STATIONS, CLERICAL OR LAY MISSIONARIES, AND NATIVE CLERGYMEN

SUPPORTED EITHER DIRECTLY BY THE SOCIETY, OR BY NATIVE CHURCH FUNDS SUBSIDIZED OR AIDED BY THE SOCIETY.

JUNE 1, 1889.

* A STATION is the place at which a Clerical or Lay Missionary is stationed, or at which Native Christians are located under Native pastoral superintendence in connexion with the Society. The letter (m) means Married.—Wives of Missionaries, &c., though not named, except when engaged in some specific employment, are also expected by the Society to lay themselves out to do good, in every practicable way, among Native Women; such as cultivating familiar intercourse with them, educating children, and instructing the adult women.

The figures after the Names of the European Labourers show the date of their first connexion with the Society's Missions.

*This mark * denotes that the Missionary to whose name it is prefixed is in Local Connexion. It includes Europeans who have joined in the Mission, and Clergymen who were born in the country in which they labour.*

The mark ‡ denotes that the Name to which it is prefixed is that of an Agent supported by Native Church Funds aided by the Society. The Native Ministers in New Zealand are supported partly by Subscriptions from Native Christians, and partly from the rents of lands belonging to the Society in the Colony.

The Names of Native Clergymen are printed in italics. The figures after their names show the date of ordination.

All the names under one station or department of work are printed in order of date, without reference to nationality, sex, orders, or other difference, except that in the case of Colleges, &c., the Principal stands first.

XXI. The COMMITTEE shall meet on the Second Monday in every Month, and oftener if needful; but should the second Monday be a Bank Holiday the Meeting shall be held on the day following. The other Committees shall meet as often, and at such places, as shall be by them agreed on. All Committee Meetings shall be opened with reading a Form of Prayer composed for that purpose, or one or more suitable Prayers selected from the Liturgy.

XXII. The Patrons, Vice-Patron, President, Vice-Presidents, Treasurer, and Secretaries, shall be considered, ex officio, Members of all Committees. OF MISSIONARIES.

XXVI. In the selection of Candidates for the Missionary office the following course shall be pursued. The cases of Candidates who are already in Holy Orders, or who are University Graduates, or whom it is proposed to send out without further training, shall be considered by the Committee of Correspondence, the Candidate having (as a rule) appeared in person before them, and a report having been given, after a personal interview, by one or more members of the Clerical Sub-Committee. If any Member of the Committee of Correspondence shall show reason for requiring further information, the consideration shall be deferred till a subsequent Meeting of that Committee. Other Candidates shall be examined by the Clerical Sub-Committee, which shall report to the Committee of Correspondence.

XXVII. A Candidate nominated by the Committee of Correspondence, and accepted by the COMMITTEE, shall receive instruction in such parts of knowledge, and be prepared in such a manner for his future employment, as the Committee of Correspondence shall judge expedient.

XXVIII. Each Candidate shall consider himself engaged to go to any part of the world, and at any time that the COMMITTEE shall decide, and be subject to such Regulations as may be established by the COMMITTEE for the direction of Missionaries; respect, however, being had to his personal circumstances, or to any previous stipulation made by him with the Society.

XXIX. Each Candidate, when duly prepared and finally approved for Missionary work, shall go out, either ordained or unordained, at the discretion of the COMMITTEE.*

XXX. The Missionaries who go out under the direction of this Society shall be allowed to visit home, permission having been previously obtained from the COMMITTEE: and after having laboured in the cause of the Society, to the satisfaction of the COMMITTEE, at the Stations committed to their care, until age or infirmity prevent further exertion, such provision shall be made to render their remaining days comfortable as in the judgment of the COMMITTEE is suitable. The COMMITTEE shall have the power to assist also, in particular cases, the dependent Relatives of those Missionaries, who, by devoting themselves to the service of the Society, are prevented from contributing to their support. The COMMITTEE shall be further empowered in special cases to make such arrangements with those employed by them as they may think fit.

GENERAL.

XXXI. A friendly intercourse shall be maintained with other Protestant Societies engaged in the same benevolent design of propagating the Gospel of Jesus Christ.

XXXII. All questions relating to matters of Ecclesiastical Order and Discipline, respecting which a difference shall arise between a Bishop of the Church of England abroad and the COMMITTEE, shall, in the absence of any tribunal having legal cognizance of the same, be referred to the Archbishops and Bishops of the Provinces of Canterbury and York, whose decision thereupon shall be binding upon the Society and its agents and representatives.

The proposed reference shall be made by the COMMITTEE, through His Grace the Primate, accompanied by such explanations and statements as the COMMITTEE may deem advisable.

XXXIII. The object of the preceding Law being only to provide a mode of settling questions relating to Ecclesiastical Order and Discipline, as to which no provision has yet been made by the Society, it is not to be so construed, as in any other respect to alter the principles and practices of the Society, as they are contained in its Laws and Regulations.

XXXIV. It is recommended to every Member of the Society to pray to Almighty God for a blessing upon its designs; under the full conviction, that, unless He "prevent us, in all our doings, with His most gracious favour, and further us with His continual help," we cannot reasonably hope to meet with persons of a proper spirit and qualifications to be Missionaries, or expect their endeavours to be crowned with success.

* The Bishops of the Church of England, under the authority of the law of the land, ordain and send forth [ecclesiastically speaking] the Society's Missionaries; and in the event of their being appointed by the COMMITTEE to labour at stations within the jurisdiction of a Bishop of the Church of England abroad, it is the practice of the Society to apply to the Bishop for licenses in which are specified the districts to which the Missionaries have been assigned. This is done on the understanding that licenses will neither be refused, nor when granted be withdrawn from the Missionaries during their connexion with the Society, except for some assigned legal cause.

PRAYER USED AT THE ANNUAL MEETINGS OF THE SOCIETY AND AT THE OPENING OF MEETINGS OF THE GENERAL COMMITTEE.

ALMIGHTY and most merciful FATHER, we give Thee humble thanks for the light of Thy Gospel. Make us more grateful for this Thy mercy, and more zealous for the salvation of all mankind.

Visit in mercy the Church of Christ; enrich it more abundantly with the grace of Thy Holy Spirit; and bless its endeavours to make known Thy Truth. Unite, as one man, all who are truly labouring for Thee. Disappoint the designs of Satan. Let all Christian Societies live in harmony and love; give them wisdom in all their plans; perfect Thy strength in their weakness; and direct their labours to Thy glory.

The harvest truly is great, but the Labourers are few! O Thou Lord of the Harvest, send forth labourers into Thy Harvest! Fill with Thy Spirit those whom Thou hast sent forth; and enable them faithfully and boldly to preach, among Jews and Gentiles, the unsearchable riches of Christ. Keep them from the snares of the world, the flesh, and the devil; deliver them from all evil; and make them wise to win souls.

Upon all the Native Converts whom Thou hast gathered to Thyself, through Thy labouring servants throughout the world, pour out Thy Holy Spirit, that, as Thou hast begotten them again unto a lively hope, so they may ever be followers of Thee as dear children. Deliver them from all remaining darkness and ignorance; destroy and abolish in their hearts all that remains of Satan's kingdom; grant that their faith, and hope, and love may grow exceedingly; make them to be ready to every good work, and more especially to exert themselves for the salvation of those around them; that so, by their zeal and faithful testimony, by their holiness and fruitfulness, they may glorify Thy name before their countrymen, and bring in unto Thee, from the midst of them, such as shall be saved.

Have compassion, O Most-merciful Father, on all those who have come under instruction, though they be not yet altogether Christians. Convince them effectually, by thy Word and Spirit, of their sinful and miserable state; pour upon them the spirit of grace and supplication, and draw them to Jesus.

Take away blindness from the Jews. Let them receive Thee, O Jesus, as their Messiah, and proclaim Thy saving Name among the Gentiles.

Deliver all Mohammedans from the delusions of the False Prophet! O Thou True Prophet of Thy Church, enlighten them by Thy Holy Spirit, and bow them down at the foot of Thy Cross!

Pity blind Idolaters who are kept in cruel bondage by the god of this world. Turn them from idols, that they may serve the Living and True God.

O Thou Almighty Saviour, who by the right hand of God art exalted, and hast received of the Father the promise of the Holy Ghost, shed forth His light and grace on this dark world!

Cause all Christians, we beseech Thee, to sow bountifully; that they may reap also bountifully. O Thou that lovest a cheerful giver, let all grace abound toward them, that they may minister liberally of their substance to the making known of Thy Name!

With these our humble prayers, we join our praises and thanksgivings for what Thou hast already done in making known Thy salvation; perfect Thy work, O Lord; shortly accomplish the number of Thine elect; and hasten the coming of Thy Kingdom.

Be present with us, O Lord, at this time. Give us all a single eye to Thy glory. May Thy blessing rest upon our meeting; and may all our hearts be this day quickened and encouraged to fresh and persevering efforts in Thy Service.

We ask these mercies for the glory of Thy Name, through the merits and mediation of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ; and would ascribe to Father, Son, and Holy Ghost, Three Persons in One God, everlasting praise. Amen.

OUR Father which art in Heaven: Hallowed be Thy Name. Thy kingdom come. Thy will be done on earth as it is in heaven. Give us this day our daily bread. And forgive us our trespasses, as we forgive them that trespass against us. And lead us not into temptation; but deliver us from evil: for Thine is the kingdom, the power, and the glory, for ever and ever. Amen.

PRAYER USED AT THE OPENING OF MEETINGS OF THE COMMITTEE OF CORRESPONDENCE.

ALMIGHTY GOD, our heavenly Father, who hast purchased to Thyself an Universal Church, by the precious blood of Thy dear Son, we give Thee hearty thanks that it hath pleased Thee to call us to the knowledge of Thy grace and faith in Thee, and to appoint our lot in an age and country, where the true light shineth. We bless Thee that Thou hast awakened us in some measure to feel our responsibilities. We praise Thee for what we have seen and heard of the power of Thy Word among the heathen; we adore Thee for Thy many servants who have gone out from amongst us to toil, and suffer, and die in making known Thy salvation; and we thank Thee that Thou dost allow us, unworthy sinners, to unite together in this work of faith and labour of love.

We humbly confess our past lukewarmness in this Thy service, notwithstanding these Thine inestimable benefits and mercies. For our Lord Jesus Christ's sake, forgive us our past negligences, and so endue us with Thy Holy Spirit, that we may more earnestly seek Thy glory in the salvation of souls.

Grant us, we beseech Thee, Thy very present help at these our meetings. We ask, most gracious God and Father, for a constraining sense of the love of the Lord Jesus, and for wisdom to direct us in all our endeavours. Increase upon us the spirit of power and of love and of a sound mind. Give us faith and courage; give us zeal and patience; give us a single eye to Thy glory, and help us to bear and to forbear. The silver and the gold are Thine, O King of kings! Supply us with what is needful for our great work, and make us faithful stewards of Thy bounty, for proclaiming to the Gentiles the unsearchable riches of Christ.

We pray also for all who are united with us in the direction of this sacred cause.

May Thine especial blessing rest upon our Committees, with their Secretaries, throughout the world. Bestow on them the help that we feel so needful for ourselves. Enable them to maintain the unity of the Spirit in the bond of peace, and ever to find favour in the sight of all with whom they may have to do.

Especially we beseech Thee to look, O most merciful Father, upon our Missionary brethren. Draw out our hearts towards them more and more; and while they are bearing the burden abroad, give us grace to help and succour them by our sympathy and prayers at home. Bless every letter written to them from this house, and all our intercourse with them. We pray for them that they may be filled with Thy Spirit. Grant that the same mind may be in them which was also in Christ Jesus. Let them never lose their first love. Raise them above the cares of this world. Help them to deny themselves and to endure all things for the elect's sake. Give them the tongue of the learned. Clothe them with humility. Teach them to follow peace with each other, and with all men. Support them under spiritual distresses, temptations of the adversary, bodily sickness, domestic anxieties, and hope deferred. And so confirm Thy word from their lips by the power of the Holy Ghost, that through them multitudes may be turned from darkness to light, and from the power of Satan unto Thee, our God.

We commend to Thee the Missionaries' children entrusted to our charge. Bring them all to a true knowledge of, and faith in Thee. Defend them with Thy heavenly grace that they may continue Thine for ever, and daily increase in Thy Holy Spirit more and more, until they come into Thy everlasting kingdom. Give all needed grace to those who have the direction of the Home in the discharge of the arduous work with which Thou hast been pleased to entrust them.

We most heartily thank Thee, O Lord, for those whom Thou hast already sent forth through this Society; and we pray for a yet larger outpouring of a Missionary spirit on our younger Clergy, on the members of our Universities, on those who are elsewhere preparing for this holy work, on the young men of all ranks and orders throughout our land. And herein do we implore Thy special favour on our Islington Institution, that its numbers may be replenished continually; and that none may go forth thence but such as shall be able ministers of the New Testament, full of Faith, and of the Holy Ghost.

We praise Thee, O Thou God of all grace, for the Converts, the Native Catechists, and the Native Clergy, whom Thou hast granted to us in our several Missions. As Thou hast raised the Native Churches thus far, bring them, we pray Thee, to full ripeness and perfectness of age in Christ. Pour out upon them Thy Holy Spirit. Stablish, strengthen, settle them, and so enlarge their liberality, that they may both maintain Thy word among themselves, and may make it known to the regions beyond them, till all the Gentiles hear the glad tidings of Thy love.

And now, O Lord God, be Thou in the midst of us to-day. Give us a constant sense of Thy presence, and may all our undertakings be begun, continued, and ended in Thee, to the honour of Thy great name, for the sake of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ. Amen.

PRAYERS FOR MISSIONS,

SUITABLE TO BE USED AT MISSIONARY MEETINGS AND IN PRIVATE.

I.—From the Book of Common Prayer according to the use of the Church of Ireland.

Almighty God, who by Thy Son Jesus Christ didst give commandment to the apostles that they should go into all the world, and preach the Gospel to every creature; grant to us whom Thou hast called into Thy Church a ready will to obey Thy Word, and fill us with a hearty desire to make Thy way known upon earth, Thy saving health among all nations. Look with compassion upon the heathen that have not known Thee, and on the multitudes that are scattered as sheep having no shepherd. O heavenly Father, Lord of the harvest, have respect, we beseech Thee, to our prayers, and send forth labourers into Thy harvest. Fit and prepare them by Thy grace for the work of the ministry; give them the spirit of power, and of love, and of a sound mind; strengthen them to endure hardness; and grant that Thy Holy Spirit may prosper their work, and that by their life and doctrine they may set forth Thy glory and set forward the salvation of all men; through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

II.—For a Blessing on Missionaries and their Labours.

(By Archbishop Sumner.)

O most merciful Saviour and Redeemer, who wouldest not that any should perish, but that all men should be saved and come to the knowledge of the truth, fulfil Thy gracious promise to be present with those who are gone forth in Thy Name to preach the Gospel of Salvation in distant lands. Be with them in all perils by land or by water, in sickness and distress, in weariness and painfulness, in disappointment and persecution. Bless them, we beseech Thee, with Thy continual favour, and send Thy Holy Spirit to guide them into all truth. O Lord, let Thy ministers be clothed with righteousness, and grant that Thy word spoken by their mouths may never be spoken in vain. Endue them with power from on high, and so prosper Thy work in their hands, that the fulness of the Gentiles may be gathered in, and all Israel be saved.

Hear us, O Lord, for Thy mercy's sake, and grant that all who are saved by Thy Name may be one in Thee, and may abound more and more in prayers and in free-will offerings, for the extension of Thy kingdom throughout the world, to Thy honour and glory, who livest and reignest with the Father and the Holy Ghost, ever one God, world without end. Amen.

III.—For Missions, and for Grace to help them.

(By Bishop Christopher Wordsworth.)

O Lord Jesu Christ, Saviour of Mankind, who hast commanded Thy disciples to go into all the world and to preach the Gospel to every creature, and who hast declared that this Gospel of the Kingdom shall first be preached to all nations, and that then the end shall come; we humbly beseech Thee to raise up men full of faith and of the Holy Ghost, and send them forth to do the work of evangelists by spreading abroad the glad tidings of salvation; and so to fill us with Thy love, and to quicken us with Thy grace, that we may labour joyfully with them by prayers and offerings for their work, so that finally at Thy Second Coming to judge the world, we together with them, and with those who have received the Gospel at their hands, may rejoice in Thy presence with exceeding joy, and may praise Thee for evermore, our holy and most merciful Redeemer, our most worthy Judge Eternal, our most mighty Lord and God, to whom, with the Father and the Holy Ghost, be all honour and glory now and for ever. Amen.

IV.

(By Bishop Cotton, of Calcutta.)

O God, who hast made of one blood all nations of men to dwell upon the face of the whole earth, and who didst send Thy blessed Son to preach peace to them that are afar off, and to them that are nigh, grant that all the people of heathen and Mohammedan lands may feel after Thee and find Thee; and hasten, O Lord, the fulfilment of Thy promise, to pour out Thy spirit upon all flesh, through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

THE following system for spelling NATIVE NAMES is recommended to the Society's Missionaries generally for adoption in their letters and reports, unless any of them should prefer a still closer approximation to the more elaborate scheme of Professor Lepsius. This system should not be applied, of course, to those well-known places of which the spelling has become so fixed that it would be mere pedantry to disturb it; as, for instance, Travancore (Travankur), and Lucknow (Laknau). Other well-known names, spelt correctly according to this method, are not pronounced accordingly by English residents. For example, the a in Lagos is always pronounced by English residents, when speaking English, as in the word make.

â usually as in '*f*ather' (in North-Indian words as in '*a*ll').
e as in '*p*en.'
ê as in '*f*ête.'
i as in '*th*in.'
î as in '*p*ique.'
o as in '*n*ot,' or as in the French '*b*onne.'
ô as in '*n*ote.'
u as in '*f*ull.'
û as in '*tr*uly.'
ai as i in '*th*ine.'
au or ou or ow as in '*b*ough.'

It needs only to be noticed further that—

y always sounds as in '*y*ou.'
g „ as in '*g*o.'
j „ as in '*j*oin.'
gn as in 'poi*gn*ant.'
ng as in 'thi*ng*.'
ei as in '*v*ein.'

h has always a separate sound, except in ch as in '*ch*urch,' and sh as in '*sh*e;' th and dh should, therefore, not be used in South Indian names to express the dental t and d.

c whether for k or s, being superfluous, is not used.

Doubled letters should each be pronounced distinctly, as in Italian.

ae represents a sound intermediate between a in '*m*at' and e in '*m*et.'

THE ANNUAL SERMON,

Preached at St. Bride's Church, Fleet Street, on Monday Evening, April 29, 1889,

BY THE

REV. H. W. WEBB-PEPLOE, M.A.,

VICAR OF ST. PAUL'S, ONSLOW SQUARE, LONDON.

"ONE IN A CERTAIN PLACE TESTIFIED, SAYING, WHAT IS MAN, THAT THOU ART MINDFUL OF HIM? OR THE SON OF MAN, THAT THOU VISITEST HIM?"—Hebrews ii. 6.

THE eighth Psalm, from which the Apostle quotes, is now known to be eminently Christological. This is evidenced by the fact that the Lord Jesus Christ appropriated its words to Himself when He stood in the Temple. When the scribes and elders murmured at the children who praised Him, He replied (as in the twenty-first chapter of Matthew and the sixteenth verse): "Yea! have ye never read, Out of the mouths of babes and sucklings Thou hast perfected praise?" It is also claimed for Him by the Apostle St. Paul, in the fifteenth chapter of the first of Corinthians, at the twenty-seventh verse, where he is speaking of the magnificence of Christ's triumph over death, and of the way in which God the Father had exalted Him to be the Ruler over all things from that time forward. St. Paul there says, "For He hath put all things under His feet." Again, in the first chapter of Ephesians, twenty-second verse, when St. Paul is speaking of the Lord's exaltation to the right hand of God far above all principalities, and powers, and dominions, he says, "He hath put all things under His feet."

And yet, though, under New Testament light, it is perfectly clear that this eighth Psalm is intended to be applied to the Lord Jesus, it does not appear directly Messianic to one who but casually observes the terms thereof. The writer is evidently absorbed in spirit with the contemplation of God's great works in Creation; and the magnificence of those works so takes up the whole thought of his soul, that he seems to be altogether overcome with the majesty and glory of the Lord; and suddenly turning from the inanimate to the animate creation, his whole vision seems to be absorbed with the thought of man, and he says, "What is man, that Thou art mindful of him? or the son of man, that Thou visitest him?"

Well did the writer know, from the Mosaic account of the Creation, that God had made man to be the ruler over all things in the earth; that He had, as he himself expresses it, made him to have dominion over the works of His hands, and put all things under his feet; and yet, when he saw the majesty and glory of God in the earth and the heavens, his soul was altogether amazed that man should thus be dignified and glorified by the Most High. And this, my brethren, is still the subject that is engaging the attention of all thoughtful minds.

Whatsoever date we ascribe to the inquiry which I would give this day as a subject for meditation; whether we hold that Job was the original speaker thereof, when (in the seventh chapter of his book and the seventeenth verse), he pleads before God to know "What is man?" and to understand the way in which God had magnified him and had set His heart upon him, all unworthy as he was,—or whether we hold, with some modern writers, that the original is to be found in the Psalm, and that, as one lately expressed it, the poor patriarch, Job, "with a wild wail of torture, is putting forth a bitter parody upon the utterances of David, and is inquiring, What is man that Thou shouldst magnify him by making him thus the object of Thy heavy scourging?"—or whether we hold that the original words are the contemplation of Job, and that David merely appropriates the patriarch's words, and then, turning to the brighter and more hopeful side of man's existence, claims for himself and for all mankind that the Lord hath done wonderful things for them—thus turning the wild wail of torture into an exultant note of praise,—we still have a subject of the very deepest import to us all, and that has engaged the attention of all antiquity.

The inquiry meets us in the 144th Psalm, where once again we read, "What is man, that Thou takest knowledge of him?" Here the Psalmist is speaking of the utter nothingness of the creature, and is amazed at the way in which the Lord lifted him up.

The question then of all antiquity, the question that absorbed the thought and heart of those who were the brightest and best of God's ancient servants, and assuredly the question that in modern times has engaged the attention of all thoughtful men, and will perhaps be the one question around which for years to come the greatest theological and scientific strife will take place, is this: What is man?

And what answer shall we Christians give?—we who are gathered here this night to affirm our faith that the whole of the earth is the property of one man, and that man "the Man Christ Jesus"—when we consider that eleven hundred and fifty millions (or fifteen hundred millions if we take the whole population of the world), whom God wills to have an equally glorious share in the inheritance which Christ purchased for man, are all of them waiting—waiting to know what answer the Christian Church will give to the inquiry: What is man?

The answer that the Christian Church will give will not of course accord in all points with the answer of the scientist who denies the revelation which comes from God. Yet, strange to say, though by different paths, and for very different purposes, we come in one sense to the same conclusion as the scientist: that there are possibilities in man which, if only they be evolved, will raise him to an infinite height, and bestow upon him a power that is possessed by no other creature in the universe.

We hold that man is intended by God to be elevated step by step by the power of the Gospel, until he becomes a partaker of the very glory of God. The scientist holds—if he denies revelation, I mean—that man is gradually, by a process of evolution and by the development of the species, to be so elevated that at last all that is called God shall be found in him, and that man thus becomes a God to himself and to creation.

But there is little question that the answer to be given to-night by those I have the honour of addressing, will be that "the earth is the Lord's and the fulness thereof;" that man is but the deputy or vice-regent of his God; and that if man can be elevated to the position to which Almighty God intended him to attain, he shall be one with God in the person of the Lord Jesus Christ; he shall be elevated, step by step, by the Gospel power, until he shall attain to the highest glory of God: "The glory that Thou gavest Me, I have given them, that they may be one, even as we are one: I in them and Thou in Me, that they may be made perfect in one."

Such was the ambition of the Man Christ Jesus for Himself as man, and for all human beings to whom the power of the Gospel can be made known; and the question which stands before us to-night is whether as a Christian Church, when we have solved through Holy Writ what is meant by man in all the purposes of God, we are prepared to carry out our convictions into practical action; whether, if we discover in God's Holy Word that man is intended to rise to the highest possible nobility, and to be partaker of the very glory of God his Maker, we are prepared to act out our part in our small generation to bring about this glorious, this wonderful end; remembering, as we ought, how God has deigned to put forward this His purpose now,—that through feeble creatures, weak and helpless such as we, all these blessings are intended to be brought home to mankind.

I know no motive-power that can touch man's nature when it be elevated above the self-consciousness of self-seeking, so much as the inquiry what God meant man to be, what God made man for originally, what He considers him to be now, and what are the possibilities God has put before man in and through the glorious Saviour Jesus Christ our Lord. My purpose, therefore, this night is to inquire whether, if God's revelation be the power by which mankind can be elevated to its highest possible destiny, we are prepared to carry out that purpose, and to glorify God as our Saviour in all things, by giving up ourselves to His service, and by walking before Him, not only in personal holiness and personal righteousness, as the Holy Ghost may enable us to live a holy life, but to live the devoted life that the Church should live, and to rise above the selfishness of mere personal salvation; remembering that there is a still more glorious aim than merely to be saved, and to enter personally into the glory of God, and it is this—that in her corporate capacity, the Church should see that the individual life and personality is in one sense to be lost, and that when the individual soul forgets even its own personal salvation and its aspirations to everlasting happiness, then, and then only, does it really attain to the highest possible dignity of man; and that when the Church as a whole becomes, as she should be, greatly thoughtful on behalf of the individuals or units that one by one make up the perfection of the body of Christ which is His Church, then only will she fulfil her high destiny upon earth. The individual to forget his individual life in the larger capacity of manhood, as God would have him do; the Church ever to remember the individual need, and to step out in the power of her corporate capacity, and glorify God as one whole body by seeking the salvation of the individual. This I understand to be the power wherewith God has endowed us as members of His Church. And, if ever there was a dignity and a grandeur put upon the creature, it is that wherewith the Church of God, and we as individual members thereof, are this day endowed by the power of the Gospel.

Now, brethren, let us proceed to the inquiry, taking our answer from God's own Word. What is man? Can anything more magnificent be conceived than the dignity wherewith God originally endowed him? What if we were to discover that all creation, the whole world as it now exists, was but one great revelation of God's purposes of love for the human creature whom He would place in the command of it? If the Word of God as we take it is to be accepted as true, irrespective altogether now of the inquiries which circulate around the first chapter of Genesis as to the length of the periods there named, we cannot deny that while step by step God evolved the glories and beauties of creation, one and one only purpose was in the Master-Mind, and that was to prepare the wonderful sphere in which man as the top-stone of all should be happy and blessed, and should glorify his Maker. And what if, when that wonderful series of preparations was completed, we find that even the Almighty Maker, the great Creator, has to pause as it were, in order that He may give greater dignity and greater glory to the creation of the creature which is to be possessor of all?—and instead of that mere fiat, "Let there be" and "there was," we hear the Triune God saying, "Let Us make man in Our own image and after Our own likeness." And then, "God made man,"—not simply announced his creation and it was done, but moulded man according to that typical form which we afterwards discover to be realized in Christ Jesus, and whereof Adam was only a type—(not Jesus Christ the after-thought, as many would have us believe in this day; but Christ the thought, and Adam but the type, and thus the forerunner and the figure of the coming True Man)—in order that, as man came forth from his Maker's hand,—man breathed into by the Almighty with the breath of life and thus "becoming a living soul,"—we should see him stand on his feet the very glory of God, as the Apostle Paul says, "The image and glory of God"? Surely from that moment we should expect the sphere of man to be great. "Fearfully and wonderfully made" he is; and we derogate naught from the dignity of his Maker by saying that man is a marvellous being; marvellous in every possible sense of the word, both in his creation and in his capacity, as God sends him forth from His own mighty hand. Great indeed must he be when he is found to be worthy of direct intimacy with his Maker; great indeed when God, entitled "Elohim" before, now reveals himself as "the Lord God" in His dealings with man, and he is "visited" by Jehovah-Elohim. Whether by voice alone, or by any manifestation visible or concrete, we are not informed. All we know is that at the time of his creation man was allowed to have fellowship with his Maker, and was visited by the Most High, visited in love and in power, that he might be taught how to act as deputy and governor over all the works that God had called into existence by His Word. Splendid is the destiny that awaits the creature now, and as we look on and wonder what will be the issue thereof, we are lost in amazement at the honour and the greatness wherewith God has been pleased to endow the top-stone of creation, and from our heart the cry goes up —"What is man, that Thou art mindful of him, or the son of man, that Thou visitest him?"

But suddenly all the glory is swept away, and the creature for whom God had worked so long ceases to enjoy his original position; for by one act of folly he has severed himself from God, and, sin entering into the world, and death by sin, all the greatness of man would seem to be lost for ever. Nor, from that time forward, as far as physical manifestation goes, has there ever been a recovery of the creature's lost dignity; and if now (however much modern science rejects the doctrine of the fall) the inquiry rings through the vault of heaven, "What is man?" the answer would appear to be that man has become "a thing of naught,"—"yea, verily every man at his best state is altogether vanity." Man is even "like a vapour that appeareth for a little time, and then vanisheth away."

Yet, brethren, though this his fallen condition urges one to think with pain of the creature, let me invite you to pause before you condemn humanity after that modern fashion which is at the opposite extreme to that which speaks of man rising upwards and becoming God. Let me ask you to look at the fallen creature and see how, even after the fall, there are magnificent proofs in him of the original power of God, and that he is by no means to be condemned as a hopeless cripple. Crippled he is—aye! ruined he may be; but even in his ruin there is a magnificence that deserves and demands our utmost admiration; and it is no mere visionary or empty ideal commandment that the Apostle Peter puts forward when he says, "Honour all men." Rather for them that look deeply and thoughtfully into the existence of man in his fallen condition, there are signs of possible beauty and power which lead us to marvel even while we grieve.

There is much of degradation. There is much that makes one mourn. We cannot look out over a wide field of humanity without grief at the ruin that has come, and without there bursting from our hearts the cry,

> "Oh, vanity of vanities! How wayward the decrees of fate are,
> How very weak the very wise, how very small the very great are."

So philosophizes our late great novelist Thackeray. Again, when we find one of the finest specimens known in regard to intellect described as the greatest, wisest, meanest of mankind, we cannot fail to realize that, notwithstanding the splendour of the intellect and wisdom of man, he remains but a miserable failure at the very best, in his natural condition. But pause before you philosophize after the fashion of those who bid us despise the lowest forms of mankind, the more degraded of our race, and by comparison seek to elevate themselves. Rather look into the condition of the fallen, and as you meditate upon man, you shall discover that, even in his ruins, he is magnificent, and is indeed still a great, nay the greatest, proof upon earth of the wisdom, the power, and the glory of God.

We gaze upon the ruins of a city, and from these ruins we gather its former magnificence and greatness; and it is by the style of these ruins that we judge of the city. So let me ask you to look at man for a moment, and as you see in this fallen creature powers that never were found in any other, you shall be compelled to give him your admiration, and honour him for the possibilities that lie buried beneath the surface, and which may elevate him into something almost divine if only he can be delivered from the dominion of sin.

Look, for instance, at the power of revenge as inherited in the vilest and worst of men. We find no other creature in the world who, for the mere sake of obtaining vengeance on its own behalf, will determine to sacrifice its own life. Look at the power of covetousness—that ambition and yearning after money and place, which the Apostle describes as idolatry; and observe the wondrous powers there are in the creature who, for the mere sake of advancing himself, will slave and toil in order that he may be elevated above his fellows. Look again on that awful power of remorse, which comes over those who have fallen and sunk into despair. Can anything prove more clearly than the workings of remorse the very magnificence of the creature who is capable of such conditions and emotions? It would seem, if we watch a man in the activities of remorse, as if he were able to stand on a height within himself and so contemplate the utter misery of his own ruined, fallen state. Surely there is no other creature in the world such as this.

Therefore, as we look at man in his fall, again we are compelled to say, What is man? and to answer back, Man is not merely the wreck of his former self,—though that we believe most solemnly,—but a wonderful creature, a marvellous being, fitted, if only liberated from his fallen condition, to stand once more in the presence of God.

Time forbids us to dwell as we would wish on the strange and solemn series of records in the Bible of the visitations of God as the Lord-Jehovah, from the day that Adam fell, in order that He might, if possible, re-elevate humanity. Jehovah, "I AM," now takes the place of the Creator, and as the Covenant God of love and pity, we now see the workings of the Most High on behalf of man. Again and again, as man fell into sin, did the Lord reveal His purposes of love, but time does not permit us to dwell upon these. We pass on therefore to the days of Abraham, when for the first time we read that "the Lord appeared." It is a striking expression, which not only occurs again and again in the lifetime of Abraham (Genesis xii., xvii., xviii., &c.), but ever onward this is the form in which the visitations of the Most High as Jehovah, the great Covenant God of life and of love towards man, are for the most part described, as if to express the determination of the Lord to make Himself known to fallen man.

And yet, notwithstanding the tenderness of God in thus appearing as He did to Moses, and to Israel, as the Deliverer, and still further appearing among them as resident in the Shekinah, men would not accept the blessing, through hardness of heart. They could not enter in because of unbelief. From Abraham's time, therefore, though the Gospel began to be preached in this form, and God announced: "In thy seed shall all the nations of the earth be blessed," we find that instead of the world at large enjoying more and more the visitations of God, those visitations seem to have been less and less for mankind as a whole. With an effort, as it were, to win one "nation," God revealed Himself to the people of Israel, but because of their hardness of heart and unbelief it seemed impossible that even one could be blessed.

At length, after four thousand years, during which God had from time to time been essaying to reveal Himself unto men, the oracle would seem to have become altogether dumb, when an angel appears to a virgin in Nazareth, and tells her that a "holy thing shall be born of her which shall be called the Son of God;" and there bursts from the inspired lips of Zacharias the cry that "God hath visited and redeemed His people," and that "the Dayspring from on high hath visited us;" and the Lord Jesus, as the true "Word made flesh," appears among men. Thus God's visitings would seem to be limited to the person of His Son, "the Word made flesh," the Man Christ Jesus; and the seed of Abraham, in which men were to be blessed—(that seed which was necessarily to be "of faith," begotten of faith, active with faith, glorified by faith)—is limited to the one Man, "God with us."

And now, what see we as the result of Jehovah deigning to appear in the flesh? First, the manifestation of what man should be and could be if only the purpose of God was fulfilled; secondly, the manifestation of what God still determined to accomplish in man, because in Christ Jesus He would purchase humanity to Himself; and, thirdly, the manifestation of what may be done by those brought into personal contact and union with Him, being made one with the Son of God, by the faith which He requires us to exercise.

We also see that in place of limitation, which had appeared to be working for so many centuries, expansion commenced, and has been wondrously proceeding, from the day that the Lord Jesus returned to His Father in Heaven. For when about to pass back to the glory of God, and to be hidden from men's eyes for a little while, we hear from His lips the blessed truth that "Ye shall receive power" and "Ye shall be witnesses unto Me," and in ten days from that time a third great series of manifestations commences. No longer do men see the form of the Son of God, but the power of the Holy Ghost in the sons of God. Jehovah-Elohim had appeared unto man; Jehovah Jesus had appeared for man; and now, in the Church of God, and in the fulness of His power, the Jehovah Spirit would appear in man. From that day forward the work of expansion commences, and for eighteen hundred years the great power of the Lord, the Holy Ghost, has been exhibited in this world working out the complete man (Eph. iv. 13, and v. 25, &c.), male and female. "It is not good that the man should be alone; I will make him an help meet for him," said the Lord God; and from that hour the Bride of the Lord Jesus has been member by member and stone by stone brought into personal communion with Christ Jesus, of whom God hath said that "every man should call Him Lord, to the glory of God the Father." United to Christ, by the power of faith, through the operation of the Holy Ghost, soul after soul has been introduced into Christ, that man may live in Christ; and that as He is exalted far above all principality, and power, and might, and dominion, and every name that is named, every one that is united to Him by the Holy Spirit's life-giving power may also be exalted, and thus the man may be one. For there never has been but one man in the purpose of God. Adam's wife was literally of him, that the unity might be realized in him, the first man. The Second Man, who is the Lord from heaven, will not be complete until His Bride be brought unto Him, His glorious Church, without spot or wrinkle or any such thing; and so each sinner that is joined to Jesus Christ by His Spirit is made a member of His body, of His flesh, and of His bones; and we live in Him, we live by Him, and we may now live for Him, in order that hereafter we may live with Him in the manifested glory that awaits God's Son.

And now, my brethren, when we see "the Man Christ Jesus" made perfect through suffering, and then lifted up to the throne of God that by His Spirit He may draw men into absolute unity with Himself, say, oh say, "What is man?" What is man, as we see him in the person of God's Son? What is man, as we see him in the purpose of God, which is to be carried out in soul after soul of those that are redeemed and united vitally unto the Lord Jesus Christ?

And "What is man" when we consider the triumphs of this Gospel? What but this truth, as the truth is in Jesus, has made man such as he has occasionally been seen? What but this could have made a Paul, a Peter, or a John? What but this could have given us an Augustine, a Wycliffe, a Huss, a Savonarola, a Luther? What but this in these latter days could give us those blessed missionaries who have stood before the world as witnesses for the power of Christ? What but this, the purpose of God, to glorify man, the purpose of God that man should have dominion in and through the Lord Jesus Christ, and that all may become workers together with Him, if only they be vitally united to the Man?

For thus we become the seed of which it was promised, "The seed of the woman shall bruise the serpent's head," and "In thy seed shall all nations of the earth be blessed,"

"He saith not, And to seeds, as of many; but as of one, And to thy seed, which is Christ;" and we, says the Apostle, become the seed of Abraham, the very seed of him who was the man of faith, the moment we are vitally united to God's Son. We are all one in Christ Jesus, and then, may we speak it reverently, what Christ has been, as a man, we are called to become, to live Him, and hereafter to exhibit Him before the powers of heaven and earth. And what is this? That what the Lord Jesus Christ did, we should do; and what the Lord Jesus Christ has manifested, we should manifest; and therefore, to us there is given now the boundless honour and the wonderful dignity of drawing men unto the person of the Lord Jesus Christ.

The visitings then of God in this the third dispensation are by the power of the Holy Ghost. But God the Holy Ghost works through man, and therefore it is that every man and every woman, every single member of the Church of the Lord Jesus Christ, becoming instinct with the life of divinity, and made one with the glorified Man Christ Jesus, is called upon to live out this blessed life—a life which, made perfect through suffering and self-sacrifice on behalf of others, rises onward and upward to the dignity wherewith God would see man endowed for ever, simply through forgetfulness of the man's self in seeking the salvation and the completion of the whole.

Such is the honour which God has given to the Church, of which you and I are members; and surely such a gathering as this to-night may well take heed to the divine purpose concerning the whole body, and ask whether, not only if one member suffer, all the members do not suffer with it, and if one member be glorified, all the members are not being glorified with it; but if one member work, whether all the members are carrying out the purposes of God by the work which they accomplish through the power of the Holy Ghost?

We ask, then, my brethren, What has been done by this blessed dignified seed of the promise, the seed of Abraham, the Church of the living God?

There is a keen irony, very painful to thoughtful souls, in the fact that in the year 1888 there was celebrated the centenary of Christian Missions, the centenary of Christian Missions after eighteen centuries and a half of opportunity, of blessing, of privilege, and of power to man! To him God has given dominion; "He hath put all things under his feet;" and the Church was called to exhibit this in every age and in every clime. Eighteen centuries and a half of blessing and power, and yet the Church is only able to speak of one century of missionary labour! Thank God for that blessed Conference, wherein fifteen hundred and seventy-nine delegates from all parts of the earth assembled to tell what God the Spirit can do, and what God the Spirit has done in the Name of Jesus Christ. We thank God for that blessed Conference; but, my brethren, what we come to ask, and the scornful world puts the inquiry before us, is, What is this Man, Christ Jesus? and what answer can we give?

We look over the wide world, and we hear that after one century of missionary labour, we are enabled to show in the field some 35,000 labourers of all kinds, male and female, for all the Protestant denominations that combine to serve Christ; but out of these, 25,000 are only native lay assistants, simply helping as they may: that over the whole area of the world, we can point to some 3000 ordained ministers, with some 2400 native agents definitely ordained and set apart for the ministry; and congregations and converts gathered from the heathen to the number of some two and three-quarter millions, out of one thousand millions of heathen. Thank God for what has been done; and let us take courage and believe that the Lord yet reigneth and hath power; but, my brethren, are we to be content with what has been accomplished by those who call themselves Christ's people, and the members of the body of Christ which is His Church?

Look again, and ask what has been done in regard to money? We are told of 2,000,000*l.* per annum being subscribed for missionary labour by all the Protestant Churches in the world; and it comes to just one halfpenny per head for those whom we are seeking to evangelize! We speak of the need for further effort; and we are asked, Is there the power for it among ourselves? I am addressing myself to Englishmen, and we are informed by Dr. Giffen, the great statistician, that the annual income of Englishmen is no less than 1,270,000,000*l.* Mr. Mulhall makes it 1,240,000,000*l.*; split the difference, if we may, and let us say that we have an income of 1,255,000,000*l.*, wherewith to deal as Englishmen, year by year. And we are called a Christian nation! If the tithe of that were consecrated to God's work (and I do not say that much is not given, because it is not directly given to missionary labour), if the tithe of that were given to the service of God, we should have to deal with 125,000,000*l.* year by year in the service of the Lord. Know you, my brethren, what this is? One hundred and twenty-five million pounds—I take the lowest I dare now—is the exact sum we spent on intoxicating drink in 1887. According to the nation's bill for intoxicants, we have 125,000,000*l.* set apart for man's own body,—and meantime, all that we have is the Lord's.

Again, we are told by those professing to have a full understanding of the subject, that no less than one-fourth of our annual income is set apart as savings, and becomes the accumulated wealth of the land. Archdeacon Farrar is credited with the statement that 100,000,000*l.* is being saved by the working classes; and we are taught that 300,000,000*l.* at least is being saved by the nation. The greatest, probably, of modern writers upon the subject of the nation's income has informed us that from the commencement of this century to the year 1850, more wealth was accumulated to be left hereafter to posterity, than in all the eighteen centuries that preceded the commencement of this century, and that furthermore, from 1850 to 1870 we actually accumulated as a nation a sum larger than that accumulated in the fifty years before.

Therefore there is surely the possibility for us to give largely as a nation to the service of God; and we are gathered here to-night to ask whether we are prepared to give anything, and if so what, to the cause of that Master Who waits at the right hand of God until His Bride be complete. He tarries: the angels of God are waiting, and the souls beneath the altar are crying, "How long, O Lord, how long?" And meantime everything hangs upon our devotion, our earnestness and our love, and we—what answer can we give when He inquires of us, "What is man? art thou mindful of him? and the son of man, hast thou visited him?"

Beloved friends, we can give if we will; and if there be such savings in the land, it is idle to talk of our poverty. I have read that seventy merchants in New York gave 1,400,000 dollars for the erection of a Metropolitan Opera House. And God the Holy Ghost stands pleading to-day with the Church of Jesus Christ, and asking, What have ye given in response to God's love? What is our answer? What shall it be this night?

Three years ago, in this pulpit, the Archbishop of Canterbury told us of a Japanese Native, still a heathen, who was asked by a Christian minister how he could afford to give so much to the worship of his god, and his answer was, "I and my family invoke and worship the great bright god of self-restraint, and there is always enough and to spare when the great bright god of self-restraint appears before us and inquires what we have to give to him." May I take this incident, and turning it to my purpose, say that we have to do with the great bright God of self-sacrifice, the God who for the sake of man became man, that He might save man, the God who visited man that He might elevate man, and make him one with God for ever, the great bright God of self-sacrifice who appears before His Church this night, and asks:—

"I gave My life for thee,
My precious blood I shed,
That thou might'st ransom'd be,
And quicken'd from the dead;
I gave My life for thee,
What hast thou given for Me?"

But, my brethren, it is not only money,—it is men, men, men that we need. And the man that is redeemed is bound to Christ Jesus, and He as the Head should govern all. The members are all to work for the Head, for the Head cannot even say to the feet, "I have no need of you." Yea, the Lord hath need of us all; and as He looks out upon His Church to-night, He may well ask, Is it then so? that merchants can give their thousands for a Metropolitan Opera House, and the merchants of God, the merchants of Christ, the merchants so enriched with the Gospel of salvation, shall be unwilling to put out their hand and their heart and their life for the Son of God, and to say with Isaiah, "Lord, here am I; send me."

We ask for the best of England's sons, and the best of England's daughters. We ask for the highest and the noblest of all. It may be possible to meet the poor ignorant savage with mere devotion of spirit, telling him simply of Jesus; but more than this has to be done in the East. We have to meet the thoughtful and intellectual Hindu, and the subtle cleverness of the Chinese; and others are now rising in the scale of civilization, and we must be prepared to deal with them all. Yet remember this: that the Almighty God has committed unto us after all but one real power, whether we be learned or simple, whereby alone the proud heart, the helpless heart, the stubborn heart of humanity can be humbled, and brought into direct connection with God—and that is the Gospel of Jesus Christ.

As to the power of that Gospel, what see we in the world? Let us take but the single instance of Japan. In 1854 her great gates were rolled back, and the nations bidden to enter and give to that country the Gospel. In 1872 you could count the Christian converts of Japan upon your fingers. Now, we read that there are no less than 441 missionaries of the different Protestant bodies working in Japan, and no less than 25,514 converts, with over 16,000 Sunday-school scholars, and they give actually 10,000*l.* of our English money for the service of God and of Christ Jesus their Saviour. Very touching are the cries coming from them. We hear of one, a diplomatist, coming weeping to a missionary and saying, "Are there none of the nobles of your land who have realized the love of God you tell us of, and who can throw aside their nobility, and hopes, and prospects, and come over to help the ignorant Japanese?" Most touching is the saying of one, an artist, who, when speaking to a missionary, said, "Since Christianity came to my soul, I begin to understand the true meaning of art. I never knew that we Easterns were so stunted in our perceptions of perspective until I learned Christian truth, and then I saw why Westerns can give perspective in their pictures and we cannot—it is because we Easterns are taught by Buddha and Confucius, and they never carry us further than the present, while the Christian looks out to the great far future."

Brethren, our generation is rapidly running! My fathers in God, I speak to you with deep humility. I beseech you, by the mercies of God, that you plead with the rising generation for self-consecration. I beseech you to appear in our committees and conferences, and to speak again and again in the Name of the Lord, of the need and the power of unity of spirit, of the bond of peace, and of consecration of life. I beseech you all, both young and old, rich and poor, to realize that we are the members of the body of Christ, and are called to work for the completion of that body. Oh, let us hear our Master saying, "Sirs, ye are brethren. See that ye fall not out by the way"! Whose heart has not ached at the acrimonious bitterness of the charges brought against missionary labours by those professing to call themselves Christians, during the last few months?—of the days and nights, and we might almost say, the flood-tide of ink, wasted in mental irritation, while the world lies waiting for the Gospel of Christ, and the Lord Jesus bids us go out and win souls for Him.

My brethren, you and I are called to realize this day that we have one only opportunity. Oh, that the fathers would see their opportunity; oh, that the sons and daughters would wake this night, and, day by day in the coming year, see and hear that "now," and now only, "is the accepted time,"—"now," and now only, "is the day of salvation," and that the love of Christ should constrain us, because we thus judge, that One died for all, and that if He died for all, then all have died in Him, and that from this moment, we should live no more to ourselves, but unto Him who died for us and rose again. To take a word from one who has long since left us; the Prince Consort used to say to young men, "Find out God's plan in your generation, and never cross it, but fall into your own place in it." So would I humbly say in closing, See, my brethren, what is God's plan for you in your generation, and see that you never cross it, but that you fall into your place where God would have you be, and live out the purpose of God while life is given you on earth.

This then is our answer to the question:—"What is man?" The true Man is the Lord Jesus Christ, and He waits to be satisfied, when He shall present His Bride unto Himself in the glory of His coming; and you and I, with whole-hearted consecration, and personal self-sacrifice, looking out beyond the present and seeing by faith that glorious appearing of the great God and our Saviour Jesus Christ, are now called to give our answer to the question: What will ye do to hasten that day of the Lord? what will ye do with the opportunities given you? Surely the reply shall go back to the throne, if our heart be right before God, and if we know the blessing and the privilege of being saved, and of offering the salvation of God to the world: Lord, here am I,—spirit, soul, body, and property:

"Now to be Thine, yea, Thine alone, Oh! Lamb of God, I come."

Amen.

GENERAL REVIEW OF THE YEAR.

(READ IN EXETER HALL.)

"The Lord thy God hath blessed thee in all the works of thy hand: He knoweth thy walking through this great wilderness: these forty years the Lord thy God hath been with thee; thou hast lacked nothing." (Deut. ii. 7.)

Changing the word "forty" to "ninety," this passage becomes a most appropriate motto for the Church Missionary Society's Ninetieth Anniversary. "The Lord hath blessed thee in all the works of thy hand"—where is the work of our hand which the Lord has not blessed more than it has deserved? "He knoweth thy walking through this great wilderness"—a wilderness it has been—difficult the way—wary the steps required—great the faith and patience needed; but surely the Society may say, like the Psalmist, "Thou knowest my path." "These [ninety] years the Lord thy God hath been with thee"—this alone it is that has supported the labourers abroad and the labourers at home. "Thou hast lacked nothing"—is that true?—often has there seemed to be great lack, lack of men, of means, of success; but the eye of grateful faith, looking back over ninety years, sees that it is emphatically true. There has been need, frequent and sore; but this was to throw the Society on the Lord, and He has never failed. "Now, therefore, our God, we thank Thee, and praise Thy glorious Name."

The past year has witnessed two great gatherings in London, which illustrated with a force not to be evaded the blessing vouchsafed to the Missionary enterprises of the century, in which this Society has been permitted to take no small share. The General Missionary Conference of June, 1888, brought together the representatives of almost every Protestant Missionary Society, manifested the essential unity underlying their diversities of gifts and operations, and gave opportunity for valuable discussions on all the more important questions of Missionary policy. The Lambeth Conference of July exhibited, as never had been exhibited before, the world-wide expansion of the English Church, and was of itself a notable proof of

The General Missionary Conference, and Lambeth Conference.

Missionary success; for where, without the Missions of this Society, to say nothing of others, would have been the Bishoprics of Sierra Leone, the Niger, Travancore, Japan, Waiapu, Moosonee, and Caledonia, as well as several whose Bishops were not able to be present?

Critics. It is remarkable that this very same year should have witnessed an outburst of hostile criticism of modern Protestant Missions in general, and of this Society in particular. The attack was unusually successful in winning the attention of the public; but the candid and cogent replies published in (literally) every quarter of the globe, in papers representing the most diverse phases of Christian thought and life, and in not a few secular organs also, have shown that intelligent men were not misled by it; while the kindly and liberal response made by very many friends to the fund started as an expression of confidence by that never-failing friend of Missions and of the Society, the Bishop of Exeter, has resulted in an addition to the Society's receipts for the year of over 4000*l.*

Finance. Four months ago there was reason to fear that a discouraging report on the Society's finances would have to be given on the present occasion. But prayer was made that, if it were His will, the Lord would graciously remove the dreaded burden of financial perplexity; and that prayer has been answered beyond what was asked or thought. With deep thankfulness the Committee have to announce that the Ordinary Income of the past year is the largest ever received by the Society. The General Fund has received 211,378*l.*, which is 16,821*l.* more than the preceding year, 3602*l.* more than the highest amount yet recorded (which was two years ago), and 12,000*l.* more than the average of the last seven years. This is not due to Legacies, which are below the average; nor is it affected by the fact that 7000*l.* is included which was contributed to cover last year's deficit, for about the same sum, given for a like object, was included in the previous highest figure. Even without that 7000*l.*, Benefactions are higher than ever before. Associations stand for 143,281*l.*, which is not quite up to the high figures of 1883 and 1884, but is above all other years, and is 4000*l.* above last year.

The General Expenditure has been 214,363*l.*, but as 8651*l.* of this is chargeable to the Extension and other Funds, there is a surplus on the year of 5666*l.*, and the Contingency Fund (a true barometer of the Society's financial position), which last year was utterly exhausted, now stands at 6221*l.*

The receipts on Special Funds, which include contributions for special objects, gifts for investment, and interest on such investments, are also large, viz., 40,638*l.* Of this, 13,431*l.* is a legacy from the late Mr. Denis Crofton, to be invested, and the interest applied to some particular Mission to be named after the testator; 7184*l.* is the amount collected by Bishop Horden towards the endowment of the See of Moosonee; 2412*l.* is from the friend who defrays the Society's grant to the stipend of the Japan Bishopric; 3426*l.* is for the Extension Fund; and 810*l.* is towards the Hannington-Parker Memorial Church. These various Special Fund receipts raise the grand total committed to the Society's administration in the year to 252,016*l.*, an amount never before exceeded, or even nearly approached, except in the two years that witnessed Mr. W. C. Jones's noble gifts for the India, China, and Japan Native Churches.

But while the Committee praise the Giver of all good gifts for putting it into His people's hearts to make these offerings to His service, they would render to Him still more fervent thanksgiving for the many tokens of growing personal interest in Missionary work. The number of inquirers regarding missionary service in the past year has been over 350, although, as is usually the case in times of widespread missionary interest, many of these either did not follow up their first communication or were at once advised not to come forward, at all events for the present. The number actually considered by the Committee was 132, and of these fifty-nine were accepted, of whom twelve were clergymen, and six were qualified medical men—it might be said seven, for the wife of one doctor is a doctor herself. Of the Universities, Cambridge sent nine, Oxford two, Dublin two, Durham three, London one, Edinburgh two. Twenty-six were ladies. The special feature of the year has been the number of persons accepted who were already well qualified to go out without further preparation under the Society's auspices, fourteen only of the fifty-nine having been accepted with a view to training. But the Committee will be glad to receive more young men for training, provided they are of thoroughly-tested spirituality and force of character, and of at least average mental power. Of the twenty-six women, about one-third will go out at their own charges; and the majority are ladies, not only of education, but also of some experience in Christian work. The Committee thank God that such offers of service should have come just when the call had also come for the development of woman's work in fields such as Africa, and in certain spheres in Palestine, China, and Japan, unoccupied by the

Lady missionaries.

Zenana Societies. The Committee have thus been able to place lady missionaries in those fields and spheres without delay, and at the same time without lowering the high standard so well set by the Church of England Zenana Society in its important work; and as the Ladies' Candidates Committees of that Society and the C.M.S. are identical, all possible care is taken to maintain unity of plan and method.

Expenditure at home,

While the Committee rejoice in the development of the Society's work, and desire to spare no pains to secure its efficiency as the Lord may enable them, they heartily sympathize with the prevailing desire for economy both at home and abroad. As regards Home Expenditure,—that is to say, the cost of (a) Collection of Funds, (b) Administration,—it has this year proved to be less than in the preceding year by 1354*l.*; and in the current year it is estimated to be again considerably less. Notwithstanding the labour thrown upon the staff by the largely increased Committee-work, the immense multiplication of correspondence in recent years, the great development of the Publication and Loan Departments, and the growth of Unions and other new agencies for spreading information and interest, the Committee will do their utmost to keep Home Expenditure down. They were engaged in careful and laborious inquiries into its details for some months before outside criticisms appeared. If it should prove practically impossible to effect large reductions under the head of Administration, economy may yet be promoted in the department of Collection of Funds if local volunteer effort should be more developed, as the Committee trust it will be.

and in the Mission-field.

In the Mission-field itself, it has always been the aim of the Committee to give to each missionary such allowances only as will provide what is needful for health and reasonable comfort, and so to enable him to "wait upon the Lord without distraction." Moreover, the Committee firmly uphold the principle that family life exercises a most important influence among the Heathen. At the same time, they have lately adopted new Marriage Regulations applicable to all missionaries, so as (in ordinary cases) to require three years' probation in the field before marriage; and they have encouraged the formation of bands of Associated Evangelists, who are to live in common on small allowances.

While Foreign Missions are being discussed at home by critics representing all kinds of conflicting theories, they are being actually carried on abroad by devoted men and women who have little time, or inclination, for such discussions, but who appeal to us for constant intercession on behalf of themselves, their work, and the people amongst whom they labour. The Committee rejoice to be assured that there is an increasing number of Christian men and women at home who follow their representatives in the Mission-field with sympathy and prayer; yet there are many parishes in all parts of the country, sending a yearly contribution to the Society, in which, beyond the annual sermon, no effort whatever is made to spread actual knowledge of the work and interest in it. Is it surprising that groundless objections to missionary methods obtain credence even in Christian circles, that funds increase slowly or not at all, that Parochial Associations are satisfied with "not going back," and that missionaries have to be sent out by ones and twos instead of by tens and twenties? The Committee entreat their clerical friends not to be content with the scanty summaries of an annual report, but to study for themselves, and to invite their people to study, month by month in the Society's publications, with not less keen interest than is accorded to the daily newspaper or the monthly review, the story of the Lord's own work. Then there would be more intelligent appreciation, and more prayerful sympathy; and very soon the present Income of the Society would be looked back to with wonder that we were ever disposed to boast of so inadequate an offering to so vast a work. The Committee cannot rely upon a mere increase in the number of parishes contributing. Although the Society has a strong claim upon the support of Churchmen generally, the area whence its support is drawn (about one parish in three) is only slightly extending year by year. But there is abundant room for more active practical interest in what are called "C.M.S. churches." If all that may be so described were as zealous as some few of them are, both in rich and in poor districts, the Society's income would quickly and easily be doubled and trebled; and the Committee are glad to see signs in many places that those who do desire to hasten the coming of their Lord's Kingdom are waking up to fresh energy. The various Missionary Unions founded of late years are helping to foster this revival of zeal; and the Missionary Clubs or Bands of young men recently started are a most hopeful feature. The sale of the Society's publications, which has always been large, is steadily increasing year by year, and the financial results of the Publication Department show a continuous improvement. This is one of the best signs of growing interest.

Missionary interest.

Turning to the field of the Society's foreign work, and India. looking first at INDIA, the Committee earnestly wish that the Missions in that continent of nations could be realized in all their multiform variety. It is there that St. Paul's great missionary principle can be best understood,—"Diversities of gifts, but the same Spirit"—"differences of administrations, but the same Lord"—"diversities of operations, but the same God which worketh all in all." But all may be grouped in two great generic varieties. Not, as sometimes stated, "Evangelistic and Educational," but "Evangelistic and Pastoral." That is to say, (1) the Preaching of the Gospel to the Heathen and the Mohammedan, (2) the Building up of the Native Church; as it is pictured to us in the concluding chapter of St. John's Gospel, where Christ's servants are represented in figure, first as fishers, casting the Gospel net, and then as shepherds, feeding and tending the flock. Educational work is not a variety by itself. Education for the Heathen and the Mohammedan is undertaken solely as a means of Evangelization. Education for the Christian population, whether elementary for the children or professional for the future pastor or teacher or evangelist, is a department of Pastoral work. A recollection of these simple distinctions will suggest instant and conclusive replies to many objections. The Committee adhere steadfastly to the Society's ancient practice of using all these various agencies as God enables them. They see unmistakable tokens that God blesses alike the missionary who preaches to motley crowds in the bazaar, and the missionary who wins the personal affections of the boys and youths who come to his High School, and seeks to win them to Christ; the missionary who visits the Brahmans, and gathers them to the English lectures so popular amongst them, and the missionary who goes in and out amongst the lepers and the sweepers, or dwells in jungle recesses among the Santals or the Gonds; the missionary to the English-speaking University graduates of the Presidency cities, and the missionary to the Afghans of the Frontier; the missionary who trains teachers and evangelists, the missionary who translates Christian books and tracts, and the missionary who uses his medical skill to bring crowds of patients within the sound of the Gospel. By sending forth what they hope is only the first of many bands of associated Evangelists to live and labour together, and to forego some of the comforts which even a missionary may ordinarily claim, the Committee have given an earnest of their desire to adapt some of their methods to modern ideals; while by their recent appeal for special contributions to enable them to develop the work of the Society's High Schools and Colleges, they have emphasized their solemn conviction that this agency, despite all assertions to the contrary, has been blessed of God as no other agency has been to conversions from the upper classes of India. As regards the results of all the diversified operations of this and other societies, the Committee would draw attention to the opinions quite lately expressed by Sir William Hunter, formerly Director-General of Statistics in India, as well as by godly rulers of provinces like Sir Rivers Thompson and Sir Charles Aitchison, whose emphatic testimonies can now be added to those, so long familiar, of former rulers like Lord Lawrence and Sir Bartle Frere.

Other Asiatic fields.

Taking up other Asiatic fields more rapidly, the Committee must thank God for very notable blessing in CEYLON, following on the special Winter Mission of last year. Many of the English planters and other residents received marked spiritual blessing from the Lord, and this has been followed by fresh efforts on their part for the evangelization of their heathen dependents. Some who, not very cordially, permitted paid catechists to preach to the people on their plantations, now preach themselves of the Saviour they have found.—To CHINA the Committee have been happy to send several young recruits endued with conspicuous zeal and fervour. Developments of Medical Missions and of Woman's Work are proceeding, and new interior districts are being occupied. The Fuh-Kien Mission is again enabled to report some hundreds of baptisms; and a very happy and hopeful ingathering has been granted to the labours of Mr. Hoare's evangelistic band of Native students in Cheh-Kiang.—The year in JAPAN is notable for the establishment of the new Constitutional Government; and the Japanese Christians, as good and loyal citizens, took their part in the public ceremonies and rejoicings. The baptisms of adult converts by C.M.S. missionaries have much exceeded in number those of any previous year, being 367. The Committee have gladly sent out three lady missionaries for special educational work among Japanese women and girls.—Palestine also has received four lady missionaries from this Society, besides others who have gone out independently; and the Committee hope that the PERSIA Mission may be reinforced in the same way.

America and New Zealand.

The blessing vouchsafed in past years to the Society's work in the Western Hemisphere, among the remnants of noble but once savage races, viz., the Red Indians of North-West America and the Maoris of New Zealand, has been called to mind by the striking testimonies borne in the past year by Bishops from those distant spheres of labour. Bishop Stuart of Waiapu, Bishop Hordon of Moosonee, and Bishop Ridley of Caledonia, all three veteran C.M.S. missionaries, have had alike to tell of formidable obstacles, physical or moral, but alike also of the triumphs of Divine grace. Overwhelming as are the claims of the dense populations of Asia and Africa, it is surely a Christ-like thing to go after those "few sheep in the wilderness" and fetch them home to His flock; and God has specially honoured the men who have gone with that blessed purpose, to the Far North and to the Far South.

Africa. But in the past twelve months the great Continent of AFRICA has stood out conspicuous among mission-fields, and must be noticed less cursorily. The Anniversary day of last year will be ever memorable for the sorrowful tidings that reached the Society between the Morning and the Evening Meetings, of the death of Bishop Parker. No successor has yet been found for that difficult and respon-

Uganda. sible post. The Committee pray God to designate the right man,—though indeed, as Mr. Mackay urges, such a field as Eastern Equatorial Africa would amply absorb the energies of two Bishops. But for the present, dark clouds hang over a large part of that field. A few months ago the prospects in Uganda were brighter than at any period since the establishment of the Mission. Mr. Walker, who joined Mr. Gordon there in April, 1888, was received with unexpected honour by the young King Mwanga. Adherents of the Mission multiplied; many converts were baptized; services and prayer-meetings were largely attended. Then, in September, came the revolt against Mwanga, the accession of Kiwewa, the filling of the highest offices of state by Baganda Christians, the proclamation of religious liberty, and an instant increase in the number of inquirers and "readers." Then the Arab traders, the representatives of the Islam which has been so loudly vaunted as a blessing to Africa, devised another revolution, which resulted in the murder of some Christian officials, the destruction of the Mission property, and the expulsion of the missionaries. For the time, the Uganda Mission (though not the Uganda Church) has ceased to exist,—through the action, be it observed, not of the people themselves, but of Mohammedan foreigners; but the Committee confidently look forward to the re-occupation of the country in God's own good time, and meanwhile the faithful brethren who were content to sit down for months and years to the drudgery of mastering an unwritten language and teaching undisciplined men and boys to read, have the thankful satisfaction of knowing that they leave behind them thousands of copies of fragments of the Word of God and of hymns and prayers, and hundreds of people who can read and understand them.

Blockade of the coast.

The Committee had sent out a reinforcement for the Nyanza Mission, and others were preparing to follow; but none have succeeded in getting into the interior. The results of German domination in East Africa have so far proved calamitous, and have been severely felt in the cutting off of almost all communication through what a few months ago were safe and peaceful territories; and the joint Anglo-German blockade of the coast, whether it has availed anything against the slave-trade or no, has assuredly proved a blockade against missionary enterprise. The Committee thank God for the personal safety, so far, of their brethren in Usagara and on the Nyanza; also, that the brethren at Mpwapwa and Mamboia, notwithstanding strong and kindly representations sent to them by the Consul-General, have determined that the work shall not be abandoned. Nevertheless, the Committee cannot but regard the present aspects of the whole country as very dark.

Frere Town and Rabai.

There is one bright exception. By judicious management, the Imperial British East Africa Company has been peacefully and successfully established at Mombasa, and is pushing inland within the sphere of British influence, on the line of Bishop Hannington's last journey. But there was for a time some danger of disturbance, owing to the fact that many hundreds of fugitive slaves had, during past years, attached themselves to the C.M.S. station at Rabai and the neighbouring Methodist station,—a danger which was obviated by the prompt action of the Company's representative in ransoming them. The Committee are grateful to Sir Fowell Buxton and his friends, who generously contributed 1200*l.* to reimburse in part the Company's outlay in this matter. The Committee also feel it to be a special mercy vouchsafed to the Society that the veteran founder of Frere Town, Mr. Price, should have been in charge during these very anxious times; and they have rejoiced to receive his encouraging accounts of the actual missionary work now being done in this section of the Eastern Equatorial Africa Mission. That work, they trust, will now be extended inland on the very line indicated forty years ago by Krapf; for the British Company have given the Society a cordial invitation to place missionaries at or near all the trading stations which are gradually being opened.

West Africa.

It is not only in East Africa that advance is contemplated. The Committee have long desired to see the West African Missions developing and moving forward, and they trust that this may soon be the case in more than one direction. The provision of a Missionary Bishop for the Yoruba country, to which the Archbishop of Canterbury has given his sanction, will encourage the Native Church to throw itself more zealously into evangelistic work. The life-long linguistic labours of the late Dr. Schön have produced the Hausa dictionaries and translations essential to a successful advance up the Niger into the Mohammedan Soudan; and at this very juncture, a devoted young pioneer, Mr. Graham Wilmot Brooke, comes forward to lead the way, in independent association with the Society. The Committee commend his enterprise to the sympathies and prayers of their friends.

Meanwhile a notable outward and visible sign of the success graciously vouchsafed to the Mission at the mouths of the Niger has been afforded by the destruction of the once famous "juju-temple" at Bonny, and the erection of a large new church, provided at the cost of the people themselves. In this way Bishop Crowther was welcomed back to his missionary diocese, after his recent visit to England.

Deaths.

The Committee's allusion to the lamented death of Dr. Schön brings them naturally to the obituary of the year. Besides that venerable scholar, the Society has lost, of retired missionaries, Dr. Prochnow of North India, W. Adley of Ceylon, Mrs. J. S. S. Robertson, and Mrs. Roper. Of missionaries on the list (besides Bishop Parker and J. Blackburn), the venerable Mrs. Baker, of Travancore, after more than seventy years' active service; Mrs. Burrows, of New Zealand; Mrs. Sell, of Madras; Miss Caspari, of West Africa and Japan; and J. W. Dickinson, of Lagos. Of Vice-Presidents, the Earl of Effingham, the Bishop of St. Asaph, and the revered and beloved Alexander Beattie, a wise counsellor for more than half a century. Of Honorary Life Governors, Cornwall Smalley (one of the oldest clerical members of the Committee), A. B. Burton, Charles Overton, H. W. Sheppard, and Messrs. J. A. Strachan (a valued member of the Committee, and the Society's honorary stock-broker) and J. Griffiths. Of Honorary Life Members, Mrs. George Lea, of Birmingham. Two other ladies must be mentioned, not so closely associated with this Society, but conspicuous for their exemplary labours in the missionary cause, the Dowager Lady Kinnaird, and Miss Mary Whately.

New V.P.'s, &c.

The following new Vice-Presidents have been enrolled:—The new Bishops of St. Asaph, Bedford, Guildford, Beverley, and Tasmania, ex-officio, being members of the Society; and, appointed by the Committee, Lord Halsbury, Lord High Chancellor of England; the Ven. Archdeacon Long, and the Ven. Archdeacon Smart. To fill the vacancies in the list of One Hundred Honorary Governors for Life, the Committee have nominated the following:—The Revs. F. Bourdillon, T. L. N. Causton, E. C. Ince, H. E. Fox, G. F. Head, J. Hewitt (Dublin), and G. B. James; James Stuart, Esq., George Skey, Esq., Major-General Burn, and Major-General George Hutchinson, C.B., C.S.I., whose retirement from the office of Lay Secretary of the Society (on June 30th next) the Committee deeply regret, and whose untiring and valuable services during the past eight years they most gratefully acknowledge.

To the new list of Honorary Members for Life (ladies) the following names have been added:—Mrs. Barton, Cambridge; Miss Berrow, Leamington; Mrs. Caiger, Winchester; Miss A. Harley, Clifton; Mrs. James Hannington, Brighton; Miss Hill, Winchester; Mrs. C. Kemble, Cowbridge; Mrs. J. Lynch, Kingstown, Ireland; Mrs. J. Mills, Orton Waterville; Mrs. Patteson, Norwich; Miss S. Pratt, Wolverhampton; Mrs. O'Malley, Eastbourne; Mrs. Shann, York; Miss A. C. Stephens, Dublin; Miss A. H. Thurnham, Carlisle; Mrs. Tristram, Durham; Mrs. Upcher, Sheringham; Mrs. Wigram, Hampstead; Mrs. Young, Brighton.

Central Secretary.

Last year, the Committee reported the vacancy in the office of Central Secretary for Home Organization. Two months afterwards, to their great satisfaction, the Rev. B. Baring-Gould accepted that post; and they now submit his name, in accordance with Law XX., to the approbation of this Meeting. They much wish that they could at the same time have submitted the name of a new Lay Secretary; but they trust that they may soon be led to a right selection for that important office. They also take this opportunity of expressing thankfulness for the appointment of the Society's valued missionary, the Rev. E. Noel Hodges, to the vacant Bishopric of Travancore and Cochin.

