congratulated me most heartily on the progress made, and wished me every success in the glorious work.

Bishop of Saskatchewan at Asisippi.

ASISIPPI, the station at which the Rev. John Hines has so faithfully laboured during the past seven years, was visited in May last year by the Bishop of Saskatchewan, who found no less than fifty-eight well-prepared Indian candidates for confirmation, to all of whom the rite was administered. There was not a single Christian in that extensive district when Mr. Hines went out. The Bishop's journal of his visit is most cheering.* A few sentences may be extracted from his account of a meeting he had for conference with the chiefs and heads of families:—

Touching speeches of Christian Indians.

I invited any of the Indians present to narrate their experiences and give their views. The first who stood up was a councillor from Snake Plain. He said, "I am much rejoiced at the prospect of the Mission being continued at the Snake Plain. I love the Church of England, her services, her teaching, her Prayer Book. I never miss an opportunity of attending the church at Asisippi for Holy Communion, though I travel twenty-five miles to do so."

The next speaker was Utukwukoop, or "Star Blanket," the chief of the Asisippi Indians. He is a fine, intelligent-looking old man, and has used his influence among the Indians in forwarding the work of the Mission. He said, "I am glad to see you. My heart has been full of thankfulness these two days. I was once a poor heathen—ignorant of God. I heard the truth of the Gospel through Mr. Hines. For a time I was unsettled, but now I believe in the Saviour, and never have any desire to return to my old ways. In old times I have camped on the very spot where the church is now standing. I was then engaged in hunting or making war. I thank God for what I see to-day. The Indians of my band have the same thankful feelings as myself. With God's help I will give all the aid I can to the Mission as long as I have strength to sit up."

Star Blanket was followed by his brother, Jacob Susukwumos, a councillor. He said, "I too, am thankful for what I see to-day. I almost cried yesterday when I saw the Bishop and two clergymen in our church. I have been not only a heathen, but a conjuror or medicine-man. I knew every heathen superstition: I paid to be taught all the mysteries. God has seen fit to change my mind, and I am now a Christian. The change must have come from God—it could not have come from myself. God showed me that I was in the power of the Evil One, and that I could only escape by coming to Jesus. Both I and the others here were brought to the Saviour by God's blessing on the teaching of Mr. Hines. I heard in church yesterday, that heathen superstitions are crumbling away, and that Christianity is growing and spreading. I believe that this is true. I am thankful to see the church completed and the Mission growing so strong. I remember that in my heathen days I once encamped with my wife and child on the very spot where the church is now built. It was evening, and I was sitting just where the church door now is. I felt very lonely—just like a beast, for I knew not God. I little thought then, though no doubt God had ordained it, that in the very place where I sat, the church would be built, and that my wife would be the first buried there. She was then, like myself, a poor heathen, but before she died she was brought to Jesus, and was a baptized member of His Church. Her favourite hymn during her last illness was—

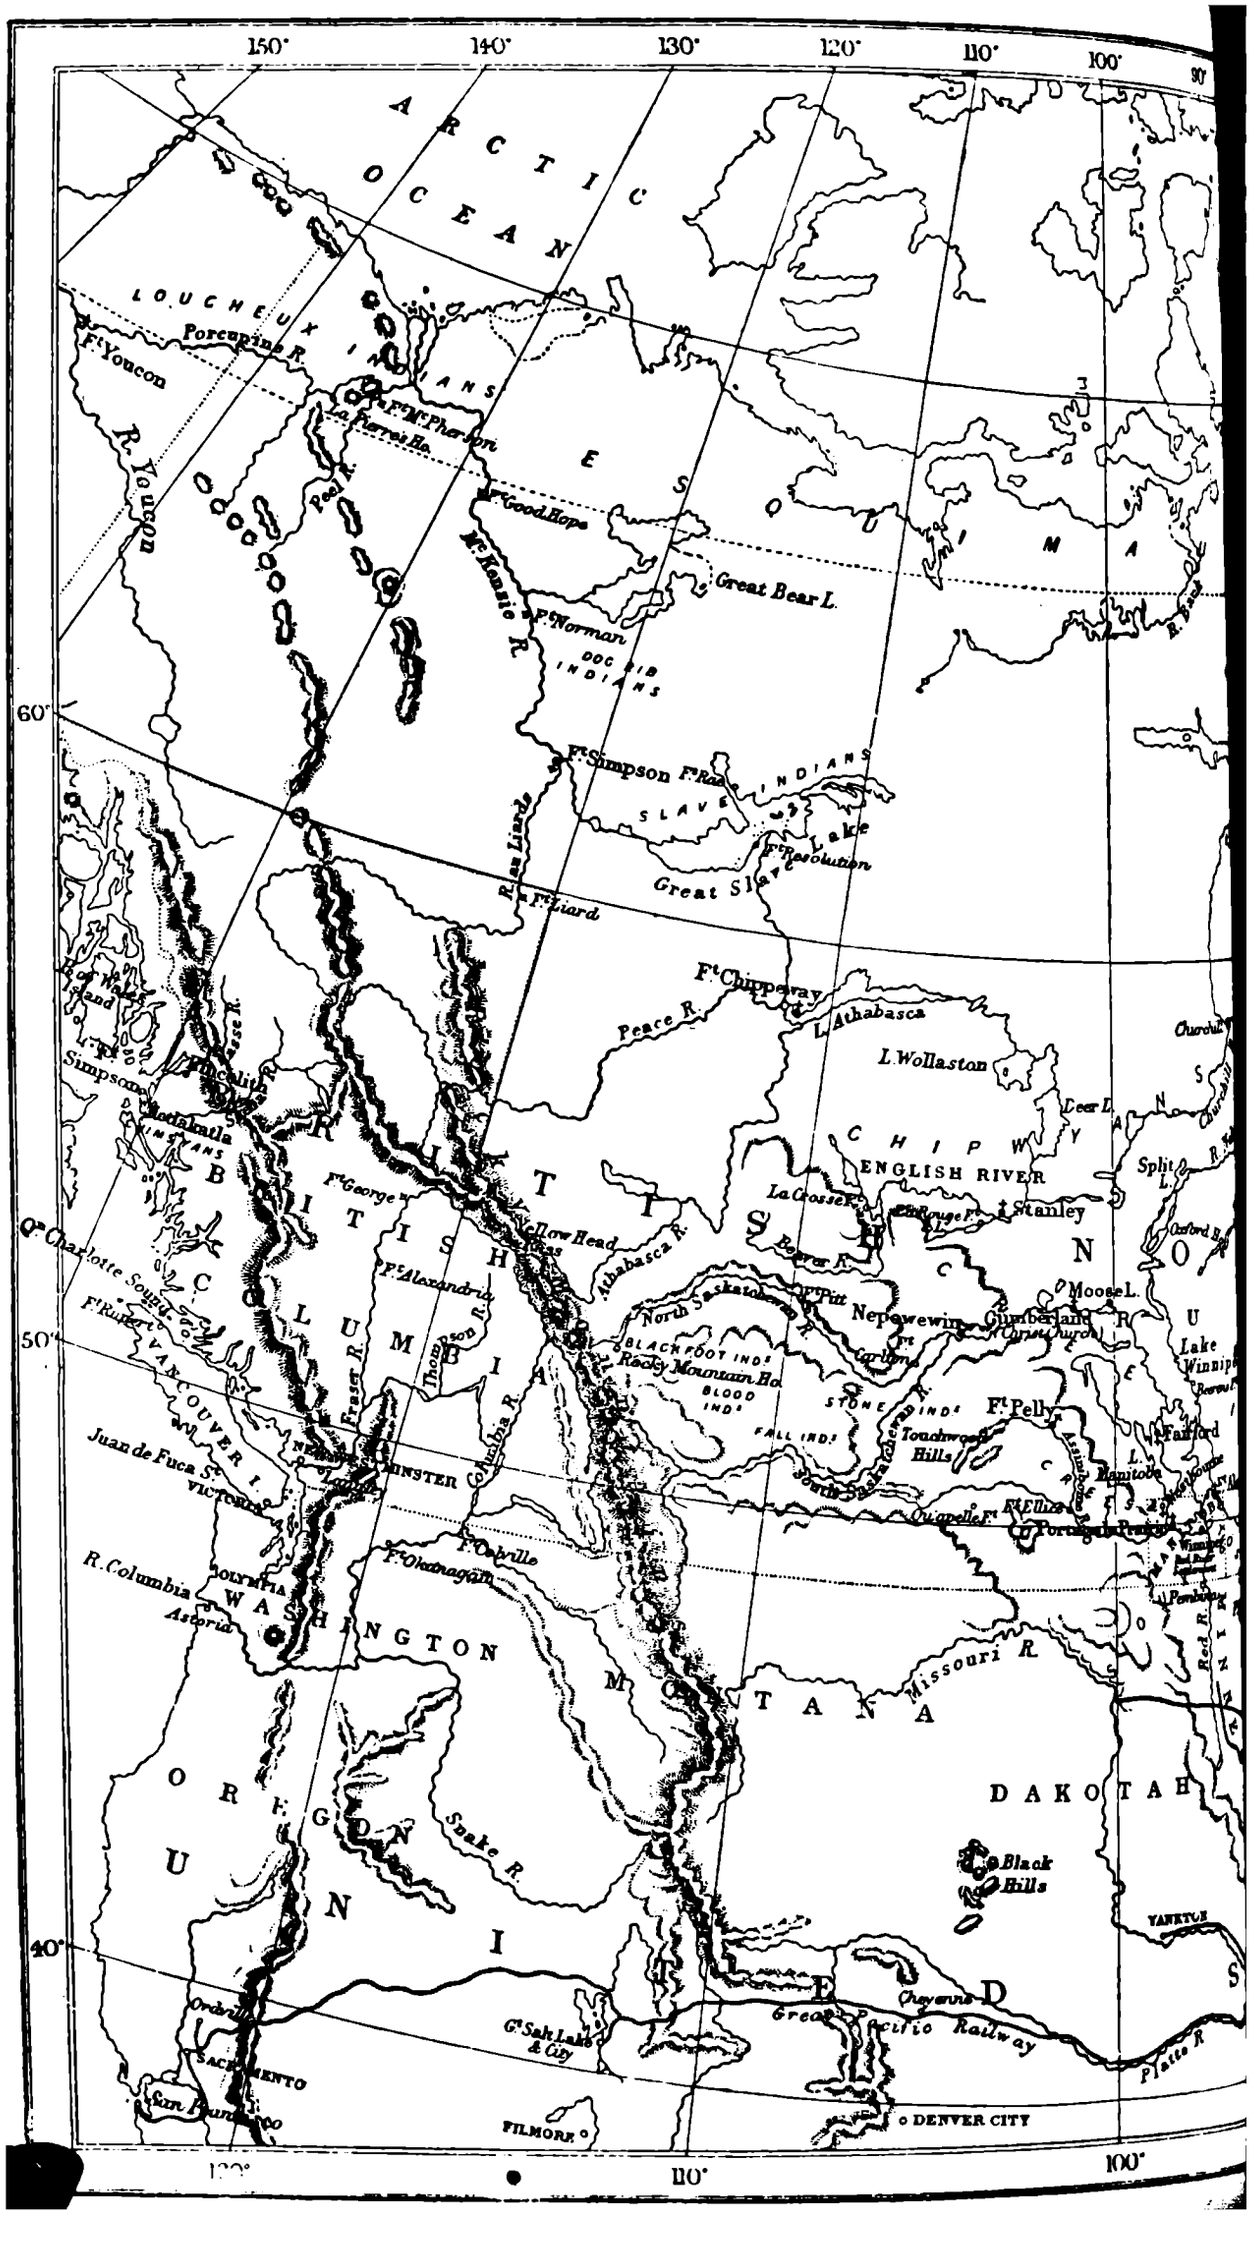

> '"Alas! and did my Saviour bleed,
> And did my Sovereign die?'"

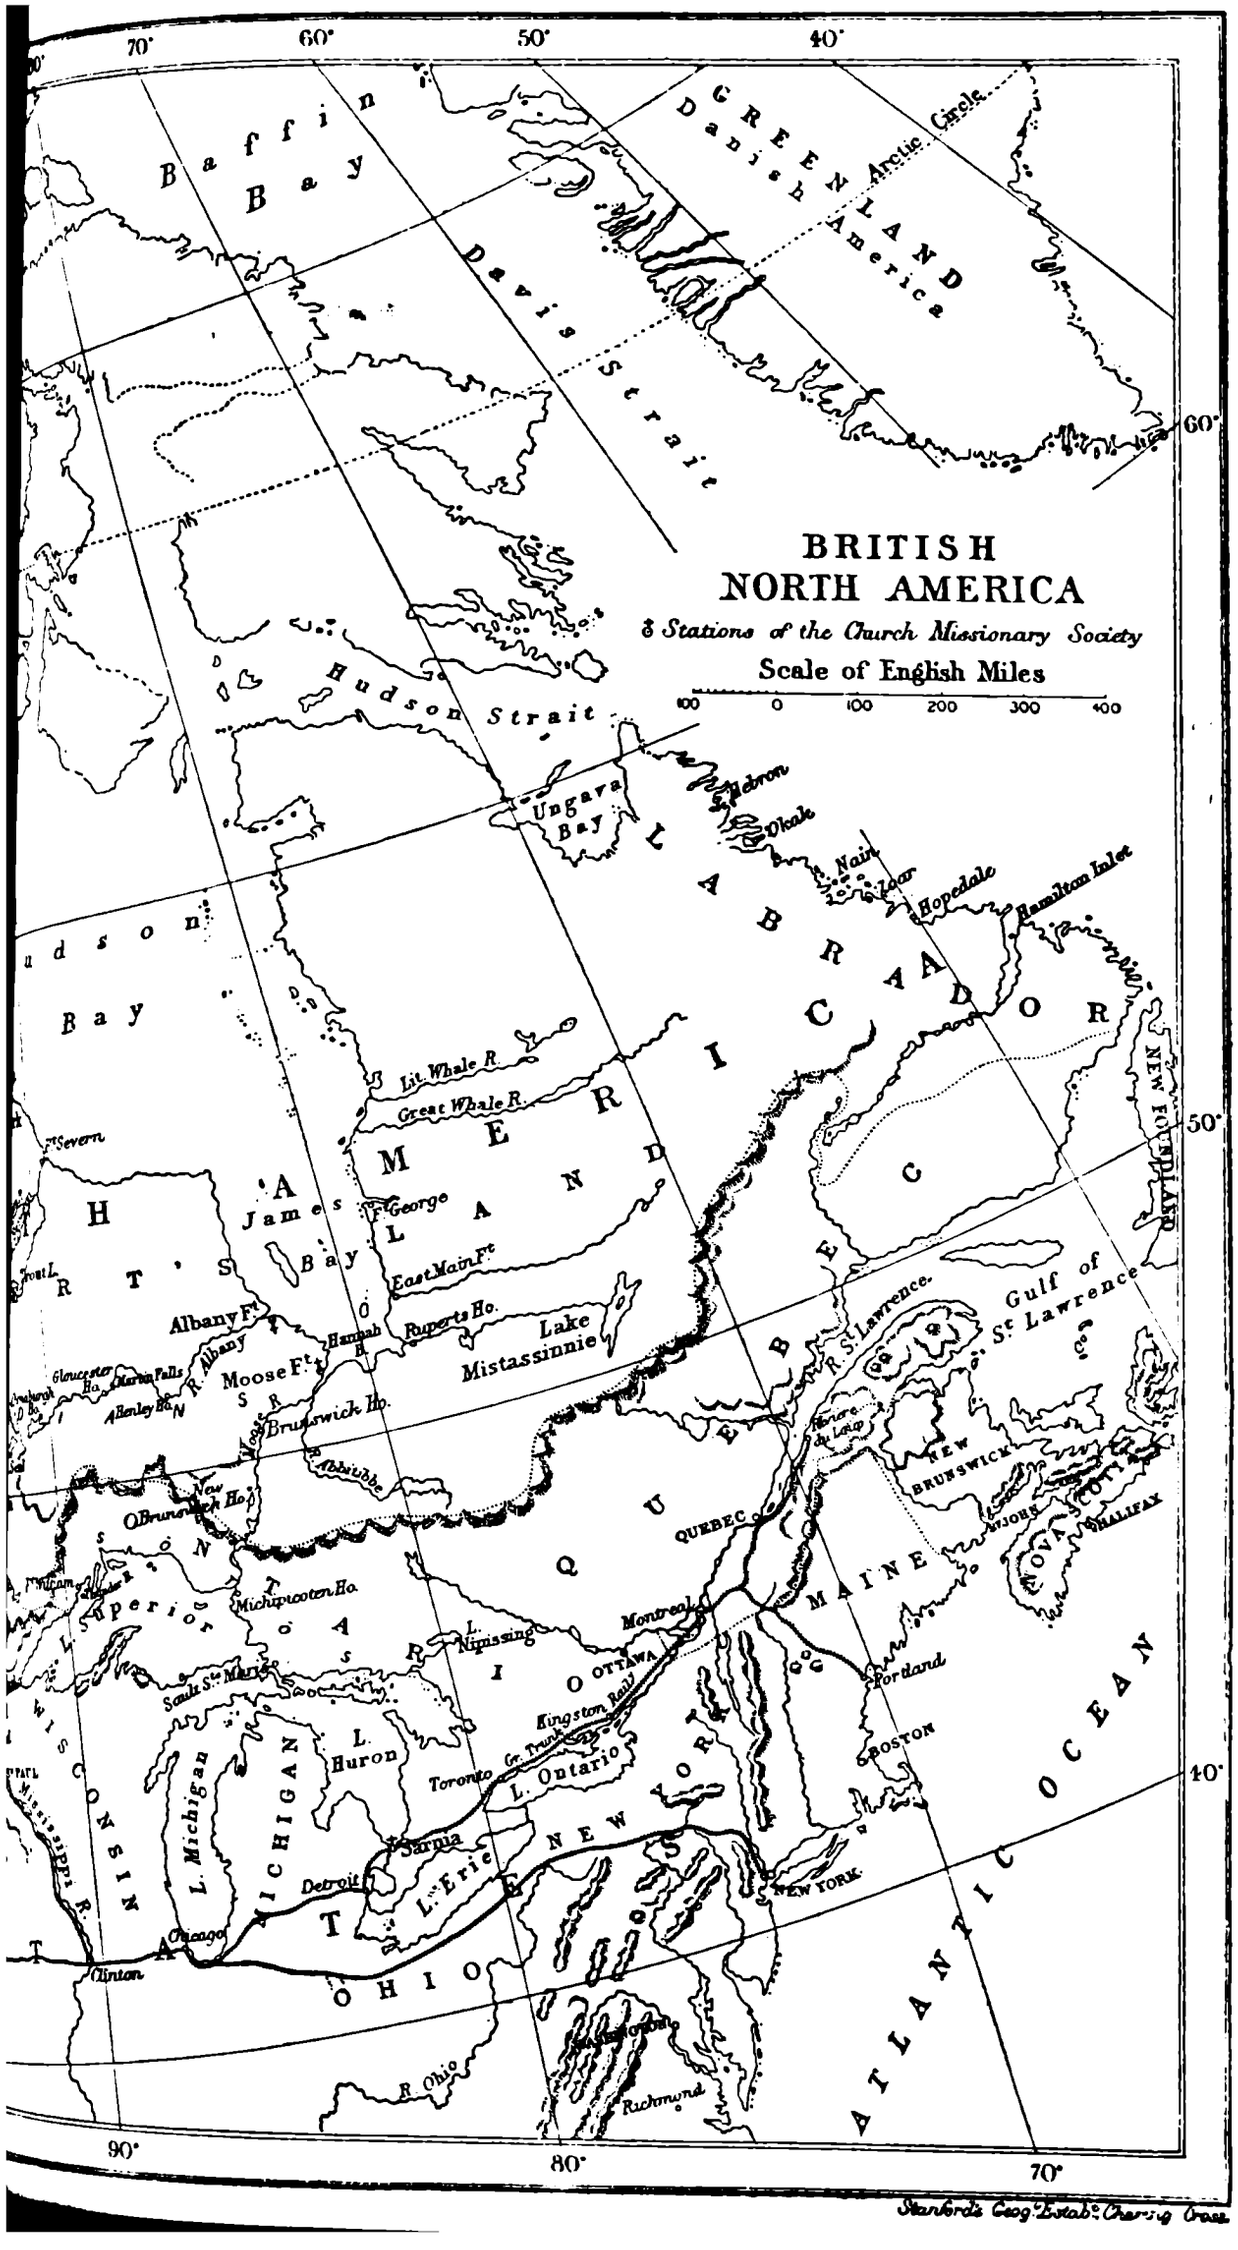

At STANLEY, the well-known old station on English River, is located a country-born clergyman, the Rev. John Sinclair. His report is very brief, but favourable.

At FORT PITT is stationed the Rev. C. Quinney, who was sent out three years ago by the late Rev. H. Wright at the Bishop's earnest request, but who was not taken on the Society's staff, on account of the retrenchments. He is supported for the present from private sources (mainly by the congregation of Holy Trinity, Sydenham); but it is hoped that his Mission may hereafter be a C.M.S. one.

The new Mission to the Blackfoot Indians.

FORT MACLEOD is a new station of great interest. It has been occupied with a view to reach the Blood Indians, the largest tribe of the great Blackfoot nation. Some 3600 of them are settled on a reserve—the largest in the Canadian Dominion—on the bank of Belly River, eighteen miles south-east of the fort. These are all heathen. The Rev. Samuel

Stanford's Geog.l Estab.t Charing Cross

Trivett reached the place in September, 1880, and in June, 1881, he was visited by the Bishop of Saskatchewan and Mr. Mackay. The Bishop writes, "Mr. Trivett is earnest, faithful, zealous. He is doing, and will do, all in his power, but the reserve needs several missionaries and teachers." A meeting of chiefs, with the principal one, "Red Crow," at their head, was held to receive the Bishop, who addressed them on the importance of cultivating their lands, sending their children to school, and learning from Mr. Trivett the way of salvation. In his Annual Letter, dated October 31st, Mr. Trivett writes:—

My time since my arrival has been fully occupied. I have had services two and three times each Lord's Day, either in school-house or Indian houses in the camp about two and a half miles down the river-side. I have also kept school up to July myself. I have had to learn the language, assist the Indians, making doors and window-frames for them, attend to the sick, besides my household work, even to washing and ironing.

Character of Blackfoot Indians.