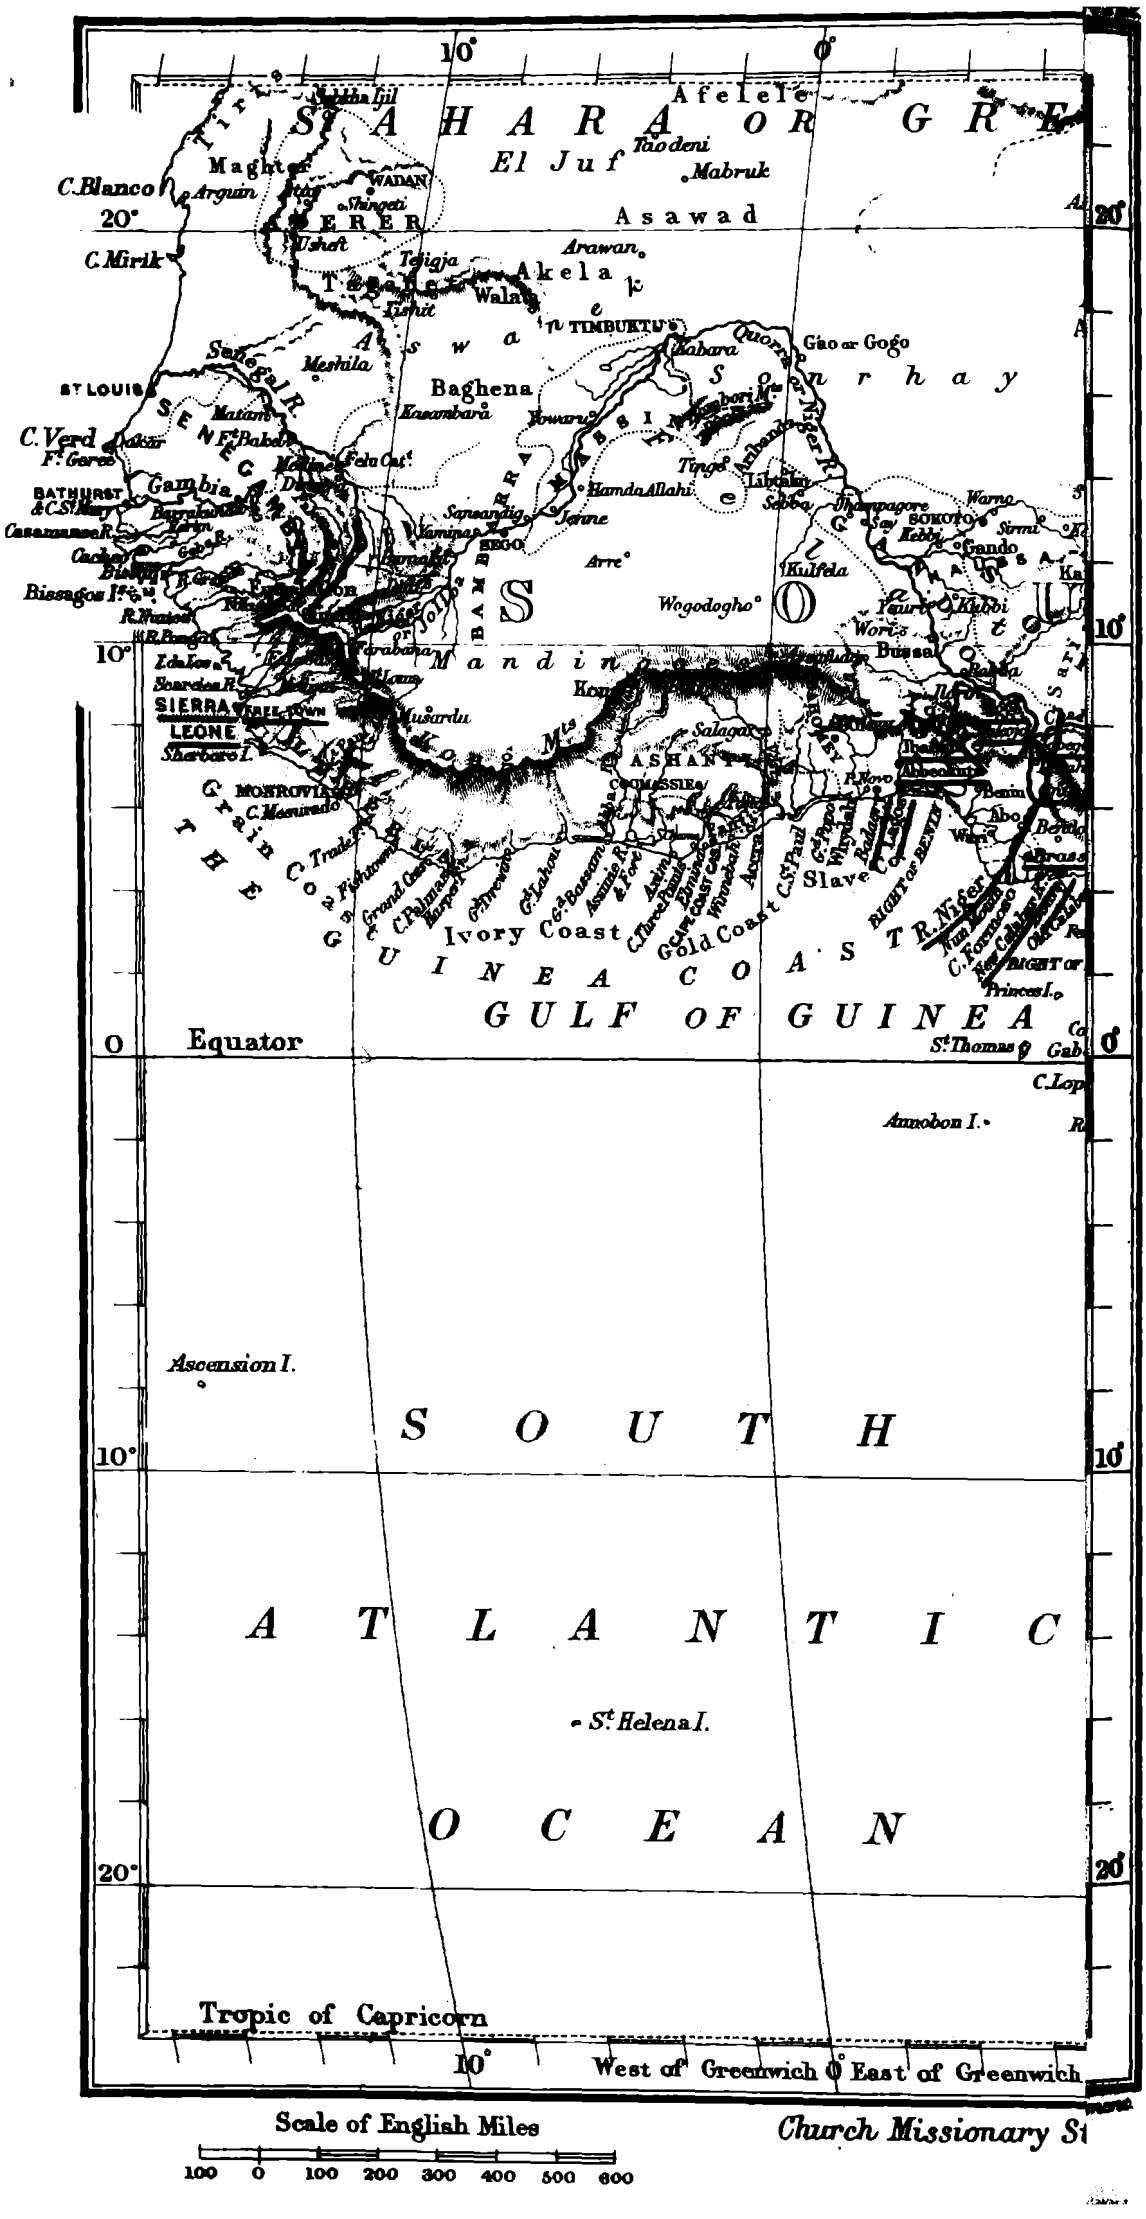

Conclusion

In conclusion, the Committee, while unfeignedly thanking God that they are permitted to present a Report unusually free from causes of discouragement and disquietude, desire with all possible emphasis to disclaim any thought of suggesting grounds for complacency—much less for boasting—in the review of their work and its results. For the souls saved by the instrumentality of the Society let the Lord Jehovah have all the praise; but how many thousands more might have known the way of salvation had God's people been alive to their solemn responsibilities! The mass of Heathendom is still practically untouched, and the Church at home is content to live on in both material and spiritual abundance while doling out the crumbs of its superfluity for the perishing millions.

A new spirit needs to be aroused, both in clergy and in people. A new sense needs to be awakened, of the tremendous need of the Heathen and Mohammedan world, and of the tremendous obligation resting on those who know the Lord to carry His salvation into every corner of the globe. The Committee well know the grave anxieties now pressing upon those who love the pure Gospel of Jesus Christ as revealed in the inspired Word of God, and as embodied in the Articles and Formularies handed down by the Fathers of the English Reformation. But they are persuaded that the more ardently Evangelical Churchmen throw themselves into the work of Evangelization abroad, the more manifestly will the Arm of the Lord be stretched out to protect Evangelical Truth at home.

This is no mere theory, no mere sentiment. It is the teaching of history and experience. The great movement a century ago, which restored the despised doctrines of grace to the pulpits of the Church, grew and prospered upon aggressive work for Christ; and now, without question, it is especially in those parishes where the missionary cause is fostered, that souls are converted to God and the spiritual life of His people is deepened. "Seek ye first the Kingdom of God" is a command with promise for Churches as well as for individuals; and when the Gospel of the Kingdom shall have been preached in all the world for a witness unto all nations, the Kingdom itself, in its fulness, shall come. Remembering, therefore, not only the direct object of the Church Missionary Society abroad, but also its reflex influence at home, the Committee would close its Ninetieth Year in the words of the Ninetieth Psalm:—"Let Thy work appear unto Thy servants, and Thy glory unto their children. And let the beauty of the Lord our God be upon us: and establish Thou the work of our hands upon us; yea, the work of our hands establish Thou it."

WEST AFRICA MISSION.

(European Missionaries first arrived, 1804.)

Sierra Leone, 1816; Port Lokkoh, 1876.

THE Bishop of Sierra Leone paid a short visit to England last year, arriving in June, and returning in November. Several matters of greatest moment to the well-being of the Churches under his charge, both in Sierra Leone and in the Yoruba country, combined to render his visit one of special interest.

The deliberations of the Lambeth Conference were directed to some of these questions. The Report presented by the Committee to which the subject of "Intemperance" was referred by the Conference, contained the following well-merited reflection on the Governments of Christian Europe:—

The responsibility of Christian Governments.

> A combination between Governments might wipe out the grievous stain which now rests on the countries that are counted foremost in the world—the stain of degrading and destroying the weaker races. It has pleased God to make the Christian nations stronger than any other—stronger than all others combined. But this strength brings with it a very solemn responsibility. And this solemn responsibility the Church ought incessantly to press on those who bear authority. It is grievous that it should be possible to say, with any most distant resemblance of truth, that it would be better for Native races that Christian nations should never come into contact with them at all.

The weighty deliverance of the Conference on the subject of "Purity," and that again on the subject of "Polygamy," will be an invaluable moral support to Bishop Ingham and the faithful clergy who have aided him in maintaining the sanctity of marriage, and the necessity as well as possibility of chastity.

Last year the death was announced of Graf and Bültmann. This year a veteran of the same nationality, and educated like them at the Basle Seminary, but still more aged than they, and who preceded them in missionary service, has been taken. The Rev. James Frederick Schön, D.D., died in March last at the age of eighty-five. He arrived at Sierra Leone in 1832, and left it finally in 1847, having contracted the germs of fever in the famous Niger Expedition of 1841, which he accompanied together with Samuel Crowther, then a young lay teacher. This visit to the Niger which excluded him from Africa, gave him an opportunity of opening the interior of that continent to the Christian Church, for he was led thereby to the study of the Haussa language, one of the most important and most widely-spread of the languages of Africa. For his Haussa Grammar and Dictionary he was awarded the gold medal of the French Institute in 1877; and large portions of the Old and New Testament and of the Prayer-Book, both in the Haussa and the Ibo languages, will long survive as proofs of his industry and power. The University of Oxford conferred upon him an honorary degree of Doctor of Divinity in 1884. He laboured to the last at his linguistic studies. As Dr. Cust, his friend, has beautifully written,—"Like the venerable Bede, he fell asleep over his books, and in some page of the translation of the Prayer-Book, or of his revised edition of his great Dictionary, a marker might be placed betwixt the leaves with the following words:—

'He fell asleep here.'"

His translations, &c.

When Dr. Schön went to Africa there were about 3000 attendants on public worship connected with the Society, and 694 communicants. The staff consisted of eight European clergymen, five European catechists, and fourteen Native schoolmasters. The alarming mortality among the European labourers had shown the necessity of training Native pastors and catechists, and Fourah Bay College had just been established. When he died the Native communicants exceeded 6000, and fifteen Native clergymen, and over 100 Native lay catechists and teachers, were labouring in the service, not of a foreign society, but of an independent Native Church. If Dr. Schön read, as he probably did, the elegant memorial volume of the Jubilee of the Queen's reign, and of the Centenary of Sierra Leone, which reached this country a few weeks before his death, containing a full description of the proceedings and a report of the sermons and addresses on that occasion, and especially an able and eloquent oration by the Hon. S. Lewis, B.A., reviewing the progress of the Colony in religion, education, and commerce, he doubtless lifted up his heart in thankfulness and praise, and in supplication.

Progress since 1832.

The Committee have thankfully accepted the offer of Miss Ellen Dunkley to go out to this Mission, and have appointed her Principal of the Annie Walsh Institution. They hope also, as recommended by the Bishop and the Rev. W. Allan, to add shortly to the staff of ordained European missionaries, especially for work among the Mohammedans and the heathen inhabitants of Sherbro.

The Rev. H. Mc C. E. Price received Priests' Orders in April. Ordination.

SIERRA LEONE.

The Rev. F. Nevill, who is the Secretary of the Mission, and also the Principal of Fourah Bay College, was absent from the Mission for six months last year on a short visit to England, when his place in both capacities was taken by the Vice-Principal of the College, the Rev. H. Mc C. E. Price. The academical successes of the year have been satisfactory. In December, 1887, six candidates passed in the first year of the Arts' Course of Durham University, two succeeded in the final B.A. Examination, and one gained the Licence in Theology with Second-class Honours. In the June Examinations there were some failures, but none failed in the Theological part. E. S. Elliott passed his B.A., and E. T. Cole obtained a Third-class in Theological Honours. In October the two candidates for the first year Arts' Course were successful, and in September the Durham Certificate of Proficiency in General Education was gained by all the candidates presented. At the commencement of last year a "College Visiting and Missionary Society" was set on foot by the Principal, and six districts, besides Cline's Town, which is more especially attached to the College, have been regularly visited by the members. Some of the students elected to spend their vacations in Mission or Pastorate districts, giving assistance in the work. Several Missionary Addresses have been delivered in the College, one of special interest by Bishop Crowther, the first Fourah Bay Student, on his way back to the Niger, "who told us in a delightful way about the early days of the College, and himself," writes Mr. Price. Eight students have left the College to take up Missionary or Pastoral work, two of them returning to Lagos, having been educated for the Lagos Native Pastorate.

Throughout last year, during the building of the new wing, the various classes of the Grammar School were held in a house temporarily hired for the purpose. Partly owing to the diminished accommodation for boarders, and partly to the continuance of commercial depression, the numbers have again slightly diminished. At the end of June last year there were sixty boarders, and ninety-eight day scholars. The Principal, the Rev. O. Moore, wrote in August that the Juvenile Missionary Association had sent over 45*l.* the previous March to the funds of the Sierra Leone Church Mission.

The Annie Walsh School.

The Annie Walsh Institution has had another unsettled year. Miss Henderson left in October, and Miss Nevill, who returned at a very short notice to the Mission after a brief furlough, succeeded temporarily to her duties. Miss H. Bisset continues to give valued help in the management of the school. The year closed with forty-one boarders, and twenty-four day scholars. Two former pupils were married during last year to Niger missionaries. Two of the girls gained the Durham Certificate of Proficiency in General Education at the close of last year. This was the first time that this distinction has been attained by ladies in the Colony. The Y.W.C.A. has a roll of fifty-six names, with an average fortnightly attendance of twenty-eight. The members have lately been encouraged to conduct the meetings themselves in rotation.

Durham certificates gained by African girls.

An influential committee of the Sierra Leone Native Church has been engaged during the year in revising the Articles of Arrangement which were drawn up during the episcopate of Bishop Vidal, and have defined the constitution of that Church since 1862. The Committee await with interest their final report, and prayerfully anticipate a harmonious conclusion of their anxious labours. The reconsideration of the terms on which the Society's property is held by the Native Church is necessarily involved in this revision.

Death of Rev. G. C. M. Nicol.

The Native Church has sustained the loss of one of the most cultured and respected of its clergy by the death, in August, of the Rev. G. C. M. Nicol, the pastor of Sherbro. He was grandson of Bishop Crowther, and son of the Rev. George Nicol, who for several years was mathematical tutor at Fourah Bay College, and afterwards Colonial Chaplain at Bathurst, on the Gambia. Mr. G. C. M. Nicol received some training in the Society's College, Islington, and then graduated B.A. at Corpus Christi College, Cambridge. He was ordained by the Bishop of Sierra Leone in 1883.

PORT LOKKOH.

Port Lokkoh

The Rev. J. A. Alley continues at this station. He relates that the king, on his return from Sierra Leone, was informed of the Bishop's and the Rev. W. Allan's visit of the previous January, and that on the following Sunday he was present at a Timneh open-air service, and encouraged the people to send their children to school, especially "as they knew not what would be at the last, whether Mohammedanism or Christianity." Mr. Alley spent the dry season itinerating, and preached the Gospel in fifty-three different towns. He has completed the translation of the Book of Exodus. Of the Old Testament Books only Genesis and the Psalms are as yet printed in Timneh.

The king at an open-air service.

The Rev. S. Taylor, Native missionary, took up his residence last year in April, at Makori, a new out-station about half-way between Port Lokkoh and Sierra Leone. The chief, Pa Chinsman, who is an old man, has expressed an earnest desire to see the Gospel take root among his people before his death. He has regularly attended the Sunday services, and in October, when the King of Port Lokkoh and several other Timneh chiefs were at Makori holding a political conference, owing to his influence the deliberations were discontinued on the Sunday, and all attended the services and listened to a sermon on King Solomon, and the King greater than Solomon. Mr. Taylor says that subsequent conversation with these kings convinced him that all were favourably disposed towards Christianity.

Proposed Yoruba Bishopric.

THE need of increased Episcopal supervision for the Yoruba country has frequently been represented to the Committee by the Bishop of Sierra Leone. The subject was carefully considered during the Rev. James Johnson's last visit to England, and, upon the return of the Rev. W. Allan from West Africa, the Committee definitely recognized the need of such supervision, and also acquiesced, though reluctantly, in the almost unanimous opinion of those chiefly concerned, that the time has not yet arrived for the appointment of a Native Bishop. The Committee were therefore prepared to give most careful consideration to the proposal which Bishop Ingham laid before them during his recent short stay in England, and they were happy to agree with him upon a scheme, of which the Archbishop of Canterbury has since expressed approval, for promoting a Missionary Bishopric for the Yoruba Country.

Death of Rev. J. W. Dickinson and of Mrs. Roper.

On July 1st the staff of this Mission, already exceedingly weak, was yet further reduced by the death of the Rev. J. W. Dickinson. He had written a few days before, apprising the Committee that Mrs. Dickinson had been ordered home, and before she could start he had responded to the sudden summons to leave his brief but happy labours for the home on high. Mrs. Roper, widow of the late Rev. E. Roper of this Mission, also died in March.

Reinforcements.

The Rev. Ralph Kidd, B.A. of Trinity College, Dublin, and Curate of Portlaw, in Ireland, and, for a few months, of St. Andrew's, Stamford Street, Blackfriars, has been appointed to Abeokuta, and sailed in January last. The Committee have also had the satisfaction of reinforcing this Mission by sending out Miss Marion Goodall and Miss Fanny Higgins, both to Lagos. The former, who sailed in November by the same ship as the Bishop and Mrs. Ingham, was very ill on the journey, partly owing to an accident a few days before starting, and has since her arrival had a serious attack of fever.

Ordinations.

On May 6th, the Bishop of Sierra Leone admitted to Priest's Orders the Revs. J. Brayne, M. J. Luke, and S. Johnson, the two last being Native clergymen.

LAGOS, AND THE COAST DISTRICT.

Christ Church.

In addition to the duties of the Secretaryship of the Mission, which have wholly devolved upon him since the departure of the Rev. J. B. Wood in June, the Rev. J. Vernall has the pastoral charge of Christ Church, Faji, which is now the only church retained by the Society in the island of Lagos. The services are intended for European and Sierra Leone residents, and are conducted in English. Mr. Vernall in his last Annual Letter (written in May, 1888), reported an average attendance for the previous twelve months of 228 at the usual services, and of ninety at the Holy Communion. There are also held weekly Bible Classes for men (average attendance fifty) and women, and a Congregational Prayer Meeting, and monthly classes are held in connexion with the Bible Reading Union, and for communicants. A Lagos Branch of the C.E.T.S. has been formed. The C.M.S. Book-Shop, Mr. Vernall says, does an important work, being "the book-shop of Lagos," and thus controlling in a great measure the supply of literature, especially that in the vernacular. This shop supports, by its profits of trade, the Printing Press, from which issues monthly the Yoruba and Niger Gleaner; and last year a number of small pamphlets in Yoruba—"Rules for Holy Living," the Canticles, also in Yoruba, pointed for chanting, and other publications were sent forth.

Book-Shop and Printing Press.

After the death of the Rev. J. W. Dickinson it became necessary to summon the Rev. J. Brayne from Abeokuta, to which place he had been assigned by the Lagos Finance Committee in May, to take charge of the Training Institution. He had had no previous experience in educational work, but he took it up relying on Divine strength, and he found it a happy work. There were twenty-two students in December, five of whom expected to go out as schoolmasters after the Christmas holidays. On Sundays the students assist in the various Sunday-schools, and a few conduct a Sunday-school and service in the Prison. On Sunday afternoons an open-air service is held in Faji market-place by all the students. Mr. Brayne says, "We deeply need a fresh baptism of the Holy Ghost, to infuse new life into us. Pray for this very especially."

The Training Institution.

Miss Krusé was married to Mr. Vernall at the end of October, and was relieved a few weeks later of the charge of the Female Institution by the arrival of Miss Goodall. Miss Kendall had left in September on medical certificate, and her place was vacant until Miss Higgins' arrival in March. In November the first-class in the school was for the first time presented for examination to the Government Inspector, who reported the work done as excellent. There was not a single failure in any of the subjects of the sixth standard. The Principal and two of the teachers were recommended for honorary certificates.

The Female Institution.

The Rev. D. Coker reports seventy-two baptized Christians, and thirty-six communicants at BADAGRY. There were three adult baptisms. The contributions of Native Christians for religious purposes amounted to 58*l.* 14*s.* 7½*d.*

The Native teacher in charge of LEKE, E. W. George, has sent a journal of his daily work, recording discussions with Mohammedans, expostulations with backsliding Christians, and persuasive appeals to heathens. He says:— Leke.

> Our voluntary preachers have steadily pursued their noble work, and though strongly opposed by the Mohammedans, and often denounced as disturbers of their peace, yet they have perseveringly continued their effort to speak of Jesus to as many as would listen, and invite several others to attend divine service.

Three adults were baptized here in August.

No report has been received from the Lagos Native Church, which comprises the pastorates of Breadfruit, Aroloya, Ebute Ero, St. Peter's, and Ebute Meta. At Aroloya the foundation-stone of a new church, to supersede one which is now too small, was laid in February last, by Mr. J. A. Payne, Registrar and Taxing Master of the Supreme Court of the Colony. The sixth Annual Report of the Lagos Church Mission for 1887 shows an income for that year of 170*l.* 7*s.* 9*d.* Six lay agents are employed and there are stations at Ojo, Iganmu, and Isaga. New church at Aroloya.

INTERIOR MISSION: ABEOKUTA AND IBADAN.

Some solicitude has been occasioned regarding the future of the Society's work in the interior of the Yoruba country by widely current rumours as to French attempts to secure the "protectorate" of Abeokuta. These reports were consequent upon a visit paid in the spring of last year by a Frenchman reaching Abeokuta from Porto Novo, which is under French protection. He was the guest of the Roman Catholic missionaries in the town, who are also Frenchmen, and these manifested a not unnatural exultation at the prospect which they entertained. The chiefs of Abeokuta denied having signed a treaty, and the Egbas have shown so strong a feeling against a French connexion, that when in November one of the French padres said that the authorities had sold their country, and that the Protestants would soon be expelled and their property possessed by the Romanists, the whole party of priests was ordered to leave the town, but subsequently they were allowed to remain. Disquieting political rumours at Abeokuta.

As already mentioned, Mr. Wood came to England in June, and the Rev. T. Harding succeeded to the charge of the work at ABEOKUTA. He has now been joined by the Rev. R. Kidd.

The seventh report of the Abeokuta Native Pastorate Association announces a total of 708*l.* 14*s.* 0½*d.*, collected The Native Church.

in the several stations during 1887, of which 56*l.* 0*s.* 3¼*d.* was for Church Missions. Seventy-two adults were baptized. The three Native pastors, the Revs. D. Williams, S. Doherty, and W. Moore, are in charge of Ake, Igbore, and Ikija. These are three of the many semi-independent townships which are found within the spacious walls of Abeokuta, situated east, west, and north respectively. Ake, which may be called the capital, has the largest and most influential congregation. Some of the communicants at this place, Mr. Harding says, have gone out regularly on Sundays to preach to the heathen in the streets and markets. A small church was built last year at Kesi, where a lay agent has commenced work; and the foundations of a new church have been laid at Igbore, towards the building of which the Christians have willingly assisted by gifts of money and labour.

Out-stations. A son of the Rev. D. Olubi, of Ibadan, has been appointed as lay evangelist at Ilugun, an out-station of Ikija. At another out-station, Ikereku, a Mohammedan was lately baptized, who has endured much persecution in consequence. A new church was opened at Iporo in July. The collection on the occasion amounted to 5*l.* 18*s.* 0½*d.* about two-thirds of which was in cowries to the number of 190,000. On New Year's Day Mr. Harding baptized twenty-one adults at this church, fifteen men and six women.

Schools. There are 392 children in nine Schools, and Mr. Harding says, "The neatness in dress, and the intelligent expressions on the faces of our children are a great contrast to the heathen and the Mohammedans." Mr. Harding's painful words on the subject of intemperance must be quoted. He says:—

Intemperance.

> One enormous drawback to our work in this country is the profuse, use of rum and gin. At births, weddings, and funerals, and idol-feasts, men, women, and children are constantly "drinking themselves drunk." Many also of our baptized people have fallen into the snare and are held captive by the devil. On all sides amongst chiefs and people, heathen and Christians, the drink is felt to be a curse; and yet they will drink it. It is very difficult for people to break away from the superstition and practice of idol-worship, how much more difficult is it for them when there is added the love and habit of drinking! May God have mercy upon those who bring it to the country! England paid 21,000,000*l.* to free the slaves, but the drink is a much greater curse than slavery, though that, too, is truly a curse, and exists amongst us unaffected by British law. So curse is added to curse.

The drink felt to be a curse.

A temperance society has been formed in connexion with the Native Pastorate Association, and the following pledge, printed in Yoruba and English, has been adopted :—

Temperance pledge.

I will abstain from gin and rum, and strive, as a Christian and lover of my fellow-countrymen, to abolish them from the country. I further recognize it my duty, as a Christian, to make every possible effort towards the suppression of intemperance, and as a member of this Society I will strive, by example and precept, in the name and help of our Lord Jesus Christ, to promote its objects.

Mr. Harding refers to the encouragement and support which the Bishops' resolution on polygamy gave to the Christians at Abeokuta.

Oyo.

Oyo is the ancient capital of the Yoruba country, and the inhabitants' pride in the fact seems to have its effect in rendering them more tenacious of their ancient customs and superstitions. The Rev. S. Johnson reports thirteen adult baptisms, however, last year, and eight the previous year. Of their efforts to evangelize their heathen neighbours, Mr. Johnson says:—

Voluntary preachers.

We have arranged for aggressive work amongst the heathen, although, as I have said, our efforts are not systematic. Several of the leaders were appointed of both sexes, who are ready to go out weekly, either from house to house or to make stands in the open air for preaching the Gospel to their countrymen. We have arranged it for every Monday at 9 a.m., and have arranged for a report meeting once a month. The voluntary preachers are divided into two bands, the elderly ones by themselves and the younger ones by themselves to emulate each other; and the latter especially often go out with their Yoruba New Testament in hand and, on the whole, I am happy to say that they have all been very active, and the Lord is blessing their efforts apparently, for oftentimes they succeed in bringing people to hear the Word of God.

No report has been received from the Rev. D. Olubi, of Ibadan.

Ode Ondo.

The Rev. C. Phillips mentions that his catechumen's classes now consist of sixteen men and seventeen women, but he does not mention any baptisms, and he has omitted to supply the usual statistical returns. The congregation remitted 4*l.* 11*s.* 2*d.* to the Bible Society. Itebu, an outstation, has lost by death its faithful catechist, Mr. J. A. P. Williams. Since he took charge at the end of 1884 the adherents have increased from thirty-one to eighty-two, and the communicants from two to ten. This congregation sent 3*l.* 5*s.* 5*d.* to the Bible Society.

The Rev. M. J. Luke is at Ilesha, but no Annual Letter has been received from him.

Bishop Crowther's return.

THE return of Bishop Crowther from England in January was the occasion of numerous addresses of welcome from the chiefs and clergy and people of Bonny. In one of them he was reminded of his advanced age of eighty years, and that "for a quarter of a century since his elevation to the Episcopate, he had been permitted to carry on the work on the Niger with untiring energy and unflagging zeal." The opening of St. Stephen's new iron church had been deferred for his return, and on January 27th, the Sunday after his arrival, this ceremony took place. By general consent it had been agreed that this church, the largest in the Mission, should be known as St. Stephen's Cathedral. The "Bishop's throne" was subscribed for solely by the Bonny school-children, and was made by Mr. Packer of teak-wood from an old wreck.

Ordinations.

The Bishop admitted to Priest's Orders the Rev. S. J. Smart on February 24th, at Lokoja; and on March 31st he received Mr. A. C. Strong to Deacon's Orders at Onitsha.

Mr. G. Wilmot Brooke.

Mr. Graham Wilmot Brooke, a young lay missionary, unconnected with any society, who has been led to feel a deep interest in the Mohammedan tribes of the Central Soudan, having decided, after trying unsuccessfully every other route, to endeavour to reach that country viâ the Niger, and having expressed a desire, while continuing an independent missionary, to be associated with the C.M.S. so long as he may reside within the sphere of the Society's influence, the Committee have cordially given to him and to his companion, Mr. Ernest Shaw, the right hand of fellowship. Mr. Brooke and his friend sailed in March, intending, God willing, to establish themselves in the first instance at Kipo Hill, to study the Hausa language, and enter into friendly relations with the neighbouring Mohammedans, with a view to obtaining an entrance after a time into the Soudan proper.

In August the Committee sent out Mr. C. T. Kelsey, a young engineer, for the Henry Venn. Mr. Kelsey was a member of the "Mpwapwa" band, connected with St. James's, Holloway.

The Rev. J. A. Robinson, the Secretary of the Mission, has spent an active year among the Delta stations, once, in August and September, proceeding up the river to Lokoja. Since his appointment he has enjoyed an almost unique immunity, for a European, from serious fevers, notwithstanding that his home has been on board the Henry Venn, in which he has threaded repeatedly the pestilential creeks which communicate between the towns of the Lower Niger. This vessel was laid aside in the autumn for necessary repairs. Mr. G. F. Packer's services as an architect and builder have been well utilized, and he has, of course, also taken part in the more direct Mission work at the several stations where he has been engaged. At Bonny he frequently conducted services in the English church, and formed a weekly Bible-class for Sierra Leone men and others.

The Henry Venn.

ARCHDEACONRY OF THE LOWER NIGER.

Archdeacon D. C. Crowther resides at Bonny, where the Rev. J. Boyle is in charge of the pastoral work; the Rev. S. Peters continues at Tuwon, Brass; the Rev. J. D. Garrick has been removed to Ogbonoma, a new station on the New Calabar River, his previous station, Nembe, being now in charge of lay catechists. The Rev. W. E. Carew has laboured at Okrika.

Bonny. A few days after Bishop Crowther's arrival at BONNY, a meeting of the office-bearers and leading members of St. Stephen's, with delegates from the chiefs, was held in the schoolroom to present addresses of welcome, and to request him to formally recognize Bonny as the headquarters of the Delta stations, by accepting the newly-built church as his cathedral. Bonny's claims to this distinction, as being the oldest station of the Mission, and having the largest and most flourishing congregation, were duly urged, and cordially admitted, and four days before its dedication the title of St. Stephen's Cathedral was formally imposed on the building, which had been erected with much generous enthusiasm, at a cost little short of 2000*l.*, contributed solely by the Native people and chiefs.

Opening of St. Stephen's Cathedral. An account of the opening services has been contributed by Mr. J. A. Pratt, the Native catechist, who had been in temporary charge during the absence on furlough at Sierra Leone of the pastor, Mr. Boyle. Mr. Pratt says:—

Preparatory to the opening, there was held an early morning service at 7 o'clock, when the Bishop administered the Holy Communion to C.M.S. agents and their wives, Church officers, and a few leading Church members, male and female communicants. At half-past 8 o'clock a.m. the people began to stream from all quarters into the Mission, and by 9 o'clock the churchyard was quite thronged with people from different parts, waiting for the doors to be opened. When at half past 9 they were opened, the people made such a rush as to baffle completely the disciplinarian skill of the revered churchwardens, and within a very short time no less than 2500 persons were seated in the church, while twice that number remained standing outside—the three porches, and the schoolroom close by, formed agreeable shelters to many from the sun.

The Bishop having sat on the throne, and the clergy standing on either side of the same in front of the chancel, the churchwardens advanced with the keys of the church, and with neat little addresses in the vernacular, presented them to the Bishop, who rose and received them from the archdeacon in the name of the three Persons in the Godhead. After the presentation of the keys, the Bishop and clergy repaired into the chancel; the Bishop then proceeded with the prayers in the order of service, ending with the prayer, "Now unto the King Eternal." The Rev. J. Boyle went to the reading-desk and began the morning service in the vernacular; the other officiating ministers being, the Rev. W. E. Carew, who read the proper psalms; Rev. J. A. Robinson, the first lesson; Rev. S. Peters, the Te Deum; Ven. Archdeacon Crowther, the second lesson; Rev. J. D. Garrick, the Benedictus; and Rev. J. Boyle completing the prayers.

After the hymn, the Bishop ascended the pulpit, and preached a very plain, pointed and interesting sermon from Haggai ii. 6—9 verses. The sermon was followed by a confirmation service, when thirty-eight candidates were admitted by that rite into membership of the church. The prayer in the order of service, and benediction by the Bishop, closed the service that morning.

The number of attendance, including all those who stood outside, was 8144, among them nine chiefs and thirteen Europeans. The collections raised, including those of the evening service, amounted to 1942 manillas = 8*l.* 1*s.* 10*d.*, and in cash, 9*l.* 12*s.* 4½*d.*; total, 17*l.* 14*s.* 2½*d.*

A night service was held at 7 o'clock. The archdeacon took the pulpit, and from Joshua xxiv. verse 27, gave a most practical and impressive sermon to 884 hearers, including four Europeans.

It was in 1872 that the former house of prayer, occupying the same site, was first called St. Stephen's Church, and that year a Native clergyman who visited Bonny from Lagos wrote:—"In one of the idol-temples which we visited, more than a thousand skulls, if I am not mistaken, of human beings, whose flesh had probably been devoured, are deposited." Concerning this temple, Archdeacon Crowther wrote in August last to the Bishop, then in England:— "Ikuba" skull house.

On the receipt of the Record newspaper in which was part of the Rev. W. Allan's report of his visit to Bonny, I thought the opportunity should not be lost to speak of the disgrace the "Ikuba" skull-house brings on Bonny, in the face of the advance of Christianity and civilization. I did so judiciously one Sunday, after morning service, and then to the chiefs whenever I met them, either by visits or in the shipping, and to King George on his sick-bed. They saw with me, and a meeting of chiefs was convened by Chief Warribo Manilla Pepple, when he told them plainly that he once was one of the bitterest enemies of the Mission, but, thank God, his eyes are now open to see his mistake, and that the Ikuba was doing them and the country no good, and should be cleared away. I am told that some were in favour and others indifferent. The king having sanctioned the removal, Chief Warribo sent for me on the morning of the 6th instant to offer prayer and to witness the clearing away of the skulls.

Its destruction.

I went at six o'clock a.m., accompanied by Mr. A. E. Williams, and after reading the 115th Psalm, and the suitable Ibo "prayer for the king and chiefs" in the Prayer-book, the work of clearing up commenced.

By six o'clock in the evening there was not one skull to be seen, or post of the house standing. I asked for the representation of the iguana (their national god) cast in brass, which used to be before the altar, and it was given to me as a memento of the downfall of Dagon. To God be praise, for it is God which worketh in men to will and to do of His good pleasure.

Rev. W. Allan at Bonny.

The Rev. W. Allan, who visited Bonny last year, in March, mentioned this temple in a letter, and also the juju-grove, which was shown to him, where twin children used to be thrown out to die. He spent an enjoyable Sunday at Bonny, which he thus describes:—

It was very delightful, about seven o'clock on Sunday morning, to hear the faint sounds of worship wafted from the shore to our boat (half a mile distant), and to remember that those who were engaged at that early hour in such exercises of devotion had been extricated, through the grace of God and missionary agency, from that horrible degradation in which they were so recently sunk, and in which multitudes around them are unhappily plunged as deeply as ever. For several centuries European traders had been living amongst them, or beside them, without any amelioration of their state; but the Gospel has achieved in a few years what commerce had failed in all those centuries to accomplish. The school-church was thronged on Sunday morning with a most devout and orderly congregation of adults, 885 being present. The heat was inconceivable and overwhelming, but I was enabled, at the close of the service, to address the congregation through an interpreter, and made a point, as usual, of saying not what was likely to be agreeable, but what I hoped might prove profitable. The king was present, and also two, if not all three, of the Juju priests who were recently the ringleaders of the murders and cannibalism for which the Niger Delta has so long been infamous, one of them being already a baptized Christian, and the other two under instruction for baptism. The baptismal class numbers over 700

Mr. Allan has received from Archdeacon Crowther, since his return, "all the former objects of worship at Bonny, the old wooden idols, the two brazen iguanas (Birmingham manufacture), the two ivory tusks on which the blood of all the human victims was poured, and in which the spirits of their departed ancestors were supposed to reside, as well as other relics."

Baptisms.

Mr. Boyle states that a few days after the dedication of the church, on February 24th, twenty-two men and twenty-five women were baptized, one of the women being an aged priestess. He also mentions that, in addition to the new church, the Christians have built four chapels at various trading centres, where, during their absence from home, they may meet together for prayer and praise.

Brass.

Nembe and Tuwon are the capital and port of BRASS. The Rev. S. Peters sends an interesting letter from the latter place. Fifty adults were baptized on Whit-Sunday, when Mr. Robinson was present and preached the sermon. On Tuesdays, classes are held for candidates for confirmation, with ninety-one male and seventy female members; also for catechumens, with 126 members, the males and females being equal. On Wednesdays there is an attendance of fifty at a communicants' class. There is also a class on Fridays, with an average of eighty-four attendants. In September a visit was made to Fish Town, Iwoama, of which Mr. Peters says:—

Jujus in gin cases.

About seventy people, men and women, assembled in the palace of King Digiboerigha. As soon as he saw me and I was introduced by Chief Sambo, he came down from his throne and offered me his seat on the throne. I sat down at once as the king pro tem., and saw two gin cases, containing mud, horns, a few cowries, white soap, &c., very near the throne; these are his juju, or objects of worship. The throne was a slightly elevated box about four feet square. I at once told the king the object of my visit, and he then assembled his people, and I addressed them from John iii. 16 in the vernacular. Chief Sambo also spoke after me; and the king agreed that a place of worship should be built in the town, and that he will allow all his people who are disposed to go there and worship God; and after a little more conversation about Jesus Christ as the Son of God and the Saviour of men, the interview was brought to a close with prayers and benediction by Chief Sambo and myself—the very first prayers offered in that palace, as we were told by the king himself,—many of the people smoking their pipes during the prayers and looking on.

The death of a powerful heathen chief of Brass, who had often been invited to embrace the Gospel, but had made excuses, is touchingly related:—

Death of heathen chief.

When he knew he was going to die, he assembled all his household who were then present with him and thus addressed them:—"I have tried all kinds of juju in and around this country and all the adjacent countries; I have bought plantains, killed fowls, goats, and sheep in sacrifice to juju; but, after all, I find it is all in vain. Who ever made better or greater sacrifices to juju more than I? Who, who in this land of Brass has surpassed me in jujuism? Who? I have tried all, but after all I find no peace, no comfort, and no happiness in these things; juju has not done me any good at all; juju cannot do good to any man; juju can do no good whatever; and now I am going to die. I shall not live long in this world. I have wasted all my precious time to follow juju in vain; and now I must die. Juju cannot save me now; and if I die, after my death no one belonging to my house, men and women, old and young, should believe in juju any more; no one should offer any sacrifice to juju any more. The God of the Christians is the only true God, whom all men ought to worship, and whom you must all try to worship, and leave juju altogether." After this he was dumb, and could speak no more till he died.

Heathen barbarities at Okrika.

OKRIKA in September last was the scene of most revolting barbarities, recalling the earlier days of this Mission. A neighbouring tribe were invited by the Okrika chiefs to a meeting for conference respecting a matter in dispute. Upon their attendance, unarmed, they were treacherously captured and murdered, to the number of about one hundred, and their bodies were then eaten by their captors. Eleven only, who had been divided to chiefs who were adherents of the little Christian congregation, were saved from this fate, and delivered up to the Consul the following month. The Rev. W. E. Carew vainly expostulated with the king, and he and his people were in some danger for holding aloof from the scenes of riot. The Consul visited the place at the beginning of October, in H.M.S. Bramble, and a meeting with the chiefs and people was held in the mission-house, when a fine was imposed, and a warning given not to harm the Christian pastor or his congregation.

A new station.

The first service at OGBONOMA was held on May 13th, when Archdeacon Crowther addressed about thirty or forty persons under the shade of two trees. Mr. Garrick says he has always succeeded in getting a congregation of from sixty to one hundred and fifty, because he is out almost daily visiting the people either in their houses or in the market-places. Of the people, he says:—

The people are heathens, and are known to be more given to Juju-worship than any of the Delta tribes. They are shrewd and intelligent, as they have had European traders trading with them for many years. The people have everything literally excepting the knowledge of the true God, which only can make them better. I often think this ignorance is wilful, but perhaps I am mistaken. Juju's hold on the hearts of men, women, and children is something fearful, and there are ever-recurring festivals and heathenish revels, by which Satan prevents the people from sober thoughts. Ancestral worship goes hand in hand with that of the general Juju-temple: a house is never considered complete unless it has its family shrine, where sacrifices are made in the hour of trouble. Bakana, Buguma, Obonoma, each has a Juju-temple, the roof of which overtops all other houses, and no one—small or great—may presume to raise his roof so high—not even the king. The temple is in charge of a chief priest, who has minor priests (who preside over smaller temples) in attendance. In the temple there is a number of bells, the largest on a brass stand; and there is also a gong. The peals, &c., from these are very sonorous, and are often heard all day. Formerly the presiding god was the figure-head of a ship, but now I saw only representations of leopards, and other beasts, and large glasses, which are sacred. The leopard was a god up to July last year; but on account of its destructive raids on the town, a meeting was held, and the leopard discarded from among the objects worshipped. One has since been killed and eaten publicly. At New Calabar one day is set apart—in imitation of Christendom—as a day of rest. But it is the 8th—and really the people enjoy no rest at all, as the day is spent in dancing, which continues till late at night. Prophets and seers also abound. These sleep mostly in the day and croak at night. It is sad, and at the same time astonishing, to see what influence this class of people have on all generally. To such a people the Gospel of Jesus has now been introduced. The conflict with Satan may be long, but none can doubt the issue. The Gospel has triumphed over many lands; there is Bonny, for example, a land twenty-five years ago as fully devoted to idolatry as New Calabar at present. The Word of God has not lost its power.

Change of Deities.

A day of rest appointed by heathens.

ARCHDEACONRY OF THE UPPER NIGER.

The staff has continued as announced in the last Annual Report, except that the Rev. P. J. Williams did not go to Ida, as there stated, but has been at Lokoja, being responsible for the services and pastoral work during the absence of Archdeacon Johnson at the lower stations, and at Lagos on the occasion of his marriage.

At Osamare Mr. D. John labours with acceptance. When he went there in 1887, he was quite ignorant of the language; but he can now converse and preach in it, Archdeacon Johnson says, with almost as much fluency and ease as in his native Yoruba. He has regularly preached in every street and open space of the town, so that "there is not a single person at Osamare who does not know him, or who has not heard him proclaim the Gospel." The Archdeacon baptized nine young men and a married woman in June.

Proficience of a Native Agent in a foreign language.

A small chapel, to which the chiefs and people contributed, has been put up at Alenso, but very little else has happened to encourage Messrs. Allen and Akpom, the catechist and schoolmaster. The people do not wish them to leave, but neither are they willing yet to accept the Gospel.

Onitsha. But Onitsha is much more discouraging. Not a few, alas! of those who were once members of the Church have fallen back, and are now among the most ardent votaries of idol-worship. Superstition of the grossest kind still prevails. No less than sixteen persons died last year through drinking the decoction prepared from the bark of the sass-wood, as the prescribed ordeal for all suspected of witchcraft. The Romanists too have striven with too much success to draw away, and have re-baptized in some cases members of the congregation. The number of baptized Christians is returned as 247, and of communicants as eighty-four.

Witchcraft ordeal.

Obotshi. Obotshi, on the other hand, the Archdeacon describes as "the brightest spot in the Upper Niger." Mr. Spencer is the catechist. Archdeacon Johnson says:—

Heartiness at Divine Service.

> One very marked feature is the heartiness of the converts at divine service. The responses are not left to school-children and a handful of others, but are general and unanimous. It would do the heart of any one good to see the young men and the elder children making use of the hymns which we have lately translated into the vernacular, enunciating the words clearly, and singing as lustily as their lungs would permit.

"I am going to life."

One boy, who had been baptized, said to a companion when about to die, "I am going to life." The efforts of the converts to give his remains a Christian interment led to a scene of great violence, the heathen relatives appearing with guns and other weapons which they would have used had the Christians persisted. Some excitement was caused also by a convert making firewood of his idol, and cooking his food in the fire. They looked with amazement at the man, expecting his death to follow upon his impiety. Twenty candidates from this place were confirmed at Onitsha by Bishop Crowther in March last.

"With part thereof he eateth flesh."

Asaba is the station of the Rev. H. S. Macaulay, who is winning the affection and esteem of the people. In April last year what Archdeacon Johnson calls "a quiet revolution" took place here. The Chief Justice informed the chiefs that the Government would no longer tolerate the human sacrifices which had been perpetrated here on a large scale. In defiance, however, of the official prohibition, two sacrifices were offered a few days after, and the people immediately proceeded to make a determined attack on the Royal Niger Company's Constabulary quarters in the town. They were soon, however, compelled to retreat; part of the town was burnt to the ground, and the great idol temple in the centre of the town demolished. A condition of the peace which was soon craved and granted was that human sacrifices should cease; and, as involved in this, that the slaves who were kept in a village by themselves, for the only object of being slain as sacrifices, should be set free. Of these wretched beings, Archdeacon Johnson says:—

Slaves kept for sacrifice:

The slaves referred to were the descendants of those who had been brought by the ancestors of the present generation of Asabas, for no other object than to be offered in sacrifice. Like Onitsha, Obotshi, and other large towns in this district, Asaba is divided into nine townships, each having its Ugules, or home-born slaves, located at a convenient distance outside the township. The Ugules form a village by themselves, and all the inhabitants of each village, men, women, and children, were victims which were being nourished for sacrifice. They did not belong to an individual, but to the whole township, and each one knew beforehand the end to which he or she was destined. They had no rights or privileges whatever, were not allowed to go beyond a prescribed limit, and hence were in complete ignorance of the outside world. Even such a place as Onitsha, which is but half an hour's pull from Asaba, was unknown to grown-up ones among these slaves.

Poor unfortunates! their ideas from time immemorial, so to speak, had been associated with nothing but hopeless slavery; and when they did not expect it, they were granted the priceless boon of absolute freedom. Could any one wonder that they were intoxicated with joy? The contrast between their present and their past could be judged easily from the expression of their countenances —their very appearance speaks volumes!

These quondam slaves immediately swelled the number of the Sunday worshippers. The provisional chapel is now too small, and Mr. Packer is about to build a church, towards the cost of which the agents of the Royal Niger Company have liberally subscribed.

Of the Upper Stations, Ida, Gbebe, Lokoja, and Kipo Hill (the last 380 miles from the coast), Archdeacon Johnson does not write cheerfully. The prospect, he fears, is more gloomy than ever. There are six students in the Preparandi Institution, and eight girls in the Boarding-school. The six students were confirmed in February by the Bishop.

Translations.

The Translations of the year have been: the Gospel of St. Matthew, the Services of Holy Communion and of Baptism, thirty hymns, and the 100 texts of the Irish Church Missions, all into Ibo.

EASTERN EQUATORIAL AFRICA MISSION.

1. Mombasa District.—Mombasa, 1844; Kisulutini (Rabai), 1846; Frere Town, 1875; Kamlikeni (Giriama), 1882; Mbungu, 1888.

4. Uganda. 1877.

The anxiety which the Committee expressed in the Annual Report of 1886-7 regarding the possible effects of the delimitation treaty, then recently concluded, on the Society's Eastern Equatorial Africa Mission, has been already painfully justified. The bombardment of the coast by Germany and England has naturally excited the Mohammedan population, whose reprisals have cost the lives of several Roman Catholic missionaries and of one missionary of the London Missionary Society, and have placed in imminent peril Bishop Smythies and his fellow-labourers of the Universities' Mission. The usual route to the Lakes has been closed for ordinary caravans since September, and consequently the reinforcement parties for the Society's Unyamwezi and Nyanza stations, who left England in July, August, and September, were forbidden by the Consul-General, Colonel Euan Smith, from attempting to proceed, and were compelled to halt at Frere Town. Apprehensions were entertained for the safety of the Rev. R. P. Ashe, and Dr. and Mrs. Pruen, with their infant child, who were known to be en route for the coast about the end of October. Two messengers whom they had despatched to Zanzibar, with a brief communication to the Consul-General secreted in their clothing, were providentially enabled to pass the dangerous zone; and the Sultan's peremptory orders to the Governor of Saadani constrained him to send a reluctant escort, by whom the little party were enabled to reach Zanzibar in safety, the mother's heart overflowing with thankfulness after seven weeks of exciting toil and danger.

Bombardment of the Coast, and closing of the route to the interior.

A few weeks later the Consul-General's earnest endeavours to provide a similar escort to conduct Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe (the latter in delicate health) from Mamboia were unavailing; the Sultan's messengers were beaten and robbed at Saadani, and the letters stolen. But in April, through the friendly intervention of the French priests at Bagayomo, and the payment of a heavy ransom to Bushiri, the chief of that place, they were brought safely through, and proceeded to Frere Town.

It is with deep thankfulness to Almighty God that the Committee observe the comparative quiet and security of the territories embraced under the protection of Great Britain. Just when the troubles near Zanzibar were becoming accentuated, in September last, a number of Englishmen, to be honourably known, as the Committee hope and pray, for many years to come as the "Imperial British East Africa Company," received by Royal Charter a concession of far-reaching administrative powers and responsibilities, conditioned by humane provisions, over the countries stretching west and north from Frere Town to the Victoria Lake. Nevertheless grave troubles were for a few weeks apprehended at Frere Town. The local authorities and townspeople of Mombasa were not inclined to welcome the advent of the new Company, and serious disturbances were threatened during October. A tangible and convenient pretext for dissatisfaction was found in the presence at Rabai, and a few other stations, of large numbers whom they claimed as their runaway slaves. The danger was averted by the prompt and humane act of the representative of the Company, who compensated the Arab and Swahili slave-owners, and thus obtained a recognized freedom for men and women, some of whom had been living independent Christian lives for several years. The Committee's cordial thanks have been rendered to Sir Fowell Buxton and a few others, who generously contributed 1200*l.* to reimburse in part to the East Africa Company the sum thus expended.

"Imperial British East Africa Company."

In November the Directors of the Company gave a cordial invitation to the Society to establish a series of Mission stations at convenient distances along the route they are opening up into the interior (the line which was indicated forty years ago by Dr. Krapf, and which the Committee have all along hoped to occupy), and in response to it one station has been opened near Gulu Gulu, one of the Company's depôts.

New station opened.

It has been a great comfort to the Committee that the Rev. W. Salter Price was enabled to continue at Frere Town until April last, the Bishop of Norwich having twice extended his leave of absence from his Suffolk parish, and Mrs. Price having cheerfully consented for the work's sake. Dr. S. T. Pruen has temporarily succeeded to the Secretaryship of the Mission.

Rev. W. S. Price.

The Henry Wright has been indispensable to the Mission during the past months of agitation and danger, as a means, always available, of communication with Zanzibar. At one time, when an attack from Mombasa was expected, it was feared it might have to be used as a place of refuge for the ladies of the Mission party. More than once it has been lent to the East Africa Company; but it was felt necessary to decline a request of Admiral Fremantle in November to be allowed to charter it for the purpose of keeping up communications between the flag-ship and the other blockading vessels, as it was felt it would be most inexpedient for a boat known everywhere on the coast as the C.M.S. steamer to be mixed up in the blockade.

The Henry Wright.

I. MOMBASA MISSION: FRERE TOWN AND RABAI.

ENCOURAGED by a generous special contribution given by the congregation of St. Paul's, Onslow Square, after the February Simultaneous Meetings of 1887, the Committee have sent out three more ladies, and assigned a fourth (making five altogether) to this Mission during the year. One of these ladies is an honorary missionary, and a second partly sustains her own charges. Miss Wardlaw Ramsay, who was a member of Mr. Webb-Peploe's congregation, and a niece of a former Governor-General of India, Lord Dalhousie, arrived at Frere Town in August, and Miss Mary L. Holmes and Miss Esther Scott in October. Mr. B. Ward, a young man sent out to assist the Secretary, also arrived in October. On the other hand, Dr. Vernon Ardagh was ordered home in August, and in October Mr. T. S. England left for a much-needed rest and furlough.

Lady missionaries,

In addition to those enumerated above, who were distinctly assigned to the Coast Mission, four others, whose designation was not precisely determined by the Committee, or who had been instructed to reinforce the interior stations but were prevented from so doing, arrived at Frere Town in August and September. These were the Revs. J. E. Beverley and H. T. Robson, both Islington men, who were ordained Deacons in May at St. Paul's Cathedral, by the Bishop of London, and Priests the following month at St. Paul's, Onslow Square, by Bishop Perry; Mr. C. S. Edwards, M.R.C.S., L.R.C.P. (London); and Mr. W. Carlile Fraser, a mechanical engineer engaged to give assistance to Mr. Mackay in boat-building, &c., at the south of the Lake. Dr. E. J. Baxter, who was to have and other additions to the staff.

relieved Dr. Pruen at Mpwapwa, also reached Frere Town with Mrs. Baxter at the end of September; and Dr. S. T. and Mrs. Pruen, invited by Mr. Price in September, when Frere Town had not a medical man, arrived from the interior in December, having passed through great perils.

Their spheres of work.

These large and mostly unexpected accessions necessarily somewhat taxed ingenuity to provide accommodation; but no difficulty seems to have been experienced in finding a suitable sphere for each worker. The Rev. A. G. Smith was engaged in the finance work of the office until December, when Mr. Ward succeeded to these duties, and he went to open the new station at Mbungu. The Rev. W. E. Taylor visited Shimba in April, and a few weeks later went to Mochi, where he spent the next six months, till December, when he was brought to the coast suffering from an internal disorder. The Rev. E. A. Fitch, relieved by Mr. Taylor, spent a few months at Frere Town, which he employed in commencing a Divinity Class. Mr. J. Burness supervised the building operations at Frere Town until December, when to his great joy he was assigned more direct missionary work by being put in charge of Rabai. Mr. Robson took up Mr. England's work at the Frere Town school upon the latter's leaving. Mr. Beverley and Dr. Edwards, upon their arrival, were located at Rabai, to commence the study of the language, but the latter was sent to bring Mr. Taylor from Mochi, and again in January to attend Mr. Smith during an illness at Mbungu. He has now charge of the work at Mombasa, and Mr. Beverley is stationed at Shimba with Dr. Baxter. Dr. Prüen, with the new year, recommenced the Mombasa Medical Mission, but since Mr. Price's departure the duties of the Secretariat have devolved upon him. The work among the women and girls at Frere Town has been carried on by Miss Fitch, Miss Ramsay giving assistance while studying the language; and Miss Holmes and Miss Scott have commenced a like work at Rabai. Captain Wilson has charge of the Henry Wright, on which Mr. Reid is engineer, and Mr. Pratley works the printing press.

A marvellous contrast at Frere Town.

Of FRERE TOWN Mr. Price wrote a few months after his return, "The contrast between what I found here thirteen years ago and what to-day is simply marvellous. I do not believe there is in any part of the world a more 'open door' for the spread of the kingdom." But troubles were at hand. At the end of September he wrote again: "All the country is in a ferment. War is in the air. We know not what a day may bring forth." And he added, "Whatever happens, God help us to glorify Him, by our lives or by our deaths as He may see good, and overrule all to the furtherance of the Gospel in this country." These forebodings arose from the first news of the troubles further south, and the expected rise of the Arabs of Mombasa in sympathy with their countrymen and co-religionists. In the course of October a serious disturbance did take place, but it was speedily subdued. Amidst the general unrest, the newly-arrived brethren were distributed to their several labours, as recited above, Mr. Price writing, "The openings for missionary work are limitless." Apprehensions.

Of the Divinity Class, commenced in July by Mr. Fitch, Mr. Price wrote :— Divinity class.

> I am most happy to inform you that the Divinity Class has made a fair start. July 6th, 1888, will be a red-letter day in the history of the East Africa Mission. At 10.30 a.m. Messrs. Fitch, England, and Smith met at my house, and, with prayer for God's blessing, we took the first steps in the formation of a training-class for promising young men as teachers and evangelists. We begin with the modest number of nine, but who can say "whereunto this may grow"?

The Rev. I. M. Semler is the Native pastor.

Since May of last year the Mission-house at MOMBASA has not been occupied by a missionary. The more pressing claims for his aid of Frere Town necessitated Dr. Ardagh's removing his residence to the latter place, from whence he paid as frequent visits as he could to the island. The Arabs in Mombasa were not unfriendly. On the contrary, Mr. Taylor found some of them willing to give him valuable assistance gratuitously in his translation work. One of these was a son of a vizier of the late Sultan of Zanzibar, who, moreover, boasted his descent from "the celebrated Beni-Ummeya, of the Koreish, and the ancient kings of Damascus." A portion of the house has been let to the B.I.E.A. Company, rooms for a dispensary &c. being retained. Dr. Edwards is now in charge. Mombasa. Friendly Arabs.

Domestic slavery being a legalized institution in the dominions of the Sultan of Zanzibar, the Society's missionaries, in obedience to the Committee's instructions, have endeavoured to prevent runaway slaves from making RABAI an asylum. But it is scarcely surprising that in an open village among woods and hills, with other villages close around, their efforts have been less successful than they themselves supposed. Among its 2000 inhabitants a considerable number were thrown into alarm at the close of Rabai. Runaway slaves.

the year by the tidings that a searching scrutiny was to be instituted into their antecedents. Mr. Price wrote in October:—

This morning I hear they are in much more considerable numbers than any of us had any idea of—some three or four hundred—and that they refuse to go. Not a few have been there for several years, baptized, confirmed by Bishop Parker, living decent Christian lives, independent, with their own houses and shambas, wives and children. We had no suspicion of their being runaways. Now they are in hot blood, and desperate, and determined to fight for their liberty; and many of the freed slaves will join them. I am afraid they are beyond all control, even of Jones, for whom they have great respect. It is with them a matter of life and death. You may be sure that it is a time of intense anxiety and responsibility. I will do my utmost, God helping, to prevent a collision, for if once blood is shed on either side there will be a fearful catastrophe. Should it come, you will hear of it by cable long before you get this. May God of His great mercy make us all a way of escape out of this trouble! I am writing in great sorrow of heart: "cast down, yet not in despair." I need scarcely say, "Brethren, pray for us, and for the poor people of Rabai!"

"Liberty to the captives."

The joy of the people and of their sympathetic friend was proportionately great when the generous offer of Mr. Mackenzie, the representative of the East Africa Company, became known, and their joy reached its climax on New Year's Day, when papers of freedom were publicly given to all whose title to this right had been called in question. Mr. Price wrote on the last Sunday of the year:—

This morning, half an hour before the bell, the people in their Christmas best were flocking to church. When I went in all the seats were filled, and the aisles and porch. I had difficulty in picking my way to the vestry. I could not help it, tears of joy and thankfulness trickled down my face, but I took care that only God should see them. Oh, what a sight, as I called to mind our experience thirteen years ago! At Holy Communion there were 140, of whom eight were English, and the rest Natives. All praise to God!

A heart-stirring occasion.

Yesterday was a day such as Rabai has never before seen. Mackenzie, I, and two others were engaged in giving out papers of freedom to 950 runaways who have been ransomed by the new Company. It was a heart-stirring occasion, worth coming 6000 miles to take part in. In the evening I gave a dinner to twenty guests in Rebmann's old house; all English except two, Jones, and Heroe of the Methodist Mission. What would dear old Rebmann have said to it all? After dinner there were sent off a number of splendid rockets, &c., which Mackenzie had got for the occasion, and which greatly astonished the Natives. This morning we had a special thanksgiving service; all the Europeans, including Mr. Mackenzie and General Matthews, were present, and even Miss Holmes from her sick-bed; and for want of room were accommodated within the communion-rails, the rest of the church being closely packed from end to end. Oh, that you could have been there to see and hear! I gave an address, and you may be sure I had not far to go for my text, "Ransomed," 1st from earthly, 2nd from spiritual bondage. "Silver and gold," in the one case; "the precious blood of Jesus," in the other. In both, the price fully paid, not by, but for the slaves—sufficient for all, but only those who came and confessed their condition got the benefit, &c., &c.

Mr. Burness is now in charge, and arrangements have been made which it is hoped will obviate in a great measure a recurrence of this danger to the Mission. The Rev. W. H. Jones ministers to the congregation.

Giriama country.

At Mwaiba, an out-station in the Giriama country, the catechist in charge, Robert Keating, though left very much to himself, has plodded on quietly, Mr. Price says. The little community of about fifty Christians and catechumens have built a prayer-house for themselves, which also serves for a school. At the beginning of 1888, encouraged to do so by Mr. Taylor, two Native Christians, Paulos Mendza and Yohana Gona, bearing a flag of black, red, white and yellow, as a "tangible text," revisited some 174 villages of the Giriama country, which, in Mr. Taylor's company, they had assisted in evangelizing a few weeks earlier, and found some few cases in which the good seed lately sown was shooting upwards and taking root downwards in a signal manner.

Native evangelists.

Shimba.

Mr. Morris and Mr. Taylor spent a few weeks at Shimba together in the spring of last year, and Mr. Price, who visited it in May and July, pleaded that it should be occupied as a centre for evangelization. He wrote:—

An earthly paradise.

The Wadigo from the surrounding plains are constantly coming up, and are most willing to listen to the Gospel message. The missionary whose happy lot it may be to be stationed here will have an earthly paradise to live in, and splendid opportunities for evangelistic work. As a sanatorium it has everything to recommend it: pure water; cool, refreshing breezes, without a taint of malaria; magnificent scenery, miles of park-like land affording endless scope for pleasant roaming.

Dr. Baxter, with Mr. Beverley to assist him, and a M'Nika schoolmaster, have been stationed here since February.

Mbungu.

Mbungu is the name of the new station which the Rev. A. G. Smith was told off to occupy in December. It is two miles from Gulu Gulu, where the Imperial British East Africa Company have established a large station and depôt, and twenty-three miles north-west from Rabai. A good camel-road connects it with the latter place and the coast, and it is intended by the Company to carry this road through the most fertile and populous parts of Ukambani to the shores of the Victoria Nyanza. Mr. Price, in recommending this advance, reminded the Committee of Dr. Krapf's proposals and projects. He said :—

Dr. Krapf's proposals.

It is forty years ago that Krapf wrote, "I planned to-day a journey to Ukambani, so that the north-west, too, might be explored, and preparation made for the erection of future missionary stations; for the missionaries in Rabai must be the pioneers of Eastern Africa." It reads like a prophecy, the fulfilment of which is near at hand.

A year later Krapf was advocating before the Committee of the C.M.S. his grand scheme for "an African chain of Missions through the whole breadth of the land," and the Committee so far fell in with the idea, that they appointed a young ardent missionary, Pfefferle, to go out under Krapf's direction, and found a station in Ukambani. The time was not yet come. The early death of Pfefferle postponed for a season the founding of the new station, but the idea was by no means abandoned. The brave, good man, disappointed but not daunted, took up his staff again, and traversed once more, all alone, the tract of country which he longed to bring under the dominion of Christ; and on his return, after many perils, hair-breadth escapes, and privations, he recorded his matured conviction in these words:— "This Mission, so long as there are not more missionaries at Rabai, ought to be postponed, but not given up; since the Wa-Kamba are connected with very many tribes in the interior, who are only to be come at through Ukambani."

Can we—shall we forget all this? Shall we not rather recognize that God's time has come; and that "the bread cast on the waters" forty years ago—the heroic labours of Krapf and the death of the first missionary to the Wa-Kamba on the very threshold of his work—is now coming to the surface?

I will only add that from all I hear, the heart of Bishop Parker was much set upon a line of stations on this route.

Wakamba villages.

There are three Wakamba villages within easy walking distance from the station, and of the wide diffusion of this tribe and their language Mr. Smith says :—

Here there is a language, said to be as far-reaching as the Swahili, to be reduced into the same order as Swahili. Have we any hopes of this people being an important item in the spread of Christianity? I think so. They travel far and wide; and only last week one Mkamba came to me, and repeated the Lord's Prayer, the chief points of Christ's life, the story of the Prodigal Son, and also sang a hymn. All these he had heard from Mr. Taylor, when he was itinerating in the Giriama last year. He tells me he is most anxious to learn more, and that he prays to our God every night for forgiveness and help. I pray that he may be the first-fruits to God of this large tribe.

Mr. Smith's first Sunday was a pleasant one. Some fifty Rabai men, employés of the Company, attended the two services. He says of them :—

These Sunday services give a capital opportunity to the Rabai men who know Kikamba to explain the Gospel to the Wakamba. Sometimes in the week, when the Wakamba are watching the men working, I hear our men explaining the Book and its story.

Translations.

The Second Book of Chronicles has been translated into Swahili, and the first Catechism of the Indian Vernacular Society into the Giriama language, by the Rev. W. E. Taylor. The Book of Deuteronomy in Swahili has been revised, and the Frere Town Mission Press has published the second Catechism of the above Society in Swahili, and a small Book of Prayers for families.

II. TAITA AND CHAGGA.

Missionaries charged with preventing rain at Sagalla.

Mr. Wray and the Rev. W. Morris have had little to encourage them at Sagalla. The absence of rain has been laid to their account. At one time Mr. Morris' magic-lantern was suspected as the medium by which the malign influence was exercised, and it had to be put away; at another time it was the equally strange, but not so easily to be dispensed with, operation of washing their clothes, and especially the coloured ones, which some threatened to take and burn. In June, Mr. Taylor, en route for Chagga, and Mr. Jones, the Native pastor of Rabai, visited Sagalla, and endeavoured, at a public meeting, to persuade the people to a more reasonable course of conduct, and since their visit the prospects have been somewhat brighter. Writing in January, Mr. Wray said that Native broils had been fewer, and cattle-raids less frequent. The Wakamba, formerly enemies, have been encouraged to trade, and one of their caravans remained a week at Sagalla disposing of their cattle. Among these Mr. Wray's efforts met with better success. He says:—

Wakamba visitors observing the Sabbath.

When Sunday came round, I told them that we abstained from work, and set the day apart for God; they said they would do the same, and they did, though the Sagallas tried to persuade them that Sunday was over after afternoon service. In the afternoon I called them together, and gave them an address through an interpreter, though I am afraid he was not one of the best kind; nevertheless, I satisfied myself on one point, viz. that they understood that Jesus Christ was their Saviour. They seemed delighted with the idea, and kept repeating it to one another to make sure of it. I taught them a prayer to carry away with them and use when they got home, viz., "Jesus Christ, teach me to know Thyself." When we parted I asked them if they remembered what I had taught them. They repeated it. And may Jesus Christ manifest Himself to them!

of the Rev. W. S. Price, to enjoy a short and much-needed change to the coast. His place was taken by the Rev. W. E. Taylor. The latter, with his knowledge of collateral dialects, was very soon able to hold some communication with Mandara and the people. He wrote in July :—

Enforced conversation.

One thing that helps is the great amount of conversation one gets in a day, for they crowd round windows and doors from early in the morning till nightfall; so much so, that when I want to work, I have to close shutters and door, and use a candle not unfrequently, and even then they will shout at me from the outside.

It is a great pleasure to hear from one and all how much Mr. Fitch is liked. He seems to be quite a favourite of Mandara's. That monarch always speaks of him with great respect, although Mr. Fitch must often have had to stand firmly against his capricious demands.

Of Mandara he writes somewhat hopefully :—

He is a really good king to his people; although so addicted to pombe, he must keep his wits near to call, and sleep with his only eye continually open. In fact, he tells me he never sleeps at night, only towards morning, and lies awake listening to every trivial sound, and accounting for it: "The cry of a child or the yell of a hyæna, he hears everything." I thought of Shakespeare's lines about "the head that wears a crown," and told him of them. I wish he could say with King David, "I will both lay me down in peace and sleep ; for Thou only, Lord, makest me dwell in safety"!

There is very frequently indeed a tendency in Mandara to talk about religious things—I have no doubt in answer to many a prayer that goes up for him. I have again and again brought home, or endeavoured with God's help to bring home, the necessity of repentance and conversion, and trust I may some day do so successfully. May it be that the Lord will bless my efforts and answer those prayers! I feel what an unworthy mouthpiece I am for such a work, but if the Lord bless my words, I know the words are really His, and will glory in Him who gives them. Sometimes I think Mandara is only playing with me. It may be so. Still, one may shoot an arrow at a venture. One must sow beside all waters. I have daily leave to go and read to him out of Barth's Stories, which he seems to like, and have read consecutively as far as "Job" in the Old Testament series. He had fetched for me an old Arabic Bible given him long ago by Mr. Lamb on one occasion, and I pressed the Gospel upon him from it before a number of Swahilis and Arabs—slave-traders—whom I think he brought in to pit against me. However, all seemed to acquiesce in what I said, and, when Mandara wanted them to read, were found wanting!

Mandara's old Arabic Bible.