Of the character of the Indians I cannot speak very much in their favour. They are very different from the Northern Crees: they are dishonest, untruthful, lazy, great gamblers, and notorious beggars, besides being steeped in all heathen practices and bad habits common alike to the Indian and white communities. Like other Indians, they believe in the Great Spirit to a certain extent; they also worship the sun; whilst to these they add polygamy and many heathen rites, sun dance, medicine dance, war and other heathen dances. Still with all these drawbacks I am thankful to say the services are fairly attended, though the congregations consist chiefly of men and children, with one or two women; but as the latter do all the work they seldom attend. The Indians are not adverse to Christianity, but anxious that their children should be brought up in the Christian faith. I have baptized fifty-six children in all, but no adults. One of the minor chiefs wished to be baptized; but when I told him he must give up five of his wives (he has six), and many other heathen habits, he changed his mind, preferring his old heathen ways to the true Christian life. They say all I tell them is good talk, but here they stop.

First signs of fruit.

In a letter received while this Report is passing through the press, Mr. Trivett mentions some signs of a moving among the dry bones, in the voluntary abstaining from swearing and Sunday labour on the part of a few, both of adults and children. Among a simple people like the Red Indians, religion generally manifests itself in these efforts to keep the law of God. Afterwards comes the sense of sin through failure, and then the reception of the salvation of Christ. Mr. Trivett had visited other reserves at Fort Walsh and Cypress Hills, where there are large bodies of Crees and Assiniboines, who received him gratefully, and with every desire to be taught.

Reinforcement in Athabasca.

THE news from the Diocese of Athabasca, the remotest of all the Society's fields of labour, has been somewhat scanty during the past year. The missionary party that left this country in May last year, the Rev. W. D. and Mrs. Reeve, Mr. J. W. Garton, and two young ladies, duly arrived at their various destinations. On the 17th of August they reached Fort Chipewyan, on Athabasca Lake, which is the nearest of the stations—so near that a letter dated March 2nd of this present year has come to hand on May 30, while this Report is in the printer's hands. There they found the Revs. V. C. Sim and A. C. Garrioch, the former having been in charge there pending Mr. Reeve's return, and the latter having come down from Fort Vermillion, on Peace River, to attend a conference of the brethren. This was held the same evening, and the next day, Mr. Garrioch started on his return to Fort Vermillion, and the rest of the party, except Mrs. Reeve, went forward to Fort Resolution, on Great Slave Lake, which they reached in a week, and where Bishop Bompas was awaiting them. The Hudson's Bay Company's boats for the far north could not be detained, and in two hours those who were going by them, the Bishop, Mr. Sim, and the two ladies, were again on their way; Mr. Garton remaining at Fort Resolution, and Mr. Reeve returning to Fort Chipewyan. A newly built mission-house at the former post was not yet habitable, and Mr. Garton would have to live for a time in a tent: a very different thing, of course, on Great Slave Lake from what it would be in India or Africa. But he was "quite contented." "Next morning," writes Mr. Reeve, "I saw him on the lake visiting the fish-nets, and shortly afterwards he was in his shirt-sleeves, helping to build a chimney." Mr. Reeve had a trying journey back to Fort Chipewyan. Only one half-witted Indian was with him, and they twice lost the road. (The map, which shows only the one river from fort to fort, on which it would be impossible to lose the way, evidently gives a very defective representation of the streams in this "great lone land.") Consequently in the last four days they had but one meal. They, however, by God's mercy, reached home safely; and during the winter Mr. Reeve was actively employed in ministering to the bodily and spiritual sicknesses of the Indians at the post.

Illustrations of life in Athabasca.

Meanwhile the Bishop and his party sped down the Mackenzie River, and arrived in safety at Fort Simpson on Aug. 30th. On Sept. 1st, one of the young ladies was married to Mr. Spendlove, and on the 4th Mr. Sim received priest's orders. Then the second young lady, who was going to join Mrs. Bompas, at Fort Norman, on the Lower Mackenzie, proceeded northwards (presumably under the escort of Mr. Sim, who was appointed to the Tukudh Mission; but he is not mentioned); and subsequent news has announced her safe arrival. The Bishop, having seen her off, started on a journey up the Liard River. He was twenty-seven days ascending the stream to Fort Liard, and eight days descending it again; and he arrived again at Fort Simpson, on Oct. 13th, "only just before the ice," which, he says, writing next day, "to-day closes the whole river,"—i. e. the Liard. In the Mackenzie, the ice was already drifting, and it was too late for boats to attempt to go down to Fort Norman; but the Bishop, anxious to rejoin Mrs. Bompas, started on a raft; since which there has been no news of him.

Travel by land and by water, and on the ice.

This brief sketch of some of the necessary journeys in those vast territories may serve to give the readers of this Report a faint idea of the kind of life led by missionaries in Athabasca. Truly they should be had in continual remembrance before God, that it may please Him to preserve them when travelling by land or by water—or on the ice; and that at the scattered trading-posts where they meet with the Indians, they may find ready ears and open hearts to receive the message of salvation which they thus carry such immense distances.

Bishop Bompas's journeys.

During the five summer months of 1881, Bishop Bompas travelled 3500 miles; or, since he set out on a systematic visitation of his diocese in the spring of 1880, no less than 6600 miles—more than a fourth of the circumference of the globe; and all this either by canoe or on foot.

The only letters received describing actual missionary work are from Mr. Spendlove, at Fort Simpson, who was ordained on June 13th, 1881, and who has been zealously teaching the Slavi Indians, but without any striking results; and from the Bishop and Archdeacon McDonald respecting the Tukudh Mission. The Archdeacon's last report is dated Fort McPherson, Peel River (within the Arctic Circle), April 20th, 1881. He writes:—

Tukudh Mission.

It is a matter for deep thankfulness that tokens of the Master's presence and blessing have been continued during the past year. There are many in whose hearts the work of divine grace is, I trust, going on. This is manifested by a reverence for divine things, a diligent attendance on the means of grace, and an earnest desire for Christian instruction. At the same time it is to be lamented that there are many that remain unaffected by the glad tidings of redeeming love. But we hope and pray that they also may be brought to a saving knowledge of "the truth as it is in Jesus," and be made to rejoice in His salvation. The baptismal register shows a total of 1544.

Christian leaders: Henry Venn Kètsè.

I have to lament the death of Henry Venn Kètsè, who departed this life last October. His end was peace. He had been one of the most intelligent and diligent of the Christian leaders. He is a great loss to the Indians of La Pierre's House, and many of them feel it. He had much influence among them, and it was always exerted for their good. The other Christian leaders of that post are not so efficient, but it is to be hoped that they may be stirred up to greater carnestness in behalf of the Gospel.

I am still engaged in the translating of the New Testament into Tukudh. As I am endeavouring to make as perfect a translation as possible, I am proceeding rather slowly, and have only reached the Epistle to the Hebrews.

On the 19th of April, 1880, I set out on a visit to Rampart House, to meet the Indians who annually assemble there in the spring. A week was spent at La Pierre's House, where I saw most of the Indians of that place. A few camps of Indians were seen en route.

It was pleasing to observe as great a longing for instruction among the Indians of Rampart House as ever. They were regular in their attendance at divine worship, and diligent in their endeavours to commit portions of Scripture to memory. The young people were very anxious to learn to read, and eagerly availed themselves of the opportunity of being taught.

I also paid a visit to Fort Youcon, where I saw the majority of the Indians of that post. They evinced as willing a desire for being taught the way of life as ever. I had not seen them for three years. I spent only three or four days with them, and they seemed to feel deeply my short stay with them. A few of the young people were learning the syllabarium, and were doing well, having been taught by one of the Christian leaders of Rampart House.

While at Fort Youcon I was sorry to learn that Roman Catholic priests had been to Nuklukayit the year before, that they had endeavoured to proselytize the Indians, and had succeeded in inducing a few to listen to their teaching. I was afraid that if the visit was repeated they might meet with more success. But I was glad to learn last autumn that they had not returned last summer, and to receive a letter from the superintendent of an American fur-trading company, inviting me to visit Nuklukayit, and saying that my influence among the Indians there was beneficial.

I also heard of the Indians up the river, the Hunkwitchin and Trushtsyikkwitchin. They were said to be longing for a missionary visit. The two Christian leaders among them having heard in the winter of my intended visit to Rampart House, set out in canoes, after the ice in the river began to drift, with the hope of meeting me. But an accident happened to one of them, who broke his canoe among the drifting ice, and narrowly escaped drowning. He was so debilitated by it that the journey had to be given up.

I am glad to learn that the young men of Rampart House are striving hard to learn to read. Many of them have this winter bought books, and some of them are beginning to read fairly. They gladly assist each other. This is very encouraging, as they are not able to attend school. Those of this place and La Pierre's House are also doing fairly.

It was at the end of July I reached home. The journey across the mountains was very difficult for me. My health had suffered through overworking myself, and I did not recover it all the summer; but was somewhat improved at the beginning of winter, and continued so till near the end of December. Towards the end of January I was seized with a severe illness, which brought me near death, but I was mercifully raised up.

Tukudh converts able to read.

In the summer of last year the Bishop himself visited the Tukudh Mission. On his return he wrote, "The converts gave me a warm welcome. One great mark of the progress made in the last five years is this, that whereas on my previous visits their chief effort was to commit to memory the lessons they were taught, they have now exchanged that laborious method for the easier one of learning to read in their own tongue the Gospel, with the prayers and hymns used in their services. It was a delight to me to hear adults and children at each mission post read from the Tukudh books printed for their benefit." The Bishop found Archdeacon McDonald still in weak health, but anxious to remain two years more to complete the Tukudh New Testament and Prayer-book, after which he hopes to come to England and see his translations through the press.

New Eskimo Mission on the Arctic coast.

It was mentioned in last year's Report that a benefaction of 1000*l.* had been given to enable the Society to send a missionary to the Eskimos of the Athabasca Diocese, who are found near the mouth of the Mackenzie and along the shores of the Polar Sea. The Rev. T. H. Canham was appointed to this arduous sphere of labour, and he left England in July; but he reached Winnipeg just too late for the autumn packet-boats northwards, and therefore remained for the winter on Red River, assisting in the work there. This summer he was to go forward, and the Committee earnestly pray that like blessed fruit may be granted to his efforts as has been so graciously vouchsafed to those of Mr. Peck among the same race on the shores of Hudson's Bay.

NORTH PACIFIC MISSION.

Metlakahtla, 1862; Kincolith, 1867; Queen Charlotte's Islands, 1876; Fort Rupert, 1878; Ankihtlast and Skeena Forks, 1880.

THIS Mission has caused, and is still causing, the Committee deep concern. Not only the Church Missionary Society, but the whole Church of Christ, has regarded, and rightly regarded, Metlakahtla as a triumph of Divine grace. The more striking, however, the testimonies received to its success as a prosperous Christian settlement, and to the reality of the religion of many of the resident Indians, the more earnestly have the Committee desired the admission of the converts to full Christian privileges. For many years, owing to a variety of circumstances, successive plans for providing Metlakahtla with a clergyman in full orders came to nought; but latterly it became apparent that, even had there been one, Mr. Duncan would not have consented to the admission of the Indians to the Lord's Supper. Rather than cause a breach of harmony in such a Mission, Bishop Bompas, when he visited it in 1877-8, refrained from pressing the point; and Bishop Ridley, although his arrival in 1879 had been anxiously looked forward to as an opportunity for inviting the converts to "draw near with faith and take this holy sacrament to their comfort," saw the risk of precipitating a crisis, and also reluctantly refrained. The Committee could not for one moment admit that any man—not even Mr. Duncan—could have the right to interpose between Christians of fifteen and twenty years' standing and the observance of the Saviour's dying command; and their wide experience of the mission-field enabled them to assure him of the blessed results of a believing participation of the Lord's Supper to converts of other races not less "babes in Christ" than the Tsimsheans. Still, honouring, as the whole Church does, Mr. Duncan's past work, they were content to reason, and pray, and wait, until, in the autumn of last year, they were plainly challenged by Mr. Duncan himself to a decision on the future of Metlakahtla; and then, being challenged, they could not hesitate to send out final and explicit instructions. These instructions, they deeply regret to say, have been as explicitly repudiated and disobeyed; and at present their much-loved brother, and the Indians of the settlement, who naturally cling to their benefactor, stand aloof from the Society. The Committee can but leave the issue of events in His hands who doeth all things well. They earnestly pray that Mr. Duncan may even now be led to see his error; but if not, they feel that they cannot divest themselves of their responsibility to these Indian members of the Church of England, and must seek to keep them under her true and Scriptural teaching, and to train them to a full enjoyment of her ordinances. Under any circumstances, the Bishop of Caledonia has pointed out how wide and hopeful is the field open to missionary effort on the coast, on the adjacent islands, and in the interior, apart altogether from Metlakahtla, and they will lose no opportunity of strengthening the Mission, the whole of which they earnestly commend to the prayers of the Society's friends.

Present position and future plans.

The foregoing is the statement read at Exeter Hall on May 2nd. Further letters since received do not explain the present position of affairs with perfect clearness; but they cause deepened concern, while at the same time suggesting grounds of hope. Concern, because there can no longer be any doubt that Mr. Duncan has ceased to be a missionary of the Society. Hope, that the Metlakahtla Christian Indians may not after all be lost from the great brotherhood of the Society's converts. It is with unfeigned grief that the Committee part company with a missionary whose work in past years has been so signally blessed of God. They would desire to humble themselves before the Lord under so heavy a trial, and seek more and more to depend wholly and absolutely upon His grace alone for all success. They cannot forget that in the early days of the Society a similar trouble fell upon it. One of its most promising Missions, that in Tinnevelly, was, just half a century ago, rent asunder by the schism caused by the disconnexion of that most devoted missionary, the Rev. C. T. Rhenius, because he found himself unable to work on the lines of the Church of England. But in a few years all the seceders came back, and Tinnevelly has ever since been emphatically a field that the Lord hath blessed. So, in God's infinite wisdom and mercy, may it be at Metlakahtla!

The Rev. W. H. Collison remained at Metlakahtla during the winter, though in a very trying and isolated position; but the result of his quiet patience seems to have been the setting in of a reaction among the Tsimshean Christians.

Bishop Ridley, who himself brought the news to England —in the depth of winter, arriving January 2nd—left again on April 5th, and reached Victoria in May, having visited Ottawa on his way to arrange with the Canadian Government respecting the Society's property and future position on the coast. He is now at Metlakahtla.

The Committee feel the urgent need of reinforcing the North Pacific Mission under present circumstances. Last summer the Rev. W. G. Faulconer was sent out to occupy the station at Hazelton, at the Skeena Forks, started by the Bishop. The Rev. T. Dunn, late of Ceylon (who is unable to return thither on account of Mrs. Dunn's health), has been appointed to Kincolith, and proceeds thither this summer; and the Committee have with great pleasure accepted as a medical missionary a son of Bishop Horden of Moosonee.

It remains to notice briefly the work at the out-lying stations. From Kincolith and Ankihtlast no accounts of missionary work are to hand. From Hazelton, at the Forks of the Skeena, Mr. Faulconer reports that messengers from three tribes had visited him, asking for teachers; while at the station itself, five young men, Kitiksheans, had abandoned heathenism. At this station Bishop Ridley spent some months last year; and he has sent a cheering account of the influence of the Gospel on this tribe:—

Bishop Ridley on the Skeena.

Influence of the Gospel on the Kitikshean Indians.