A member of Mandara's gens-d'armes gave Mr. Taylor much encouragement. He says :—

"Behold, he prayeth."

One Mehaga, a great friend of mine, has learnt to pray to Jesus for himself, although at present he chiefly prays for merely temporal blessings, still, "Behold, he prayeth."

It is not generally known, I believe, that the Chaggas are sun-worshippers, though they do not worship it exactly as God: their

"worship," if they have any, is addressed to the warum, "manes." But they acknowledge any blessing as coming from the sun; and erua, "sun," is the nearest word they have for God. The Masai use ngai, "rain," "sky," and the Giryamas mulungu, "heaven;" but these people always ascribe the ordering of things to the sun. Still, in some way they seem to have learnt the Swahili word Mngu, God; and I always use it for His name in speaking with them. This friend of mine thought the sun was the greatest of all things; but I asked him, whether was the greater, the "Msungu," European, who made the candle on the table, and lit it, or the candle? He readily answered, "The Msungu." "Then," I said, "don't you see that the sun is merely God's candle? He made it, and He lit it." I told him how He made it, by His Word; and how that Word was made flesh, and died for us, for him, and that He was now above the sun, with God, the true Sun of Righteousness, who makes dark hearts bright, and bad people good; and then I taught him to pray to God through Him, His only Son, for He has all things. He seemed to comprehend readily, and to believe even in the truth of what I said, accepting it all. "What is His name?" he asked me three times. "Bwana Isa" (the Lord Jesus), I replied. When we were taking leave outside the house, the moon was shining brightly, and I remarked how beautiful it was. "Yes," said he, "that is Bwana Isa's match." (Matches are very popular in Mochi; every one begs for them.) I spoke to him again to-day—the conversation was on Monday night—asking him if he remembered what I had taught him. He answered that he prayed the Lord Jesus for cows, health, food, &c., "day and night." I told him the first and best thing to pray for was Jesus' good heart—(there is no proper word for Spirit, so far as I know)—and the removal of his own bad one; then he would want things which would please God and would be sure to get them.

"God's candle," and "Bwana Isa's match."

Mr. Fitch returned in November, and was warmly welcomed by Mandara. In January he received, through Mr. Price, an urgent recommendation from the Consul-General, out of regard for his personal safety, to proceed again to the coast. But he elected, rightly the Committee think, to remain at his post. He has since been relieved by Mr. Morris taking his place, and it is probable he will come home on furlough.

III. USAGARA, U-NYAMWEZI, &c.

THE interruption of the caravan traffic by the route on which the Society's stations are situated, and the consequent impossibility of sending forward reinforcements, have been alluded to. With the exception of Mr. Roscoe, who returned in July to his old station, Mamboia, accompanied by Mrs. Roscoe, no missionaries have proceeded to the interior stations since the autumn of 1887. The Rev. R. P. Ashe, to the Committee's regret, wrote in February last year, resigning his connexion with the Society; but he continued, as had been arranged with Bishop Parker, at Usambiro until August, assisting in the work of translating and printing, suffering much from fever. He reached Mpwapwa in time to accompany Dr. and Mrs. Pruen to the coast. Mr. Douglas A. L. Hooper left Nasa soon after Christmas in order to come home and appeal for reinforcements. From Mamboia he was accompanied to the coast by Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe, but, when they were allowed to proceed to Zanzibar in accordance with a compact made by the Consul-General with the chief of Bagamoyo, Mr. Hooper was detained for several days. He has since reached this country. The other missionaries in Usagara, the Rev. J. C. Price, the Rev. H. and Mrs. Cole, and the Rev. A. N. Wood, have resolved, notwithstanding the Consul-General's solicitous and repeated representations, to risk the danger rather than leave their work.

USAGARA MISSION: MAMBOIA AND MPWAPWA.

Mamboia.

The Rev. A. N. Wood, after eighteen months alone at MAMBOIA, was glad to welcome back Mr. J. Roscoe in July, though he said at the time, "I have learned to love these people, and never feel lonely amongst them." There are six baptized Native Christians, and twenty-five are numbered as adherents. The chief encouragement has been among the children, who have assembled from surrounding villages on Sunday evenings to learn Scripture texts and sing hymns. The difficulty of imparting elementary Christian truths to these rude young minds is illustrated by the following:—

Crude ideas.

> One day one of my scholars asked me, "When is the Lord Jesus coming?" She had the idea that He was soon to start from the coast, and come to visit us in the same manner as an ordinary caravan. Again, I found one of my best scholars had the idea that we ought to pray to the devil. I tried to turn her "right about face" in this matter, and was cheered the other day by her assuring me that she and two or three others were trying to pray to God in their homes. I sincerely hope it is true. I know for certain that one little boy has been overheard in the village, before he went to sleep, praying to God.

Itinerations.

Mamboia is in a very populous district. In one day's walk Mr. Wood mentions that he passed thirty-three villages. In August, he took a ten days' itinerating tour in a south-easterly direction among a people who, in some instances, showed a remarkable interest in his message; and the day after the one on which he left Mamboia he found himself among many, especially the women, who had never seen a white man before. The following is an instance of the preparedness of the people for the Gospel:—

When I saw such a crowd of people, I seized the opportunity, and called my men for evening service. The women and girls all came and sat on one side, and the men on the other. Owing to the mixture of tribes—Wahumba, Wamegi, and Waseguha—I spoke very simply and plainly in Kimegi, using short sentences. Felt greatly encouraged when I saw how they understood me. At one time they were very loud in expressing their assent to what I said. It was when I said words to the following effect:—"God is our King, our great King. He is also our Father, and loves us. He is the Father and King of white men and black men alike. We are all His people, and have run away and left Him through sin. He wants us to return, and for this purpose sent His Son to seek and save and heal us." I never saw such earnest attention from an African congregation before. The Lord helped me wonderfully. To Him be the glory!

An attentive congation.

Mr. Wood was accompanied on this tour by Tofiki, a Mganda convert, who was baptized at Mamboia by Mr. Ashe in 1886, and he occasionally acted as interpreter when it was desired to make the meaning especially distinct, and also explained in conversation the things which had been proclaimed. Mr. Wood says of him:—

A Mganda convert acting as interpreter in Usagara

He is now, as I write, sitting round the camp-fire with the six porters, and telling them about the Creation. One man says Adam must have married Eve, his sister, as there were only two. "No," says Tofiki, and passes on to tell them how they both fell, and sin came into the world. A Native then says, "Then our Lord Jesus Christ came to redeem us out of our wickedness?" "Exactly," says Tofiki, "all of us." He then tells them about the great lake which God sent to destroy man, because he became so wicked, except Noah. The next destruction will be one by fire. "But," say the men, "Bwana says God will receive us as the old man did his son who ran away?" "Yes, just so," says Tofiki; and tells them about it, and the calf being killed. One man asks, "Wasn't it the one with plenty of fat?" and another asks, "Didn't his father give him some nice cloth to wear?" "Exactly," says Tofiki. "Now we ought to do just what the young man did. Let us repent and turn to God, and give up all bad things." "But," says one man, "Do all the white men do it?" "No," says Tofiki, "Bwana says they all know about God, but some love evil and Satan more than God, and choose Satan, and follow evil."

Mpwapwa may now be said to consist of three stations, from three to six miles distant from each other. These are—Mpwapwa proper, the original station, where the Rev. J. C. Price resides; Kisokwe, occupied by the Rev. H. and Mrs. Cole; and Kikombo, where Dr. and Mrs. Pruen lived until they left last September. Each of these has given converts during the year, Mpwapwa four, Kisokwe one, and Kikombo two. One of these was the son of the chief of Mpwapwa. Before his baptism he could repeat from memory nearly the whole of St. John's Gospel, several Psalms, the Epistles of James and John, the Sermon on the Mount, Matt. xiii.,

Converts at Mpwapwa:

A chief's son,

Luke xv., 1 Cor. xv., and other shorter portions. Another was a Native of Unyamwezi, who, after his baptism, attended Dr. Pruen's class for instruction regularly for some months, and then asked leave to return to his own people near the Victoria Nyanza, to preach among them the good news he had heard. Kanoni Petro is his Christian name. A third was Dr. Pruen's cook Ali, who was baptized in June by Mr. Cole, receiving the name of Paolo. Dr. Pruen wrote of him in March last year :—

and a Mohammedan.

> Our cook, Ali, who was my boy last year, and who nursed me all through my attack of typhoid, is a nominal Mohammedan. We have often prayed for him; but though an outwardly moral man, he never showed any signs of desiring to be a Christian. The other evening he came into our room, and sitting on the floor, said he wanted "maneno" (words). Then he said he wanted to follow "Isa Masiya" (Jesus Christ). He was very humble about it, and confessed that he committed sins and wanted to be forgiven. Next night he still held to his wish. I pointed out to him that becoming a Christian meant being hated and despised by his Mohammedan friends: was he prepared in the face of that to acknowledge openly that Jesus Christ was his Master? He said he knew all that he would have to go through, because he had known others like himself become Christians, and he was prepared. So we knelt down, and I asked our Heavenly Father to accept him for Christ's sake. Then he prayed very simply, saying he was a sinner, and asking God to forgive him his sins for the sake of Jesus Christ; and because he was weak and ignorant would God give him His Holy Spirit, that he might know what God wanted him to do, and have His strength in him. He is learning to read now, and already can spell through a verse in the Bible slowly. He is very anxious to know more of God's Word, and, as he says, to be able to tell his Mohammedan relations distinctly what it is he believes, when they question him, as they will do.

His fidelity to his Christian teachers was shown on the trying journey to the coast, but there he left them to search for his wife, who had probably run away from him. The chief of Kikombo died in March. He had been attended by Dr. Pruen during his illness. The usual charge of witchcraft was brought against two poor slave men, who were accordingly killed in a very brutal way,—hacked to pieces with axes. A woman and two girls were singled out for the next day, but the order was rescinded. The chief professed his repentance, and in the presence of his under chiefs and the man who handed the victims to the executioners, he acknowledged his guilt. Dr. Pruen wrote :—

A penitent chief.

> So I went with two of the Mission-men, and found the men there, except the actual murderers, they having gone back to their country after the deed. The chief then sat up in his bed, and said that he had sinned against God in killing these two men, that he was truly sorry, and that now he was praying God to forgive him. Then we knelt down and asked God to forgive him his sin, and to forgive us ours, for we were all sinners alike in His sight. I prayed in Swahili, and one of the Mission-men translated into Kimegi (the language of this place being the same as that of Mamboia). The head-men followed in the prayer; and then added in their own requests that God would heal their chief of his sickness as well.

In August Dr. Pruen wrote:—

"Medical Fund."

To-night we had a meeting of the three Christians—Paul, Peter, and Richard. We have started the Medical Fund. They each gave a quarter-dollar and I gave three-quarters, and with this we bought mtama. Richard is to have charge of it, and give our one in-patient his daily allowance; whilst all three are to decide when he is strong enough to earn his own food. I think this is a move in the right direction. The men see how their money goes, they learn to take a personal interest in the sick men, and it will put a very decided stop to shammers, who can necessarily take me in more easily than they can their brethren.

Itinerations in Eastern Ugogo.

Mr. Price took three preaching journeys into Eastern Ugogo of about a month each last year. The first was in April and May, when he was much encouraged. The singing of Kigogo hymns by his boy companions, with concertina accompaniment, was a great attraction. The flag also, an idea derived from Mr. Taylor, was a valuable adjunct, the black needing most explanation, Mr. Price observes, as the people have no idea of sin against God. On one Sunday the chief of Msomalo called his elders and others together to hear the message, and himself recapitulated to them what they had heard. After some further explanation the whole party "almost enthusiastically professed their readiness to accept Christ as their Saviour and chief, and when baptism was mentioned, wished to be baptized then and there." At a neighbouring village, Nkhwandari, the people left their dancing to hear, and try to join in, the singing, and after listening to the story of the Woman of Samaria, some of them "went away shouting the Name of Isa Masiya, and saying they were going to follow Him, and He would save them, and they did not want to follow Satani any more." The later tours were during the prevalence of great scarcity of food, owing to failure of rains, and the disposition to hear was much less marked. In the neighbourhood of Msomalo the reply was given by a chief, "Oh, yes, I suppose it is you who have been to Msomalo, and told the people there about this, and they profess to believe it; but what are they the better for it? They have hunger, and get sick and die, just like anybody else."

No idea of sin.

"Christ their Saviour and chief."

Mr. Cole also itinerated in several districts and preached, with his Native helpers, in over 200 different tembes. He writes :—

Charms destroyed.

In some instances the belief in charms seemed immediately to vanish away on hearing the Gospel. Some put their charms or medicines in the fire; others threw them away; whilst others handed them to me. A great many would, I believe, be willing to adopt the Christian religion, but the chiefs and medicine-men stand in their way.

Translations.

Mr. Price and Mr. Cole have been engaged in translating St. Mark's and St. John's Gospels, the Acts of the Apostles, the Pilgrim's Progress, the Peep of Day, hymns and parts of the Prayer Book, and in revising the Psalms. The recent convert, son of the chief, has been a great help in this work.

U-NYAMWEZI MISSION.

At the time of Bishop Parker's death at USAMBIRO—or, more strictly speaking, MUTEREZA, Usambiro being a wider district lying to the west of Makolo's country—there were present there the Revs. R. P. Ashe and R. H. Walker, and Mr. A. M. Mackay. On March 31st, five days after the Bishop's decease, Mr. Walker left to cross the Lake; and Mr. Ashe left in August to come home. Mr. Mackay wrote just afterwards, "Once more I am, in a sense, alone, with no European companionship except my books and the graves of our departed brethren." Thus, instead of taking furlough in England, as he intended when he last left Uganda, he has felt it necessary, through the paucity of labourers, to continue near the Lake, and to become the real founder of this new station. In July he made a trip northward to visit the influential chief Rwoma, to whom Makolo is tributary. He found him disposed to be friendly, and blood brotherhood was made. In October the mission-station was in great peril. A confederacy of neighbouring chiefs attacked the place, and would probably have destroyed it but for the timely arrival of one of Rwoma's sons with a force to aid the defence. The fighting commenced on October 19th, and lasted three days, many lives, especially of the invaders, being lost. At the end of this month Mr. Deekes came, at Mr. Mackay's invitation, from Nasa, in time to unite with him in welcoming Messrs. Gordon and Walker on November 4th.

Mr. Mackay "once more alone."

King Mwanga a prisoner,

Meanwhile the fugitive king Mwanga, who was at Magu in the near vicinity, the guest, or rather perhaps the prisoner, of the Arabs, had been communicated with, and, to save him from a too probable fate, Mr. Mackay was prepared to conduct him as far as Usongo on his way to the coast. He wrote:—

appealing to Mr. Mackay.

Murderer and persecutor as he has been, I yet have not the faintest doubt but that it becomes us to do everything in our power to return him good for evil. My men reached him, and found him eager to jump at my offer, but unable to come away from the Arabs' clutches, fearing they would send after him and arrest him. He sent back here, with my men, two of his lads, begging me to go to Magu myself and endeavour to get him out of there, suggesting that one of the brethren at Nasa should come here to take my place while I conducted him (Mwanga) to the coast.

Mwanga has since escaped from Magu, and taken refuge with the French priests at Ukumbi, in the immediate vicinity.

Happily, before leaving Uganda in 1887, Mr. Mackay had sent across the Lake all the machinery and tools which were there, whereby not only has this valuable property been preserved, but it has enabled Mr. Mackay to pursue the work of printing, and to prepare for building a boat. In June Mr. Ashe wrote that St. Mark's Gospel and an English-Luganda list of words, &c., were ready for the press.

Nasa.

Nasa was chosen by Bishop Parker, a few weeks before his death, as a suitable site for a new station, and Mr. Douglas A. L. Hooper took possession (of a mud hut) in January last year. It is situated on Speke Gulf, on the slope of a hill overlooking the Lake, in the midst of a dense population. Mr. D. Deekes joined Mr. Hooper in March, and they continued together until Mr. Deekes went to Usambiro in October. He returned in January with Mr. Walker to occupy the station after Mr. Hooper had left. The chief, Kapongo, has been friendly in the main, and there have been few events to disturb the brethren in the special study of the language and the people.

IV. UGANDA.

The history of this Mission, since the arrival of the first missionaries in 1877, has been one of frequent surprises and of startling vicissitudes, of hopes now raised, and now again deferred, of vacillation of mind on the part of rulers, of intrusion on the part of false brethren, of trials by death and murder of missionaries, of fiery persecutions of converts. The Committee have now to report a succession of political revolutions which have left the Mohammedan Arabs in possession, the dispersion of the converts, and the expulsion of the missionaries. But as, notwithstanding all opposition, the Lord's people in Uganda have multiplied and grown until the present time, so the Committee do not doubt that the little flock will still be nourished in the wilderness, though their teachers be removed, and they expect that the triumph of the wicked will prove but the prelude of their lasting defeat. "The floods have lifted up, O Lord, the floods have lifted up their voice, the floods lift up their waves." But—"The Lord on high is mightier than the noise of many waters, yea, than the mighty waves of the sea."

Bishop Parker's letter to Mwanga.

The Rev. E. C. Gordon was alone at Natete from August 1887, when he arrived there, until the following April. At the end of January, a letter which Bishop Parker had written in conference with the missionaries at the south of the Lake, and after much prayer, reached Uganda, and was read to the king. By this Mwanga was informed that the English people were much grieved at his having murdered Bishop Hannington, but that, as Christians forgive their enemies, there was no desire to avenge his death; and he was asked to allow his subjects liberty to worship God and be instructed in the Christian faith. A few days after its receipt, a great sensation was created by a letter from some leading Arabs at Bagamoyo, telling the king that the Germans and English had appropriated the country from the sea to beyond the Lakes, including Uganda. Mwanga and his chiefs could not conceal their fears of an invasion, although they assumed a defiant attitude. The intention was openly declared of keeping Mr. Gordon, or some Englishman, in the country as a hostage, and the mission-boat was temporarily seized and removed to the king's port to prevent escape. However, the words "I want to be your friend," which occurred in Bishop Parker's letter, caught the king's attention, and eventually he sent the Bishop a verbal reply by a messenger that he also desired to be friendly, and asked for another European to be sent.

Reports from the Coast.

Mr. Gordon a hostage.

Mr. Walker goes into Uganda.

In response to this invitation, it was decided by the Bishop and the missionaries present with him at Usambiro that the Rev. R. H. Walker should return with the king's messenger, and on March 31st, notwithstanding the sudden deaths meanwhile of Mr. Blackburn and the Bishop, and fully realizing the danger into which he was going, he set sail for the northern shore. As he did so, he wrote in a private letter:—

I have then the opportunity of going now as a guest with a distinct invitation by name "Bawana Orka." Some one must go to help Gordon. The king has definitely told Gordon that he holds him as a prisoner, and will not allow him to leave the country. He wants one white man to be always there as a hostage. If I went there, Gordon could return. You know the strength in which I say I am ready to go and face anything. We cannot possibly tell what may be in the future; if each step is our clear duty, I do not see that we need be troubled about what may happen.

His reception.

He reached his destination on Tuesday, April 17th, and on the following Tuesday was accorded a very remarkable reception by the king, who, with all his court, stood up to do honour to his guest. This unexpected treatment was naturally regarded, by the missionaries at least, as a public expression of the king's regret, in response to Bishop Parker's appeal, for his part in Bishop Hannington's murder. His asking Mr. Walker whether he had come in the place of the Bishop might well seem to give special emphasis to his unusual condescension.

The relations of Mwanga with the Mission continued after this to be friendly, and Mr. Walker wrote in June, "Because the king thus treats us with kindness and respect, every one else does the same. Nothing could be more satisfactory than the way in which the chiefs, the Arabs, and in fact every one, has treated us."

The Native Christians.

The quiet and encouraging work of instructing the Native Christians was steadily pursued. On Easter Day, April 1st, the chapel was crowded with worshippers; and of the Sunday after his arrival, April 22nd, Mr. Walker wrote:—

The Native Christians came to welcome me, and on the Sunday 150 or 200 were present at the morning service, and nearly as many at the service at 2 p.m. It was a most refreshing and gladdening sight; it cheered me much. Really, Ashe, Mackay, and the others have done, by the grace of God, a glorious work here; it is a great privilege, but great responsibility, to follow up such good work.

Of the congregation, and of some of the members of the Native Church Council, Mr. Gordon wrote in June:—

Hearty services.

The king has not publicly recognized the work here, and many are therefore still in hiding. He may not know when Sunday falls, but he must know that very many are in the habit of coming here on a certain day for worship. The building we use for service has often been quite full, and we have enjoyed some most hearty meetings. Many of the Christians bring their Prayer-books, which Mr. Ashe had printed in England. Some few also bring their New Testaments (Swahili). The Prayer-books are small, and they like them, for they are able to hide them underneath their clothing. All the Prayer-books sent are sold off, as also the New Testaments (Swahili), and more are asked for. We are hoping that Ashe and Mackay will undertake to translate another Gospel, that of John. This Gospel is a favourite one here.

Bishop Parker's letter to the Christians.

In addition to the letter to the king, Bishop Parker wrote a very helpful letter to the Native Christians of Uganda, which gave them great joy and consolation. It is to this that Mr. Gordon refers in the following extract from the same letter :—

> The Bishop wrote a capital letter to the Christians, which I often read and re-read to them on the Sundays at the service. Sometimes I read it to them more privately in the house to a few. Some of the elders have asked me for a copy of this letter, which I have made, and others are now wanting one. They wish to read the letter at their separate homes to others, and to re-read it themselves.
> There have been many baptisms during the time of my residence in Buganda. You will understand that the candidates are brought forward for baptism by two or more members of the Church Council. The number of Christians composing the Church Council was originally ten, three of whom suffered martyrdom in the year 1886. The rest are all earnest good Christian men, and most eager to teach and instruct others. Many of those whom I baptized during the closing months of 1887 had been waiting for baptism for more than a year.

The chiefs friendly.

Occasional allusions in the letters have indicated a growing influence of the Mission among the chiefs and leaders of the people. In March, Mr. Gordon wrote, "It is my opinion that the chiefs are all, or nearly all, for us; but all of them, even the Katikiro, are most desperately afraid of the king." But the Committee had not derived from these allusions an impression at all commensurate with the actual facts, as they were disclosed by the events of August last. Mr. Gordon's letter of November, much of which was published in the Times, gave very striking particulars in reference to this. A body whom Mr. Gordon calls "the Readers," or "the Reformers," which consisted of Christians and Mohammedans in about equal proportions, the youth and strength of the country, had come into prominence; and the leaders of the two body-guards, whose duty it was to attend upon the king on the occasions of his departure from the capital, were both members of this community, one being a pupil of the French Mission, and the other connected with the C.M.S. Mission. The numerous followers of these influential chiefs were also termed "Readers," being assumed to be in sympathy with their masters.

"Readers."

It is clear that Mwanga regarded all these Readers as dangerous factors in the body politic, and he had lately called into existence a new body-guard, consisting of pages and personal favourites, all non-Readers. He now accused the Mohammedans of disrespect, for not eating of the meat which the king slaughtered, and the Christians with refusing to do the king's work on Sunday. Mwanga's distrust and dislike of the Readers were so unmistakably shown, that he was commonly believed to have resolved upon their destruction, and, at the end of August, their suspicions of treachery and foul play, on their being ordered to accompany the king on the Lake, were so general and so strong as to lead them to revolt. The first revolution:

Almost without resistance Mwanga was deposed, and fled across the Lake, Kiwewa, the eldest son of Mtesa the former king, being placed on the throne. The chief offices were distributed among the Readers, a Roman Catholic chief being made Katikiro, or chief judge. Mr. Gordon thus describes the new régime:—

That same day, the chief offices were distributed among the leaders of the Readers who had enthroned the new king, Kiwewa. Some of the principal posts were filled as follows. The Christian Roman Catholic leader was made the chief judge—Katikiro; the post of Mukwenda was filled by the Christian leader who read with us. Two other most important chieftainships were filled by the Mujassi and another Arabic Reader.

A messenger came down to conduct us all up together. It was hardly possible to believe that anything extraordinary had taken place. There was no noise nor disturbance. It is true that outside the capital, where some crowds were collected, there was considerable excitement. When admitted inside, we preceded the Arabs into court or audience. Here, again, the excitement was considerable, yet there was no quarrelling or noisy disturbance. The king was most lavish with his words, and far too generous with his promises. He turned to the Arabs and proclaimed peace with Bunyoro and liberty to trade; no heavy customs, duties, or taxes upon goods imported or exported. He gave liberty for the Arabs' religion to be taught, and announced that a mosque would be built. He turned to us, and said that there was liberty to teach on our part, and liberty for the Baganda to come to be taught without restriction or hindrance.

In this manner passed the first day of the reign of Kiwewa. We went home most thankful that the great change had been brought about so peaceably and quietly. It is strange, yet I believe it to be a fact, that the deposition of the previous day was accomplished without the loss of the life of a single soul. It was a revolution without bloodshed. Mwanga indeed was followed, but with promises that his life would be spared. The Pokino was caught, pardoned, and degraded with disgrace. Many of the other big chiefs were deposed and degraded. Peace, quietness, and justice began to reign in the land. That a great change had taken place came to be visibly felt and recognized. Many indeed began to believe that the change they had been anxiously looking and longing for had been granted a beginning. without bloodshed.

As indication of the commencement of a milder rule, the executioners, or court policemen, were forbidden to attend court armed, as formerly, with ropes. They were now ordered to arm themselves with sticks. It was even said that the king was to be deprived of the power of passing sentence of capital punishment for many offences before criminal and punishable only by death.

The happy effects of these changes on the prospects of the Mission were very marked:—

Religious liberty.

Many Christians now emerged from their places of concealment, and flocked to the king's court and began to enter into his service as pages and messengers. These released Christians and seekers after the truth began to come about our Mission station in crowds on Sundays, and in great numbers on all the days of the week. Very many indeed were wanting alphabet-sheets, many more were asking for first syllables, then others were demanding more advanced papers and printed portions, while a large number were imploring for Prayer-books and New Testaments, gospels, and single epistles. For a time the Baganda came about the station like swarms of bees; from the dawn of light to the dusk of evening, they crowded both sides of the house and some of the rooms. Many chiefs came to visit us, asking and beseeching us for alphabet-sheets, that they might teach their followers and slaves. Besides those who came for papers, books, and alphabets, there were the many applicants for medicine, now increased in number with the new change in affairs. On the Sundays the most noticeable change was to be seen. On the very first Sunday of the reign of Kiwewa the congregation doubled in numbers, and the number of Baganda who remained for afternoon worship was more than treble the usual attendance.

Crowded congregations.

As each several Sunday came round, a larger number of people gathered together to hear and read the Word of God. On the last Sunday before the unfortunate conclusion, the number of worshippers at the morning service was quite 300. On this occasion, as also before, worship was held in the house as well as the room always used for such services. Many people had to be content to remain outside. On this very Sunday there were present most of the important and influential Christian chiefs, including the Christian leader and Reader of the body-guard mentioned as one of our pupils. He was raised to the great chieftainship of Mukwenda. So matters were working, and all appeared quiet and calm.

The second revolution:

But a second revolution followed as suddenly and unexpectedly. The Arabs, disappointed at the share which their followers received of the newly-distributed offices and land, seem to have fomented disaffection, and on October 12th the Christian Readers were attacked without warning, and fled, after a short but fierce struggle, leaving the Mohammedans in possession. The same evening the missionaries, Roman Catholic and Protestant, were apprehended and placed under guard in a miserable hut, "full of soldiers, lice, and rats," where they were confined for six consecutive nights. The days were mostly occupied in helplessly witnessing the spoiling of the Mission and their private property by their captors, which ended in the destruction of what remained. Mr. Gordon wrote:—

Imprisonment.

Spoliation,

Not a single article of furniture was left,—beds, tables, chairs, book-cases, boxes—everything was gone. The floor was strewn with rubbish—the litter of the now destroyed contents of the room. Every book had been torn to bits, but many of the covers of them kept for use.

Upstairs, too, were to be found taking part in the plunder and theft one Arab and at least two Natives of Sheher, reckoned Arabs also but despised by the more pure Arabs. These friends either pilfered themselves or threw small articles out of the window to their friends below. One of them made himself conspicuous by explaining the various uses of many of the articles which puzzled the Natives; he also took care to appropriate whatever he thought would prove useful to himself.

Expulsion.

On October 19th they and the three French priests were expelled with every indignity. In addition to these five, there embarked in the Eleanor a French carpenter and thirty-two Natives, eleven of whom were the boat's crew and captain. Mr. Walker's account of their departure must be briefly quoted. He says:—

At about 7 a.m. we set off for the Lake, a distance of twelve miles. We came to a lot of blood on the road. The Arabs had been sacrificing, that we might die on the way. Gordon and I had no food with us, and nothing to buy any with. We had only the clothes we stood up in, and these we had worn a long time, and had not been able to wash at all. They were covered with lice. On the way down to the Lake many attempts were made to rob us of the goods the lads were carrying. At about mid-day we came to the port, and there a long argument and scuffle took place to try and get more out of the Frenchmen.

All by Arabs.

The wretched Mohammedans (all our persecutors were of this faith; all Readers with the Arabs; the whole thing was got up by the Arabs) stole my shirt and stockings, tore off the covers from the books and pitched them into the water. At length the man in charge said we might go on board, but he must have four jora more cloth from the Frenchmen. This was given him. Then he said he must have my coat. This was given him. I just had time to get my watch out of my trousers pocket and slip it down my drawers before the kind-hearted man said he must have my braces and trousers. I pulled these off and gave them to him, and was then allowed to leave the shore. No coat; no trousers; no hat, no boot-laces. We shoved off and rowed out into the Lake.

A perilous journey.

On the day of their departure the boat was struck by a hippopotamus, which caused it to fill and capsize. Five of the Frenchmen's boys were drowned, but the rest reached an island. Mr. Walker ingeniously patched the large holes in the boat, and they resumed the journey of 200 miles, which was safely accomplished, and Usambiro reached on November 4th.

A fortnight after their arrival some former pupils of the Mission, who had effected their escape from Uganda in a canoe, brought the news of a third revolution, by which Kiwewa was superseded by Kalema, another of Mtesa's sons. The Arabs, it seems, strongly urged Kiwewa to be circumcised and become a pronounced Mussulman, which he resented. At a private audience, when he was to consent to their proposal, he had his three chief officers seized, and killed two of them with his own hand, but before he could slay the Katikiro a gun was fired by a lad, whereupon the king fled. The Katikiro at once selected his successor, and, calling the Arabs to his aid, circumcised him and placed him on the vacated throne. The last reports were that Kiwewa had been shot in his grandfather's mausoleum, taken prisoner, and had died in captivity.

EGYPT MISSION.

Death of Miss M. L. Whately.

THE deep and general sorrow which the announcement of Miss Mary L. Whately's death in March last caused, was specially felt by the Committee. For many years she was the only labourer for Christ among the Mohammedans of Cairo representing the Church of England and Ireland; and her oft-repeated appeals had much to do with the Society's resuming this Mission in 1882. From time to time small grants of money, given and valued rather as a token of the Committee's warm appreciation of the various agencies of which she was the thoughtful and loving centre, than on account of their intrinsic amount, have been made from the Society's funds towards her work.

A few weeks before Miss Whately's death, several considerations led the Committee to appoint Dr. F. J. Harpur, B.A., of the Arabia Mission, to Egypt. Among these was a letter from General Haig, written from Alexandria, representing the openings for a Medical Mission, especially

e third canoe, brought the news of a third revolution, by which among the village population around Cairo. Dr. Harpur arrived at Cairo in March last.

The Rev. F. A. Klein took a short furlough in Europe last year, from May to November, during which time his Native assistant conducted the services and superintended the schools.

The Schools.

The Rev. Claude H. Sutton, who has spent the late winter in the Levant for his health, visited Cairo in December, and was exceedingly pleased with the Society's schools. "The order, cleanliness, and general arrangements," he wrote, "are excellent, and the schools are conducted with economy." He remarked that at the Old Cairo school all the children are Mohammedans, and of the eighty in the Cairo school all are Moslems except four.

ARABIA MISSION.

After three months' residence at Dhala Dr. F. J. Harpur was ordered by the British Resident at Aden to return to the latter place, which he did with much regret in May last year. The Ameer and the inhabitants manifested no unfriendliness towards the Mission. Although medicine was not much valued by the ignorant people, 300 patients were treated during the three months. Dr. Harpur wrote:—

> In order to try and teach the people that we put a value on the medicine dispensed, I had a notice over the door, saying that those who could afford it were expected to bring a small fee, but that the poor would be attended free. When a bottle was given out, some article with the owner's name fastened to it was left as a pledge for the return of the empty bottle; so that sometimes I had quite a small armoury of knives, spears, axes, &c.

On Saturdays the Mission House was frequently visited by Jews, who took much pleasure in seeing in their own language some of the most striking Messianic prophecies.

The journey from Dhala to Aden, owing to the heat, proved exceedingly trying to Mrs. Harpur, who became seriously ill in consequence. In October she was ordered home, and her state was considered so critical that the Committee invited Dr. Harpur to return the following month. He has since been assigned to the Egypt Mission.

PALESTINE MISSION.

Jerusalem, 1851; Nazareth, 1852; Salt, 1873; Nablûs, 1876; Jaffa, 1876; Gaza, 1878; Hauran, 1883.

"So hemmed in, and regarded with pitiless jealousies and antagonistic intrigues on all hands," wrote a deeply interested and sympathetic friend, who lately visited most of the stations, "the workers of this mission remind one of Isaac's Wells, and the weary processes through which at last he won his way to digging his 'Rehoboth,' and to bear witness that the Lord hath made room for him at length." And one of these workers writes: "It must be borne in mind under what difficulties we labour; we cannot go through an open country, but we are a small band of soldiers attacking a number of well-defended fortresses. The Mohammedans are well aware of our object, so are the Greeks and the Roman Catholics. Every weakness and error on our part is not only observed, but becomes the opportunity for renewed attacks."

Opposition of the Government.

The Jerusalem colporteur whose arrest and imprisonment in August, 1887, were referred to in the last Annual Report, was liberated at the beginning of 1888. A successor was engaged after some delay, and he also in October last, within a fortnight of his commencing this work, was apprehended with much violence, and thrown into prison by the orders of the Pasha of Jerusalem. His selling Bibles in Mohammedan villages, notwithstanding that each copy bore the official permit sanctioning its sale in the Turkish Empire, was the ground of his arrest. He was liberated in December. The work of colporteur evangelists, in consequence of this treatment, is practically in abeyance in the southern districts. The schools also in the Jebel Druze have been closed at the instigation of the Wali of Damascus.

But the letters of the missionaries bear ample testimony that, though troubled on every side, they are not in distress; though perplexed, they are not in despair. One of them says:—

> We earnestly desire more fully to trust that ever-faithful and unchangeable One, and with greater devotion to follow Him. To our God whom we serve, and whose work they have so lightly esteemed, must the enemies of the Cross of Christ, whether in England or the mission-field, render an account at the last dread day; but if like Sennacherib's taunting letter, their conduct drives us in conscious impotence to the rent garments, the sackcloth, the Lord's house, and to agonizing prayer—to self-rejection, stern self-denial, abiding in Christ, and closest and yet most reverential communion with Him, we shall have much to thank and bless them for, and may well leave the defence of our work and fellow-workers, and the repulse of those who would hinder and injure our work, in the hands of that Holy One of Israel, against whom their voice has been exalted.

Bishop French in Palestine.

And Bishop French, who has spent several months in Syria since resigning the See of Lahore, and whose presence at the Autumn Conference was a great encouragement and spiritual refreshment to all the missionaries, wrote last December :—

I am thankful to observe the quiet, manly, unostentatious resolve with which our brethren here hold their ground and plant their feet down, "well-shod with the preparation of the Gospel of peace," in spite of all obstacles: and I am persuaded the respect they have won is well earned, and that they can honestly adopt the Apostle's summary of the position they (he and his brethren) maintained: "Our rejoicing is this, the testimony of our conscience, that in simplicity and godly sincerity, not with fleshly wisdom, but by the grace of God, we have had our conversation in the world, and more abundantly to you ward."

Increase of workers.

The Rev. W. F. Connor came to England by medical orders in June last year, Mrs. Connor following a few months later; and Mrs. Low spent three months in this country, returning in November last. The Rev. R. Elliott also returned in November, taking with him a valued accession to the mission staff in the person of his bride, a daughter of Bishop Royston, of Mauritius. Two honorary missionaries, Miss A. M. Elverson and Miss A. S. H. Vidal, joined the mission in the autumn, being both assigned to Jerusalem.

Two ladies of the Female Education Society, and four in connexion with Mrs. Meredith's institution, also arrived in November, attesting the growing interest of the Protestant churches in the Land of Promise. But how insignificant these accessions seem when contrasted with those of the Roman Catholics. Mr. Zeller writes :—

The Roman Catholics make it no secret, that they are determined to conquer Palestine. Almost every year we have caravans of more than 500 Frenchmen, mostly priests and nuns, coming to Jerusalem, and marching into the town with a flag bearing the motto of the Crusaders of old: "Dieu le veut."

JAFFA.

Jaffa.

The Rev. J. R. Longley Hall superintends the work of Jaffa and its out-stations, in addition to discharging the onerous duties of the Secretaryship to the whole Mission. Mrs. Hall, through ill-health, has not been able to take her usual active share in the work among the women and children, but Miss Edith E. Newton and Miss E. Armstrong have supplied this lack, and some development has been possible of these important branches of the work. There are 400 Native baptized Christians, and 650 children are under instruction in the seven schools. Mr. Hall says that not only has the number of children largely increased (last year it was 470), but their regularity has also improved.

Work among women.

Jaffa is rapidly extending outside the walls, and an additional Weekly Mothers' Meeting has been commenced by Miss Armstrong, to which she refers in the following description of her work :—

My own special work here is in the schools, and among the women. I thought I should have had to know a little Arabic before I could do anything, but I am glad to find there is much that may be done without that, if you get a good interpreter, of course.

The Bible-woman goes with me, and I think we are very fortunate in our Bible-woman. She does not know enough English always, perhaps, to give the full meaning of what I want to say, but she is herself such an earnest Christian, that I feel sure she gives the people the simple truth, and in such a way that they understand.

We have opened a large new room, at an end of the town where there are large numbers of Moslems, and I have a class there every Wednesday. There were thirty-eight the first day, and now there are as many as seventy. Is it not very good of our God to incline the people to come and hear His Truth?

On Tuesday I visit with the Bible-woman for several hours. When we go to a house, the mistress will gather together her neighbours, sometimes we shall have as many as ten or twelve women, and we have really nice meetings. The women are not afraid, in their own houses, to ask questions, or make objections, which we answer, and we are often as long as an hour at a time in a house, indeed we are seldom less. I long to understand their language, that I may be able to enter into their difficulties better. Of course Arabic takes up a good deal of my time. I find it is not to be learnt in a minute, and in the afternoon I have been teaching in the schools about two hours every day, now it will be only one for a while.

The Native agent at Lydd, Mr. H. Dimishky, states that three Prayer-meetings are held there weekly, and about fifty children attend the Sunday-school. He recalls the fact that twenty-five years since, for a whole year the school bell was rung and the school opened daily without a single boy responding, whereas now there are seventy-seven boys. He says :—

The boys in general seem to be more calm, obedient, and wishing to learn, and avoid bad words and cursing, than the last year, as the most came fresh from Greek and Moslem schools. Some boys could repeat all the names of the places of St. Paul's journey, and all the journeys of the Israelites, and most events of Christ's journeys and dealings.

JERUSALEM.

Jerusalem.

The Rev. C. T. Wilson has general superintendence of the Evangelistic agencies in and around Jerusalem, and the Rev. J. Zeller continues in charge of the Preparandi Institution, the Bishop Gobat Boarding-school, and the Printing Press. The Rev. Ibrahim Baz helps in the Preparandi Institution; the Rev. Nasir Odeh is the Pastor of the Native congregation, and Mr. G. Nyland works in the villages, residing at Ramallah. The addition of Miss Elverson and Miss Vidal to the staff has already been mentioned; they have applied themselves since their arrival to the study of Arabic; but they have also been able to give some help and much encouragement in the school and visiting work.

Preparandi Institution, and Gobat School.

Twenty students have been under training in the Preparandi Institution, and five, after finishing their course, have received appointments as schoolmasters at Jaffa, Nablous, and Jerusalem. A new head-master, Mr. F. H. Ellis, has been sent out from England for the Bishop Gobat School, in succession to the veteran Mr. Palmer, who has retired, owing to failing eyesight. The number of pupils is fifty-three, and several Moslem youths continue to attend, notwithstanding the opposition of the rulers. A translation of an analysis of Pearson on the Creed, and a treatise on the "Benefits of Christianity to the World at Large," by the Rev. S. Boutaji, have issued from the Printing Press, besides several tracts and leaflets.

Printing Press.

The Arabic Services at St. Paul's, in the City Day School, and at Bethlehem and the other out-stations, have been regularly held, and most of the village congregations have increased. Mrs. Wilson's weekly meeting for women continues to be well attended, and the Bible-woman engaged on the Bible Society's grant reaches an ever-widening circle. Miss Vidal conducts an English class in the Girls' School, and Miss Elverson has a French class of elder boys in the new Boys' School, opened last year, the New Testament being used as a text-book. Mr. Wilson has been much engaged in itinerating in the district, and has observed everywhere, he says, increased willingness to listen to the Gospel teaching. The Depôt sales of Bibles, Testaments, &c., have been unusually large, which is a very

GAZA.

Gaza. A quiet and unostentatious work in church and schools, and Bible classes, in visiting the homes of Christians and Moslems, has gone on at Gaza and the villages near under the Rev. J. Huber. A Bedouin chief, who had attended on several occasions the Bible-classes and prayer-meetings, invited Mr. Huber to visit his tribe, assuring him he was well known by name to his people, who called him "our brother."

Medical Mission. Dr. Elliott received a hearty welcome on his return, much friendliness being shown even by many Moslems of the upper class. He has been much encouraged by the number of patients, increasing every week, who have visited the dispensary, averaging seventy a day during the two months since his return. He says:—

> Certainly in this country, where it is so hard to bring people into contact with the Gospel, it is a cheerful sight to see such a large number of Moslems gathered together to hear the Gospel. Our reader has a fine field for preaching, and as far as outward appearances are concerned, he is listened to most gladly.

NABLOUS.

Nablous. Persecution and poverty, the former directed specially against his efforts, the latter rendered general by the failure of the crops, have been the outward conditions under which the Rev. C. Fallscheer has had to labour at Nablous. He reports "but little progress," but there is an increase in the number of scholars, being 206 as compared with 162 last year.

NAZARETH.

Nazareth. Both the Rev. T. F. Wolters and Mrs. Wolters had serious illnesses during the year, but were mercifully restored. There has been considerable progress in the number attending the services and meetings at Nazareth, and the interest manifested has been very marked. About one hundred were present every evening during the week of prayer at the commencement of 1888, and during Passion Week nearly as many. Mr. Wolters attributes this increase largely to domiciliary visits. In the schools, the numbers have somewhat diminished, owing to the vigilance of the Government in preventing Moslem children from attending, and to the jealousy of the Greek and Greek Catholic churches. The Rev. S. Boutaji is the Native pastor at Nazareth In Haifa also there is a noticeable improvement in attendance at the Sunday Services, which is mainly owing, Mr. Wolters says, to Mrs. Low's work among the women and girls. On her return to Haifa in November, Mrs. Low was accompanied, not only by her daughter, but also by Miss Appia, a young Swiss lady who has gone out independently, to labour at her own charges. The zealous teacher at Shefamer has been much encouraged lately by a striking revival of interest shown by the numbers, and regularity of the attendance, at prayer meetings. A remarkable movement took place at the beginning of the year at a village near Acca, where a prominent member of the Greek Church has become a Protestant.

Mr. Wolter's Annual Letter contains the following :—

The Greek Church and the Church of England.

In looking over my private journal I see a notice of a visit from the Greek Bishop Nifon. This visit was interesting, because it confirmed my opinion, based on closer and lengthened observation, that the present friendly attitude of many of the higher Greek clergy towards the Church of England is grounded, to a great extent, on the hope that the Church of England is rapidly approaching the Greek Church. There is no idea of the Greek Church casting off errors and abuses and rising to the level of the Church of England, but the contrary; the latter is being rapidly assimilated to the former. The Bishop expressed this expectation very clearly, and referred, among other things, to the adoption of private confession in many of the English churches.

SALT, AND THE HAURAN.

For a few months after the Rev. W. F. Connor's departure to Europe, the Rev. C. T. Wilson had the care of the work on the east of the Jordan added to his responsibilities at Jerusalem; but since October the Rev. H. Sykes has been in charge, having removed from Jaffa to Salt for this purpose.

Salt.

The Rev. Chalil Jamal, the native pastor of SALT, states that attendance at the Sunday morning services varies between 140 and 180, and the number of communicants is 61. A young female of his congregation was obliged to accompany her father, who was living among the Bedouins of El Belka. To Mr. Jamal's great joy she earnestly asked him, as she bade him farewell, to pray for her, that she might be protected from evil, and might not be ashamed of Jesus among the Bedouins. Mr. Jamal adds that she has been a great blessing both to her father and to the Bedouin maidens.

The Rev. Dr. Post, of the American Mission of Beyrout, in the course of a scientific article recently contributed by him to the pages of the Quarterly Statement of the Palestine Exploration Fund, makes the following reference to Salt and its pastor and congregation:—

> Pastor Jamal has gathered about him a considerable congregation of Protestants in that secluded town, and ministers to them in a most acceptable manner. At his request, after the morning service had been read, I preached to them in Arabic, and a more attentive and devout audience one could not wish to see.

Death of a Native medical missionary.

A great loss was suffered at Salt by the death of Dr. Elias Saba, the native medical missionary, last January. His diligence, gentleness, and piety had gained him great influence.

Mr. Sykes has twice visited El Husn and Ajlun, once in the company of Mr. Wilson, in July, and again last February. He found that the Government had closed the Jebel Druze schools.

PERSIA MISSION.

JULFA had only one missionary throughout last year, the Rev. Dr. E. F. Hoernle, upon whom the whole burden of the medical, clerical, and secretariat, departments of the work rested. Since Dr. Hoernle's return to Europe Dr. Bruce has resumed general charge, two newly appointed brethren being associated with him, viz., the Rev. H. Carless, B.A., of Corpus Christi College and Ridley Hall, Cambridge, late Curate of Deane, Lancashire; and Dr. Marcus Eustace, B.A., M.B. (Dublin). The journey out of Dr. and Mrs. Bruce and Mr. Carless was attended with considerable discomfort and even danger, owing to storms in the Caspian Sea. From Baku to Engelli they travelled by a small merchant steamer, rather than delay their progress by waiting for the mail boat; and this passage took nine days instead of two. Dr. Bruce wrote :— Julfa.

Our steamer was a little picture of Persia and Islam. The one thought of the owners was to make as much as possible out of the present voyage. We started terribly overladen with cargo—holds full, and piles of heavy boxes on deck, all covered over with a swarm of deck passengers as thick as bees. Hardly had we got to sea when God raised a stormy wind. The boiler leaked; part of the engine was broken off during the storm; the rudder would not act; we nearly ran on a rock. The storm, fortunately, did not last long. We anchored at the mouth of a river for twenty-four hours and repaired our damages. The 12th was a lovely day, and we reached Astara on the borders of Persia, where, most fortunately, we got rid of half our passengers and half our cargo, and were delayed for eighteen hours. Storms on the Caspian Sea.

On the 13th we sailed for Engelli, hoping to be there in ten hours; but it pleased God to send another storm. The same day we cast anchor off Engelli in the open sea in a furious gale, which continued to rage till the evening of the 17th. Part of the bulwarks of our frail bark was broken by the waves. By a miracle we were saved.

As the rain came down in torrents, we were obliged to take in as many of the poor deck passengers as our cabin, nine feet by fifteen feet, would hold; and for three or four days and nights we shared it with from fourteen to nineteen of them. Food also began to fail, and for the last two days the cook could give us nothing but rice-water and musty bread and tea.

On the last day (night of the 16th and 17th) all hope seemed taken away. We four had a blessed season of prayer and praise, when suddenly one of our party led the other Moslems in our cabin in quite a litany of the most heart-rending Arabic prayers, with tears and wailing, that I ever listened to. The cries and tears in the cabin were echoed by the passengers on deck and in the hold, and never did I witness such a scene. Most of the prayers were very beautiful, A Moslem litany.

and, I need not say, from the heart, and I was able to give my amen to each petition. The writer of Ps. cvii. 23—31, must, I think, have passed through such a time himself, and it was literally fulfilled to us, for very soon after light began to dawn in the quarter whence the wind came, and at 3 p.m. the captain rushed in with the good news—"The wind has gone round to the west."

Words of praise wanting.

After we had had our service of praise, I turned to my friend who had led the service of weeping in the morning, and said, "My friend, you led us all in weeping this morning; now God has heard our prayers, give us some words of praise." Alas! he could not recall one to mind, so I translated Ps: cxlv. and cvii., &c., for them, and they all seemed much pleased.

Death of Mrs. Eustace.

Dr. Eustace, when he sailed in April, left Mrs. Eustace at home in very delicate health, but it was her own very urgent request that his departure should not be delayed. Within a month, alas! the sad news of her death had to be communicated to him.

Owing to the changes in the staff no formal report of the progress of the work at Julfa has been received; but the Committee have learned from various quarters how highly Dr. Hoernle's medical work was prized.

BAGHDAD.

Baghdad.

This city, like Julfa, has had only one missionary during the greater part of the year under review, viz. Dr. H. M. Sutton. The Committee have appointed Miss Arabella H. Wilson to Baghdad, but await the opportunity of assigning another lady before sending her out. Dr. Sutton reports a decided improvement in the attendance at the Sunday and weekday services, the preaching generally being done by a catechist named Yusef, who was formerly employed by the American missionaries in their work further north. Dr. Sutton says of him, "He knows his Bible extremely well; speaks Arabic, Armenian, Turkish and Kurdish; he is instant in season and out of season, bearing witness for Christ in whatever company he may find himself." A Sunday school has been commenced, and a prayer-meeting is held on Friday afternoons. For a few weeks in the summer public preaching was carried on daily in the dispensary, when from eighty to 120 people would listen to the Word of God, the majority being Mohammedans. Dr. Sutton says of this effort and of the opposition it excited from the Roman Catholics and others:—

A polyglot catechist.

There is no doubt it was through the dispensary preaching that the suddenly increased interest and inquiry into the teaching of Christianity was aroused. Not only interest, but great excitement was caused. We were fully aware that in starting dispensary preaching we were running the risk of having the whole work stopped by the Turkish Government. And we know that there were many who did their best to put a stop to it. Our chief opponents were the Catholics, so called, and one or two old enemies of our work whom Mr. Hodgson described in his last year's report as being not owned by any Church, but having the name of Christian. The priests of all the Catholic churches forbade their people to come to the dispensary. So did the Jewish Rabbi. The numbers gathered in the dispensary included every class of Mohammedans—Mullahs, Turkish military officers, Government clerks, &c.; the majority, however, being poor people, and of these more than half were women. After the preaching and prayer Yusef spent a couple of hours or so, while I was seeing the patients, in reading and conversation with groups of people; sometimes in quiet talk with the poor and uneducated, sometimes in warm debate with the learned.

Dispensary work.

Thus the dispensary was carried on for six weeks, when the British Consul-General, who is very friendly to our work, asked me if I could not see my way to doing without the preaching, as he feared it might result in troubles to the other European residents in Baghdad, and even involve political complications.

Since then the evangelistic work has been carried on by personal conversation with the patients, by reading and talking with groups of them, and by visiting the homes where small companies of six or twelve would gather to listen to the Gospel message. An encouraging feature of the past year has been the frequent visits from Mullahs and other educated Mohammedans, often with the express object of inquiring into the doctrines of the Gospel. Of one of them Dr. Sutton says,—

Visits from Moslems.

Amongst those with whom we have had frequent talks in private is a young Mohammedan of good education, belonging to one of the "best families" in Baghdad. He has been many times to the Friday afternoon prayer-meeting, and we have had many long and interesting conversations with him. A Christian who works in the same office with him says that he has noticed a marked change in his manner with respect to Christianity. Formerly he used to scoff a good deal at our holy religion, but he is never heard to do so now.

In March Dr. Sutton accompanied Bishop French to Mosul; and in the autumn he visited Hillah, a little town of 12,000 inhabitants, on the site of ancient Babylon, distant from Baghdad about sixty miles. Of this visit he says:—

An inquirer at Hillah, the site of ancient Babylon.

In Hillah we soon found the Mohammedan whom we have known for more than three years as an inquirer after the truth, and whom I had seen on two previous occasions in Baghdad. I found he had made good progress in knowledge, and both he and his wife are desirous of being baptized. We also found several other men are secretly studying the Word of God, and who are almost persuaded of its truth, or even quite persuaded, but are lacking courage to confess Christ openly. A few people used to come each evening to our room in the khan, and amongst them the keeper of the khan. One evening, when I was talking with him, I quoted a saying of Sheikh Abdul Kadir (whose tomb in Baghdad is a great resort for pilgrims, especially Mohammedans from India), "Lord, give me two things, and if Thou grantest me this, I ask no more. First, a death without life; and secondly, a life without death;" and asked him if he did not desire what the great Mohammedan saint asked for. He replied, "I don't care about Abdul Kadir." I said, "But don't you want a life in which there is no death?" "Yes," he said, he would like that; and I proceeded to show him how it was offered to us in the Gospel of Jesus Christ. He seemed much struck with the thought of possession of the death and life of Christ by union with Him, but after a few more words he replied that he did not believe our Injil. The last night we were there he said, "If you were to stay three months, I believe I should become a Christian." The next morning, when we left for Baghdad, he ran with us for some distance (we riding donkeys) and was in tears. He said he wanted to come with us. There is evidently an opening for the Gospel in Hillah.

A Turkish official staying in the same khan with us came to our room one evening, and after a warm debate about Christianity, in which he got rather angry, we told him it was our custom to have prayers before we went to bed, and asked him whether he would stay. (I say, "Went to bed," but of course there are no beds in an Arab khan.) He replied, "Kayfkum" ("As you please"). Yusef prayed in Arabic. The Turk made no particular remark then, but the next night he came and asked us to pray with him, saying he had liked our prayer so much the night before. He asked particularly for prayer that he might be enabled to give up the habit of drink, to which he was addicted.

INDIA.

THE attention of the Committee has been specially directed during the past year to each of the two chief branches of aggressive missionary enterprise by which the Christian Church is striving to win India to the Lord Jesus Christ, viz. the work of evangelizing by preaching the Gospel to the multitudes in city bazaars and in populous rural districts; and the work of higher education, whereby opportunities are gained for influencing the proud and exclusive upper classes of the country.

Lay Evangelist scheme.

Contemplating on the one hand the large proportion of India's inhabitants, distributed in innumerable villages, which still lies outside the range of existing missionary agency; and, on the other, the marked increase of missionary zeal among all classes of Christian people in this country which has been manifested during the past few years; the Committee were led in January last year to resolve, God willing, to make trial of a scheme, which was recommended to them by General Haig, for sending out to carefully selected localities in India some young laymen, bachelors, of well-tested Christian character and after such training as the Committee should in each case think necessary, on moderate allowances, to do evangelistic work amongst rural populations under the direction of experienced missionaries. The various Corresponding Committees and the senior missionaries in India were requested to advise the Committee as to the districts considered suitable for this agency; and steps were taken at home to make known in the Universities and elsewhere that the Committee were prepared to entertain offers of service for this work. The responses from abroad have been much more numerous than those from home. Eager invitations have come from many quarters; but the Committee have only been able, so far, to send out one small party of three, to labour in the Nuddea District of Bengal. The Cambridge missionaries of the Society labouring in Bengal directed a letter to the members of the Cambridge University Church Missionary Union, in which the following sentences occurred :—

Letter to Cambridge University C.M.U.

From our knowledge of the country and the people, we feel persuaded that there is now a magnificent sphere (in Bengal, at any rate) for labourers of the particular sort indicated, and we believe that throughout Great Britain men will be found who will feel that this definite call to a life of devotion and self-denial in the service of Christ and His Gospel in a heathen land is just what they have been waiting for.

While, however, we look for a hearty response from all classes, we very earnestly hope that Cambridge will lead the van in this enterprise. We feel that the consecration and the courage and the zeal which are wanted ought to be, and will be, found most instantly and most conspicuously among men who inherit the traditions of Henry Martyn and Thomas Ragland, and a score more of the missionary saints of our University.

We send forth this letter, dear brothers, with earnest prayers and longings. If the scheme is of God, may He, in Whose cause it is that we are working, and Who has promised to answer all prayers that are according to His will, move your hearts as you read our letter as ours are moved while we write it.

Higher education.

The Society, in its publications, has repeatedly animadverted upon the educational policy of the Indian Government, in almost wholly neglecting the masses of the people, and in devoting the bulk of the State funds applicable to education in behalf of the upper classes. The evil moral consequences to these classes of an education purely secular have been frequently admitted by high authorities. And at length, in an important Minute of December, 1887, the Government itself has acknowledged "a growth of tendencies unfavourable to discipline, and favourable to irreverence," as a result of the policy pursued; and has expressed the conviction that "a large increase in the number of aided schools and colleges in which religious instruction is prominently recognized" is the direction in which the best solution of this difficult problem which confronts the Government can be found.

In view of this invitation, as it is in effect, the Committee have felt called upon to review the Society's relation to this important branch of missionary operations, and have, on the recommendation of an influential sub-Committee, adopted resolutions affirming the great importance which attaches to higher education as affording a more effectual access for the Gospel to the higher classes of non-Christian youths, and the duty incumbent on the Society under the present circumstances of India, so far as is in its power, to improve and, if possible, to extend its existing work in this department.

And while the Committee are reviewing present methods, and planning to enlist new forces, testimonies multiply month by month as to the vastness and hopefulness of the work to be done, and as to the measure of success which has rested on past labours.

The Rev. T. W. Jex-Blake, D.D., late Head Master of Rugby, having spent three months in India last year, thus summed up his impressions at the close of a letter to The Times in October :— Dr. Jex-Blake's testimony

1. The degradation of the Hindu religion is so deep, and the immorality and vices obtaining, not only in Native States, are so revolting, that the need of religious renovation is more urgent, and the opening for Christianity is more patent, than one can understand till one sees with one's own eyes and hears on the spot with one's own ears. as to the need,

2. The Indian mind, though now filled with degraded objects and theories of worship, is essentially a reverent and religious mind, and, if once won to Christianity, would be a fervently Christian mind.

3. To win India to Christianity is not a hopeless task if only enthusiasm at home were strong enough to multiply the army of workers tenfold, and to send men of such quality as those now at Delhi and Peshawur. the hopefulness,

4. Every great religion still an active force in the world is an Asiatic religion, and the more imaginative or ideal side of Christianity is really akin to Indian veins of feeling and thought, really Asiatic still. and the

5. England has no moral ground for holding India beyond the moral good she does there, and no moral good that she could do would equal the results of the spread of Christianity all over that vast continent, peopled by scores of distinct nationalities, with no unity whatever except the subordination of each to one empire. imperative obligation, of missionary work in India.

Sir Charles Aitchison, late Lieutenant-Governor of the Punjab, speaking at a C.M.S. Meeting at Simla in June last year, drew public attention once more to the Census Report of 1881, and ably indicated the numerical progress made by Christianity in India during the previous ten years. He said :— Sir Charles Aitchison on the progress of Christianity

If we turn to the Census Report of 1881, for example, we shall find that in the Madras Presidency, which is the great home of the Native Church, the population actually decreased within the ten years preceding the census, while the Christians of all denominations increased by 165,682, or more than 30 per cent. "The great majority of these Christians," the report goes on to say, "are Hindu converts or the descendants of Hindu converts. They are to be found in every district, belonging for the most part to the poorer classes, and drawn from the lower castes." in Madras, Unfortunately, I have not been able to get precise information regarding Burma and Bombay. But coming to Bengal, we all know there has been an enormous increase of population in that province. The Census Report puts it down at 10·89 per cent. The advance in the Christian population, however, is more than 40 per cent. But what is most remarkable is the fact that, while the increase among Christians of all other races is only 7 per cent., the increase among Native Christians is actually 64 per cent., the rate of increase being six times that of the ordinary population. "The progress made in the spread of Christianity during the last nine years," says the Census Commissioner, "is one of the most interesting facts brought out by the census just taken. . . . . This increase is far too large to be explained by the theory of natural productiveness: . . . . it is due Bengal, chiefly to conversions from heathendom. . . . . The Native Christians are the most rapidly progressing classes in Bengal. . . . . Out of the whole number of 86,306, more than one-third, or 35,992, are found in Lobardagga, where a German Protestant missionary has long been labouring among the aboriginal and semi-Hinduized tribes of that district."

N.-W. Provinces,

Next, in the N.-W. Provinces, the population increased 6 per cent. The number of Native Christians rose from 7648 to 11,823, being 54 per cent., or at the rate of 6 per cent. a year, exactly nine times as fast as the total population. "This increase," says the Census Commissioner, "extends to every division of the N.-W. Provinces, except Jhansi."

In the Punjab there is the same story to tell. The population increased 7 per.cent. The Hindu and Mohammedan religions are practically stationary, having increased only a fraction of 1 per cent.; the Sikh religion has declined. The Christian religion has increased 38½ per cent., being more than five times as fast as the population. I cannot separate the figures as between Native Christians and others, but you can draw your own conclusions from the fact that, while in 1851 there was not, so far as is known, a single Native Christian in the Punjab, the numbers in 1881 were 3912.

Now, how are these remarkable facts to be explained? How is it that, turn where we will, north, or south, or east, or west, in our oldest provinces, or in our more recently acquired possessions, we find the Christian community spreading at a rate unknown since the Apostolic times? You and I know the true explanation: it is the breath of the Spirit of the Lord. Now, as of old, He is magnifying His Name. The Lord is "adding to the Church daily such as shall be saved." The Gospel message has not lost its ancient power; now, as in the days of the Apostles, the Word of God "grows mightily and prevails."

Sir W. W. Hunter's testimony to the character and influence of missionaries.

And, lastly, Sir W. W. Hunter paid a generous tribute to the character and influence of missionaries in India in the course of an article on "Our Missionaries," contributed by him in July to the Nineteenth Century. He said,—

I shall speak only of facts within my own knowledge. But I know of no class of Englishmen who have done so much to render the name of England, apart from the power of England, respected in India as the missionaries. I know of no class of Englishmen who have done so much to make the better side of the English character understood. I know of no class who have done so much to awaken the Indian intellect, and at the same time to lessen the dangers of the transition from the old state of things to the new. The missionaries have had their reward. No class of Englishmen receive so much unbought kindness from the Indian people while they live; no individual Englishmen are so honestly regretted when they die. If I were asked to name the two men who, during my service in India, have exercised the greatest influence on Native development and Native opinion in Madras, I should name, not a governor, nor any departmental head, but a missionary Bishop of the Church of England and a missionary educator of the Scottish Free Kirk.

NORTH INDIA MISSION.

(European Missionaries first arrived, 1816.)

THE Committee had the advantage of an interview with the Bishop of Calcutta during his visit to England last year, and were favoured with his highly valued opinions on the importance of giving practical instruction on pastoral work to the Native clergy, and of providing suitable education for Native Christian youths.

The Rev. A. Clifford, Secretary of the Corresponding Committee, visited many of the stations in the North-West Provinces, even to remote Kherwara in Rajputana, in June and July last year. His visit afforded much refreshment to the missionaries, and enabled him to send home through the Corresponding Committee many valuable reflections and suggestions regarding the work at the various stations.

LOWER BENGAL.

Calcutta, 1816; Burdwan, 1817; Krishnagar, 1831; Bhagulpur, 1850.

THE "Lower Provinces" of the Bengal Presidency have an area of 203,437 square miles, almost that of France; but the population is double that of France, being 69,536,861 in 1881. Nearly half of the fifty districts have an average population of 500 to the square mile, and the rural districts nearest to Calcutta have from 800 to 1300 to the square mile, the densest rural population in the world.

The Society's staff in this responsible and interesting field of labour has undergone the following changes. The Rev. C. S. Harington and Miss Alice M. Sampson have come to England on furlough; but the Rev. H. Williams rejoined the Mission in November, and the Committee sent out at the same time the Rev. J. A. Cullen, of the Islington College. The Rev. A. H. Bowman, B.A., Association Secretary of the Society for Devonshire and Cornwall, who offered to go out for three years to take charge of the Old Church, Calcutta, arrived in March, about the same time as Messrs. Sidney W. Donne, Arthur Lefevre, and Percy H. Shaul, who were sent out as Lay Evangelists. The two last-named were third-year students at Islington College, who spontaneously offered to go out on the new status. A new worker has been added to the Society's ranks by the marriage of the Rev. J. W. Hall to Miss E. V. Clark, a missionary of the C.E.Z.M.S.

The usual Reports of the District Church Councils of Calcutta and Krishnagar, and of the Central Church Council, have not been received. The Rev. G. H. Parsons has been appointed Chairman of the Krishnagar District Council. The Calcutta Council is still under the chairmanship of the Rev. J. W. Hall.

CALCUTTA.

The evangelistic and pastoral work in and around Calcutta are under the superintendence of the Rev. J. W. Hall, who is also Secretary of the Calcutta Church Missionary Association; the Divinity School is conducted by the Revs. Philip I. Jones and W. H. Ball; the Mohammedan work is under the Rev. Jani Alli. The Rev. A. H. Bowman has succeeded the Rev. C. S. Harington in the charge of the Old Church; the Rev. C. H. Bradburn carries on the Boys' Boarding-school; and Miss H. J. Neele, assisted during Miss Sampson's absence by Miss Hall, conducts the Girls' Boarding-school and the Agarpara Orphanage. The Rev. Piari Mohan Rudra had a dangerous illness last spring. After a period of convalescence spent at a hill station, where he faithfully improved opportunities for direct missionary work, he was appointed to labour among the upper classes of the Northern district of Calcutta; but his health has unhappily again given way, and a longer period of rest is enjoined.

"Calcutta Church Missionary Association."

Mr. Hall has sent a comprehensive report of the work of the "Calcutta Church Missionary Association," with much valuable information collected from many sources on subjects in which, for the work's sake, he takes a deep interest, such as Intemperance and Leprosy. Besides four Bible-women, twenty-five spiritual male agents are under his superintendence, one being in Deacon's Orders, and the rest being catechists engaged in pastoral or evangelistic work among Brahmos, Hindus, Kôls, Chamars, Mohammedans, Lepers, and Servants. There are also thirty teachers, and seven helpers labouring in thirty-six schools, eighteen of which are supported chiefly by grants from the Christian Vernacular Education Society. In these schools 1450 children receive instruction. The field of labour extends from Agarpara on the north of Calcutta to Diamond Harbour on the south, a distance of fifty miles, and stretches from east to west about fifteen miles. There are nine churches, viz., Christ Church, Trinity Church, and the Hindi Church, in Calcutta; and at Agarpara, Bonhugli, Krishtopur, Akra, Thakurpukur, and Diamond Harbour; and there are out-stations at Andul, Chinerabad, Baranagor, and Bakra.

"Perhaps there is no city in the world," Mr. Hall says, "where the hearts of men are more deeply moved, and the power of Christ more truly felt than in Calcutta." And he adduces several striking facts which illustrate the attitude of the intelligent and educated classes towards the Gospel. The Brahmo Somaj, since the death of Keshub Chunder Sen, in 1884, has been slowly but unmistakably, indeed confessedly, declining in influence. A weekly publication, the Interpreter, after a few months' existence, makes apologies for its decease in the following terms:—

Attitude of the educated classes.

While we the members of the Brahmo Somaj are not able to reconcile our petty differences with a view to co-operation for common ends, two formidable bodies of men are slowly rising alongside of us to suck up what vitality there still remains in our organization, and give us the death-blow. The Christian missionaries are not slow to take advantage of the temporary eclipse of the Brahmo Somaj. Already we hear of renewed conversions to Christianity among the educated classes, and the fresh hostility which Christian leaders have begun to manifest to the ideals of our great minister has but one significance. Their organizing powers, their endless resources, their superior character, and Anglo-Saxon energy, would be sufficiently formidable in any case. The only set-off against all this that we possessed at one time, was the spirituality of our movement and the unity and love that knit us together. Alas! of that strength we are nearly deprived, as if by the curse of heaven. Then, on the other hand, there is the slowly rising body of reformed Hindu apologists.

Christian missionaries a "formidable body."

But the following remarkable paragraph had appeared in one of this paper's issues:—

Has the problem "Who and What is Christ?" been solved by the Theists of India? The majority of them believe that they have solved it, and that there is scarcely any need of further enlightenment. This overweening self-confidence has made the healthful stream of inquiry about Christ altogether stagnant. In the lifetime of Keshub Chunder Sen there was always a stir about it. From step to step, from scale to scale, he grew in the idea of Christ, and led the Theistic community onward and further on in the path of knowledge. He was frequently charged with shifting his opinions about Christ, but he repudiated the charge by stating that his motto was progress, and not stagnation. He used to emphasize the fact that he had not reached the finality. Let us then follow his example, and unceasingly strive after the attainment of a right knowledge of the Son of God and Son of Man. Christ is a tremendous reality. The destiny of India hangs upon the solution of His nature and function, and our relation to Him. Let us not hide in darkness, and rest contented with random streaks, but place ourselves in open light, and solve the problem "Who and What is Christ?"

"Who, and what is Christ?"

Mr. Hall says :—

There seems to be a growing feeling that eclectic religions are not sufficient to satisfy the yearnings of the human heart, and the eyes of not a few are turned in two directions, in the hope that some more satisfying creed may be discovered than that of the Brahmo Somaj.

(1) Many Hindus are urging a revival of Vedic Hinduism; they seem, however, to fear that Christ has gained so strong a hold over the hearts of India's sons that they cannot ignore Him in their plans for future action. A Hindu gentleman has proposed to call a congress of Brahmin priests and pundits for the purpose of incorporating the Christian Scriptures amongst the sacred books of India, and officially recognizing Christ as the last and spiritual Avatar.

Proposal regarding the Holy Scriptures.

(2) Others (Hindus and Brahmins) have a hope that, after all, they may find in Christ and Christianity that which all other creeds have denied to them.

A Society formed to study Christ.

The small society, formed more than a year ago, for the study of Christ, has grown, and now meets once a week in the Albert College, when a lecture is delivered on some portion of the life of Christ; a Greek class has also been formed for those who desire to study the New Testament in the original.

Mr. Hall mentions several interesting examples of converts and inquirers. One man, "well known in the scholastic world, and highly respected by all," was received into the visible Church by baptism during the past year :—

Since that time he has lost no opportunity of testifying for Jesus Christ in the place of his spiritual birth. His face and life, his joy and deep earnestness, are a commentary upon the power of Christ. Not long ago he walked seven miles, along a hot, dusty road, to Bonhugli Church (he is not a young man). After the service, I was conversing with him in Romanath Babu's house, and he said, "I did not feel tired when I was walking, or during the service. I was so full of happiness, singing of Jesus all the way. I have only just discovered that I am tired." Then he went off to visit some inquirers, and do his Father's business.