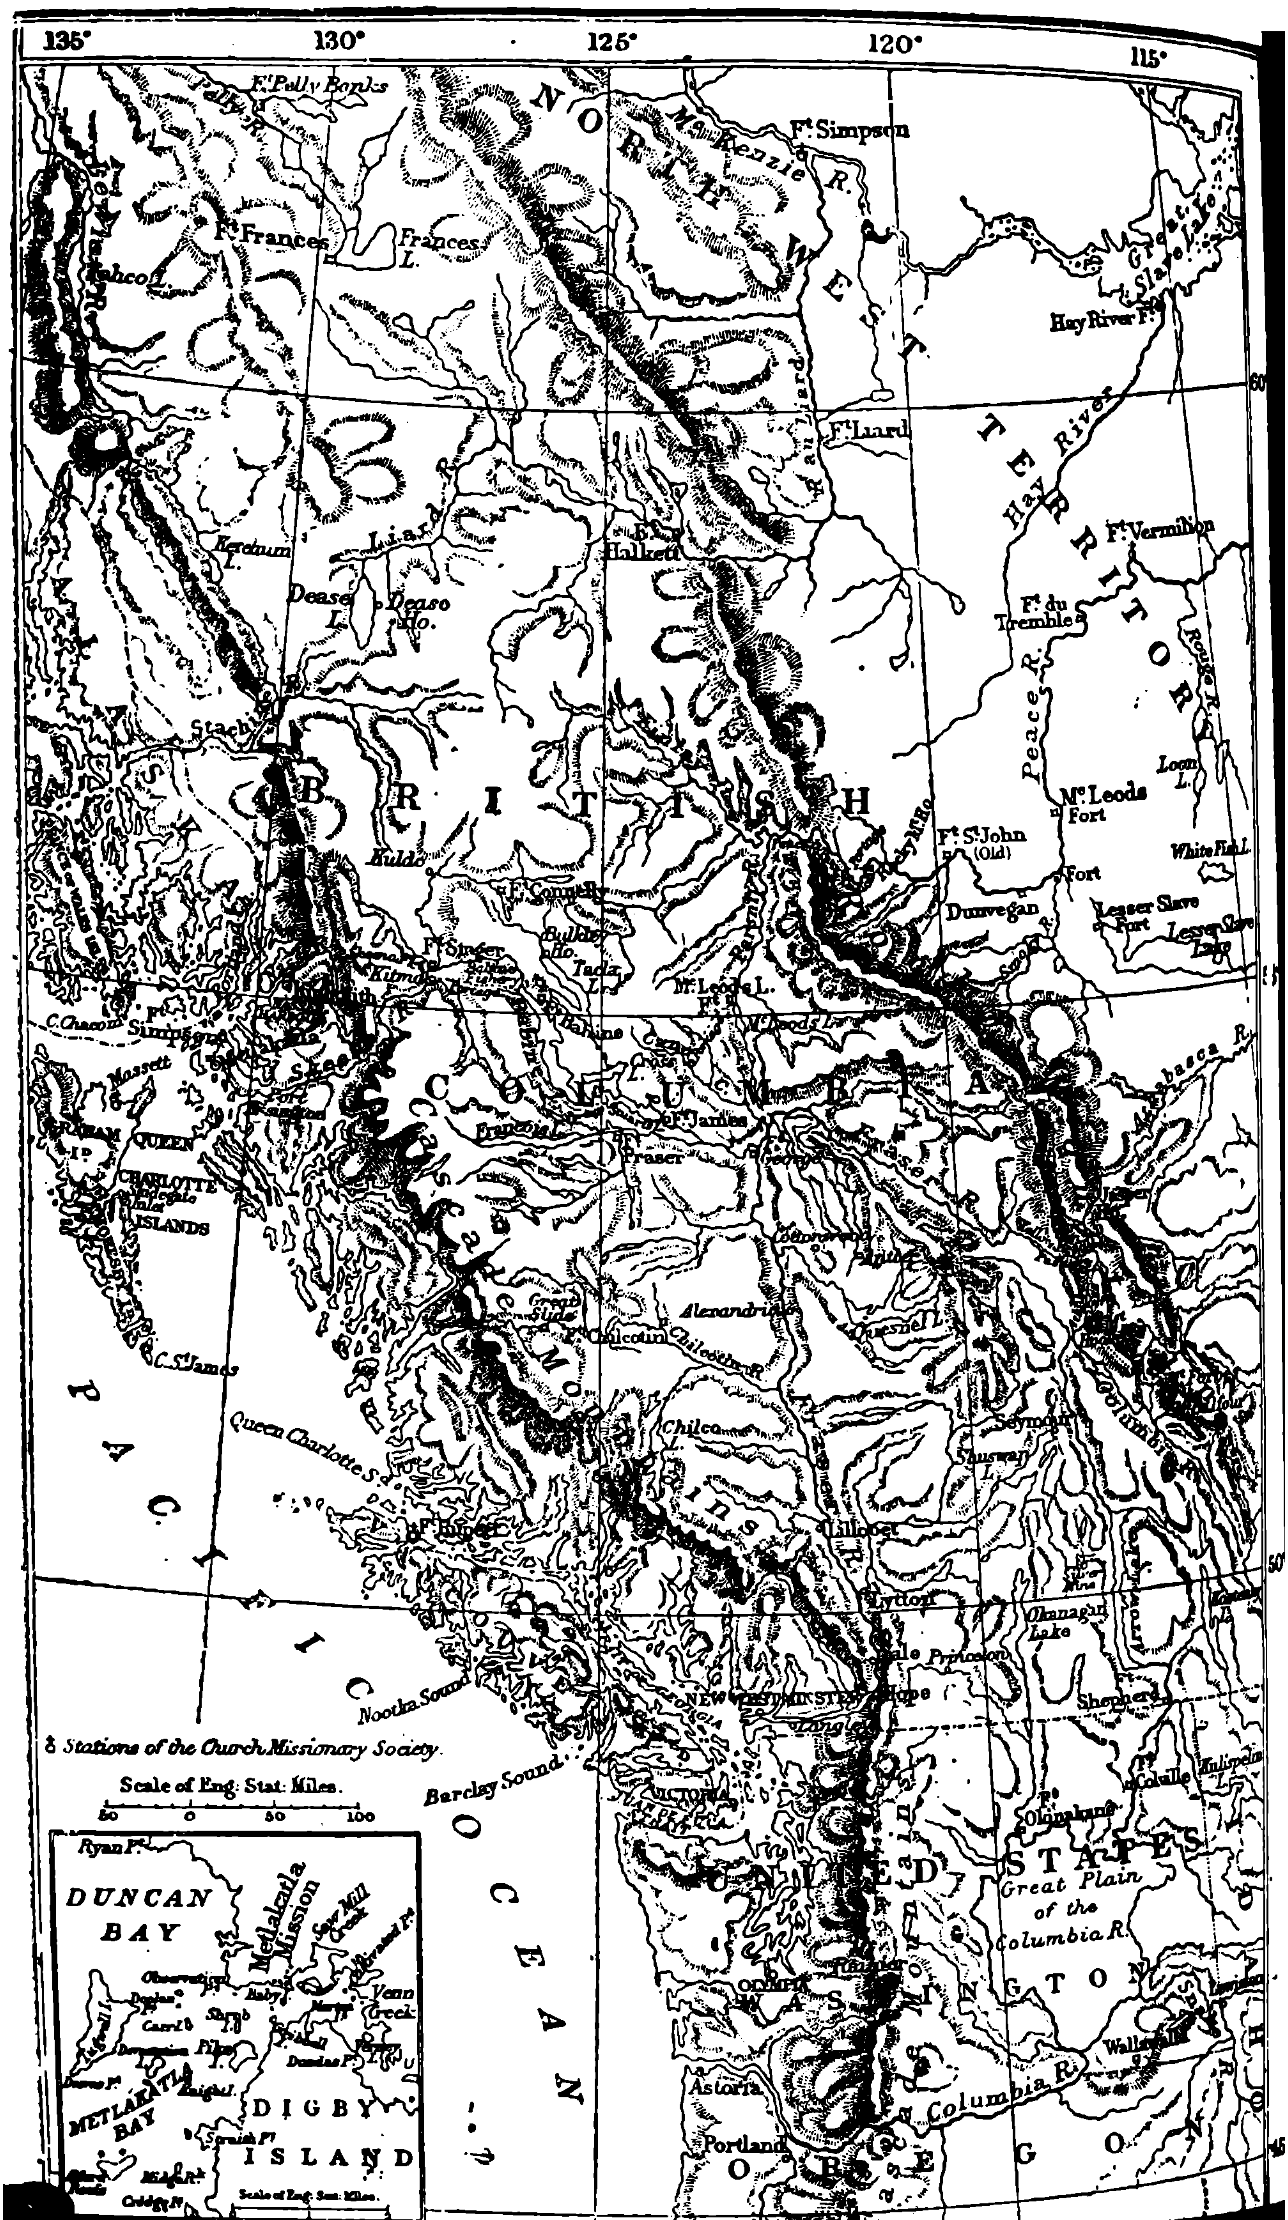

Our services have been crowded by attentive congregations, especially the regular daily evening service. The miners too come, and I rejoice to see them, not only for their own, but for the sake of the Indians on whom they exercise much influence. When in the spring they left for the mines it was a pleasant sight. In returning they looked worn and weatherbeaten. When they started all looked smart. The white men with braided leggings and ornamented snowshoes, and the Indians, with streamers fluttering from their caps of ermine, marten, and other furs, looked quite picturesque; even the dogs harnessed to the birchwood sleighs seemed proud of their tinkling bells and gay adornments.

Never before was Sunday kept on the long marches. I had given prayer and hymn books to some of the whites, and suggested that one of them should minister to the rest; but none ventured. The Indians had prayers every day, and spent the Sunday in a most profitable manner. The whites attended the services, and though they could not understand the prayers, they joined in the hymns and encouraged the Indians.

I had not appointed any leader; but J——, a catechumen, last winter a dog-eater, came forward as a natural leader, and said the prayers and exhorted the listeners. He is a splendid fellow. Square built, of great muscular strength, having a large head and intelligent, though unhandsome, face, this man cannot but attract attention. During the summer he paid a visit to Hazelton, and the days spent here could not be quiet. His attention to Mrs. Ridley, then here alone, were almost comical. He hung about her all day long. The clock would not go fast enough to hasten school or service time that he might ring the bell and gather in the people. He was the terror of gamblers and hated of medicine-men.

Last Saturday morning J—— came to me with something weighty on his mind, I could see at a glance. He was full of plans. "To-morrow is Sunday," he said; "at the lower village they do not serve God. May I go down and hold services?"

"Yes, go, and be gentle as Jesus was," I said.

"May I take a bell?"

"Yes; take a small one, because you have only a little knowledge."

"True, but I will tell them all I know." So he packed his Bible, hymn-book, salmon, and rice in his blanket with the small bell, and trudged away. Before he returns he means to go to the second lower village to see the five Christians who live there, whom I baptized last spring. He will have had a journey of seventy miles at his own charges for Christ's sake. It was he who conducted service on the miners' march.

From Massett, Queen Charlotte's Islands, Mr. Sneath reports that the Hydahs attend his services well, and send their children to school; and that about ten of them had made a firm stand against some of their old heathen practices, and were candidates for baptism.

The Mission among the Quoquolt or Kwag-gutl Indians at the north end of Vancouver's Island, has been removed from Fort Rupert to Alert Bay. The Rev. A. J. Hall has been labouring with much zeal and prayerful earnestness, amid many difficulties. His letter cannot but call forth deep sympathy from every reader:— Quoquolt Mission: a trying work; waiting for fruit.

Greatly as I long to tell you of the conversion of the heathen, I am unable to do so. We still stand alone, but believe there is a work going on in the hearts of some which will in time develop itself.

The head chief at Rupert, who has always opposed the Gospel, is now holding a monster "potlatch" [giving away of property, &c.], which is to last two months, and has assembled there all who speak this language. He has spared no pains or labour to make every one attend, and particularly marks those who favour the Gospel, and by bribes or threats generally prevents them attending the services. No less than four girls during the present year have been taken from our mission-house, owing to the influence of this one man over their parents. One he seized at Fort Rupert during my absence when she was ringing the bell for school, and took her ninety miles away for five months, and we have not been able to regain her, although her father wishes her to return, and so does the girl.

Six girls are with us still, and their conduct is very satisfactory. Most of them are well taught in the Scriptures, and we pray that the Holy Spirit may employ this knowledge to the saving of their souls; four of them are half-castes. Two Fort Rupert young men who wished to embrace Christianity came with us to Alert Bay, but fearing the persecution they have gone to Metlakahtla to spend the winter. A third is very decided, but illness has prevented his joining us.

Latterly, the need of preaching repentance has been laid on my mind, and I could not feel a faithful witness for Christ if the wickedness connected with "potlatching" and traffic among their women were not reproved. This was done in the mildest manner, but it has raised a feeling of enmity among the people, and decided opposition is the result. Services are almost entirely neglected, and school also. Winter dances have just begun, and the children in consequence are not allowed to attend.

You are aware that almost daily the men meet together to "feast," which is really their daily meal. At these meetings of late my teaching has been freely discussed, and I grieve to say that they have decided to reject it.

Can these bones live?

How true it is that all our endeavours are useless unless the Holy Spirit gives the increase. How often I am reminded of the words of H. Martyn, "It would take a miracle of grace to convert a Brahmin," and I feel it will take a miracle of grace to truly convert a Kwāg-gūtl.

I still desire to labour on in faith, and am hoping to see these miracles of grace performed, feeling sure that the Gospel message will do its blessed work in God's time.

Many of the "miracles of grace," the conversions of Brahmins, alluded to by Mr. Hall, have been wrought since Henry Martyn's time; and the Committee fully trust the same Divine grace to work like miracles among these degraded tribes of British Columbia; of which, indeed, a sure pledge has been given in the conversion of so many of the Tsimshean nation. One of the great wants of the North Pacific Mission has been the translation of the Word of God into the vernaculars; and the Committee rejoice that Mr. Hall has been enabled to make a beginning for his Quoquolt people by sending home a version of the Gospel of St. Matthew in their difficult language.

First Bible translation in the Quoqult tongue.

Bishop Ridley's steamer.

Bishop Ridley's little steamer, the Evangeline, was launched at Victoria on August 12th, and has already proved very serviceable. May she long be the bearer up and down the coast, and from island to island, of the blessed gospel of peace!

Shores of the utmost West,
Ye that have waited long,
Unvisited, unblest,
Break forth to swelling song:
High raise the note that Jesus died,
Yet lives and reigns, the Crucified!

CONCLUSION.

THIS Report has described manifold operations, carried on amid the most diverse surroundings. But everywhere the purpose is the same. Every agency is devised, from the little prayer-house on the hill-side, to the college preparing its students for high university examinations—every agent is sent forth, from the humblest catechist to the most learned Missionary Bishop,—with one great design, the conversion of souls to Christ. It is for this, and for no lower object, that the Church Missionary Society exists. It is to this, and to no lower object, that the Committee would consecrate every penny of the sacred funds entrusted to them. These funds have to be expended in many ways, and distributed through many channels, both at home and abroad; and in the administration of them the Committee and its Sub-Committees have met no less than 320 times in the past year. With the experience gained through these frequent meetings, and with continual earnest prayer for Divine guidance, they form their plans, set on foot their agencies, send forth their agents, vote their grants of money. But their one aim is to do all, as in the sight of God, with a single eye for the forwarding of the one grand purpose.

The Society's one object the conversion of souls.

How worked for.

Is that purpose being fulfilled? Are souls being converted to Christ? This Report has brought together indisputable evidence from all parts of the world that He who alone can change any heart is by the instrumentality of this Society changing many.

Is it fulfilled?

Collateral results.

But, as many of the agencies employed by the Society, and paid for by the Committee out of its funds, are of necessity collateral agencies, indirectly working to the great end, so does it please God to bless its labours with collateral results. Is it right to thank God that Sierra Leone now bears the name of a Christian country; that in wide territories of North-West America heathenism is extinct; that exclusively Christian villages are multiplying in India? They are but collateral results. A large proportion of those whom a statistical table or an official census counts, and rightly counts, as Native Christians, give no signs of true conversion to God. Very many are now the second and third generation of adherents, and were baptized as infants; others have joined from merely mental conviction, or even from family or tribal influences; and a natural consequence of the spread of national or tribal Christianity is that the number of merely professing Christians must increase, and therefore also the number, however relatively small, of those who bring discredit on their profession. Yet assuredly it is a good thing that the visible Church should be planted everywhere, and should everywhere grow; that the Gospel net should gather of every kind, both good and bad. It is good for its own sake, because even nominal Christianity is a vast advance on heathenism. And it is good also because nominal Christianity is often a step to real Christianity. The Committee, therefore, feeling it desirable, in the present advanced stage of many of the Society's Missions, that this aspect of the results of missionary work should be fully recognized, call upon their friends to thank God that He adds daily to the Church such as are, by being thus added, in the way of being saved.

National or tribal profession of Christianity.

Is that a good thing?

But if no visible results at all?

Not even where these collateral results are wanting would the Committee be discouraged. There are Missions in which the visible fruit has been scanty indeed. There are agencies worked by faithful Missionaries who long in vain for the blessing. There are enterprises that have cost large sums and many precious lives without effecting as yet one known conversion. Do those Missions and those agencies stand condemned on that account? God forbid! Duties are ours; results are His. And the Committee, humbly bowing down before the Throne of Infinite Wisdom and All-embracing Love, would praise the Great King of all the earth for every opportunity of proclaiming His messages, whether men will hear, or whether they will forbear. Every agency, every enterprise, undertaken in the faith and love of the Lord Jesus Christ, is preparing for and hastening on the glorious day when, through the establishment of Native Churches and the outpouring of the Spirit upon their members, in answer to the persevering prayers of God's believing people, the preaching of the blessed Gospel shall go forward on a scale hitherto unknown, and nations shall be born in a day. Sure hope for the future.

In thankfulness, therefore, and in hope, the Committee would close this Report of their work among the Gentiles, as the Apostle of the Gentiles closes his inspired review of the Divine dealings with the Jews, with the adoring exclamation, "O the depth of the riches both of the wisdom and knowledge of God! how unsearchable are His judgments, and His ways past finding out! For who hath known the mind of the Lord, or who hath been His counsellor? For of Him, and through Him, and to Him, are all things: to whom be glory for ever! Amen."

REPORT OF THE WALTER JONES FUND, 1881-82.

NIGER MISSION.

REPORTS of the agents paid by the Fund in the Niger Mission have been received. One of them, Mr. J. Boyle, received Deacon's orders in December, 1881; and another, Mr. R. A. Fyne, has been recommended for Holy Orders. Mr. Fyne is in general charge of the work at Onitsha (see p. 30).

EAST AFRICA MISSION.

The agent George David, besides again visiting Giriama with a view to the settlement in that country, has been usefully employed at Frere Town. One of the agents, Isaac Nyondo, the same who accompanied the Rev. J. Rebmann to Europe, died of small-pox last December. His widow, who is also an agent of the Fund, writes:—

On Sunday, 4th of December, Mr. Binns and he both went to church; for candidates class he was all right: at 11 o'clock service he took the sermon and preached to people in Kinika, it was his last preaching; his text was "Draw nigh to God, and he will draw nigh to you." As soon as the sermon was over he felt very ill and never got up again. He died in Christ on the 12th of December.

This year I am become a widow, but still I can cast myself in God's care, for he cared for the widows also. I am sure my husband is now in the arms of Jesus resting from his labour. When I saw my husband was going to die I indeed cried unto the Lord to give me strength and consolation. He will have mercy upon a sinner widow.

I am doing my duty in teaching the women and girls, sewing class and Bible class with the women every evening, 7 p.m. on Fridays.

PALESTINE.

The agents on the Fund in Palestine are placed at Salt and Acca. Of Salt the missionary in charge writes:—"The work has been going on prosperously. At El Hosn are seven or eight individuals who have joined the church." At Acca, a school has been opened which is attended by fifty or sixty boys, besides a night school for young men.

NORTH INDIA.

The agents remain as last year, ten in number. Of Fyzabad the missionary reports that the evangelistic work carried on by Native agents is kept up, and visits to melas or Hindu fairs have been made. Of Gorakpur Mr. Stern reports that in his pastoral duties and itinerancies the Native agents have rendered him valuable assistance. Two new agents have been appointed for Basti at Mr. Stern's request. Azimgurh, where Natives are in charge, has been visited by the European missionary once a month. At Benares, the street-preachers have generally found moderate audiences, and all the catechists come in once a week to the Rev. B. Davis for study and prayer.

SOUTH INDIA.

No special report has this year been received from the Rev. F. N. Alexander, as regards the Walter Jones agents.

MAURITIUS.

The agent on the Fund in Mauritius is the Rev. T. Ephraim. He reports:—

During the current year, I am happy to say that I have been able to conduct the service in the three different languages, viz., Tamil, Telugu, and Bengali. Though a Tamil, I learnt the Calcutta language, as there are so many North Indians residing in Mauritius.

In each month the Sunday service is very regularly held in five different places, viz., Pamplemousses, Poudodore, Flacq, Riviere Seche, and St. Julien.

During the year many camps and camp hospitals have received frequent visits. We meet with many and sometimes a few to tell the word of salvation and to converse. Opposition is not frequent, as in India, as few here have education enough to raise objections.

Four grant-in-aid and nine village schools are under our management. These schools are monthly visited, and sometimes more than once. They are worked on a pure Christian principle, and the teachers give us every satisfaction in their work and conduct.

REPORT OF THE WILLIAM CHARLES JONES FUND FOR THE YEAR 1881.

THE grants from this Fund continue to increase as Native Christian Churches in India qualify themselves to become recipients of it. Grants have been made for the first time this year to Native Church Councils in the N.W. Provinces and Punjab. Notices of the work of the Councils are scattered throughout that portion of the present Report which embraces India (pp. 62—151), but it remains to give in this place a few salient notices of the special working of the Fund.

N.W. PROVINCES.

The Rev. B. Davis, Chairman of the Native Church Council, reports, in respect to the application for the first grant from the Fund for that Council, that it employs seven Native Agents, exclusive of schoolmasters, and raises Rs. 3816 out of a total expenditure of Rs. 6817. It is therefore eligible for a grant, and Rs. 551 have accordingly been granted.

PUNJAB.

The Secretary of the Council, Babu Rullia Ram, thus writes:—

The Agents of the Church Council engaged in direct evangelistic work are—Rev. Mian Sadiq; Babu Ram Chunder; Joseph; and Bande Shah, the Christian Faqir. We have also a Mission School at Magitha. The monthly expenditure of the school comes to Rs. 100 a month. The amount paid by the Church Council for purely evangelistic work is Rs. 205 per mensem. Rev. Yakub Ali, pastor of the Anarkali Church, Lahore, devotes a considerable portion of his time to bazar preaching; and Rev. Daud Singh, the Pastor at the Christian settlement of Clarkabad, has to do more of evangelistic work than pastoral. So at least half of their salaries must be counted as money expended on evangelistic work.

The Rev. R. Clark, Secretary of the Mission, adds:—

As our Church Council Reports had, I believe, a good deal to do with the foundation of Mr. Jones's large and generous gift, and as he intended it at the time to be very much for the Panjab, I am sure you will gladly give as favourable a reply as you can to the letter of our Secretary, Babu Rullia Ram. Would it be too much to ask you for Rs. 500 per annum?

TINNEVELLY.

The Palamcotta Council now employs ten Agents, one of whom has recently been ordained as Pastor of Alvaneri. The Report states:—

Though there is nothing new to report upon, thousands of persons have again and again heard the glad tidings of salvation. The agents keep diaries of their work, which are perused monthly.

Catechist S. Gnanapragasam Pilley states that many of the heathen hear the word of life more freely than in the previous years; that not a single soul among so many thousands of people in the town prevented him from preaching Christ to them; that many hear the preaching of God's Word, while others are daily holding conversation with him on religious subjects; that the Natives of this town are more credulous than even those who live in villages as regards their belief of the most improbable facts mentioned in their Vedas.

Catechist Paramanandham Pilley reports that a lad being fully convinced of the truth of our holy religion determined to attend Divine service on Sundays, but was prevented from making an open profession by his relatives and friends. A few days after this he attended the service and brought three others with him. As he and his three friends wished very much to become Christians, they were after some weeks' preparation admitted into the Church by baptism.

Regarding the Mussulmans, one of the catechists says that he has ample opportunity of preaching to them especially every morning when they are engaged in preparing their looms; their children buy tracts and read them freely.

The colporteur continues to sell Scripture portions and religious tracts in the market-place and in the streets and lanes, and in the houses of the people. He also at times preaches to the heathen and Mohammedans.

In Dohnavur are seven agents who preached in 235 villages :—

The catechists are generally old and experienced men, and are therefore well able to preach the love of the Saviour whom they have known and served for so long, and to give proper answers to the questions of heathen. During the past 11 months 233 people have embraced the Christian religion.

The heathens in our district may be divided into four classes :—

1. The common and poor people. The door of the Gospel has been opened to all men; but only the poor try to enter into the gates of it in companies. The external and internal condition of these people disposes them to embrace the Gospel.

2. Rich and influential men. These in general all hate Christianity and its adherents, chiefly the new comers, and try either to turn them back or to do all the mischief to them they can.

3. Officers in the Taluq. Mostly respectable and learned men, but they cannot understand how men can embrace a foreign religion. They therefore think that our religion is embraced with dishonest motives.

4. Bigoted Hindus. Most of these, more or less, hold the Vedanta system, believing all the lies stated in their Puranas, Epic Poems, &c., and keeping strictly the ceremonial but ridiculous rules of their fathers.

May the time soon come when the heathen officers and bigoted Hindus may be converted unto Christ.

In Surandei five agents are employed. The following extracts illustrate the conversations held with various kinds of Natives.

It must be remembered that the English in which the Catechist writes is a foreign tongue to him, all the work being done of course in Tamil.

I went into the village of S—— to preach after having done my work. I went and sat in an adjacent tope. A Brahmin was coming there. I inquired whether he had heard anything about Christianity before; he said that he had very often heard from catechists in his native place, and acknowledged that there is but one God, and it is not right to worship idols; he further requested me to tell more about Jesus Christ, and asked who is He? I declared that He is the Son of God and the only Saviour of mankind. He then asked why Christ the God should suffer for men? I convinced him that God is a righteous Being who cannot forgive the sinners without due compensation being made, and consequently He sent His Son to be a Mediator.

At V——, after preaching in a street, I went to a bazaar, where a few people assembled. One of them seemed to be able to read. He was a Roman Catholic. I began to tell him that Jesus Christ is the only Mediator and Saviour, and by Him alone we can obtain salvation. He confessed that Jesus Christ is our Saviour, but why cannot we worship Mary? he asked. I answered him that there is no permission given for it in the Bible. When the wise men came to see Jesus, they did not worship Mary, but Christ only. Mary also was in need of salvation, and consequently she cannot be a mediator. He further asked why can we not worship images while Solomon placed cherubims in the Temple? I told him that they were placed for special purposes, but not for worship. Neither Solomon nor his people worshipped them, and that God has told us plainly in the 2nd Commandment, that we should neither make nor worship images. He then asked, is it not allowed in the Bible to worship saints? I said no, and convinced him from Acts x. 26, that when Cornelius fell down at Peter's feet and worshipped him, Peter did not accept it, therefore the saints are not entitled to worship. He, finding that there is no use in certain ceremonies of Popery, has left off the practice of confessing sins to priests.

Six catechists have been employed in Paneivilei. Their reports are satisfactory, but limited space forbids extracts.—In Nallur six catechists are labouring, and the subjoined table is given not only as representing their particular labour, but also as illustrating that of the catechists in other districts.

The corresponding numbers for the year 1880 are 1709, 48177, 4217, and Rs. 49 : 1 : 8.

David Catechist speaks with much confidence of the eight people in his circle who were led to embrace Christianity through his instrumentality. He says, they knew beforehand what troubles they would have to endure in consequence of the change of faith, and they now continue steady in their new profession.

As may be naturally expected, the agents experience strong opposition from the Romanists, whose number is now on the increase, as the priests buy their converts for money. The introduction of the Result system in the Educational Department has enabled the Romish priests to open schools in all directions. Romanism, however, is not making real progress. The heathen speak disparagingly of it, as its festivities correspond in a measure with their own. They say, "How can they call themselves men of the true faith? They have recourse to cars just as we do in our festivals."

Of Suviséshapuram the Secretary of the Council writes:—

Last year five agents were set apart to preach to the heathen, but through the increased grant allowed in 1881, seven have been appointed to this particular work. Of these seven catechists, one named Sarkunen had been recommended for Holy Orders a couple of years ago, and is now about to be ordained, another was not able to carry on his work properly for some months on account of a severe complaint in his eyes. He has been under medical treatment, but as there is no chance of his recovery, he has been removed from the post. All the time he was working, he performed his duties faithfully. Through his labour several souls in Nannikulam have renounced heathenism and joined the Church of Christ.

The other catechists have regularly visited all the villages in their circles every month during the year. They have visited more villages, addressed more people, distributed more handbills, and sold more tracts and Scripture portions than the year previous.

Although an abundant harvest has not yet resulted from their labours, still some souls have joined the Christian flock.

1. In Parappadi circle, thirty-nine souls have come under Christian instruction.
2. In Erendei circle thirty-seven.
3. In Tiruvettapuram circle three.