"Singing of Jesus all the way."

A Kulin Brahmin of Baranagar, retired on Government pension, had been a secret believer for years, but being the head of a large family, numbering about 200 souls, fear of the consequences had kept him from confessing Christ. Mr. Hall says :—

After Babu Russick Lall S.'s baptism, this Brahmin became a daily visitor at R.'s house, and the two would read the Holy Word together, and then kneel in prayer to God. He seemed to have a presentiment of approaching sickness. And one day he said to R., "If I am taken ill, have me baptized."

"If I am taken ill, have me baptized."

He had made up his mind, however, not to wait for sickness. And one Sunday morning he took his little daughter over to Bonhugli Church in the expectation of seeing me, and with the determination to leave the church an avowed Christian. Alas! I had gone to Agarpara in the morning instead, and when I arrived in the afternoon, he had returned to his home.

"If I am taken ill, have me baptized," was still his earnest plea, and lo! he was suddenly seized with a fever which never left him. He was visited and prayed with, but the jealous Brahmin family watched the sick man too closely. And while Russick Babu, Romanath Babu, and I, were praying for him at Bonhugli his spirit passed up to the Great Father who knew the desire of his heart, and who doubtless accepted it.

And now the relations, who so jealously guarded him in life, talk of his faith in Christ, and he being dead, speaks to them. Many of that household are inquiring about the religion in which, they firmly believe, their father died.

Kôls from Chota Nagpur.

In Calcutta are some thousands of Kôls, engaged in the public gardens, repairing roads, drains, &c., who have wandered thither from their home in Chota Nagpur. By Mr. Hall's efforts a little church, to seat about eighty adults, has been built, and was opened in February, and a Kôl woman and a Hindu man were baptized on that occasion. The work among them is most encouraging, and several were baptized during the year. A school has also been lately started, with an average of forty-five children.

Leper Asylum.

The Leper Asylum in Amherst Street has been visited by Mr. and Mrs. Hall, Miss Sampson, and others. Mr. Hall says:—

It is heart-breaking to witness the sufferings which often precede the outbreak of fresh sores, and too often in the agony of pain the poor rebellious hearts cry out against the God who has thus afflicted them.

Examples of suffering affliction, and of patience.

There is a marked difference in this respect between those who know and love Christ, and the Hindu or Mussulman. The former are bright and often cheerful under their great trial, and are certainly living witnesses of the power of Christ to support and comfort and gladden the heart of man, even when under affliction.

And Miss Sampson gives a touching instance of cheerfulness in this terrible affliction. She says:—

An educated Christian girl, who had begun to study medicine with Miss Hewlett, of the C.E.Z.M.S., at Amritsar, has been for nearly a year an inmate of the Leper Asylum. It is very sad for one like her to be shut up there. I do not think she suffers much pain as yet, and she bears her lot brightly and bravely as a true Christian, which I believe she is.

The Y.M.C.A. connected with Trinity Church, subscribed last year over Rs. 210 towards a fund in aid of poor Christians and widows; and a branch of the C.E.T.S. has been established in connexion with the Association.

Mr. Harington had the satisfaction of welcoming Mr. Bowman, to succeed him in the charge of the Old Church, before he started homewards at the end of March.

Mr. Ireland Jones has at length taken up the Principal-

ship of the Divinity School, to which he was assigned by the Committee in 1885, but which, owing to unexpected causes, he was prevented from assuming till July last year. In the previous May the senior class, consisting of six men, left the school, having completed a three years' course. Mr. Ball, who was in charge of the class during their training, writes of them :—

Six workers sent forth.

These men go forth well equipped for their future work, with a good knowledge of the Bible, Prayer-book, Creeds and Articles, and Hindu and Mohammedan controversy. But beyond this, after a constant and very close intimacy with them for three years, I have not the slightest doubt but that they are really converted men. With all, I have often had real spiritual communion. They have gone to their work with high hopes and expectations, and with a true desire to win souls for Christ. It is the first time in the history of the Bengali Church that six workers have been sent forth at one time, after three years' training. Representatives of all the Churches and Missionary Societies were present, several of whom took part in the proceedings. The men were addressed by the Rev. A. Clifford. The next day we received the Holy Communion together, and the men left the school, five to work amongst non-Christians and one among Christians.

There were fifteen students when the class was reopened. One was a catechist reading for orders, several were schoolmasters training for work as pastoral catechists, some were colporteurs, and a few were recently baptized converts and inquirers. They have a mutual improvement class for reading or discussion of suggested subjects connected with their life and work. Open-air preaching is, of course, a regular part of the training, the students going out in two bands twice a week. They also engage in tract distribution, and in taking a weekday service. Mr. Ball says :—

Open-air preaching by Divinity students.

We commence by singing a hymn, and at the end of each address another hymn or solo; but we never use English tunes in out-door preaching, and as all the men are carefully trained in Bengali music, their singing is often much admired. We can always get an audience of from fifty to a hundred, more than half of whom will remain to the end of the preaching. If in a village or quiet place, we invite the people to ask questions; but in Calcutta this does not answer, as it degenerates into argument. While one man is preaching, the others go to a little distance, and give away tracts and sell Scriptures, and often get into conversation with different people; coming back to join in the hymn. In this way many tracts are given away and Scriptures sold. Any who seem specially interested are invited to come to our school to hear more.

As the result of our out-door preaching, we have baptized a young Hindu, whom I believe to be truly converted. But since writing this I have found out that he was a Mohammedan, and as he is gone to his home, I am very anxious about him. We have two other young men staying in the College as inquirers; one a Hindu, and the other a Mussulman.

Baptized after thirty and eight years.

Mr. Jones had the privilege of preparing for baptism a Bengali gentleman, who has been led to Christ after many years by the influence of a Christian kinsman, long a faithful worker in connexion with the Society. This gentleman —evidently the Babu Russick Lall. S. referred to by Mr. Hall—had desired to be baptized thirty-eight years ago, when he was a pupil in the Scotch Free Church Mission School near Bonhugly, but his friends frustrated his object. Being fairly well off, he now intends to do volunteer work in connexion with the Calcutta Mission.

Mohammedan Mission.

The Rev. Jani Alli was obliged in March to take a sea voyage on account of his health. No report has been received from him of the Mohammedan work. Mr. Harington, however, mentions that the Urdu services which Mr. Alli conducts in the Old Church have been better attended, the communicants being nearly twice as many as in the previous year. And Mr. Ball says that three of the students at the Divinity School are converts from Mohammedanism.

Boys' Boarding school.

The Boys' Boarding-school has had a year of "marked progress in every way." It is now exclusively a Christian school, and Mr. Bradburn says :—

There is a healthy religious spirit pervading the whole place. Some time ago I had been talking to the hostel students about private prayer, and earnestly expressed a wish that parents here could be made to see the importance of teaching their children how to pray. A few days afterwards, hearing an unusual sound in the dormitory, which adjoins our sitting-room, I went quietly to see what was going on, and found a number of the younger boys praying. On inquiry, I was told that the boys took it in turn to read a few verses and then pray aloud; afterwards all joining in the Lord's Prayer. Now I hear that the same thing is done among the elder boys. All this is spontaneous, but quietly and in secret it needs sustaining.

Boys praying.

Deeds of kindness.

There is no lack of practical Christianity, as you will see by one or two instances I will give you. One boy, who was especially eager about his position in the class, gave up more than a week, and remained night and day in the hospital, to take care of his young sister, who was ill with cholera there. The poor child was so frightened she refused to take her medicine, excepting from her brother. To adequately understand this self-denial, it would be necessary for you to know what a dreary dark place the cholera-ward is—like a great vault. At the time I am writing we have one of the youngest boys in the sick-room, ill with chicken-pox. Of course, it is very lonely for him, as the boys are forbidden to visit him. One of the students from the hostel regularly, day by day, takes his books and keeps the little fellow company. These little things I look upon with hope, as gleams of future generosity and kindness, of which there is such a lack among Bengalis. Truly it is with them, every man for himself.

Not many of the boys are confirmed, as we deem it most unwise to press this upon them until they are led by God's grace to really wish to take a stand boldly as Christ's servants. Those who are confirmed, to the number of eleven, meet with us regularly every Saturday evening before the communion is administered, thus forming the nucleus of what we hope some day will be a flourishing communicants' union. As a school, they are a fine, healthy lot of boys, many—I might say, all—of them willing to turn their hands to anything, and the boys of the best families are the first to lead the way in anything that tends to the improvement of the school.

Girls' Boarding-school.

Miss Neele prefaces her report of the Girls' Boarding-school by a remark which has an application to many veteran workers of the Society. She says :—

The review of twelve months' work of any special Mission may not show any very visible marks of progress, yet the Lord's army is ever marching on to victory, as may be seen by looking back but a few years; and as the veteran Baptist missionary, Mr. Kerry, said at a Conference two nights ago, "Who are the most buoyant and hopeful of the missionaries? are they not those who have been the longest in the country?" Assuredly they are, and the review of a shorter period than Mr. Kerry's thirty years' service must lead us to say with thankfulness, "What hath God wrought?"

The oldest missionaries the most hopeful.

There are seventy-four names on the roll, of whom twenty-one are day-scholars. The general tone of the school, Miss Neele says, is very healthy. Some of the pupils belong to the Bengali Branch of the Children's Scripture Union, and two prizes were obtained, as well as one by an Agarparah girl, at the Annual Examination of Members. Miss Sampson, who found it hard to leave, to take furlough, after her happy six years in the school, says :—

Some of our elder girls, who have been in the school from its beginning, or very nearly, show by their example that they have given their hearts to the Lord, and are growing in grace. One such, seventeen or eighteen years of age, left us for a home of her own about two months ago, and we have every hope that she and her husband, who seems also an earnest Christian, will let their light shine among their heathen neighbours. They live at Hoshungabad, in the Central Provinces, where the husband is employed in the Forest Department. She is a "Gleaner," and when at school used to talk to her little schoolfellows about the Saviour. She has already begun to visit some Hindu women near her home, and writes that they listened very eagerly to what she told them of Jesus Christ, of whom they had never heard before. It makes us feel so thankful to God that He uses our dear girls in this way for His glory, and I do trust many more of them will testify for Him hereafter.

"Gleaners."

Another "Gleaner," when in the train going home for her holidays, found some heathen women in the same carriage who had never heard the Gospel, and told them in her simple, loving way, how Jesus had died to save them. And another, the girl who passed the Entrance Examination the year before last, and is now at home, has just taken a class of little girls in Mrs. Clifford's Bengali Sunday-school. She also comes to school here twice a week for a drawing lesson, and on those days, at her own request, takes the little ones' Bible-class. We have about thirty "Gleaners" now, and have a meeting once a fortnight, when I tell them a little of missionary work in other parts, and we have prayer.

The Marchioness of Dufferin and Ava visited the school with her two daughters just before the late Viceroy left India. Miss Hall's help, since June last year, has been much appreciated.

In the District round Calcutta all the more important Mêlas, and Hindu, or Mohammedan, gatherings, have been visited by Mr. Hall and his Native catechists. One of the chief features of the work at these festivals has been the sale of portions of the Scriptures. Mr. Hall calculates that about 14,000 Gospels and Psalms have been sold, and this notwithstanding that he has not had the help of colporteurs as in former years. All through the country Mr. Hall is struck with the readiness of almost all classes to hear the Gospel. Twenty adults have been baptized.

Sale of the Scriptures.

The work at Bonhugli, where there are fifty Christians, is under an honorary catechist. Not only is this congregation no charge to the Society or to the Church Council, but a sum of Rs. 20 was handed over to the latter body last year. A cemetery was much needed, and has now been secured, the honorary catechist having contributed himself Rs. 100 towards the purchase of the ground.

Bonhugli.

At the other stations of the district Mr. Hall says, "I think we can honestly report improvement all round. The general tone is undoubtedly far better than it was two or three years ago."

"Improvement all round."

BURDWAN.

The Calcutta Corresponding Committee have appointed the Rev. H. Brown to this station. The Rev. Râj Kristo Bose, the experienced Native Pastor, reports seventeen adult baptisms during the year. "We go to all kinds of people," he says, "both the educated and the ignorant, the rich and the poor. All the public places, such as the Courts, the Railway Station, the Bazaar, &c., are thronged by many to hear the blessed Gospel." He mentions a medical practitioner, and some Mohammedans, of whose conversion he entertains hope.

The Bowris, a poor agricultural people who are found between Burdwan and Bancoora, continue to give encouragement. There are sixty baptized Christians among them, and fifteen are under preparation for baptism. Mr. Bose says, "These Bowri converts are good and earnest Christians, and almost all are very good singers. They hold regular prayer-meetings among themselves."

KRISHNAGAR DISTRICT.

At his own request, the Rev. H. Williams has been assigned, since his return, to the itinerating work. His knowledge of the language, and of the religious systems of the people, specially qualify him to be a guide and counsellor of the little band of evangelists which the Committee have at length been enabled to locate in this extremely populous district. These are—the Revs. C. Hope Gill and E. T. Butler, and Messrs. Sidney W. Donne, Arthur Lefevre, and Percy H. Shaul. The three last-named are to labour under the immediate superintendence of Mr. Gill, residing under the same roof with him at Shikarpur, and, after learning the language, if spared, going forth from that centre to preach and otherwise make the Gospel known in the villages. Mr. Gill, however, has been sent under medical orders for a few months' change to Australia. The Rev. A. J. Santer continues to conduct the Training Institution at Krishnagar; and the Rev. G. H. Parsons has had the superintendence of the district since Mr. Rudra's illness in the spring of last year.

Training School.

The Training School has sent out six students to various posts of service. Mr. Santer arranged what he calls an Appointment Day, on which to solemnly welcome them to the privileged status of fellow-workers in the Lord's vineyard, when services were held and addresses given by Mr. Gill and Mr. Parsons. There remained fourteen students in the Institution. Three Primary Schools are also under Mr. and Mrs. Santer. Of the Girls' School under the latter Mr. Santer says:—

A poor woman determined to learn.

I may mention one instance of the work done. A married woman, the wife of a poor man in the village, came to the school last year, and could not tell one letter from another. But she has held bravely on, and sits in the class with her baby on her knee. She has already passed the second book of reading (Bengali). There is nothing like determination.

The superintendence of the Pastorates, which devolves upon the Chairman of the Church Council, is an onerous and laborious work. Mr. Parsons thus describes it:—

The superintendent's work is to visit all the parishes in turn, staying two or three days in one place, noting the work of the pastors and catechists, examining the schools, visiting the people in their homes, holding classes for instruction of the agents, preaching, giving the Holy Communion in such places where there is no priest, looking after repairs, in fact, all that a rector of a large parish, or an archdeacon, has to do at home. This involves constant journeyings. I have changed my sleeping quarters 130 times during the year, and have slept at home rather less than one night in three. I generally administer the Holy Communion twice, and preach twice each Sunday. A superintendent's duties.

At Chupra, where Mr. and Mrs. Parsons reside, the work among the women has been hopeful. From twenty to thirty attend the church daily for morning prayers, and they have shown much readiness in almsgiving. Mr. Parsons says:—

I was present lately at a meeting at which the pastor urged upon the women the duty of almsgiving. We had previously brought forty earthen pots, which we had painted white, and written upon them "danhari" (alms-pot). These we offered to any who would like to take them. Sixty-eight names were given at that meeting alone by women promising to take the pots and hang them up in their cook-houses, and whenever they go to cook they will first put a handful of rice into God's treasury. On Sundays they bring the amount thus given to church, and present it before the Lord. Alms-pots.

There are thirteen Sunday-schools in the district, with a roll attendance of 200 boys and 220 girls. The one at Chupra is the largest, with eighty boys and ninety girls. "Most of the children now bring, not their pennies for the missionary-box, but their handfuls of rice for the danhari (literally, gift-pot)," Mr. Parsons says. A Mothers' Bible and Sewing-class, under Mrs. Parsons, made last year twenty-eight garments for the poor women in the Calcutta Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Parsons have sustained a sad loss in the death of a little daughter, five years old, which was caused by the child being thrown from a vehicle in which she was riding with her mother.

SANTALIA.

Two years since this Mission was referred to in the Annual Report as a "strong Mission." Sickness and other causes, however, so reduced the staff during the early months of this year, that Mr. Clifford was justified in describing it as in well-nigh a state of collapse. In January the Rev. J. Brown left on furlough, and the Rev. A. J. Shields was transferred from Godda to succeed to his Reduced staff.

duties at Bahawa. A few weeks later, however, Mrs. Shields' health rendered it peremptorily necessary that she should come to England, accompanied by her husband; and about the same time the Rev. J. Tunbridge was ordered home by the doctors. Thus, all at once, three of the five stations, viz. Bahawa, Godda, and Hiranpur, were bereft of their European missionaries, and only two of the whole staff, the Revs. A. Stark and J. Blaich, remained, the latter by no means strong after more than twenty years' incessant work without one furlough to Europe. Under these circumstances the Rev. F. T. Cole was invited to return from the Gond Mission, which he did in March last; and Mr. Stark readily consented to postpone his leave of absence which had been sanctioned. The Calcutta Corresponding Committee have appointed the Rev. J. A. Cullen to this Mission, for work among the Paharis.

Native Church Council.

A Native Church Council has been promoted, and Mr. Shields appointed to the Chairmanship; but the privilege of presiding at the first meeting, owing to Mr. Shields' absence, will now (D.V.) fall to Mr. Cole. Bhagaya and Godda, owing to geographical and ethnological difficulties, will not for the present be included in the scheme.

Mr Blaich has been alone at TALJHARI, but he has not forwarded a report of the station, nor of the Boys' Boarding-school, for which he is more especially responsible.

Mr. Brown's itinerating work in the BAHAWA district has been encouraging. A general persuasion that demonism is found wanting is gaining ground. The chief of a pergunnah declared that he was certain as to the foolishness of demonism, and that having tried reformed demonism he had found it an utter failure. "But," he said, "this (the Christian) religion has a root and foundation. Some of my relatives are Christians, and I shall soon join you too." In these Santhal villages is found a considerable population of Mohammedans. The two following paragraphs from Mr. Brown's Annual Letter are interesting:—

A former distiller of illicit spirits attending school.

As I was approaching Meter Hill recently, I was thinking of the illicit distilling of spirit carried on secretly in the gorges and recesses of the place, and the drunkenness, sometimes proving fatal, which has prevailed there, it being a resort for all spirit drinkers of the neighbourhood. I saw a man coming holding something under his arm. I soon discerned by its appearance that it was a Hindu New Testament. As we met we salaamed each other, but we were strangers. He told me (in Santhali) he was going to the school. We had just left the school, held in open field. I took hold of the New Testament and opened it. It was coloured by smoke. The man told me a Teli (Hindu oilman) had given it to him. I then asked of himself who he was, and I also saw a name written on the cover. I was then surprised to find this was the notorious Maler, named Rupa, whose doings as a lawless distiller had often been brought to my notice through complaints made by the Christians. Now, what a different man! He said, "I have renounced all that. I know a little Hindi, and I go to school to learn to read this holy book. This is much better than that liquor traffic. I want to learn, and then teach my people." Here was a man, almost fifty years old, going to school like a child. I came on my way rejoicing, having shaken his hand and wished him God's blessing on this turn in his life. It is most encouraging to find the Word of God being carefully kept by some, who have not yet been able to make an open profession of faith, and regarding it as a good and holy book. I asked Rupa why the Teli did not keep it for himself. He said, "The Teli had other copies, and gave me this."

By chance I stopped about noon under the shadow of a tree opposite a house, and the family soon came out and saluted me. They were Chamars, and seemed very friendly, and brought me a seat. I soon recognized them as having been sometimes to our dispensary. The mother of the family was still suffering from ear disease. I soon began to tell them of the great salvation, and then they called the father to come. The old man took great interest in the words spoken, and often asked explanations. I found that the Christian Chamars had already made these distant relatives conversant with some Gospel truths. But I was surprised to find that they had a Bengali copy of a Gospel in their possession. They brought it to me. Yes, there it was, brown with smoke, but the entire Gospel of St. John, and a portion of a tract, also in Bengali. I inquired how and where they got it. To my joyful surprise I found that it had belonged to a poor crippled Chamar Christian (Madhob by name), whom I had seen in 1870 as a village school-teacher at Siva Pahar (Siva's Hill), a village several miles distant. Poor Madhob had become a Christian at the beginning almost of the Santhal Mission, under Mr. Lehmann of Hiranpur. He was an orphan, but, although he had become a Christian, it seems these relatives of his had not altogether forsaken him. At least, it seems they went at his death to take whatever they could find, and this Gospel and tract had been brought away by them. I then read to them out of their own book St. John xiv., and explained the first six verses. They seemed delighted, and as a Santhal Christian lives in their village, I advised them to invite him to come and read to them frequently. The village where poor Madhob was a school-teacher nineteen years ago had no other Christian in it. Now two families of Santhal Christians are there, and others, we hope, will prove faithful and follow the Lord Jesus, so that it may be more appropriate to call it no longer Siva's, but Christ's Hill.

A crippled Christian's effects.

The Bahawa congregation numbers 229, exclusive of the Girls' Boarding-school, with its seventy-six pupils. These are scattered in sixteen villages, and among them are Santhals, Malers, Chamars, Kamars, Jogis, Kyonts, and Doms, all different races and castes, but all bound together in the love of God in Christ. There were twenty-four adult baptisms in June.

In the Lakipur subdivision, under the Rev. Bhim Hansdah, are three congregations, with 279 members (including 110 children), who live in thirteen villages some miles apart. At Sarjonrghatu an aged Christian, named Baijun, has built a new church, the third he has built there during twenty years. Five adults were baptized in this district. The Rev. Ram Charan Dass is at Chuchi, having three congregations, numbering 410 souls, viz. at Chuchi, Dhamni, and Tilaki. Three men and three women were baptized.

Trials at Hirampur.

At HIRAMPUR Mr. Tunbridge has had a year of trials, he says, rather than of triumphs. Trials pastoral, evangelistic, and personal. The first was the greatest, and it would seem to have been in a large measure the cause of the illness which has constituted the personal trial. Four members of the Church have had to be excommunicated, three for immorality, and one for drunkenness; and four others have been lost through worldliness and careless living. Five Christian families, moreover, have migrated across the Ganges. Mr. Tunbridge says:—

> At times these cases have made me quite ill. It is, indeed, a bitter trial to see poor souls go astray for whom one has toiled and prayed, and of whom bright hopes were once fondly entertained. Sometimes in the bitterness of grief I have been almost tempted to cry, "Lord, let me die, for I am no better than my fathers." If an under-shepherd can mourn thus over poor wandering sheep, what must the Chief Shepherd feel who shed His life-blood for them?

These disappointments have led Mr. Tunbridge to exercise special care before admitting candidates for baptism, and, in consequence, only eight adults were baptized during the year, i.e. up to the end of September; but others have been received since then. One case is mentioned:—

Seven miles to Sunday services.

> Only one case calls for any special comment, that of a Santal man of some fifty summers, of some little education, named Habil Somae. He was perhaps the fruit of last year's camping season, and belongs to the Askandha congregation. We kept him under probation and instruction for a good while, and tested his faith by telling him he must attend regularly the Sunday services some seven miles off. This he did, and continues to do. A friend who commenced with him fell back.

A Bible Reading Union.

There are sixteen village boys' schools, and the teachers have been induced to make a monthly visit to the boys' homes, and make the acquaintance of their parents. A Bible Reading Union has been commenced in connexion with the "Children's Special Mission," which has been found of much benefit in teaching the people to read the Word of God regularly. The attempt to start Sunday-schools has succeeded in one or two of the centres. At Talpahari there are twenty-eight scholars, most of them heathen.

In the BAGAYA district, unassisted by a Native Pastor, but helped by four Pahari, one Santali, and two Hindi lay-agents, Mr. Stark superintends eight congregations, widely scattered, and speaking three different languages. He also conducts, assisted by a Eurasian teacher, a Pahari Normal Class of six young men, and is responsible for the management of two Boarding-schools, one for boys and one for girls (the former supported by Government). All the teachers are Christians. Mrs. and Miss Stark have classes for the Pahari women.

BHAGALPUR.

No report has been received from the Rev. G. H. Weber, who continues to reside at this station.

NORTH-WEST PROVINCES.

Agra, commenced 1813; Mirát, 1815; Benares, 1817; Gorakpur, 1823; Azimgarh and Jaunpur, 1831: Lucknow, 1858; Allahabad, 1859; Faizabad, 1862; Aligarh, 1863.

THE Revs. H. Lewis, A. H. Wright, and I. T. H. Hoernle have come to England, the first and last on account of their wives' health, and Mr. Wright on account of his own. The Rev. G. B. Durrant returned to the Mission in the autumn, and the Rev. Albert E. Johnston, B.A. of Trinity College, Dublin, Curate of St. Luke's, Dublin, was sent out in September to be Vice-Principal of the Allahabad Divinity School. The Rev. Madho Ram, pastor of Jabalpur, died in June last year. He had been a Hindu student in St. John's College, Agra, and was one of four who read the Bible privately with the late Rev. H. W. Shackell, then (1858) working in the College under Mr. French. Another was Tara Chand, Mr. Shackell's first convert, afterwards S.P.G. pastor at Delhi. Tara Chand's baptism led Madho Ram to decide for Christ, and he was baptized in April, 1859. Ten years later he was ordained by Bishop Milman, and has since laboured diligently and with much ability at Agra, and for the last ten years at Jabalpur. He never married, but always said he was married to his Church. At his death he bequeathed Rs. 2500 towards the endowment of St. Luke's Church, Jabalpur. His last words on this subject were, "All for my Church—all for my Church."

Twelfth Anniversary of Native Church Council.

The twelfth Annual Meeting of the North-West Provinces Native Church Council was held at Agra on Oct. 10th and 11th, the Rev. J. P. Ellwood presiding. The sermon was preached by the Rev. W. Seetal, the Agra Native pastor. The preacher referred, in his opening remarks, to the new Rules for the Bengal Native Church Council, which were to be submitted for adoption in the North-West Provinces. He said :—

I wish to draw your attention to one thing alone on this day in particular, on which our Church Council has attained its twelfth year of existence, and become well able to discern between the real good and the accidental evil which exists among our Churches. Like the Jerusalem youths becoming "Sons of the law" and the Christian youths becoming "confirmed" at the age of twelve, in the traditions, and vows and promises of their god-parents, our Council also this day becomes subject to the Revised Law for the Native Church Councils, and of age to espouse from this day forward, for better for worse, for richer for poorer, the New Committee Principle which is to guide and govern henceforth the congregations which shall be affianced to it.

The following extract from the sermon must also be quoted :—

Brethren, the one thing to which I desire to direct your thoughts on this occasion is simply this—to expect great things from God and to attempt great things for God. Hitherto we as a Church Council have neither expected and prayed for great things from God, nor attempted great things for God, but have been satisfied with a sluggish even tenor of Christian existence. I beseech you, then, forgetting the past poverty and barrenness, to make grand, bold, and cheerful efforts to consolidate the weak, struggling, dependent, and apathetic Churches which make up our Church Council, and to break forth to the right and to the left to give life and light to them that sit in darkness and in the valley of the shadow of death. Coming, as you have very fitly done, to this imperial city, be infected and filled with imperial ideas—the subjugation of this vast land to the Christian faith, and the making of your own Native Christian Church the glory, wonder, and admiration of the whole Christian world! This is every way worthy of you, worthy of the Genius which has called you into existence, worthy of the Destiny to which heavens, and earth, and the regions unseen, must yield. And this can only be accomplished and hastened by expecting great things from God and attempting great things for God. Be filled with this madness. Pray fervently for great, grand and glorious things from God. Be not afraid of asking too much from God, for it is His own express good will which says—open thy mouth wide and I shall fill it. Go about this in a right royal way. Be not straitened in yourselves. Freely and bountifully have you received, freely and bountifully give—give—of your substance, your influence, your personal labour, your soul's agony, till this pleasant land of ours be a second Eden upon the earth, and the Glory of God shine through the length and breadth of it.

The Special Mission preachers, the Rev. F. Sulivan and Mr. E. Clifford, visited most of the stations in this Mission during February and March of last year, but the reports of the work reached this country too late for reference in last year's Annual Report. Brief accounts of the services will be found under the various stations.

BENARES.

The Rev. B. Davis has had general charge of the work here, in addition to having a more special responsibility for the Jay Narain's school. After Mr. Wright's departure, the Rev. G. Litchfield, whose health had failed in Kherwara, removed with Mrs. Litchfield to Benares, and took charge of the Normal School. The Rev. J. J. Johnson is the evangelistic missionary, and he has also been occupied part of the year in the work of Bible translation. The Rev. D. Solomon, formerly pastor at Lucknow, is now at Benares, having exchanged places with the Rev. A. M. Levi. Mr. Solomon was warmly welcomed back to his old charge as pastor of Sigra, which he left for Lucknow in 1877.

Special Winter Mission.

The Rev. F. Sulivan spent a week at Benares in February last year, as Special Mission preacher. Numerous services and meetings were held day by day, and the Mission concluded with an English service in the Town Hall, when about 150 assembled to hear an account of the blessings resulting from the study of the Bible, and its intrinsic excellence and importance as the Word of God. The chair on this occasion was taken by the Raja Shambhu Narayan Singh, and the Raja Shen Prosad was also on the platform, and spoke a few words at the close on the advantages he had himself derived from those who followed the teaching of the Bible. In the audience were masters of the various schools in Benares, pleaders, and other men of influence, as well as some pupils of the colleges.

Dr. Jex-Blake, whose visit to India has already been referred to, thus wrote of the magnificence and degradation of Benares:—

I would not have missed Benares for anything, if only to see the

The Hindu religion, in its greatest splendour,

Hindu religion in its greatest splendour. The population is about 250,000, with more than 3000 temples (it is said) in the city. The view of the city, as you slowly pass along in a steam-launch, is magnificent. Noble flights of stone steps descend to the Ganges; corpses lie upon the shore, half in the water, waiting to be burnt; sacrificial flowers float upon the river; and in the early morning thousands of pilgrims of both sexes are bathing, with perfect decorum, in the sacred stream.

Step inside the city. One temple swarms with fetid apes; another is stercorous with cows. The stench in the passages leading to the temples is frightful; the filth beneath your feet is such that the keenest traveller would hardly care to face it twice. Everywhere, in the temples, in the little shrines by the street side, the emblem of the Creator is phallic. Round one most picturesque temple, built apparently long since British occupation began—probably since the battle of Waterloo—runs an external frieze, about ten feet from the ground, too gross for the pen to describe; scenes of vice, natural and unnatural, visible to all the world all day long, worse than anything in the Lupanar at Pompeii. Nothing that I saw in India roused me more to a sense of the need of religious renovation by the Gospel of Christ than what met the eye, openly, right and left, in Benares.

In this great city, at some of the ten preaching stations, the catechists daily, either singly or two and two, preach the Gospel; and one day each week they spend in visiting individuals at their houses. Their reports at their weekly gatherings at Jay Narain's show, Mr. Davis says, that there are many in Benares who have read books on Christianity and are well pleased to have opportunities of conversing on religious subjects. During the Christmas holidays of 1887-88 Mr. and Miss Davis, with catechists and a colporteur, itinerated among the villages to the north-east of the city.

Jay Narain's school.

Jay Narain's School has had a successful year, so far as numbers and examinations go. It closed with about 100 more boys than were in the school when Mr. Davis returned in November, 1887. Day by day a short Scripture lesson is given at the opening of school, and twice a week an hour is devoted to studying God's Word, and committing passages to memory, by each class. Altogether 1129 boys and 445 girls are under instruction at this station.

Girls' Normal school.

Mr. Litchfield, who for a few years was connected with the Nyanza Mission, remarked, soon after taking charge of the Girls' Normal School, that the physical change from Africa to India was not greater than the mental contrast between the half-clad ignorant Bheels he had so lately left, and the educated Christian girls he was now called to train for future usefulness.

In August the Rev. A. Clifford baptized a convert brought to Christ by Miss McKenzie, of the I.F.N.S., in the Sigra Church. The convert is a daughter of a Koolin Brahman, and was taken to Benares by her mother several years since. Her name is Monmohini ("something pleasing to the mind"). Two other women, of high caste, who had not yet found the courage to follow her example, witnessed her baptism.

Sigra. The Sigra congregation consists of 300, of whom eighty are communicants. Pandit Janki Nath is employed by the Native Church Council as evangelist to the Bengalese pilgrims, and preaches to them at the bathing-places.

Jaunpur. At Jaunpur the Rev. Benjamin Tobit is the Council evangelist, and Mr. P. N. Ghose is head master of the High School. The soil is a hard one among Hindus, and still more so among Mohammedans, but some inquirers are spoken of. The congregation numbers fifty.

Azimgarh. Mr. G. C. Bose, head master of the High School at Azimgarh, also acts as lay pastor to the small congregation of seventeen souls, with eight communicants. The Christian teachers go out preaching on holidays, &c., and the people listen gladly. One adult was baptized, who died soon afterwards, and two inquirers are reported.

GORAKHPUR.

The Rev. Henry Stern, at Gorakhpur, and the Rev. T. Carmichael, at Basharatpur, have continued their respective labours, the former having charge of the station work, and the latter itinerating in the district. Mr. Carmichael has now removed to Mirat.

Mr. Stern sends a report of the four congregations at Gorakhpur, Basharatpur, Sterupur, and Basti. Several families were enticed away by some Roman Catholic Native Christians, but when their Gospels and Prayer-books were taken from them, and further assistance by the priest was made conditional upon their re-baptism, most of them returned to Basharatpur. There are 1478 scholars in nineteen schools.

Special Winter Mission. Both the Rev. F. Sulivan and Mr. E. Clifford went to Gorakhpur, and various sections of the community were addressed, besides the Native congregations. Two hundred English-speaking Natives, including several high officials and pleaders, assembled to hear Mr. Sulivan on Saturday evening, February 18th. Mr. Clifford held a service at the newly-opened Railway Institute for railway servants, and exhibited Scripture subjects with his magic-lantern to a meeting of Christians only. The service of thanksgiving at the close of the Mission was followed by a social gathering of the leading Christians and their families.

Mr. Carmichael gives some statistics of the district which deserve to be noted. He says:—

Statistics of one district.

The population of this single district (Gorakhpur) in 1881, the census year, was 2,617,120, spread over 4598 square miles, and to itinerate amongst this immense population there is one European missionary, his wife, three catechists, and a Bible-woman, half a dozen in all. But in this population the census shows 560 ascetics and 244,386 Brahmins, i.e., an army of 250,000 professional heathen propagandists against us. They are found in every village in the district, and are with the people teaching them from their childhood. In the present year (1888) there are in this district 8367 villages. If we visited and preached in one fresh village every day in the year, it would take us twenty-three years to get round them. There were in 1881, 448,925 occupied houses. If we were to visit ten houses a day with the Gospel, working the whole year round, it would take us 123 years to go over all the houses once!

The following, from his Annual Letter, illustrates the dangers of itinerating work, and the providential deliverances vouchsafed:—

Dangers and deliverances.

We have terrible roads to travel in this district, One day we had to cross a river where alligators were basking in the sun; we got safely past them, but on mounting the opposite bank, which was fearfully steep and sandy, the wearied horse lost its footing when just at the top, and down went horse, vehicle, and occupants backwards into the river again. By the mercy of God, no one was hurt. On another occasion we were driving back to the rest-house at night, when our poor old horse stumbled over a break in the road, and fell heavily, smashing the shaft and flinging my wife right out upon the prostrate horse. On this occasion, also, by God's providence, we were preserved. Soon after we were in a lonely house, about forty miles from home, when a terrific storm took place in the night, with thunder and lightning, rain and wind, without any intermission, for upwards of an hour. The rain poured through the roof into our bedroom, the lamp went out, loose doors were banging and clashing, and the lightning and thunder were one continuous blaze and roar. Next morning, when all was over, the country roads were strewn with trees which had been blown down by the hurricane.

Work among village women.

Mrs. Carmichael has found frequent opportunities of speaking to the women. In some of the villages they ran away at first in terror, but generally they were persuaded to return. In one place, a woman asked the Bible-woman in an awe-struck whisper whether the Mem Sahiba was a man! One woman said she had lain awake all night thinking of the beautiful words she had heard from the Mem Sahiba; and another remarked that "the words were like sweet water to her heart."

Mr. Carmichael baptized a Jew from Baghdad who had learned in Bombay that Jesus of Nazareth is the Messiah.

ALLAHABAD.

The Rev. H. M. M. Hackett continues in charge of this station; and the Rev. A. E. Johnston, who arrived in November, assists him in the Divinity School. The Revs. David Mohun and Mark Drummond are the Native Pastor and Curate of the congregation.

"Special Winter Mission."

Prayerful preparation was made for the Special Winter Mission some weeks beforehand. A circular in Roman Urdu, addressed to nominal Christians, backsliders, and non-Christians, was widely distributed, also a paper containing prayers and subjects for prayer and meditation. Miss Bromley preceded by a few days the Mission preachers, to prepare the way. On the day of their arrival addresses were given on the work of the Holy Spirit by the Hon. G. E. Knox and others, as well as by the Mission preachers. Mr. Hackett wrote :—

> We cannot but believe that this direct recognition of the work of the Spirit and united prayer, had much to do with the blessing of the succeeding week.
> Spirit of union.
>
> One great feature of the Mission was the way in which Christians of all denominations were drawn together. The meetings for the American Presbyterian Mission were particularly well attended and hearty, and at the request of several, the meeting arranged for eight o'clock on Thursday morning was put at seven o'clock, to enable the clerks of the offices to attend. We went down hardly expecting to see many, but found the room well filled at that early hour, some having come considerable distances for it. The meetings for Native gentlemen were not as well attended as might have been desired.
>
> But all the other meetings were well attended, and the interest aroused was great. But far more than that, the Holy Spirit was present in power at the meetings. At the concluding meeting, when Mr. Clifford asked all to stand up who had received a blessing, nearly all present stood up. But there were even more definite results. In the private interviews which some had with the missioners, they showed plainly enough how the Spirit of God had been working in their hearts. One, who had only been baptized a month before, was greatly moved, and, with tears in his eyes, said that he had given himself, body, soul, and spirit, to the Lord for His service. Another, a Brahmin convert, said, "When I was a Hindu, I lived up to the Hindu faith, and now that I am a Christian, I want to live up to the Christian faith. But how is it that, as a Hindu, I had no struggle within, and now I have much inward fighting. How can I gain the victory over my sins?"
>
> The inward struggle:
>
> "How can I gain the victory?"

The Annual Meeting of the "Indian National Congress,"

a political gathering aiming at securing for Indians a larger share in the government of their country, was held at Allahabad in December; and advantage was taken of the presence of so many educated Natives to have some English lectures. Mr. Hackett says:—

Lectures to educated Natives by Natives.

Four such were delivered, two by Mr. Kali Churan Banerji, who is well known as the "Bengal Orator," a leading and most gifted Native Christian, upon "Christianity and Philosophy," and upon "Christianity and Politics." Another, by the Rev. A. M. Banerji, upon "The Power of the Gospel;" another, by Mr. R. C. Bose, upon "The Root Principle of Self-Culture." The attendances were upon the whole good, but doubtless most of the members of the Congress thought that they had listened to sufficient speaking during the day.

The average congregation at Muirabad is 150, of communicants 60. A congregation, numbering 20 souls, at Partabgarh is under the pastoral charge of a catechist, who preaches regularly in the town and adjoining villages, and also at the mêlas which take place there for the sale of opium.

LUCKNOW AND FAIZABAD.

Upon its being learned that the Rev. H. Lewis was unable to return at once, as he had hoped, from his visit to England to bring home Mrs. Lewis, the Rev. G. B. Durrant was requested to go thither, and he immediately, at no small sacrifice of private feeling, responded to the call of duty, and gave up willingly the work of an itinerant in the Agra district to which he had been assigned. Later exigencies, however, have necessitated his partial transference to Jabalpur, and, in spite of every endeavour to avert such an issue, the Rev. A. I. Birkett has perforce been left very much alone in this important station. The Rev. A. W. Baumann has charge at Faizabad. The Rev. Aman Masih Levi is the Native pastor at Lucknow, having been transferred, as already stated, from Benares.

FAIZABAD is chiefly a Moslem city, but it is only separated by the River Gogra from Ayodhya, one of the greatest strongholds of Hinduism, containing sixty-three Vishnu and thirty-three Shiva temples, besides thirty-three mosques.

"Delightful meetings."

"Delightful meetings," Mr. Baumann says, were held by Mr. E. Clifford in March last year among the Native Christians and English soldiers.

Baptisms at Faizabad.

There have been several remarkable baptisms at this station during the year. One was that of Nathanael Prem Das. He had been a Brahmo preacher, known by the name of Brahma Das, or "a servant of God," and was brought to a knowledge of Christ chiefly through the patient and wise efforts of Miss McPhun, of the I.F.N.S., who lent him books and corresponded with him for several months. In one of his letters to her he said :—

A Brahmo preacher,

By reading parts of the Bible and the Person of Christ I have been very much benefited, and Christ has now taken the highest place in my heart. My prayer now is by day and by night, "O Christ! pour Thy Spirit into me." I cannot know the Father unless I have Thy Spirit. I have vowed that for a week I will meditate over and over on the life of Christ. By reading these books and learning from you about Jesus Christ I have derived great benefit, so much so that I am sure, if instead of these books you had given me a kingdom of the world, I should have gained nothing.

Mr. Baumann, after carefully preparing him for the rite, baptized him on July 15th. Three other baptisms took place at Christmas, one of the candidates curiously also owning the name Prem Das, to which the Christian name Silas is now added. The story of this man is closely connected with that of one of the other converts, and they must both be told in Mr. Baumann's own words :—

the daughter of a Hindu pandit, of Assam,

Jánki (now Rahil) was the daughter of a Hindu pandit at Dudhpattri, in Assam, who taught his daughter reading and writing in the Hindi language. She must have been a very eager student, as her mother had several times to hide her books, because her health was giving way. Among these books were three portions of the Gospel in Hindi, which Jánki had bought from a colporteur.

After the death of her mother she went to Jehda, a place in the Bansi District, and entered a Hindu monastery. Jánki lived in this monastery for three years. From a Hindu cultivator she once got a few Christian tracts. In reading one day through the whole Gospel of John she was so deeply impressed by the intense sufferings of Christ that she was quite overcome, and, weeping, she offered up the little prayer, "O, Lord Jesus, save me from perdition!"

In October, 1887, she came, in company with other pilgrims, to Ayodhya to the great annual fair held there. Her great desire was to fall in with some Christian preachers; but as she had to stay all the day long with the luggage and belongings of her fellow-villagers, she went out in the evening in search of them, but heard that the Christians had all gone to their tents. She returned greatly disappointed to Jehda, her heart being more troubled than ever.

and a Hindu ascetic.

In May, 1888, a young Hindu and devout worshipper of Ram visited the monastery at Jehda. Prem Das had been a bairagi (religious ascetic) from his fourteenth year, and as a devotee had left his home and parents, and had ever since roamed about visiting the sacred places of Hinduism in the Punjab. On one of his wanderings he received from a man a tract called Dharm Tula (The Balance of True Religion). As he liked the tract, but could not quite take it all in, he asked Jánki whether she could instruct him.

In September, 1888, both Prem Das and Jánki resolved to come to Faizabad in search of a Christian preacher. They arrived at Ayodhya in September. After a few days, they met a Hindu selling bead-strings (malas). Inquiring from this man if he knew whether any preachers lived at Ayodhya or not, he gave the necessary information, and they were directed to the house of our old catechist, James Jackson. The latter happened to be away from his house and engaged in preaching to people. But Prem Das soon found him.

The catechist then took both of them to his quarters, and, after my return from my monthly visit to Jaunpur, brought them to me. They were both duly instructed in the tenets of the Christian faith, and I must say that I never had such an intelligent female catechumen as Jánki was. On Christmas Day both were baptized in the name of the Triune God (the new brother receiving the names of Silas Prem Das, the sister that of Rahil). It was the best Christmas gift I had ever received from my Heavenly Father, and my heart was thrilled with joy and gratitude. Both Silas and Rahil are very anxious to go and make known unto their old friends the message of salvation. They have given their hearts to each other, and they will be soon united in the bonds of Christian matrimony.

AGRA, MATTRA, AND ALIGARH.

The staff at all these stations remains unchanged. The Revs. G. E. A. Pargiter and T. F. Robathan are Principal and Vice-Principal of St. John's College; and the Revs. J. Erhardt, P. M. Zenker, and J. W. Stuart are in charge of Secundra, Mattra, and Aligarh respectively. The Revs. W. Seetal and N. Rahim Baksh are the Native Pastor and Evangelist at Agra, and the Rev. Nemi Solomon is Native Pastor at Aligarh.

Special Winter Mission.

At AGRA the Special Mission Services were preceded by Daily Prayer-meetings both among the Native Christians and the Europeans, the latter attended by two or three of the station residents and the missionaries of all denominations. The Nonconformist brethren at Agra manifested a most brotherly spirit, suspending their own ordinary services and meetings in order to give their people an opportunity of attending the Mission services. The addresses were admirably translated by Mr. Seetal, and the people heartily took up the requests for prayer which Mr. Clifford, the Mission preacher, frequently put forward. The Rev. B. Baring-Gould, one of the South India special preachers, was staying at Agra in March, and preached there on the nature of sin and repentance to very attentive listeners.

St. John's College,

The College Department of St. John's College gained special credit at the F.A. Examination of the Calcutta University held in March last year. Four out of six candidates sent up were successful, and the Director of Public Instruction in his annual report, when comparing the results of the different schools and colleges, says:—"The success of the F.A. Students from St. John's College, Agra, deserves a special notice." One, a Christian, passed in the second division, and three, one of whom is also a Christian, in the third. There are now nineteen students, of whom seven are Christians, in this Department, a larger number than for many years past. The school department passed seven out of eight candidates at the Calcutta Matriculation Examination, three of whom were Christians. Mr. Robathan takes the entrance class two hours daily in Holy Scripture, Geography, and English. Most of the boys show an interest in the daily Scripture lessons, and Mr. Robathan mentions two or three who appear to be earnest seekers after truth.

and Hostel.

The Boarding-house for Christian students has been enlarged, and can now accommodate fifty lads. A little chapel has been formed out of two rooms in Mr. Robathan's bungalow, in which service is held daily, and an English Bible-reading on Sunday. The average number of boarders last year was over thirty, but an increase was expected. Most of the Christian students do some kind of religious work; one takes a servants' service on Sunday afternoons, some teach in the Sunday-school for non-Christian boys, and others go out bazaar-preaching. A "Mission Band" was started at the time of the mission by Mr. Clifford, of which one rule is that each member must do some work for God.

Congregation.

In reporting on the Pastoral work, Mr. Seetal can speak of progress under each head. The congregation has increased from 450 (it was printed 540 by mistake in the text of last year's Annual Report, page 101) to 500, and is double what it was four years ago, when Mr. Seetal took charge. The contributions amounted to Rs. 1403, as against Rs. 865 in 1887. This is four times what was given in 1884. The communicants are 180, and the catechumens 125. There are some fifty total abstainers, and about the same number of members of the "Mission Band." There is an average attendance of sixty children at the Sunday-school, and about eighty heathen children attend another Sunday-school recently commenced by members of the Mission Band. The death of W. Henry Cline, an active and earnest member of the Church Committee, and a lay delegate to the Church Council, is referred to with regret.

Secundra.

At SECUNDRA an exceptionally healthy year has been experienced, and the work of the Orphanages, Schools, &c., has been quietly prosecuted under Mr. Erhardt's superintendence. Upon inquiring what had become of some who had left Secundra during his time of furlough, Mr. Erhardt found that fourteen were engaged in Mission work as village bazaar-preachers up-country, under the direction of another Secundra Christian. The Zenana Mission and Girls' School, under Miss Reimpell and Miss Tillich respectively, have done a useful work. There are 110 Zenana pupils, old and young, under instruction. The arrival at the end of the year of Miss Erhardt, who had already some knowledge of the language, and Miss Schultz, has materially strengthened the staff of workers.

Residing at MATTRA, Mr. Zenker superintends the Native evangelistic agents, viz. seventeen male Evangelists and seven Bible-women, labouring in that place and at Agra, which is thirty-five miles from Mattra, and the intervening and surrounding neighbourhood. The district has several sacred places which are visited by numerous pilgrims from all parts of India, and Mr. Zenker expresses regret that more adequate efforts are not put forth by the Church to make Christ known in them. Miss Zenker shares her brother's anxieties and labours.

Mr. Stuart reports one adult baptism at ALIGARH. The congregation, under the Rev. Nemy Solomon, numbers seventy souls, for whose accommodation the church has been enlarged.

MIRAT DISTRICT.

The Rev. I. T. Hermann Hoernle was joined at MIRAT by the Rev. A. E. Bowlby, from Allahabad, at the end of the year, and a few weeks afterwards it became necessary for him to come to Europe owing to the ill-health of Mrs. Hoernle. Mr. Bowlby has therefore succeeded to the charge of the station work, and the Rev. T. Carmichael, removed hither from Basharatpur, has undertaken the itinerant and village work. The Rev. D. Jeremy, in spite of the infirmities of age, continues to labour with much energy and faithfulness as the pastor of the Native congregation.

The Rev. E. Droese resides still at MUSSOORIE, but an illness at the end of 1887 deprived him of his voice, and his work has consequently been confined to such as could be done with the pen, e.g., completing and revising the translation of the Book of Psalms in Malto for the use of the Santali Christians. He has been obliged to retire from the charge of Annfield, which is an agricultural colony of Native Christians in the Dehra Dun Valley. The Native congregation consists of 398, of whom 234 are children. "They are," Mr. Droese says, "hard-working, sturdy cultivators of the soil, who, as regards gaining a livelihood, are getting on better than Hindu and Mohammedan cultivators generally do." Miss Droese has superintended the day school for boys and girls, and a night school in one of the Christian villages of the estate. The Rev. J. Richard, the Native pastor, has been laid aside by illness a great part of the year.

CENTRAL PROVINCES AND RAJPUTANA.

Jabalpur, 1854; Mandla (Gônd Mission), 1879; Kherwara (Bheel Mission), 1880.

The Rev. G. Litchfield has been removed from Rajputana to the North-West Provinces; the Rev. W. Latham has felt it necessary for his health to come to England; and Dr. W. P. Johnson has left the Mission. The Rev. W. B. Collins, B.A., of Trinity College, Dublin, Rector of Elvington, Yorkshire, joined this Mission in November. Mr. Collins is a son of the Rev. W. H. Collins, C.M.S. Missionary in China from 1857 to 1880. His younger brother, the Rev. J. S. Collins, is one of the Society's Missionaries at Fuh-Chow, and his sister is a missionary of the C.E.Z.M.S.

JABALPUR.

The Rev. J. P. Ellwood superintends the work at this station. During the Rev. W. Latham's absence it has been arranged that the Rev. G. B. Durrant shall assist Mr. Ellwood during the rains and hot weather. The Rev. J. A. Cullen, while studying Hindi, is also residing here. As already mentioned, the Native congregation of this place has lost its experienced pastor, the Rev. Madho Ram. Before his death, each member of his flock was summoned to his side, and received his parting blessing and words of comfort.

There have been five adult baptisms during the year. One was the coachman of a European lady, by whom he had been taught the simple truths of the Gospel, which however he only embraced during the last moments of his life. Another is a Mohammedan woman of good family, who was instructed by the Francis Ridley Havergal Bible-woman. No report has been received of the Schools, which were under Mr. Latham's superintendence. The work at Murwara has been carried on vigorously by Timothy Noah, the pastoral catechist, who, Mr. Ellwood says, is respected by the natives of the place more and more each day.

"Respected more and more each day."

Special Winter Mission.

During the Special Winter Mission, March 10th to 18th, daily services were held, and addresses were delivered by the Rev. F. Sulivan to soldiers and English residents, and a lecture in English to Hindu gentlemen. Mr. Ellwood wrote:—

> We firmly believe the Spirit's power was manifested in our midst. Many of those who have served the Lord for years confessed they had been stirred up to greater zeal and love by means of the Mission. Some careless ones were aroused, and prayerless ones led to think over the past and future. There was much influence felt also by the European community, and many confessed they had been much stirred up by Mr. Sulivan's addresses.

MANDLA (GOND MISSION).

The Rev. F. T. Cole removed to Mandla upon the Rev. H. D. Williamson taking furlough, but his return to the Santhal Mission has been rendered necessary. The Rev. E. P. Herbert continues at Patpara.

Mr. Cole was much impressed with the readiness of the people to be instructed. He says:—

The first stage.

> Their religion is very much like that of the Santhals, they worship demons through fear. The Gônds are still in the first stage; by this I mean they are open to accept without doubting the news of the Saviour; their only fear is lest the demons should plague them with sundry kinds of diseases, should they give up their worship. The Santhals have passed that stage, and have seen that unless they make excuses they are self-condemned.
>
> The Gônds receive the message most willingly; it is delightful to work amongst them, and we are astonished at the amount of Christian truth that has permeated into their minds. One of our first questions is, Do you remember what we said to you in our last visit? The answer generally is, "Yes, we have not forgotten, you told us of Jesus Christ the Lord." Many Gônds have given up the worship of the ancestral deities, and a large number of them are in a transition state, that is, they pray daily to Jesus Christ, and yet sacrifice in times of sickness to demons as well. It reminds me of dissolving views; there is a time when both are plainly seen, this does not last long, the old gives place to the new, and the former things pass away, and in due time only the new is to be seen. Something similar to this is going on in this very large district, with its immense area and scattered population. This is the time for making impressions, the wax is soft; do not let us neglect this most promising field. The tendency is for India to harden; the aborigines, as civilization increases, become more Hinduized. They cannot remain simple for ever. This seems to me the time. I would say, humanly speaking, Now or never. There are large districts in the Central Provinces quite untouched, places where the sound of the Gospel has never been heard. "Now or never."

During the rainy season, when it was impossible to itinerate, we visited the Hindus and Mohammedans of the town of Mandla. We were most warmly welcomed by them in our visits. It was a revelation to me to see how Christianity has permeated amongst them. I believe there are some real seekers after truth amongst them, and that there are several Nicodemuses amongst the Mandla people. One Mussulman especially, who was educated at Jay Narain's College at Benares, is most open to the truth. This shows that true Mission work is being done by Christian schools and colleges. Another influential Brahman said to me, "There are more Christians in Mandla than in any place I know." I asked, in surprise, "What do you mean?" He said, "There are very many in Mandla who believe that Jesus is the true Incarnation, and who pray regularly to Him. I said to him, "The past fifty years has made a great difference in the religious beliefs of India, the next fifty will show still greater changes." He replied, "The next thirty will do so." This man was much influenced by a Christian magistrate who was here not many years ago. This European used to call the people together to the court-house every Sunday to read the Bible to them. He taught them the Lord's Prayer, and distributed Christian books among them. The seed is germinating, and will bear fruit after many days. "The next thirty years."

Seven adults were baptized during the year, making the number of baptized Christians 59, of whom 13 are communicants.

KHERWARA (BHEEL MISSION).

The Revs. C. S. Thompson and G. Litchfield have laboured among the Bheels until the latter left in September. The Rev. W. B. and Mrs. Collins arrived in December.

There is one Bheel inquirer, the first who has asked for baptism. He is a Bhagat, named Dyan Das, and has spent six months under instruction. Of the difficulty of leading these timid people to make a stand for Christ Mr. Thompson has had a disappointing experience. He says:—

I have tried my very best this year to lead the secret believers to confess Christ publicly. They were living in different parts of the "Hilly Tracts," and I thought if they could be got together for a month for prayer, reading the Holy Scriptures, and helpful, quiet talks, they might, as a little company, ask for baptism. At one time I felt almost certain they would join the Church of Christ, but at the end of the month their hearts failed them. To see them, one by one, go away without having openly confessed what they really Secret believers.

believed was a keen trial. As one of them was leaving me, he said, "Sahib, don't be discouraged! It will be all right." It will, I'm quite sure. They now know so much of Christ that they cannot rest away from Him.

Around Kherwara as a centre there are six village schools, with an aggregate attendance of 86 scholars, the teaching being carried on by Bheel young men, trained in the Boys' Boarding-school, with its 28 boarders.

Mr. Thompson has travelled all round Bhilwara (the land of the Bheels), with the exception of a little piece of country on the south, during the year, and gives his conclusion as to the boundaries :—

Roughly speaking, it may be mapped out thus :—Northern boundary, fifty miles beyond Mount Abu; southern, the Taptee River; western, forty miles to the east of the line of rail running from Abu to Surat; and the eastern limit, the line of rail from Chitor to the Taptee. Or, in miles, from north to south, 300, and from east to west, 200.

Bhil Bhagatism at Lusaria has not made the progress which Mr. Thompson anticipated. On the contrary it has decidedly lost ground during the past year. Mr. Thompson says of the devotee Shurmal Das :—

Bhagatism losing ground.

The old guru, Shurmal Das, had scraped together Rs. 100, and thought if he could only have a temple of his own, all sorts and conditions of men, including Europeans and Native kings and princes, would come to make costly offerings and to worship. He began to build a sort of barn. In a short time he had spent his savings, and was Rs. 80 in debt. His disciples would give him nothing, and the workmen left. The poor old man's distress of mind was accentuated by no fewer than forty of his followers renouncing Bhagatism altogether. And now many, who at one time thought the old ascetic a veritable god, never go near him. This state of things has, I believe, been principally brought about by the Christian work done at Lusaria. Strange to say, in spite of the waning of Bhagatism, with its evident cause, Shurmal Das and I are still the best of friends.

Of Bilaria Mr. Thompson says :—

Opening a school.

The building of a bungalow, school-house, master's and servants' houses, was begun here in January and completed in June. The cost was Rs. 2000. It will be remembered that the chief gave Rs. 1500 to establish the station. The school was opened by the chief with eight boys on the Queen Empress' birthday. Of the eight boys none were Bhils. The following day only two scholars were present. On the 29th there was but one little Brahmin boy left. But on the 31st, after some days of pressing and coaxing, ten timid little Bhils accompanied me to school. I have just received the monthly report for December. The average daily attendance was forty-five. The present master is a Hindu, but in the course of a few weeks' time, "Dita," one of our trained Bhil "boys," will take his place. Dita is diligent, intelligent, and, best of all, a Christian at heart. He delights in making known the Gospel.

FRONTIER MISSION: Quetta, 1886.

Visit of the Rev. G. Karney to the Punjab.

THIS Mission, although included in the scheme originally proposed for the Special Winter Mission, was eventually omitted, owing to various disappointments which reduced the number of the Mission preachers. The Committee were therefore the more thankful that the Rev. Gilbert Karney, after concluding his laborious duties in South India, was able before returning home to go northwards, and give three precious weeks to them "for whom nothing was prepared." Between the 6th of March and the 6th of April (1888), when Mr. Karney sailed from Bombay, nearly a fortnight was devoted to Amritsar and neighbourhood, and Peshawar, Lahore, Sukkur, and Hydrabad received short visits. The Punjab Mission News thus referred to the services at Amritsar:—

> In church, in chapel, and in hall, the attendance and the attention caused hearts to rejoice, and the more since what was accomplished was the outcome of prayer alone.
> At the Town Hall, when Mr. Karney lectured on "the sacred books of the East," and showed how, in seven all-important particulars, the Bible was unique, the large room was filled to overflowing; many within, no less than many without, failing to obtain seats; while at the "Sat Sangat Sabah" (especially on the second night) standing-room could scarce be found for the missioner, so closely packed were those who were ready to hear.
>
> In ringing words did the King's messenger speak of things touching the King, and describe the manner of the Kingdom. In loving words did he claim for the King's exclusive use the heart which God intended for a palace—and "a Palace," we were reminded, "is made for a King"! In burning words did he proclaim the speedy coming of the King to reign over all the earth; and as he closed his stirring address, as asking of God "the whole Punjab for Christ," all rose to their feet as by a common impulse, and those of us who have been waiting on the Lord for this, knew that His time to favour us had come!

Other visitors,

Earnest Gospel preachers, intent on saving souls, are not the only busy people whom the increasing facilities for rapid communication with the East enable to visit India. Every year sees a larger number of Englishmen disengaging themselves from their various absorbing spheres of activity at home to make a brief acquaintance with England's greatest and most magnificent dependency. And the impressions of such regarding the labours and the fruits of Missions, especially if they are Christian men, have an interest, and oftentimes a value of their own. Among recent visitors to the Punjab Professor Bryce, M.P., and Mr. W. S. Caine, M.P., have made a point of seeing something of missionary work. The former was present at the C.M.S. Conference in January last, at Amritsar, and told the missionaries there assembled, how his interest in Missions, and his sense of their need had been deepened by what he had seen in India, and how warmly he wished them God-speed in their difficult work. The latter, Mr. Caine, has given some attention to missionary methods, and has arrived at the conclusion, which he has not only expressed but published since his return, that Mission High Schools are of no value as an evangelizing agency. But while the Committee recognize the advantage in certain respects of the increasing publicity and popularity which missionary subjects are gaining through these numerous, though necessarily cursory, eye-witnesses, they especially value the convictions of such as have had opportunities for prolonged observation regarding the methods most likely to succeed in evangelizing the country. Just before leaving India, one whose testimony to missionary work in general has been already quoted in this and former Reports, a member of the Council of India, and a former Lieutenant-Governor of the Punjab, wrote to the Committee on the subject of higher education, and pressed the importance, especially at this time, of "pouring Christian thought into the country by every open channel, and of saturating the minds of the young with Christian truth before they become crystallized in worse than heathen error." Sir Charles Aitchison added, "If we do not preoccupy the field, the enemy will, and in the next generation missionaries will find the breach closed against them, the walls rebuilt, and the defences strengthened."

Major Battye and Captain Urmston, who were killed in July last year on the Afghan frontier, were both earnest supporters of missionary work. The former, indeed, often proclaimed himself in the vernacular the story of the Cross, while the latter wrote shortly before his death a warm testimony to the good work of the Society's Frontier Mission. He said:—

Major Battye and Captain Urmston.

In the evening I called upon the Rev. John Williams, M.D. (a Native Christian C.M.S.), whose influence in Tank since the Mission was founded has been such as to render his name unequalled—indeed, a household word, and all belonging to him sacred, even among such a tribe of robbers as our friends the Waziris. The Mission could not have had purer-hearted, more single-minded sponsors than Reynell Taylor, Valpy French, and Robert Bruce, and they have small cause to regret the initiative they took in 1862. Every soldier in the place, from old Ressaldar Alladad Khan, down to my sepoy orderly, speaks up for the "Doctor Sahib," as well as every Waziri from far and wide.

Death of Rev. Dina Nath.

The loss of such true soldiers in the enemy's land, is deeply mourned. But death has visited also the little body of mission workers. The Rev. Dina Nath, a native clergyman of much energy and wisdom, died in August at Sabathur, where he was resting on account of his health. He was a Khatri by caste, and was educated at the Narowal School, under the Rev. Bhola Nath Ghose. His baptism took place soon after leaving school, in 1873. He was ordained Deacon by Bishop French in 1881, and had been engaged since then, until a few months before his death, as assistant tutor in the Lahore Divinity School, where his services were greatly valued as a lecturer on Greek and Hebrew, and Theology. Lately, while the Divinity School was temporarily suspended, owing to the Rev. F. A. P. Shirreff's absence, he had been taking an active part in the evangelization of the villages near Amritsar, and training with remarkable success a band of village Christian students at Ajnala. Dr. Weitbrecht, who knew him as a student and a colleague at Lahore for seven years, says how every year's acquaintance, and especially the last, when he occupied a practically independent sphere, deepened the sense he had of Mr. Dina Nath's sterling worth. The Rev. J. D. Prochnow, who laboured at Kôtgur from 1843 to 1858, also died last year, in Germany.

Corresponding Committee.

The Punjab and Sindh Corresponding Committee have lost a valued member by the death of Colonel Wace, in March, and their number has been further reduced by the return home of Dr. Dallas, and of Messrs. Tremlett and Burney; while many of those who remain are located at considerable distances from Simla and Lahore. One very constant member of the Committee, Mr. B. H. Baden-Powell, C.I.E., delivered an able lecture at Lahore in January, expounding with much eloquence and power to a heathen audience one pregnant sentence in the Apostles' Creed, "I believe in Jesus Christ, His only Son, our Lord."

The Rev. R. Clark, Secretary of the Corresponding Committee, visited Sindh in February, and Kashmir in April. He has this year been rejoined by Mrs. Clark, who had been detained at home for some years.

The Bishop of Lahore presided at an influential meeting at Simla in behalf of the Society in June, and spoke warmly, as did also Sir C. U. Aitchison, of its claims. In November the Bishop made his first visitation, for confirmation, &c., to Amritsar and out-stations, and to Dera Ghazi Khan. And on December 23rd, in the Lahore Cathedral, he admitted Mr. H. E. Perkins, the honorary missionary who resigned an important position under Government in order to devote himself to missionary work, to Deacon's Orders, and the Revs. A. E. Day and Thomas Edwards, the latter Native pastor at Simla, to Priest's Orders. The examining chaplains were both missionaries, viz. the Revs. G. A. Lefroy, of the Cambridge Delhi Mission (Bishop Designate of Chota Nagpur), and Dr. H. U. Weitbrecht; and the Rev. H. G. Grey, of Quetta, preached the sermon. Ordinations.

The Revs. T. R. Wade, F. A. P. Shirreff, and W. Jukes, and Dr. A. Jukes, have returned to the Mission; and the Revs. W. A. Rice, B.A., of Christ's College, Cambridge, and Curate of St. Luke's, Wolverhampton, R. J. Kennedy, and F. Lawrence, both from the Islington College, have been added to the staff. The three last sailed in October, most of the others a month later, Mr. Worthington Jukes, leaving Mrs. Jukes at home, not until the end of February. The Revs. T. J. L. Mayer, H. E. Perkins, and E. Guilford, and their wives, have come home, the two first on furlough, and the last on sick leave. The Rev. H. Rountree has resigned.

AMRITSAR.

The Rev. T. R. Wade has relieved the Rev. H. E. Perkins of the general charge of the work at Amritsar since his return, the Rev. A. G. Norman is over the educational work, and Dr. H. M. Clark conducts the Medical Mission in the city and neighbourhood. The Revs. R. Bateman and E. Guilford have been engaged in the work of itineration, until the latter was compelled reluctantly to come home this spring, having had a dangerous illness in August. The Rev. F. Lawrence has resided in the district with Mr. Bateman while studying the language. Mrs. Grime has charge of the Middle Class Girls' School, commenced since the removal of the Girls' Orphanage to Clarkabad. Mr. H. F. Beutel superintends the Christian village of Clarkabad, where Miss L. Ellwanger also renders assistance, but the health of both, and still more that of Mrs. Beutel, has been very indifferent. The Rev. Imad-ud-din, D.D., continues his literary work, in addition to his duties as pastor of the Native congregation, in which he is assisted by the Rev. Diwan Sahib Dial. The Rev. Mian Sadiq resides at Ajnala, and the Rev. Kharak Singh at Uddoke. These two are Native missionaries engaged by the Native Church Council for evangelizing the villages in the district. The Alexandra Girls' Boarding-school is conducted by Miss Cooper and two other ladies of the C.E.Z.M.S., and the Lady Lawrence Girls' Schools are also superintended by Zenana missionaries.

Boys' schools.

Mr. Norman, in reporting upon the Boys' Schools at Amritsar, Majitha, and Narowal, and the branch schools, enters into the question of expense. Altogether, 948 boys were under teaching in the 30 schools last year, and the total cost, exclusive of missionary's maintenance, &c., was Rs. 17,100. Of this, however, only Rs. 3900 was derived from Mission funds, an average expenditure for each boy of a little over four rupees. The income from fees was Rs. 2166, an increase of Rs. 1266 since 1884, when Mr. Norman entered upon the work. The Scriptures are regularly taught in the schools, and although no baptisms occurred last year, or candidates came forward, Mr. Norman has had encouragements to persevere and hope. He says:—

Boys purchasing Bibles.

It is encouraging to find that boys now, instead of bringing an old tattered copy of the Bible, handed down for a few annas to generations of school-boys, several have bought nicely-bound reference Bibles, on which they bestow great care.

Some boys are evidently much struck with the claims of our Saviour Christ. Walks with them in the afternoons and evenings in the hot weather have been delightful and encouraging. One of them who was coming forward was taken by his father on a pilgrimage to Benares, in order to be out of our reach; another is really showing such tokens of his belief that I trust he will be granted to our prayers. Besides this, I have letters from old students who have not given up inquiry. Though so far as statistics of baptism are concerned, it might seem that there was no fruit, yet there is to me every reason for patiently continuing with my teaching in the school, and hope seems to grow the longer I remain in the work.

Missionaries trusted.

In school work, many indirect, as well as direct, opportunities are offered for bringing glory to Christ. Surely Christ is honoured when the University of the Punjab will entrust the work of superintending its examinations to missionaries resident in the centre of their own examinations! They have passed a rule which forbids the heads of secular schools to superintend examinations in their own cities, but they make an exception in favour of educational missionaries. Consequently, for now three years I have superintended the middle-school examination, and this year (D.V.) I shall, for the second time, undertake the matriculation examination in Amritsar.

The Majitha School has received a gift of land, with a building upon it, from Sirdar Dyal Singh, a member of one of the oldest Sikh families in the Punjab.

Alexandra Girls' Boarding-school.

A pupil of the Alexandra Girls' Boarding-school was the successful candidate for a prize offered in commemoration of the Queen's Jubilee by the Amritsar Municipal Committee. The prize consisted of a gold medal, and was conferred by the Lieut.-Governor in the Town Hall. One of the lady missionaries sent an account of the work to the Punjab Mission News, of which a few paragraphs must be given :—

Jubilee prize gained by a pupil.

We sent up G——, the first girl out of all our schools in the last examination, as our champion; and she did not disappoint us, for a few days later came the welcome news that she had won the prize. A card inviting her to the Town Hall to receive it from the Lieutenant-Governor followed shortly afterwards.

The time fixed was 7.30 a.m., but long before that the girl's thin little figure, very soberly dressed and carrying a bundle, stole into our compound, and quietly sat down under a tree to wait. The bundle contained her very best suit—a red silk kurta, and a green satin chadar embossed with exceedingly straight rows of stiff-looking doves.

"How I prayed before each question."

It would never do to walk through the streets in such costly gear, so that the change of toilet was effected in the City Mission House.

"How I prayed to the Lord Jesus before each question during the examination, Miss Sahiba," said G—— as she put on her chadar, quite believing that the honour came from Him.

The Committee have again to express regret that they have received no report from Dr. Clark, of the Medical Mission. In a letter to Mr. Clark, written during an itinerating tour in March last, he remarked that he was overwhelmed with patients. He could not get out to the villages, the villages went to him.

Fourteen pupils of the Middle Class Girls' School were confirmed in November, of whom Mrs. Grime says :—"They had been preparing for their confirmation for a whole year, so they were certainly not wanting in knowledge, but, what is much more important, they were full of the earnest wish to give their hearts to the Lord, and to serve Him and Him only to the end of their lives."

The eight Lady Lawrence Memorial Girls' Schools were examined in Scripture by the Rev. Sahib Dyal, who expressed much pleasure with the intelligent answers of many of the girls.

Dr. Imad-ud-din describes his Literary Work as "gathering out the stones," namely, eradicating false notions from the people's minds. He has, he says, during the past twenty-two years written twenty-three books, by which he hopes some great stones have been removed out of the way. In addition to bringing out revised editions of his History of Mohammed, and Commentary on St. John's Gospel, he has during the past year commenced a short Bible Dictionary, for the inception of which he thus accounts :—

A Bible Dictionary.

A new work has been commenced under these circumstances, that some time ago I asked a Mohammedan gentleman if he had read the Bible, he replied that though he had often tried, he had been always baffled by inability to understand the language; for example, he said, "I read that John was baptizing in Bethabara. I do not know who John was, nor what sort of a thing is Bethabara, or baptism." Hearing this, I considered that there are in the Scriptures many words which to our countrymen must seem very strange and incomprehensible. It is vain to ask them to understand the spiritual sense, if they are not in a position even intellectually to comprehend the words. This difficulty is not only one which prevails very widely in the non-Christian population, but even in the Church there are hundreds of persons who fail to understand much that they find. I therefore conceived the idea of compiling a brief Bible Dictionary, and I have thought it urgent enough to tempt me to lay aside every other object, making it serve the purpose not only of a dictionary, but of a short Commentary on the Bible. I have been engaged on this duty during the last year, and have more than half completed the work, and hope, by God's blessing, to finish it within the year, though it is a great undertaking. I am going to call it the Lughat-ul-Kalam.

Congregation.

The average number present at the morning services of the Native Congregation is from 280 to 300, besides non-Christians, and the communicants are over 80 in number. Two who had apostatized have been restored, and the number of baptisms during the year was 37, while 46 were confirmed in November, the fruit of the various agencies (C.E.Z.M.S. as well as C.M.S.) in the city. Mr. Perkins refers to the death of one of the congregation :—

The Church had a severe loss in the departure in July last of our dear aged brother, Parbdial, a consistent, lowly, and always reverent Christian. He died almost in the act of preaching of Christ to some relatives and friends gathered round his sick-bed, in no expectation of an end of his mortal life. We can ill afford to part with such men, but he is for ever with the Lord, for whom he had surrendered much.

The Special Mission services have been already alluded to. A few days after those in Amritsar were concluded, a lecture in English was announced on "Islam," by Moulvie Hassan Ali, "Mohammed missionary," the announcement concluding, in imitation of the notices of Mr. Karney's Mission, with the words "Come yourself—Ask others. Pray that you and those you ask may receive a blessing, and know what Islam is." Mr. Clark says that it is one of the signs of the times that the Mohammedan Moulvies have begun to propagate Mohammedanism, not by the sword, but by the English language.

Mohammedan imitations of the Special Mission Services.

Moulvie Nur-ud-din is the catechist at Jandiala. A very successful Prem Sabha (Love Feast) was held there during the summer, when, in addition to the catechist, Dr. Yuhanna Imami, of the Jandiala Mission hospital, and Dr. Fukhr-ud-din Lahiz, of Narowal, took part in the preaching. The following is from the Punjab Mission News:—

Out-door preaching at Jandiala.

A very successful Prem Sabha was held at Jandiala recently one Sunday evening. The meeting was to have been in the hospital, but the crowds were such that no building could accommodate them. The people therefore voluntarily stopped the traffic through the main bazaar, which is a nice wide street. This was spread with mats and carpets, on which the congregation sat. A little table was put at one end for the preachers. A dense mass of people filled the bazaar, and the roofs of the adjoining houses were also crowded. Some hymns were sung, and then for nearly two hours the people listened with the deepest attention to the preaching of God's Word. There was not one jarring element. After the service, the Christians walked about the town, the people made them very welcome, and they made them preach again from shops in different places.

Passion Week services at Ajnala.

From the same source is taken the following description of services at Ajnala, organized by the late Rev. Dina Nath for the whole of Passion Week:—

The great point was to have nothing long or fatiguing, but short and to the point. At 7.30 each morning we met in Church, when the Ante-Communion Service, with the special Gospel and Epistle for the day, was read, followed by short comments and prayer. At 12 o'clock all came into our large room, and, sitting on the floor, we had a series of delightful Bible Readings, the subjects being, Our Sin; God's Love; Forgiveness; Consecration. All took a lively interest in these readings, hunting up verses on the subject, and were most eager to be allowed to have their share in helping.

In the afternoon at three, the verandah was the scene of an "open meeting," in which the chief features were an address, hymns, and prayers, men and women both taking part. At 6 o'clock (our usual time for evening prayers) we once more gathered in church to receive a final thought gathered from the special events which marked each of these sacred days. Thus passed the first four days, in which the power of the Spirit was daily increasingly manifest.

On Thursday evening a quiet hour to watch with the Master was set apart for communicants only, when we commemorated His dying love in the Holy Supper, and tarried awhile in silence that we might seek, however feebly, to enter with our Beloved Lord into the spirit of Gethsemane.

On Friday morning, and again at twelve o'clock, the little church was well filled, and a solemnity seemed to pervade all. Short addresses on the seven sayings from the Cross, interspersed with prayers and hymns, distinguished the mid-day service. Those amongst us who never before had known a Good Friday, had thus the events of the day brought clearly before them, and were greatly struck with the fresh sense of Christ's love.

On Saturday we had one more "open meeting," when three short addresses were given, and the subject specially pressed upon our hearts was the coming of our Blessed Lord. All who longed for His return were invited to join the Union for Prayer for this purpose, and to promise to do all in their power to forward this event by seeking untiringly the lost sheep of the Fold. The majority took a card of membership, and we broke up with a feeling that we were not only welded together in an outward union, but in one of the most precious heart-links that one can well know.

Easter Day then naturally broke with joy on hearts prepared; and on Monday evening a feast altogether gave the outward expression to that gladness. Short addresses, bhajans (Native lyrics), prayers, and the distribution of sweets concluded this blessed week, and the next day all dispersed to their several spheres of work.

Tarn Taran.

At Tarn Taran the day of large accessions has not yet come, but Mr. Guilford thinks there are many signs which show it is not far off. There are 46 Christians here, including 17 at the Leper Asylum, and three at a village four miles distant. These have manifested lately "a warmer regard for God's Word, and a greater desire to understand its inner meaning" than they did before. In the villages around there is a "a deeper and wider spirit of inquiry." Mr. Guilford adds:—

This Tehsil which forms part of the famous Manjha, is largely inhabited by pensioned soldiers of the Native army, and these men constitute a very encouraging sphere of labour. Contact with different classes and races of men, and the knowledge of different places and countries, which the exigencies of their past service have afforded them, have made them more intelligent than, and raised them much above the level of, their fellow-villagers. At the same time many of them have enjoyed the privilege of being commanded by godly European officers from whose life and conversation they have learnt much of the Gospel of Christ. One day I was preaching at a village, when a man said to me, "Sir, I want to ask you a question. Will you tell me the cause of the great difference that exists between you Englishmen and us natives in the matter of truthfulness?" "We," said he, "tell lies as a matter of course, but your custom seems to be to tell the truth always." "I was a soldier," he continued, "for nineteen years, and during that time I had much intercourse with my European officers, but I never knew one of them tell a falsehood. Is the difference owing to your religion?" "Yes," I replied, "I know of no other cause." "Well, then," said he, "I believe your religion to be the true one." "Very well, my friend, why do you not accept it?" I asked. "Well sir," he said, "that is another matter. The fact is the world is like a vast river which rushes on, carrying everything before it, and the few good people in the world are like a little stream trying to make headway against the river, and it's mighty hard work. That is the real reason why I do not accept it.

Narowal.

At Narowal Mr. Bateman has been joined, as well as by Mr. Lawrence, by two native co-workers, one constant and the other occasional, for whose co-operation he is very thankful. He says:—

Mr. Bateman's Native assistants.

Early in the year I had the joy of welcoming back to Narowal one of Narowal's own sons to be my personal assistant. Mian Ihsan Ullah, came in the true missionary spirit, exchanging an honourable position and a rising salary for hard work on a subsistence allowance to be fixed by myself. He is well equipped for his work, and in the villages as well as in Narowal is not only a help but an example. He has lately married a lady upon whom the same excellent spirit rests, and who works as a volunteer in the girls' schools and in the zenanas. I have long prayed for such help, and I thought sometimes that when it was granted I should be ready to say "Nunc Dimittis:" fresh work opens, however, to fresh workers and the old loses nothing of its attractiveness in the hands of loving helpers.

Another volunteer, Mian Niku Shah, the youngest son of the first convert of Narowal, has helped me a good deal, joining me in camp, and spending three or four days at a time in good hard evangelistic work.

Of the work in the city and district, he says:—

The outworks abandoned.

In streets and houses, school and hospital, the preaching has been fully known to everybody who was willing to learn, and to many others besides. The people have abandoned the outworks of their religious position; the defence, I mean, of their specific forms of religion. I used to think that when this much was secured the triumph of the Gospel would follow as a matter of course. But there is yet an enceinte whose gate and walls are custom. In this Moslems and Hindus have found common shelter, and from it they seldom make a sortie unless either the defects of Christians are to be noted, or an Aryan preacher offering relief to the beleaguered religionists requires safe conduct at their hands. Even so they lose ground. If asked who was the best citizen they ever knew, they will mention a Christian, and where the first Christian could not even enter a shop, his son may now bathe or preach at the central well, his neighbours drawing and drinking water the while. On the other hand, however inconsistent the Aryas may be in practice, there can be no doubt that their teaching undermines some of the strongest bastions of Custom Castle.

Custom Castle.

In the District our chief work is preaching, by day to little knots of people collected at shops, wells, sugar-presses, threshing-floors, or in the fields or the way-side; after dark in the tent, or in the courtyards, of the Chuhra Christians.

The number of the reading population is increasing, and the influence of the Brahmins and Moulavies decreases in proportion. As is the case in the city, so here, people admit more and more openly that it is custom and not conviction that blocks their way to the Cross.

During the past year use has been made of the magic lantern presented by the S.P.C.K., and experience makes me increasingly thankful for the gift. Another new departure has been taken in providing one of the agents with a pony (value with saddle and bridle, 11 Rupees) on which he puts his store of books and medicines, his bedding, and his little boy, while he and his wife walk from village to village, sleeping under cover or in the open air whenever night overtakes them. They return to Narowal every Saturday and as often bring back strange experiences, encouraging and the reverse, as is the wont of all campaigners.

Regarding alleged converts to Islam Mr. Bateman says:—

Allegation regarding conversions to Islam denied.

I have received several inquiries during the past year apropos of Canon Taylor's statement that vast numbers of natives are yearly converted to Islam. These inquiries I have passed on to many experienced Natives. Their answer is always, what I should have said myself, that such conversions are very rare, and almost always the outcome of love affairs. The only case I ever heard of in Narowal was that of a stranger. Some Moslems who were working for me asked leave to attend the ceremony in the mosque. On their return they seemed disappointed, and explained to me that the convert looked so like a Chuhra that they had hurried back lest they should be asked to smoke with him. I do hear, however, that north of the Chenab the Mohammedan Zemindars are making their outcast labourers repeat the kalima, though they do not admit them to the privilege of smoke.

The following extract from the report of the Church of Scotland Mission on the south bank of the Chenab may throw some light on the conduct of the Mohammedans who are propagating their faith to the north, and accounts for their want of success further south.

"A low-caste man, with a good deal of character, informed me that the low-caste people in that district were very much incensed against the Mohammedans, who have usually conducted their funeral services and officiated at their marriages, taking considerable fees for their trouble. The immediate cause of the revolt was the discovery that a Mohammedan Moulvi was reading the funeral service from a novel, which he supposed none of them was able to distinguish from the Koran."

Clarkabad has had a successful year under Mr. Beutel's management. A prosperous agricultural year has enabled the village fund to apply over Rs. 1200 towards the cost of erecting a new Girls' Orphanage and Mission House for lady workers. Five adults have been baptized. There are now 251 baptized Christians and 51 Communicants in this village.

BATALA.

The Revs. H. U. Weitbrecht, Ph.D., and E. Corfield are at

Batala, the latter in charge of the Christian Boys' Boarding-school. Two visits were paid to this station last year by Bishop Matthew, in April and November; on the second of which thirty candidates were confirmed. Of the former visit Dr. Weitbrecht says :—

New experiences.

The Bishop came in on Saturday morning with Mr. Clark, and both joined in the prize-giving to the Baring High School boys in the afternoon. This was followed by rewards for the athletic sports, given away by Miss Tucker, and one of the usual Batala feasts, at which the Bishop joined us all in sitting on the floor. This, he told me, was one of three new experiences that he had had in Batala, the other two being a bed on the roof, and having his legs shampooed by one of our village Christians, who pleased the Bishop with a clear account of the sermon that he gave, and desired to show his respect and affection.

Society for the Defence of Islam.

A marked manifestation of Mohammedan party-spirit and opposition to the work, largely promoted by an apostate from the Christian faith, showed itself in July. A branch of the Anjuman-i-Islámiya, a Society for the Propagation and Defence of Islam, was started by a Maulvie from Delhi, who insisted on having a discussion with Dr. Weitbrecht. This discussion was succeeded by a series of lectures on Hinduism, delivered by the Rev. Kharak Singh, of which Dr. Weitbrecht writes :—

Lectures on Hinduism.

He came in twice a week for the purpose, and went all through the different Hindu systems, from the most hoary philosophies down to the Brahmo and Arya Samajes of the present day. All through the Pandit's learned exposure of the different Hindu systems, not a creature got up to answer him; but when the last lecture came, and he gave a view of the Christian religion, a tumult of objections broke out, in sharp contrast to the silence after each previous exposure of Hinduism. The attack was made chiefly by two young members of the Arya Samaj, one of them an apostate from Christianity. They fastened chiefly on the Saviour's promise of miraculous gifts to those who should believe at the preaching of the Apostles, as recorded in Mark xv. The discussion was decidedly desultory, and the pandit soon left it in the hands of others; but he and some of the Christians sat there till 1 a.m. One satisfactory feature, as I impressed upon the people, was that they evidently cared more about the presentation of Christianity than about the vindication of their own faith.

Dr. Weitbrecht commenced a class for the study of Leviticus and Hebrews in March, which was held almost daily until September, and was attended by the leading Christians; almost all took notes.

Fifteen adults were baptized in the district, and a large number were admitted as inquirers, making the number of Christian adherents in the tehsil 489, scattered over nine centres. Several of the baptisms took place at Ogriwal, where the whole Chuhra population has become Christian, and the sacred mound which had been dedicated to their patron, Lal Beg, has been levelled and converted into a platform for Christian worship. At this place the following occurred:—

I was lying down rather tired, when I heard in the next tent a man repeating the story of John the Baptist in broad racy Panjabi. When the people had been baptized by John, they said, "Now let's go and cook rice," that is, have a feast, as they had done here after their baptism. When John had been beheaded, Herod was represented as discussing his character with Herodias, "Ah!" they said, "he never stole any one's sugar-cane, he was a good man." Plainly in his idea, the wilderness of Judæa contained many sugar-cane fields. Such were some of the plums. But the whole story was told with a reality and life that pleased me immensely.

Dr. Weitbrecht describes a Harvest Festival which was held by moonlight at Fathgarh:—

Harvest Festival at Fathgarh.

Our party consisted of the choir (not vested, but rather the contrary), with their Native instruments, drum, cymbals, tambourines, and hands to clap withal. In front went the missionary catechist and schoolmaster, with two stout Christians bearing a big sack. To the sound of bhajans we marched from house to house in the Christian quarter, and almost everywhere we found a charpoy spread with the cleanest cloth the house could produce by way of welcome. One sat down, exchanged a few words with the inmates, and they brought their offerings of grain or corn, as the case might be, with apparent pleasure. The net result was about 160 lbs. of grain and 12 Ans. (or 1*s.* 6*d.*) in money; a really generous offering on the part of these poor people. I returned with much gratitude to our evening prayers of thanksgiving for God's temporal mercies, and petitions for grace to use them rightly.

The magic-lantern is found an invaluable auxiliary in the village work, and Dr. Weitbrecht mentions an amusing incident, which had occurred at Jhandiala in the experience of Mr. Guilford:—

A magic-lantern incident.

Mr. Guilford told me of a curious incident that happened some time ago at this place. He was working the lantern, and wanted the catechist, who was speaking, to cut short his remarks. He sent the man a message to that effect, which was duly given, but the words "Khatm karo" (finish) were overheard by some one as "Gatl karo" (kill), and instantaneously there was a stampede in every direction: chudders, shoes, sticks, and other encumbrances were thrown away, and the rabble did not stop till they were safe in their houses.

No report of the Boys' Boarding-school has been received; but Mr. Corfield has forwarded several letters which were written by some of the boys during the summer holidays to

Miss C. M. Tucker, Honorary Missionary of the I.F.N.S. One of them, from Peshawar, was as follows:—

Asteadfast Christian boy.

JANAB MIS SAHIBA SALAM,—The next day after reaching Peshawar I went into the middle of the bazaar, and what did I see? Why, my cousin standing there. When he saw me he ran and embraced me, and shouted and cried so much that I stood in the bazaar astounded. As he was crying, he said to me, "You have dishonoured the whole family; but still it is all right. Come to our house, and we will say that you were never a Christian, but that your enemy had slandered you by saying so." When I heard this I cried a great deal, so much so that many Mohammedans came round. Then, taking out my Testament, I turned to Rom. viii. 35, and read, "Who shall separate us from the love of Christ? Shall tribulation, or distress, or persecution, or famine, or nakedness, or peril, or sword?" Then all the Mohammedans spat in my face, and said, "This is an infidel." After this other Mohammedans came up, but, turning their faces away, they passed by. You see I am in a place of great temptation, so there is great need of prayer on my behalf.

"The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with you. Amen."

LAHORE.

The Rev. F. A. P. Shirreff has recommenced the Divinity Class, in conducting which, and in superintending the Students' Hostel, he is assisted by the Rev. T. E. Coverdale. The Rev. Yaqub Ali is the Native Pastor of the congregation.

Divinity Class,

The Divinity Class was reopened at the beginning of the year with three students, all converts from Mohammedanism, viz. Rahmatu'llah, sent from Batala; 'Azīzu'ddīn, an old student, who has returned to complete his course; and Yaqūb Gul Muhammad, from Lucknow, who was baptized at Bombay in 1887. The last is a son of an Afghan merchant in Calcutta, and speaks Persian, Urdu, Marathi, and Gujarathi, as well as his Native Pushtu.

and Hostel.

In the Hostel, in addition to the above, are eight medical students, and it is hoped that Christian Normal students receiving their education at the Government College will find this Institution a safe and helpful asylum during their academical course.

Lectures on the Apostles' Creed.

A series of English Lectures on the Apostles' Creed were delivered in the spring of this year to educated natives. An introductory address was given on January 9th by Mr. W. S. Caine, M.P., in Holy Trinity Church, Anarkalī, on "The Elements of Christianity." Of the rest, Mr. Shirreff says:—

On subsequent Sundays the clauses of the Creed have been taken as follows:—"I believe in God," by the Rev. C. J. Ewing, D.D., Principal of the American Mission College; "The Father Almighty," by the Rev. G. A. Lefroy, of the Cambridge Mission; "Maker of heaven and earth," by the Rev. C. W. Forman; "And in Jesus Christ His only Son our Lord," by Mr. B. H. Baden-Powell, C.I.E., one of the Judges of the Chief Court; "Who was conceived by the Holy Ghost, born of the Virgin Mary," by the Rev. A. R. Macduff; "Suffered under Pontius Pilate," by Dr. Brown, Principal of the Medical College; "Was crucified," by the Bishop; "Dead," by myself; "And buried; He descended into hell," by the Rev. H. E. Perkins.

Public witness to "our common Christianity."

It will thus be seen that among the lecturers have been a Baptist and two Presbyterians, as well as clergymen and laymen of our own communion, and that our revered diocesan has not refused to connect himself with the public witness which has been borne before the heathen to "our common Christianity," based upon the Apostolic Creed.

KANGRA, KOTGUR, AND SIMLA.

The Revs. T. Holden, A. W. Bailey, and T. Edwards (the last a Native clergyman) have had charge of the work at these stations.

Mr. Holden has travelled over the greater part of the KANGRA district during the year, preaching and selling books, and finding appreciative audiences in most places. 10 Bibles, 9 New Testaments, 158 portions, and 1721 religious books were sold by the colporteur.

Mr. Edwards reports four adult baptisms at SIMLA, where the Native baptized Christians number 174, of whom 85 are communicants.

PIND DADAN KHAN.

The Rev. F. A. P. Shirreff has, at the request of the Corresponding Committee, taken this station under his charge, in addition to his work at Lahore, since the Rev. H. Rountree left. The Rev. T. Howell is the Native Pastor. The little chapel was destroyed by fire in October, the work of incendiaries, during a short absence of Mr. Rountree.

MULTAN.

The Rev. T. Bomford has been joined by the Rev. R. J. Kennedy at Multan. The year has been rendered specially distressing by the conduct of some members of the congregation in preferring cruel and calumnious charges against the Native Pastor, the Rev. Brij Lall Datt. The latter was entirely exculpated by the Bishop, after a searching examination, and his licence restored. Mr. Bomford again last year, as the two previous years, made a tour in the Southern portion of the Muzuffergarh district, between the Indus and the Chenab. At Muzuffergarh itself he mentions an inquirer who, though unable to read his own language, had wished to learn Hebrew that he might read the Old Testament in the original; but he was eventually persuaded that the Urdu translation was a more accurate version than he could make for himself. With the assistance of his two sons this old man, a carpenter by trade, two months later, had been through the Bible once, and was beginning it again. Several educated men in this place read the Bible together in search of difficulties which they carry to the catechist Talib Masih for solution. At Keenjur resides the Mohammedan baptized last year, Mir Alam Khan, the descendant of the founder of Dera Ghazi Khan (see Annual Report 1887-88, page 128), who stood up with them and preached from the parable of the Prodigal Son, explaining very clearly and simply how it had come about that while a year before he had been one of themselves, he was now on the side of Christ. In the course of this tour, which lasted nine weeks, the magic-lantern was in use thirty-five times, and the audiences numbered 7000, nearly all of whom listened attentively for one-and-a-half and even two hours, and many returned to see and hear again. Mr. Bomford thus expresses the advantages of the lantern:—"Instead of only twenty people listening indifferently for half an hour, we had nearly 200 listening attentively for nearly two hours. And another result is that in our bazaar-work we have larger and better gatherings." He found that the Old Testament pictures interested the Mohammedans; but the Hindus took more interest in continuous stories, such as that of Joseph. In one instance, in a low-caste Sikh village, a number of men sat down at the edges of the screen, where they could not possibly see, and on being invited to go to the front replied that it did not matter, they had come to hear not to see.

An inquirer anxious to learn Hebrew.

Advantages of the magic-lantern.

"Come to hear, not to see."

DERA GHAZI KHAN.

The Revs. A. Lewis and W. E. Davies have laboured at this station; but Mr. Lewis' health has lately compelled him to go to Kashmir for rest and change. Dr. and Mrs. Jukes have returned and resumed charge of the Hospitals and Female Dispensary. The Rev. M. H. Ishaq is the Native pastor. On Easter Day Mr. Lewis baptized a family consisting of husband, wife, and one child; and the Bishop of Lahore confirmed six Native candidates in October.

Frequent itinerations to the north and south have been made. Mr. Lewis says:—

A cruel practice.

I heard of some people living to the north of this district, near Sangarh, who may be worthy of notice. They are a race of Sayyids, called Khirsin, and are living among the Buzdar tribe of Biloches. Their country often suffers from drought. The Khirsins are, in the opinion of all the people of that part, especially holy and beloved of God. Hence, when rain is very much needed, one of these holy ones is taken, bound hand and foot, and exposed to the rays of the scorching sun. The argument is that God will necessarily send the longed-for rain in order to release the captive from such an uncomfortable, not to say dangerous, position. The man is said to be himself a willing victim. I hope on some future occasion to make the acquaintance of these people.

This station was founded, mainly at his own charges, by the Rev. George Maxwell Gordon, and Mr. Lewis has done important service to the missionary cause by writing a Memoir of his friend—the pilgrim Missionary of the Punjab.

DERA ISMAIL KHAN, BANNU, TANK.

"The happiest year of his life."

The Rev. F. Papprill was alone throughout the year at DERA ISMAIL KHAN, but he has now been rejoined by the Rev. W. Thwaites. Mr. Papprill writes of this, his first year of missionary work, notwithstanding the premature burden of heavy and unexpected responsibilities, as without exception the happiest in his life. While studying the language (and he was able to commence preaching in the vernacular in October), he has taken the English subjects in the school of 320 boys. The Rev. Mulaim-ud-din is the Native pastor.

The Rev. T. J. L. Mayer, at BANNU, has been mainly engaged in the translation of the Scriptures for the Afghans. He has brought home the whole of the New Testament in manuscript, and hopes to see it through the press during his furlough. He says of this work:—

Bible translation in Pushtu.

You must be aware that the present translation is almost useless for either preacher or inquirer; and, after all these years of work on the frontier, the Bible exists only in the minds of some speakers who have spoken at meetings in various towns. In addition to translating with the Qazi from the revised Greek text, and comparing with the new Arabic and Persian texts, I have gone over the translation with men of all tribes—Wazirees, Khattahs, Afridis, Zadarans, Khorties, Marawuts, and Bannuchis—and have added to the present Pashtu dictionaries an enormous number of words besides having formed a nucleus for a Greek and Pashtu dictionary. Qazi Abdur Rahman has also compiled a large dictionary of Pashtu words in all dialects. He has been an immense help to me, and the joint co-operation of the Bible Society in this matter is a cause for deep thankfulness. We are, I trust, on the eve of a great advance into Afghanistan, this time not of troops, but of the Word of God.

Under the new code, the Government grants to the schools have been materially reduced, but the number of boys has scarcely been affected, as there are 115 against 123 in 1887. "We are putting in the leaven," Mr. Mayer says, and adds :—

Obstacles to educational evangelistic work.

Leaven is a thing that requires time to work, and favourable conditions; and when you add to these your considerations, how boys are watched, suspected, snatched away from school, if any leaning towards Christianity is perceived; how they are beaten, persecuted, talked down, if they dare to announce themselves,—you may well marvel, as I often do, that we get any boys in our schools at all. Add to this the immense gain to India of the Christian Vernacular Society's publications, which are the main text-books in our India-schools, and I think you will agree, that, if we were eighty years without seeing a convert, the day must come when we shall count them by hundreds.

A Sunday School has been started, which all the boys attend for one hour's teaching in the Scriptures. The catechist at Esa Kheyl reports three converts whom he has prepared for baptism.

The Rev. John Williams labours on patiently at TANK, where, through the hospital and dispensary, as well as evangelistic work, he comes into contact with caravans passing and re-passing from Afghanistan to the Punjab. The Rev. W. Thwaites visited this station during the year, and wrote :—

Pathan Mohammedan inquirers at Tank.

There were four very promising inquirers, Pathan Mohammedans, but they have not courage to make the final break; it would be a serious one in Tank, and one of them, a Waziri, would not be safe if he were baptized there. His story was curious. He first heard of Christ through some fellow-countrymen of his who had been in the Hospital at Tank; there they heard John Williams preach, and had received copies of the Gospel in Pushtu. They were telling the story at home, and showing the book, when the Mullahs heard of the matter and came upon them in a rage. They seized the books, and said that those who listened to such teaching ought to be driven out and their houses destroyed. The youth heard all this and wondered; he had found nothing evil in the teaching, all seemed good and excellent, and the rage of the Mullahs was inexplicable. He determined to know more of it, and in course of time made his way to Tank, and there he has been reading steadily with Mr. Williams. When he told Mr. Thwaites of his fear, the latter spoke to him of the Uganda martyrs, and his answer was, "They did right, they did right, and I ought to do the same." "God grant him grace," writes Mr. Thwaites, "and the others also to be courageous, for there is danger in delay."

The example of the Uganda martyrs an encouragement.

PESHAWAR.

No Annual Letter has been received from the Rev. W. Thwaites, who has been in charge of this station, nor from the Rev. A. E. Day. The Rev. W. A. Rice has been assigned to Peshawar by the Corresponding Committee, and arrived there in December. The Rev. Worthington Jukes has now returned. Syad Shah, an Afghan convert of this station, has gone to pay a second visit to Kafiristan, Mr. Thwaites generously defraying the expense. The Punjab Mission News says:—

Visit to Kafiristan by an Afghan convert.

Letters have now been received from him dated from Kamdesh in Kafiristan. He reports all well, and had reached safely after an extremely trying journey viâ Cashmere and Chitral. One of his ponies died in crossing a pass. He was hospitably entertained by the Khan of Chitral for three weeks. He received a warm welcome from his old friends the Kafirs.

The messenger, a Kafir, brought Mr. Thwaites a Kafir bow and arrows, a hunting-knife, and a cake of compressed grapes. Syad Shah had sent for some Persian New Testaments, which are wanted by the chiefs, and various articles to be given away as presents. These have been sent him by Mr. Thwaites, who shortly expects further news.

KASHMIR.

The staff of European Missionaries remains unchanged. The Rev. J. H. Knowles has conducted the work in the church, school, book-shop, &c., and has given addresses to the out-patients, and visited the sick patients in the hospital wards; while the brothers, Drs. A. and E. F. Neve, have had charge of the important medical branch of the work, sharing also in the evangelistic efforts.

The Congregation is composed chiefly of sick people and their friends, and consequently the number varies considerably, the largest during the past year having been 126, and the smallest 32. One of the Sunday services is specially for beggars, to whom a small gift of rice or bread is supplied by friends. The School has given one convert, a Mussulman pupil, and "a brave sturdy follower of the Lord Jesus he has proved himself," writes Mr. Knowles. Persecution, flattery, entreaty, have not availed to turn him from his convictions. On the prize day, the Resident, Mr. Plowden, took the chair, and Mrs. Plowden distributed the prizes. Nearly all the visitors were present, including General Sir John and Lady Hudson, Lord Tenterden, La Marquise de Bourbet, as well as several influential Kashmiris, one—"the richest native gentleman in the Valley"—making a speech.

Of the bedside ministrations Mr. Knowles says :—

Hospital ministrations.

We began the year with a rigid determination to follow up this work more regularly and more thoroughly than in previous years. These quiet chats, these heart-to-heart addresses, who can measure their influence over the people, whose hearts have been softened by Christian kindness! No kind deed, no good word, no gentle look or smile is lost. "O sahib, speak a word or two," cried out a poor boy feebly to me the other evening, as I was leaving his ward. I had gone in and simply looked round, without saying more than a "Salam" here and there. But the poor boy was afraid he would die, and was anxious. His two feet had just been amputated. "Speak a word or two;" and so I did, and a tear would ooze out as I spoke, for I thought of the poor boy's blighted future. I saw him running about in the morning—a strong, strapping boy—and now he was prostrate, with both his feet off. "Blighted" did I write? It was a lapsus calami; for perhaps the Lord has sent him to us to know the way of life!

A Sunday-school, consisting of one class of eleven boys and girls, has been commenced by Theophilus, one of the Native Christians.

Two Mussulman women and one little boy, in addition to the Moslem school-boy mentioned above, have been baptized; and a little Mohammedan orphan girl, who was for some time a patient in the hospital, has been sent to Amritsar.

The hospital is practically supported by the liberal donations of visitors and by the fees. Several itinerating tours have been made.

QUETTA.

New hospital.

The Rev. H. G. Grey and Dr. S. W. Sutton occupy this Afghan station. An excellent site for a hospital and other buildings has been secured through the help of Sir Robert Sandeman and Diwan Ganpat Rai, and the out-patient department has been erected. This comprises a good-sized waiting-room in which addresses will be given to those assembled, a consulting-room, a dispensary, a dressing-room for attending to wounds, an operating-room, a dark room in which eyes and throats may be examined by artificial light, and a small lavatory. The money has been collected (partly given) by Dr. Sutton, without expense to the Society, and he is hopeful to complete the building this year by adding wards for in-patients, store-rooms, and quarters for hospital assistants. To do this he says he wants Rs. 12,000 (1000*l.*). Mr. Grey thus describes his own modest quarters, and the book-shop and prayer-room he has engaged :—

I have, happily, got hold of three conveniently-placed shops or rooms in a main bazaar, one of which I have turned into a prayer-room and book-shop, while the other two serve as a home for Yakub and his wife (Rahmat). Behind these I am now myself installed in a comfortable little house, with a small courtyard, from which I have had a back door cut into the prayer-room. All are rented from a Kandahar merchant.

A further sphere of work lies before us among English-speaking Natives. Now that we have got this prayer-room, I hope we may soon be able to arrange for addresses to such. A little delay has arisen in getting the necessary seats for the room—necessary, that is, for Europeanized Natives, for on Sunday nearly all of us adopt Native style, and squat on carpets.

Congregation.

There is a small Congregation, consisting of fourteen baptized Christians and eight communicants, none of them, however, natives of the neighbourhood, but railway or army clerks, servants, &c., from other parts of India. Three or four of these have met weekly, in a disused store-room, for a Bible-class which Mr. Grey has held with Yaqub's assistance. Mr. Grey mentions three frequent visitors who have shown considerable interest, one a leading man in a neighbouring village, another a young Brahmin from Lahore, a typical "University man."

In April Dr. Sutton paid a visit, in the company of the Assistant-Commissioner-General of Quetta, Major Hunt, to Mastung, a large village about thirty-five miles south of Quetta. The people are Brahmins and Baluchis, but many of them, even the little children met with in the lanes and fields, were able to converse in Persian, though it was, as Haji, the Native guide, described it, "only a jungly Persian." The Sunday evening spent at this place brought more than one surprise. Dr. Sutton says :—

On Sunday evening Haji came with his friend, the Munshi of Mastung (a man employed by the Khan of Khelat), and the Munshi's servant, and asked if the servant might play something on the rubab. We gave permission. I sat down with a group of people, and listened to his song and its accompaniment. The rubab, a kind of cross-breed between a guitar and a banjo, is a common musical instrument in this country. I could not understand the song, so Haji explained it. It was simply the story of Joseph, of his being placed in the pit, of his blood-stained coat being taken to his father, of his being sold into Egypt, of his fleeing from Potiphar's wife, saying, "I am a servant of God, how can I do such a thing?" A certain amount of tradition was mixed up with the story as we know it; as, for instance, that when he fled from Potiphar's wife seven gates opened of their own accord to let him escape.

The story of Joseph known in Beluchistan.

I asked where they got this story from, and was told that it is one of the old stories sung in the country and handed down from generation to generation. Then I asked the singer if he knew anything of the Psalms of David. He had heard of David, he said, but never saw the Psalms. He seemed surprised and delighted when I said I would give him a copy of them in Persian. Having produced it from my tent, I was asked by the Munshi if I had any other books in the Persian language, so I brought what I had in my bag. I was about to open the bag when he astonished me with the question, "Have you anything about Hasrat Isa?" "All my books," I replied, "are about Hasrat Isa." "I want to read something about Him," said the Munshi: and I gave him a copy of every book I had with me, the four Gospels, Mizan-ul-Haqq, Tarik-ul-hayat, Nur-ul-anwar, and Miftah-ul-isran. He seemed to be really pleased, as if he knew he had secured a treasure.

Desire to learn about Christ.

At nine o'clock that evening I was lamenting that I had had no opportunity of distributing my books; and it was not half-past ten when I had got rid of every one of them, and went to my tent for the night with Isa. lv. 10, 11, uppermost in my mind.

SINDH.

THE fourth annual meeting of the Sindh Native Church Council was held on September 26th at Sukkur, under the chairmanship of the Rev. A. E. Ball.

The Rev. J. J. Bambridge returned with his bride, formerly Miss Stacpoole, a Mildmay Deaconess, in November; and the Rev. J. and Mrs. Redman have come home on furlough.

KARACHI.

The Rev. A. E. Ball has had general charge of this station, and the Rev. R. Heaton has superintended the High School. The Rev. B. N. Ghose is the Native pastor. In the bazaars, at fairs, and at the resting-places of the numerous pilgrims who pass through Karachi on their way to Hinglaj in Beluchistan, the Gospel has been set forth, and the people for the most part listen well, Mohammedans and a few members of the Arya Somaj being almost the only opponents. There has been a fair number of inquirers, but the time of testing proved some to be not sincere or not steadfast. A few, however, were hopeful, of whom one has family prayers in his house, but is kept back from confessing Christ in baptism by the fear of leaving his aged parents.

The English Lectures to educated Natives, which are a great feature of this Mission, have been held in the Max Denso Hall, and there has been an average attendance of about 100. The object aimed at is well expressed by Mr. Ball, who also gives a list of the subjects:—

Evangelistic lectures to educated Natives.

The object we have put before ourselves has been to set forth, as best we could, the great truths of Christianity in all their variety and beauty, and, while not neglecting the intellect, to press these truths home on the heart and conscience of our hearers. As a consequence, the addresses have been of a distinctly evangelistic character, all topics of a controversial nature being, as a rule, avoided or very lightly touched upon. The singing of a selection from Sacred Songs and Solos at every meeting has proved a great attraction, and has been of the greatest help. Before the services were begun, the importance of singing was felt, and a small American organ was hired for Rs. 7 a month. Before, however, the first month's rent was due, Rs. 140 had been subscribed by many friends, and the instrument became our own. The Rev. F. E. D. Cobbald, chaplain, the Rev. G. K. Gilder, of the Methodist Episcopal Church, the Rev. J. Redman, of Hydrabad, and Messrs. Braddon, Humphrey, Taylor, and Horman, have all given addresses, and to them we tender our hearty thanks. One other name must be mentioned, that of a Parsi gentleman, Mr. Jamsetji Ardaser; and we gratefully acknowledge the assistance he has given in lighting the hall for us at his own cost. We give a few of the subjects of the addresses, as they may be of some interest:—"Christ the Rock," "Profit and loss," "The claims of Christ," "Perfection," "Divine love commended," "Forgiveness," "Daniel, the prophet," "A soul's tragedy," "Victories of Christianity," "The Jubilee," "Divine mercy," "Triumph through suffering," "The Baptist," "Rays from the realms of nature," "St. Paul at Athens," "Thou fool," "St. Augustine," "Lord Cairns." The attention of the hearers has been marked, and we trust that many may receive the truth in the love of it.

At one of these meetings, in January, the address was given by Mrs. Bambridge, and the Sindh Times, a Native paper, gave the following account of it in Sindhi:—

Address by a lady missionary.

The evangelistic meeting held last evening (January 17th) in the Max Denso Hall was well and densely attended. The address, "A Wonderful Miracle" (the raising of Lazarus), was delivered by Mrs. Bambridge, lady of our popular missionary. The subject was well and thoroughly handled by her, and attracted the marked attention of the large audience, who were so well pleased with her delivery, that, at the conclusion of the address, Mr. Udaram Mulchand, Vice-President of the Municipality, proposed a vote of thanks to Mrs. Bambridge on behalf of the audience in a very appropriate speech.

High school.

The average daily attendance at the High School was 106 last year, compared with 112 the previous year. This slight decrease, Mr. Heaton thinks, may be a consequence of stricter discipline. The fees also have been raised. The school is indeed mainly supported by the fees and grants, and is no cost to the Society beyond the allowances of the missionary. Of those on the roll in December there were one Christian, four Jews, eighteen Moslems, seventeen Brahmins, and seventy-five Hindus. Mr. Heaton has held two Bible classes early on Sunday mornings, one for the masters, the other for the senior boys, and has been encouraged by the interest shown in the study of the Gospels. He says:—

The school opening doors to Zenanas.

One evidence that our work is not in vain is the fact that a ready entrance is ever found by our Zenana Mission ladies to the homes of those boys who attend our school. Some of them teach their sisters at home, though they are held back by a curious etiquette from doing the same for their wives.

In the Boys' Vernacular School the 426 on the rolls consisted of 42 Mohammedans, 44 Brahmins, and 334 other Hindus. There has been an increase in the number of books sold, viz. 20,758, as compared with 14,073 in 1887, and 5662 in 1882. Of these, 14,347 were in the various vernaculars, Sindhi, Gujerathi, Hindi, Tamil, Urdu, Marathi, Gurmukhi, Persian, &c.

Sale of books.

One adult has been baptized, a station-master. He had received his first teaching of the Gospel in the Mission-school twelve years before.

HYDERABAD.

The Rev. J. Redman has been cheered by two adult baptisms in Hydrabad, though not of Sindhis. One was that of Babu Monindra Nath Ghose, B.A., who had been recommended to Mr. Redman for the post of monitor in the school by the Rev. W. H. Ball, of Calcutta, by whom he had been led to Christ. He was baptized shortly after his arrival at Hydrabad. The other is a Native of the Punjab, and a brother of Prem Das who was baptized in this Mission in 1882. By the latter's persuasion Narain Das came to Hydrabad and entered the school, and there he was taught of Christ. He is about seventeen years of age, and "such a bright happy youth, always head of his class." Mr. Redman has been trying to reach English-speaking Natives by means of correspondence:—

Letters to English-speaking Natives.

It was when engaged in prayer for the extension of the Kingdom that a thought struck me which I have since carried out. It was this, to send, monthly if possible, a letter written in my own hand, so that prayer might be offered over each one, to all the English-speaking Natives of my acquaintance, and to enclose a card with a passage of Scripture printed on it. This I have been doing. Three series have been sent out to about fifty or sixty Native gentlemen. Miss Skinner, of Bath, has very kindly prepared for me one of her "Friendly Letters," and I am having it printed for circulation. Many letters have come expressing thanks for the cards, and several have asked me to start a Bible-class, at which we might read the Scripture, especially the teaching of Christ, together. I would ask your special prayers for this effort.

SUKKUR.

The Rev. A. W. Cotton has charge at this important town in Northern Sindh, and sends an interesting report of expanding influence. During the session of the Sindh Native Church Council at Sukkur, the Native Church Committee of this place arranged some special evangelistic services in the bazaar. A Sindhi was overheard to say, "The Christians will shake the whole town if they only keep on like this."

"The Christians will shake the whole town."

In a former report Mr. Cotton drew attention to the promising openings presented in Sukkur and its district for work amongst women, and he quoted the question, often asked by a Sindhi gentleman, "When are any lady missionaries coming to Upper Sindh? Do they not know that the shortest way to a man's heart is through the heart of his wife?" Mr. Cotton now records his thankfulness for the ladies lately sent out by the C.E.Z.M.S., and quotes a remark made to him by a young Brahmin:—"In my daily prayers, one of my first petitions is that God may visibly bless the labour of love of the ladies who have recently begun Christian work amongst the women of Upper Sindh." A mixed Sunday-school, consisting mostly of non-Christian Sindhi boys, has been started during the past year, and a bi-monthly examination is held to test the boys' knowledge of their text cards, and of the First Catechism. Mr. Cotton says—"Forty boys passed first-class at a recent examination, having gained about three-quarter marks."

A Brahmin prays for success of lady missionaries.

Sunday-school examination.

The baptized Christians number thirty-four, and the communicants, twenty; by these Rs. 256 was given for religious purposes.

At Larkana an influential Mohammedan teacher, Hafiz Ali Murad, an inquirer for nearly two years, expressed his desire in September to go to Sukkur, and confess his faith in the Lord Jesus Christ. He did go, and the disappointing sequel is related by Mr. Cotton:—

> He came to Sukkur, and for about a fortnight lived with the missionary in the Bazaar Mission-house. During this time, he attended the Christian services, joined us in prayer, and appeared to be convinced of the truth of Christianity. He also began writing a Sindhi book, entitled, Igrar Nama; or, Confession of Faith. In speaking of this book, the Hafiz said, "It will contain three parts: Part I. will be a short sketch of Christian doctrine, in which special emphasis will be laid upon those foundation truths of Christianity which first attracted my attention; Part II. will be a refutation of Mohammedanism; Part III. will contain my renunciation of the creed of Islam, and my confession of faith in the Lord Jesus Christ." When this book was in hand, we had more than once seen Mussulmans lurking around the door of the Hafiz's room. One morning, we had occasion to leave the Hafiz to himself longer than usual, and on our return we found that he had been taken away and hurried across the River Indus out of our reach. We have not been able to ascertain for certain whether he consented to go, or was taken by force, but we incline to the latter opinion, especially as he was quite blind.

Mr. Cotton has lately placed a catechist to reside permanently at Shikarpur, and in doing so he reviews the experiences which he has met with in the place:—

We were sometimes mobbed, occasionally kicked, frequently dusted, and constantly hooted at; but still the people came and listened to the preaching. One man said that he hated the very smell of Christianity, and another remarked that the mention of the name of Jesus Christ crucified always moved him to tears. Many came to the preachings to scoff, of whom several remained for prayer. When the fight was toughest, and thickest, and hottest, we were cheered by the presence of an old Hindu, who used to say, "Pray, keep on praying; they cannot hinder if you will only pray."

An old Hindu's advice: "Keep on praying."

WESTERN INDIA MISSION.

Bombay, 1820; Nasik, 1832; Junir, 1846; Malegâm, 1848; Aurangabad, 1860.

THIS Mission includes the Society's stations within the Diocese of Bombay, and one station, Aurungabad, which, being in the Nizam's territory, is subject to the ecclesiastical jurisdiction of the Bishop of Madras, as it is also connected politically with the Madras Presidency. The Rev. H. C. Squires is the Secretary of the Corresponding Committee which administers the Mission. His health, not fully established when he returned in 1887, has very much broken down, and he continues at his post in opposition to medical advice, because the work is difficult and the staff is weak.

Ordination. The Bishop of Bombay admitted the Rev. E. J. Jones to Priest's Orders on December 23.

After an interval of little more than a year, the widow of the late Rev. J. S. S. Robertson, who shared his labours of well-nigh forty years, from 1838 to 1877, has followed him to the rest which remains for the people of God.

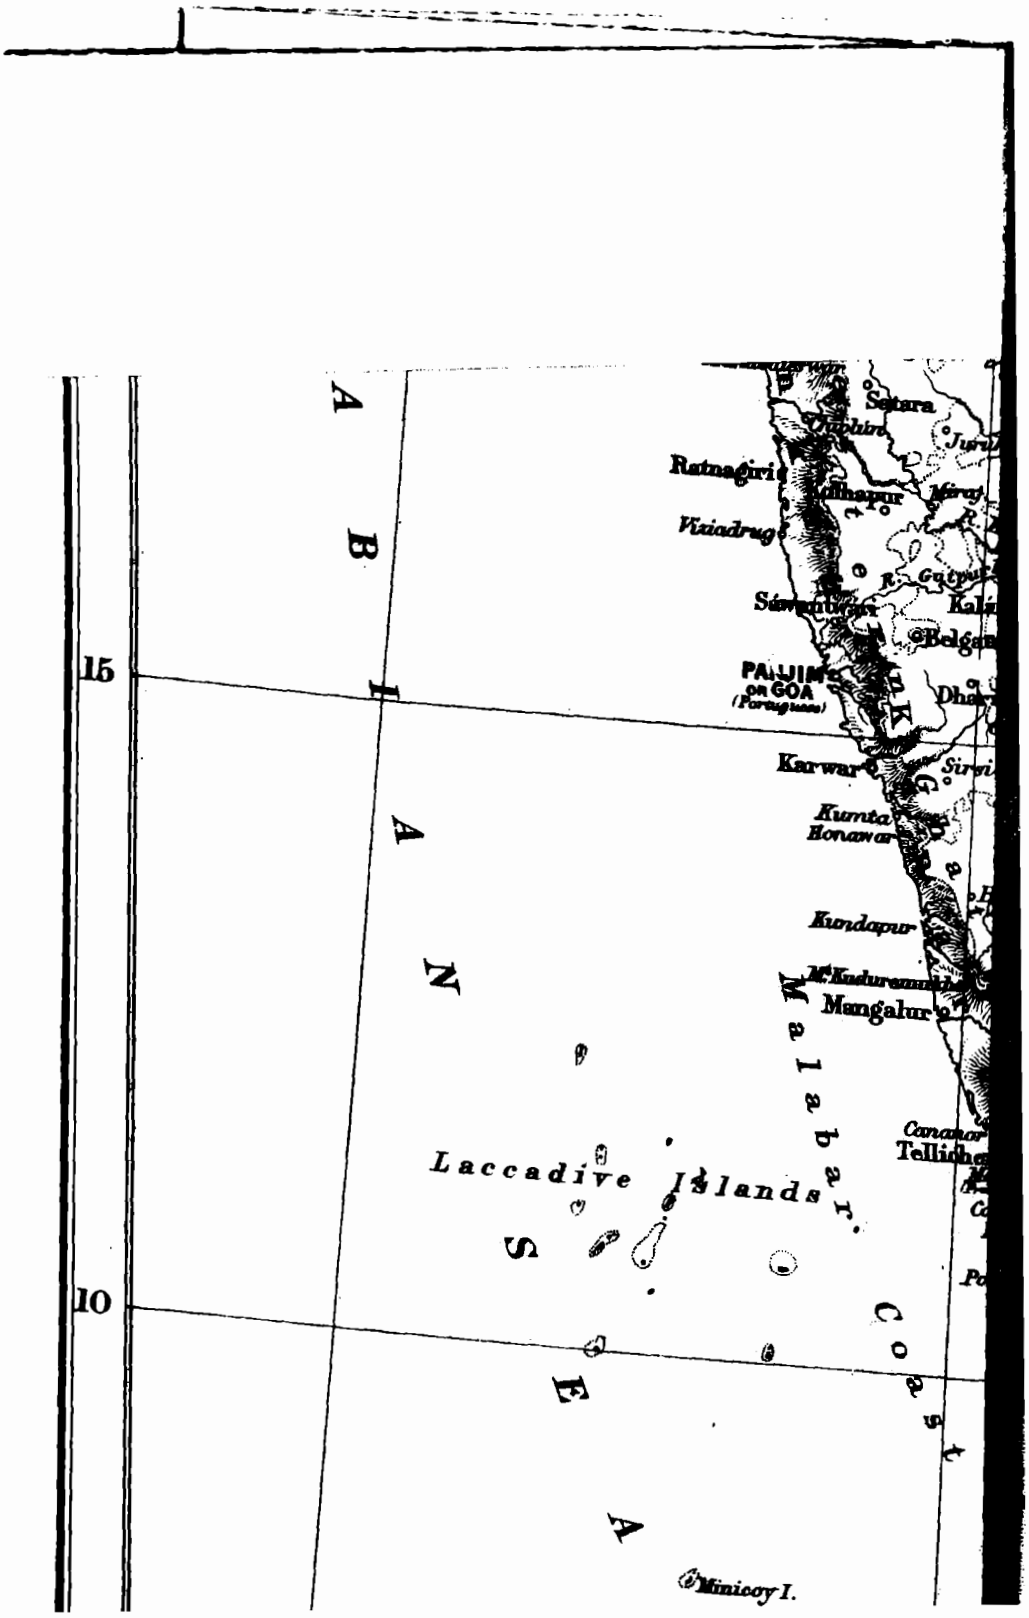

Seventh Meeting of Native Church Council. The Western India Native Church Council held its seventh meeting on February 5, 1889, at Sharanpur, Nasik, and formally accepted rules, closely resembling those adopted by the Bengal Native Church Council, regulating the organization of the various congregations in their relation to the C.M.S., and laying down methods for developing among Native Christians a missionary spirit and the principle of self-support.

The Rev. H. A. Bren has been obliged to come home through the failure of his health; but the Rev. R. A. Squires has returned to the Mission.

BOMBAY.

At the Girgaum Church, and in the work among the Europeans and Eurasians, the Rev. H. C. Squires has the assistance of the Rev. J. M. Macdonald; the Robert Money School has again, through the return home of the Rev. H. A. Bren, devolved temporarily on Mr. J. Jackson; and the Mohammedan work is under the charge of the Rev. W. T. St. Clair Tisdall. Miss E. Morris is head mistress of the two Girls' Day-schools.

In connexion with Girgaum Church Mr. Macdonald superintends a Sunday-school, which nearly doubled its numbers during the year, having begun it with 73 on the roll, and ended with 132. The library of this school has 750 volumes. The Girls' Boarding-school is now placed under the superintendence of two lady missionaries, Miss Trott and Miss Campbell, of the Indian Female Normal School Society. There are thirty boarders, all who can read being members of a Scripture Union. Miss Trott says:— Girls' Boarding-school.

We thank God that their interest in Scripture-reading daily increases, and that now they endeavour to serve one another in love. It is a cheering sight to see three or four banded together reading their Bible, and we have often entered their dining-room to find them kneeling in prayer. Often of an evening they gather around Miss Campbell after prayers to hear details of our out-door work, or to have some portion of Scripture explained to them. Four of them are helping me transpose the birthday Scripture text books into Marathi. Two are engaged in teaching in the Indian Female Normal School and Instruction Society's Beni Israel School. We feel they are one with us in heart in seeking to win all those who come under our influence to Christ. The younger, who came to us almost blind, after being in hospital ten months has almost recovered her sight in answer to prayer, and whereas at first she could do no more than keep order in the infant class, she is now able to see well enough to take one of the highest standards. We feel assured that she sees with God all things are possible. A Beni Israel girl admitted into the boarding-school two months ago is desirous of being baptized. She is a dear girl, and one for whom we would ask special prayer, since she has had, previous to coming here, many difficulties to contend with.

The Robert Money School has 280 pupils, viz. 13 Protestant Christians, 20 Jews, 6 Mohammedans, 69 Brahmins, 170 other Hindus, 1 Parsee, and 1 Chinese. The Hostel has 13 inmates.

By daily, morning and evening, preaching in the streets, by discussions and conversations in the Gospel Hall, by Sunday services, and by lectures in English and Urdu, Mr. Tisdall has striven to make the Gospel known to the Mohammedans of this city. Bible-classes have also been held for the inquirers and Native helpers. Besides Natives of the Bombay Presidency, a few Arabs, Armenians, Persians, and Kashmiris are occasionally present at the services, which are conducted in Urdu on Sunday mornings, and in Persian in the afternoon. Mr. Tisdall says an Arabic service is also called for, but he justly remarks that "it would be rather too much for one European to hold three full services and preach three extempore sermons in one day in three different Asiatic tongues." Mohammedan Mission.

Five adults have been baptized during the year, but one has proved wholly disappointing, and two others have not proved worthy of the honour, which was put upon them, of being Mission workers. The inquirer from Karnul, near Madras, referred to in the extract from Mr. Tisdall's letter quoted in the Annual Report of last year, was baptized in January. His name was Hazrat 'Ali, and he is now Yuhanna 'Abd 'Isa (John, servant of Jesus). He returned after baptism to his own village. In December a young man, aged twenty, 'Aziz Ahmad Khan, was baptized after several months' careful training. Mr. Tisdall says of this man, and another, Robert Wilson :—

His Christian name is Aiyub (Job). A few days before baptism he went to the bazaar with Mohammed Husain and myself, and there, according to our custom in such cases, confessed his belief in Christ crucified, and invited his former co-religionists to be present on the occasion of his baptism. On the same Sunday, Robert Wilson's wife and little son and adopted daughter received baptism, and Wilson himself publicly renounced Mohammedanism.

In illustration of the difficulties in finding employment experienced by those who receive baptism, Mr. Tisdall instances two of the converts of 1887, viz. the weaver from Ellichpur, and the mason belonging to Bombay :—

Social persecution.

One of our last year's converts, Yaqub Gul Mohammed, for some months had work in a Parsi's office here, but he resigned it owing, in part, to bad health and partly to the fact that his employer's opposition to Christianity seemed to be on the increase. He went to Haidrabad, Deccan, where he knew and had previously worked under several of the chief officers of the Nizam's court. But though they at first received him most warmly, yet, on discovering that he had become a Christian, they utterly refused to give him any employment, though his knowledge of four or five languages well qualified him for the work he had before been doing there. He is now at Lucknow, but I hope to send him to the Lahore Divinity College. Another convert of last year, who at first (as I said in my last Annual Letter) seemed somewhat unsatisfactory, has since taken steadily to work at Akola. He is a mason and contractor by trade. When, after some months' absence, he returned to Bombay to see his wife, his father followed him to every place in the city where he got a day's work, and made his employers dismiss him because he had become a Christian. If he could get steady work here his wife would join him, but this his father prevents.

NASIK.

Nasik.

The Rev. W. A. Roberts has been joined at Nasik by the Rev. E. J. Jones, who has been appointed specially for evangelistic work in the district. The Native pastor, the Rev. L. Maloba, has been transferred to Aurungabad, and has been succeeded by a lay pastor, Mr. A. Cornelius, whose knowledge of Hindustani Mr. Roberts has used for preaching to the Mohammedans in the most populous Mussulman quarter of the town; but the gatherings have been generally small. Very different has been the interest manifested by the Hindus to whom Mr. Roberts has preached week by week on the banks of the Godavery. A patient hearing was also nearly everywhere accorded during a preaching tour down the river eastwards. The majority of the men in most of the villages—Kunbis, Mahars, and Kolis—gathered to hear an exposition of the elementary truths of the Christian faith. A member of the European congregation also takes two Scripture-readers with him once a year in his journey in the district, discharging their expenses, by which means the Gospel has been proclaimed in parts of the division which otherwise would scarcely have been reached.

Sharanpur.

The Normal Class at Sharanpur has sent out three trained teachers, as in the previous year. The Orphanage has now a matron who was herself an inmate of it, and who was also for several years a teacher. Several African girls, captured and landed at Bombay, were expected in January last to be shortly added to the matron's charge, the Corresponding Committee having, at the request of the Bombay Commissioner of Police, undertaken to receive them.

POONA AND JUNIR.

The Rev. R. A. Squires has returned to Poona, for the purpose of re-opening the Divinity School which he commenced in 1882, but discontinued in 1884 that he might take his brother's place at Bombay. A generous gift of 2000*l.* in memory of Lady Cosway, whose father, Mr. Simon Halliday, resided for many years at Bombay, has been placed at the disposal of the Committee by the Misses Cosway to provide the necessary buildings. The Rev. Appaji Bapuji has been appointed pastor of the Marathi congregation. A lay teacher, Matthew Aaron, has the pastoral charge of the Tamil congregation, and the Rev. Sorabji Kharsedji, as an honorary worker, gives valuable assistance.

Congregations at Poona.

The Marathi Congregation has increased from fourteen to more than sixty. Mrs. Dajo Panduring and Mrs. J. Bunter, widows of the first priest and first deacon in the Western India Mission, are members of the congregation, and seem to be pillars, Mr. Bapuji says, of the Church in Poona. Nine adult baptisms are reported, but two of the converts were not satisfactory in their subsequent conduct. Mr. Bapuji took a preaching tour in this district in 1884, and he says there has taken place since then a manifest change in the general attitude of the heathen; they now listen attentively, and some read the Word of God in private. Mr. Aaron entered upon his labours in connexion with the Tamil Congregation in June, and writes:—

A Native pastoral agent's work.

Though I was very weak in body when I entered on this field of work, yet the grace of God was more than sufficient, and it was stronger than my weakness. I was enabled to visit every one of my congregation both in Poona and Kirkee within two weeks' time. During my first visit I did not leave one house without reading the Word of God, and praying with them. When leaving each house, I left my earnest invitation to attend the Divine services conducted at St. Paul's Church on Sunday mornings, and the week-day prayer meeting at our schoolroom, and the cottage meetings in different places.

I have started family worship in many houses who showed a desire to erect family altars in their houses. To do this I had to go from house to house at different hours at nights, to suit the convenience of the people. In some families they could not meet together till ten p.m., or later still. I am thankful there are now some in our congregation who have the blessed experience of holding sweet communion with God even in their poorest huts.

I have started a temperance association at Saddar Bazaar. For the first few meetings we had a large number of educated Mohammedans and Tamil people's attendance. The Mohammedans showed a great interest and sympathy at first, and three young men came out and signed the pledge.

Temperance at marriage feasts.

I am glad to record here an event which had never occurred in the history of the Tamil Church in Poona. Tamil people, as a rule, must have some kind of liquor in their marriages, and the other public parties, but after my taking charge of the Tamil work, there were four marriages, and not one of them brought a drop of wine or any kind of liquor in the house. Tea, coffee, cakes, and sweetmeats took the place of liquor. Garlands of flowers and scent were used very largely by all. A Roman Catholic young man, having witnessed our Christian marriages and their innocent enjoyments, also avoided the use of liquor at his own marriage.

On Christmas and New Year's Eve we had two large gatherings for devotional exercises, at night beginning at 10 p.m., and continued for three hours. On these occasions our Tamil congregation was stirred up very much, and many souls were awakened. The result of these two meetings was that the people observed the Christmas and New Year as Christians, not with liquor as in former years.

Junir.

The Revs. J. A. Harriss and W. C. Whiteside have laboured in the JUNIR district. They have found the quiet, fifty miles removed from the rail and from any European centre, helpful in their studies, and the numerous villages within a few miles have afforded them audiences, seldom hostile, but not seldom apathetic, for their early efforts to proclaim Christ in the vernacular.

MALEGAM.

The Rev. F. G. Macartney, who came to this station after his furlough at the end of 1887, expresses thankfulness to resume work there after an absence of five years, he having been transferred to Sharanpur in 1883. He mentions the old convert who was baptized by Mr. Manwaring in 1884 (see Annual Report, 1884–5, page 132), Shiraba, from a village near Manmad. He has suffered a good deal in his person and in his pocket at the hands of his relations since he became a Christian. His wife forsook him soon after his baptism, but has now rejoined him and been herself baptized. He acts as a colporteur for the district, being an agent of the Native congregation, by whom his salary is partly paid.

A faithful convert.

The Schools, of which there are seven, are doing a useful work. Mr. S. Yardi, a son of the Rev. Appaji Bapuji, is master of the Anglo-Vernacular School, and has kept together a Sunday-school of about seventy non-Christian lads, all pupils from the Day-schools.

The Out-stations are Manmad, Nandgaon, Dhulia, and Buldana. The schoolmaster at Nandgaon, a son of the Rev. Lucas Maloba, has started a flourishing cricket club and school library, and several non-Christian Natives have been induced by him to subscribe to the school fund for the purpose of paying the school fees of some poor Mahar and Mang boys. In this place a new Hindu temple is being erected in one of the main thoroughfares, the shopkeepers giving a stated portion of their profits for the purpose. At Dhulia, in Khandesh, which is the largest collectorate in the Presidency, there are two preachers. The work has been retarded here by the apostasy of Paulus Ramchandra, a Brahmin convert baptized eight years since. He has become a Mohammedan fakir, and resides with another fakir in the neighbourhood of Dhulia. During one of Mr. Macartney's visits to this place he had an unpleasant surprise:—

> We have visited the station five times during the year. On our first visit in March, we found that a Mohammedan moulvie had been for some weeks opposing our people in the bazaar, and by his violent declamations against Christianity and Europeans had created no small stir in the place. He boasted that he had made a few converts to Mohammedanism from among the Europeans in India (one being a Madam Sahib!), and declared that a great English Padre had lately written much on behalf of the cause he was advocating. We were surprised to find that the echoes of Canon Taylor's essays in favour of the Moslem faith had penetrated to an out-of-the-way place like

Far-off echoes.

Dhulia. We anticipated some trouble from this fiery Mohammedan, as he seemed determined at one time to put a stop to our bazaar-preaching, but for some reason or other he was not supported by his co-religionists, and he suddenly left the town, much to the satisfaction of ourselves and others.

The mind through the eye.

During the itinerating season two companies of preachers were at work. Mr. Macartney says how helpful he has found three means for reaching the mind through the eye, viz., the "Wordless Book," the new series of coloured prints being published by the Religious Tract Society, and the magic lantern. Of the last he says:—

We only show two sets of slides, viz. the Life of Christ and Pilgrim's Progress; and we are sure that the pictures and words accompanying them have made a lasting impression on many. In one place, where with difficulty we could get only about forty to listen to the preaching in the morning, 400 willingly assembled on two evenings, and listened patiently, without a word of controversy or protest, to the message delivered at the optical lantern exhibition,

One thousand miles to worship at a shrine.

During their visit to the hills in the hot weather Mr. and Mrs. Macartney went with four catechists to a religious fair at Suptashring, which lasts ten days, and is usually attended by about 15,000 pilgrims. One man was spoken to who had walked 1000 miles to worship at the shrine, which Mrs. Macartney describes:—

About half-way up this rock there is a shrine dedicated to the goddess Devi. This figure is carved out of the rock. It is that of an ordinary woman, except that she has eighteen hands instead of two. She has four priests in attendance upon her. She is bathed every day (twice a week with warm water), and is clothed with a Native bodice and dress. She has a different suit for each day of the week, some of them made of pure silk with a deep border of gold. This goddess is supposed to have great power over evil spirits.

We had never camped so near a Yatra (Hindu festival) before. This time we had an opportunity of watching the people and their customs. The merit of the pilgrimage is believed to lie in the labour endured in the ascent of the hill. For those who wish to secure for themselves special religious merit, there are three other paths round the hill. Morning and evening the pilgrims might be both seen and heard as they walked round the hill in companies, shouting at the top of their voices (all together), "Victory to the goddess." Most of the people, as they went or returned from the shrine, stood and listened to the preaching of the Gospel. Some of the Brahmins were very angry with the people for listening to the preachers, calling out to them to come away, but they paid no attention to them. On one or two occasions the audience was so large that those in the outer circle could neither see nor hear the preacher, so they said to each other, "Let us sit down," and they all sat down.

AURUNGABAD.

The Rev. Ruttonji Nowroji has had the assistance of the Rev. Lucas Maloba since April. There have been nineteen adult baptisms, and the number of baptized Christians is now 1218, and of communicants 600. Twenty-eight Native Christian lay teachers, three of them females, labour under Mr. Nowroji's superintendence, and once a month the district agents meet at Aurungabad to give account of their work. Mr Nowroji says :—

The missionary meeting generally takes up several hours, although the speakers are repeatedly cautioned not to exceed their allotted time. They preach in the villages where they are stationed, as well as in the country around them. They are generally listened to with attention, and are often sent for by the people who come together for the express purpose of having a quiet religious discussion. Our Christian hymns sung to Native tunes are becoming popular; and none of the agents who know how to sing them ever fail to collect an audience anywhere.

Christian hymns to Native tunes.

I well remember the time when, years ago, the common people regarded Christian preachers with prejudice and suspicion. There was a great reluctance on their part to give us a calm hearing. But now things are far different. There is a growing desire in them, not only to be more neighbourly, but also to hear and know more of our religion. There are several leading men of different villages who, when they find we pass on without making a halt amongst them, come out to entreat us not to deprive them of the pleasure of our stay amongst them. Whenever baptism is administered in their villages they come to witness it, and show their gratification with our proceedings. Little as this may seem to those who live at a distance, we regard it as a token of their goodwill and kind feelings towards us. Naturally suspicious, and accustomed as they are to maintain a repulsive barrier which caste has drawn around them, any such approach of friendly interest in our work affords us considerable encouragement. When the Rev. Robert Squires went out with me to some of my out-stations he witnessed this kindly feeling shown to us, and could not help expressing his gratification at what he saw and heard.

Increasing friendliness of the people.

The abominable institution of caste continues to be hostile to our work as ever. I once held a baptismal service on the banks of the Godavery. In my address I made an earnest appeal to the spectators to accept the offers of pardon and peace made to all the children of men through the Lord Jesus Christ. One of them, struck with the sublimity of the sacred rite, proposed a singular request. "Establish two Missions," said he; "let one be for the higher classes, and the other for the lower." I replied that I would do so without any hesitation, if he, on his part, could prevail upon God to set two suns in the firmament, one for the higher and the other for the lower classes. The reply had its desired effect upon the man. Turning to his neighbours, he said, "If God treats all the children of men alike, who am I that I should expect His servants to make difference between man and man?" But both caste and idolatry are doomed, and must fall before the Gospel of Christ.

"Establish two Missions."

SOUTH INDIA MISSION.

(European Missionaries first arrived, 1814.)

MADRAS, commenced, 1814; TINNEVELLY, 1820; TELUGU MISSION, 1841.

THE Society's work in Madras, the Telugu country, and in Tinnevelly, is embraced under this Mission, which is administered by the Madras Corresponding Committee. In the absence of the Rev. E. Sell, B.D., the Rev. W. G. Peel is the Acting Secretary.

Ordinations.

The Bishop of Madras ordained on September 23rd, at Ootacamund, the Rev. A. K. Finnimore, to Priest's Orders; on December 23rd, at Madras, G. H. Asirvathan, one of the three Divinity School students who were successful at the Oxford and Cambridge Preliminary Theological Examination of the previous Easter, to Deacon's Orders; and, at his recent Lent ordination on March 17th, at the Tucker Chapel, Madras, D. Anantam Garu, to Deacon's Orders.

I. MADRAS.

Madras, 1814; Ootacamund, 1870.

THIS extensive city, or, as it rather is, collection of towns and villages, which covers an area of twenty-seven square miles, and in population is third of the cities of India, Calcutta and Bombay being the two which exceed it, is occupied by only three European missionaries of the Society, besides the Secretary of the Corresponding Committee. These are the Revs. M. G. and H. D. Goldsmith, in charge of the Mohammedan Mission and Divinity Class respectively, and Mrs. Vickers, who visits the Zenanas, and otherwise labours amongst the women of Black Town. The first two are special agencies, the Mohammedan work being conducted in a language, Hindustani, which is quite distinct from the vernacular Tamil, and the Divinity School being for the whole South India Mission. With these exceptions the Mission is wholly carried on by Natives. The Rev. S. John is the Native missionary to the educated classes. The Native Church Council has a Native chairman, the Rev. W. T. Satthianádhan, who is also pastor of the Southern Pastorate. During the past year, a new pastorate has been constituted for the Mount, and the Rev. S. Paul has been recalled from North Tinnevelly to take this new incumbency. The Rev. J. Kohlhoff is pastor of the Northern Pastorate, which comprises Black Town and Royapuram. Under the Council are also some village congregations; viz., at Pulicat, to the north, where the Rev. D. Ephraim is stationed; and at Punamalli, to the south, in the Palaveram district, where the Rev. D. A. Peter labours.

Divinity School.

The Rev. H. D. Goldsmith, who has come to England for a few months' furlough, is entitled to say that the past year has been an eventful one in the annals of the Divinity School. For the first time three of the students were presented for the Oxford and Cambridge Preliminary Theological Examination, and all passed. G. H. Asirvatham and P. Gnana Jya Simeon, B.A., were placed in the first class, and Simeon A. Daniel in the second. These have since been ordained, the first for work at Raghavapuram, the second to join the Tinnevelly Itinerancy, under the Rev. T. Walker, and the third for a Tinnevelly Pastorate. Of the subjects of study, &c., Mr. Henry Goldsmith says :—

Success in Oxford and Cambridge Preliminary Theological examination.