The Council have appointed an agent to teach the new comers in North Alangkulam and their children. They seem steadfast in their profession, and more than twenty-five children, the greater number of whom are Hindus, are taught in the school.

There has been no special report received of the labours of the catechists in North Tinnevelly.

TELUGU MISSION.

The Rev. F. N. Alexander writes as follows respecting the work of the Ellore Church Council:—

I. Origin.—The first idea of starting an Evangelistic agency in connexion with the Native Church, originated with the native members of the Provincial Council, at our meeting in October, 1879, in Ellore.

It was agreed to commence operations in Chintalapudi, a town thirty miles to the north of Ellore town, in a centre up to that time quite unevangelized by the ordinary agency of the district; and the Rev. F. N. Alexander was asked to take general superintendence of the new agency and erect the necessary buildings.

II. Preliminary steps.—In accordance with these resolutions collections were made. The Committee of the W. C. Jones Fund made a grant of 15*l.* S. Appalasami, one of the Ellore agents, was appointed on a salary of Rs. 9 per mensem, a site for the evangelist's dwelling-house was secured in a very favourable locality near the caste village, and a site for a school was procured in the heart of the town. A convenient house was built for a residence, and a shed was put up for the school. The evangelist was in fair working order by the 1st of January, 1880, and soon after a noted inquirer was sent to Chintalapudi, and began a school for Mussulman boys and girls as the field was already occupied as regards Hindus by a very fair local fund Board School under a heathen master.

III. Results.—1. Christians.—In Chintalapudi itself there is a small church gathered from the Mala caste, consisting of twelve members. Of these ten persons are baptized, and the other two are inquirers.

It is a remarkable fact that this agency, like that in Amalapur, was directed for the benefit of the caste population, and yet in both cases the first converts are Mâlas, showing conclusively that God is calling the members of this caste by His own divine power, into the fellowship and kingdom of His dear Son. At Yeraguntipalli there is one family under instruction.

2. Inquirers.—In the following villages there are inquirers, viz., Yeraguntipalli, Bhopatigudem, Kishtapuram, Narasapuram, all Mâlas. In Chintalapudi itself there is a hopeful work among the Chucklers. I have visited these places myself, and very soon I expect to see Christian teachers established in each of these towns.

3. Evangelistic work.—Evangelistic work has been carried on very systematically. In Chintalapudi Bazaar regular preaching has been kept up. All the villages round it have been constantly visited, and preaching carried on among all castes.

More distant places have been occasionally visited, and for this purpose the help of the district evangelists stationed nearest to his home has been freely rendered. I may mention as an instance of this several visits made by Appalasami to Aswarowpetta and other places within the Nizam's border; and a tour to Kamarakotta and Lakmavorum, most important places towards the river, has been decided on. Generally I can say that the preaching of Appalasami has brought the Gospel of Jesus into a field before quite in darkness.

The most cheering results have followed. It is a striking fact that the sacraments are now administered in a part of the country that was till lately quite unvisited by a Christian teacher. A regular church is organized at head-quarters, inquirers are coming forward, and children have been sent up to our boarding schools in Ellore; these, I think, are satisfactory results in the short space of one year.

Conclusion.—Ratnam Garu presses earnestly for a teacher in connexion with this fund, and I have written that we must all increase our subscriptions, and then more help will be given from the William Jones Fund; I hope the Committee will increase their grant, and we will certainly increase the total of Native subscriptions, and this will enable us to put another evangelist to work in the Masulipatam district.

REPORT OF THE HENRY VENN NATIVE CHURCH FUND.

WEST AFRICA.

THE Committee have granted the sum of 90*l.* to the Native Church of Sierra Leone, and 100*l.* to the Native Missionary Association connected with that Church, from this Fund during the year. The Sierra Leone Church is now a Missionary Church, with agents at work among the heathen in Bullom, Quiah, and Tasso. The Rev. H. N. Boston of Bullom, besides his own pastoral duty at Yongro, visited over forty towns and villages as an itinerant preacher. The catechists also have not been slow in the same department of labour. The following are the concluding words of the last Report of the Native Church, written, it must be remembered, by an African :—

> Long has Africa lain in the dust. She is styled by the other nations of the earth THE DARK CONTINENT, not only as being not much known, but also as being the abode of deeds of darkness, which afflict humanity, and are revolting to every feeling of morality. If, then, a better state is to spring up, it must be the duty of the Christian Church here to endeavour, by the Divine help, to obey the Lord's command, "GO YE INTO ALL THE WORLD AND PREACH THE GOSPEL TO EVERY CREATURE."

A grant has also been made to the Niger Bishopric Fund, administered by Bishop Crowther.

INDIA.

A sum of 60*l.* granted to the Native Church in the N.W. Provinces has been well used, as the following extract from the Special Report will show :—

Gorakhpur.

> At present there are three Association schools, Pandit Vidya Pât preaches the Gospel almost every evening in the vicinity of Gorakhpur and Basharatpur. Philip holds Divine services in one of the schoolrooms with the heathen inhabitants, and goes out in winter season.

Mirat.

> I need hardly mention that every day throughout the year, except on Sundays, and when he was out itinerating in the district, the good news of salvation was publicly preached by the Association preacher in one or other of the principal streets of the city, and he has had many interesting conversations with the people.
>
> For the present we have decided to locate our preacher in one or other of those out-stations which Mr. Hoernle was obliged to give up for want of proper agents.

Although we cannot record any great and striking results, but we do not hesitate to say that we are progressing steadily though slowly.

Jabalpur.

Evangelistic work is systematically carried on in connexion with the Native Medical Mission, managed voluntarily by Pandit Jagannath, the Mission Inspector of Primary Schools. Medicine is daily distributed gratis to the heathen and the Gospel preached to all comers. The average daily attendance of patients is 30. On Sunday evenings services are held at the same place, undertaken voluntarily by Native Christians.

I hope the Henry Venn Fund will be able to give us aid, especially towards the Christian Dispensary. It is doing a good work and well displays the love and divine pity of the Gospel in contrast with the selfishness and darkness of heathenism. We in Jabalpur, do what we can towards the maintenance of the work, but our little is not much.

Mr. G. E. Knox, C.S., the Treasurer of the Native Church Council, writes as follows respecting these stations:—

At our recent Native Church Council the delegate from Jabalpur made an earnest appeal to the Council, based upon the work that was being done at Jabalpur. It was, however decided by a majority that the Native Church Council should take up Azimgarh and complete the chain of work between Benares and Gorakhpur; and the funds were not sufficient for any second work being taken up.

At Lucknow there is only a beginning; but the amount, which I have received in this one year, Rs. 88, is in itself no mean proof of the readiness of the congregation there to follow in the steps of the other churches, whose work is more advanced.

The Mirat Report is by the Native Secretary, Lazarus Jeremy. He feels very much the enforced abandonment of the out-stations which once were held by Meerut: and is very active in stirring up the Native Christians of Meerut, and provoking them to independent efforts to spread the Gospel and reoccupy if possible the footing, which we will hope has been only temporarily lost.

At Allahabad, too, quiet work has been done for some time past. I myself have seen and heard the preacher at work in the streets and bazaars of the city. Now that the Divinity School is about to commence work in that station, still more opportunities will be opened up of united effort.

In South India grants have been made to Native Churches in Madras, Tinnevelly, and the Telugu country. Reference is directed to the preceding pages as to the general work of these Missions. With regard to Travancore, exact details of the administration of the Fund have come to hand, and are as follows:—Rs. 125 per annum are divided among five pastorates, with an additional Rs. 12 to Cottayam.

CEYLON.

A small sum (25*l.*) was granted to the Native Association in Kandy and Cotta for Evangelistic purposes. Mr. Dowbiggin writes of the latter:—

In Angampitiya the agents mainly supported by the grant from the Henry Venn Fund are working; and it is a real work, and a place where Gospel work is needed.

As last year, Angampitiya has been the centre round which the battle has raged with, if possible, increased fury. The Kurugala priest seems determined, if he can, to drive us out of the place.

He tried to get up a boys' school near to his pansala, and failed. We purpose, as a diversion, to carry the battle into the enemy's camp, and try to succeed with a boys' school where he failed.

The Christian Church here is a small one, but the members of the Church are sincere and are serving the Lord Christ. And not only so, they have a hearty desire to see the kingdom of Christ flourish in this district, and with a view to this exert themselves.

MAURITIUS.

The grant to this Mission is given to the Native Church Council, which, though in its infancy at present, is yet working vigorously.

CHINA.

A grant has also been made to the Fuh-Chow Church. For full details respecting the important work at Fuh Chow, see pp. 170—178.

REPORT OF THE FRANCES RIDLEY HAVERGAL MEMORIAL FUND.

THIS Fund, which was established in 1879, mainly through the efforts of the Editor and readers of Hand and Heart, now amounts to 2495*l.* 7*s.* 6*d.* The object of the Fund is two-fold, (1) the training and employment of Bible-women, and (2) the translation and circulation of selected portions of the late Miss Havergal's books.

It has been resolved by the Committee that 1000*l.* stock should be retained for the purpose of using the interest in support of Bible-women, and that the remainder of the Fund should be expended as required in grants towards the translation and publication of Miss Havergal's works.

With this end, the sum of Rs. 10 per month was granted for Bible-women at Jhandiala, in the Punjab (at the special request of Miss M. V. G. Havergal, sister of the deceased), and to the Indian Female Normal School Society for a Bible-woman at Bombay: with a like amount for a Bible-woman at Jabalpur. During the year, also, grants from this Fund have been made for the support of Bible-women in Lucknow, in Andul near Calcutta, Masulipatam, Mauritius, and for a second Bible-woman in the Punjab.

The work has only been recently commenced at these places, and the reports are scanty. Mr. Hodgson, however, writes from Jabalpur:—

> We are indebted to the Frances Ridley Havergal Memorial Fund for the means of supporting a Bible-woman in Jabalpur. The need was great, and, fortunately, we had the very person to our hands, exactly fitted for the post, "Jane," who has been connected with the Mission from its very commencement, and has always shown a special aptitude for the work of a teacher. She has now a number of pupils whom she daily visits in their own homes, to whom with her kind and motherly ways she especially commends herself as a teacher of the love of Christ.

With regard to the second apportionment of the Fund, the translation of one of Miss Havergal's books into the Telugu language has been sanctioned, and arrangements for printing and publishing it are now in progress. Rs. 250 have also been granted for bringing out one of the works in Bengali, and a like amount to the Travancore Conference for bringing out a small tentative edition of one of them in Malayalim. A Native Christian literature is sorely needed, and a difficulty in this direction at present is that the time of the missionary is so fully occupied, that he has little opportunity for the additional labour of translation and revision. It is hoped that competent translators may be found among friends of Missions on the spot, or among the more educated and advanced Native Christians.

PRAYER USED AT THE ANNUAL MEETINGS OF THE SOCIETY AND AT THE OPENING OF MEETINGS OF THE GENERAL COMMITTEE.

ALMIGHTY and most merciful FATHER, we give Thee humble thanks for the light of Thy Gospel. Make us more grateful for this Thy mercy, and more zealous for the salvation of all mankind.

Visit in mercy the Church of Christ; enrich it more abundantly with the grace of Thy Holy Spirit; and bless its endeavours to make known Thy Truth. Unite, as one man, all who are truly labouring for Thee. Disappoint the designs of Satan. Let all Christian Societies live in harmony and love; give them wisdom in all their plans; perfect Thy strength in their weakness; and direct their labours to Thy glory!