> The subjects of study during the year have been the Gospel of St. Luke, the Epistle to the Ephesians, and the First Epistle to Timothy, in Greek. In the Old Testament—Psalms, Book V.; the Captivity and Return, with especial reference to the historical portions of Jeremiah, and to the Books of Ezra and Nehemiah. Hebrew Grammar and six chapters of Jeremiah. The Creeds and Thirty-nine Articles. Prayer-Book. Ecclesiastical History—(a) To the Council of Constantinople; (b) The English Church, with special reference to the reign of Queen Elizabeth.

The Rev. W. T. Satthianádhan kindly gives the students the opportunity of preaching or reading the lessons in Zion Church occasionally, when they attend Divine service on Sunday mornings.

Mohammedan Mission.

Triplicane is the Mohammedan quarter of the city, and here the Rev. Malcolm G. Goldsmith conducts the Mohammedan Mission. The rice market in which, since 1884, the Gospel has been preached, was closed for improvements in October, which interrupted the work. The Hindu opposition has been continued, but more feebly, and little seems to be effected by their efforts. Of lectures and public discussions Mr. Goldsmith writes :—

Lectures and discussions.

In January (1888) we secured the Rev. Ram Chunder Bose, of Lucknow (who was in Madras for the National Congress) to deliver two lectures in our new schoolroom in this compound. His subjects were "Salvation" and "Inspiration," and he gave admirable addresses on these to fairly good audiences in Urdu, following up with very profitable discussion.

Two other public discussions were held, on October 23rd and 25th, with a Delhi maulavi, Abdul Majid Sáhib, on a Mohammedan gentleman's premises; subjects: (1) "The Christian Salvation, and especially the denial of Christ's death in the Quran;" (2) "The Divine Sonship, with especial reference to the denial of it in the Quran." This Delhi maulavi assumed the main truth of the Gospel accounts, and astonished the Mohammedan audiences by explaining away the denials in the Quran. On some side questions he differed from us, but his rough treatment of the Quran and partial acceptance of the Gospel were helpful to us.

On November 2nd and 9th discussions were held with a Shia Maulavi at the house of a leading Mohammedan nobleman living near this. This antagonist wished to prove that Mohammed was foretold in Isa. liii. and Rev. ii. and iii. In his opinion the "grave" being "with the wicked" clearly indicated that Mohammed would be buried in the same spot with the three first Khalifs, who (according to Shia notions) were "usurpers." The discussion was long and wearisome, but has stirred up an interest and inquiry amongst some gentlemen who were present, and whom we have been unable hitherto to reach.

Mr. Goldsmith twice visited Vellore last year, in August and September, and on the former occasion took part, with Masih Dyal, in three well-attended public discussions with Moslems. This city is one of the chief Mohammedan centres of South India, and has two Mohammedan Colleges.

Harris School.

The Harris School, which was established in 1856 by means of a legacy left by the Hon. Sybilla Harris, daughter of the hero of Seringapatam, has had a year of steady progress. A great hindrance is the fact that Mr. Goldsmith has been unable to secure Christian masters for the secular subjects. The head-master, A. D. Zaccheus, is the only exception. The Native evangelist, Masih Dyal, gives assistance in the Scripture teaching of the youngest boys. He is also doing his utmost to bring his Rajput relatives to Christ, and one of them, his brother-in-law, who is reading in the fourth class of the school, has been baptized. His name, Dhan Singh, was wisely not changed at his baptism. Two hopeful inquirers are mentioned. Mrs. Henry Goldsmith conducts a Sunday class of little Moslem girls, who learn hymns and texts in their own language.

Trinity Chapel.

The English services for Natives and Eurasians at Trinity Chapel (known as "John Pereira's," from the previous owner of the land on which it was built), are jointly conducted by the two brothers, Messrs. Malcolm and Henry Goldsmith. The former says the year has been rendered "an unusually happy one" in this connexion, owing to the good work done by Mr. Swann Hurrell. A branch of the Church of England Temperance Society has been formed, in addition to the Band of Hope.

Zenana work.

Mrs. Vickers' Zenana work does not afford many incidents of unusual interest. She has twenty-five pupils, and one of her two Bible-women is succeeding in getting an entrance into families of a higher social position than those she had access to previously. Mrs. Vickers makes a point of relating to her pupils and others instances of adult baptisms in the Mission, giving the history of the cases, and an account of the means by which they were brought to know the truth, and she is seldom, she observes, now met with the retort that the change has been made from interested motives.

As Chairman of the Native Church Council Mr. Satthianádhan, in his Annual Letter, usually makes some valuable reflections on the general aspects and prospects of the work in the city and neighbourhood. He refers this year, in terms of generous, though qualified, admiration, to the Salvation Army; and he dwells upon the attitude of Native society towards the Gospel:—

Remarks on the Salvation Army.

> Let me make a few remarks on the Salvation Army. One of their barracks has recently been planted quite close to us—a few yards from Zion Church. It is under the command of a Native Christian captain, who was formerly a member of our Mission in Tinnevelly. In fact, their barracks are now to be seen in almost all the suburbs of Madras, as well as in many of the important towns of the Presidency. This may be regarded as an indication of the progress which is being made by the Army. Their self-denial and earnestness strike the attention, and even the admiration of the people. In simplicity of life and similarity of habits they are not only one with the people, but even exceed them. They live on public charity, and have assumed the Indian ascetic garb. In earnestness and zeal, too, they excel. Their meetings, held every day in their barracks, are made very attractive by their singing, accompanied by the tambourine and other musical instruments, and they testify to the power of the Gospel by their own life and experience. This novel method of proclaiming religion attracts many, both Christians and non-Christians. Among Native Christians there are many sympathizers, who seem to think that the methods hitherto pursued of preaching the Gospel were not so effective as the one now referred to. Of course, this is an exaggerated view of a few admirers of the Army. As for my part, I feel that if this vast country were evangelized by any agency or method, however strange or novel, I should hail it with joy. If we all were to live Christ, as well as preach Christ, more than we do, it could not fail to accomplish the noble object which we all have so much at heart.

Attitude of Hindus.

The attitude of the Hindus in this city and Presidency, both educated and uneducated, is one of organized opposition. They are now trying to open a Hindu Theological College, towards which a sum of about Rs. 35,000 seems to have already been raised. One rich merchant alone is said to have given Rs. 20,000; but whether all this money has been paid, or merely promised, I am not in a position to state. Some of them are going about delivering lectures on Hinduism. Others, again, preach against Christianity in this and other towns to large and sympathetic audiences. Dewan Bahadur Ragoonatha Rao, the ex-Dewan of Baroda, who sets himself up as an Indian reformer, constantly writes to the papers, with the view of showing the equality, if not the superiority, of Aryanism to Christianity. And this again elicits able replies or refutations from the members of the missionary body. There is thus a fierce struggle between light and darkness, and Christ and Belial, but, as humble believers, we know which shall have the victory at last. In any case, the state of religious thought here is very interesting at present. It would appear that Hinduism, being at its last gasp, is putting forth all the energy it can to spread itself; but let us pray that it may all redound to the triumph of the Gospel and the glory of the Redeemer.

In the Southern Pastorate, and Palaveram District, of which Mr. Satthianádhan reports, in addition to the two Native clergymen, there are forty-six Native Christian lay teachers, and ten voluntary unpaid agents. Of the 1203 baptized Christians, 596 are communicants. Fifteen adults were baptized during the year. 1275 children, of whom only 265 are girls, are under instruction in twenty schools. The Native congregation worshipping at Zion Church sent a thankoffering of Rs. 32 to the Society after the special Winter Mission of last year. Many members of the congregation were greatly stirred up. One, who has since been suddenly, and in the prime of life, taken to his rest, who occupied a high social position as the Health Officer of the Madras Municipality, an M.A. and M.D. of the Madras University, inaugurated a Medical Students'

A thankoffering to the C.M.S.

Prayer Union, the weekly meetings of which have been largely attended. Mr. Satthianádhan says:—

Death of a leading Native Christian.

He was the third of the four sons of Mr. Nallatambi, a catechist of our Mission for upwards of forty years, and now a Jones Fund evangelist in Madras. His funeral was attended by all classes of people. It was a very solemn occasion indeed. Before the body was removed to its last resting-place it was brought to Zion Church, and a part of the Funeral Service was read before a large congregation, who were all in tears. His death was a great loss, not only to his own family, but also to our Church, and the whole Native Christian community, of which he was a very prominent member.

OOTACAMUND.

The Rev. J. Gabb has been appointed by the Madras Corresponding Committee to this station. The former pastor is temporarily engaged in the Travancore Mission.

II. TELUGU MISSION.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin Browne went to Australia on furlough in December. Mrs. Browne had a dangerous illness in October, but has quite recovered in the salubrious climate of Melbourne. The Revs. J. E. Padfield and J. Harrison have returned to the Mission.

MASULIPATAM.

The Noble High School has continued under the charge of the Rev. C. W. A. Clarke, with the Rev. H. J. Tanner as the Rugby Fox Master; the Training Institution is conducted by the Rev. E. T. Pegg; and the District has been superintended by the Rev. J. Stone. The Committee are thankful that Mr. Stone has been relieved of the charge of the District by the return of the Rev. J. E. Padfield, who has been assigned to this work, and will be assisted therein by the Rev. M. N. S. Atkinson. Mr. Atkinson was married to Miss Ainslie, of the C.E.Z.M.S., in November. The Revs. T. Ephraim, M. David, and A. Sabbarayudu are Native pastors labouring under the Masulipatam District Church Council.

Noble High School.

Mr. Clarke's report of the Noble High School is dated June, 1888. Looking back over his first eighteen months of experience as an educational missionary, he says:—

Coming out here to educational missionary work from a densely populated city parish in England, I have found the work and the opportunities all that I desire or expected, but that the trials of the life while physically far lighter than I anticipated, are far greater spiritually. The lack of any answering sympathy amongst the people whom you teach, the loss of many of the Christian privileges to which you are accustomed, the absence of the friends who were wont to cheer you on,—these things weigh heavily on the heart of a new missionary, and these things must be reckoned on and prepared for by those who hear the Lord's voice calling them to labour in the foreign field.

The great drawback to my work I feel to be the pressure of the teaching, &c., which really exhausts all one's energies, and it is very hard indeed to find time for lectures and for personal contact with officials and past and present boys. Nevertheless, I believe that no missionary in the world can have finer opportunities for influencing and moulding the educated classes of a country than the educational missionary in India.

The examination results of 1887 were good. Five F.A.'s were passed from the College department, two of whom obtained good places in the first class. And in the matriculation examination of the Madras University two of the only three first classes gained by the candidates of the Kistna District were obtained by Noble High School boys, the third being won by a boy from the Bezwada Mission High School. The highest place among these was secured by a Christian boy, John Robert Kalyanaraman, son of a Native agent of the Society at Raghavapuram. This boy stood forty-eighth in the entire list of 6500 candidates who appeared for the examination.

Examination successes.

The Poole Memorial Hall has proved a great boon to the Mission, being so easily accessible for the Native gentry. Mr. Clarke has held in it a weekly class for the College F.A. students, the subject being "The Argument from Prophecy."

BEZWADA AND ELLORE.

The Rev. F. W. N. Alexander has had charge of both these districts, but the Rev. J. Harrison, not accompanied by Mrs. Harrison, has now returned to Bezwada, his old station. The Rev. L. W. Jackson is residing for the present at Ellore for further study of the language. During the absence on furlough of Mr. Browne, Mr. Tabor Davies, brother-in-law of the Rev. J. Cain, has been appointed Acting Principal of the Ellore High School. Mr. Davies is mainly supported by the fund raised in Australia in behalf of the South India Mission, which is administered by the Madras Corresponding Committee. Miss A. H. Alexander, Mr. Alexander's third daughter, and Miss Digby, an Australian lady working in Ellore, have passed the final examination in the Telugu language. The former has charge of the caste schools, and the latter works in the Hindu bazaars. The Rev. S. Vores is the Native pastor of Polsanipalli, a district under the Ellore Native Church Council, containing thirty-six congregations, but he has been absent from his charge for several months, owing to ill-health. The Rev. K. Peter, who has been temporarily engaged in the Bezwada district, has returned to Ellore; and the Rev. G. Krishnayya assists at the Ellore High School.

Inadequate forces in Ellore district.

In the ELLORE district Mr. Alexander has had many trials arising from the backsliding of Christians, and from his sense of the inadequacy of the Native labourers under his supervision to care for the numerous and scattered converts, and to respond to the invitations and improve the opportunities for making Christ known to the heathen around. Marriages with the heathen have been a chief cause of falling to many of the Christians, but devil-dancing has seduced some to the pleasures of sin. From the want of Native pastors much difficulty is experienced in giving the much-needed instruction to the congregations, which accounts for the low proportion of communicants to the whole number of baptized Christians, viz. 272 out of 1697. Mr. Alexander's enumeration of the sub-divisions of the district speaks for itself:—

> In the Ellore sub-division the statistics are as follows:—Ellore circle, 14 congregations, 584 people; Peddapad, 6 congregations, 245 people; Chirivada, 4 congregations, 254 people: total, 24 congregations, 1083 people. Besides these, the superintending missionary has under his own immediate charge the Chintalapudi circle, thirty miles north, 6 congregations, with 120 people, and the Potaveram itinerancy, thirty miles east; besides occasional visits to the Polsanipalli sub-division, containing 36 congregations and 1210 people.

Baptisms.

There were thirty-one adult baptisms during the year, and 105 of children; while at the close of the year 613 were under instruction for baptism. Nevertheless there is a fall of ninety-six in the total number of adherents returned. This arises, Mr. Alexander explains, in consequence of an agreement by the district missionaries not to include the children of catechumens in the returns, except when they are themselves under instruction. This makes a difference of 283 in this district.

Women's work.

Women's work is vigorously carried on over an ever-increasing field. Mr. Alexander says:—

> Not so long ago, Mrs. Alexander was alone in the work; now there is Miss Digby for the Hindu zenanas, a lady for the Mohammedan zenanas and schools, and my own two daughters and an Eurasian lady are at work. Besides that, five former pupils and the former head-mistress of the Girls' Boarding-school are engaged in teaching Hindu caste and Mohammedan women. It is really wonderful how prejudice is dying away, and how classes before closed to the Gospel are now permitting its entrance, even into the family circle.

Sunday schools.

In Ellore there are four Sunday schools—one Mohammedan, with twenty girls, two caste Hindu with eighty girls, and one Christian with 120 pupils, attending every Lord's Day. Daily I see Hindu caste girls coming to our house in numbers, to see and speak with our ladies. Our Bible-woman has the entry of several houses, where she goes to teach the Bible and nothing else. Miss Digby and Mrs. Chapman are doing the same. What more can be done? and is it to be all in vain? We are surely preparing the ground for large success in the future.

RAGHAVAPURAM AND KUMMAMETT.

The Rev. H. Eales has laboured at the former, and the Rev. J. B. Panes at the latter station, but no Annual Letter has been received from either. The Rev. J. Stone, it is proposed, will take up his temporary residence at Kummamett, where he will carry on the Preparandi-class for the Mission, which at present numbers five students. The Rev. D. Anantham, who was recently ordained, has commenced, under Mr. Stone's directions, itinerating, and has been encouraged amongst the Sudra population.

DUMMAGUDEM.

The fellow-labourers whose advent cheered the Rev. J. Cain in 1887, viz., the Rev. L. W. Jackson and Mr. Tabor Davies, have been removed from this station to Ellore before they could render effective help in the vernacular, and he is again left with only one ordained co-worker in this wide district, the Rev. J. V. Razu. Much care has been exercised regarding the admission of candidates for baptism, and some who were apparently hopeful cases have been deferred. The number of adults received has, notwithstanding, been thirty-four. One young girl at Melakamberu, whose elder brother was already a Christian, but the rest of her family still heathens, concerning whom it was debated whether she should be accepted, settled the matter by her clear and decided answers. When asked, "How is it that you are so desirous of becoming a Christian, when your father and mother have no longer any such desire?" she exclaimed, "I do not know, except that I do love God so."

"I do love God so."

In the Malkanagiri Taluq there are now more than ninety Christians. M. Gnanasigamani Pillai, the Tamil Evangelist, from Tinnevelly, labours in this taluq, and Mr. Cain says of him, and of other members of his family :—

A Tamil Evangelist among the Kois.

He has thoroughly proved himself a most faithful workman, and he is building up the Christians in a wise, thorough manner. We are highly honoured in having such good people as him, his family, and his younger brother, M. Mullusvami Pillai, spared us from the Tinnevelly Church.

From this district and from Rampa several have recently unexpectedly appeared at Dummagudem, desiring to be baptized. Mr. Cain, writing in January last, says:—

"A work of the Holy Spirit."

A nine-days' journey to be baptized.

Last year, when travelling in the Malkanagiri Taluq, a young man came to see us, and interested us much by the way he sang a Christian hymn, and told us all he had learned of the life of Christ. As he was alone in the village, and far away from other Christians, I gave him a few of the Christian tracts prepared for this district, and we saw nothing of him again until ten days ago, when he came in here for baptism. In the meantime he had been to Pode, and there read carefully the tracts given him in company with another inquirer; and he had studied them so well that when I handed him over to a committee of four for examination, they pronounced it to be most decidedly a work of the Holy Spirit. Last year (1888) we were unable to visit Rampa, and we were fearing that we should not be able to go there this year, when lo! we were startled and cheered by the four Christians coming here soon after Christmas Day, bringing friends with them, three of whom (with two infants) were to be baptized, and two of them married. P. Baleshudu had well instructed them, and there was no difficulty felt in baptizing them at so short a notice. They had been nine days on their journey, a very fair test of the strength of their desires. Thus, now there are eight adult Christians in Rampa, all alone, with no schoolmaster in their midst, visited once a year by Christian evangelists, put out of caste by their old friends, and yet kept so steadfast, by the grace of God, that others are inquiring about this "new way." Being traders, and continually travelling about, they carry the Gospel message with them.

The Schools have given encouragement. Mr. Cain says:—

Influence of a young lad.

I ought to record the great joy it has been to us to mark the high tone of many of the boys and girls who have gone out from our boarding-schools, and the clear testimony many of them are bearing to the Gospel being "the power of God unto salvation unto every one that believeth." The high tone of the boys' boarding-school is partly due to the remarkable influence of a young lad from the Malkanagiri Taluq; he was one of the first baptized there, and afterwards came in here to study for three years, and is now the schoolmaster at our outpost, Chitrakonda. His deep spiritual tone and earnest zeal impressed all here as something most wonderful, and we feel most thankful that such a one is in that isolated, yet most important, congregation.

Two small Koi schools have been started near Motu, just below the junction of the Sabari and Sileru, and A. Bharadvazulu, the Sudra convert of 1887, has gone to take charge and to instruct the Christians near, as we hope that it will be the centre of new work, more especially as there are some interesting caste inquirers there.

III. TINNEVELLY.

The Mission is divided into ten districts, each with a Church Council, viz. 1, Palamcotta; 2, Dohnavúr; 3, Suviséshapuram; 4, Mengnánapuram; 5, Paneivilei; 6, Pannikulam; 7, Nallúr; 8, Surandei; 9, Vageikulam; 10, Strivilliputtur; the last two being in North Tinnevelly.

Bishop Sargent.

AFTER less than five months spent quietly in this country, Bishop Sargent returned in October. The Committee had twice the great pleasure of hearing him at Salisbury Square relate, after fifty-two years spent in connexion with the Society, what joy and happiness a missionary's life has been to him; and many friends shared with them the privilege of hearing his loving words at the Valedictory Dismissal Meeting in St. James's Hall a week before he set sail, to end his days, as he said, among his own people in Tinnevelly. His return to Palamcottah was touchingly described by the Rev. T. Kember, who, with three other missionary brethren, had met the Bishop at Maniachi Junction, en route from Madras :—

Welcomed back to Palamcottah.

> Eventually we reached Tinnevelly station, where an immense crowd of Native Christians, including some twenty or more Native pastors, had been waiting more than four hours to greet him. The approaches to the Mission compound were gaily decorated with flags, &c., and two large arches or pandals had been erected, on which were attached the mottoes, "God bless our Bishop," "Welcome," &c., &c. Catechists, Native clergy, school-masters, school-children, students, and hundreds of people lined the road-sides, up to the porch of the bungalow. Entering by the eastern gate, the procession halted at the church vestry door. There the Bishop alighted, and, entering the church, took a seat within the communion-rails, where all could see and hear him.
>
> The church was densely packed with hundreds of people, representing all classes of the Christian community, anxious to get a glimpse of our "beloved Bishop." The solemn silence that prevailed was broken by the Bishop's well-known voice uttering words of heartfelt thanksgiving, and earnest petitions for grace, mercy, and peace to be showered upon all present, and upon every member of the Tinnevelly Church. Next, the Native pastor of Palamcottah offered prayer, which was followed by the whole congregation repeating the Lord's Prayer. The blessing pronounced by the Bishop, and the singing of the Doxology by all present, ended the short thanksgiving service.

"No better."

He wished Mr. Kember to inform the Committee that he was "no better" in health. He was able, however, in the course of December and January, to make three tedious and laborious journeys, and to hold meetings of all the eight Church Councils in South Tinnevelly. In one of these tours he was absent nine days from home.

Ordinations.

On December 23rd Bishop Sargent held an Ordination at Palamcottah, at which, Mr. Kember has stated, sixteen candidates were ordained. The Committee have not received particulars, but the following appear to have been admitted to Deacon's Orders:—P. Gnana Jya Simeon, B.A., David M. Pakianadhan, S. A. Daniel, G. Swamiadian, S. Horshington, A. Nullathamby, A. Daniel, Samuel Stephen, Savarimuttu Pillay, and J. Asirvadham.

Death of a Native pastor.

The Rev. Devasagayam Gnanamuthu, who retired from active labour in 1886, died in March last year, at the ripe age of seventy-two. He was baptized in 1833 at Palamcottah by the Rev. T. E. Rhenius, and was ordained deacon by Bishop Spencer in 1847. He laboured at Madras for nine years, and thirty in Tinnevelly. More than a thousand people attended his funeral at Palamcottah. The Madras C.M. Record says of him:—

> Mr. Gnanamuthu was a well-informed man, and knew English, Greek, and Latin, and also something of Hebrew and Telugu. He was a good Tamil scholar, and had a fair knowledge of logic, mathematics, &c., and was the author of an original work called "God's Portion," in Tamil, in which he sets forth the duty of every Christian to give to God and to support his ministers. He was of a cheerful and affectionate nature, and by his patience and prayerfulness, and his boldness and independence, he won the admiration of many men, both Christian and non-Christian. He bore a very high Christian character, as appears from the testimony of Bishop Sargent, who says, "I can bear witness to his truthfulness and unblemished conduct. I consider him incapable of uttering anything that is false. I say this with all confidence, after the many years' experience I have had of his character."

The Rev. E. S. Carr had a serious illness at the end of last year, soon after passing a successful preliminary examination in the language. He was ordered home for a few months upon attaining convalescence.

The Revs. T. Kember and V. W. Harcourt are in charge of the Training Institution and the Sarah Tucker Female Institution respectively, at Palamcottah; and Mr. E. Keyworth conducts the Palamcottah High School. The Rev. H. J. Schaffter, assisted by Mr. R. F. Ardell, superintends the Tinnevelly College; the Rev. T. Walker is Itinerant missionary; the Rev. A. K. Finnimore has the North Tinnevelly district; and Mrs. Thomas continues her labours at the ~~Sarah~~ Tuxford School, Mengnanapuram. Sixty-one Native pastors labour in connexion with the nine Native Church Councils.

Mr. Walker expresses thankfulness that at the end of his third year in Tinnevelly he was, so far as he could judge, as strong and healthful as he had been in England. Of the work of The Itinerancy he says :—

The Itinerancy.

I have had cause to be thankful for the love and work of my Native fellow-labourers. We have been invariably encouraged, too, by the ready assistance of the local pastors and catechists in our journeys through the district. We have sought to "sow beside all waters." In towns and in villages, in streets and in schoolrooms, amongst heathen and amongst Christians—we have sought to be "witnesses" for the Master. Our methods have been open-air preaching, in-door services, musical bajanies, English lectures for educated Hindus, &c., &c. Many have heard the Word. "Who hath believed our report?" In some cases we have been encouraged to hope that our "labour is not in vain in the Lord." But we sow, and look to God to give the increase. A wave of opposition to the Gospel is at present passing over South India, and we need the prayers of all friends of the work that God may cause this hostile movement to conduce to "the furtherance of the Gospel of Christ."

He spent about ten weeks itinerating in North Tinnevelly, and says, "The mass of the people there give ready ear to the Gospel message, but they seem strangely indifferent to its claims upon their hearts and consciences."

Mr. Walker expresses a strongly favourable opinion on educational work as an evangelistic agency :—

Views of an Evangelistic missionary on Educational Missions.

Again and again, in the work of itineration, I have found my way prepared and my work made easy by the presence of those who, though still heathen, were once pupils in Mission schools. It is no small encouragement, on going to a large heathen town, to be accosted by those who, as the result of Mission educational work, know at least something of the Bible, and are prepared to listen to the claims of the Gospel. Such men are not converts, in some cases they may even be secret opponents, but at least they form a link of contact for the missionary with the higher classes of Hindus, and a means of access for the evangelist to the society which ordinary street-preaching cannot reach. Moreover, there is little doubt that educational work, conducted on proper lines, is itself a most direct means of evangelizing the higher castes. My experience in one large town, where the higher educational work has been imprudently allowed to slip into heathen hands, shows me plainly that, if the Missionary Society were to abandon all its work of education, we should soon find whole communities of high-caste Hindus to whom the evangelistic missionary would find no means of access. I speak, of course, humanly, of probable effects. Only give the Bible its proper place in our colleges, only let the souls of the Hindu youth be yearned over and prayed over by the educational missionary, and we may expect great results. As I write I have just returned from our C.M.S. Tinnevelly College. There, through Mr. Schaffter's kindness, I have had opportunities for speaking as plainly to the students as ever I spoke from a Christian pulpit. What other platform than that of a Mission College would furnish the opportunity for speaking so freely to that class of Hindu youth? I would, therefore, plead, not as an educational missionary, but as an evangelistic one, that we may have not less but more educational work, on Gospel lines, among the higher castes. I believe it is the most effectual way, under present conditions, of reaching them.

He also expresses his conviction that the Special Mission marked an epoch in the history of the Native Church. But he fears that Tinnevelly is not remembered by praying friends, as at one time it doubtless was; and he pleads earnestly for a larger share in the supplications of God's people. He says:—

A plea for prayer.

Other and newer fields of labour engross the attention of friends of missionary work, and we are lost to memory and to prayer behind the more pressing and romantic interests of newer enterprises. My own impression is that this neglect, if I may call it so, is telling seriously upon our work. If you would preserve us from stagnation, if you would see this Native Church a living and expanding Church, if you would see the blessing of God rest on our evangelistic work, "Brethren, pray for us." Though we would not say, "Go not to glean in another field," yet it is right to remind you of the words of our spiritual Boaz, "Thou shalt stand fast by my young men, until they have ended all my harvest." Who will dare to say that all the harvest is ended in Tinnevelly yet?

Mr. Carr wrote his first Annual Letter at the end of November, just before his illness began. One paragraph, stating an impression made upon his mind by his first year's contact with heathenism, and another, which he adds as a postscript to his letter, may be quoted:—

One thing one notices very much as a "freshman,"—that is the unconscious influence which Christianity has over a nation. Go to the most depraved wretch you can find in England, and he has probably got a conscience, if only one can get at it. But here the result of heathenism seems to be to destroy men's consciences. They never feel sin, as such. They are only sorry for themselves when the consequences of their sins come upon them. Let no one think that the heathen-hardened sinner is more easy of access or more easily won for Christ than the Gospel-hardened one. If a man cannot win souls at home, let him not imagine it a certainty that he will do so if he goes abroad into the heathen world.

Heathenism destroys men's consciences.

One word about the present correspondence on the subject of "Expensive Missionaries." Do friends think that when one has counted all home ties loss for Christ, one would stick at living in a mud hut for Him, or anything which the Society thought best for the work in that way? I trust you have very many men who are willing for anything, if it will advance the cause of Christ permanently.

"Expensive Missionaries."

No report of the Training Institution has been received from Mr. Kember. In August last there were ten students preparing for ordination, sixteen in the Theological Class under preparation for the work of evangelists, &c., and twenty-five in the Normal Class, being trained to be schoolmasters.

The Sarah Tucker Institution continues to be popular, and it obtains an excellent Government report. The study of English, which has not long been introduced, proves to have a marked effect in quickening the intelligence of the students, and also in helping their Tamil studies. The forty-two branch schools, including two boarding-schools, are doing well, notwithstanding an appreciable advance in the scale of fees. Mr. Harcourt writes :—

A thousand caste girls.

The opportunities are grand for bringing the Gospel into the inmost circles of Hindu homes through these girl scholars, nearly a thousand in number. They are all caste girls, with a good sprinkling of Brahmins, the pet lambs of the flock, who may draw their parents to the Good Shepherd.

Palamcottah High School.

The Palamcottah High School has 119 Christian boys, and only eight non-Christians. All the Native teachers are Christians. In secular knowledge good success has crowned the year's labours, thirteen having passed the Middle School Examination, out of sixteen presented. But the success in the Bible teaching, as shown by the results of the Peter Cator examination in Biblical knowledge, is incomparably more gratifying. Of this Mr. Keyworth says :—

Bible knowledge.

For the lower grade, in November, 1887, the Cator Examination was attended by scholars as usual from the whole Presidency. Nineteen schools were successful in passing one or more pupils, including twenty-eight English and Eurasian girls and boys from six institutions. Our candidates were all Tamil students, to whom English is a foreign tongue. The whole number of successful candidates was seventy-nine. This school sent up fifteen youths, of whom thirteen passed. Of these thirteen, six received money prizes out of fifteen such rewards. Of these six prizemen, one was at the top, and another was third on the list. The aggregate value of all prizes offered in this year was Rs. 360. Of this sum our boys received Rs. 145, obtaining thus 40 per cent. of the rewards in number and value for Biblical knowledge. For these marvellous results we offer sincere thanks to God, and give Him the glory, praying that this knowledge may sink deeply into their hearts, and that they, as wise men of the East, may all seek and find Jesus.

No account of the year's work at the Tinnevelly College has been received from Mr. Schaffter, but an interesting first Annual Letter has come from Mr. Ardell. He gives the following encouraging instances of the Divine blessing on the work.

About a month ago, a boy, studying for the Middle School Examination, was stricken down by fever. After two or three days, it was seen that there was little hope of recovery, and so his parents, unwilling to deny his wishes, sent, at his own request, for one of the Christian masters of the College. When the master came, the boy took his hand, and said, "Jesus Christ is my great Teacher; He is my Saviour!" His parents, hearing this, began to perform the rites for the dying; but the boy said, "It's no use. Don't you know I'm going to Jesus? He died for me, and I'm going to heaven to be with Him." Soon after he began to rave, and kept constantly calling out, "I'm going to Jesus!" And thus died confessing Christ. All the students appeared to be much moved by the manner of his death, and asked us earnestly, "Did he go to heaven?"

A dying boy.

"Did he go to heaven?"

There are now attending the College two high-caste youths, who, if God be willing, intend to be baptized soon. Both seem very earnest, and have already suffered much persecution from their friends. One has been forced to marry in order to prevent him from becoming a Christian: but he says that not only will he become a Christian himself, but, God helping him, he will also strive to bring his wife with him; and to that intent he is now teaching her to read the Bible. His father threatened to send him to the Hindu College, but the boy told him that would not change his heart. The other, who attends divine service every Sabbath, was lately shut up by his friends in order to force him to give up Christ; but their efforts were of no avail, for he said he would rather die than deny the Saviour. He attends divine service now as usual, and hopes (D.V.) soon to be able to confess Christ in baptism.

High-caste youths intent on confessing Christ.

One of the Christian masters has formed a class of heathen boys, who meet every Sunday to read the Bible.

Mr. Finnimore was laid aside by illness for several months of the year. His report of the North Tinnevelly District is on the whole encouraging, though he refers to some matters which are the reverse of satisfactory. There has been an annual decrease for the past few years in the contributions of the congregations. In 1885 the amount collected towards the Church Council Fund was Rs. 1825, while last year it was only Rs. 1370. An indisposition to engage in manual labour, and an ambition, which Mr. Finnimore says is general among the Christian youths, to become schoolmasters, is also an evil which needs wise and patient correction. On the other hand, Mr. Finnimore observes good fruit of the frequent gatherings for prayer and devotional study of God's Word which he has promoted among the agents and people at Sacheapuram and neighbourhood. He remarks a more zealous application to duty, and more of mutual love and confidence. The various schools, primary, Anglo-vernacular, boys' and girls' boarding-schools, forty-eight in number altogether, with 1397 pupils, have done well. The girls' boarding-school in particular, which is the special care of Mrs. Finnimore, showed remarkable results, every girl in the school passing the standard for which she was presented, and 75 per cent.

North Tinnevelly.

gained merit grants. "The whole tone and bearing of the girls have undergone a great change for the better." There were 120 adults baptized. One of them, whom Mr. Finnimore baptized himself, was a man who, years ago, had made a profession of discipleship, but had refused baptism, and subsequently had lapsed into carelessness. On his death-bed, however, he sent his wife in alarm to Mr. Finnimore, who was visiting his village, Mothalipatti. Mr. Finnimore says :—

A dying man's anxiety to be baptized.

The poor woman was very distressed, so I went at once to her house with her, and found that her husband was indeed exceedingly ill, apparently dying. As soon as he saw me he began, to my astonishment, to repeat long portions of Scripture. He said the whole of the fiftieth Psalm, and several other passages. When he had ended, he besought me to baptize him, saying that he had been a great sinner but was truly penitent. He seemed so much in earnest, and so very ill, that after I had satisfied myself, by questioning him, that he understood the request he had made and was sufficiently instructed, I baptized him. His wife was greatly distressed because, after praying with them, I left without baptizing her and the children on the spot. I explained to her that as she and the others were well they must wait to be examined and baptized by the pastor in due course.

At Virudupatti Mr. Finnimore met with some Hindu preachers :—

After preaching, one evening, in a street, to a quiet and attentive crowd, we moved on to a large open space near the centre of the place, and here I saw what appeared to be a pair of preachers distributing tracts. I therefore crossed over to them, that I might hear what they had to say. The leader approached and offered a tract, which I took, inquiring if he were a teacher of Christianity. "No," he replied; "I am a preacher of Hinduism." A crowd then began to collect, so I called aloud, "I am glad to have met these preachers of Hinduism. Let them state their case, and we will state ours, and I call upon you, O wise audience, to decide for yourselves." The Hindu preacher then read portions of Scripture from a big Bible, which was carried by an attendant, and then proceeded to refute them. Among other objections, he argued that it is stated that God wrote the law on the tables of stone with His finger. "Now," he said, "a finger implies an arm, and an arm implies a body; so that the God of the Christians has shape and form. Besides, they say that God made man in His own image, after His own likeness: this also proves that God has a visible form. Yet they say also that God is a spirit and is invisible. This is a manifest contradiction, and proves that their religion is false." I replied by suggesting to them that though we speak of the "finger of scorn," no one would therefore argue that scorn was visible and had form and shape, and then explained to them that man was created morally as an image of God, not physically, &c. Perhaps my arguments were not fully understood, but the man looked confused, and the crowd laughed, and I think we had the best of the encounter.

TRAVANCORE AND COCHIN MISSION.

Resignation of Bishop Speechly.

By the resignation of Bishop Speechly, which took effect in January last, this Mission has lost a much-esteemed and trusted guide and friend. The nine years of his episcopate have been characterized on his part by the wise and sound principles he has sought, and successfully sought, to impress on the Native pastors and the Native Church Councils, and the high spiritual tone he has fostered in all departments of the work; and on the part of the Mission by quiet but healthy progress.

The Rev. E. N. Hodges, Bishop Designate.

The Archbishop of Canterbury has selected, from two whose names the Committee submitted to him, the Rev. Edward Noel Hodges, M.A., of the Ceylon Mission, Principal of Trinity College, Kandy, to succeed Bishop Speechly. After graduating at Queen's College, Oxford, in 1873, Mr. Hodges was tutor at the C.M.S. College, Islington, and in 1877 went out with the Rev. A. W. Poole, his College friend, to the Noble High School, Masulipatam, of which Mr. Hodges became the Principal, and Mr. Poole the Rugby-Fox master. The latter was appointed the first Bishop of the Church of England in Japan in 1883, and his companion is now called to the spiritual superintendence of Travancore and Cochin.

The Committee's acceptance of Mr. Jacob Thompson, B.A., of Corpus Christi College, Cambridge, for the Cambridge Nicholson Institution, was mentioned in last year's Report. Mr. Thompson was ordained deacon at Manchester by the Bishop of Manchester, acting under a commission from the Bishop of London, on September 23rd, and sailed in November.

COTTAYAM.

The staff at Cottayam last year remained unchanged, except for the advent of the Rev. J. Thompson. Archdeacon John Caley, and the Revs. Clement A. Neve and Cuthbert E. R. Romilly were stationed in the town. The last named was diligently occupied at the language, but gave one hour each day to the Divinity Class students of the Cambridge Nicholson Institution. The year ended with twenty-seven students at this Institution, which is almost the full complement of men for whom accommodation is provided. Archdeacon Caley says the conduct of the students was very satisfactory.

Cottayam College.

At the Cottayam College Mr. Neve reports 364 scholars, of whom fifty-five are boarders. One hundred and eighty-four are Syrians, 122 Protestants, 10 Roman Catholics, and 48 Hindus. The College Association continues its good work. Some of the masters in their leisure time visit from house to house, distribute tracts, and preach to Hindu audiences; and the Sunday-schools for Hindu children, which have been referred to in former Reports, are still carried on by the members. A Native Christian, a former student, has started a fund for supplying Christian teachers and Christian books for Hindu schools on a somewhat similar system to the one adopted by the College Association for Sunday-schools. The same gentleman has given a sum of money to found a scholarship in connexion with the College.

Of the various engagements extraneous to the College work which Mr. Neve fulfils, as Chairman of the Press Committee, Secretary of the Madras Auxiliary Bible Society, &c., he mentions especially an effort on behalf of the beggars of the town:—

Preaching to beggars.

> This year we have availed ourselves of a door of usefulness which I think we should not despise, although it is amongst the poorest and most afflicted of those who, nevertheless, are made in the "image of God." I mean the giving every Saturday morning of rice to beggars. Together with the relief of their bodily wants we endeavour to present before them the story of God's love to man in Christ. The inducement of the rice is enough to gather together good audiences, generally sixty or seventy, and some of them appear often to listen with real interest to what is said.

Mrs. Neve superintends three primary Girls' schools, with about 100 children. In the higher classes the Gospels, the Peep of Day, &c., form the chief text-books.

Alwaye Itinerancy.

The district of the Alwaye Itinerancy lies to the north of Travancore, but the work is under the superintendence of Archdeacon Caley, who mentioned in one letter that his travelling averages from 100 to 150 miles a month. The only congregation is at Katampakal, and numbers 144; an increase of forty during the past year, notwithstanding the most strenuous hostility of the Roman Catholics and Syrians. Of this opposition the Archdeacon wrote in January last:—

> From the time we commenced (about five years ago) to the middle of 1888 there has been a constant stream of persecution. The most determined efforts have been made to break up the congregation, the last one being the destruction by fire of our school and sixteen houses of the people. This was the end, I verily believe. It placed the oppressors in a position so difficult that they are not likely to run the risk of being in a similar one again. At times I have almost felt sick with struggling on against such a tide of opposition; but still, the needful strength and resolution were given until the storm was spent. And, now that it is over, I feel that the whole of Psalm cxxiv. is so appropriate that scarcely an expression need be altered to describe what we feel. On Sunday last nine men, fourteen women, and sixteen children were baptized. Others will (D.V.) be baptized during the year.

The Rev. Poten Joseph is the pastor of this congregation, while the Rev. A. E. David, assisted by several lay evangelists, conducts the itinerating work. He resides at Kandanad, but is about to remove to Kootatookoolam; the two other centres being Alwaye, the original headquarters of the district, and Vycome. Trippoonittura, the residence of the royal family of Cochin, has until lately been closed against evangelistic work, but full freedom is enjoyed there now, and Mr. David sends an interesting account of interviews between evangelists and two of the princes:—

Evangelist preaching before Native princes.

On August 22nd, while one of the evangelists and a Bible colporteur were preaching near the fort, the crowd raised a deafening hubbub, which reached the nearest palace where the third and fourth princes are living. They at once sent a Brahmin to call our men. The Hindus thought that they were called to be punished. Our men went to the princes; about forty Brahmins were also present. The elder prince asked them to preach. They read Proverbs xx 9, "Who can say I have made my heart clean, I am pure from my sin?" and preached for more than twenty minutes. When this was ended the elder prince asked them many important and intelligent questions. The colporteur then presented the prince with a Malayalam New Testament, which he received very kindly, and promised to read it. After a month I sent two evangelists and the same colporteur to know whether they were reading the book, and to lend them a copy of the Christian Evidence Society's Lectures. The younger was absent: the elder received them very kindly, and accepted the book and told them that he had read half of the Testament and found it a very nice book, containing the finest morals, and promised to read it carefully. He then asked them whether we preachers meet with any opposition from the people. When they answered in the affirmative, he told them, "It is no wonder you meet opposition from the people, when Jesus Christ, the founder of religion, suffered a great many things and even death, from the Jews." Then they told him our Lord's words to His disciples (John xv. 20).

In the statistics of the Pastorates connected with the Cottayam and Mavelikára Native Church Councils there is an aggregate increase of 300 adherents. The returns show that the increase has been wholly in the Southern Council, and that the northern one has less than it had in 1887 by 222. Archdeacon Caley thinks the difference may be in part accounted for by the migration of members. He believes there is "substantial progress, taking all in all." The Winter Mission of 1887 has been felt to be a general stimulus to more earnest spiritual work, and Special Missions have been conducted locally in several of the pastorates.

Three of the Native pastors, all connected with the Mavelikára Council, have sent Annual Letters. The Rev. M. C. Thoma, of Elantur, gives an interesting report of his schools, Sunday-schools, women's meeting, Young Men's Christian Association, and evangelistic work. The Anglo-Vernacular school, one of five day-schools in his pastorate, has risen to a strength exceeding that of any previous year. A Sunday-school is carried on in each of the elementary schools, and an examination of the children, conducted before their parents, is thus described:—

Sunday-school examination.

To give them an encouragement, I convened them here on last Christmas Day. They numbered about a hundred. After the service was over they were led to the adjoining school. To create an interest in the grown-up people, I had invited them also to witness the examination. The children stood in rows in the middle of the school. The fathers were seated on the school wall behind, while the mothers were standing on one side. There was not a single child who could not say a collect or repeat a verse. Indeed, it was a pleasant sight to see children of four or five years of age lisping one after another beautiful texts from the Scriptures. The faces of the parents appeared to beam with joy at the thought that their little sons and daughters have been able to learn so much. Then came the distribution of the sweetmeats and plantains, which some of the parents had the goodness to supply me with. Then, after singing two or three lyrics suited to the occasion, all dispersed, delighted at what they had seen and heard.

Of the evangelistic work he says:—

The Brahmins willing to listen.

This is a very hopeful branch of the work. The catechist has free access to all the houses of the high-caste Hindus. Even the Brahmins have no objection to listen to the saving truths of the Gospel. The other day an interesting incident occurred. The catechist, in the course of his daily round, went to a Brahmin's house, and, after relating the plan of salvation, offered him a handbill as usual, which, upon his refusing to accept it, his wife persuaded him to take from the catechist and read it to her. Thus we see all barriers are being gradually removed before the influence of the Gospel message. But it is among the Chogans here that the work is more effectually carried on. There are few rich Chogan houses where the Gospel has not found its way. Not many miles from here some seven Choga families have formed themselves into a Bible-class. They have made it a principle not to work on Sundays, and to read the Bible regularly. They have finished Genesis, and have begun Exodus and St. Luke's Gospel, at which they are helped by the members of the Young Men's Christian Association. They had their trials too. Most of them were attacked with jungle fever, which raged among them for weeks and months together. One member was even carried off. Their neighbours tried to shake them off from their new principles, telling them that all those troubles came upon them through reading the Bible of the Christians. They nobly stood this test. They sought and found comfort in the Word of God, especially the Psalms, which they would read when any worse symptoms appeared, and pray, kneeling by the sick bed. May God complete the work which is to all human appearance so hopefully carried on!

Hopeful attitude of the Chogas.

The Rev. T. K. Joseph, Pastor of Kodawalaniya, also gives a good account of evangelistic work. He says:—

The members of the Y.M.C.A. meet in the Parsonage every Thursday evening for united prayer and study of the Word of God, and on every Sunday afternoon several of them go, two by two, to the heathen of the surrounding villages with tracts, handbills, and Scripture portions. Their interest in the work, I am thankful to say, is on the increase. They are a great help to the William Charles Jones Fund reader. As an example of what they do, I may here mention the case of a blind Sudra young man in Kodukulangi. He is twenty-two years old. He became blind at the age of seven. About a month ago I met him at the house of a Christian, where I had the opportunity of testing his knowledge of the Bible. I was quite astonished and pleased to hear the blind man repeat by heart the Lord's Prayer, the Apostles' Creed, the General Confession, eight Psalms, some prayers from a tract—Prayers for Children. Besides these, he knows more than 100 different texts from the Old and New Testaments. It is not mere head knowledge; his whole manner shows that he is really in earnest. His repeated requests for baptism are, I believe, from sincere motives. When I told him that he would lose his support from his relatives if he openly confessed Christ, he repeated to me Matthew vi. 25: "Therefore I say unto you, Take no thought for your life, what ye shall eat, or what ye shall drink; nor yet for your body, what ye shall put on. Is not the life more than meat, and the body than raiment?"

A blind man's knowledge of the Bible.

Mr. Joseph has seven congregations in his pastorate, each with its own school. Four of these congregations consist of Pulayas, and he says they are much in advance of their heathen neighbours, who often express surprise to see and hear them read the New Testament and preach to them in their assemblies. The Kodukulangi congregation numbers eighty-eight families, who are divided into seven groups for monthly prayer-meetings.

Christian Pulayas a surprise to their heathen neighbours.

A very interesting work in the Mallapalli pastorate, a fruit of the Special Winter Mission, was related by Archdeacon Caley in a letter to the Rev. G. Karney in August. He wrote:—

You remember Tiruwella? You recollect how the church was crammed with its nearly 2000 eager listeners? One of those listeners named Samuel, a member of our congregation at Kunnam, in the Mallappally pastorate, was so stirred that he began of his own accord to work for Christ amongst the heathen in the surrounding places, and has already formed a new congregation at Waipoor, a place about five miles east of Mallappally. I went there on Thursday last to see what was done, and to try and aid the work. A rough kind of prayer-house was already put up, and there were thirty-three in it who had openly enrolled themselves as followers of Christ, and forty-five more outside who are about to do likewise. I found them in real earnest. The way they joined in the Lord's Prayer would have done credit, I believe, to your congregation. No one afraid of hearing his own voice, or of letting others hear it. It was as it ought always to be repeated.

A new congregation formed by a voluntary catechist.

The one who has aided Samuel is Chakko, whose child you baptized at Mallappally. He has two other congregations to look after, but he is able to go occasionally to Waipoor. I was rather afraid before I went that I might be asked to supply a teacher now that the congregation is formed, but I had made up my mind how I should meet the request. I was not, however, asked to incur a single farthing of expense in any form whatever. The work was commenced by an unpaid agent, and it will be carried on by such, with an occasional help from some other congregation. It is therefore the kind of fruit I most wish to see produced by the Winter Mission. We want Christians without pay and without prompting to go forth and tell what Christ has done for them, and what He can do for others, and by such means found congregations that can stand without having to be propped up with English money.

ALLEPIE AND TIRUWELLA.

The Rev. W. J. Richards continues in charge of these two stations. Mrs. Richards' state of health necessitated his bringing her to England in April, whence he returned in October, Archdeacon Caley taking charge of the districts during his absence. In the month of August Allepie was visited by an epidemic of cholera, which made serious ravages among the low-caste people. Mr. Richards says:—

The high-caste Hindus almost entirely escaped (cleanliness had its reward in that day). The low castes suffered severely, and were panic-stricken, and drank deeply. The Roman Catholics, too, died in large numbers. The Mohammedans lost 7 per cent. out of 7000 people. At the same rate we should have buried twenty-four of our town flock, but the number was only four, and, thank God, none of our out-stations suffered. Of course the innocent suffered for the guilty now and then. The shops were all shut at dusk; the busy beach was deserted, no boatmen to be had for love or money; and the whole place was reeking with the sanative fumes of sulphur and incense. The Alleppey reader, C. W. Matthai, stood to his post like a true shepherd, visiting our sick and burying the dead.

Mr. Richards reports upon the congregations (twenty-nine in number, with 3216 adherents), and schools—Anglo-Vernacular Boarding-school at Tiruwella, village day-schools, and some twenty schools for Pulayas. These last are now to receive grants-in-aid from the Government, through the influence of the kindly and enlightened Prime Minister of Travancore.

There have been few adult baptisms in the Tiruwella districts during the past two or three years, but Mr. Richards was expecting to admit many this year who have been under instruction. One, the dhoby, or washerman, of Tiruwella, who was lately baptized at the age of sixty, remarked that fourteen missionaries had spoken to him of Christ.

Spoken to about Christ by fourteen missionaries.

ARRIAN MISSION.

One part of this Mission, viz. the Melkavu pastorate, is connected with the Mavelikara Native Church Council, and the rest is under the charge of the Rev. A. F. Painter. The Archdeacon says of the MELKAVU pastorate and of the work of its pastor, the Rev. W. Kuruwella, and his encouragements :—

Apart from visiting out-stations, visiting the sick, and conducting prayer-meetings, the pastor, Mr. Kuruwella, has an early service in church on Friday mornings before the people go to work. On Saturday morning he has a meeting for those men who do not belong to the Y.M.C.A. In the afternoon of the same day he has a mothers' meeting, which usually numbers nearly a hundred. On Sunday morning there is an early service for all; again at 10.30 a.m.; at 3 p.m., a catechist's service; at 6 p.m., a meeting of the Y.M.C.A., attended by seventy or eighty. There is great heartiness in all these services. Mr. Romilly and I were there, six weeks ago, from Friday to Monday, and were greatly cheered by the real, earnest work that is going on. The number of adherents has increased during the year from 1325 to 1386, and others are coming forward.

Earnest work of a Native pastor.

The total cost of the pastorate during the year to the C.M.S. has been Rs. 616: 8, or about 40*l.* I am sanguine that, with proper management, the cost to the Society will within ten years be nil.

In the MUNDAKAYAM district 107 adults and 76 children were baptized last year; of whom about two-thirds are Arrian converts, the rest chiefly Pulayas. Five hundred catechumens are under instruction. The contributions have advanced from Rs. 500 to Rs. 791. Mr. Painter says :—

We can, however, hardly hope to keep up this high figure, as several large sums were special gifts, and special efforts were also made to raise money for building. One special gift of Rs. 30 was made by a poor Pulayan, who had been falsely accused some years ago of burning down the schoolroom: a token of his gratitude to God. Though the amount may not be great next year, yet I feel that every fresh effort they put forth, helps them to understand the joy of giving, and so is an incitement to give again. Most of them are very poor: few earn more than Rs. 6 per mensem. Among many members of the congregations there has been a manifest growth in grace and knowledge.

One of those received into the Church at MANKOMPU was the daughter of an aged couple who embraced the Gospel in 1882, when Mr. Painter first visited this place. With the exception of this daughter, who was married to a heathen husband, the whole family followed their parents' example. "The sheaf," Mr. Painter says, "had been gathered in, but one ear had fallen from it. Would it be lost?" In November last the answer came to many prayers.

The lost ear gleaned at last.

COCHIN: TRICHUR AND KUNNANKULAM.

No report has been received from the Rev. F. Bower, who is in charge of these stations during the Rev. J. H. Bishop's absence. But Archdeacon Caley sent an interesting account of one whom he baptized at Trichur early last year. He is a Nair by caste, and engaged as a schoolmaster under the Travancore Government. His name is Christian Raman Pillay. Mr. Caley says:—

About two years ago he repeatedly met with our evangelists and became very intimate with them. Knowing English very well, he read several tracts prepared for educated Hindus. He also read and studied the Bible. Soon he had some difficulties which he put down on paper and sent to the Rev. P. P. Joseph, C.M.S. Native pastor, asking him for explanations. These he received. Several books were lent to him, which he read at once, and at last felt he must be a Christian.

After awhile he went to Madras, thinking he would be baptized there, but meeting with some influential Hindus, he was dissuaded. He then went to Tuticorin for the same purpose, but seeing so many difficulties in the way, decided he would not be a Christian. On so deciding he packed away his Bible and other books, determining to have no more to do with them. He told our agents not to trouble him, and altogether seemed like a man who had come to the birth, but must be lost. He was, however, under the influence of a power from which he could not escape. He says, "I had great internal trouble. I felt as it were a poking with an iron pin." At length (about two months ago) he said he heard a voice saying, "Be baptized!" and he could resist no longer. He thought he would now inform his people of his resolve, so applied for leave to go and visit them. Before his leave was sanctioned he said a great power seemed to seize him and say, "Be cautious: you are a Christian. You need not go to your people to be baptized." He then set out in the very opposite direction, to Trichur, a distance of about seventy miles. He arrived in a very excited state, but with a most fixed determination to be a Christian.

Internal conflict.

CEYLON MISSION.

(Commenced, 1817.)

I. SINGHALESE MISSION: Kandy, 1818; Baddêgama, 1819; Cotta, 1822; Kurunêgala, 1880.
II. TAMIL MISSION: Jaffna, 1818; Colombo, 1852; Tamil Cooly Mission, 1855.

Fruits of the Special Winter Mission.

WITH unfeigned joy and praise the Committee have read the thankful testimony borne in the Annual Letters of nearly all the missionaries to the blessed and abiding fruits of the Special Winter Mission in Ceylon. Not only in the deepening of the spiritual life of the Native Christians, and in leading them to a more definite consecration to the Lord's service, but also in converting not a few from among the heathen, did these fruits appear. And still more markedly, in some districts, upon the European residents and planters was the manifest blessing outpoured. One missionary writes:—

English planters preaching the Gospel.

> Some half a dozen young planters received a great blessing at the time of the Mission. They seem to have been literally filled with the fire of love to and zeal for Christ. They began at once to work for Jesus, not only amongst their countrymen, but more especially with the coolies on their estates. They started schools for the children and adults who were willing to learn. They have often taught and preached themselves after a hard day's work. Then they began to visit the bazaars on Sundays. Sunday is the great day of trade, when the bazaars are filled with coolies. To these three of the young men are preaching, Sunday after Sunday, the glad tidings of the Gospel. They distribute large numbers of tracts and handbills. Sometimes they walk eight or ten miles to reach the appointed place; there they preach for a couple of hours, getting a snap for breakfast as best they can, and then make for another preaching-place, or walk home, weary in body, but strong and joyful in spirit. I do not hesitate to say that the intense earnestness and holy lives of these young men have made a deeper impression on the Natives than anything that we appointed labourers have done. They see that there is a reality and a power in a religion which has produced such wonderful effects upon young English planters, too many of whom have been far from recommending our religion by purity, kindness, gentleness, and care for other men's souls. The good has not been confined to its effects upon the heathen. It has greatly encouraged and stimulated the Native Christians, and it has stirred us labourers up to emulate their loving zeal. One young planter in Avisawella is holding six meetings a week—two in English, two in Tamil, and two in Singhalese. In the Tamil and Singhalese he uses an interpreter. On my last visit, five Tamils, who owe their conversion chiefly to his labours, were presented for baptism.

The important and immediate effect of a spiritual awakening among the European community upon the Society's evangelistic work is amply evidenced by the above extract; and the Committee have gladly permitted the Rev. J. G. Garrett, who returned to the Mission in May, to devote some of his time, so far as opportunities may offer, in assisting these brethren, and guiding them in their new efforts.

In July the Committee had the pleasure of an interview with the Bishop of Colombo, and especially of hearing his testimony to the character and work of the Society's missionaries in his diocese. The interest taken by the Bishop in the heathen population of Ceylon was strikingly shown by the valuable article on "Buddhism" which he contributed to the pages of the Nineteenth Century of July last year.

The Bishop visited the Jaffna peninsula in February, and confirmed ninety candidates connected with the Northern Mission; and on March 17th, at Colombo, he received Messrs. W. L. Botéju and H. W. Tennawaratna to Deacon's Orders; and the Revs. G. S. Amarasêkara, J. Backus, and J. Niles to Priest's Orders. Ordinations.

The Rev. William Adley, who laboured from 1824 to 1846 at Jaffna, died in April last, at the age of ninety-six. From 1857 until his death he held the living of Radbaxton in Pembrokeshire. Mrs. Rowlands, wife of the Rev. W. E. Rowlands, M.A., honorary missionary, has also been removed by death. Death of Rev. W. Adley and Mrs. Rowlands.

The Rev. E. N. and Mrs. Hodges have come home, Mr. Hodges having been chosen by the Archbishop of Canterbury to succeed Bishop Speechly in the See of Travancore and Cochin. The Rev. J. W. and Mrs. Balding, and the Rev. J. and Mrs. Ilsley have also come home on sick leave. The resignation of the chaplaincy of Dimbula, by the Rev. F. W. C. Rigby, and his return to this country, must also be mentioned, although he was not one of the Society's missionaries, as the loss of his brotherly counsel and co-operation is widely felt in the Mission. In addition to the Rev. J. G. and Mrs. Garrett, mentioned above, the Rev. D. and Mrs. Wood have also returned to Ceylon.

The number of Native Christians connected with the Mission has increased in the year from 6508 to 7004.

I. WESTERN AND SOUTHERN PROVINCES.

COLOMBO.

The Rev. E. T. Higgens, after thirty-seven years of service in connexion with the Society, continues to discharge with zeal and wisdom the duties which pertain to the Secretaryship of the whole Mission, as well as the ministry of the English congregation worshipping at Colombo, and the oversight of the Singhalese agents in that city. The Tamil work has been under the Rev. J. Ilsley, and the Girls' Boarding-school at Borella under Miss Eva Young. The Rev. D. and Mrs. Wood having now returned, the latter, assisted by her daughter, will take the charge of the Boarding-school, and Miss Young will devote herself to zenana work among the Mohammedan and Tamil women in Colombo.

English congregation.

The English Congregation is not a large one, varying from 100 to 140, but it manifests a very lively interest in the Society's missionary work carried on in all parts of the island. A further increase of Rs. 800 over the previous year's contributions to the Missionary Association, making a total of Rs. 4300 (430*l.*), was an evidence of this. One lady, a member of the congregation, collects Singhalese servants and others, from twelve to thirty, in her verandah every Sunday afternoon for an evangelistic address given by a catechist.

In the Singhalese work Mr. Higgens is assisted by three catechists and several schoolmasters, most of whom are supported by local funds. By open-air preaching in different parts of the city, and by visiting the hospital and gaols and the houses of the people, though this last is less often practicable since the Buddhists have been excited to oppose Christian efforts, it is endeavoured to make the glad tidings known. Of two adult converts baptized last year, one, a young Native doctor, was the fruit of public preaching near the Courts.

Native congregations.

There are eight congregations connected with the Native Church Council, viz., at Negombo, Galle, Gallekisse, and Mutwall, and three in Colombo. The number of baptized Christians is 872, nearly all of whom are poor, many very poor, in this world's goods. The lack of educated and influential men in these congregations Mr. Ilsley is disposed to attribute to two facts, that the services are held, with two exceptions, in schoolrooms, and that they are conducted in the vernacular, whereas the educated Natives prefer an English service. Respecting the contributions of these poor Christians, the following is quoted from the Native Church Report:—

> Of the 872 Christians in this district, only 341 subscribe to the Church Funds, and of these 164 persons only are monthly subscribers.

So that about 530 persons do not subscribe anything at all. The amount realized from subscriptions, collections, &c., during the last year was Rs. 962·97, an average of Rs. 1·10 per head.

Of the teachers in the ten Schools (exclusive of the Boarding-schools at Borella) Mr. Ilsley stated that "all are Christians, and all seem to be earnest-minded men and women who feel that their work is vain except they can influence their pupils for Christ." He added, respecting one of them:—

A zealous Native school-master.

He is a thorough evangelist, and there is remarkable power and persuasiveness in what he says. He is a great help in our out-door preaching, especially the moonlight services. He has a powerful voice, and sings well. He has all the earnestness and enthusiasm of a home-mission preacher, with an eloquence given to very few. He is using his great gifts in his Saviour's service. He refuses to take any compensation or help, and when pressed to give his whole time to this work as a catechist, he refused, saying that God was blessing the little he could do in his spare time, and he did not want to feel that he was in any way serving God for gain. I am thankful to God for having raised up such a man. He has been a great blessing to the boarding-schools, especially to the girls. He has prayer-meetings for the children, and many have acknowledged that they have been led into greater light and greater happiness.

A large proportion of the children attending the schools are Moslems and Malays.

Six catechists and one reader assisted Mr. Ilsley in the Evangelistic work, and twenty-four adult converts were gathered in through their united labours, while sixty-one persons were under instruction at the end of the year. Two of the converts had come into contact with Mission work during their childhood in Tinnevelly, their native land.

COTTA.

The village of Cotta is 6½ miles from the Fort of Colombo, and stretching thence, east, and north, and south, a wide district embracing four Korales, or counties, with an area of 600 square miles, inhabited by 100,000 Singhalese, for the most part professing Buddhism but largely practising demon-worship, is the sphere of the various pastoral, evangelistic, and scholastic agencies, which are superintended, as for many years past, by the Rev. R. T. Dowbiggin. Two Native clergymen, the Revs. H. De Silva and G. S. Amarasêkara, pastors connected with the Native Church Council, and seventy-eight paid lay teachers, male and female, besides fifty voluntary agents, are his subordinate fellow-labourers. The Rev. S. Coles, having prepared his class of Divinity students for their final examination, and having seen them appointed to different spheres of labour for Christ, removed in July last, at the request of the Missionary Conference, to Baddegama.

Schools. The Schools have always been a specially prominent agency of the Cotta Mission. The number is fifty, and the number of pupils on the lists 2655. There are also fifty Sunday schools, with an average aggregate attendance of 875. The Girls' Boarding-school has 43 girls, and well maintains its high position educationally, having headed the list of similar institutions in the island in respect to the Government grant per head. The Special Mission services were much enjoyed by many of the elder girls, and some of them take great pleasure in assisting in weekly services at the houses of Buddhists. The older boys in the English School, under Mr. De Silva, were also much stirred by the mission, and they, too, have gladly taken part in evangelistic work in the village. A former pupil who, while at the school, once swam the Cotta Lake twice to carry a loaf of bread to a poor sick boy (see C.M. Gleaner, 1885, p. 81), is now himself a schoolmaster in connexion with another mission. In grateful remembrance of the benefits he derived there, he has remitted Rs. 30, by far the larger portion of his first year's share of the Government grant, to his old school. A young man, who was in one of the day-schools, has undergone severe persecution for Christ's sake. Mr. Dowbiggin says:—

A former pupil enduring persecution.

> His father, who is a native doctor and devil-dancer, says that by believing Christianity his son has become a disgrace and hindrance to his father's religion and his demon practices. He tried to beat his son, but not being able to do so, he threw away all his books, forbade him to enter the house, treated him as dead, and called his neighbours together to eat the food usually partaken of after the death and funeral of the departed.
> For a time he went to work in the plumbago pits, and there he was known as "Oda of the Religion," as distinguished from another of the same name who was a Buddhist. His fellow-workmen not only ridiculed him, but also bound him with ropes so that he could not attend the Sunday services. His Christian name is Reuben, and, unlike his namesake, I trust he will be stable and faithful to the Lord even until death.

Itinerating work is systematically carried on by six catechists and two Bible-women from three centres, viz., Liyanwala, Nambapana, and Pallannoruwa. Of the thirty-two adult baptisms of last year in the Cotta district, seven were in connexion with this purely evangelistic work.

There are four Native Pastorates. In the Cotta pastorate the Rev. G. S. Amarasêkara conducts daily prayer meetings at which Gospel addresses are made to the heathen. Since the Special Mission a band of workers, called the "Grubb-Oldham Association," has been formed, numbering over twenty members. A temperance society also has 108 members. "A great change for the better is seen in the congregation, and about thirty persons have come to a saving knowledge of Jesus during the year," Mr. Amarasêkara says. The Talangama pastorate is under the Rev. H. de Silva, and the other two, namely Mâmpe and Colombo, are under pastoral catechists.

"Grubb-Oldham Association."

BADDEGAMA.

In August the Rev. J. W. and Mrs. Balding were ordered home on account of ill-health, especially that of Mrs. Balding, caused mainly by her having worked beyond her strength. The Rev. S. Coles cheerfully relinquished plans which had been approved by Conference, that he should take temporary charge of one of the divisions of the Kandyan itinerancy, in order to meet this unlooked-for emergency. The Native pastors are the Rev. J. P. Kalpagê, at Baddegama; the Rev. G. A. B. Perera, at Balapitimodara; and the Rev. H. Kannangá, at Bentotte, the most northern of the out-stations. The last-named has been in semi-retirement for several years, but has now resumed work.

Mr. Coles was located at Baddegama for a short time twenty-five years ago, and he was very desirous to observe what advance had been made after the lapse of so many years. He does not say so in terms, but it is easily inferred from his letter that a measure of disappointment is present in the general impression left on his mind by the comparison. He writes in warm terms of some of the workers, especially of one of the Native pastors and his family. He says:—

A Christian family.

I have never seen a brighter example of what a Christian family ought to be than his affords. Every morning, at five o'clock, the whole family assembles for prayer and praise, servants included. The master of the house presides, and expounds the Word of God. Sometimes the collect for the following Sunday is given out piece by piece, his wife, children, and servants repeating after him until each one can say it alone. At evening, at morning, and at noonday the members of his family thus gather together and engage in family worship. His wife and niece are thorough helpers with him in the house, and they also go out and speak to the heathen, and seek to bring them to Christ. There are more signs of progress, and a larger number of inquirers in connexion with his work, than at any other station under my charge. Even the bitterest of his Buddhist opponents, equally with the Christians, acknowledge his undoubted piety and zeal, even though they sometimes complain of his outspokenness and apparent lack of discretion. He has suffered much in the death of his eldest son, who was just entering the mission-field when he was called to his rest in heaven; but this visitation was sanctified to the family, and thus became a blessing.

There are 1378 children in the twenty-five Schools. In June, just before Mrs. Balding's health gave way, she had been enabled to open a Girls' Boarding-school. Happily, a lady of educational experience was found in the island, Miss Binfield, who was able to undertake the supervision of the thirty boarders who had already entered the school.

At Dodanduwa, in spite of very pronounced opposition, there are several candidates for baptism. At this place, the parents of the lately deceased "Colonel" Wîrasuriya, a prominent figure at numerous Salvation Army demonstrations in London and elsewhere, still reside. It is not surprising that they manifest a leaning towards the principles and practices of the body which their son had been induced, several years after his conversion, to join, and which others of their children have also joined. But they are bright examples of devoted Christians, Mr. Coles says, and are willing to work in hearty co-operation with all zealous members of the Church of England.

II. CENTRAL PROVINCES.

KANDY.

Trinity College.

LAST year Trinity College was specially successful at the University Examinations. All seven sent in to the Calcutta Entrance Examination were successful, four passing in the first, and three in the second class; while, of the six presented at the Cambridge Junior Local Examination, five passed, one in first-class honours. The Government Inspector's Report moreover shows that the comparatively elementary part of the work done by the bulk of the boys was not neglected for the sake of a few striking successes, the percentage of passes being seventy-nine, as compared with sixty-six of the previous year. The Inspector observes: "This marked improvement cannot but be gratifying to the Education Department, as well as to the Principal of the College, and his teaching staff." Of the 210 boys, 128 are Protestant Christians, 26 Roman Catholics, 48 Buddhists, 4 Hindus, and 4 Mohammedans. The Rev. E. N. Hodges believes that among the masters and elder boys there were visible effects of the Special Mission which have so far proved permanent. The masters meet every day in prayer for a blessing on their work.

Congregations.

The Kandy Native Church Council is under the presidency of the Rev. H. Gunasêkara, who is also pastor of Trinity Church, Kandy. The average morning attendance at this church is 50 adults and 29 children, and the average number of communicants last year was 47. There were 12 adult baptisms in connexion with this and the other congregations under Mr. Gunasêkara's charge—viz. at Katukele, Gaetembe, Kaduganâwa, Gampola, and Nawalapitiya. The aggregate contributions of the Native Christians amounted to Rs. 1440.

KANDYAN ITINERANCY.

When the news of the Rev. J. Allcock's death reached the Committee, they requested the Rev. J. G. Garrett, who was at home, to proceed at once to the Mission, with a view to co-operating with the Rev. L. G. P. Liesching in the extensive itinerancy among the Singhalese of the Central Provinces. The latter was compelled upon medical advice to take a sea voyage to and from Calcutta during November and December.

Mr. Liesching has sent an encouraging report of the Western Itineration. The Special Mission has left its mark everywhere, and has given a tone to the work since. The number of adult baptisms during the year was twenty-three, more than three times as many as the previous year; and an unprecedented number of candidates for baptism, 125, was on the list when the year closed. Among those baptized were an ex-Buddhist priest, a young Kandyan lady of good family, three head boys of their respective village schools, and the wife of a convert baptized in 1885. We must quote a few sentences from Mr. Liesching's report. The last paragraph is painful reading, but considering that in the neighbourhood of Talampitiya some fifty-eight Christian adults have been induced to secede, besides baptized children, the indictment seems to be expressed with both justice and moderation. He says:—

Baptisms in the Kandyan Itinerancy

Spiritual blessings at Kurunégala.

A revival has broken out in Kurunégala, greatly owing to the faithful labours of the pastoral catechist, Mr. Wanigasékara, and to some extent stimulated by a visit of the Salvation Army to the town. It is now six years since I first became acquainted with our congregation at Kurunégala, but never before have I seen such clear signs of the working of the Holy Spirit in the hearts of the people. Some have been enabled to forsake besetting sins, and once more to come to the Lord's table, which before had been neglected, while others, who were before communicants, have now received the assurance of their salvation, and, as a consequence, are able to witness of their Saviour before others. The happiness I now experience in ministering to this congregation is indescribable, for I am conscious that the Holy Spirit is working in many a heart, and that there is a certain receptivity and preparedness for the word spoken.

and at Talampitiya.

But even greater things have taken place in Talampitiya. A quarter of a century of faithful sowing by many devoted labourers, both European and Native, has been followed by an abundant harvest, which we have been permitted to reap. During the Special Mission in the early part of the year our village Christians did not seem to get quite their fair share of attention, and the persistency with which a few of them followed the missioners about from place to place showed a thirst for more. This among other causes induced us to hold a mission of our own among them after the lapse of about six months. But we aimed at more than this. I felt that none needed spiritual quickening and instruction more than our band of Native workers themselves, and so we adopted an entirely new method. At very considerable expense and labour, we arranged that all our catechists, preachers, schoolmasters, &c., should come and live with us at Talampitiya for about ten days. Though all could not remain the whole of that time, some did, while others came and went.

Village taken by storm.

By this means we were able to take the village by storm, holding at least two meetings a day, besides house-to-house visitation, and other special gatherings. I can here only mention what appeared to us to be the principal benefits which followed from this effort.

1. Great spiritual benefit to our Native agents, as well as to ourselves. Many were then led to make a special consecration of themselves to God.

2. Our Christians and communicants received similar benefit. Many became soul-winners, both men and women being endued with power from on high.

3. As regards the heathen, more than sixty have professed conversion as the direct result of the Mission, receiving by faith the Lord Jesus Christ as their living personal Saviour.

Remarks on the Salvation Army.

With regret I must refer to the manner in which the Salvation Army has in this, as in former years, come into contact with our work. It is quite evident from the action of that body that they are unwilling to recognize us as fellow-workers in the same great field, whilst they themselves have no hesitation in endeavouring to alienate from us, and attach to themselves, such of our Christians as may be open to their influences. While recognizing them as a body whom God is pleased to make use of in the present day for the accomplishing of His purposes, and praising Him for all that they do to increase His kingdom and glory, I feel that there are some among our Christians who need to be gravely warned against their exceedingly defective and in some points very erroneous teaching.

May God enable us, and all who are working for Him in this world, to keep close to the lines laid down in His inspired Word, and cause us ever to look up to Him for the light of His Holy Spirit in order that we may understand and obey what He has revealed in His Word concerning His Blessed Son, our only Saviour Jesus Christ.

TAMIL COOLY MISSION.

During the past year this Mission to the Coolies labouring on the estates in the Central Provinces has had three European labourers, viz. the Rev. J. D. Simmons, residing at Newera Eliya; the Rev. J. D. Thomas, at Kandy; and the Rev. H. Horsley, at Haputale. Until Mr. Horsley's return, the last place, situated in the province of Uva, had not had a resident missionary since the Rev. F. Glanvill came home in 1883. The Rev. P. Peter, a Native Clergyman, is stationed at Palmadulla; and the Rev. A. Gnánamuttu is pastor at Kandy in connexion with the Tamil Native Church Council.

Owing to the extensive area over which this work is carried on (Mr. Horsley mentions that his division of the work is scattered over a district 120 miles long), and the great distances which separate the small congregations of Christian worshippers, it was difficult to make arrangements which could give even to a large proportion of the Christian coolies an opportunity of attending the services of the Special Mission preachers. Nevertheless, all the Annual Letters refer with much thankfulness to the occasion. "One of the permanent results," Mr. Simmons says, "upon the Native Christians was the bringing of individuals to realize more clearly their own salvation in Jesus Christ. This, as a sure consequence, has been followed by more consistent living, and active effort to bring others to Jesus." The catechists also bear testimony to the blessing received both by the people and themselves. One says, "There is more spirit of inquiry among the coolies about the religion of Christ than in all the past years put together." Another, "There is a great revival among the Christians, especially since the visit of Col. Oldham, followed by frequent similar revival meetings." And a third, "1888 is a memorable year in my life, and it will not be forgotten, as God has blessed me in Christ Jesus with heavenly blessing, by stirring me up much more to do His work."

Results of the Special Mission.

Thirty-eight adults have been welcomed into the Visible Church in the several districts. Mr. Horsley mentions a congregation consisting of twelve persons on one of the estates in his district which for three years had been left without a catechist; they had nevertheless kept up the Sabbath services, and have lately built a prayer house at a cost of nearly Rs. 60. A new church was opened at Rackwane in October, and seven adults and two children were baptized during the dedication service. A large number of heathen were present, but, Mr. Peter says, all behaved as if they were Christians. The offertory at the English service was Rs. 51, and in the Tamil service Rs. 20.

III. NORTHERN PROVINCES.

JAFFNA.

In the Jaffna peninsula the Society has three stations, Nellore, Chundicully, and Kopay. The Rev. E. M. Griffith, who has the general oversight of the work, resides at Nellore; and the Rev. G. T. Fleming, who superintends the seminary for boys at Chundicully and its branch school at Kopay, lives at Chundicully. The Native congregations at Chundicully, Pallam and Kopay are under the pastoral care of the Revs. G. Champion, J. Backus, and J. Niles respectively.

Special Winter Mission.

Mr. Griffith's full and very interesting account of the Special Winter Mission in Jaffna was received too late for last year's Annual Report, but it was published in full in the July number of the C.M. Intelligencer. Most painstaking and prayerful preparations had been made, much expectation was aroused, and very much blessing was experienced. "Our Church," Mr. Griffith wrote, "has been lifted up to a higher spiritual life, and it is the feeling of many that it breathes a holier atmosphere." By general desire the meetings were continued for another week, after the departure of the Rev. G. C. Grubb and Colonel Oldham. Several meetings were held specially for the heathen. In the house of one Native Christian, a lawyer and a man of great influence, the leading Sivites of Chundicully thronged the apartments and verandahs, and listened with deep interest to the simple narrative of the Mission Preacher's own conversion and individual experience. In Nellore Church again, some 700 Sivites, including nearly all the members of an anti-Christian Society, listened to the addresses almost in spite of themselves. The Thanksgiving Service on Monday, March 12th, was a memorable event. Mr. Griffith says:—

Presence of leading Sivites at the services.

Thanksgiving service.

> It was said that nothing like it had ever been seen in Jaffna. All classes of the community were there. Among them were the missionaries and missionary ladies of the peninsula, the district judge and his wife, Miss Twynam, and other European and Native residents of Jaffna comprising advocates, proctors, Government servants, Native pastors, agents of the Missions, many members of all the churches, besides some 250 of the heathen. At least 900 persons were closely packed in the church, whilst the large verandahs outside were full and crowded. In all, there were counted more than 2000 people. After a hymn and prayer, both missioners delivered simple but powerful addresses, and then Mr. Grubb stated they had received 130 letters of thanksgiving from persons who had been benefited by the Mission, extracts from half-a-dozen of which he read.

Mr. Fleming was encouraged by an appreciative visit to the Chundicully Seminary of Archdeacon Matthews (whose death very soon afterwards the Committee heard of with regret) in April. There has been one baptism from the school, and one also from the Kopay branch school. The former was that of a little Chundicully boy, who received baptism with his father and two sisters. The father was led to a final decision for Christ during the Mission, having been an Atheist for thirty years.

MAURITIUS MISSION.

Division of the Mission: 1. Tamil-speaking Coolies (Madras Branch), 1857; 2. Bengali and Hindi-speaking Coolies (Calcutta Branch), 1857; 3. The Seychelles Islands, 1875.

A VERY hearty and respectful welcome was accorded to Bishop Royston on his return last year. The members of the Native Church met to express their thankfulness to God for his partial restoration to health, and for his safe return to their midst.

Training Institution.

The Bishopsthorpe Training Institution, which the Bishop opened just before coming to this country in 1886, has sent out its first set of students, four in number, all now employed in connexion with the Society as assistants in village schools. The European missionaries, and other clergy in the diocese, take part in the instruction given, and the Society makes a capitation grant for its agents under training.

No change has occurred in the European staff. The Rev. H. D. Buswell is Secretary of the Mission, and, as Chairman of the Native Church Council, superintends the Native pastors and catechists; the Rev. Nigel Honiss has charge of the Plaisance Orphanage, and of all the schools; and the Rev. C. A. Blackburn labours among the North India coolies scattered all over the island. The Rev. A. Downes Shaw, of the Eastern Equatorial Africa Mission, has been temporarily appointed by the Bishop to a Chaplaincy in the island.

Pastorates.

The five Pastorates are under the care of the Revs. S. Sunker Singh, John Ernest, and J. F. Chorley, and Mr. C. Young. The aggregate of adult baptisms was ninety, and of children seventy-four, but owing to a high death-rate, and the numerous departures to India, the number of adherents is somewhat less than that reported last year, viz. 2142. Before the end of September the Bishop had confirmed 101 candidates. There has been a marked improvement in the attendance of Christians at Divine worship. Mr. Buswell says:—

Attendance at public worship.

Throughout the island, of course, there are considerably more members of the Church of England belonging to the other sections of the population than to the Indian. I am, however, disposed to think that the aggregate attendance of Christian Indians at divine worship on the Lord's Day throughout the island is at least as great as that of other races combined. The services are more numerous, it is true, but this is necessitated by the variety of languages. On an average thirty-four Indian services are held every Sunday in connexion with the C.M.S. Mission.

The Chinese.

A fair number of Chinese have placed themselves under the catechist for instruction, but Mr. Buswell draws attention to special difficulties in the way of their evangelization. He says:—

> The Chinese are the boutiquiers of the place, and unfortunately we cannot get them to comprehend the sanctity of the Lord's Day. Trade with them is brisker on that day than on any day of the week, thanks to the indifference of soi-disant Christians.

Work among Indian Coolies

Mr. Blackburn supplies an interesting report of work among the North India Coolies in the districts of Pamplemousses, Poudre D'or, Moka, Quartier Militaire, Vacoas, Quatre Bornes, Curepipe, and Beau Bassin. He says:—

> I have made this year sixty-nine missionary journeys in various parts of Mauritius, visiting the camps on the sugar-estates and in the villages, as well as Indian cottages and gardens, and preaching the Word of God near the shops, the market-places, the police-courts, the hospitals, and wherever Indians generally gather together. I have been trying to meet as many people as possible, and show them plainly what the Lord Jesus Christ has done to save sinners. In some places the catechists and I have very often stood for hours together, preaching to large audiences.
> Beside this broadcast sowing of the seeds of the Word of Life, I have been greatly encouraged in my more regular visits to individuals in their own houses, for discussions on the eternal welfare of the soul. There are always a few persons present with the master of the house to listen to and join in the conversation, which sometimes becomes most interesting and lasts for several hours, as we generally prove what we say by passages from the Scriptures, and our opponents try to do the same from their books.

Persecution of a Brahmin convert.

There are many secret believers among the Brahmins, one of whom had the courage to be baptized at Curepipe in March. His former friends, however, were so relentless in their persecution that he escaped to another part of the island, and took work as a common labourer. Hindus frequently attend the services in large numbers. On one occasion Mr. Blackburn found twelve Christians and about 100 Hindus present. Thirty-two were baptized in connexion with this agency. Mr. Blackburn says:—

> The cases of four of them were remarkable. One had known the way of salvation for several years, but was prevented by his father from becoming a Christian. Another was educated at the Government school, and had been longing for the truth. A third, a man of high caste, was greatly persecuted for his faith. The fourth was a "Mahánt," or priest of the Santpati religion.

The Plaisance Orphanage has about fifty inmates, of ages from two to sixteen. Fourteen are supported by Government. Mr. Honiss says:—

Waifs and strays.

The Government children are waifs and strays, often picked up by the police and taken to the Immigration Department, whence they are transferred to Plaisance, or sent to some similar Roman Catholic Institution. These poor children come from the very lowest strata of Mauritius society. The father of one is in prison for killing his wife. The mothers of two other children who are fatherless, are inmates of the Lunatic Asylum. Another little fellow came here by order of the magistrate, while the father was sent to prison for cruelty to his child. About six months ago, a poor creature with three little boys, the youngest being only two years old, came hobbling into the compound. She had only one leg and one hand. She was a heathen, and had been thrown aside by the father of her children, and now sought refuge in Christianity. She was, she said, quite ready to be baptized with her children, if we would provide for them. We received the children, and subsequently obtained some regular out-door help for the mother. This may not appear the most satisfactory way of adding to the number of our converts. Still our blessed Lord received a good number of poor creatures who looked to Him only as their last resource. No doubt they had faith, and Christ knew it; and may not this woman have had some faith, though we could not be sure of it; "charity hopeth all things." At least she proved an apt pupil in the Christian faith, and after being instructed, was baptized. Like a storm-beaten ship finds her way at last into port, so this poor woman, after being wrecked in the voyage of life, found refuge in the calm deep water of Christian benevolence. Another little orphan was brought by a sickly man, who said he had promised to take care of the child on the death of his parents, but it was obvious that the man needed some one now to take care of himself, and so he committed the child to us.

There are 22 Schools, with 1401 children on the rolls. Fifteen of these children were baptized from heathenism during the year. Mr. Honiss expresses a high opinion of these schools as a missionary agency. He says:—

Primary schools as a missionary agency.

I could mention one school in particular that has been most fruitful in converts during the past nine years, where the master himself with his family and some of his relations are converts, where every year there has been more than one baptism; a school that has sent youths for training as Catechists to Bishopthorpe, which has supplied volunteers in spiritual work, and a Delegate for the Native Church Council. But it is not always desirable to mention names; we would rather ascribe all honour to the Holy Spirit. The majority of our children are heathen or Mohammedans, but all are under daily religious instruction. The schools open and close with prayer. In addition to the Creed the Lord's Prayer and the Ten Commandments, the children are taught some select texts of Scripture and an outline of the life of Christ.

Testimony to the good work done by Mission Schools is continually cropping up. At our last conference, a man was introduced and highly recommended for spiritual work. In conversation, it transpired that he had received his first favourable impression in one of our schools. He is now employed as a Catechist. Several instances occur to me of men coming to Mauritius as heathen, but with the seed of God's word sown in their hearts in some Mission School in India, and here in Mauritius it has borne fruit. In a letter now before me, received the other day from Mr. Young, he says: "Yesterday Mr. Blackburn baptized a North Indian of the Bel Etang Estate whom I have known for two years. He can read and speak four languages, and is an ex-pupil of a Mission School in Gorruckpore."

SEYCHELLES.

Bishop Royston and the Rev. H. D. Buswell visited Mahé in March, and greatly cheered Mr. E. Luckock, in his often discouraging work among the African children of this isolated station. There are thirty-nine boys and forty girls under his and Mrs. Luckock's care. He has also collected, and held together by monthly visits, small congregations at Port Gland and L'Anse à la Mouche.

CHINA.

The famine.

THE sympathy of all Christendom has been drawn to China by the recurrence during the past year of a desolating famine in several of its densely-populated provinces. The appalling nature of these calamities, to which this wonderful country is liable, is attested by the fact that the last great famine was calculated by the Shanghai Relief Committee to have caused the loss of from 9,500,000 to 13,000,000 lives. The provinces affected are Shantung, Kiang-Su, and Honan, on the north-east, and Hunan, an interior province situated westward of Fuh-Kien. The Lord Mayor of London opened a fund in January for the benefit of the sufferers, and at his invitation the Committee have appointed one of their number, Mr. Henry Morris, as a member of the committee of management. Very earnestly do they pray that this terrible visitation may be instrumental in exciting a profound spiritual compassion for the perishing millions of China, and that the exhibition of Christian philanthropy towards their countrymen may help to remove prejudice and dispose to a candid consideration of the claims of the Lord Jesus Christ.

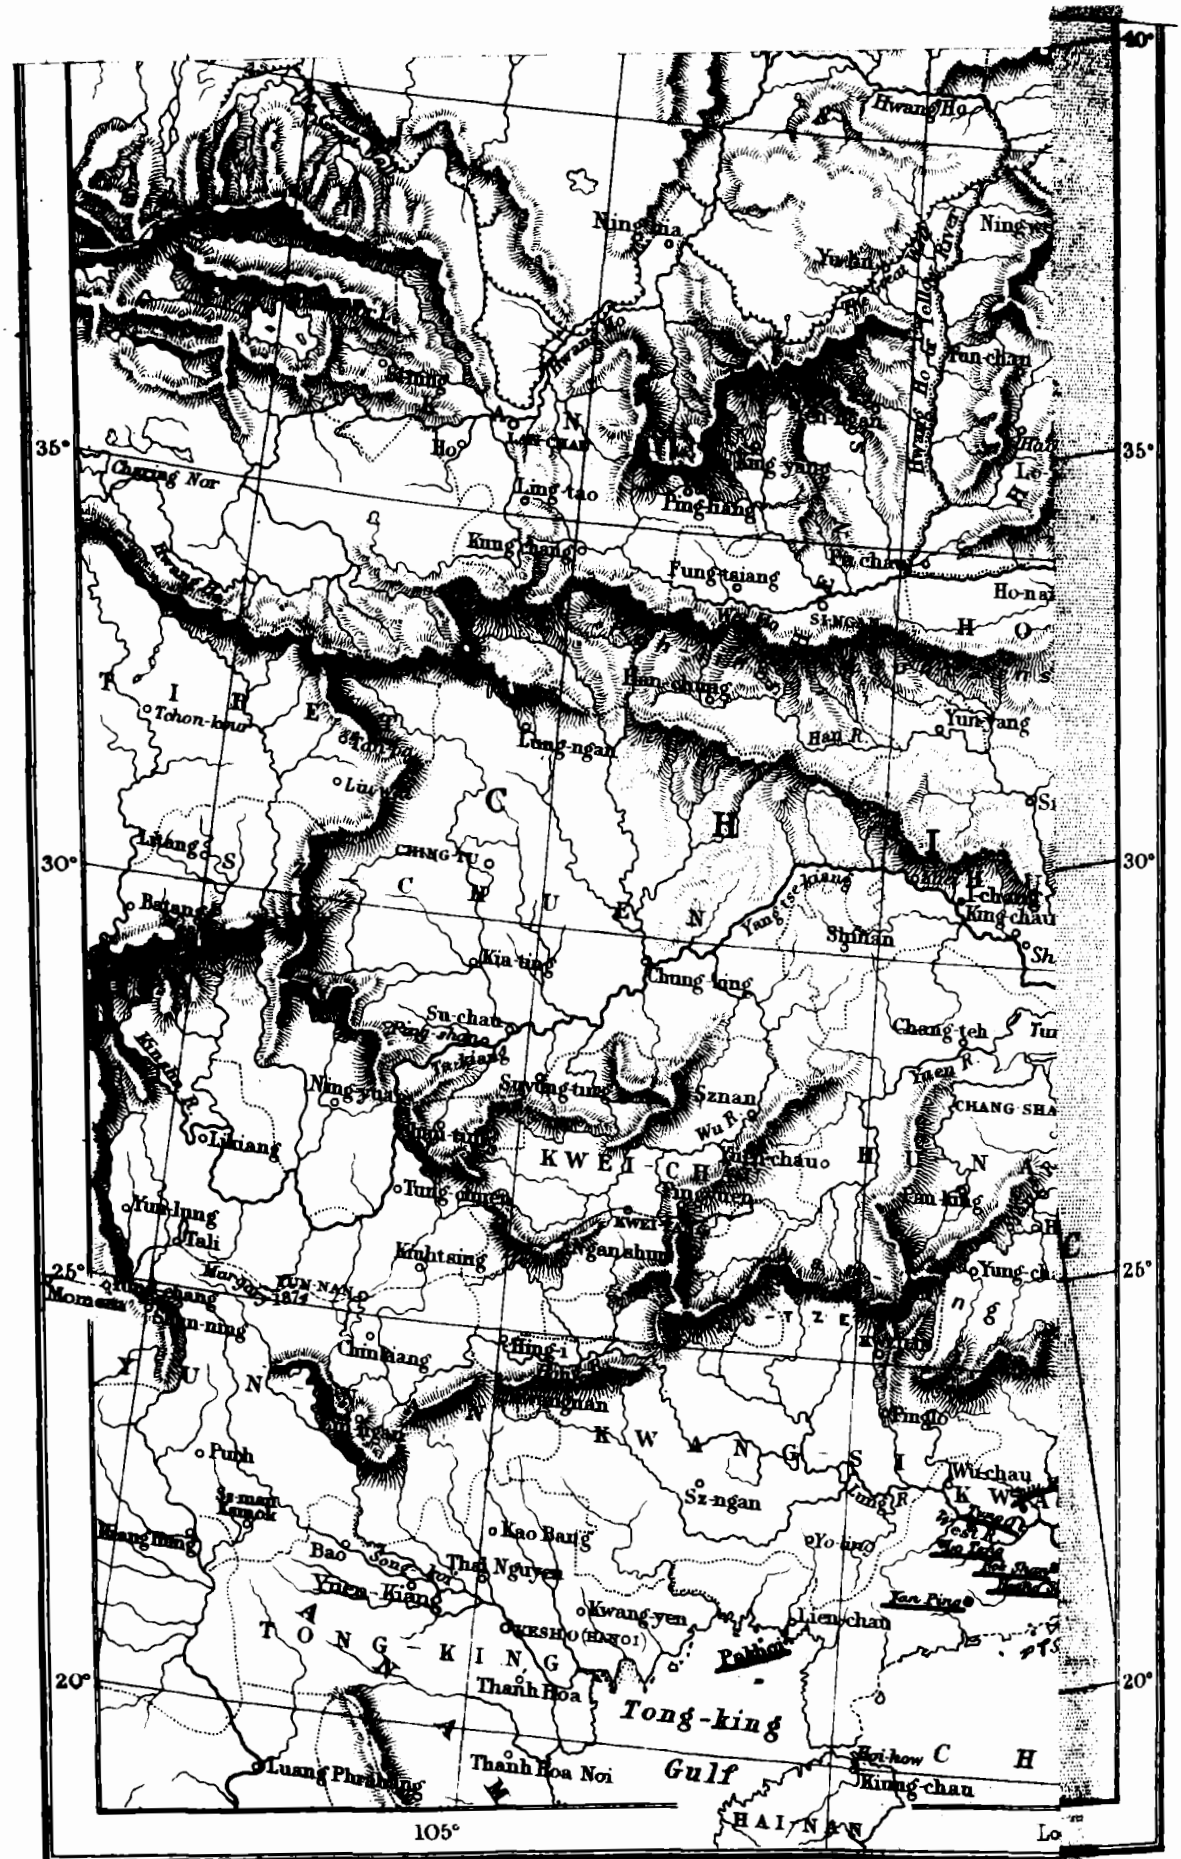

SOUTH CHINA MISSION.

FUH-KIEN PROVINCE: Fuh-Chow, 1850; Fuh-Ning, 1882; Ku-Cheng, 1887.

THIS Mission is under the episcopal supervision of Bishop Burdon, who resides at Hong-Kong; and it includes Hong-Kong with its out-stations, the Medical Mission at Pakhoi and the scattered congregations in the province of Kwan-Tung, and the rapidly extending work in the Fuh-Kien province. Bishop Burdon made a tour of the Kwan-Tung out-stations in the spring of last year, and he has this year visited Fuh-Chow, where, on March 24th, he ordained two catechists, viz. Ting Chung Seng, of Hing-Hwa, and Ho Sëü Hok, of Lo-Ngwong.

Ordinations.

Sickness sent home three from this Mission last year, Dr. Van Someren Taylor in April, and the Rev. R. W. Stewart and Dr. E. G. Horder in June. The Rev. W. Banister has also come home, mainly on account of health, though his furlough was due. On the other hand, the Rev. J. Grundy returned in November, and the Committee have had the satisfaction of sending five new labourers to the Mission. These are the Rev. Herbert C. Knox, M.A., of Eton, and of Balliol College, Oxford, Curate of Holy Trinity, Richmond; the Rev. H. S. Phillips, B.A., of Corpus Christi College and Ridley Hall, Cambridge, who was ordained by the Bishop of Manchester, for the Bishop of London, at Manchester, on September 23rd; Dr. John Rigg, M.B., C.M., Edinburgh; Miss Agnes Kate Hamper; and Miss Maria Dechal Boileau. Except Miss Hamper, who has joined the little but ardent staff of workers at Hong-Kong, all these have been added to the Fuh-Kién Mission. Reinforcements.

Church Missionary Stations are underlined blue

The Committee have frequently, with much thankfulness, received evidence of the Christian influence exercised by the Society's missionaries on board ship while sailing to and from the Missions. It is not often, however, that their efforts meet with so warm and generous an acknowledgment as did those of Messrs. Knox and Phillips, and two missionaries of the Baptist Missionary Society, who sailed in October by the royal mail steamer Victoria. A daily service was jointly conducted by them, not without considerable opposition at first from their fellow-travellers. Before Ceylon was reached, however, opposition had yielded to hearty appreciation; and when they left the boat a missionary meeting was held, at which 40*l.* was collected, to be divided equally between the Baptist Society and the C.M.S.; and an address, signed by over 100 passengers, was presented, recording their sense of the value of the missionaries' presence and ministrations during the voyage. Service on board ship.

HONG-KONG.

The Rev. J. B. Ost has charge of the work in Hong-Kong, but no report has been received from him. In addition to the several agencies in Hong-Kong and on the mainland, which have been increased during the year by the opening of an Anglo-Chinese Boys' School and a Girls' Boarding-school, the considerable work pertaining to the Secretaryship of the Mission devolves upon him. Miss Hamper, who was very thankfully welcomed in December, wrote a few days afterwards giving her first impressions of the work:—

The schools are most interesting. I believe we have seen all the fourteen. Saturday morning we went to see those on the mainland, and paid our first visit to a real Chinese city, Kowloon, which put me in mind of a farmyard with houses built all over it, leaving a pathway wide enough to walk single file by the side of a gutter. First impressions.

There were a good number of so-called shops, also a plentiful supply of pigs, fowls, and flies. Some children shouted to their companions to come and see the "foreign devils" (we felt we really were in China then, and rejoiced); but there we found a nice little school, and amongst the girls two bright-faced Christians, whose homes we visited, and found the father and mother were Christians. Two other homes we went to, if homes they can be called; for there is no such thing as comfort in a Chinese house.

Mrs. Ost's schools are specially interesting. At present there are twenty-eight in the boarding-schools, some of whom pay for themselves, and others are free. The pastor's wife manages the school, but Mrs. Ost gives a good deal of her time to the Scripture. There are some bright Christians amongst them.

An apparent absurdity.

I am sure the needs of Hong-Kong are not half realized at home; it seems quite absurd to send one out at a time! Do plead very hard for this place. The increase in the population is estimated at a thousand a month. How they exist is a wonder. Then very many leave and go to the mainland, so that if Hong-Kong could be evangelized, the news would soon spread.

CANTON DISTRICT.

The Bishop was sadly impressed, during his visit last year to the little congregations in this district, with their want of vitality and interest in the Gospel; and still more with the urgent need of additional European labourers in this large province of Kwan-Tung. He has offered substantial assistance for five years from a fund at his disposal towards the support of a medical missionary to itinerate with the Rev. J. Grundy. The latter arrived at Hong-Kong at the end of December.

WESTERN KWAN-TUNG.

The Rev. W. Light is the only Missionary at Pakhoi during Dr. Horder's absence. Two baptisms occurred, of an old man and a woman, both from the same village, and both the fruits of the hospital work. Mr. Light says:—

Fruits of the Medical Mission.

An old man, over seventy years of age, came to visit the hospital: he had come some four days' journey. In conversation with him we found that he was well informed in the Christian religion. Some years ago he had by some means obtained a copy of the Scriptures. He had evidently read this book with care. After spending a fortnight or so in the hospital he asked for baptism. He showed every sign of a new life, and I accordingly baptized him. A few weeks after his return to his village a woman from the same place found her way to Pakhoi for treatment. The nature of her sickness necessitated her being in the hospital some weeks. She was taught by the catechist's wife, and a few days before leaving she asked for baptism. She came to Pakhoi blind physically and spiritually, and she returned home seeing, I trust, in both senses. Let us pray that these may be bright lights in their own village!

PROVINCE OF FUH-KIEN.

The pastoral work in this province is connected with ten Native Church Councils, having European missionaries as chairmen. Once a year, in December, delegates from all these councils meet at Fuh-Chow in a Provincial Council. The meetings of this body in December last were deeply interesting and encouraging, on account of the enthusiasm which prevailed, and the right feeling in reference to self-support, early and compulsory marriages, &c., which was manifested. A larger number of women were present than ever before, for whom separate and special meetings were held. Archdeacon Wolfe says:—

Meeting of Provincial Church Council.

One of our ladies, Miss Bushell, the able and indefatigable superintendent of the girls' boarding-school, addressed the council in an admirable speech of some length, pleading for the abolition of early marriages in the case of girls. This speech was received with great enthusiasm, and I believe greatly helped the Native members to come to the happy conclusion of pronouncing against early and compulsory marriages in the case of girls. This was the first time in the history of our Mission that a lady made a formal speech in Chinese before a large meeting such as this Provincial Council happened to be. It had a happy effect, and deserves to be noted as a remarkable circumstance, and proves beyond doubt that this Native Church has taken an important step forward. Not very many years back, the idea of a lady rising to address an assembly would have been considered simply ridiculous by our Native members; the subject-matter of her address would have been considered still more absurd and ridiculous; but the enthusiasm which it elicited, and the effect which it produced, show what a change has taken place, and is taking place, in the views and ideas of our Native Christians in reference to such social questions as early marriages or early betrothals, and foot-crippling; and this is the principal reason why I have mentioned the matter, and to note with thankfulness the step forward which the Native Church has taken.

Speech by a lady, and its effect.

Native Mission to Corea.

Two catechists from this Mission are labouring in Corea, supported by the Native Church, with assistance from a Christian merchant from Australia. The Rev. J. Martin spent several days with them in the autumn to his own and their profit. He wrote:—

The Corean is far superior to the Japanese or Chinese in physiognomy, both men and women being well built. Their dress, in some particulars, is somewhat similar to the Chinese. They live in very small round thatched houses, which are not very clean, and almost bare of all furniture. The city I visited was thronged with the people from the surrounding villages; their wares were spread open in the roads on straw mats, and the sellers squatted on the ground by their belongings. I passed to and fro without attracting much attention; were it in a Chinese city, I should have been investigated and handled by the score. The Chinese brother who accompanied me was noticed with respect, and I was pleased to see that the two brethren had made friends with several of the people. They tell me there are some fifty or sixty who are friendly with them, and who often come in to hear what they have to say. Of these, some ten are most friendly, and have said, were the king willing to withdraw his prohibition against Christianity, they would be willing to acknowledge Christ, but at present they feared the king and his officers, as the king has prohibited all preaching and teaching of Christianity; the catechists cannot go out for public preaching, but they speak privately to individuals. Some are regular visitors at the house, and while there, are willing to listen, and to look at the Bible or at tracts, but they say they dare not take the Bible or tracts away with them for fear of being seen with them. A few came in while I was there, and I said some words to them through one of the catechists. One very pleasant young fellow said he was anxious about his soul, and said he would like to come in to see how we prayed. We invited him in, and when we knelt in prayer he bent his knees. This is the first instance of a Corean bending the knee in prayer in Fu-Sau, and the catechists were led to hope he would be willing to continue.

The first Corean in Fu-Sau to kneel in prayer.

The senior of the two brethren has got on very well with the language.

FUH-CHOW.

Archdeacon Wolfe is Chairman of the Fuh-Chow, Lo-Ngwong, Lieng-Kong, and Hok-Chiang Native Church Councils, and superintends the work in these several districts; the Revs. L. Lloyd and C. Shaw are responsible for the charge of the Theological College, Boys' Boarding-school, and the superintendence of the elementary schools throughout the Mission; and the Rev. J. S. Collins is studying the language. The Rev. Wong Kiu-Taik is pastor of the Native congregation; and the Rev. Ngoi Kaik-Ki assists in the College.

Theological College.

The year at the Theological College reported on by Mr. Lloyd commenced with twenty-three students who were from six out of the ten districts. Two men left the College and were appointed catechists in the Hok-Chiang and Ku-Cheng districts. In the city preaching, to which one day of every week is entirely devoted, the students have endured patiently much ridicule for standing up to recommend, in their provincial accent, so easily distinguishable by the city people, the "Foreign Religion." Mr. Lloyd says:—

Students patient under ridicule.

Our friends at home would smile at the quaint illustrations sometimes employed to turn an adversary's weapons against himself, but they often succeed much better than our own more formal arguments would have done, and this increases the belief, which grows upon me more and more the longer I live in China, that the direct evangelistic work must in the main be done by Chinese Christians themselves; they alone can understand the Chinese need, and they alone know how best to disarm criticism. How many thousands of these Foochow people have listened to our words during the past year it is impossible to say; we hope and believe that fruit shall presently be found even here, where the ground is so hard and trodden down.

The Boarding-school year began with forty-one, but, as this involved crowding, nine were not allowed to return after the summer holidays. Of seven who have left, two are studying medicine with Dr. Rigg, and the other five are day-school teachers.

Of the Country Schools there are nearly a hundred scattered throughout the various Mission districts. At the annual examinations conducted by Mr. Lloyd and Mr. Shaw large crowds are usually present, and excellent opportunities are afforded for explaining and enforcing the truths of the Gospel. Mr. Lloyd gives the following examples of direct fruit which occurred in the Hing-hwa district:—

Scholars refusing to worship idols.

For the last year or two a school has been opened near the city of Hing-hwa, and is attended by about a dozen heathen children. One of the scholars, about thirteen years old, became so concerned at the folly of idol-worship that he refused to worship them any longer; this so enraged his mother that she beat him severely, and threatened him with all sorts of punishment if he persisted in his determination. All her efforts were, however, in vain; and when last I heard of this brave little fellow, he was regularly attending a little service held on Sundays by the Christian schoolmaster in his village. In another school, near this same city, a little girl was so impressed with the love of Jesus that she not only refused to worship the idols herself, but also dissuaded her father from doing so, and has succeeded in persuading him, after a good deal of coaxing, to take her to church every Sunday in the city, where they are now regular worshippers.

Mr. Lloyd is responsible, with the Committee's consent, for an English service on Sundays. Out of the eighty English and American residents at the port about thirty are communicants. Their appreciation of these services is shown by an annual donation from the trustees of the church of $1000 to the Society's work.

With other missionaries Mr. Lloyd has also been engaged in revising the colloquial edition of the Old Testament.

There have been fourteen women under instruction in the Bible Women's Training School, under Mrs. Lloyd, assisted by Mrs. Shaw. One woman has been sent out for work in the Ku-Cheng district.

Miss Bushell, of the Female Education Society, continues in charge of the Girls' Boarding-school, with forty-eight girls, many of them true followers of the Lord Jesus Christ, who "lose no opportunity during their summer vacation of making known the glad news of salvation to their heathen relatives and friends."

Congregation.

The Congregation, under the Rev. Wong Kiu Taik, averages between fifty and sixty, and they are evincing an increase of zeal and spiritual knowledge. More frequent meetings are held for prayer and mutual edification. Four nights in every week the catechists engage in preaching at three different chapels in the city, in addition to taking part in the whole-day preaching at each of these centres, often to large congregations, conducted by the Principal and students of the theological class, and other missionaries. There are two out-stations, viz. Iongtu and Koi Hu, and an intelligent man, whose wife also is a Christian, has been baptized at the latter place.

Dr. Rigg spent a few weeks at Fuh Chow after his arrival in November, and while there he visited, in the company of two other missionaries, a leper village in the suburbs of the city. He gives a painful description of the poor sufferers, to whom his medical knowledge could offer no kind of hope :—

A leper village.

Soon we came to the leper village, and found the first representatives, two men and a boy, sitting at the doors of some squalid wooden houses. Little as we knew of leprosy, the swollen legs and maimed feet and hands told us we were at the outskirts of our destination. The boy seemed very miserable, and we gave him a few cash. One of the men constituted himself our guide, and we went forward to the larger block of houses. Here we entered a large enclosure by a gateway, at the entrance of which was a painting of a tiger, done in a dashing style, the eyes and claws and tail most life-like. Whether this represented the god or devil, to whose influence the leprosy was accredited, we did not know. Inside the courtyard a crowd quickly gathered round us, and the first inquiry they made was for books. Mr. Crosset had a bundle of simple catechisms and other papers, and gave them to those who could read. There were young children, middle-aged and old people, one child of a year or two, and an old man of over seventy; but the young children were not all lepers. Their fingers and toes were in many cases eaten off at the ends, and greatly swollen at the ends of the stumps. Several had only stumps of feet. We were told that there were about 650 lepers in this village alone, and that there were other villages about the city.

We consulted as to the advisability of leaving a dollar or two with some man to be spent for the benefit of the community. We decided to give our money to one man in sight of all the rest, and tell them of the purpose of it; we did so, and were rewarded by a hum of applause. Poor things, it was all we could do for them; no, not quite all, we could pray for them. Let no one blame us, it was the best relief to our helplessness; we knelt down, and they all readily knelt down with us on the ground, and each of us prayed to God to bless these poor people with the knowledge of His Gospel. Mr. Millard prayed in Foo-Chow dialect, and now and then we heard a grunt of assent; Mr. Crosset prayed in Mandarin and English, and I in English also. Our Father heard, and we are sure that in some way blessing will result to these people from our visit. "Our Father heard."

LIENG-KONG AND LO-NGWONG DISTRICTS.

These districts are to the north of Fuh-Chow, and the Native catechists engaged in them are under the superintendence of Archdeacon Wolfe.

Mission work in the large and important LIENG-KONG hien is confined to only one corner of it, the tract between Lieng-Kong and the sea to the east. This portion is divided into two pastorates, viz. Lieng-Kong and Tau-Ka.

The Lieng-Kong pastorate has three congregations, which worship in the city itself, at Pwo Kau, and at Tang-long. Lieng-Kong was the first out-station occupied by the Society. It has now an earnest ordained pastor, the Rev. Ting Sing Ang, who has also a general responsibility for the whole district. Mrs. Ting conducts a day school in the city. The Archdeacon says of her:—

An exemplary pastor's wife.

> She is a most delightful Chinese lady in every respect, and her school is the most flourishing, without exception, in the whole district. Her children, six in number, are being well brought up by her in the fear of God. She makes and mends her husband's clothes and those of her entire family, in addition to her school work. She also has a Bible class for women once a week. She was one of the first girls in the C.M.S. boarding-school in the city of Foochow when my wife had charge of it, and she has in every way done credit to her teachers.

Twenty-two were baptized here by Archdeacon Wolfe last year, of whom nineteen were members of one family. Many of the Christians have had to renounce their ancestral property in adopting the faith of Christ. Pwo-Kau is twelve miles from Lieng-Kong, and is a turbulent and lawless place, but some sixty worshippers meet on the Sabbath in a hired house in the very heart of the town. In the Tau-Ka pastorate there are three churches and five schools, and the labourers consist of two catechists, five schoolmasters, and one Bible-woman. Eleven adults were baptized during the year.

Twenty-three adult baptisms took place in the LO-NGWONG district, but only two were inhabitants of Lo-Ngwong city, and even these were immigrants from another district. The Lau-Iong Christians, in the A-Chia pastorate, are erecting a church to hold 200 people, towards which they have liberally subscribed.

HOK-CHIANG DISTRICT.

This district is also under Archdeacon Wolfe's charge, and is situated to the south of Fuh-Chow. The Rev. Lau Taik Ong is the pastor, and resides at Keng-Tau. The district contains 2285 adherents, and 553 communicants, many more than any other of the ten districts. Mr. Wolfe says:—

Plague, pestilence, and famine, and consequent declensions.

This district has during the year been visited with plague, pestilence, and famine, and I may add murder, and many of the Christians have been taken away by death. The wretched villages all over this region are continually at war with each other. Many catechumens fell away in consequence of their relations and friends having been taken away by the plague, when they expected that God would surely protect them. They went back to their idols, because they thought, as God did not protect the Christians from the plague, He was not able to do so, and they feared the anger of the idols, which they thought had sent the terrible plague.

Progress, and increasing liberality.

But amidst all this falling away and discouragement, I rejoice to say that the Lord's work and cause prospers and progresses in this district, and about 300 have been added to the number of adherents during the year. There is besides this a more general and correct knowledge of Christianity growing among the people, and all active persecution, for the most part, has ceased. The Christians also, as a whole, have become more enlightened, and more willing to give their money towards self-support. They have given this year $40 towards this object more than last year. The Keng-Tau congregation have subscribed $500 towards the erection of a new church which shall hold 600 people. The Chiang-Wang congregation has subscribed $150 for a new church in their village, several heathen taking part in the subscription on the plea that they, too, hope to become Christians in a year or two. The Hong-A congregation has given $200 for a church for themselves. The Christians at Tiang-Taing have built a nice substantial church in their village for about $450, the greater part of which they gave themselves. One heathen man gave $5 towards this church because he thought the religion of Jesus was very good, and wished it success.

A heathen wishes success to Christianity.

In the Keng-Kiang pastorate much progress has been made at Ngiang-Tau, and there are Christians in sixteen neighbouring villages who attend public worship at Ngiang-Tau church. Archdeacon Wolfe mentions an interesting conversion:—

A prodigal converted.

One young man, the eldest son of one of the wealthiest families in the village, has recently, amidst much opposition, come out on the side of Christ. He had been an opium-smoker, and his general conduct had been very bad. He was fond of gambling and drinking, and was fast ruining his health and his father's property. This father was one of our most bitter enemies. He was one of a number of men who banded together to keep Christianity out of their clan, and issued papers and regulations with this object in view. This profligate son of his, however, disregarded these precautions, and came often to converse with the catechist. The truth gradually made its way into his heart, and he began to reflect. At this crisis his young wife, to whom he was much devoted, fell sick and died, and in his sorrow and misery he came for comfort to the catechist. He at once made up his mind to decide for Christ. He gave up all his bad habits, the opium-pipe was thrown away, and the gambling-table abandoned, and he became a regular attendant at the church, and spent most of his time reading the Bible and praying with our catechist. It soon became known to his father and his clan, and every effort was made to hinder him. At length, when all persuasion failed to shake him, they threatened to kill him unless he gave up coming to church; but his faith was equal to the occasion, he threw off his long garment, and boldly presented his bare neck to his father and clan, and said, "Here, kill me; I am ready to die for Jesus. By killing me you will be doing me a great blessing; you will send me at once to Him who has prepared for me a mansion in the kingdom of God." This language of course was mysterious to the heathen father and the chief men of the clan. When all failed, the greatest trial was still to come. His mother cried, and fell at his feet, imploring him by her love for him, and by his duty to her who bore him, not to disgrace his family, and deprive her of a son to sacrifice at her grave after her death, and so cause her spirit or ghost to wander about in the cold world, and no one to present the offering of meat and wine and the necessaries for her comfort in the Land of Shades! This was a terrible trial for the young convert, but he only answered in gentle tones to his mother, and went to his room and spent a long time in prayer to God for his mother. One night, he told me, the trial from his mother's importunity and tears was so great that it nearly overcame him; but he went and earnestly prayed God to change his mother's mind, and keep her from crying. The following morning, to his great joy and surprise, his mother met him, not with moans and tears, but with a smiling face and loving words, and has continued this attitude towards him ever since. He looks upon this as a signal answer to his prayer, and it has wonderfully confirmed him in his faith.

"Ready to die for Jesus."

An answer to prayer.

Archdeacon Wolfe pleads earnestly for prayer in behalf of the converts. He says:—

It is certain that the difficultics and anxieties of the missionary increase with the increasing number of converts and catechumens. In spite of every effort to keep them out, unworthy members will enter the Church, and even some of those who did run well for a while grow cold, and sometimes fall away, apparently for ever. Even those who remain true and faithful call for much care and anxiety on the part of the missionary, and one is really thankful, and indeed rejoices when a true man or woman passes the borderland of death, and is safe from the falls and temptations to which the converts are exposed in this wicked world. I can enter more fully into the feelings of St. Paul than ever, and all expositions of the Apostle's feelings in his missionary trials and anxieties are indeed dull and jejune compared with the vivid realization of them by all missionaries, I fancy, in similar circumstances.

A missionary's anxieties.

HING-HWA DISTRICT.

The Principal of the Theological College has charge of this district, which contains a population probably exceeding six millions. The catechist, Ting Chung Seng, was ordained in March last. Mr. Lloyd says of him:—

Zeal of a Native clergyman.

He, like many another convert in the Fuh Kien Mission, bears in his body the marks of the Lord Jesus. A large indented scar on his leg is the result of a blow inflicted by his elder brother years ago at Ning Taik, when he became aware of Chung Seng's attendance at our services. The latter's great joy is that this same elder brother died a rejoicing Christian.

Mr. Ting speaks the dialect almost perfectly, and is exerting a great influence in the whole region. His earnestness, his unceasing efforts, his self-forgetfulness in his message, are conspicuous to all.

At Taeng Ting, a large village in the Hing-Hwa plain, the little band of twelve Christians are very earnest, one of them especially giving nearly all his time to visiting and other efforts to spread the truth. One whom he brought to Christ is now a schoolmaster at another village, Sá Le. At Chü Hau there are eleven Christians, none yet baptized, and all very poor, who nevertheless subscribed in 1887 $35 for the repair of the house used for Divine worship, and last year they subscribed a like amount towards the support of the catechist, besides providing him with rice. The schoolmaster, in particular, gave the whole of his stipend towards the cost of maintaining the catechist, and had in consequence to sell his only field; and some of the others were obliged to pawn their clothes to make up the sum promised. It is here that the Medical Mission convert resides, referred to in last year's Annual Report (page 203). At Kieng Sang, the most southern station, Mr. Lloyd baptized thirteen in October, all men from the neighbouring mountains, three of whom had been led to Christ by a poor illiterate wood-gatherer, who "during his visits to their solitary houses amongst the hills, had told them of the Saviour whom he had found."

FUH-NING AND NING-TAIK DISTRICTS.

The Rev. J. Martin directs the work in these districts, residing at Fuh-Ning. Dr. J. Rigg arrived in December, and Miss M. D. Boileau in March.

Mission Hospital carried on by Native students.

During the nine months' interval between Dr. Taylor's leaving and Dr. Rigg's arrival the Medical Mission was carried on most satisfactorily by the senior students, who were trained by Dr. Taylor. There were eighty-seven patients in the hospital in March.

The Boarding-school for Women and Girls has sent forth two of its pupils, one to carry on a school for women and girls in one of the Fuh-Ning out-stations, and the other to her own village in Ning-Taik, where the catechist reports that she goes about in her spare time speaking of Christ.

In February last year Mr. Martin, with the Fuh-Ning catechist and a colporteur, took an itinerating tour, through magnificent scenery, to Seu-Ning, a week's journey to the north-west from Fuh-Ning. They found the whole city apparently given up to idolatry, gambling, and opium-smoking; and were warned that if they attempted to preach they would certainly be molested. They did preach notwithstanding, and were listened to most attentively without any rudeness. Other itinerating bands have taken tours in various directions, and for the first time in one year all the five cities of the prefecture have been visited by the heralds of the Gospel. At Fuh-Ang, the centre of Roman Catholicism in the province, there was some encouragement. One who had been under training for the priesthood in the Romish Church visited the catechist, first to oppose, but afterwards to learn, and expressed his satisfaction at finding that Jesus was preached and the Bible taught by the Protestants, of whom he had been told that they had separated themselves from the Church.

Itinerations.

Several of the pastorates in the NING-TAIK District have more than doubled their contributions to the Native Church Fund. At Lek Ta the woman whose sufferings for Christ's sake were described in the Annual Report for 1886-7 (page 208), has been baptized, and appropriately named "Patience." Mr. Martin says of her :—

A woman's suffering for Christ's sake.

Last September the husband of this woman beat her so severely as to compel her to keep her bed for seventeen or eighteen days. For the greater part of that time she ate very little and cried bitterly. In the midst of her sufferings she thought of the words, "A man's foes shall be those of his own household." She thereupon prayed that the Saviour would strengthen her, and make her willing, if necessary, to be beaten to death by her husband, rather than deny Christ. She also prayed that she might have courage to show her faith by attending the Sunday services in the chapel. When she recovered she went to the chapel. At this her husband was greatly exasperated, seized a hoe and threw it at her, saying, "If you will go to worship God, I shall beat you till you die." The wife replied, "If you kill me I shall be saved, but I will not give up going to the chapel." Her husband, seeing she was determined, desisted from beating her; so she is now a regular attendant at the services. She, together with her two daughters-in-law, who join her in her worship, subscribed one and a half dollars towards the church expenses. She is sixty-five years old and was baptized by the name "Patience."

KU-CHENG, PING-NANG, IONG-PING, AND KIONG-NING DISTRICTS.

The Rev. W. Banister has resided at Ku-Cheng throughout the year, but has now come home. The Revs. H. C. Knox and H. S. Phillips will (D.V.), after learning the language, extend missionary operations further into the interior, and are now stationed at Nang-Wa-Kau, to the north-west of Ku-Cheng, where two Native medical students from Fuh-Ning have opened a dispensary.

The KU-CHENG District comprises ten pastorates, and the Ku-Cheng pastorate embraces six congregations. One of them is in a town situated high up in the hills, where the headman lent the large hall of his house for a preaching hall, and where a chapel has now been opened. There has been decided encouragement at five out of the ten pastorates. Two of the graduate inquirers mentioned last year have been baptized, and the one from Nga-Yong has proved an earnest and devoted man. Mr. Banister says of another graduate:—

A Bible "on circuit."

About two years ago I lent a Chinese Bible to a graduate friend, who promised to read it. Some months ago I asked him for it back, as he ought to have read it by that time. He said he had read it and had taken the liberty of lending it to a friend, and that friend had lent it to another friend—in this way a good number of his acquaintances had read it. It is still on its travels. May God bless His precious Word! this silent preacher may do more good than the living voice.

The PING-NANG District has also gone forward, both in numbers and in contributions. Tong Kio is in charge of the Native Deacon, the Rev. Ling Sung Mi. Mr. Banister says of the congregation at this place:—

We have a well-built, large and convenient church, with house for the Native pastor. Every Sunday it is nearly filled with an orderly and intelligent body of worshippers, able to read their Bibles and use hymn and Prayer book. They have Sunday-school before morning service, when the people are questioned on the Scriptures.

Shortly before leaving to come home Mr. Banister passed through a village called Mwong Tie, where a touching question was asked by an old man. He says:—

"Teacher, can I get there?"

On my way to visit the few adherents at Sang Wang Tie, I passed through another village, Mwong Tie, or "Within the Gate," and as we rested we preached to the people, using the name of their village as a text. I spoke of the blessing and the happiness God had prepared for those who love Him, "Within the Gate" of heaven. As I spoke I was much moved by the question of an old man, with a grey head, who stood by leaning on his staff, evidently the patriarch of the village, who, as he listened to what I was saying, broke in with the words, "Teacher, can I get there? I am old and feeble, I am over eighty; can I get there?" Poor old man! my heart went out to him as I assured him that he could enter within the heavenly gate if he trusted in the One who has opened heaven's gate to all believers, —opened it for all, both old and young.

At Pi-Liang a young Christian lad has endured bitter persecution from his father:—

The young man's uncle died about a year ago, and the event made a deep impression on the young man's mind. He had been exhorted to become a Christian by the catechist, but had said he would wait till some of his older relatives became Christians. On the death of his uncle, after only a few days' illness, he came to the catechist and said, "If what you say about the day of judgment and salvation be true, I must become a Christian at once without delay, for what should I do if I were to die suddenly like my uncle? I won't wait any longer." From that day he joined the Christians, and then his father began to persecute him. He beat him, so that the lad fled to the neighbouring town of Kwang Tong from his father's fury. The father had declared that he would surely kill his son, as an example to the village, and then no one else would dare become a Christian. He followed his son to Kwang Tong, caught him, put a rope round his neck, and dragged him through the street until the heathen cried out on him. They expostulated with him, and said if his son had been a thief or bad son they could understand his beating him, but the Christians were a good set of people, and he ought not to treat him thus for no greater crime than joining the Christians. He then ceased to beat his son, but dragged him off to Pi Liang, and then recommenced his persecution. He hung him up by the thumbs, and then beat him, to get the poor young man to say that he would not worship God any more; but could not extort any such promise, and, relatives interfering, he was at last let loose. When Sunday came round, the father used to beat him and drag him into the fields to work, and after a time the young man again fled. He went secretly to the relatives of one of the catechists, Christians, at Sang Po Chai, and there he remains. Surely the constancy of this poor young man ought to encourage us and lead us to pray more earnestly for all who are persecuted!

Staff diminished by sickness, &c.

BISHOP MOULE has kindly sent to the Committee, as usual, a general review of the year's events in this Mission. Writing in October, he dwelt upon the losses sustained; the Revs. J. H. Morgan, J. Neale, and J. Bates, also Mrs. Bates, having left the previous spring, the two first invalided, and Mr. and Mrs. Bates on furlough. Mr. Morgan is now at the Cape. Since the Bishop wrote, Miss Laurence and the Rev. C. J. F. S. Symons have come to England, the latter in order to bring home Mrs. Symons, who was seriously ill, and hoping himself to return at once. The Bishop's letter was written, as he said, "under the shadow of a new and very heavy trial," in the dangerous illness of his nephew, the Rev. W. S. Moule. Twice over all hope was abandoned, but, through God's great goodness, he has been raised up in answer to many prayers.

The Bishop enumerated among the losses experienced by the Mission, that is, by the existing established stations, the departure from Hang-Chow of the Rev. J. H. Horsburgh, with a view to opening up new work further in the interior.

Tour of Rev. J. H. Horsburgh in Sz-Chuen.

At the end of March last year, immediately after the departure for England of Mrs. Horsburgh on medical certificate, he started, in the company of the Revs. A. Phelps and A. Polhill-Turner (just ordained by Bishop Moule), of the China Inland Mission, to visit the large interior province of Sz-Chuen. On the journey Mr. Horsburgh, through a mistake, was without his passport. But it was not once asked for till his journey's end was nearly reached, and then the Mandarin made no difficulty, but, on the contrary, provided for his comfort, and allowed him to proceed. Six months were spent in visiting Shun-king, Ho-cheo, Kiang-Yiu, and other cities in this interesting province. He returned in January to the coast.

The Bishop, in conference with the missionaries at Hang-Chow, has decided that Mr. Horsburgh shall endeavour to commence new work from some point on the Tsien-tang Kiang river above Yen Chow Fu, working westward towards the province of Ngan Hwei.

Reinforcements.

The Revs. E. P. Wheatley, B.A., of the Royal University of Ireland, Curate of Clonmel, and T. H. Harvey, B.A., of Exeter College, Oxford, Curate of Portsea, joined the staff of this Mission during the winter.

SHANGHAI.

"This great centre of mercantile enterprise, of life, of gaiety, of sin, and of opportunities almost unequalled in China for wide-reaching influence," as Shanghai is described by Archdeacon A. E. Moule, has been the scene of the Archdeacon's labours through another year. Six male and five female Native agents constitute the band of paid workers whom he superintends, by whom four chapels and reading-rooms and four day-schools are worked, street-preaching is conducted, and homes are visited. Three are Bible-women. Archdeacon Moule says:—

"Impossible not to be encouraged." As to the results of the year's work, it has seemed to me impossible not to be encouraged by the number of earnest and thoughtful listeners, night after night, especially during the hot weather, coming, some of them, over and over again; and not from mere civility or curiosity sitting out the preaching—preaching too not sensational, not story telling, or song singing, of which the Chinese are so fond, but the preaching of the simple Gospel of the Grace of God. The catechists are of the opinion that their hearers this year have been more intelligent, and distinctly more earnest than last year, and though the reaping has been but small, yet we believe that not a little ripened fruit, watered and nurtured in our chapels, has been garnered by other Missions here; we ourselves also reaping sometimes where our brethren have sown and toiled. If only the fruit be to the Saviour's glory, surely we must rejoice.

Last spring I bought and had repaired a small harmonium, and placed it in the Thorne Memorial Chapel. Dzing Kyi-doh plays and sings every afternoon and evening when he opens the chapel doors, and always draws a good audience. This chapel has given us most encouragement, and here, too, there has been most opposition. One evening a finely-dressed Chinese gentleman connected with the Customs staff, well read in the Bible, came deliberately to oppose and work mischief. His chief point was that we should almost worship Judas Iscariot instead of execrating him, since but for him the Saviour had not died. "And, moreover, if that Saviour was, as you assert, omniscient, why choose a traitor?" Dzing Kyi-doh seems to have answered him well and discreetly, and the crowd of listeners sympathized with the preacher, and begged the fine gentleman to hold his tongue.

Baptisms. A Ningpo man, of fairly well-to-do circumstances, has attended the T'ey Kyi-gyiao Chapel for more than a year, and is an applicant for baptism; and at the chapel in the American settlement, where 'O Ming-yiang is the catechist in charge, a young tailor has been baptized, an apprentice to one of the Christians. This Christian, Zi-s-vu, not only abstains from work on Sundays, but pays his apprentice wages, and conducts him to church, a walk of three miles. Altogether ten adults were baptized during the year. A special effort to reach the residents in Foo-Chow Road, in which the Mission-house is situated, is referred to by the Archdeacon:—

A small parcel of books with a sheet tract, and my card with a brief address and invitation printed on the back, was left at every house east of us, about 100 in all; and with only three exceptions the parcels were civilly received. We hope ere long to work westwards as well.

PROVINCE OF CHEH-KIANG.

NINGPO.

The Rev. J. C. Hoare, owing to the Rev. J. Bates' absence, has had the superintendence of the evangelistic work and the Acting-Chairmanship of the Native Church Council added to his proper charge as Principal of the College. Miss Laurence was engaged in translation work until she left at the end of the year. Miss Gertrude Smith and Miss Higginbotham, who have conducted the Girls' Boarding-school as missionaries of the Female Education Society, have now been transferred, with the entire concurrence of that Society, to the C.M.S., and continue their labours at the school. The Revs. W. S. Moule and C. J. F. S. Symons have applied themselves to the study of the language, the former interrupted by a long illness, which confined him to his bed for more than two months, and the latter by Mrs. Symons' illness, which has necessitated his bringing her home. The Rev. T. H. Harvey is residing at this station while acquiring some knowledge of the language. A humorous allusion to the difficulties of the first stages in this intricate and seemingly almost infinite progression is made by Mr. Walter Moule, in a bright first Annual Letter, written just after attaining convalescence:—

Language difficulties.

In the colloquial, too, my teacher has greatly helped me since the day that he acted tripping and falling to get me to understand the meaning of the word. He is full of life and vigour. We began with names of parts of the body, and so worked on, Mr. Hoare testing in the evening what I had learned. How necessary this was a small incident will show. I had the phrase, "Sing we ts'eng." From the pantomimes of the old gentleman, I took this to mean, "Stomach can digest," and wrote it down gaily, and read it out proudly in the evening. There was much laughter, and I learnt that its real meaning was "Mind can think." But the stomach in China is the seat of thought—hence the pantomime. I have had many opportunities lately of a talk with this man over St. John and the Prayer-book—the former he read with avidity. He is not a Christian. One day he said to me, "You are always talking of and confessing sin. You get up in the morning, you go to worship, you learn your radicals, and go your ways, and in the evening worship again. Where is the sin?" I believe he thinks that to be outwardly moral and to reverence and study the classics are all that is desired, and this latter perhaps not to be required necessarily of a foreigner. The chapel-bell rang all too soon; but what little I could say brought home to me that there is only one Convincer of sin.

The College.

In arithmetic, the first two classes with which I worked seemed to me very fairly forward. Class I. can work fractions, decimals, proportion, and interest sums very well. Class II. have not done interest or decimals. Class III. are engaged on the simple rules. The difficulty is books. Our English books have so much that is useless—weights and measures, English money, &c. The first four boys do algebra; they are very quick at problems. Last September the first two were doing problems in simultaneous quadratics, the other two were in simple equations. They work straight through Todhunter's Smaller Algebra, a new edition of which, in Chinese, Mr. Hoare has just completed.

He adds a few words as to the general character of the boys:—

The boys' knowledge of Scripture is very remarkable, as far as I can judge; and that knowledge has effect on the lives of several. There are many in whom are seen, I think not unclearly, the work of the Spirit. The freedom during the year from any known serious fault among those thirty-six boys shows God's presence, I believe. Quarrelling seems scarce, and I have good opportunity of observing from my window; yet there is no want of "go"—the boys "go" at football, tennis, rounders, &c., very freely, and are full of fun, and pluck too, some of them, as I found out in our games together. Our mid-day prayer-meeting, at which one, or more rarely two, offer prayer, is often most helpful. The longer Saturday evening Prayer Union meeting, with an address from a master or elder boy, I have always enjoyed. The boys, I believe, are truly fond of singing. They always seem to welcome the Sunday evening hour for hymn-singing in Mr. Hoare's house or my room. Each, as a rule, started his own tune. I often heard them singing alone,—even the little boys together on Sunday. Alas! how different yet from English boys,—so few books, so few helps, and the blackness of darkness all round.

The boys' knowledge of the Scriptures,

College press.

Besides Todhunter's Algebra, the College Press has issued two History Primers, Notes on Theology, a reprint of "Pearson on the Creed," and other minor works. A Commentary on the Prayer Book, and Bishop Ryle's Expository Notes on St. Matthew are now in hand.

In the country Day-schools there are 123 boys, and Mr. Hoare was satisfied with the results of his examinations at the beginning of the year.

Itinerating Band.

The leader of the small Itinerating Band was ordained in March, the Rev. Dzing Teh-Kwong. The other two members are Wong Kyiu-hyiang and Dzas Uong-djün. This band was formed with a view to making the Gospel known beyond the limits of existing work, and they have found ample scope for their labours in the unevangelized districts of the T'ai-Chow prefecture, to the south of Ningpo. Mr. Hoare bears thankful witness to their fidelity, earnestness, and zeal, and to their cheerful readiness to endure hardness in Christ's service. He says:—

> Indeed, of the work of those young men it is impossible to speak too highly. Walking over hill and dale in perils of robbers, for T'ai-chow is notorious for its brigands, regardless of comfort, living in filthy, noisy inns, or, as at Great-stone, in a mean hovel—they preach night and day, and they preach only one thing. Herein lies their power; discarding the long arguments which the Chinese preacher so dearly loves, they speak only of one topic, the power of the Crucified One to save souls.

Their one topic.

And God has set His seal to their work during the past year by a large ingathering at Da-Zih (i.e. Great-stone) in the Tai-Chow District. The beginning of this movement was related by Mr. Hoare in the Annual Report of 1886-7 (page 217). T'song, a man from the Tai-Chow prefecture, was treated in the little Mission Hospital by Dr. Daley, the earnest doctor of the port who carries on this Medical Mission effort. He heard the Gospel in the dispensary, and exclaimed at once, "That is just what I want!" He begged that preachers might be sent to help him to spread the good news, and the second tour of the itinerating band was made to his neighbourhood, since which time the place has been regularly visited by them. His father had been brought by him to Ningpo, and baptized at the same time as himself, but died soon afterwards. In the winter of 1887-8 his wife and aged mother, also a neighbour (an old scholar, but a victim to opium) desired baptism, but none of the missionaries was able to go at that time. In November Mr. Hoare went, walking the 200 miles with his four theological students, and they were in due course warmly greeted by T'song and the Itinerating Band. What followed Mr. Hoare must describe. He says :—

We were at once conducted by Tsông to a sort of summer pavilion, built by his father, which he put at our disposal. On Friday, 30th, I met nearly all the candidates for baptism, and, with the Rev. Dzing Teh-kwông, examined into their fitness. It was, indeed, a delightful time. In the farm-house in which we sat—a four-squared building with a court in the centre—were three families, two brothers and a cousin, all old men, their wives, their sons and daughters-in-law and grandchildren, all earnestly confessing their faith in Christ, and asking to be admitted into His Church. They had all been vegetarians, in accordance with the Buddhist doctrine of acquiring merit, now they had given up their superstition. One of the brothers had, with the same object, impoverished himself in doing good works, building bridges, buying captive animals to set them free, &c.; now he was trusting only in the merits of Christ. The same man had had two wives; now, in accordance with the newly-learned law of Christ, he had separated himself from the second wife, making provision for her temporal welfare, whilst she too was becoming his sister in Christ Jesus. Then, too, there were two old women from a neighbouring village, formerly devotees of Buddha, who had burned their old "letters of credit on heaven," and were rejoicing in a present salvation through Christ. There was a young, thoughtful schoolmaster, who had formerly added to his small school-fees by choosing lucky days for weddings, &c.; he had cast that away, and could only speak of his Saviour's love, striving especially to bring those whom he had misled in bygone days to a knowledge of the truth. And he had already had his reward, for he brought with him others; one an old pupil, another an opium-smoker who had been cured in the hospital at Ningpo. He had turned a deaf ear to the Gospel when in the hospital, but had been led to accept it now through God's blessing on the pleadings of his friend. All showed clear, intelligent knowledge of the truth, and bright, earnest faith. It was delightful to see the flash of light which passed over the face of a heavy-looking, illiterate man, when, as I questioned him about the Creed, and asked him if he feared the coming judgment, he exclaimed, "No, I do not fear it now, for Christ has borne my sins away." As I walked up the hill again to our quarters my heart was full of praise and thanksgiving for what I had heard and seen. I had only had to refuse one candidate, and he was an opium-smoker.

Examination of candidates.

Early on Sunday morning we had the Holy Communion together, and then moved off to the farm-house, in one of the lofts of which the services have been held. Here we found the converts and a large crowd of spectators; so large indeed that part of the flooring gave way, but mercifully no one was hurt. It was indeed a glorious day. The converts, quiet and calm, making the responses firmly and without faltering; thirty-one in all, of whom only three were, being infants, unable to answer for themselves. The spectators, too, looked on with reverent silence; indeed, many of them are themselves under instruction, and seeking after the Saviour. May God grant that the souls gathered in that day may be the firstfruits of a large harvest! There are many signs which lead us to hope and expect that this will indeed be the case. Thus in the afternoon, after a stroll for the sake of quiet on the side of the hills, I found on returning to the loft that there was an extempore Sunday-school going on. The preacher, the students, and Tsông were all sitting, each with a little knot of listeners, teaching from the open Word of God. And again that night, far into the darkness, we were plied with questions in our sleeping quarters, put by earnest inquirers after the truth.

"I do love that chapter."

I stepped aside to examine Tsông's neighbour, the old scholar, who has now for more than a year been a candidate for baptism. I had been much impressed by my first conversation with him. I had mentioned the third chapter of St. John's Gospel to him, and he exclaimed, "Oh, I do love that chapter!" and child-like the old man turned to me and repeated the whole chapter through. I asked him what he understood by the Son of Man being lifted up. "Strange," he said, "that expression has been a puzzle to me; the 'Son of Man' is of course Jesus; what is meant by His being 'lifted up'?" I asked him if he had read about the serpent in the wilderness; and the old man's face lighted up. "Yes, I have read that; I see, I see. The serpent was lifted up for the salvation of men; Christ was lifted up on the cross for the salvation of all men." Of the old man's faith there could be no doubt, but then there was the opium. I questioned him about that. He was too old, he said, to take the long, rough journey to Ningpo to be cured, but he had fought against the vice; he had already reduced the quantity which he smoked by nine-tenths, only the one-tenth remained. "Do you mean to give that up?"—"Yes, it is sinful."—"When will you give it up?"—"Now, I am only waiting for medicine to help me;" and then, in answer to further questioning, he said, "Yes, my Saviour will help me." With the old man tottering on the verge of the grave showing such signs of bright faith and true repentance, I felt that I dared not put off his baptism for an indefinite time till I can make my way down here again.

"When will you give it up?"

A few weeks later the leader of the band wrote to Mr. Hoare:—

Persecution and progress.

Persecution from the members of their own families, and from those without, is already beginning to show itself. Pray for them that they may be enabled to stand. Do you remember the man in the market who, when we were preaching in Great-stone Valley, stood up to revile and oppose us? That man's heart has now been changed. Wherever he goes, with whomsoever he meets, he can speak of nothing but forgiveness of sins through Christ; when he goes into the fields to work he frequently bursts into tears at the thought of Christ's love in dying for him.

Work among the women.

Mrs. Hoare has taken up the work among the women, which Mrs. Russell carried on until her death. It is a proof of the excellence of the latter's work that the women in whom she was interested have, almost without exception, continued regular in their attendance at the services and other means of grace. Mrs. Hoare has opened a Boarding- school for Christian Women, who are invited to Ningpo from the out-stations for a few months of the year for instruction in Divine things.

The Pastorates connected with the Native Church Council are four in number. The Rev. Wong Yiu-Kwong has charge of the church in the west of the city, and the Rev. Dzing Ts-sing of that in the east; the Rev. Sing-Eng-teh is pastor of Kwun-hæ-we, and the Rev. O. Kwông-yiao of Z-ky'i.

SHAOU-HING.

The Rev. J. D. Valentine has at length a European fellow-labourer, the Rev. E. P. Wheatley, who arrived in February and took up his abode in the house vacated by the Rev. A. R. Fuller in 1886. The various efforts put forth by Mr. and Mrs. Valentine and his four Native helpers, such as the Sunday services, city preaching, itinerating in the spring and autumn, the boys' day-school, the monthly communicants' prayer-meeting, and Mrs. Valentine's classes for women, have resulted in three adult converts, a widow woman and her two sons. The Christians have spontaneously opened a Sunday-school for the unbaptized adherents. The little Mission Press has been employed in printing a large-type edition of Archdeacon Moule's Chinese "Hymnal Companion to the Book of Common Prayer," containing 221 hymns.

HANG-CHOW.

Bishop Moule, who resides in this city, has taken a full share of the missionary labours. He has, for example, had the pastoral charge of the Native congregation in the city, and has carried on a men's Bible-class, given lectures to the catechists, &c. The other missionaries are the Rev. A. Elwin, who superintends the Boys' Boarding-school and the work in the Chu-ki district; the Rev. G. W. Coultas, who is responsible for the evangelistic work along the river-banks; Dr. D. Duncan Main and Dr. H. Hickin, Medical missionaries; Miss M. Vaughan, who passed her language examination in August, and has commenced her work among the women; and Miss A. L. Wright.

No report of the Hospital, nor from Mr. Coultas, has been received. Miss Vaughan has found the women friendly and glad to be visited in their homes. She has a class for heathen women, and superintends a small day-school for boys.

A beginning of Church organization has been made for the Native congregation in the city and in the Chu-ki district, of which the Bishop says :—

Church organization.

I made a visit to Chuki in June, with Mr. Elwin, to assist him in conducting a Church Meeting of representative Christians, invited from the whole district to the city. The design of the meeting was to promote the organization of the district in three sub-divisions, and the election of vestrymen in each. It was an occasion of great interest. Three vestrymen were elected for each district; and it was proposed that they should not only manage the Church affairs of their respective districts, but hold aggregate meetings, at least annually, for the whole of Chuki, and, as soon as possible, send delegates to Hangchow, to form, with the vestry there, an embryo District Church Council. During a ten-days' visitation of Chuki in September, I found that some at least of the vestrymen seemed to be recognizing their duties, in promoting collections for the Church, and helping their brethren with sympathy and advice when in trouble.

Boys' Boarding-school.

It is in the interests mainly of the Chu-ki Christians that the Boys' Boarding-school has been opened. Mr. Elwin says :—

It was felt that some institution of this kind was really a necessity. Christian boys, in some cases, in the Chu-chee district were being brought up almost as heathen; and in other cases, where the parents really desired their children to receive instruction, there was no place to which to send them. There are excellent schools in the district, but boys who will not worship Confucius are not admitted. The people being so scattered, it was impossible to give instruction on the spot; the only feasible plan was to have the boys to Hangchow, or some other convenient place, and instruct them there.

Chu-ki district.