The harvest truly is great, but the Labourers are few! O Thou Lord of the Harvest, send forth labourers into Thy Harvest! Fill with Thy Spirit those whom Thou hast sent forth; and enable them faithfully and boldly to preach, among Jews and Gentiles, the unsearchable riches of Christ. Keep them from the snares of the world, the flesh, and the devil; deliver them from all evil; and make them wise to win souls.

Upon all the Native Converts whom Thou hast gathered to Thyself, through Thy labouring servants throughout the world, pour out Thy Holy Spirit, that, as Thou hast begotten them again unto a lively hope, so they may ever be followers of Thee as dear children. Deliver them from all remaining darkness and ignorance; destroy and abolish in their hearts all that remains of Satan's kingdom; grant that their faith, and hope, and love may grow exceedingly; make them to be ready to every good work, and more especially to exert themselves for the salvation of those around them; that so, by their zeal and faithful testimony, by their holiness and faithfulness, they may glorify Thy name before their countrymen, and bring in unto Thee, from the midst of them, such as shall be saved.

Have compassion, O Most-merciful Father, on all those who have come under instruction, though they be not yet altogether Christians. Convince them effectually, by Thy Word and Spirit, of their sinful and miserable state; pour upon them the spirit of grace and supplication, and draw them to Jesus.

Take away blindness from the Jews. Let them receive Thee, O Jesus, as their Messiah, and proclaim Thy saving Name among the Gentiles.

Deliver all Mohammedans from the delusions of the False Prophet! O Thou True Prophet of Thy Church, enlighten them by Thy Holy Spirit, and bow them down at the foot of Thy Cross!

Pity blind Idolaters, who are kept in cruel bondage by the god of this world. Turn them from idols, that they may serve the Living and True God.

O Thou Almighty Saviour, who by the right hand of God art exalted, and hast received of the Father the promise of the Holy Ghost, shed forth His light and grace on this dark world!

Cause all Christians, we beseech Thee, to sow bountifully; that they may reap also bountifully. O Thou that lovest a cheerful giver, let all grace abound toward them, that they may minister liberally of their substance to the making known of Thy Name!

With these our humble prayers, we join our praises and thanksgivings for what Thou hast already done in making known Thy salvation; perfect Thy work, O Lord; shortly accomplish the number of Thine elect; and hasten the coming of Thy Kingdom.

Be present with us, O Lord, at this time. Give us all a single eye to Thy glory. May Thy blessing rest upon our meeting; and may all our hearts be this day quickened and encouraged to fresh and persevering efforts in Thy Service.

We ask these mercies for the glory of Thy Name, through the merits and mediation of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ; and would ascribe to Father, Son, and Holy Ghost, Three Persons in One God, everlasting praise. Amen.

OUR Father which art in Heaven: Hallowed be Thy Name. Thy kingdom come. Thy will be done on earth as it is in heaven. Give us this day our daily bread. And forgive us our trespasses, as we forgive them that trespass against us. And lead us not into temptation; but deliver us from evil: for Thine is the kingdom, the power and the glory, for ever and ever. Amen

PRAYER USED AT THE OPENING OF MEETINGS OF THE COMMITTEE OF CORRESPONDENCE.

ALMIGHTY GOD, our Heavenly Father, who hast purchased to Thyself an Universal Church, by the precious blood of Thy dear Son, we give Thee hearty thanks that it hath pleased Thee to call us to the knowledge of Thy grace and faith in Thee, and to appoint our lot in an age and country, where the true light shineth. We bless Thee that Thou hast awakened us in some measure to feel our responsibilities. We praise Thee for what we have seen and heard of the power of Thy Word among the heathen; we adore Thee for Thy many servants who have gone out from amongst us to toil and suffer and die in making known Thy salvation; and we thank Thee that Thou dost allow us, unworthy sinners, to unite together in this work of faith and labour of love.

We humbly confess our past lukewarmness in this Thy service, notwithstanding these Thine inestimable benefits and mercies. For our Lord Jesus Christ's sake, forgive us our past negligences, and so endue us with Thy Holy Spirit, that we may more earnestly seek Thy glory in the salvation of souls.

Grant us, we beseech Thee, Thy very present help at these our meetings. We ask, most gracious God and Father, for a constraining sense of the love of the Lord Jesus, and for wisdom to direct us in all our endeavours. Increase upon us the spirit of power and of love and of a sound mind. Give us faith and courage; give us zeal and patience; give us a single eye to Thy glory, and help us to bear and to forbear. The silver and the gold are thine, O King of kings! Supply us with what is needful for our great work, and make us faithful stewards of Thy bounty, for proclaiming to the Gentiles the unsearchable riches of Christ.

We pray also for all who are united with us in the direction of this sacred cause.

May Thine especial blessing rest upon our Committees, with their Secretaries, throughout the world. Bestow on them the help that we feel so needful for ourselves. Enable them to maintain the unity of the Spirit in the bond of peace, and ever to find favour in the sight of all with whom they may have to do.

Especially we beseech Thee to look, O most merciful Father, upon our Missionary brethren. Draw out our hearts towards them more and more; and while they are bearing the burden abroad, give us grace to help and succour them by our sympathy and prayers at home. Bless every letter written to them from this house, and all our intercourse with them. We pray for them that they may be filled with Thy Spirit. Grant that the same mind may be in them which was also in Christ Jesus. Let them never lose their first love. Raise them above the cares of this world. Help them to deny themselves and to endure all things for the elect's sake. Give them the tongue of the learned. Clothe them with humility. Teach them to follow peace with each other, and with all men. Support them under spiritual distresses, temptations of the adversary, bodily sickness, domestic anxieties, and hope deferred. And so confirm Thy word from their lips by the power of the Holy Ghost, that through them multitudes may be turned from darkness to light, and from the power of Satan unto Thee, our God.

We most heartily thank Thee, O Lord, for those whom Thou hast already sent forth through this Society; and we pray for a yet larger outpouring of a Missionary spirit on our younger Clergy, on the members of our Universities, on those who are elsewhere preparing for this holy work, on the young men of all ranks and orders throughout our land. And herein do we implore Thy special favour on our Islington Institution, that its numbers may be replenished continually; and that none may go forth thence but such as shall be able ministers of the New Testament, full of Faith, and of the Holy Ghost.

We praise Thee, O Thou God of all grace, for the Converts, the Native Catechists, and the Native Clergy, whom Thou hast granted to us in our several Missions. As Thou hast raised the Native Churches thus far, bring them, we pray Thee, to full ripeness and perfectness of age in Christ. Pour out upon them Thy Holy Spirit. Stablish, strengthen, settle them, and so enlarge their liberality, that they may both maintain Thy word among themselves, and may make it known to the regions beyond them, till all the Gentiles hear the glad tidings of Thy love.

And now, O Lord God, be Thou in the midst of us to-day. Give us a constant sense of Thy presence, and may all our undertakings be begun, continued, and ended in Thee, to the honour of Thy great name, for the sake of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ. Amen.

PROPER FORM OF A BENEFACTION TO THE SOCIETY BY WILL.

No. I.—Form of a Bequest of a Common Legacy.

I give and bequeath to the Treasurer for the time being of the Church Missionary Society for Africa and the East the sum of Pounds *free of Legacy duty for the general purposes of the said Society to be paid within calendar months next after my death, exclusively out of such part of my Personal Estate as by the Laws in force at my death may be bequeathed for charitable purposes and in priority to all other payments thereout but to be subject to abate proportionably with other Legacies in case my general Personal Estate shall be insufficient for payment of them all in full. And I declare that the receipt of the Treasurer for the time being of the said Society [or each of the said Societies] shall be an effectual discharge for the said Legacy [or Legacies respectively].

No. II.—Form of Bequest of the Residue, or a Share of the Residue.

And in order to give full effect to the bequest hereinafter contained for charitable purposes I direct that my Debts, the expenses of my funeral and of the probate and execution of this my Will and the Legacies bequeathed by this my Will or any Codicil thereto† shall be paid out of such part of my Personal Estate as by the Laws in force at my death may not be bequeathed for charitable purposes as the primary Fund ‡ and in case only of the same being insufficient for payment thereof then out of such part of my Personal Estate as may be bequeathed for charitable purposes as the ultimate Fund: and subject as aforesaid, I give and bequeath unto the Treasurer for the time being of The Church Missionary Society for Africa and the East, for the general purposes of the said Society, such part of my Residuary Personal Estate as by the Laws in force may be bequeathed for charitable purposes [or if a share only of the Residue be intended to be given, then, instead of the words in Italics, say, "such sum of money as shall be equal to one fourth or one half (according to the intention) of my whole Residuary Personal Estate to be paid exclusively out of such part thereof as may be bequeathed for charitable purposes or such less sum as the said last mentioned part of my Personal Estate will extend to pay"]. And I declare that the Receipt of the Treasurer for the time being of the said Society shall be an effectual discharge for the said residue [or sum of money, as the case may be]. And as to the remainder if any of my general Residuary Personal Estate I bequeath the same, &c.§

* If so intended.

‡ If it be intended also to charge the Debts and Legacies on Real Estate, then add, "and in the next place out of my Freehold and Copyhold Estates."

§ The latter Clause to be filled up according to the Testator's wishes but it must not be for any charitable purpose.

NOTICE TO TREASURERS AND SECRETARIES OF ASSOCIATIONS.

THE COMMITTEE of the Church Missionary Society beg to inform the Treasurers or Secretaries Associations that the Society's financial year ends on the 31st of March.

All Moneys belonging to the year must be received at the Society's House by that date, order to secure the insertion of the Lists in their proper places in the Report.

Much labour and expense is saved to the Society by sending in the Lists and Accounts as so after the money as possible. If not so sent the lists are liable to be excluded from the Repo The date at which the Accounts of the Association are closed, and the names of the Local Offic should be specified. Should no names be given it will be assumed that they remain the same in the previous Report, and the List will be so printed. Where the Account or the List i printed one two copies should be forwarded.

Where an Association has branches connected with it, the Accounts of the Branches must be f warded to the Secretary of the Association some time before the period for forwarding the Accou of the Association to London. When this is not done within a reasonable time, such Branches sho be considered as self-excluded, and the Accounts forwarded without them.

To prevent mistakes, it is requested that Branch Associations will in every case, where pr ticable, forward their Money and Lists through the Association with which they are connect and not direct to the Parent Society.

The Lists and Accounts should be written legibly to avoid mistakes in printing, and made up in manner in which the same are printed in the Parent Society's Report; and in order to secure insert among the Association Lists in the Report they ought to be sent in not later than the 31st of Mar

The Committee would also strongly urge for universal adoption the practice of making ea remittances on account of the year's receipts in the hands of the Local Treasurer. This cou would tend to equalize in a greater degree the Income and Expenditure in the earlier month the Society's Financial year, and save the Society a considerable yearly sum. They are glad to obse that the suggestion has been partially carried out during the present year, but they are desir of seeing it more generally adopted.

The Committee return their cordial thanks to the Treasurers of Associations, and to those frie who kindly fill the office of Secretary—an office which, they are well aware, draws largely on the t and attention of those who occupy it, but on the efficient discharge of the duties of which prosperity of an Association chiefly depends.

II.—ASSOCIATIONS.

NOTE.—All Contributions from Associations are for the year ending December 31st, 1881, except where other stated.