Mr. Elwin paid five visits to the Chu-ki district during the year, on one of which he was accompanied by Dr. Main, who attended to 330 patients; and on another by Mrs. Elwin. Of the latter occasion Mr. Elwin says :—

Making the city of Chu-chee our headquarters, we also visited and slept at Whang-do-fang, S-kao-u, Great Valley, Grief's Market, and Fong-zoo-dang. We visited Christians in other places, but did not sleep there. I was very thankful my wife was able to visit these places with me, and, for the sake of cheering up the Christian women, was willing to put up with the indescribable filth of these Chinese houses. In some houses there seemed to be the concentrated essence of every abominable smell, and the accumulated dirt and dust of years on almost everything. A duster is an unknown thing in a Chinese house, unless a damp cloth rubbed over a chair or table be so called, and this is only in honour of a guest. At one place we visited, Wang-do-fang, the Christians regularly eat all the little dirty puppies, and great fat spiders are esteemed a delicacy. I have now in my possession a well-cooked spider, which was prepared for my special benefit in that house. I must say it did not smell bad, but as for taking a bite, that was more than I could manage!

Chinese delicacies.

It was hoped that this visit would merely be preparatory to a long stay in the district, but, I am sorry to say, these hopes have been doomed to disappointment. The very cold mornings in the draughty Chu-chee houses, the long, fatiguing rides in sedan-chairs (one ride alone, that from the Great Valley to the city, took no less than eight hours), the cold, the fatigue, together with the filthy state of everything, and the overpowering smells, from which there was no escape, brought on rheumatism and other complaints, from which Mrs. Elwin suffered for months afterwards, and at last, in June, necessitated my asking the local Conference to be allowed to take her to Japan for change.

Ten men and the wife of one of them stayed with Mr. Elwin several weeks for instruction in the winter.

JAPAN MISSION.

Kiu-shiu, 1869; Osaka, 1874; Tokio, 1874; Hakodate, 1874.

New constitution.

The inauguration of a representative constitution, long expected by the people of Japan, has at length taken place. In February last, in the palace at Tokio, the emperor, in the presence of the empress, princes, foreign diplomatic corps, and others, formally handed to the Prime Minister the charter which confers many new civil liberties on the people, and provides for the future appointmemt of Peers and Commons to make and administer the laws. General enthusiasm prevailed on the day of this promulgation, and a justifiable pride was indulged that Japan should be the first Asiatic kingdom to adopt a representative Government. To those, however, whose desire and prayer are that this great people may enjoy the blessedness of the nation whose God is the Lord, the clause which will be thought most hopeful in the new constitution is the one which provides that "Japanese subjects shall, within the limits not prejudicial to peace and order, and not antagonistic to their duties as subjects, enjoy freedom of religious belief." By this clause religious liberty, which has been gradually conceded during the last twenty years, and has been for some time practically enjoyed, is now recognized as a principle of government, and is guaranteed to all within the empire.

Religious liberty assured.

The possession of these political powers by the people is a fresh and loud call to the Christian Church to make known to them the righteousness which is of God in Christ, which alone exalteth a nation, and whereby alone is counsel and sound wisdom. At the same time, the recognition by the State of the inestimable right of each subject to worship God according to his own conscience is an encouragement to expect a still more rapid extension of the borders of Christ's visible Church in the land. Even hitherto the growth has been very remarkable. Nearly 7000 adults were baptized in the Protestant Missions last year. The growth of the year in the Society's Mission has been at the rate of 43 per cent. At the several stations and out-stations 505 were admitted into the Church by baptism, of whom 382 were adults, making the total number of baptized Christians 1352; besides whom there were 184 catechumens at the close of the year.

Rapid spread of the Gospel.

In the work in these islands which now invites the energies and devotion of Christians, that among the women must be allowed to be in the first rank in the measure of its importance. The Committee rejoice to have been privileged to send out three lady missionaries since their last Report. Indeed, among the party of seven which left these shores in October, only one, besides these ladies, was a distinct addition to the staff. The Rev. C. F. Warren's long leave of absence was necessitated by Mrs. Warren's illness, his name has never been removed from the list of missionaries, and he has now returned to his old post as secretary of the Mission; and the Revs. P. K. Fyson and W. Andrews have returned, after their furloughs, to Tokio and Hakodate respectively. The Rev. A. R. Fuller is the one addition to the male missionaries. He was invalided home from Mid-China in 1886, after four years of service, and the medical board recommended his not returning thither. He is for the present stationed at Nagasaki. The ladies sent forth were Miss K. Tristram, B.A., of London University, Mathematical Lecturer at Westfield College, Hampstead, and daughter of Canon Tristram; Miss Anna Maria Tapson; and Miss Mary Gertrude Smith, daughter of the Rev. T. T. Smith, the Society's active Association Secretary in Lancashire, &c. Miss Lucy Payne, who laboured for a short time in the North India Mission, and has lately been residing in Japan, has also been added to the band of lady workers. Lady missionaries.

Within a week of the arrival of the lady recruits just enumerated at Osaka, Miss Jane Caspari, the only unmarried lady missionary of the Society in this Mission up till then, was removed by death, to the great sorrow of all. Miss Caspari had been engaged for thirteen years, from 1865 to 1878, in Sierra Leone, and from 1880 in this Mission. A missionary of the Female Education Society wrote respecting her:—"She was a ray of cloudless sunshine in our missionary circle. I never knew anybody who both found so much happiness in her life and made so much unfailing brightness as she did, or anybody who was so loving and unselfish." Death of Miss Caspari.

Two new stations have been occupied during the past year, viz., Fukuoka in the southern island of Kiu-shiu, and Tokushima in the island of Shikoku. The Society has now its missionaries stationed in each of the four chief islands of the Empire, and it will be convenient in this Report to adopt a division corresponding thereto. It must, however, be stated that the names which are commonly applied in Europe and America to these islands are not so generally recognized in Japan itself. Niphon, for example, the name on the map in this Report for the main island, is one of the names which is used by the Japanese to designate the whole Empire. New stations.

I. THE MAIN ISLAND.

The Society's chief station in this island is Osaka, where more than one-third of the whole European staff of this Mission are engaged. The other station is Tokio, more than 300 miles eastward along the coast, which is the capital of the empire.

OSAKA.

The Rev. H. Evington, besides discharging the duties of the secretariat, has superintended the pastoral and evangelistic work in the city and out-stations; the Rev. W. J. Edmonds* has assisted Mr. Evington, more especially in the pastoral charge of the congregation worshipping at the "Church of the Saviour" in the city; the Rev. G. H. Pole has conducted the theological class and boys' school, being assisted in the former by the Rev. G. Chapman, and in the latter, pending the erection of the Boys' Boarding-school, by the Rev. T. Dunn; and Miss Caspari laboured, until her death, among the women and children, and also took English classes at the Divinity School. The Rev. C. F. Warren has now relieved Mr. Evington of the secretariat duties, and the charge of the city work. Miss K. Tristram has charge of the Girls' School, and is assisted by Miss Boulton, the experienced missionary of the Female Education Society, and Miss A. M. Tapson.

Divinity School.

The Divinity School has lost the students of the American Episcopal Mission, who were receiving their training there, they having been removed to Tokio. It was, notwithstanding, quite full at the commencement of the year. There are thirty-nine youths in the Boys' School, of whom thirteen are boarders.

Congregations.

At Trinity Church there were thirty-eight adult baptisms last year. The Rev. B. H. Terasawa is the Native pastor. The Church of the Saviour has had to be enlarged to meet the requirements of the increasing congregation. Mr. Edmonds conducted a small weekly Bible-class, and established a Young Men's Association, the members of which, under his guidance, held a preaching practice once a week, and preached to the heathen on two other evenings of the week. Mr. Edmonds also held a Bible-class every other day at 7 a.m., which was very successful during the summer.

Out-stations.

The Out-stations are all considerably to the west of Osaka, in the provinces of Iwami, Idzumo, Hoki, and Biugo, all in the south-western horn of the crescent which this island forms. The Rev. Y. Nakanishi has been transferred from the Church of the Saviour, in Osaka, to Matsuye in the province of Idzumo. The Bishop confirmed eleven candidates at Fuchiu, Biugo province, in March. Mr. Edmonds accompanied him, and gave the following account of the visit:—

We had a very rough passage for the last four hours of the journey; and as most of the Inland Sea steamers which visit these small places only draw about five or six feet of water, and are very top-heavy, a nasty sea makes them decidedly uncomfortable. However, we reached Tomotsa (the port of Fukuyama) about 4 p.m. the day after starting, and reached the latter city about six. We rested at the house of one of the Christians for half an hour, whilst arrangements were being made for our jinrikishas. We arrived at Fuchiu, very tired, about nine o'clock, and after a short rest and some food, commenced a Confirmation Service at 10.20 p.m. Eleven were confirmed, several coming over from Fukuyama and Era Mura. I gave the address for the Bishop, and we turned into bed at one o'clock in the morning. We rose at 6 a.m., and at 7 o'clock I assisted the Bishop in the Holy Communion. At ten o'clock several of the Christians came to consult about some plans for their school, the opening of which was to take place that afternoon. We reached there about two o'clock, and found everything ready to commence.

* While these pages are passing through the press the Committee have received intimation, by telegram, of the death of the Rev. W. J. Edmonds.

Confirmation at Fuchiu.

After tea and polite talk, we jumped into our jinrikishas, and were rushed off to Fukuyama, where we arrived at 6 p.m. I must say I felt pretty tired, and should have enjoyed going to bed, but at eight o'clock we went to church, where I gave an address based on the various phases of prayer as instanced in St. Luke xviii., but our day's work was not over yet, for of course the Christians wanted a talk, and kept us going until past midnight. We were up at five next morning, and left for Tomotsa at 6.30, where we embarked for Kobe, which we reached at 11.45 p.m., after a good passage.

TOKIO.

The Rev. J. Williams has now been rejoined by the Rev. P. K. Fyson. The baptized Christians number 134 in the city and at the two out-stations of Bo-shiu and Ko-nodai. They took a deep interest in the promulgation of the new Constitution on February 11th, arranging of their own accord for a service in the church to seek God's blessing on the day, and in the evening uniting with the Christians of the other Protestant Missions at a general meeting for thanksgiving, held in a large public hall, which was built originally for the purpose of delivering lectures to combat Christianity.

Native Christians welcoming the "New Constitution."

II. THE ISLAND OF KIU-SHIU.

The increase in the number of adherents in this southern island has again been considerable. More than 180 adult baptisms are reported. In 1884 there were only ninety adult church members, at the end of 1888 there were 430; almost a five-fold increase in four years. The Bishop made a tour for confirmations in March, and remarked that the number of places had doubled where confirmations were required since his first visit to this island two years before,

Local Council of Japan Church.

The Second Local Council, for Kiu-shiu, of the Japanese Native Church was held at Saga in December, and passed off very happily. The delegates chosen for the next meeting of the Synod were John Mutsuka, Paul Watanabe, Namakura, and Koga; of whom the first three are catechists of the Society, and the last is an agent of the Missionary Association of Japanese Native Church labouring under the Rev. J. B. Brandram.

NAGASAKI.

In proportion to the opportunities with which it has been favoured, Nagasaki's share of the numerical progress of this island is but a small one. Twelve adults, including several at the out-stations, was the number received into the Church during the year. The foreign community for the most part show little interest in the work.

Archdeacon Maundrell has had more encouragement in some of the villages within the Nagasaki ken, or prefecture. He says:—

Work in the villages.

I am thankful to be able to report some new ground broken up outside Nagasaki, but within the Nagasaki ken, at the three towns or large country villages which I have visited at intervals during the year. At Isahaya, on one occasion, most of the school-teachers and learned men of the place came together to hear my description of Christianity, and they promised to give it their serious consideration. It is a hot-bed of Buddhism, but not without hope. At Shimabara, a town of 10,000 inhabitants, where, also, Buddhism is very strong, I have had some good listeners, and have been supported and most hospitably entertained by one or two of the more wealthy residents, one of whom opened his house and threw two or three of his rooms together for the preaching of the Gospel. This town was formerly the seat of a Daimio, and near it is the site where the Roman Catholic early converts suffered defeat. At Kojiro, which is halfway between Isahaya and Shimabara, two persons were baptized at the end of the summer.

Kagoshima.

And of Kagoshima, down the coast, of which he continues in charge, the Archdeacon says:—

The congregation at Kagoshima consists of fifty-seven men, thirty-five women, and ten children. There are twenty-five communicants and twenty-seven catechumens. Some of these latter belong to a suburb of Kagoshima, from which I baptized a few persons in the autumn. The work at Kagoshima is hopeful. An American gentleman, a member of our own Church, is residing there as Professor of English in the employ of the local authorities. Another such gentleman, a Methodist, is residing at Saga. They are supplied to Japan by an American Foreign Educational Society, one of whose main objects is to select Christian men for educational posts in non-Christian countries. They are doing a good work in Japan.

FUKUOKA.

The two north-western provinces of Chikuzen and Chikugo are included within the Fukuoka ken, which is the district assigned to the Rev. A. B. Hutchinson.

At Fukuoka, in CHIKUZEN, there is much inquiry amongst the upper and official class. Soon after arriving there Mr. Hutchinson formed a class of English-speaking gentlemen, who in the course of their study of the opening chapters of St. Matthew, put such questions as: "If God be everywhere, where was the need for Him to use angels to communicate with men?" "Did Jesus Christ have a really human mind, or did His deity supply the mind to His human body?" Thirty-eight adults were baptized in this town last year. The aged mother-in-law of the ex-Shinto priest at Onodani was baptized in April. She is seventy-four years old, and quite blind. Her daughter, who a year before was fiercely opposed to Christianity, but had since embraced the Gospel and been baptized, brought her with loving care from the neighbouring village, and listened with joy to her answers to the simple questions asked, telling of her faith in the only Saviour who was crucified for her sins. There has been some persecution in this place. Mr. Hutchinson says: —

It appears that these villages are assessed at so much for the year, and the tax is raised amongst themselves at so much per house, according to the position of the occupiers, who are classed as first, second, or third class. The three Christian families have, up to this time, been in the latter division, but the village council has decided to charge them first at the rate each house would pay if the sum were merely divided by the number of houses, and then treat the rest in the old way. They could appeal, and no doubt successfully, to the courts, but as this is inflicted on account of their faith, they have nobly determined to bear it patiently for the Lord's sake.

Social persecution at Onodani.

In the CHIKUGO province the interest centres at Oyamada. In last year's Report it was related what manner of entering in the Gospel had to this place. Mr. Hutchinson says:—

Ninety-five adults and fifty-eight children have here been admitted by baptism into the fold of Christ's Church, and have shown a steady consistency in walk and conduct since. They have prepared for and are building a church of suitable height, 66 feet long by 30 wide, and have also built with help, which I have gladly afforded, a residence for the future pastor. Mary Ottisa, the wife of our catechist, has a Sunday-school of over forty children. The adults come of an evening to read the Scriptures and sing hymns, whilst some who hitherto

and Confirmations at Oyamada.

Bishop Bickersteth confirmed eighty candidates here in March. He wrote :—

In Oyamada, which is beautifully situated between two of the lowest spans of a great mountain wall, 150 out of 200 inhabitants are Christians. It was a new and delightful experience, which I may perhaps be allowed to enjoy more frequently in the future, to find a whole village en fête, and to be welcomed as their Bishop by what seemed the whole population. The catechist's house is already built and occupied. It is hoped that the church will be ready by midsummer. Eighty were confirmed and received Holy Communion. I never was present at more reverent or impressive services. Mary, the catechist's wife, formerly one of Mrs. Goodall's girls, is doing excellent work among the women. There are a considerable number of inquirers in the surrounding villages; we may indeed well say our "Thanks be to God."

The Bishop welcomed by the whole population.

KUMAMOTO.

The Rev. J. B. Brandram has charge of the work in the provinces of Higo and Hiuga, residing at Kumamoto with his sister, Miss Brandram. The Rev. W. Weston was assigned to this station by the Missionary Conference, and spent a few months here in the winter, but a serious affection of the eyes necessitated his removing to Tokio to consult an ophthalmist, and he has been ordered to take rest from study.

Twenty adults have been baptized in the province of HIGO, namely, thirteen at Kumamoto, five at Yamaga, one at Koye, and one at Oshima. Mr. Brandram observes that thirty-four Christians connected with the Mission have removed from the district, of whom several were students at the Medical School, which has now been abolished, and two were teachers in the same Institution. At Kumamoto, the class for officers of the garrison, mentioned last year, is still carried on. At Yamaga, where were two who had been baptized, one of whom was giving pain by his inconsistent life (but he has now left), the other, Mrs. Nakamura, holding on steadfastly alone, five have joined the Church. Mr. Nakamura is one of these, and another is a man of some means and influence, of whom Mr. Brandram says :—

He went to Tokiyo to study law, but returned to Yamaga last year. I first met him then. He seemed disposed to listen to what I said, but was not interested. At the beginning of the year, Inutsuka visited Yamaga, when this man seemed unsatisfactory; he came to service, and listened, but without appearing to get any benefit. One Saturday evening he had been saying that he could not come to the service on the morrow; however, that night he slept at Mrs. Nakamura's house; in the middle of the night he woke up, and seemed to hear God speak to him and command him to believe. He then and there prayed, and his heart was so filled with joy that he woke up his host and hostess, and the three together prayed and thanked God. Then, not being able to keep the good news until the morning, they went to Inutsuka's inn and roused him up, and together with him united in praising God. In the autumn I was there, and thirteen of us gathered in worship. There are more inquirers. A joyful convert.

In HIUGA province sixteen adults were baptized, thirteen at Nobeoka, and three at Oita. The only woman among the believers at Kami no Mura has read the New Testament through five times. The three baptized at Oita, where the catechist, Koga Bahei, is an agent of the Missionary Society of the Church of Japan, were a remarkable trio,—a lawyer, a dancing girl, and the catechist's father:— Read the New Testament through five times.

Koga's father, who is over seventy, says he hopes to go back to his native village to tell the good news to his relations and friends, and he quoted, "Ye are the salt of the earth," &c. The lawyer is now a colporteur, a most earnest man. The "dancing girl," who has borne much persecution, is now earning her living by weaving. A remarkable trio.

III. ISLAND OF SHIKOKU.

THIS is the smallest of the four islands, and lies between the main island and Kiu-shiu. TOKUSHIMA, the chief town in the province of Awa, has a population of 60,000; the whole province contains about 800,000, living in towns or villages of from 3000 to 300. It was the first out-station opened from Osaka, and was first visited by Mr. Evington in 1880, at the invitation of two Natives who had been members of the Greek Church. The Rev. W. P. Buncombe took up his residence here in October last, a passport having been granted for this purpose for two years, on the ground of his engagement to give some instruction in English in a gentleman's school there. The chief officer of the Inland Revenue Department, whose wife was baptized last year, is the leading man in this school, which is attended by about thirty gentlemen of the official class. Four of the members are Christians. Eight adults were baptized last year, making twenty-five baptized Christians, and there are five adherents. A series of evangelistic services was held here at the commencement of the present year, when separate daily meetings were held for young women and for young men and boys, and each evening general Special evangelistic services at Tokushima.

meetings were held in one of the theatres. At some of these last meetings probably not less than 1000 were present. Several applied for baptism. At Tomioko, fifteen miles from Tokushima, there are sixteen baptized Christians; and one adult was baptized.

IV. ISLAND OF YEZO.

Progress in Yezo.

THE Rev. J. Batchelor was alone at Hakodate until December, when the Rev. W. Andrews returned. There were 54 baptisms during the year; viz. 6 in Hakodate, 37 in Kushiro and its neighbourhood, and 11 in Horobetsu, the headquarters of the Ainu Mission. Mr. Andrews was much struck with the progress made during the sixteen months of his absence. The Rev. Terata Torato has had a serious illness, from which he has not fully recovered.

At Horobetsu there are fifteen Ainu children in the new school, built last year, and eleven Ainu and twelve Japanese children attend the Sunday-school.

European Ordained Missionaries, 16; European Female Teachers, 5.

NEW ZEALAND MISSION.

European Missionaries first arrived in New South Wales 1811; proceeded to New Zealand 1814; Mission confined to the Northern Island.

DIVISION OF THE MISSION.

I. Diocese of Auckland. II. Diocese of Waiapu.
III. Diocese of Wellington.

Bishop Hadfield elected to the Primacy of New Zealand.

The Committee were rejoiced to learn of the election of their revered friend, the Bishop of Wellington, to the Primacy of the Church in New Zealand. Bishop Hadfield has been a missionary of the Society for fifty years. It was in 1839, shortly after landing in the island, that he went to Otaki, at the earnest solicitation of the chief's son, who had travelled more than 500 miles to the Bay of Islands to urge this request. In 1870 Mr. Hadfield was consecrated the chief pastor of the district in which he had been the first to proclaim the Gospel. And now, by the votes of the Maori and European Churchmen of both islands, he has been selected for the highest office in the Church.

Visit to England of Archdeacons S. Williams and E. B. Clarke.

Bishop Hadfield is one of the three episcopal members of the Mission Board which has the charge of the Society's work in the Mission. The Committee had the pleasure last year of welcoming the two other episcopal members, viz. the Bishops of Auckland and of Waiapu; and they look forward this year with special interest to seeing Archdeacons S. Williams and E. B. Clarke, both members of the Board. The fathers of these veteran missionaries began their labours on the Bay of Islands nearly seventy years ago, before the first converts were baptized.

It must not be omitted to record a pleasing interview which the Committee had in October with the Bishop of Nelson. The Bishop was accompanied on this occasion by Mrs. Jennings, whose two sons are missionaries of the Society at Gisborne and Otaki respectively.

I. DIOCESE OF AUCKLAND.

The European staff in this northern diocese consists of Archdeacon E. B. Clarke, who, during the intervals of his frequent and laborious visitations to the Native pastorates, resides at Waimate; the Rev. R. Burrows, who lives at Auckland, and is Secretary of the Land Board; the Rev. F. T. Baker, stationed at Waitara; and the Rev. J. Matthews, who lives, and labours still, though retired, after fifty-eight years in the Mission, at the northern station of Kaitaia. Except, therefore, Archdeacon Clarke's visit to this country, no change has taken place in the European labourers. Yes! one other change must be noted, viz. the death of Mrs. Burrows in August, at the age of eighty-two, a labourer to the last, after close upon half a century of service in New Zealand. In the staff of the Native clergy no further change has occurred than the appointment of the two deacons ordained in 1887, the Revs. H. N. Paerata and H. R. Hukatere, to Waimate (temporarily) and Oruru respectively.

Death of Mrs. Burrows.

Two churches have been opened in the Northern District, one at Kapehu on the Kaipara, the other at Whangape. In this district, especially at Waikare and Waiomio, the Mormons are very active. Their assumption of self-denial and their going about without either purse or scrip takes with the ignorant, the Archdeacon says; and their condemnation of the endowment system and of contributing for the maintenance of the ministry accords with the feelings of some. On the other hand, their pretensions have led many to look more carefully into the grounds for the hope which is in them. Both the King movement and the influence of Te Whiti are gradually losing their hold of the people. Tawhiao, the "king," has renounced Hauhauism for pure and simple heathenism. In the Waikato district all the people of Waiotu, about eighty in number, have formally returned into the Christian Church, and have their regular services led by teachers who originally went from Otaki. They are about to build a church, and one of their young men is under training at Gisborne with a view to becoming the pastor of his tribe. The Archdeacon says of other places in this and the Tauranga districts:—

Efforts of Mormons.

A Kingite village recovered to the Church.

> At Otorohanga and Te Kuiti, in the heart of what used to be called the "King Country," the people willingly attend the services, and are anxious for frequent visitations. The same may be said of the people throughout the district, as at Tamahere, Mata-Mata, Maunga Tautari, and Maunga Kawa. Without definitely professing to have given up their false religion, they have practically done so. They still labour in the fields on the Lord's Day as on other days, but will leave off to come to a service. This is not of course all that we desire, but it is a wonderful contrast to their former conduct, and gives us much encouragement.
> I spent a few days in the Tauranga district, and was everywhere greeted as an old friend. At one place, Peterehema, all hands were at work in their cultivations on the Sunday, but out of compliment to me, or perhaps for a better reason, they left off for a service which was held under some trees in the field. Humanly speaking, what we so much want is the means for carrying on a special and sustained "Mission" to the lapsed Christians, both of Waikato and Tauranga.

Waitara, Mr. Baker's station, is near New Plymouth, on the western promontory of the island. A considerable number of Maoris reside at Parihaka, about forty miles from Waitara, the great majority of whom are still under the influence of Te Whiti. But there is a marked improvement in the spirit in which they regard efforts to restore them to the Christian fold.

II. DIOCESE OF WAIAPU.

Archdeacon W. L. Williams and the Rev. E. Jennings reside at Gisborne; Archdeacon S. Williams labours at Te Aute; Mr. J. W. Duffus, a lay evangelist, is at Tauranga; the Revs. W. Goodyear and S. M. Spencer, the latter a retired clergyman, are at Maketu; and the Rev. G. Maunsell has charge at Opotiki.

Theological class.

Fifteen students are in the Theological Class. The subjects of instruction are as follows:—

(1) The interpretation of Holy Scripture in the Maori language; (2) Bible history and geography in general; (3) Church history, including (a) that of the early Church, (b) that of the Church of England prior to the Reformation; (4) The Book of Common Prayer, with the Ordinal; (5) The Thirty-nine Articles; (6) The preparation of sermons. Besides these, lessons are given in general geography, in the English language, arithmetic, and singing.

The senior students go out and hold services in the various Maori settlements on Sundays. Since this Institution was opened in 1883 seven of its students have been ordained.

New churches.

A new church was opened in December in the district of Whareponga; and two others are in course of erection, one at Horowera in the Kawakawa district, the other at Whakato, near the old Mission station which was opened in 1840. The latter is in memory of the late Bishop Williams of this diocese, and will be decorated with the handsome woodwork carvings from the old church begun in 1850. 800*l.* has been collected towards the cost of its erection.

Along the shore of the Bay of Plenty, Te Kooti still has great influence. Mr. Maunsell gives an example of the teaching he overheard from one of their "shining lights":—

Te Kooti services.

The occasion was one of their monthly gatherings, held on the twelfth of every month. Rawiri loquitur: "The eleventh is an important day, because when Jacob passed over Jabok he had eleven sons, therefore we ought to observe the eleventh of the month, but when he got to Canaan he had twelve sons, therefore the twelfth is a still more sacred day. Again there are twelve commandments, ten given at Sinai, and two afterwards, i.e. 'Thou shalt love the Lord thy God, &c.,' and 'Thy neighbour also.' One for heaven and one for earth." And so they stumble on and refuse to come to the light. Self-sufficiency is their besetting snare.

On the other hand, Mr. Duffus, of Tauranga, had a happier experience. He says:—

I may mention that I was present at one of their services some time ago, and certainly heard nothing to which I could take exception. A chapter was read from St. John's Gospel and properly explained, a Psalm was chanted by all present, and the prayers were all from the Prayer-book. The change of their day of rest from Sunday to Saturday is, at many settlements, the only change they will own to.

But there is a pronounced improvement in regard to temperance and general prosperity. Mr. Duffus says:—

No one who has seen much of the Natives of late years can fail to notice that socially they are making rapid progress. Such is the case even in the Bay of Plenty, where they are so much under the influence of Te Kooti, Himiona, and other false teachers. Speaking generally, the Maori is now very sober, fairly industrious, and law-abiding; very much more so than he was ten years ago. Drinking may be said to have quite gone out of fashion, and is not now tolerated at their funerals, meetings, or even their racecourse here. Nearly all the young people belong to the Church of England Temperance Society.

Drinking out of fashion.

At the Whariroa settlement on the Tauranga harbour they have for many years given up the whare, or Maori house made of rushes, and live in comfortable weather-board houses. These generally have four rooms, chimneys, tables, chairs, bedsteads, &c. They are generally lined, and often papered. They have lately taken to keeping sheep, and grow wheat in a large way. The Peterehema Natives, on the other side of the harbour, have lately followed their example. Each family now has a comfortable cottage, around which they have planted Pinus insignis for shelter. They also have 100 acres in wheat, and a water-mill to grind it.

Increased prosperity

At Maketu the Te Kooti people have been more hostile, and, in addition, both Mormon elders and Romanist nuns have sought to lead the people away. Of the last, Mr. Goodyear says:—

Efforts of the Church of Rome.

The tactics of the Roman Catholics is to secure, at all hazards, the adhesion of the women, knowing that the men must follow: this I am determined, by God's help, to thwart.

III. DIOCESE OF WELLINGTON.

The Rev. A. O. Williams, at Wanganui, and the Rev. J. McWilliam, at Otaki, are the European missionaries in the Western District. There are now three Native clergy, one, the Rev. H. Te Herekau, having died in January last year. Mr. Williams says that drunkenness, so prevalent among the Maories a few years ago, is now almost unknown. And he gives some striking examples of his statement. At Putiki, where nearly every Maori attends the services, and there is a good number of communicants, a meeting lasting three weeks was held in April and May. Mr. Williams says:—

Drunkenness almost unknown.

> The chiefs appointed a committee, whose duty it was to see that no Maori or European brought any spirituous liquors into the pa, and to impose a fine upon and expel from the meeting any one found breaking this rule. As a matter of fact, the only person who did break it was an Englishman, and he was promptly fined. The conduct of the 300 or 400 Maories present was exceedingly good, and our daily morning and evening services were well attended.

Again:—

> Three years ago I attended my first meeting in this district. Large barrels of beer, and endless bottles of spirits were to be seen on all sides, the occasion being the opening of a Maori meeting-house. When we sat down to dinner the Maories placed before me, as my share, a bottle of brandy, a bottle of champagne, and one of ale. A few months ago I attended a similar meeting in the same district, and a request was made to me to open the house with divine service and a sermon, and when our service was over two bottles of wine were brought in. Major Kemp, the leading chief here, apologized and said, "It is not to drink, but only to break against the posts of the house in accordance with your English custom." Not another drop of spirits was seen, and none was drunk during the meeting, which was attended by 400 Natives, and lasted ten days.

Mr. McWilliam bears a similar testimony. He says, "Maories who drink are hopelessly in the minority." In other respects, particularly the attitude of the Te Whiti-ites, the prospect, he thinks, is brighter and more encouraging. He says:—

Brighter prospect.

> At Horowhenua, a place I have been repeatedly advised to give up altogether as wholly given over to Te Whiti-ism, but have always refused to do so while even one adhered to the faith, I was pleased to notice at my last visit that a reaction seems to have begun: a number of professing Te Whiti-ites attended the services, and I was asked to visit them more frequently, which I promised to do, though at the expense of other places which can better stand alone. This and other similar indications, noticeably at Waikanae, another place where Te Whiti was in the ascendant, seem to show that this delusion is on the wane, and is becoming gradually restricted to the districts more immediately around Parihaka.

DIVISION OF THE MISSION.

I. Dioceses of Rupert's Land and Qu'Appelle.
II. Diocese of Moosonee.
III. Dioceses of Saskatchewan and Calgary.
IV. Diocese of Athabasca.
V. Diocese of Mackenzie River.

The ecclesiastical Province of Rupert's Land, the area of which probably exceeds that of the Chinese Empire, is divided into seven dioceses, viz., Rupert's Land, Moosonee, Mackenzie River, Athabasca, Saskatchewan, Calgary, and Qu'Appelle. For the present Saskatchewan and Calgary are united under one diocesan. In all these dioceses the Society's agents labour, and three of the six bishops are on the list of its missionaries. Under circumstances of danger, hardship, and privation of no ordinary degree, their life is cheerfully spent in behalf of the simple inhabitants of these vast wilds, whose immortal souls are precious before God. One of these missionaries, who has been home only once in twenty-four years, and that to be consecrated spiritual leader in the largest, the most desolate, the most sterile, and the most frigid of the diocesan divisions of the country, has written:—

'Neath skies with stars that never set,
But round the pole still circle yet;
Where streamers of magnetic light
Enliven winter's lengthening night;
Where niggard suns must stint their ray,
To spend on climates far away;
There Christian brethren bend their knees
In shelter of the forest trees.
Hearts that with heavenly fervour glow
Are found amid the Arctic snow;
And in the dreadful day of doom,
When all the dead to judgment come;
When worldly sentence all reversed,
The first are last and last are first;
What if these tribes of sallow face,
Hindermost now of human race,
Their want and poverty lay by
For robes of immortality?

I. DIOCESES OF RUPERT'S LAND AND QU'APPELLE.

1. Red River district, 1823; 2. Fort Alexander district, 1864; 3. Rainy Lake district, 1874.

The Metropolitan, Bishop Machray, has conferred upon the Rev. R. Phair the office of Archdeacon, in succession to the late Archdeacon Cowley. Mr. Phair came home in October to take the furlough which was cheerfully, on his part, postponed in 1886.

The Rev. A. E. Cowley is Secretary of the Mission, and the Rev. B. McKenzie has charge of St. Peter's Settlement, in which parish, at Dynevor, also resides the Rev. J. Settee, who, though on the retired list and bent with age, is still indefatigable, holding often three services on Sundays, and travelling fifteen miles for that purpose. In the Fairford district the Rev. G. Bruce has the assistance of his nephew, the Rev. A. Cook, who resides at Stagville. The Rev. W. Owen is at Lansdowne, the Rev. B. Spence at Long Sault, and the Rev. J. Irvine at Lac Seul.

Indian generosity at Lansdowne.

The attendance at the services in the new church at LANSDOWNE is very encouraging. Mr. Owen made an appeal to the Indians one Sunday to assist the still poorer congregation at Black River towards the purchase of stove pipes to make their new church suitable for holding services. Their response exceeded his hopes, $7 being contributed by them, more than enough to buy the pipes required. Four adults have been baptized, but two of them, aged people, were enticed away by Roman Catholic relations, and re-baptized by the priest. The death of a young Indian is referred to by Mr. Owen:—

A dying Indian—a faithful witness.

He had been consumptive for over two years. He spent the summer and winter of 1887 with us at the Mission. During that time I taught him to read fairly well. The whole of last year he was too poorly to get out of his wigwam, but the Lord made him useful there. He always spoke a few words about Jesus, and read a little out of his Indian Testament to all the Indians who went to see him, that is, if they stayed any length of time. He was a little bashful sometimes in introducing the subject, but as Christ was in the heart he never failed. He was indeed a faithful witness for God. His wigwam came to be looked upon as a little place consecrated for good things. His favourite passages, which he knew well by heart, were St. John xiv.—xvii. inclusive, Rom. viii., 1 Thess. v., and the three Epistles of St. John. He died very happy. It seems that his death made quite an impression on some Roman Catholics who were present.

Archdeacon Phair supplies a very interesting account of a visit which he paid at the beginning of last year to Islington. Since the Rev. B. Spence removed to Long Sault in 1886, the responsibility for the services has rested upon chief David Landon. The Archdeacon says:—

It is pleasing to notice that the wishes of the Society are being fully carried out at this station. A Native lay-agent, without the promise of one cent, has taken charge of the Mission, holding regular services twice on the Sabbath, besides other duties, thus setting the minister free to go to regions beyond. I should not have been surprised if on my arrival I had found a few things wrong, as I did at stations where a paid catechist was in charge; but not so here, there seems perfect order, indeed a regular system in all that is done. One party has charge of the singing, another reads the lessons, while the chief delivers an address. Regarding the business part of the church, it is placed in the hands of four men, who do their duty well. Beside the regular church work there is a temperance society, which has certain officials to prevent liquor from coming on the reserve. These men deal very summarily with any breach of reserve bye-laws. The culprit is taken before the council, all his illicit traffic is confiscated, and himself led outside the reserve, and told that if he enters it again other measures will be adopted.

Temperance officials.

The chief is a sort of father to the whole reserve; he calls them his children. He does little else than attend to his official duties. I never heard a man speak more seriously and faithfully to his people. His knowledge of Scripture is scanty, but it is all to the point, and is dealt out in such a way that it cannot be misunderstood. I had two services in Indian, and also the Lord's Supper, of which fifteen partook. There were others who would gladly have availed themselves of the opportunity had they been at home. The chief gave a short address in the evening, from which it was clear that the great secret of his influence over the people lay in his loving and straightforward manner of treating them. The Indians trust him, and have always found their interests safe in his hands, nor does his influence extend merely to his own kith and kin; it also reaches white men. On one occasion a very large gathering of his countrymen stood in the presence of Government officials, of whom Indians are generally afraid. It happened to be the Lord's Day, and the whole of the chiefs and head-men were summoned into the presence of the officials to hold a council about worldly matters. Chief after chief in his scarlet cloak marched up, accompanied by his head-men, until one only remained, and that one was David Landon. A messenger was sent to him to tell him he was wanted to come at once. "No," replied the Christian chief, "the Chief in Heaven says No, and so do I." Another message was despatched to inform him that great and important business had to be talked about, and he must come at once. "I must not," replied he, "we are under command already, and must obey the Head Chief of all, who says, 'Keep this day holy.'" At last the chief was told that if he did not come he would be deposed. He begged to ask one question:—"Is it by order of the Queen that we are to work to-day? I thought she desired the 'children to obey God's laws.' If it is not so, tell me." The great gathering dispersed, and David Landon, who, they all expected, would lose his coat, was told that he had acted perfectly right.

Influence of a Christian chief.

"The Chief in Heaven says No."

Archdeacon Phair visited all the little Indian villages in this neighbourhood, making one journey of three days to visit an old Christian Indian on his death-bed. He says:—

Every Indian about White Dog, every Indian at One Man's Lake, every Indian at Swan Lake—was visited, and arrangements were made to have gratuitous services regularly conducted among themselves by their more enlightened Christian brethren. I found several Christian Indians here willing, I may say, glad, to go among their darker and less enlightened brethren in the regions beyond without promise of payment or reward. When the question was put in a public meeting lately, "What is to be done to our brethren so close to our doors who are yet in darkness?" three men at once volunteered to go among them from time to time, and hold services.

"What is to be done to our brethren?"

At LAC SEUL, Mr. Irvine says, "The prospects are better than at any time since I came here." The people attend the services well, though ill clad, and having, many of them, far to walk. Going to visit traps and to fish on Sunday is a thing of the past, except in cases of real need. Most of the Indians are cultivating the land, and make a tolerably good living. "Heathenism is fast dying out," just "flickering in its socket." Mr. Irvine narrowly escaped drowning while running a dangerous rapid in his canoe on one of his journeys.

II. DIOCESE OF MOOSONEE.

Moose Factory, 1851; York, 1854; Albany, 1855; Matawakumma, 1876; Little Whale River, 1877; Churchill, 1886.

BISHOP HORDEN'S visit to this country has afforded welcome opportunities to many friends of the Society to hear the ever-interesting story of the work of this Mission, and their generous response to his appeal, has almost enabled him to complete the endowment of the See of Moosonee, with a view to relieving the Society's funds. He sailed again in May for the purpose of visiting the northern part of his diocese, which is far more easily and expeditiously reached from England than from Moose.

The Rev. J. and Mrs. Lofthouse have visited England on account of the latter's health, but they have now returned. The Rev. H. Nevitt returned with Mrs. Nevitt to the Mission in August.

Archdeacon Vincent is in charge of Moose until the Bishop's return, and the Rev. H. Nevitt has taken his place at Albany; Archdeacon Winter resides at York Factory; the Rev. E. J. Peck conducts the Eskimo Mission on the eastern shores of James' Bay; and the Rev. J. Lofthouse returns to Churchill.

Services at MOOSE are held in English and in Cree. The Indian congregation is large, and in summer the cathedral is often overcrowded. The Sunday-school has a staff of seven teachers.

At ALBANY a good school was erected before Archdeacon

Vincent left. He mentions that Cree and Ojibbeway books of the value of 15*l.* 10*s.* were sold last year in this district. Sale of books at Albany.

Archdeacon Winter sends an encouraging report of FORT YORK and its out-stations. He says:—

During the bitterly cold winter, with frequently more than 70° of frost, and not a few times with more than 80°, our little church was never in want of a good congregation; even the shivering old people coming a good distance, and many of all ages walking four, six, and eight miles on Sunday morning. The hours for assembling in the winter were 8.30 a.m. and 2.30 p.m. for the Indians, and 10.45 for the English. Sunday-school follows the English service in the winter (the days being so short), and the Indian evening service in the summer. "Never in want of a good congregation."

The population is increasing, for I see that our large church will not comfortably hold all the people: for even when a tribe or two are absent, many are obliged to sit at the Communion rails, and others on the floor around the pulpit and reading-desk. It is a grand sight to see such congregations and to hear such a volume of voices. Whilst the Indians from the woods are here, service is held twice through the week, and once when the fort Indians only are here. But the (weekday) congregations are not as a rule large, as the people have to go some distance to fish and pick berries. Such is the poverty of the place that some of them subsist only on berries for some days, without any other food. During my absence for the six weeks, the services were regularly conducted by two of the leading men, and were much appreciated by the people.

In the summer Mr. Winter paid a visit to Fort Severn and Trout Lake, a six weeks' journey, to and fro, of 1400 or 1500 miles by water in a small canoe. He says:— 1400 miles in a small canoe.

In the middle of the day the heat was almost insupportable, whilst at night it was freezing. Myriads of mosquitoes and sand-flies beset our path, giving us no rest, except when we allowed the smoke of the camp-fire to envelope us or when nature herself interposed on our behalf, in the form of "Jack Frost" or his shadow. But why speak of these "little things" when calling to mind the magnificent welcome afforded me on arriving at Trout Lake—a grand salute of upwards of 300 rounds being a portion of it—and the glorious work in which I was engaged? Truly it was a blessed recompense to behold hundreds of Indians flocking to and crowding their church; the earnestness with which they entered into the services; and the eager desire to have their children made praying children, i.e. to have them baptized. And how my heart rejoiced when I saw the success that God had granted to the labours of our beloved catechist, William Dick. I arrived on June 30th at mid-day, but was only permitted to remain till July 4th, owing to the arrangements of the Hudson's Bay Company, by whose kind permission I travelled in one of their large boats during the remainder of the journey. From early morning till late at night I was busily engaged. Four services were held daily; twenty couples married; sixty-seven children baptized; many prepared by instruction, and admitted to the Lord's Supper; and almost the whole of the remaining time taken up with private, and, in many cases, blessed and holy conversation. "Little things." Earnestness of Indians at Trout Lake.

Severn.

He remained four days at Severn on his return.

These days were occupied much in the same way as at Trout Lake. The congregations were small compared with those at the other posts, the population being not much more than half. Sometimes the men were kept away, as they had to work at the boats, and I am sorry to say there is no such eagerness on the part of many to hear the Gospel, as at Trout Lake. But on being spoken to they felt somewhat ashamed, and then there was a decided improvement. Here, again, I notice that the careless ones are those who have more or less been mixed up with the white people.

After leaving Severn, while proceeding slowly back northwards along the coast of the bay, small parties of Indians were found at the mouths of two rivers, who had been waiting there for several days, hoping to see the boat, and have their little children baptized. Of his Native crew Mr. Winter says:—

A harmonious crew.

They are among the merriest of the human race; and although belonging to various tribes, I never heard a hasty word, or witnessed an angry look throughout the entire journey; and they were ever ready, morning and evening, to assemble for prayers.

"The nearest doctor."

Mr. Lofthouse wrote his Annual Letter in August before leaving CHURCHILL. He had, the previous December, walked 400 miles on snow-shoes to see the nearest doctor, to be told that it would be necessary for Mrs. Lofthouse to visit England. He mentions the baptism of a youth of seventeen.

III. DIOCESES OF SASKATCHEWAN AND CALGARY.

Cumberland and Devon, 1840; Stanley, 1850; Sandy Lake (Asisipi), 1875; Battleford, 1876; Prince Albert, 1879; Fort McLeod, 1880; Grand Rapids, 1881; Blackfoot Crossing, 1883.

THE Committee had the pleasure of several interviews with Bishop Pinkham during his recent visit to this country. Just before leaving his diocese he paid a visit to the Society's Blackfoot Mission, and since his return he has been to Fort McLeod, and encouraged the Rev. S. and Mrs. Trivett in their remote station. The Rev. J. W. Tims has come home for a short furlough.

Archdeacon J. A. Mackay is the Secretary of the Finance Committee, which administers this Mission, residing at Prince Albert; the Rev. J. Hines has charge at Devon; the Rev. R. McLennon resides at Stanley; the Rev. I. J. Taylor has been transferred to Fort Pitt, the station where the Rev. C. Quinney was imprisoned by the rebels in 1885, and which they destroyed; the Rev. R. Inkster, whose mother was a Cree Indian, has been stationed at Battleford by the Finance-Committee; the Revs. J. Sinclair and J. R. Settee are at Grand Rapids and Sandy Lake respectively; and the Rev. S. Trivett is at Fort McLeod.

Mr. Sinclair says that the Indians at Grand Rapids are always on the reserve, and that the communicants, 210 in number, are very regular in their attendance at the monthly administration of the Sacrament.

Mr. Trivett, at FORT MACLEOD, is still waiting for the blessing promised to patient and persevering labour. Bigamy is the obstacle which has prevented two who seemed sincere from being received into the Church. Mrs. Trivett has a class of girls by whose progress and interest in her teaching she has been much encouraged.

IV. DIOCESE OF ATHABASCA.

Fort Chipewyan, 1867; Fort Vermilion, 1876; Fort Dunvegan, 1886.

A SYNOD and Missionary Conference of Bishop Young and his clergy were held at Fort Vermilion during the first week in July; and on Sunday, July 8th, the Rev. G. Holmes was admitted to Priest's Orders. The Bishop started a few days later on a journey to visit Chipewyan and Lesser Slave Lake; confirming six candidates at the former, and nine at the latter station. He reached Vermilion again on October 20th, having been absent three months and ten days, and having travelled 1300 miles. Ordination.

Archdeacon Reeve left his station in June to come to this country, travelling viâ the Mackenzie River and Alaska. The Committee hope to welcome him in England about October. The Rev. J. G. Brick has returned to the Mission.

During Archdeacon Reeve's absence from Chipewyan, the Bishop has kindly made himself responsible for the charge of the station, and he purposed to reside there himself during the winter of 1889-90. The Rev. M. Scott, Indian clergyman, labours at Fort Vermilion; the Rev. A. C. Garrioch is at Fort Dunvegan; the Rev. G. Holmes is at Lesser Slave Lake; and the Rev. J. G. Brick has opened a new station on Peace River, a few miles above Smoky River.

A zealous Cree Indian from Manitoba.

Bishop Young mentions a faithful Cree Indian from St. Peter's parish, Manitoba, who, having been sent by the Hudson's Bay Company to Little Red River, about sixty miles from VERMILION, had spoken to an Indian and his wife of their need of the Saviour. These two having applied for baptism, the Bishop and Mr. Scott travelled the sixty miles in mid-winter to administer that rite. The Bishop says :—

> Mr. Scott proposed going alone, but as the thermometer was ranging from 40° to 45° below zero I did not consider it safe for him to do so, and therefore accompanied him. We travelled in Native fashion, dragging a flat sleigh with our bedding and provisions, and accomplished the journey with only the mishap of Mr. Scott rather seriously freezing one of his feet, causing him considerable pain and inconvenience. On our arrival, our St. Peter's Indian started to bring in the family, who were camped at some little distance from the post. On Sunday morning we held a service in Cree for the employees and Indians about the post. Some time was given, both for examination and further instruction of those desiring baptism, and in the evening we baptized the Indian, his wife, and four children. The St. Peter's Indian was very solicitous for them, and after we had retired for the night we could still hear him talking to them and teaching them.

Soon after their return to Vermilion several Indians placed themselves under instruction, but, except two, were dissuaded by the priest, who entered the camp late on the previous (Saturday) evening for the purpose. Two, however, a man and his wife, who could not be moved by his offers or persuasions, were duly baptized. They received the names of "Matthew" and "Sarah." The man had been a medicine-man.

Danger from a flood.

In May (1888) this station and its inhabitants were much endangered by a violent flood. The school-children had been removed to high ground, but the Bishop's family, not apprehending danger at the mission-house, which is on somewhat higher ground than the other houses, were forced by the rapid rise of the water to take refuge in the unfinished loft. The Bishop wrote :—

> For nearly three hours more the water continued to rise, and had now nearly reached us, when just before midnight, to our unspeakable relief, it ceased, and began to subside, and was soon falling as rapidly as it had risen, so that at 5 a.m. we could descend from our place of refuge, and truly thankful were we to do so.
> Those who saw it say, that of the immense mass of ice carried impetuously onward by the great torrent of water, large quantities were thrown upon the islands and the river-banks, and with such irresistible force that the largest pines were thrown down by it just like so much grass, and great clouds of ice-dust were thrown high up into the air.

Missionary Anniversary at Fort Chipewyan.

The following Sunday we had a Thanksgiving Service. All heartily joined in it, for we all felt that our deliverance had been of the Lord.

At Fort Chipewyan, Archdeacon Reeve held a Missionary Anniversary in November, 1887. The collection after the sermon, from a small but attentive congregation, amounted to $55, which was forwarded to the Society. The following January he travelled 180 miles on snow-shoes to visit a sick half-breed lady, who was not expected to recover, the journey thither occupying eight days. The Archdeacon's letter gives some very painful incidents of the scarcity of food:—

"It was about this time, February, and a little later, that the Indians of this place passed through such a furnace of affliction, owing to the scarcity of provisions. The fisheries failed, there were no rabbits or partridges to be seen, larger animals could not be found, or if found could not be killed, and news of starvation came in from all sides. At length the climax was reached, when word was brought that nearly a whole encampment had been cut off: out of a party of twenty-eight, nineteen, including all the men, had perished! Altogether nearly thirty starved to death, and the death of several others was accelerated by the privations which they underwent. By the help of the good crop of potatoes which was granted me the previous fall (the best I ever had here, and who knows but that it was given for such a time!), I was enabled to render assistance to some of the poor sufferers who managed to reach here; and, although gratitude is not one of the striking traits of the Indian character, I trust the kindness has not been lost.

A whole encampment cut off by starvation.

During a conversation with a Chipewyan I showed him a terrestrial globe to illustrate and explain what I was saying, and pointed out the position of Lake Athabasca. After looking at it for a while he asked, "Where is the road to heaven? The priest shows us a picture on which are the tracks leading to heaven, hell, and purgatory: where are they?" This of course gave me a fine opportunity to tell him of Jesus, who is the Way, and to explain what is meant by walking in the road to heaven. He seemed much interested, and went away, I trust, with a better idea of yake kotsun tulu (the track to heaven) than he had before. I have not seen him again.

Mr. Holmes wrote from SLAVE LAKE in March last:—

It is now about a year since the firstfruits of our new Mission appeared, in the persons of an old "medicine-man" and his family of eleven. The old man, whose name was then Pewapiskootmoo, but now John, was baptized in his own lodge, when he was, as I and others thought, almost at death's door; but God mercifully raised him up again to testify to others of His power to save, for which he is still very grateful. His family were baptized, some of them the following week, and the rest on Easter Sunday, with two other youths, sons of another old medicine-man. These two boys had walked a distance of forty miles while the thermometer was ranging from 30° to 40° below zero, to apply for baptism. It was a blessed season: the Spirit of God seemed, at that time, to be moving upon the hearts of both Indians and whites, with the further result of leading two half-breed families to break away from the bondage of Rome and join our ranks. The mother of one of these families was asked by a Hudson Bay Company's clerk, of the same faith, why she had ceased going to confession, and she made the following reply: "Because," said she, "I feel so much better without it. As long as I believed that the priest could forgive me, I was not afraid to sin; but since I have learnt that Jesus only can pardon me, I am afraid to sin and grieve Him." This proved a strong argument to her inquirer.

V. DIOCESE OF MACKENZIE RIVER.

Fort Simpson, 1858; Fort McPherson, and Rampart House (Tukudh Mission), 1874; Fort Norman, 1871; Forts Resolution and Rae, 1875; Fort Liard, 1887; Nuklakayit, 1888; Buxton, 1888.

BISHOP BOMPAS left Fort Simpson at the end of June, 1888, to make a long-projected tour of visitation to the Arctic Stations of his diocese. While crossing the Rocky Mountains, however, intending to visit the Youcon Stations, he was seized with cramp in the limbs from walking in the cold water, and was obliged to return to Peel River. At the end of September he was at Fort Norman, where he intended to winter. He contemplated visiting Manitoba this year, probably not before September, and he hoped to proceed thence to the Pacific, and viâ Columbia to the Youcon.

Ordinations. On July 21st and August 26th respectively, the Bishop admitted the Revs. D. N. Kirkby and C. G. Wallis to Priest's Orders. The Rev. W. J. Garton has left the Mission.

On returning to the Mission the Rev. W. Spendlove met the Bishop in July at Fort Resolution, and at his request continues at that station for the present; the Rev. D. N. Kirkby has charge at Fort Simpson; Mr. J. Hawksley is at Fort Norman; Forts Liard and Wrigley are occupied by Messrs. Black and Hardisty; Archdeacon R. McDonald is at Peel River; the Rev. C. G. Wallis is at Rampart House; the Rev. T. H. Canham is stationed at Nuklakayit, on the Central Youcon; and the Rev. J. W. Ellington is at Buxton, on the Upper Youcon, 250 miles above Fort Youcon.

The Bishop sent last year a short, but very candid and forcible, general review of the work throughout his diocese. He wrote:—

> In taking a retrospect of the past thirty years' Mission work, it must be confessed that in the southern part of the diocese our work has apparently met thus far with but poor success, yielding an inadequate return in human eyes to the funds expended. This is, I trust, owing not to the lack of some patient effort on the part of the Mission agents, but rather because the good seed of the Gospel has fallen here mostly on the stony soil of careless hearts, or has been choked by the thorns of Romanish opposition.

Stony and thorny ground.

> We have however collected, by God's grace, three small Indian congregations at our Mission posts on the banks of the Mackenzie, and meet also with willing hearts elsewhere. There is, in fact, little or no opposition to Christianity on the part of the Indian population; but those in the south prefer for the most part at present the ministration of the Romish priests, probably because that religion makes less demand for a real spiritual change of heart and life. We trust, however, that the Gospel seed in the Mackenzie River will prove at last to be as an autumn-sown crop that must lie long dormant beneath the chill blasts of a barren winter before it cheers our eyes with the green blades of spring. Meanwhile we trust that the efforts of the Protestant missionaries are by no means inoperative, even in the face of Romanism. By our presence we may compel even Romish priests to become evangelists, for the Indians cannot be kept ignorant of the Gospel in the presence of Protestant teaching, and that which the Indians must in the end believe in as paramount truth is what their conflicting teachers are all theoretically agreed upon, the Scriptural facts of the Christian faith. Thus, though professedly Romanists, the Natives appear to be gradually becoming Protestants in heart in spite of themselves, and a removal of Protestant teachers in favour of Rome is earnestly to be deprecated.

Protestants in heart in spite of themselves.

In the northern part of the diocese the preached Gospel has met, by God's blessing, with all the success we would desire or hope for according to the efforts made. Our converts there are diligent and affectionate, and we trust sincere. The Mission work demands considerable expansion in the direction of the Upper Youcon and Lewis Rivers. At all points willing and anxious listeners are found, but the work is one of self-denial and hardship.

Of the difficulties besetting him at FORT RESOLUTION, Mr. Spendlove says:—

I am alone, not a faithful Protestant to support me, a difficult task to procure necessary food and firewood sufficient for such a savage climate, dialects new to me and difficult to acquire, the Indians scattered far and wide around this mighty lake, and a strong opposition from Rome. There are about 2000 of these poor creatures, whose pitiful condition demands our prayers and faithful service. Their moral, mental, and spiritual condition is pitiable indeed.

Difficulties at Fort Resolution.

Archdeacon McDonald's Annual Letter was written in February, 1888, and received in August. He spent four months of 1887, from May to September, in visiting the tribes of Indians inhabiting the country at the confluence of the Youcon and the Pelly Rivers. A month was passed with the Indians at La Pierre's House, where he was much cheered by their earnestness and progress. He wrote:—

Many read well in their own tongue, and all the young people were diligent in learning to read. The Christian leader there deserves high praise for diligence in teaching, and for the good influence he has been enabled to bring to bear on them. The number of communicants there is about fifty.

Christian leader at La Pierre's House.

Ten days were spent with Mr. Wallis at Rampart House, and, on the return journey, three days with Mr. Ellington, just after he had entered on his work at Buxton. In the course of his journey up the Youcon the Archdeacon passed a few days with three tribes of Indians whose names are more easily written than pronounced, and followed some more remote tribes to their fishery. He says:—

A few days were spent with three tribes of Indians, viz. the Kwitchyakwitchin, the Hunkwitchin, and the Trurhtsyikkwitchin. It was a matter of thankfulness to observe that notwithstanding the little help that they had received, many among them were able to read well in Tukudh. The tongue of the Hunkwitchin and the Trurhtsyikkwitchin is not a little different from the books in Tukudh, yet many among them read well, and are learning to speak according to the dialect of the books. They prefer it to their own. They appeared glad of the opportunity of receiving Christian instruction. Some expressed an earnest desire to do the will of God. Of the Trurhtsyikkwitchin I baptized thirty-nine adults. A few children of the three tribes were also baptized.

Baptisms of Trurhtsyikkwitchin Indians.

Having learnt that the remoter tribes of Indians that I purposed visiting were away from their own country at a salmon fishery on an affluent of Stewart River, I proceeded to that locality. Some of them were there, others about half-way to the entrance of Stewart River into the Youcon. The entire number, being a few of three tribes, was a little over one hundred. It afforded me intense gratification to find that they were willing, a few even longing, to be instructed in the knowledge of God and of His will. They had not previously seen a missionary, but some of the Christian Indians on the Youcon had visited and told them a little of what they themselves had been taught of the Word of Life, and thus they were prepared for a visit from a missionary. A few days actively occupied were passed with them. Some, I trust, were enabled to receive the Word in the love of it. They craved to have a longer time given them, but it could not be done. The children were baptized.

Mr. Wallis wrote from RAMPART HOUSE in August last:—

In the month of February, 1888, two Indians arrived from this distant tribe. They had travelled on foot nearly 200 miles, and their chief object in coming was to see me concerning the work which had been going on amongst them. Though separated 200 miles from the missionary, with the Word of God alone, many have been led to trust fully in Jesus. The blessing seems to have originated in this way. An old man, a Christian leader among them, had been troubled much about his sins for more than six years, but never had been able to realize the joy and peace, which comes to the soul through simple faith in the Lord Jesus Christ. Of late he has been led to pray much for this knowledge. On Christmas Day, after praying to God, before going to rest, he sat down and began thinking, and a voice seemed to say to him, "Thy sins are forgiven thee." At once the old man's heart was filled with joy, and the light for which he had been so long seeking now burst in upon his soul. Though the people in the same camp were asleep, he awoke them in order to tell them what new joy he had found through faith in the Lord Jesus Christ. All were astonished at the old man's joy, it was something new to them. The next day the news spread through the whole village. The old man's heart was so full of love to Jesus that speak he must, and from morning till night he was talking to his people, pleading with them to yield themselves wholly to Jesus. And with such power did God enable him to speak, that many were greatly impressed, and longed to find peace. Their cry was, "Oh, my sin, my sin!"

"Oh, my sin, my sin!"

On New Year's evening those who wished to give themselves to Jesus gathered into one camp. Their hearts were so full, they could do nothing but cry to God for mercy, and their cry was, "Oh, Jesus, come to us!" Their prayer was answered, and many that night found joy and peace in believing. The whole night was spent in prayer and praise. The two men, who had walked nearly 200 miles to see me, were rejoicing in Jesus, their faces shone with the joy that lit up their hearts. They said, "We feel as though we could pray all day long." And on the journey to the "fort," every time they stopped to take a rest a part of the time was spent in prayer and praise. I spent the whole of the next evening up till midnight talking to them, encouraging them to look to Jesus day by day, and also warning them that Satan would be busy trying to draw them away from Jesus.

A whole night spent in praise and prayer.

NORTH PACIFIC MISSION.

Metlakahtla, 1862; Kincolith, 1867; Massett, 1876; Alert Bay, 1878; Hazelton, 1880; Kitwanga, 1882: Aiyansh, 1883; Kitkatla, 1887.

Bishop Ridley's visit to this country has done much to increase the sympathy of the Society's friends for the much-tried Mission in his diocese.

The Revs. C. B. Nash and J. Field have come home on medical certificate, the latter hoping to return immediately. Dr. Vernon Ardagh, who was for a few months connected with the Society's Eastern Equatorial Africa Mission, has been assigned to this Mission, for which he sailed in May.

The Rev. W. H. Collison has been in charge during the Bishop's absence at Metlakahtla, and the Rev. R. W. Gurd conducts the school. Dr. Ardagh will also reside at this station, and itinerate thence among the Native tribes. Mr. A. E. Price is at Kincolith, and Mr. J. B. McCullagh at Aiyansh. The Rev. C. Harrison continues at Massett, on one of the Queen Charlotte's Islands; and the Rev. A. J. Hall, who is Secretary of the Mission, labours at Alert Bay, in Vancouver's Island.

No report from either of the missionaries at Metlakahtla has been received. There have been a few accessions to the greatly reduced population.

Last summer the Indians at Aiyansh and at Hazelton were in a very disturbed and excitable state, and both Mr. McCullagh and Mr. Field were in no small degree of danger. A murder having been committed among the Gitwinlthkols, Mr. McCullagh, at the request of the relations of the murdered man, reported the fact to the Indian agent. The latter was treated most insolently upon arriving at Aiyansh. During Mr. McCullagh's absence at the Conference, a man supposed to be the murderer was killed by one of the constables sent to arrest him, whereupon his father set out for Aiyansh to avenge his death on Mr. McCullagh, for giving information of the crime, and spent three weeks there awaiting his return. Providentially Mr. McCullagh had been delayed, and did not arrive until three days after the man had left. The constables, apprehending trouble, retired to Hazelton, and surrounded the Hudson Bay Company's premises there with a stockade. Mr. Field declined the invitation to enter this defence, and happily the arrival of a larger force of police restored order.

The epidemic of measles at the beginning of last year also brought Mr. Field into danger, not from the disease, but from the ignorant animosity of the people. The fact that all the white patients recovered, while the Indians, from their neglect of all sanitary precautions, and unwillingness to adopt measures calculated to cure, were more than decimated by this visitation, strengthened their conviction that the Europeans were the cause of the evil. Mr. Field says:—

> A secret meeting, of which we did not hear for several months afterwards, was held in the chief's house, and a proposition that, at a given signal, all the whites should be murdered ere the dawn appeared, was carried almost unanimously. There were two dissentient voices, which, through the goodness of God, delayed and finally arrested the perpetration of a deed that would in all probability have led to a general rising against the Government of the country. I have here given only the substance of what was stated in detail by one of the chiefs in a court held at Hazelton on August 7th last, and presided over by the stipendiary magistrate of the district and the police superintendent of the province.

Some declensions at Aiyansh have saddened Mr. McCullagh. The old chief Agwilakha (see Annual Report for 1886-7, page 255), has been drawn aside. Mr McCullagh says:—

A dying boy singing the Te Deum.

> As I feared, the potlatch has drawn him back. Immediately after that his boy took sick and died. His death, however, seemed to be that of a Christian: he knew all the Church prayers by heart, and often repeated them on his dying bed. He also sang the Te Deum. Had they brought him up here, something might have been done for the boy, but the old man was ashamed. This was last winter. The other day I received the following message from him: "Do I forget my promise? I will go through it yet."

Nevertheless Mr. McCullagh sees much ground for thankfulness. He says:—

Growth and fruit.

> There is growth, and there is fruit, thank God! The refreshing visitation of the Lord which we experienced last winter has perceptibly lifted our people a degree higher. One thing for which I have long hoped has come to pass, viz. a decision on the part of all the Native Christians, both on the Nas and Skeena, to keep aloof from the heathen feasts.

QUEEN CHARLOTTE'S ISLANDS: HYDAH MISSION.

Spirit of turbulence among Hydahs.

The spirit of turbulence has affected the Hydah Indians as well as the Tsimsheans of the mainland. Early in the year a number of the young men took it into their heads to insist on the Hydah assistant teacher in the school being dismissed, and seized the school on their demand being refused. Mr. Harrison says:—

I asked them to return the key to me, but they refused to do so. Having refused to give me the key, I told Cowhoe to get his axe. He did so, and we forced the door open, and I regained possession of all the books, slates, &c. A large number of Indians were watching us, and, as soon as we entered they rushed into the building and filled it. They tried hard to frighten me with their speeches, threats, and knives, and when they found that they could not prevail, they quietly handed the key back to me. The leaders of this trouble repaired the place that I had damaged by striking the door with the axe. They had me as their prisoner in the school-house four hours, and would not allow me to go out. Some of them also threatened to seize the church and drive me away from Massett at once. The old men at once told them that they had better not interfere with the church, as they would rather die defending the House of God than allow any foolish young man to come near it. When the young people saw that they were without the support of the chiefs and the old people, they felt greatly ashamed, and hid themselves for several days, as the old people ridiculed them and called them Duncan's slaves.

All the old men and women are staunch supporters of the Mission. Of the 400 inhabitants, 380 are now baptized, and seventy-five are communicants.

VANCOUVER'S ISLAND: KWA-GUTL MISSION.

The Rev. A. J. Hall has made three itinerations from ALERT BAY, accompanied by a zealous half-breed teacher, and 2000 Indians have heard the Gospel thereby.

REPORT OF THE WILLIAM CHARLES JONES INDIA NATIVE CHURCH FUND.

As the title of this Fund implies, the intention of its founder was that it should be used solely for India, the yearly interest on the capital being available for assisting Native Church Councils with means to evangelize heathen districts by employing more labourers. A leading feature stipulated by Mr. Jones was, that at least two-fifths of the cost of maintaining religious worship and pastoral work in the district must be raised by the Native Christians themselves. Without this being done, the Committee are not able to entertain any applications for aid. The grants for the past year amounted to 712*l.* 19*s.* 9*d.*

Reports have not been received of the work of the agents engaged on this Fund in North India, the Punjab, and Travancore. From the Madras, Tinnevelly, and the Telugu Missions full and interesting accounts of the evangelists' work have been sent by the Chairmen of the respective Native Church Councils under which they labour.

In Tinnevelly fifty-three agents are employed under seven Church Councils, by whom 16,441 of the Scripture portions, tracts, &c., were sold or distributed, and over 300,000 heard the Gospel from their lips during the year. Frequent references occur in the reports to the Special Winter Mission of 1887-8, as having been made a blessing to the agents and the Christians generally. The efforts of Hindu preachers, and their activity in distributing anti-Christian tracts, are alluded to by several. Notwithstanding, the general attitude of the people is undoubtedly more friendly. The following extract is one of many of the same kind:—

In the twenty-six villages situated near my station there are about 6850 Hindus and 550 Mohammedans. I visit these people often and preach the Gospel, distribute handbills, sell the tracts and Bible portions. The people read them with great delight, without making any objections to my preaching. One and all of them acknowledged that the Bible is true and that there is one God. The God of the Christians is true God; the gods worshipped by them are worthless. Several of them show an inclination to embrace Christianity; but they say they would do so if several of their families joined together for fear of the persecutions from their relatives and superiors.

I am encouraged in my preachings both in the street and houses by the steady listening of the people to what I say without showing any spirit of opposition, though some show indifference by asking such questions as, "Is Christianity the only true religion?" "Cannot we be saved by our mode of worship?"

Some interesting conversations, rich in well-chosen illustrations, are given in some of these reports. Space allows only one or two specimens:—

The following conversation was held one day between myself and Muttusamy, a young man of high rank in the place:—

I told him that Christianity is the only religion which leads men to eternal life, that the other religions do not show the way of salvation at all, and that, because he was a man of understanding, he should examine, prove all, and choose the best. In reply to this, Muttusamy said that he was bound to walk in the way of his ancestors, as he was in no respect better than they.

Then I told him that no one thinks that because his father was poor he should not make money, or that because his father was lame he should break his leg. It is advisable, therefore, to avoid such vain excuses, and make use of the opportunity of finding the Saviour and obtaining His salvation.

He said that if the religion be a good one, the God who has called you will call us also, and give us good sense to obey the call, and when He calls us we shall come.

Then I said, "God calls you now. If a king calls a man, he will do so through his servants; and if a man say that the king himself should go and call him, and disobeys the call, will he be not subject to severe punishment? Will any one say that, unless God Himself should go to him and tell him to secure houses, lands, properties, &c., he will not attempt to have such things? Christ is the King. He calls you through us, His servants. It is to save sinners that He came into the world. His redeeming love is shown in the Bible. Take it and read."

Muttusamy has been in the habit of asking me many such questions, to which I have given proper answers, and cleared his doubts. He has bought a copy of the Holy Bible, and reads it every day. He has also expressed a desire to become a Christian, and contributed towards the support of the suffering Christians at Uganda. May God help him in the reading of His Word, and make him an important member of His Church.

That the success which, under the Divine Blessing, has attended the Church Missionary Society in its efforts to make known the Gospel of Christ among the Heathen, is a loud and providential call for increased exertions, for devout thanksgiving to Almighty God, and for continual prayer for a more abundant out-pouring of the Holy Spirit to render the means employed successful.

FOURTH RESOLUTION.—Moved by

Seconded by

That the new and enlarged openings for Missionary exertion, in different quarters, demand our best energies to make known the blessed Gospel of Christ to Heathen and Mohammedan Nations.

NOTICE TO TREASURERS AND SECRETARIES OF ASSOCIATIONS.

THE COMMITTEE of the Church Missionary Society beg to remind the Treasurers or Secretaries of Associations that the Society's financial year ends on the 31st of March.

All Moneys belonging to the year should be received at the Society's House by that date, in order to ensure their being included in the accounts for the year then closing.

The Committee would also strongly urge for universal adoption, the practice of making early remittances after the 1st April on account of the year's receipts in the hands of the Local Treasurer. This course would tend to equalize in a greater degree the Income and Expenditure in the earlier months of the Society's Financial year, and save the Society a considerable yearly sum. They are glad to observe that the suggestion has been partially carried out during past years, but they are desirous of seeing it more generally adopted.

Sums remaining unpaid on the 31st March are no longer shown in the Accounts as Balances. The Contribution Lists should therefore agree in total with the amounts actually paid to the Parent Society to that date.

Much labour and expense is saved to the Society by sending in the Lists and Accounts as soon after the money as possible. If not so sent the lists are liable to be excluded from the Report. The date at which the Accounts of the Association are closed, and the names of the Local Officers should be specified. Should no names be given it will be assumed that they remain the same as in the previous Report, and the List will be so printed. Where the Account or the List is a printed one, two copies should be forwarded.

The Lists and Accounts should be written legibly to avoid mistakes in printing, and made up in the manner in which the same are printed in the Parent Society's Report. A Form of Account may be had on application at the Society's House.

Where an Association has Branches connected with it, the Accounts of the Branches must be forwarded to the Secretary of the Association some time before the date for forwarding the Accounts of that Association to London. When this is not done within a reasonable time, such Branches should be considered as self-excluded, and the Accounts forwarded without them.

Branch Associations should in every case, where practicable, forward their Money and Lists through the Association with which they are connected, and not direct to the Parent Society. If sent direct, the Association or District with which such Branch is connected should be specified.

Particulars of Contributions to Special Funds are printed with the lists to which they respectively belong, and the totals only transferred to the accounts of the Special Funds. In cases where the lists are received too late for the transfers to be made in the accounts of the current year, they will be made in, and the amounts deducted from the Contributions of, the succeeding year.
